Fashion Service

Curiously enough a very smart feeling usually accompanies an advanced fall style for in-between-season wear. There's no denying, at any rate, that youth doesn't revel in the feeling!

So for your budding daughter, why not this fascinating dress?

It is grey-blue silk finely striped in dull red. The bow and belt are plain red.

Black satin is another very smart choice with self-fabric belt and white bengaline bow.

Style No. 3175 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15 and 17 years. Size 15 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch material with 1 yard of 35-inch contrasting.

DAFOE HOSPITAL IS PROGRESSING

New Home, Material Mostly Donated, Will Be Kept Private by Barbed Wire.

TO BE OPENED SEPT. 1.

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 13. — (C. P.). — An unobtrusive sign with simple lettering to-day announced to the public the creation of "The Dafoe Hospital," named in honor of Dr. A. R. Dafoe, the Northern physician, who has kept alive the famous Dionne quintuplets for 77 days, an accomplishment never before recorded in scientific annuals.

The sign is hung half-hidden along the narrow winding bush road that leads from Callander to Corbeil, and near where Mrs. Oliva Dionne gave birth to the five girls just 11 weeks ago to-day.

The hospital, being constructed through contributions from persons and establishments throughout the Province, will house the five famous little sisters, whose combined weight totals only 34 pounds 8¾ ounces.

Construction is under way and Hon. David Croll, Ontario Minister of Public Welfare, will be invited to the official opening on September 1.

Six Foot Fence.

Around the new home will be a six-foot fence "with a barbed wire top to afford complete privacy to the infants and their two Red Cross nurses who have worked with Doctor Dafoe since the birth of the children. This fence, according to W. H. Alderson, Red Cross executive and one of the legal guardians of the famous sisters, will prevent prowlers attempting to gain admission to the grounds. Two special constables, sworn in by Mr. Alderson, will be on 24-hour duty.

Even the parents will not be permitted to live with the children but will be allowed to see the babies at times arranged by officials in charge.

It is planned to keep the children in the "hospital" until they no longer require constant care from physician and nurses, said Mr. Alderson who said various manufacturing and construction companies have provided practically all necessary building and other equipment for the new home.

Over the incubator homes of the children has been hung five little gold crucifixes, blessed by Cardinal Hayes of New York, and sent as a gift from an anonymous donor.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

A DARING CONTRACT.

Contracting for a grand slam at no trumps, particularly when both partners show no suit of more than 4 cards, is a very daring bid. Evidently both North and South had great confidence in partner's judgment. Certainly North held his partner's bidding in high esteem.

Bidding went: South, 1-heart; North, 1-spade; South, 2-clubs; North, 2-diamonds; South, 2-spades, showing only lack of rebid length in his own suits plus a bare choice between partner's suits; North, 4-no trumps; South, 6-no trumps, which should have been all; North, 7-no trumps. Neither side was vulnerable. The contract passed undoubled, as East did not want to disclose his hope of a spade trick.

The opening lead was the 4 of clubs, which told nothing. Dummy's 9 held the trick, without in the least assuring North that West might not hold the missing Q. It was possible that West held about all of the suit, and that East had led short. The declarer could count just 12 certain tricks. Either the thirteenth trick had to be won through a blind finesse in spades or by a squeeze. First North wanted to have some idea of how opposing distributions were.

Instead of running off 4 hearts, and squeezing his own hand, North ran off a few diamonds. Dummy's K won. Then he took 2 tricks with his Ace and Q of diamonds, preparatory to a squeeze. He noted that West covered the 9 of diamonds with his 10, and that East declared the 4 of hearts on the third diamond. This was pretty clear evidence that East originally held either 4 or more clubs. North led his Ace of clubs. East played the 6. Unless he false-carded, East had led from just 4 clubs, probably including the Q.

The 2 of hearts was led. The 10 won the trick. The Q won the second heart trick. Dummy won 2 more heart tricks, forcing East to discard on the fourth lead. He had to hold all his clubs, or dummy would win 2 tricks in that suit. East let go his lowest spade. West had to let go his 7 of diamonds, retaining his good J. West also let go a club. When West held his diamond, North let go his loser of that suit. On Dummy's K of clubs West let go his last diamond and North discarded his lowest spade, retaining his A-K-J of spades for his last 3 cards. Dummy led the 10 of spades. West played the 7. North had to do a bit of guessing, as West held 2 more spades, while East held the Q-6 and the good club. North played his K of spades. He played his Ace, and the Q dropped at his left, making his J good, and giving him 7-odd.

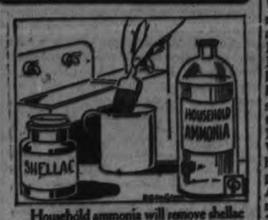
WIFE PRESERVERS



Household ammonia will remove shellac from the paint brush. Wash it up and down in enough ammonia to cover the bristles, then rinse it well under warm water faucet.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

The matter of grooming is one of women's greatest problems in the warm weather. They are expected to retain their cool, dainty appearance no matter what the temperature and this is often almost impossible after a day spent in the kitchen over the range or after a long tiring day in the office. However, the summer bath will solve your problem.

* * * * * * *

Make up your mind you are going to devote half an hour to yourself and your toilette and cultivate the habit of pursuing your beauty in a leisurely manner.

* * * * * * *

Draw a warm or hot bath with the tub three-quarters full. Cleanse your face, arms and neck with a good cleansing cream, wipe this off and follow with spreading on a good rich nourishing cream. Sprinkle a few drops of your favorite bath essence into the tub. It will help you relax and forget the cares of the day. Your skin will retain the fragrance for hours afterwards.

* * * * * * *

Lie back and relax. Relax—The vapors from the hot bath will help the creams to be absorbed and the tissues to be fed and refreshed. You are having a facial at the same time. Wash thoroughly with a good bland soap and then rinse it off thoroughly and finish with a nice cool spray or shower.

* * * * * * *

Use a deodorant and a body talcum of the same odor and you will guarantee your complete daintiness for many hours. Wipe away the excess cream from the face, finishing with a skin tonic which is also a good foundation for your make up.

* * * * * * *

If you have just come in from a game of golf or tennis, don't forget while cleansing the face to massage the cream well into the skin around the eyes, to remove the squint lines caused by the sun. The sun has such a drying effect upon the skin.

* * * * * * *

If you can find the time twice a day is not too often in the summer for baths. It also eliminates all surface poisons. A soothing warm bath, followed by an alcohol rub, is most conducive to sleep on a hot night.

Expert Rope Tossing Saves Four Lives

FORT ERIE, Ont., Aug. 13 (CP) —The rope-tossing ability of Clyde Beatty, youthful circus animal trainer, saved the lives of four men, adrift in a boat in the swirling waters of Niagara River. The quartette, helpless in the strong current of the river, was being swept in a small rowboat toward a jutting reef under the Peace Bridge yesterday when Beatty tossed a long line to the man in the bow.

The boat with its four passengers was dragged into calm water and Beatty, only learning the men were from New York and Buffalo, disappeared before many of the people were aware of the near tragedy.

Police Seek Auto In Thompson Case

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—(C.P.) — Provincial and city police concentrated over the week-end in tracing an automobile in which a witness at the inquest investigating the death of Mrs. Viola Thompson, whose body was found July 19 under a lilac bush in North Toronto, said he saw Mrs. Thompson seated at midnight July 17.

Police located a car bearing a New York State license and reported seein in the vicinity at the time but the driver was able to explain his movements. A number of other drivers were questioned but without result.

MAUREEN SUNTANS WELL, AND SO CAN YOU AND YOU

Maureen O' Sullivan

The charming Maureen O'Sullivan, whose youthfulness and vivacity contribute greatly to her sweetness and allure, has a skin that is absolutely flawless in every respect. Maureen tans beautifully, too. She knows how to go about the tanning process rightly. And as a consequence, the tan she acquires is of the rich, golden-bronze hue that so many gals desire.

Unfortunately, however, there are quite a few gals who do not tan nicely. They look either as raw and red as a beefsteak, or else get a yellowish, jaundiced look that is anything but attractive. And Maureen's advice to such damsels is that they shouldn't allow their delicate integuments to soak up too much of the sunshine.

The best course for any damsel who wishes to retain her fair complexion throughout the summer season, is to follow Maureen's advice. In other words, she should always employ protective measures when going out into the sun. And at the same time she should also administer bleaching treatments to her skin in order to remove any slight discolorations that may appear.

You have to be careful, however, about using bleaches during the summer season. The skin is inclined to be tender and easily irritated during this season. Most bleaches, because of the nature of their ingredients, tend to dry the skin. And consequently, it is usually advisable to apply a bit of cold cream to the skin afterward, in order to counteract any such effects and to keep the skin soft, smooth and supple.

Recently, however, I've learned of a new way of utilizing peroxide for bleaching the skin. The peroxide is incorporated with lubricating substances, and therefore doesn't dry the skin too much. To make this bleach, mix 30 grams of lanolin with 10 grams of sweet almond oil. Then combine one part of borax, 15 parts of glycerine and 15 parts of hydrogen peroxide, and slowly blend this mixture with the other. This bleach is especially effective for use on delicate, sensitive skin and on dry skin that does not react satisfactorily to the ordinary, stronger bleaches.

BELGIUM BUILDING STEEL WALL IN FEAR OF NEW GERMAN ATTACK

Internal Dissension Leads to Fear of Invasion Through Holland.

COST HUGE SUMS

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

LIEGE, Aug. 13.—Belgium is building a seemingly impenetrable wall of steel and concrete on her eastern frontier. There will be no loopholes next time through which an hostile army may penetrate and march upon the capital city of Brussels. In 1914 there was only Liege with her ridiculous forts dating from the middle ages. Three shots was the average which the German siege-guns required to put one of the Liege forts out of action. The first shot went overhead, the second fell short, the third hit the target and the fort had ceased to exist.

Now there is an uninterrupted chain of almost invisible forts running all the way from the French border to the frontiers of Holland. This chain bristles with fifty thousand machine-gun emplacements. Behind this first line stretches a second row of disappearing guns, which come to the surface along a spiral-threadway, fire a round and sink back into the earth and finally a third line of heavy artillery so artfully camouflaged that nothing is visible above the earth's surface.

Keep Fighting Out of Belgium.

Between these lines are the mobile camps, occupied by the field army with a complete equipment of mechanized units, tanks, armored cars, aviation and field artillery. These camps can be pushed forward into enemy territory and then become jumping-off places for attack. The Belgian government is determined that in the event of another armed conflict between France and Germany the fighting will not take place on Belgian territory.

As there are no defences on the French border, it must be clear that the Belgian government looks upon Germany as the only possible aggressor. But what will hapen if the German army instead of coming from the east, swings down through the southern part of Holland, as almost happened in 1914, and comes into Belgium from the north? Then the whole new row of forts would be absolutely useless and soon enough be cut off from the rest of the country. The Dutch army is in no position to keep the Germans out. Holland has hitherto flatly refused to join a Franco-Belgian military alliance. Hence Belgium is compelled to build another defence line in the north on the Dutch border. This line is also under construction now. It will take the form of a row of forts and a deep strategic canal, the Albert canal, running at right angles with the defence line on the east. Where the two lines meet an immense fort is under construction, known as Eben-Emael.

Belgium Tied to France

It goes without saying that the cost of these gigantic military enterprises represents a terrific drain on the treasury of so small a country, and consequently there is a good deal of opposition to the defence schemes. Not merely popular dissatisfaction with the immense outlay of money, but some far more serious opposition of a political nature. Opponents of the defence system, which is based on the France-Belgian military alliance of 1920, charge that Belgium has degraded herself to the position where she is only an extension of France, not even enjoying provincial autonomy, since she must follow France in everything that country undertakes. Belgium is not an independent country, they say, since she has no freedom to choose her own Path, cannot pick her own friends, but is bound hand and foot to Paris.

This feeling is especially strong in Flanders, where the French influence is and always has been, considered nefarious. The Flemings are a Teutonic people. They speak the Dutch language. They have nothing in common with the French-speaking Walloons, who naturally strongly experience the influence of France. Flanders is a unilingual country, and not, as the Canadian official history of the war asserts, bilingual.

A hundred years ago when the Belgian state was created and the Flemings were torn away from Holland, it was thought in Brussels and Paris that they would in turn become French, that they would be denationalized, but the very opposite has happened. They have become more race-conscious than ever.

Drift Toward Nazism

They were only half-heartedly in the last war on the side of France and there is a growing Flemish national movement today, modelled upon the German Nazi party which asserts outright that it will not sacrifice the youth of Flanders for the sake of France in an eventual war of the future.

The Socialists, quite strong in both Flanders and Wallonia, believe in disarmament and would like to see an arrangement with the great powers whereby Belgian neutrality is mutually guaranteed.

So that, although Belgium appear a strong united force to the outside world, it is in reality a state inwardly much divided. Since the war it has become clear that Flanders cannot be frenchified.

King Has Difficult Task

The Walloons want an ever closer union with France. The Flemings drift more and more in the other direction and with them the demand for separation and reunion with Holland grows. This places the king in an extremely difficult position. It is no pleasant experience for him to hear the Flemings sing the Dutch national anthem instead of the official Belgium hymn as recently occurred in two Flemish cities. Leopold III. received a difficult task when he inherited a kingdom in which reside two peoples, opposed in culture, language and tradition, the one Teutonic-Dutch the other Latin-French. Even the union of two kindred peoples, Norway and Sweden, went on the rocks in 1905.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

The three primitive emotions of man are fear, anger and self-love. During development to maturity, self-love turns into self-respect or unselfish love for others. In any well balanced character self-respect must be dominant or ill health is likely to follow, particularly if the fear and anger elements are heightened in intensity.

"The individual usually tolerates the heightening of anger better than fear," writes a prominent St. Louis neurologist. "Fear is commonly the factor to tip the balance towards ill health."

Upset emotions result in functional, but not organic, illness—symptoms, not disease. They cause much apprehension but are usually curable. Frequently before the emotional basis is uncovered, they puzzle both patient and physician. Most of the failures debited to medical treatment belong in this category. The patients go from physician to physician, specialist to specialist, each of whom finds some little deviation in his field, none sufficient to account for the illness of the whole man.

For instance, a woman of 30 had some trouble with one of her eyes and some digestive disturbances. One physician found that she had no hydrochloric acid in her stomach. An oculist found a little thickening of the corner of the eye, but was doubtful whether that could account for her discomfort. Other slight abnormalities were noted but none of them were sufficiently grave to account for the fact that she was a chronic invalid. She took digitalis for her heart, under her own direction, until she had irregularity of the pulse and pain in the heart, which she thought was angina.

An analysis of her life showed that she had constantly made scarifices for her family, helped support her father and mother, put her brothers through school, and had received no thanks or gratitude in return. Her physical appearance was unattractive. She lost some money and felt her future was insecure and that she was incompetent. When told that the pain in her heart was imaginary, she became very angry. However, on being ordered to stop all medication, to stop helping her brothers and allow them to stand on their own feet, and being put on a course of outdoor exercise, tennis and swimming, she recovered completely.

Another instance is of an insurance salesman who was always complaining of burning and sourness of the stomach after meals. Although there was some tenderness over the stomach, other examinations failed to show the presence of an ulcer which was suspected. In making a complete diagnosis of the case, his physician discovered that he had speculated on the stock market in 1929 and made profits equal to his income from his work; also that he and his wife were having trouble and were on the verge of a divorce. In the years from 1929 to 1933, every time the stock market changed, his stomach got worse.

Finally, after he had obtained a divorce and had decided to withdraw from the stock market and go back to his regular work, all his digestive symptoms ceased. The cause of the symptoms was fear of losing money, anger at his wife's actions, and loss of self-respect—all three fundamental emotions upset.

Roast Veal Baked Potatoes
Stewed Tomatoes
Lettuce and Raw Spinach Salad
Two-Crust Lemon Pie Tea

We are so used to making lemon pie with a meringue to top it, that a two-crust lemon pie is something of a novelty to most of us.

Today's Recipes

Two-Crust Lemon Pie — One and one-half cups water, one cup sugar, two tablespoons cornstarch, three tablespoons butter, juice and grated rind of one lemon, two eggs. Heat water to boiling, pour slowly onto sugar and cornstarch which have been measured and mixed together. Stir thoroughly. Cook five minutes over a low fire, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, add butter, cool, and stir in lemon juice, grated rind and beaten eggs. Turn into a pie plate lined with pastry, cover with a top crust and bake first in a hot oven, 425 degrees Fahrenheit, for ten minutes, then reduce temperature quickly to 350 degrees and bake 30 to 35 minutes longer.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Important Trifles

To prevent dresses slipping off the hangers bend the top wire to within two inches of the lower wire.

To keep lemons plump put them in a jar. Tighten the cover and they will keep for a long time.

LITTLE LAKE CONTAMINATED.

The report by Dr. G. Murray Fraser, medical officer of health, that the water in Little Lake is polluted and unfit for bathing will probably be surprising information to hundreds of persons who have been swimming off its shore all summer.

The general public has taken it for granted that the local stretch of the Otonabee River has been free from serious contamination. At least it was not regarded as being dangerous to bathers, most of whom have frequented the vicinity of the C.P.R. bridge, the George street wharf and the old Ashburnham dock in Little Lake.

Signs warning bathers of the condition of the water may not deter them during the rest of the summer, but the Board of Health has promptly taken the proper course, and "a word to the wise" should be sufficient notice that they should swim elsewhere.

The tests made of the water in Little Lake afford an example of the broader service that can be rendered to the people of Peterborough by Dr. Fraser under the system which enables him to devote all his time to questions affecting public health. And he will find that the citizens are deeply interested in his efforts and disposed to co-operate with him in suggestions from his office.

The Board of Health has taken a defensive step in posting warnings to bathers, but it might be worth while to go further and ascertain the source of the colon bacteria which Dr. Fraser discovered in such large numbers that he declared Little Lake "to be badly polluted." The public is entitled to this information, and also should know whether the pollution shown by Dr. Fraser's tests can be prevented.

TYPICAL OF "BOB" COOKE.

The serious accident to Hon. J. R. Cooke will be keenly regretted by his many friends and admirers in this district.

As the representative of North Hastings in the Legislature for many years, as a member of the Cabinet and until recently chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, Hon. Mr. Cooke has been a distinguished neighbor whose successful career has been a pleasing progress to the citizens of Peterborough County.

Improved roads, which he diligently promoted, and the common use of automobiles, brought the Hastings boundary and Mr. Cooke's farm home in Rawdon Township comparatively close to this city. These modern agencies extended the boundaries of the area we look upon to-day as our Peterborough neighborhood, and brought within our larger circle of neighbors, across the Hastings boundary, men like "Bob" Cooke, who had previously been beyond the reach of our horse-cart travelling.

The news of Hon. Mr. Cooke's serious mishap conveyed the information that, while motoring toward his home, he swerved his car to avoid running down a rabbit, and in that instinctive action crashed into a bridge.

The natural impulse which prompted Mr. Cooke to think of the little animal in the road ahead of him was typical of his innate kindliness and his dominant sense of sympathy. It was a flashing revelation of a phase of his character which appealed so powerfully to his friends and to many others who knew him less intimately.

The political influence he attained as the member for the former provincial riding of North Hastings and his high place in the public service of Ontario were adventitious honors that merely broadened his sphere of responsibility and experience. They took from him none of that fine human quality described as the "common touch." He was unspoiled by the preference that had come to him, a final proof of the stirling essence of his character, kindliness and sympathy and thoughtfulness for others.

The Examiner sincerely hopes that Hon. Mr. Cooke will enjoy an early and complete recovery from his injuries.

"A WORKMAN WHO HAS DONE HIS BEST."

The death of Archbishop L. L. Worrell, primate of the Church of England in Canada, at the patriarchal age of eighty-one years terminated a life that abundantly justified his words of summation in a letter, addressed a few hours before he passed away last Friday, to the Right Honorable J. Ramsay MacDonald: "My work is practically completed, and I am ready to go as a workman who has done his best."

If Archbishop Worrell's letter had been a valedictory to his flock, as a shepherd laying down his staff, it could not have been written in more classic beauty, simple, cogent English words breathing a spirit of humility that so becomes a true priest and pastor.

Although born in Smith Falls and a graduate of Trinity College School, Port Hope, and Trinity College, Toronto, Archbishop Worrell first displayed in the Maritime Provinces the administrative ability which was later to be employed in the larger trust as primate of the Dominion. One of his constructive achievements was the building of All Saints' Cathedral in Halifax. Those years gave him a thorough knowledge of conditions in the Maritimes, and his earlier experience acquainted him with scope and needs of the Anglican Church in Ontario. And his latter days thrust upon him the emergent and heavy duty of restoring lost endowments of dioceses in the middle west. To the literal word of his last personal message he had been a zealous workman, whose labors in the cause of Christianity in this country have borne the fruit of a united and devoted church, a splendid background and record for the humble soul of "a workman who has done his best."

CITIES AND THE GAS TAX.

Border Transit Limited, owner of Peterborough bus system, has decided to replace present equipment. Frank J. Mitchell, of Windsor, president, has expressed appreciation of assistance given by the City Council in enabling the company to continue its operations for seven years. "As a matter of fact," comments Peterborough Examiner, "the Council has been able to contribute little more than goodwill. Its paving extensions have been a material help, but its appeal to the Ontario Government for refund of the gasoline tax paid by the company, the somewhat large annual sum of approximately $6,500, failed to secure any financial assistance from that quarter."

This is a matter of concern to all urban municipalities, and should not be allowed to rest without representations being made to the new Government at Toronto. Premier Hepburn's pre-election pledges included one to apply to road purposes all revenue from motor taxation. As pointed out frequently in these columns, motor taxation on the present scale is in excess of departmental expenditure upon roads of all classes. The Government could make a substantial payment toward debt retirement and still have a surplus. If Mr. Hepburn carries out his promise as literally as in some other instances, he will be in position to give some relief in respect of motor taxation.

One logical place to apply it is on behalf of the urban municipalities which build pavements within their borders and contribute to suburban mileage as well, for the use of motorists whose gas tax money goes wholly to the Government. In the United States it is estimated that motor vehicles operated on city streets are responsible for half of all the gasoline tax collected. No doubt the proportion here would be impressive also. Inasmuch as the gas tax, according to the statute authorizing it, is imposed to raise funds for road purposes, and the Government does not share it with urban municipalities, a rebate of the tax on gasoline used by buses operating wholly on city pavements would be nothing more than fair and equitable. Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

THE HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE.

Judge Wearing's decision that household furniture cannot be seised for a husband's debt because it legally belongs to the wife, occasions some surprise to the lay mind. The point, it is said, will have far-reaching effects on the law of seizure.

It is to be assumed that the learned judge knows his law, but if so the legal position is not widely known else the big firm that sued a London butcher would not have taken the step it did by the advice of its legal officers. The general public probably took it for granted that household furniture was the property of the person who paid for it, and in 99 cases out of 100 the husband buys it when he gets married. It seems strange, therefore, that according to the London judge, when a man furnishes a home the furniture automatically becomes the property of the wife.

There was a case in this city a few weeks ago where the municipal government seized a business man's house furniture for unpaid taxes. Again assuming Judge Wearing gave a sound decision, the seizure was illegal. Creditors, including municipalities, should take steps to get this question made clear. —St. Thomas Times-Journal.

MUDDLE VERSUS MURDER.

Americans and Englishmen—Anglo-Saxons in general—are frequently accused by Continental Europeans of "muddling through" their political problems, of taking long, slow, roundabout roads instead of simple, direct ones.

Americans influenced by such European ideas are frequently vociferous in their condemnation of the system of checks and balances created by the Constitution of the United States as a protection against ill-considered haste. It's not simple and direct enough, they say.

The experience of Nazi Germany provides a dramatic answer to such criticism.

It is better to muddle through than to murder through.

Dictatorship, tyranny, regimentation all seem to provide simple answers to the complicated problems of the day. Force seems to give the reply to the problem of making individuals conform to regimentation.

But such simplicity is a fraud. Nor does it solve anything. On the contrary, it leads to worse complications, more violence, more regimentation, and still more violence.

All completely simple solutions of complicated modern political and economic problems should—as Harold Laski, who teaches economics in London, once pointed out—be viewed with great suspicion.

Americans watch with horror and distress the terrible events going on in Germany. They do not judge the right and wrong, but they believe that political murder is always wrong.

Above and beyond their emotional attitude, however, they are learning the valuable lesson that, political theorists notwithstanding, regimentation and ultra-simplification are bad medicine for any nation at any time.

And, if they are truly intelligent, they will be confirmed in their patriotic conviction that the old American method of freedom of the individual, of checks and balances between groups, is better than any foreign method.

Muddle through is an irritating method. But it's a million times better than murder through.—Detroit Times.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People columns must be received at The Examiner Office by 5 p.m. on the day before insertion. All letters must be signed by the writer, although a pen-name may be used when inserting non-controversial subject matter. Letters over 600 words will be cut down at discretion of the editor.

The Editor of The Examiner:

DR. VIOLETTE DOVER

Dear Sir,—By far the most distinguished citizen of Peterborough was Dr. Violette Dover who, beginning hesitatingly as an applicant for matriculation into McGill under the tuelage of the then well-knewn coach, Mr. Lynch, soon found though no longer juvenile that the world of Chemistry lay before her and that she had been qualified by nature to enter it. Her great abilities were at once recognised by McGill University, and having acquired degrees both in America and Germany of the very highest order she entered the ranks of such people as Madame Curie of radium fame and Sir Frederick Banting, by her remarkable discoveries. It is but fitting that we should take note of and appreciate the very great honors paid her in the United States press, where her distinction is fully recognised.

BAND CONCERT, NOT JAMBOREE

Y.M.C.A., Peterborough,
August 10, 1934

The Editor,
"Voice of the People" Column,
The Examiner, Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—As a comparative newcomer to the City of Peterborough, I find many things to admire, and one of these is the unusually fine musicianship displayed by the Rangers and Salvation Army bands, which occasionally play at Victoria Park to the great enjoyment of those who can hear them.

However, one of the things which I find to criticise, and one which I think reflects badly upon the good name of this city, is the way the city fathers permit disgraceful behaviour while the concerts are in progress.

For example, while the musicians are doing their best to please their audience, numerous small children are permitted—in fact, encouraged—to race around the bandstand shouting and crying. They make such a rumpus that the music is completely drowned out when the band plays softly. Again, children have intruded onto the bandstand and actually interfere with the musicians while the latter are performing. The youngsters have even been known to throw stones at the musicians.

A band concert is not an occasion for a children's jamboree, and something should be done to curb their misplaced exuberance so that those adults who come to hear really fine music may do so undisturbed by unnecessary noise.

Yours truly,
B. L. CLIVE.

A Thought

IF I HAD KNOWN

If I had known what troubles you were bearing,
What griefs were in the silence of your face;
I would have been more gentle, and more caring
And tried to give you gladness for a space.
I would have brought more warmth into the place,
If I had known.

If I had known what thoughts despairing drew you;
(Why do we never try to understand?)
I would have lent a little friendship to you,
And slipped my hand within your hand,
And made your stay more pleasant in the land.
If I had known.

What's in The NAME of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK R. WILLIAMS

ANTIGONISH, NOVA SCOTIA

Populated by French Acadians prior to 1784, the first British settlement was effected by disbanded soldiers of the Royal Regiment of Nova Scotia Volunteers. In the years 1795 and 1796, Highland Scottish immigrants settled along the coast from Merigomish to Antigonish and continued in subsequent years.

More than a century ago, Antigonish was known as Dorchester and was situated partly in Halifax county and partly in Sydney. The name Antigonish was given to the county in 1863. Antigonish comes from a Micmac Indian word meaning "the place where branches are torn off the trees by bears gathering beechnuts."

THE BROWSER.

Another column of chatter about writers and books, written just to fill in while the Browser is on vacation in the high hills . . . While you are reading it (Horrible Thought: Just suppose nobody is reading it, after all), the Browser will be very busy building a porch and putting a shower bath in a mountain cabin, swimming a couple of times a day, and sleeping outdoors so high up on earth that the big blue stars almost get all tangled up in his hair. He has some books along with him, but he'll probably not be reading them. . . . When he went to the war he took along a copy of Heine's Poems, the Oxford Book of Verse, and Whitman's Leaves of Grass . . . And during the war, he and a friend started to make a collection of unexpurgated soldier songs but they lost their nerve, the cowards, when they suddenly thought one day, What if we are killed and some kind friend sends all this stuff back to our mothers, what then, huh, what then? So those precious Chansons de Guerre were left behind . . . Celine's "Journey to the End of the Night" contains the best description of how a man gets into a war that it has been the sad pleasure of the Browser to encounter in a book . . . Robert Frost says: "A poem begins with a lump in the throat." . . . E. E. Cummings, who writes poems, too, calls poetry "an idiotic disease" . . . The Browser used to write poems but he gave it up; it looked like poetry, it sounded a little like poetry, but it didn't feel like poetry; it was more like an indigestible lump . . . Walter de la Mare used to be a bookkeeper for an oil company; Morley Callaghan once ran a lending library; a lady who runs a library asked the Browser if he didn't want to sell her some of the books he gets from publishers, to review, and when he said he didn't but that he gave those to friends that he didn't keep for himself and that he didn't think it was exactly right to sell them, she said she didn't see the difference between giving them and selling them; he said it wasn't a difference you could SEE, but it was a difference you FELT. . . . And he felt a glow of self-approval.

Did you ever read Barbellion's "Journal of a Disappointed Man"? It came out after war and it fascinated the Browser. . . . The poor, brave devil who wrote it was dying of a creeping paralysis but his mind was sharp and delightful. . . . He died soon after publication. A bright critic in the Atlantic Monthly said that H. G. Wells was the author, anonymously, and H. G. Wells flayed that critic alive. . . . And do you remember Opal Whiteley's "Journal of an Understanding Heart" that came out in the Atlantic and turned out to be something of a hoax but was charmingly done just the same. . . . The Browser divides the world of readers into those who like Thomas Mann's "Magic Mountain" and those who do not. . . . He has more respect for those who never read anything than for those who can't read "Magic Mountain." . . . The great Dutchman Pieperkorn in that book is an immortal figure of life in literature. . . . Somerset Maugham will write no more stories of the Orient. . . . Are the Pulitzer prize awards on the wane? . . . James Joyce doesn't like dogs; once he tried to run a motion picture theatre. . . . Lincoln Steffens' home in Carmel by the Sea, California, is called "The Getaway." He was once the little boy mascot, with uniform and everything, of a national guard company—but he doesn't know the Browser knows it. . . . Four years ago Edna St. Vincent Millay said her next book would an "Epitaph for the Race of Man" because of the "horrible and cruel things men do to each other," but it isn't published yet. . . . Dorothy Parker's epitaph for herself is to be "Excuse My Dust." . . . Ezar Pound was born in Idaho, ho, ho! the Browser isn't laughing at Idaho, he's laughing at Ezra. . . . Bertrand Russell reminds the Browser of the White Rabbit in Alice in—is it Wonderland or Through the Looking Glass (that motion picture has the Browser all confused). . . . Oswald Spengler reminds the Browser of Gloomy Gus all dressed up. . . . Ford Madox Ford reminds the Browser of a friendly gopher. . . . And James Joyce reminds the Browser of a

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

THE PASSING OF OLD MUD CREEK.

On this date in 1830 the name Mud Creek was erased from the postal map of Nova Scotia. Wolfville took its place. Thereby hangs a tale. Maria and Mary Woodsworth were not proud of the name of their birthplace; indeed, they disliked it very much; so they went to their uncle, Elisha DeWolf, Jr., the postmaster of Mud Creek, and asked him to change the name, suggesting Wolfville. The postmaster agreed that it was time for a change; a family council was held; the new name was endorsed; a petition was sent to the postmaster general of Nova Scotia at Halifax; he assented; and so Mud Creek became Wolfville.

The DeWolfes were a loyal family. The founders of the Canadian branch gave up beautiful estates in New England at the invitation of Governor Charles Lawrence. There were three Sousins, Nathan (a graduate of Yale), cimeon and Jehiel, and were the first grantees of what is now Wolfville. They became the magistrates, judges, leaders in Education and Christian manners, and laid the foundations deep and firm of a community, which, eight years after the change of name, became a university centre by the foundation by the Baptists of Queens College, which later developed into Acadia University. The DeWolfe family are very proud of the possession of a cup from which the Duke of Kent, father of Queen Victoria, drank tea when on a visit to Judge DeWolfe in 1796, and of a corkscrew with the royal crest, found long after the royal visit. Wolfville is also liable to boast that it once had a student who made shoes in order to pay his way through college and who became a great leader not only of Nova Scotia and Canada, but of the British Empire—Sir Charles Tupper. If you visit Wolfville and ask the right person you can see these shoes made by the boy who trained at Acadia and became a baronet, after being a Father of Confederation.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 87c to 92c; oats, 35c to 38c barley, 50c to 53c; corn, 80c to 82c; rye, 55c to 57c; buckwheat, 60c to 62c.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

In repeated whirlwind of sellings, all grain values collapsed and rebounded and collapsed again and again Saturday, finishing prostrate at the extreme lowest limits allowed. This meant overnight net losses ranging from 3c to 5c a bushel throughout the entire market.

For at least the time being, speculative confidence at the last regarding current prices for grain appeared to have been almost completely shattered, and business in every one of the trading pits was brought to a virtual standstill.

Overshadowing all other market factors were statements attributed to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that the United States Government acreage reduction program for next year would be virtually abandoned. Further unsettling influences included official corn-crop production estimates that exceed private forecasts. On top of these were drastic setbacks in European grain quotations Saturday.

Wheat in Chicago closed heavy, 4⅞c to 5⅛c under Friday's finish; corn, 3¼c to 4c down; oats, 2⅜c to 3¼c off, and provisions at 17c to 40c decline.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Butter and cheese prices moved lower on the Montreal produce and dairy market last week, while egg and potato quotations were higher.

Carlots or less of No. 1 butter sold at 18½c a pound at the end of the week, down ¼c to ⅝c. To retailers solids were 20c and prints 21c a pound. Receipts for the week totalled 18,574 boxes.

Cheese lost ⅛c to ¼c at 10c to 10¼c for No. 1 Ontario, and 9⅝c to 9¾c a pound for No. 1 Quebec. The week's arrivals were 30,586 boxes. Exports from Montreal last week amounted to 11,490 boxes, as compared with 13,062 boxes in the previous week, and 15,576 in the corresponding period of last year. Exports for the season up to Aug. 4 totalled 154,419 in the same period of 1933.

Eggs advanced from ½c to 2c on the week. Graded shipments of Ontario eggs in less than carlots were quoted at 23c to 23½c a dozen for A-large 21½c to 22½c for A-medium, 10c to 12c for "B" and 16c to 19c for "C." Western eggs in carlots were 21½c for A-large, 20½c for A-medium, 19c to 19½c for "B," and 18c for "C." Arrivals totalled 8,777 cases.

New Quebec potatoes were slightly higher at 55c to 60c per 60-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Frenzied selling Saturday completely erased the advance of wheat during the previous six days and pushed futures prices down for net loses of 6⅛ to 7⅛ cents.

The bearish interpretation of the United States Government's latest crop estimate, the subsidization of exports by France and the Canadian report on crop conditions in the Prairie West accounted for the liquidation.

The market closed at bottom levels, October at 87¼c, December at 88⅜c to 88½c and May at 91⅝c. Export sales of Canadian wheat out early losses in half, but the rally was shortlived as successive waves of selling swept the pit.

Rain fell in drought areas of the United States and in parts of Manitoba, Northern Saskatchewan and Alberta. Even though many traders thought the rain too late to be of benefit, it was a factor in the decline, although only a minor one.

Prices broke 2¾ to 6 cents in the first two minutes of selling. A slight export demand had a stabilizing influence toward mid-session, but renewed selling sent prices ever lower. There was hectic selling at the close.

been flown for a year and a half prior to the purchase by the service.

Mr. Lyons said he knew his firm supplied material to the contractor of the airdrome, but contended he had lost money durinng his term as minister. He said he was not a director of the service from 1924 to 1926.

Mr. Lyons said work of Capt Roy Maxwell, director of the flying service, had been "very efficient" during Mr. Lyon's office as minister. He was unable to express an opinion on the director's work since that, he said. Departmental costs might be too high, he said, but "that might not be Maxwell's fault."

J. A. MacDonald gave a list of those interested in the Sault Fuel and Oil Company of which Mr. Lyons is president. He said he had sold some gasoline to the air service.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—Hogs brought the highest prices here today since October, 1931.

A top of $5.60 per 100 pounds was paid for prime swine at the stockyards. This was five cents better than the peaks established in 1932 and 1933. Including the $2.25 per 100 pounds processing tax paid to the government by packers, hogs to-day cost the most since Aug. 11, 1931.

The market advanced 20 cents from Saturday's peak of $5.40.

BUYING BRISK ON WALL STREET

Stocks Advance in Higher Territory on New York Market.

SHORT COVERING.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (CP)—Stocks advanced into higher territory to-day. Buying was rather brisk during the noon period, but prices moved off slightly from their best in the lull that followed. The tone was firm. Shares up 1 to around 3 points included American Telephone, U.S. Steel, Goodyear, Union Pacific, Santa Fee, Armour of Illinois Preferred and Great Western Sugar. Transfers approximated 800,000 shares.

Strong buying appeared in the U.S. Government bonds, after Saturday's sharp recession, and the stock market rallied briskly.

In the Canadian list, Dome firmed a point, while McIntyre and International Nickel improved fractionally. On the curb, Lake Shore was slightly higher. In bonds, Dominion Government smoved up ½ of a point.

Considerable short covering developed in the stock market, notably in rails and utilities. American Telephone, on which dividend action is due Wednesday, rose 3 points, and similar gains appeared in Union Pacific, Santa Fee U.S. Smelting and others. Issues up about 2 points or more included U. S. Steel Goodyear, U.S. Rubber Preferred, Armour Preferred, Case, U.S. Gypsum, Cuban American Sugar Preferred, Dupont, Howe Sound, and others.

GAINS RECORDED IN INDUSTRIALS

Rally on Toronto Exchange Reflects Burst of Buying in New York.

DRAB MORNING SESSION.

TORONTO, Aug. 13. —(C.P.)— The industrial section of the Toronto exchange had a "blue Monday" tinge only until mid-day after which the tone brightened up smartly on New York's lead where, it is said, shorts were busy covering their positions. All the interlisted leaders, including Nickel, Brazilian, Ford A, the distillery shares and oils recorded gains for the day.

Following a drab morning session the industrial section livened up around mid-day and gains were recorded over the board. The rally reflected a burst of buying on the New York Board which lifted prices, particularly in the metal and steel groups.

Form small first hour losses the distillery shares had gains up to ¾ of a point this afternoon. Buoyancy spread to the oils and International Pete added a point. Ford A and Nickel came along with advances of ¼ to ⅝ and Consolidated Smelters was up a couple of points.

Heavy buying of Nickel developed in the last hour and the price moved up to 25½ for a new gain of ¾. Brazilian was also under accumulation on a price rise of ⅝ to 9⅛. Smelters gained a point and Ford A ⅛. Massey Harris was strong at 4¾.

Danger Of Bloodshed Eases In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 13 — (A. P.) — Danger of bloodshed vanished to-day in New Orleans in the eyes of the average citizen as militia called out by Senator Huey P. Long and Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley's police army relaxed after two weeks of posing within shooting range without a bullet being fired across the border.

Many said the "war" between the two ring leaders was a "bluff," the kind that politicians use, but the command of shoulder arms was still the order of the day and the two armies even under the diminished strength were still strongly entrenched across a narrow street—the guards in the city voters registration office and Walmsley's police occupying the city hall.

Race For Serum Foils Paralysis

STRATFORD, Ont., Aug. 13 (CP) —Announcement was made to-day that two-year-old Glen Frier, son of W. Frier, is not a victim of infantile paralysis, as at first feared. When the lad showed symptoms of the disease, Saturday, his father rushed to London to obtain a supply of serum from Victoria Hospital, the supply locally being exhausted.

When he reached London, Frier's car broke down and the aid of Provincial Police was enlisted. Traffic Officer W. Cole of London rushed the serum from London to Stratford at breackneck speed and the treatment was given the child. To-day the attending physicians said there is no trace of paralysis and the patient is considerably brighter.

TO ONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Aug. 13 (CP).—Cattle led the way on the Toronto Livestock Market this afternoon with gains of 15 cents on butchers and 25 to 50 cents on choice, weighty steers and fed calves, while steady prices prevailed on other grades. The hog division was still unsettled, but all other classes—calves, sheep and lambs—sold steady.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 3,010; calves, 1,060.

Choice steers brought $5.25 to $5.75 with one load at a top of $6.00. Plain steers sold down to $4.00. Best butchers sold from $4.25 to $4.60 and common went as low as $3.00.

Good butcher cows sold steady at $2.75 to $3.00 with canners at $1.00. A few good bulls sold for export at $2.50 to $3.00. Choice fed calves ranged from $6.50 to $7.00 with mediums down to $5.00. No stockers were sold.

Calves continued firm at $5.50 to $6.00 for choice vealers and at $3.00 for common. Grass calves went at $2.00 to $2.75, lambs steadied to sell unchanged at $6.50 for good ewes and wethers and at $5.00 to $5.50 for bucks and culls. Sheep were also steady at $1.00 to $2.50 cwt.

Hogs remained unsettled as packers bid 7.60 f.o.b. for bacons, $7.95 off truck and $8.35 off car. Salesmen were asking higher prices.

HEAVY DEMAND IS SHOWN IN GOLDS

Higher Priced Golds Reach Best Prices Recorded in Month.

NORANDA UP $2.00.

TORONTO, Aug. 13 (C.P.) — Trading favor returned to the high-priced gold shares to-day and some of them reached the best prices recorded in more than a month. Hollinger and Teck Hughes were out in heaviest volume while Dome, Lake Shore and Wright Hargreaves showed healthy demand. Gains of 10 to 30 cents each were registered for Dome, Hollinger, Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves and Lake Shore and McIntyre advanced 50 cents each.

Gold stocks led a early afternoon rally on the mining section, Dome, Hollinger, Lake Shore and McIntyre all touching their high levels over a month or more. Secondary gold shares drifted along with a generally firm price tone.

In the Base Metals, Noranda responded to the New York rise by adding $2 to its Saturday price but other issues of the group were just holding. In the silvers prices were inclined to sag a little on light trading.

Trade was slow and prices moderately soft in the morning but the market turned up after noon. Led by a rally on the New York board Noranda hit $44 for a $2 advance and closed at 43.50 while Falconbridge had a small gain and the other Base Metals closed unchanged. In the silver group, price movements were erratic, Bear Exploration dropping to 31. Eldorado sold off to 2.80 but recovered to close at 2.90 for a net loss of 5 cents. Premier was sold heavily and the price was off 7 cents to 1.25 but came back to close at 130, down 2.

HON. J. R. COOKE IS SINKING FAST

to the general hospital in this city.

Mr. Cooke was returning home on Friday night from visiting his cousin, Mr. Thomas Cooke, who also resided in Rawdon township and it is believed that he suffered a heart attack when only a short distance from his home. His car swerved towards the driveway house of Mr. Colden near the road but he was able to pull it back, but the car continued on its way and struck the north abutment of the bridge about the centre of the car, completely demolishing the vehicle. Mr. Colden, who was at home at the time, hearing the noise ran out and found Mr. Cooke lying face downward on the grass.

Engine Driven Back

The engine of the car was driven well back to the front seat by the impact. He was rushed to his home and Dr. Alger or Stirling called. Immediate attention was given the lacérations on his forehead and lip, which were badly cut, a number of stitches being required to close the wounds.

His right ankle was also crushed in the accident. On Sunday it was revealed he had also sustained a crushed chest, apparently being caused by the force of the impact, the wheel striking him at that part of the body. His condition is considered grave by Dr. Alger.

Writer, Opera Star Get Heavy Tax Bills

Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—(A.P.) — Nobody knows exactly how much writers and performers earn in foreign lands, but the current tax claims against P. G. Wodehouse in the United States and Lily Pons in Argeintina gives an inkling.

The United States claims the English humorist owes $250,703.59 as tax on American income earned from 1925 to 1931, inclusive. Argentina wants the French opera singer to pay $4,000 for the privilege of earning what she did on appearances during 1932 at the Colon theatre.

Authors' agents say there seldom is trouble between the United States and foreign writers because their income tax usually is turned directly over to the government by the publishers or agents.

Noel Conrad, British playwright and actor who is reputed to be one of the largest foreign money makers in the United States, makes a point of leaving here all that he earns, investing what he does not pay over to the tax collector in American bonds and stocks.

False Teeth Are Lost When Veterans Unite

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—(C.P.) — Tendency of false teeth to stray was revealed today through efforts made by Canadian National Exhibition authorities to trace the missing teeth of a 24th Battalion veteran from Montreal who lost his supper and lower sets during the Canadian Crops' re-union.

Three complete sets were found during the re-union, but all were claimed. However, there was a considerable quantity of teeth at Corps Headquarters for owners, but not one complete set.

The Weather

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—(CP)—Synopsis—A shallow trough of low pressure extends southwestward from Ungava across the Great Lakes to the southwest states while pressure is high over Manitoba and the northwest states. A shallow low area centred off Nantucket is moving eastward. Showers and thunderstorms have occurred in Northwestern Ontario and in the western provinces but the weather has been fair in Southern Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes. It has been moderately warm in all provinces.

Lower lake region and Georgian Bay: Moderate to fresh shifting winds; partly cloudy and warm; probably a thundershower. Tuesday —Moderate fresh northerly winds; fair and a little cooler.

Northern Ontario: Fresh winds, shifting to northwest; cloudy with thundershowers; cooler tonight. Tuesday, noorthwest winds, fair and comparatively cool.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valleys: Southeast to southwest winds; partly cloudy and warm; a few local thundershowers. Tuesday, northwest to north winds; fair and a little cooler.

EXTRA RELIEF NEEDED IN U. S.

Check by Roosevelt Shows $525,000,000 Not Enough in Drought Areas.

FOOD SUPPLIES GUARDED.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. — (A. P.) — President Roosevelt summoned relief officials to the white house to-day, and there are indications that the United States Government will spend more than the expected $525,000,000 in the fight against drought.

A bigger war chest to allay suffering in the calamity zones already has been suggested by relief workers, who told Mr. Roosevelt the $525,000,000 set aside would not suffice.

The president, just back from a trip through ruined and baking farm lands, is seeking means of providing whatever additional money is necessary.

Aubrey Williams, acting federal relief administrator headed the officials called to the White House to-day.

To a degree unequalled since Great War days, the Government will keep an eye on food supplies during the fall and winter. Realizing that with crop estimates down at the lowest level in 30 years higher prices to the consumer are inevitable, officials promise to do everything possible to Scotch profiteering.

DRAGGING CONTINUES

BALA, Ont., Aug. 13 (CP)—An aeroplane and 18 boats to-day continued the search for H. B. Armstrong of St. Mary's, and Joe Dawson of Mortimer's Point, missing since last Sunday when they set out late at night from Port Carling in a sea-flea for Mortimer's Point.

A crew of 50 men have dragged in the water from Port Carling to Mortimer's Point. A bit of clothing, which may be part of Armstrong's windbreaker, was pulled up by draggers, Saturday.

GERMAN CLERGY ARE ARRESTED

Reichbishop Acts Swiftly as Pastors Refuse to Swear Fealty.

"FIGHT TO FINISH."

(By Walter E. Brockman, Associated Press Foreign Staff)

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—A "finish fight" between Adolf Hitler's Nazi Government and rebellious Protestant pastors over the State's church program appeared imminent today.

Authorities lost no time in clamping down on clergymen who defied laws, rushed through the National Synod last Thursday giving dictatorial powers to Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller, ardent follower of Hitler.

Reliable reports said a number of ministers were arrested over the week-end for expressing open opposition from their pulpits to Mueller and denouncing the Nazi program.

The Mueller program included an oath of fealty to Hitler, to which pastors objected, claiming it placed the Chancellor ahead of God and the Church.

A manifesto drawn up by dissident pastors at Hamburg, Friday, is interpreted by some as an open "declaration of war" against Mueller. It declared proceedings of the "so-called National Synod" invalid and called upon congregations not to obey them.

Ross Pulkinghorn Captures Oak Ridge Trophy in Close Contest.

(By Staff Reporter).

JUNIPER ISLAND, Aug. 13. — Saturday was the big day of the season for youngsters at Stoney Lake. A goodly portion of the resort colony's junior population turned out for the annual events of the Juniper Island Junior Regatta.

To Katherine Acton, a Toronto girl, went the Ryrie-Birks Trophy, symbolizing the regatta championship. In winning it, she did a fine job, competing against a husky group of youngsters who paddled and rowed with a proficiency comparable to that demonstration at the Senior Regatta earlier in the week. Her point total was 16.

Even Distribution.

Reg Forsythe proved the runner up but, with a more even distribution of points among the boys at the regatta due to stiffer competition in the boys events, his point total fell far short of that of the champion. He garnered 9 during the afternoon. Paul Zimmerman was close behind with 8 and John Cale 6 to his credit.

Wins Oak Ridge Cup.

Ross Pulkinghorn of Chemong stole one of the feature events of the day, a special one-mile canoe race for the Oak Ridge Trophy, from under the noses of local boys and girls. Four entered the race but it quickly resolved into a battle betweei Pulkinghorn and a companion from Chemong, Jack Jopling.

Pulkinghorn took the lead over Jopling after they rounded the red buoy on the McCracken's channel, the halfway mark, and managed to keep it over the rest of the course. He finished with a 30-yard advantage. The last two paddlers finished far out of the money.

Swimming events on the card were particularly heavily contested with more than a dozen competing on three occasions. Ted Hunter had a close race with Jack Jopling to win the boys' 16 and under swim. Tibbs Annnesley nosed out Ruth East for the first prize in the corresponding girls' event.

Heats were necessary in the mixed tandem canoe events. Beverly Rogers and Jack Jopling won the 16-and-under tandem handily while Mary Hall and Reg. Forsythe took a victory in the 14-and-under tandem, Katherine Action and Bill Brouse enjoyed a lead of mere inches over Ruth East and John Cole in taking first place.

The Prize List.

Boys' single skiff, 14 and under —1, Paul Zimmerman; 2, David Rogers; 3, Jack Barnes.

Boys' single skiff, 14 and under —1, Don McPherson; 2, John Cole.

Widow Carries On

Clad in her widow's weeds, Frau Dollfuss is greeted by her young daughter, Evi, on her return from the funeral of the slain chancellor at Vienna, to Riccione, Italy, where Mrs. Benito Mussolini had charge of Evi and her brother, both of them ignorant of their father's assassination, during their mother's absence.

BLACK KNIGHTS ONTARIO EAST HOLD DERRY DAY

Band accompanied the representatives of R.B.P. No. 631, and at the service of remembrance piped a dirge, "Barren Rocks." Two small children, little Vivian Palmer, daughter of Worshipful Preceptor Cecil Palmer, of Frankford R.B.P., and little Jean Morris, accompanied the Pipe Band and were attired in the Scotch national costume to match the outfits worn by the pipers.

The playing of the National Anthem by the Durham Regimental Band, under Bandmaster M. J. Tambyn, concluded the memorial service, after which the procession paraded to Millbrook Public School grounds to reform for the "walk" to Exhibition Park. Past Preceptor James H. Paul, of R.B.P., No. 945, Millbrook, marshalled the parade. He also officiated as chairman of the program committee.

Provides Honor Guard.

Leaving the school grounds the parade, marching to the tune, "The Men of Harlech," was accorded a guard of honor, provided by the members of Millbrook preceptory as hosts of the gathering, the worshipful preceptor being Louis Morton.

Standard-bearers escorted the Grand Lodge officers who were present in the persons of Everitt Bell, of Belleville, grand master of the Royal Black Preceptory of Ontario East; Robert Ritchie, of Peterborough, deputy grand master; Darcy Dunlop, of Millbrook, past deputy grand master.

Weir Preceptory.

Weir R.B.P., No. 261, Peterborough, was led in the parade by Worshipful Preceptor John A. Holden and by Worshipful Deputy Preceptor Archie McDonald, and was headed by a combined fife and drum band from Peterborough numbering some thirty musicians.

The Knights all wore their conventional garb, with swallow-tailed coats, black silk hats and other regalia and made a smart appearance. Nassau L.O.L. Drum and Fife Band from Toronto presented a particularly smart and pleasing appearance in their uniforms of white with blue sashes.

As a departure from the silk hats and swallow-tailed coats worn by most of the Knights, the members of Frankford Preceptory wore white coats, while Blackstock L.O.L. 133 provided a blue-shirted drum and fife band. Other preceptories represented in the parade included Blackstock R.B.P. 398, Oshawa R. B. P. 763, Pontypool R.B.P. 1063, Port Hope R.B.P. 293 and Coldsprings R.B.P.

At Fair Grounds.

Speakers at the Fair Grounds included Bro. Rev. H. R. Williams, pastor of Grace Presbyterian Church; Right Worshipful Grand Master Everitt Bell, of Belleville; Deputy Grand Master Robert Ritchie, of Peterborough; Past Grand Master George Porter, of Peterborough; the Rev. W. Simpson, rector of St. Thomas' Anglican Church; Bro. Reeve Percy Stinson, of Millbrook; Bro. Fred. W. Bowen, M.P., Durham.

The Rev. Williams believed that the Protstant Church faced a great peril from the indifference of its own adherents. There was not the loyalty to the Protestant Church that there should be, he said.

He asked the Knights, "Are you loyal to the principles for which Orangeism stands? If so, you and your families will be found at church every Sunday."

Fear God, Speaker Urges.

His message to them was, "Fear God and keep His commandments and remember to keep holy the Sabbath Day." The record of history had shown conclusively, the speaker declared, that neither nations or individuals could prosper without God.

Grand Master Everitt Bell, of Belleville, briefly discussing some of the problems that were being taken up by the Orange Order, touched upon the marriage question and the decision of the Privy Council that marriages solemnized by a Protestant minister were equally binding with those performed by a Roman Catholic priest.

Bilingual Question.

He also made brief reference to the bilingual question, which, he said, had recently resulted in open hostility between English and French-speaking peoples in Moncton, N. B.

"Not only in New Brunswick but in other provinces we are up against the same problem," he stated, "and we are going to put our shoulders to the wheel to put down this element that is agitating to wipe us off the map."

Despite indisposition, Mr. Bowen undertook to address the gathering. There never was a time, he believed, that called for consolidation of the Orange association and adherence by Orangemen to the obligations of their membership in the order.

He expressed the opinion, "The order has been one of the bulwarks of our Dominion since the time of Confederation, and we must remember that it stands for a great deal more than we sometimes credit it with."

Pontypool in 1935.

The speech-making was interspersed with musical selections by the Durham Regimental Band, and at the conclusion of that portion of the program the preceptors of the various preceptories met and decided upon Pontypool as the place of the next Derry Day celebration. The invitation was extended by Wor. Master John Payne, of L.O.L. 82, on behalf of Pontypool preceptory.

2 Contesting Seat In South Wellington

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 13 (CP) — Mayor R. Beverly Robson, who contested South Wellington in the Ontario elections June 19, will be in the field against Dr. J. H. King, Liberal, on August 20, it was announced Saturday.

Following a series of meetings during the last few days, the Conservative executive has decided to place a candidate in the by-election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of D. Paul Munro.

From present indications the contest will be a straight two-party fight. While there has been some talk of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation entering a candidate, nothing definite has been done.

In the June election Mr. Munro was returned over Mr. Robson by a majority of 3,561. The vote was Munro, 10,376; Robson, 6,815.

"AN EYE TO THE FUTURE - AN EAR TO THE GROUND"

— this describes General Motors' policy, a policy by which the public is given what it wants in better cars year after year, and yet is safely protected against ill-timed or dubious experiments

Not what one man thinks-but

What the Public Wants

OUR exchange of views with more than 60,000 Canadian motorists has impressed on us the folly of building motor cars to a formula.

In developing our engineering programs, and our selling programs, we prefer to get all the facts, then apply them with an open mind.

Scores of new inventions and new designs are born in the General Motors laboratories, and tested on the General Motors Proving Ground, each year. Those that are sound are submitted to the public itself — through our annual Customer Questionnaires — for the public's own suggestions and approval.

And, when two solutions to the same engineering problem prove sound and dependable, we prefer to offer both in our different lines of cars and trucks. Thus we encourage engineering achievement and provide a choice of proved designs.

We believe that when you give the public freedom of choice you lay a sure foundation for improvement and progress. And we believe that every motorist who considers the company back of the car he buys, prefers to deal with this kind of open-minded—and public minded—organization.

All General Motors cars and trucks may be purchased on convenient terms through GMAC, General Motors' own time-payment plan.

NORMAL BARLEY CROP EXPECTED

Threshing Will be General Around End of Week if Heavy Rain Holds Off.

OAT CROP FAIR.

A close to normal crop in barley and oats despite the greatly reduced wheat yield in Peterborough County this season was predicted by A. D. Runion, agricultural representative. If heavy rain holds off, threshing will be general around the County by the end of this week.

Mr. Runion, back at his desk from a holiday trip through Western Ontario states that Peterborough farmers may consider themselves fortunate as far as drought is concerned. Conditions here are as favorable as any to be found in the Central Ontario district and definitely better than in Western Ontario, he said.

The early potato yield locally is "extra good", he reported further. If the dry weather continues, however, the late crop is not going to meet general expectations. He said he considered the present price of 50 cents a bag for potatoes an unwarranted low.

THRONGS CROWD HERO'S SHRINE

Hundreds Go Home Disappointed From Hindenburg's Tomb at Tannenberg.

SPECIAL TRAINS.

HOHENSTEIN, Germany, Aug. 13 (A.P.) — Germany's pilgrimage to the shrine where Paul Von Hindenburg is buried still makes the small town of Hohenstein, the centre of East Prussia.

Special trains are bringing thousands of mourners daily to the massive tower of the Tannenberg war memorial where the late president was placed last Tuesday.

Hundreds go home disappointed unable to gain admittance because of the crowds.

Four soldiers form a guard of honor inside Von Hindenburg Tower. Eight thousannd dahlias there will be replaced to-morrow by red roses. Sight-seeing buses carry the visitors over the historic battlefields in steady procession.

Germany made the field of Tannenberg a site of victory 500 years after Germans had suffered one of the most crushing defeats in history on that plain.

Field Marshal Paul Von Hindenburg crushed the Russians at Tannenberg in 1914, but in 1410 the Germanic crusaders of the Order of the Cross under their grand master, Ulrich Von Jungingen, were smashed by the Poles and Lithuanians at Grunwald in the Nasurian Lakes region, a little south of the modern battlefield.

Exhibition Entries Well Up To Record

Entries of exhibitors to the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition officially closed on Saturday, but every mail to-day brought an ever increasing pile of entries to the office of Sheriff F. J. A. Hall, secretary of the Exhibition Board.

"Everything points to one of the finest shows of livestock that Peterborough has ever had," Mr. Hall stated. "Entries are well up to the record set last year and the quality of the exhibits is assured."

Mr. Hall was unable to-day to give any figures upon the number of entries. "I have still a great deal of work in listing entries and every mail brings in more," he said. "To-morrow I should be in a position to give totals of entries in the various classes."

BIG ENTRY LIST JUNIOR SECTION OF EXHIBITION

One Week From To-day Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition Will Open.

ERECTING TENTS.

For the thirty-second successive year, turnstiles at Peterborough Industrial Exhibition will commence "clicking-in" the crowds, one week from to-day. Even at so early a stage, predictions based on the large number of entries to hand and the extraordinary program of attractions lined-up by a hard working entertainment committee, promises that this year's "Ex" will eclipse all others.

General preparations were in full swing at the grounds this morning, and the big job of erecting tents had been commenced by J. J. Turner and Sons, Limited, according to Thomas Brown, vice-president of the Board.

In the junior farmer section well over 100 entries were already to hand by this morning, A. D. Runions, local and district agricultural representative, stated. He said the number of entries made favorable comparison with last year.

Twelve members of the Shorthorn Calf Club, which was started in connection with the junior farmer activities three years ago, will be exhibiting calves, yearlings and 2-year-olds for the last time as a club.

With Peterborough Exhibition designated as a Class A fair, all the cattle exhibits now have to be tested, and for that purpose Dr. G. Penhall of Belleville, animal health inspector, is in the district this week completing tests of all cattle exhibits other than those from tested herds.

COUNCIL LIKELY SEEK THE HELP OF MEDICAL MEN

Minister Will Try and Lower Cost of Indigent Patients.

KEEP CLOSER CHECK.

Hon. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health, Adresses Letter to Municipalities.

The co-operation of local medical men will probably be sought by the City Council in an effort to decrease the burden upon the city of maintaining indigent patients in hospital.

This course of action by the City Council is suggested by Hon. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health, in a letter in which he deals fully with the imperative need of relieving municipalities of some of the burdening expense of indigent patients. He also outlines a system to keep a check on indigent patients, so that they can not remain in hospital longer than is absolutely necessary.

Hon. Mr. Faulkner's letter, which will be dealt with shortly by the Council, follows:

The burden upon municipalities with respect to the hospital treatment of indigent patients has, during recent years, increased to such an extent that some relief is imperative. There is a general complaint from the municipalities that persons who are not acutely ill or in real need of hospital treatment are not infrequently admitted to public hospitals at the expense of the municipality, and that these and other patients are often permitted to remain in hospital for a longer period than is actually necessary.

With a view to correcting the condition and curbing this additional cost it is suggested that your governing board appoint from your staff, a committee of not more than three legally qualified practitioners. It shall be the duty of such a medical committee to visit and examine all indigent patients admitted to your hospital as a charge against a municipality within twenty-four hours after admission.

The committee shall also review all such cases as often as necessary but at least every seven days during the period of hospitalization. It will have access to the case records of all such indigent patients and shall take such action as may be deemed expedient in the best interests of all concerned, and to insure that no such indigent patient who actually requires a continuance of hospital treatment shall be deprived thereof.

Upon receipt of advice in writing from this committee that any such indigent patient no longer requires treatment in a hospital, he shall be immediately discharged and thereupon provincial and municipal liability shall cease in respect of any further treatment of such patient.

This is a matter of the utmost importance and you are urged to secure the co-operation of your Board and your Medical Staff in putting this proposal into immediate effect. Please be good enough to advise me as early as possible what action has been taken and the names of those appointed to form this committee.

Weddings

TULLY—FAWCETT

A quiet wedding took place in St. Aiden's church, Young's Point, on Wednesday at 4 o'clock when Amy Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fawcett of Hall's Bridge was united in marriage to George Ervin, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Tully of Selwyn. Rev. E. C. Moore performed the ceremony.

The bride was dressed in coral pink crepe with white accessories and carried a bouquet of gladiolus, bridal roses and baby's breath. The bridesmaid, Miss Velma Jackman of Lakefield wore royal blue crepe with white accessories and carried a bouquet of gladiolus and baby's breath. The groom was supported by Mr. Marven Armstrong of Smith.

The groom's gift to the bride was a white gold wrist watch, to the bridesmaid a white bone necklace and bracelet to the groomsman gold collar and tie clips. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents.

Later the bridal couple left on a motor trip to Toronto, the bride travelling in a pea-green crepe ensemble with white accessories. On their return they will reside in Selwyn.

AIM PILGRIMAGE FOR VIMY RIDGE

Canadian Veterans Prepare Plans for Trip in 1936 for Unveiling.

SEVENTH MONUMENT.

OTTAWA, Aug. 13 (CP) — The next objective of Canada's war veterans is Vimy Ridge, according to an announcement issued here today by the Dominion Command of the Canadian Legion. A pilgrimage to that battlefield will be held in 1936 in connection with the unveiling there of Canada's national memorial.

"While the undertaking of such a pilgrimage has been part of the Legion's program for several years and has been approved by various Dominion conventions in the past, its realization has awaited the return of business and employment to better times," the announcemnt says. "The recent Canadian Corps Reunion at Toronto, however, gave further impetus to the idea. Recalling battlefield pilgrimages from other Dominions, the Canadian veterans, on the innumerable occasions on which the project was discussed, decided the tour would become an accomplished fact. The unveiling of the Vimy Ridge Memorial was indicated as the appropriate ceremony upon which it would centre."

Announcement of the date of the unveiling will, it is understood, be made very shortly. It is gathered that the memorial will be completed about October next year, a circumstances which would probably set the unveiling date some time in 1936. In view of that it is hoped by the veterans that Dominion Day, 1936, may be the date which the Government will determine on.

Ready to Name Officials

The Legion's statement declared that before returning to Western Canada last week, Brigadier General Alex Ross, C.M.G., D.S.O., Dominion President of that organization, announced that as soon as official sanction was given on the unveiling date he would make public the personnel of a national committee which will have the pilgrimage under his charge.

"This organization, which will have a permanent secretary, will undertake all arrangements," the statement continued.

"Provincial committees will be set up by the Legion to co-operate with Legion branches and unit associations in the establishment of savings accounts."

The unveiling of the Vimy Memorial will complete Canada's chain of monuments on the European battlefields. It is the most majestic of all, its graceful columns surmounting Hill 145 and dominating the whole of the ridge which the Canadian Corps stormed on April 9, 1917. Seven memorials have been erected by the Dominion in different sectors of the front. From North to South there are located at Passchendaele, St. Julien, Vimy, Dury Cross Roads, Bourlon Wood, Courcelette and Le Quesnel.

Dairy Team Chosen To Represent County

A team of six junior farmers who have been selected to represent Peterborough County in the new Dairy Produce Competitions at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto on September 5, attended instruction classes in buttermarking at the office of A. D. Runions, local agricultural representative on Saturday evening.

The boys were coached by Charles R. Kennedy, president of the Kawartha Buttermakers' Club, who is buttermaker at Silverwood's Peterborough Dairy, and C. Driscoll of Canada Packers, Limited.

Boys tentatively selected by Mr. Runions to make up the team, are: Harry McIntyre, Stuart Nelson both of Keene; Fred Rutherford, Havelock, Howard Hamilton, Lakefield, Archie Clysdale, Birdsall and Archie Crowe, Lakefield.

PUBLIC FEELING IS INDIFFERENT WORLD EVENTS

Archdeacon Blagrave Addresses Members of Rotary Club.

CRITICIZES THE PRESS.

Lowering of Moral Consciousness and Deterioration of Public Mind.

In the indifference of public feeling to significant world events, Archdeacon Dr. R. C. Blagrave sees a general lowering of moral consciousness which offers a menace to constituted law and authority, and the danger of a reversion to the cruelty and injustice of the pre-Victorian era.

Addressing the members of the Rotary Club at Empress Hotel today noon, Dr. Blagrave urged that in order to avert the threatened danger, "public consciousness must somehow be brought face to face with God. Public consciousness must face up to those things which are eternal, and put first things first."

His concluding message in a particularly thought-provoking address, was, "Seek first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness and all other things shall be added unto you."

Upon motion of C. G. Graham, the speaker was tendered a vote of thanks by President J. Fred Reed.

Providing some illustrations in support of his contention that there had been a lowering of moral consciousness, Dr. Blagrave stated there was complete failure on the part of the public to discriminate between values. Public leaders, he said, were just what the public expected them to be and the public was incapable of discriminating between worthy and unworthy leadership.

The speaker offered some scathing criticism of the press. There was a time, he remarked, when the press was regarded as a great leader and educator of public thought There were still a few exceptions today, but generally speaking he believed, the press was more concerned about following the lead of the popular majority than of asserting itself and offering sound balanced judgment on vital questions.

As further evidence of lack of moral consciousness, Dr. Blagrave condemned the action that had resulted in wholesale dismissal of government employees. Many men, he said, had been virtually thrown on the relief lists for no other offence than that they tried to perform their duties to the best of their ability. A significant feature of the affair, as the speaker saw it, was that such a thing would not have been tolerated twenty years ago. Public opinion would have said "No."

He also criticised the inability of those administering relief to discriminate between worthy victims of the depression and those who had been on receipt of charity in good times.

All these instances, he felt, "are evidences of a deterioration of the public mind, which has probably been so dulled by the times through which we have lived that many of us cannot feel any more."

LIP OF FALLS 150 FEET LONG IS BROKEN OFF

ago, as a result of these investigations remedial works were proposed and a treaty prepared by which Canada and the United States would co-operate in constructing such works. The treaty was ratified by Canada but it has not yet been ratified by the United States.

The board found that the notch of the Horseshoe was being eaten back at the rate of from three to four feet a year. This is caused not from the wear at the crest but from erosion under the Falls. At the crest of the Falls there is approximately 60 feet of hard limestone.

Below that is softer, changing to sandstone below the water line at the foot of the falls. The tremendous backwash as the water plunges into these depths eats away the sandstone, leaving the surface rocks without a foundation, and they eventually break off and fall into the gorge, usually in such small pieces that they are not noticed.

The water is about 14 feet deep Nature is not stopped in her present course, the great falls will one day degenerate into a long rapids.

Building On Sand.

(By Howard W. Blakeslee—A.P. Science Editor).

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—The Niagara Falls break to-day is one of Nature's mightiest examples of building on the sand—for that is how the Falls is constructed and why it continually breaks off.

The "lip" of the Horseshoe, and the American Falls as well, is a sheet of limestone 90 feet deep, an armored bed that at first glance would seem impregnable to decay except over periods of millions of years.

But Niagara is receding at the average rate of about five feet a year, and geologists make a guess that 25,000 years ago the Falls stood at the shore of Lake Ontario.

Geological analysis of what lies under the rock "lip" of the Falls explains the weakness. Below the 90-foot deep limestone capping is a layer of shale, then sandstone, next some coarse rock, then another layer of sandstone, and below that shale.

Eats Soft Layers.

The water plunging over the limestone cap is so turbulent in the pool below that it scours out both shale and sandstone. The result is a continual eating back of the softer layers, which undermine the cagrock top of the falls until the limestone alone is jutting out like the visor of a cap.

It breaks off periodically. Geologists believe the scour that eats beneath the limestone is not wholly due to water and sand, but that at least the smaller rocks in the pool are tossed about in a continual barrage against the soft underpinning of the Falls

In terms of the geological clock, the extinction of Niagara Falls is but a short time ahead. On human clocks it should be thousands of years, and engineers already have been at work on the problem of delaying this fate.

It has been predicted that if

Man Is Found Dead In His Lindsay Home

LINDSAY, Ont., Aug. 13.—(Examiner Correspondence). — Chas. H. Knight, retired farmer living for many years in Lindsay was found dead, last night, in his home on Fair Avenue. McKnight had driven his house-keeper to church and apparently returned home and died suddenly. He was 75 years old and for some years had been inspector for the Agricultural Development Board.

The body was found by housekeeper when she entered the house.

DIED

HALLIHAN—On August 13, 1934, Mary Elizabeth Reynolds the beloved wife of Thomas Hallihan, 267 Lake street, aged 64 years. Funeral from the family residence on Tuesday at 2 p.m. with Rev. G. K. Tyler officiating, after which the remains will be forwarded to Deloraine, Manitoba for interment.

IN MEMORIAM

BARNES—In loving memory of my dear father, William H. Barnes, who died Aug. 11th, 1933.

We watched him suffer day by day,
It cost us bitter grief;
To see him slowly pine away,
But could not give relief.
Long days, long nights, he bore the pain,
In wait for cure, but all in vain:
But God Himself knew what was best,
He took him home and gave him rest.

—Ever remembered by daughter and son-in-law, Elma and John Custance.

Also our nephews, Bertie Cookman, Alan and Leonard Barnes, who were drowned Aug. 16th, 1926.
Safe in the arms of Jesus.

IN MEMORIAM

BULLOCK—In loving memory of Maureen, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cephas Bullock who died Aug. 15, 1932.

Little Maureen we miss you sadly
We, who, welcomed you so gladly,
Harly learned to use your name
'Ere God took you home again.
In our home a vacant spot
Where you were we see you not.
Silent now your baby wail
You have gone beyond the veil.

—Sadly missed by Mother, Daddy, Vivolaene and Quenton.

Mr. Jones, Flo-Glaze Demonstrator, will be at C.D.S. To-Morrow and Wednesday, to help you with your Painting problems.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

THE HAMILTON meeting closed on Saturday with a bumper crowd and wonderful racing weather prevailing. It was the most successful meeting held at the Mountain City in a good many years. Most of the horses shipped over to Niagara Falls to await the opening at Stamford Park and some came to Thorncliffe and will rest until September 8th when the Leaside Oval opens their fall session. One of the features of closing day was Fortunate Youth dropping from the skies to the tune of $52.35 for the usual two dollar wager. This one was entirely overlooked by the talent and certainly was no legitimate 25 to 1 shot.

Granite Rock also got down in front making good our prediction that he always wins a race at Hamilton. Butch Keeting also grabbed a purse with Easter Hatter. This week Connaught Park at Ottawa is the only track in Canada holding forth. They opened a seven day meeting on Saturday which will close the Eastern Canada racing season. Len Sweep kept up her winning streak when she copped the first race on the opening day card.

DOWN AT Providence they have Gold Step in the pink of condition, and he will do the needful about next time out. Old Judge at the same place is a standout in a race at a mile or over. Down at Ottawa we like the chances of En Avant awfully well. This trick has a fine burst of speed and does not quit. Sophron is another that will grab a heat before the bangtails leave the track on the banks of the Ottawa River.

When Dan McCrimmon won the other day at Hamilton at long odds his owner Charlie Mitchell did not have a nickel on him, which reminds us of the day up in Windsor a few years ago when Brooklyn Tommy McCarthy first got hold of Broadway Lights. He had him entered in a handicap affair and the track became muddy over night and Tommy thinking the son of Broadway Jones was no good in the heavy going endeavored to scratch him but the stewards said no, that he must start. So Tommy scanned all the dope sheets to pick out a mud runner and finally decided Boscobel was the one. So he purchased a fifty straight and fifty place ticket on him, and did not bet a dime on his own horse. To make a long story short Broadway Lights took the track at the barrier and was never headed and won by some six lengths with Boscobel finishing about seventh. To make matters worse Broadway Lights paid $35 to win. Tommy stood in the saddling paddock and tore his hundred dollars worth of tickets to shreds and what he said would not look good in print. Right to this day if you want to get a rise out of McCarthy just ask him if Broadway Lights can run in the mud.

SIX OF TEN COUNTERS SCORED IN BITTER STRUGGLE TALLIED IN HECTIC FINAL FRAME FRACAS

Kingston Victory Keeps Limestoners in C.O.B.L. Race and Drops Petes Full Game Back of Nationals—Rose and Calladine Used in Relief Mound Roles.

IKE BATTEN LEADS LOCALS IN WILLOW WORK; PONIES PRESENT REVAMPED LINE-UP IN GAME

A ninth-inning rally by Kingston here Saturday gave the Ponies a 6-4 nod over the Petes before a thousand noisy rooters, keeping the Limestone squad in the C.O.B.L. race and putting the locals a full game back of Belleville. Six of the ten runs came in a wild ninth frame, the homesters coming back strong in their half to tally twice. Six hurlers were used in this smart scrap.

The visitors trotted out a revamped lineup that had old Lefty Gallagher pitching, Foxton catching and the veteran George Ada in right field. Gallagher hurled grand ball for six innings, allowing only four scattered hits while his slow, teasing hooks proved difficult to drive out of the infield. He retired at the end of this inning and St. Louis took over the job. The Petes got to him in the eighth to tie the score at 2-all, and Jamieson finished, though Yammy allowed two runs in the ninth. They had good support.

Archie Deyell pitched three-hit ball for the Petes till the seventh, but retired when touched for four bingles in the seventh. Abbie Rose relieved him and got the side out but he had trouble in the eighth and ninth, being chased in the latter inning. Bill Calladine finished it. Their support, also, was good most of the way.

Ike Batten led the local batters with two in three, driving in two runs. Foley got two safeties in four appearances. Smith was top cloutter for Kingston with four singles in five times up, while Ada hit safely three times and Boyd twice. Kingston bunched five hits in the ninth. The fielding of Scrutton, Quinn, Stone, Konopka, Murray and Ash were defensive standouts.

Kingston went out one-two-three in the first, and hits by Smith and Joyce came to naught in the second. A single and sacrifice in the third did no damage, and Deyell bore down to take the opposition out in order the next three stanzas. Meantime, the Petes could do little to Gallagher, Batten drew a walk in the first, Foley beat out a hit in the fourth and Burton singled in the fifth, but no one reached third. However, the homesters scored in the sixth when Deyell singled, was sacrificed and tallied on Batten's bingle.

Take Lead in Seventh

Kingston came back with two in the seventh on hits by Ada, Smith, Stone and Gallagher, along with a double steal. They threatened again in the eighth with two hits but did not score. The Petes evened the count in their half when Konopka was safe on an error, stole second and raced home on Batten's hit to left. Foley's single was wasted.

The visitors won in the ninth with four runs. Quinn walked but was forced by Stone. Jamieson's hit sent Stone to second, and Boyd drove him home with a hit to left. Yammy countered on Scrutton's hit to right, Boyd taking third. He scored and Scrutton reached third on a bad peg to second by Whatley. With Calladine pitching, Ada rapped one through second to send in Scrutton. Smith's hit did no further damage.

In the Petes' last half, Burton walked and took third on Ash's single, scoring on a bad throw by Scrutton. Ash went to third and tallied on Fetter's long fly. Hollingsworth singled but was forced out at second, and Konopka grounded out to end the game.

To Clash In "Crucial" Series

An old-time "crucial" series of the American league pennant race which may make or break either of the two outstanding flag contenders, will begin Tuesday, August 14, when the Detroit Tigers invade the Yankee stadium for a four-day series with the New York Yankees. Manager Joe McCarthy, Yanks, and Mickey Cochrane, Tigers, are "pointing" their clubs for this series. Outstanding stars to be seen in this four-day baseball "Battle of the Marne" will be Outfielder Babe Ruth, Pitcher Lefty Gomez and First Baseman Lou Gehrig of the New Yorks; Pitcher Schoolboy Rowe, Infielder Charley Gehringer and Outfielder Goose Goslin of the Detroits.

Indian River Wins P. G. Towns' Trophy

Indian River took the deciding game of the East Peterborough Softball League playoffs from Douro Elmwoods to capture the P. G. Towns' trophy at home last week, final score being 14 to 6. A big first frame, in which six runs were scored, gave the homesters a lead to work on and they were never headed, though it was a smart contest all through. Inability to hit in the pinches, and costly errors, lost Douro the tilt. M. Doherty and F. Spencer starred in the field for the winners, with C. Towns grabbing off several nice catches for the losers. This was the first year for this loop and proved quite successful. It will likely be carried on from year to year. The teams:

OGDENSBURG SPEED DRIVERS RESPONSIBLE FOR NEW MARKS IN THREE CANADIAN EVENTS

New Class B One-mile Record Breaks Former Test Set by Toby Westbye.

INTERNATIONAL FLAVOR.

(By a Staff Reporter)

SOUTH BEACH, Aug. 13.—Three Canadian outboard motor boat speed records fell as a group of nine American and three Canadian aces in the sea flea driving business gathered for a brief but business-like meet at South Beach Saturday.

Edgar Newell of Ogdensburg, N.Y., made a new B Class B Dominion one-mile speed mark of 44.868 miles per hour in a trial over the mile course.

Using the same craft, Newell set a new five-mile competition speed mark of 41.379 miles per hour in a B Class race later in the afternoon.

Barclay Moorehouse, also of Ogdensburg, set a new A Class five-mile competition mark of 37.304 miles per hour.

The meet was organized by a committee of the drivers themselves headed by Bob Schelling of Buffalo. Adrian Brooks of South Beach, an official timer of the Canadian Power Boat Association, and Lorne Ardiel, past president and honorary commodore of the association, supervised. Officiating in addition to the C.P.B.A. representatives were Allan Cameron of Ottawa, Dorothy Wilson, Buffalo, and Carlton Newell, Ogdensburg. The record times will be submitted to the executive of the C.P.B.A. for formal approval.

The new B Class one-mile mark set by Newell smashed a record held by Toby Westbye of Peterborough by more than two miles per hour. Westbye's mark was 42.3 miles per hour made in time trials in 1931 at South Beach. Through his achievement, Newell was awarded possession of the annual Kawartha Trophy for the fastest B Class mile of the season.

Buzz Elliott of Toronto made several efforts to better the A Class mark of 37.6 miles per hour hung up by Gordon Ortstat of Buffalo last year but failed. Shifting to a C Class outfit, he made an assault on the mark of 51.3 miles per hour set by J. R. Ardiel in 1932 but again met failure. In several runs up and down the course, he proved unable to better a top speed of 46.127 miles per hour.

Bill Brigger of Hamilton skimmed his light craft over the choppy waters in an unsuccessful effort to raise his own 51-mile-per-hour F Class mark set last year. He made the trip over the mile several times with the stop watches clicking off 49.315 miles as his best. Though short of a new record, his endeavour brought him the Ardiel Trophy for having done the fastest mile in any class in Canada this season.

With no D Class craft in the running, the D Class record set by Robert Ardiel, 47.750 miles per hour, will stand for at least another season, it is likely. Bob Schelling planned to raise his Canadian runabout record of 48.653 miles over the fifty mark at the meet but was unable to get his motor into satisfactory trim.

Moorehouse raced with Elliott in setting the five-mile competition record. By his victory in the race, he won the Brooks Trophy. Handicapped by motor trouble, Elliott finished far back.

Elliott annexed the Jimmy Rogers Memorial Trophy for the year when he crossed the line a couple of lengths ahead of Charlie Christensen of Eggertsville, N.Y., for a win in the second heat in the B Class Competition after yielding the first heat to Newell in his record-breaking effort. Newell finished in third place in the second heat and, although granted the new Canadian competition speed record for his first heat run, missed the trophy. Bud Reid of East Aurora, N. Y., and Harry Lord, Ogdensburg, made good time but failed to make serious bids.

The Brule Trophy for the C Class championship went to Bill Brigger of Hamilton but his time was poor at 40.909 miles. Officials felt that he passed up a fine chance of hanging a new mark. Racing against Buzz Elliott, he did the first lap in 44.6 miles per hour, well above the existing mark, but after Elliott conked out of the race early in the second round of the course, he dogged it to the finish.

Bill Brigger loafed around the five miles to the Iroquois Trophy for F Class competition. His speed was slow for the event, 40 miles per hour. Bob Morrison of Hamilton, running against him, experienced motor trouble and offered little competition.

Water conditions during the day were far from ideal for either the mile trials or the competition runs. Choppy waters cut down the efficiency of the frail boats in front of South Beach and, out in the open lake, long rollers swept the stretch. In the mile trials, much better speeds were made on the return trips than on the out runs.

Both the trials and competitions were held over new courses buoyed out on the ice last spring. The mile course now parallels the east shore of Fiddler's Bay with a provision for longer runs on the starts at both ends as compared with the former mile course. A four-sided one and one-half mile course was used in the competitions, four laps being required on a run.

MONTREAL BLANKS WESTERN ELEVEN

Eastern Canada Team Establishes One-game Lead in Finals.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 13 (CP)—By the impressive margin of 4-0, Verdun Park, champions of Eastern Canada, Saturday, held a one-game lead over Prince Albert City Reds in their two-game series for the Dominion Football Association championship.

Fresh and speedy, and showing no effects of their long train journey, the Montrealers humbled the Western champions in the first game played here Saturday.

Stepping off the train with only a short time to stretch their legs, the Quebec athletes gave a neat demonstration of the power that whipped the best in the East and carried them to victory in their gruelling semi-final series with Frood Mines.

They assumed the lead early in the first half, and then flashed a brilliant offensive in the second half, to rattle home three more points, to make their position secure.

OSHAWA MALLEABLES WIN.

OSHAWA, Aug. 13.—(Special.)—Although outhit, Ontario Malleable Irons took full advantage of all opportunities to defeat Gregory Tavernettes, 2 to 1. The victory gave Malleables the play-off series, and the right to meet Port Hope Alerts in the league finals.

GILLESPIE CUP IS CAPTURED BY BILL McLEAN

Toronto Sailor Successful in Winning Clear Lake Trophy.

BILL GROUSE VICTOR

(By a Staff Reporter)

STONEY LAKE, August 13.—Possession for the coming year of five of the Kawartha Lakes' most prized sailing trophies was decided during the course of a series of five six-mile races on Stoney and Clear Lakes over the week-end.

Bill McLean of Toronto and Sturgeon Lake with Jack Steffins on board, captured the Trent Valley Cup, a trophy which has been at stake for more than a quarter century, and the Gillespie Cup in two dinghy races at Juniper Island Saturday. In each of the two events, the first three placings were the same. Bill Crouse with Beatrice Johnson for his crew, both of Cleveland, took second honors, and Don Fitzgerald of Toronto with "Red" Mowatt aboard, finished third in both starts.

A fair breeze favored the Trent Valley Cup go, and five dinghies battled hard for position during the first lap. The McLean and Crouse craft pulled away from the field on the middle leg of the home lap and crossed the line with scarcely five boat lengths separating them.

The race for the Gillespie Cup proved more or less a drift, but the finish was close. McLean came from behind to nose out Crouse by a half boat length. Seven dinghies made the rounds.

Bill Crouse captured the McCracken's Landing Cup for the season when he slid home 25 yards ahead of McLean in a race off McCracken's Landing. Don Fitzgerald was closing up the gap fast in the last leg when he crossed the finish in third money, but three other entrants were far from the money.

McLean with Beatrice Johnson sailed a fine race to win the Clear Lake Cup in a brisk sail off Kawartha Park yesterday afternoon. He showed his heels to Crouse and Stirling with an advance of twenty yards at the finish going away. Fitzgerald and Mowatt were once again in the money, but had made no serious threat on the leadership of the first two finishers in placing third. Andy Brewin of Toronto and Rob Willoughby of Washington, D.C., were also rans.

An Easy Victory

A race for the Lorne Ardiel Trophy at South Beach later in the afternoon concluded the series. It was a walk-away for Crouse and Miss Johnson. Enjoying the aid of a series of freak gusts, they romped home with a lead of practically two miles over McLean and Stirling. Red Mowatt followed McLean in closely. Andy Brewin with Peggy Bigger, Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Rob Willoughby finished far out of the money.

DECK OUTFIT RALLY IN 9TH FOR 12-7 WIN

Tiremen Blast Waif Offerings to Overcome Early Lead of Orphans.

GOOD FIELD WORK

Johnston's Tires' softball team evened up the series in the race for city league laurels on Saturday night at Central School Grounds, when they staged a seven-run rally in the first of the ninth to defeat the Orphans, 12 to 7, in a fiery tussle that was packed with thrills and produced high-class softball from start to finish. The surprising Waifs took an early lead and were sitting pretty at the end of the sixth on the big end of a 5-1 count, but the Tire crew blasted three singles in the seventh, tallying four times and practically clinched the verdict in the ninth, when they nabbed seven more. The Orphans got their last two in the last of the ninth.

Frank Shine, the Orphans' ace hurler, fought the handicap of an injured knee through eight torrid frames to keep the opposition under fair control, but in the seventh and again in the ninth the injury threw him off his stride, and the Johnston batters capitalised with well placed singles that soon gave them the lead. The big rally started in the ninth after the first two batters had grounded out. Starr walked, Dorrington singled, and Crary walked to load the sacks. Montgomery hit a single through short scoring two. Shine then retired with two out, two in, and two on, and Martin went to the rubber cold. He passed McQuade, the first batter to face him. Ellis, Stanger, and Anderson singled in order, and Hefferman dropped Elliott's fly, for the seventh run. Starr fanned. Freddy Elliott turned in a steady hurling performance for the winners. He kept the hits well scattered and was only in trouble in one frame, the third, when the Orphans counted four times on four hits and three miscues.

The fielding despite the eight errors was clever with most of the infielders exhibiting class and precision. Willshaw, Weese, Jones, and Hefferman all made sensational catches of hard hit flies for the losers, while Stanger, Crary and McQuade were the pick of the Johnston outfit. Anderson topped the winners with the willow, pasting three singles in five trips. Ellis, Stanger, and Dorrington each hit safely twice while McQuade poled out a homer. Jones with a triple and two singles was the biggest hitter on the losing line-up. Hefferman had three safeties while Weese clicked for a triple and single.

Third men's softball playoff game is billed for this e'en at six—well, make it 6.15, then—at Central, Orphans and Johnston's tangling once more. As the serial stands now, they have won a game apiece. In other words they are even-stephen, and tonight's winner will have a decided bulge on the five-game campaign. Johnston's came back like a jilted lover Saturday p.m. and slapped the Orphans for a 12-7 loss, having fewer hits, more errors, but also more punch in the last inning. As Mister Frank Shine's injured knee goes, so go the Orphans—and Frankie's knee went blooey Saturday in the late stages. It's still an even money proposition with some folks willing to lay a few potatoes on the Tiremen and others gambling on Shine's knee.

Kingston 6-4'd the Petes here Saturday in a nifty ball game. The only satisfaction we got out of it was that we sort of guessed at something of the sort. Faced with elimination from the loop race, the Ponies—we figured—would switch their lineup and put up a real fight. They did just that. Two of their veterans, Teddy Gallagher and George Ada, had much to do with the win. When we were no bigger than the Katzenjammer Kids—and how those kids retain their youth!—we used to admire that tricky cross-fire and those slow benders of Gallagher. And the dandy hitting of Ada. Monkey glands, slower ball—whatever it is, they still proved bad news to a lot of up and coming young players here the other day.

• • • • • •

Old Lefty slowballed his southpaw slants overhand, underhand and side arm for six innings Saturday at the Petes, and the locals could reach him for only four hits and no runs. Fortunately, the old war horse tired and had to retire. After that, with St. Louis and Jamieson in turn throwing 'em across faster, the Petes did a little better. But, meantime, the Ponies had finally reached Deyell and chased him, continuing to hit Abbie Rose and Bill Calladine. It was a great game with the score 2-all going into the ninth. Then things happened. Well" pass lightly over that. Suffice to say Kingston got four runs and we could only get two back.

• • • • • •

The bingling of Batten, Foley, Smith and Ada was okay, while the fielding of both sides was good nearly all through. Just a couple of miscues apiece. Another large crowd saw another exciting tussle. These senior games here this summer are practically all the nuts, but the really nutty part of it is that we can't seem to win at home. As it is the same thing with the other three clubs in the loop, we'd suggest that the screwy C.O.B.L. be known henceforth as the Crazy Ontario Baseball League.

• • • • • •

Let's see how the Lee crew stands now. They are a full game back of Belleville and two and a half games up on the Dukes and Ponies who are tied for third place. We have six more games to play, counting that tie-game with Belleville. Kingston has seven more games, counting a tie, and Oshawa must play seven more. If the Petes take about three more victories, they should just about cop a playoff berth, as the Dukes and Ponies must win practically all their remaining games to put us out. They might still have a mathematical chance, so it behooves the locals to go out and start winning again. They play in Belleville tomorrow.

An unobtrusive young fellow with a low-voiced drawl and the consuming ambition to bring Peterborough its first juvenile O.B.A.A. championship—that's Herb Ralph. His Terriers meet Oshawa at five in Riverside this Wednesday in an important Ontario playdown game. Herb has been working away for several years on this ambition of his, putting much time and work—not to mention plenty of hard-earned shekels—into minor baseball, but he thinks he has the team to cop the title this year. His players all swear by Ralph and play their heads off for him. In fact, a couple of them this Spring who were invited to string along with the senior Petes for the summer, maybe working into the odd game and getting in on all the trips, turned down the proposition. They figured it wouldn't be square to Herb just when he has a winning combination.

Only a small crowd at South Beach Saturday saw the speed trial, fourteen boats competing. Then were from the States and the Yanks sort of cleaned up this time. Ed Newell of Ogdensburg, N'Yawk, went the mile in 44.888 for a new Canadian record—breaking the mark of 42.3 made in '31 by Eric Westbye, a local racer. Newell also made a record in the five-mile competition, and so did B. Moorehouse, another Ogdensburg pilot.

Lindsay Kiwanis Club has raised over six G's toward the building of a new skating and hockey rink so far. They need two thousand more, and are running a big dance and draw the end of this month in a final drive down the stretch. They figure they can build the rink and have it ready by the time there's ice provided the money is on hand and work can commence early in September. A new icebox in Scugogville would go a long way toward reviving hockey in this section, and we might have Lindsay puck squads playing our intermediates and juniors this winter.

Grab-bag: Aajmaa Club of Belleville took Cobourg over the jumps, 11-7, the other eve and they need but one more win to cinch a playoff berth with the local lacrossers . . . . Incidentally, Belleville Nats have dropped only two games their last twelve starts, one against Petes and the other to Kingston . . . . Local tennis tourney winds up in a day or two . . . . Should be some harness hoss race chatter re the Exhibition going the rounds one of these days . . . . And a few more weeks and the rugby fans will start to make strange noises peculiar to this tribe again . . . . Sixth Line gals play the Leafs here tonight, and tomorrow C.G.E. goes to Keene.

TENTH INNING COMEBACK WINS FOR TIGER CLAN TO LENGTHEN THEIR LEAD IN AMERICAN RACE

Marvin Owen Tallies on White's Single in Final to Make Count 6-5.

YANKS BREAK EVEN.

Record Crowd Turns Out to See Red Sox Take First 6-4 and Lose Second 7-1.

Detroit's Tigers, who have won so many games by late rallies that it is beginning to be regarded as customary, did the trick again in the 10th inning to prolong their winning streak to 12 games and increase their American League lead over the Yankees to 4½ games. Cleveland Indians were the victims and the final score was 6-5 after the Tigers tied the count in the ninth and won in the extra frame when Marvin Owen walked, advanced on Pete Fox's sacrifice and tallied on Joyner White's single.

Besides scoring the winning run, Owen socked a homer and started a triple play by snaring Bill Knickerbocker's liner in the seventh.

The Yankees' help attracted a record crowd at Boston but failed to get more than an even break with the Red Sox. While 46,766 fans looked on and about 20,000 more regretted their failure to arrive early enough to get into the park, Boston won the first game 6-4 as Wes Ferrell pitched his 10th victory and started the deciding rally with a double in the eighth. New York came back to take the second game 7-1 behind the seven-hit flinging of bespectacled Johnny Broaca.

The big turnout was inspired largely by Babe Ruth, who, according to his own announcement, was making his last appearance as a result in the city where his big league career began.

Earnshaw Hurls Win

George Earnshaw, working for the first $500 bonus he is to get for each victory over 10, pitched the White Sox into an even break with St. Louis in a double bill. After the Browns won the opener 4-2 when Ray Pepper's eighth inning triple overcame the effects of Al Simmons' homer, the Sox came back to give Earnshaw brilliant support and win the afterpiece 3-2.

Washington and Philadelphia started to play a doubleheader but finished with 1 seven-inning tie at 1-1 when rain ended their activities.

On Saturday, the Yankees and Boston Red Sox battled 13 innings with the Sox eking out a 3-2 win in the face of homers by Ruth and Tony Lazeri. It was the Babe's 19th long-distance clout. At Detroit, young Elden Auker pitched fool-proof ball and the Tigers blanked Cleveland 7-0.

In the National League, Travis Jackson picked the 7th inning with two on to bang out a home run and the Giants downed Boston 7-4.

BRILLIANT RECOVERY OF CUBS LOOMS AS A SERIOUS THREAT TO REIGN OF TERRY'S GIANTS

Dean Brothers Suffer Double Reverse in Chicago Victory Over Cards.

CIRCUITS COUNT.

Late Attack on Paul Derringer Gives Pirates 9-6 Win Over Reds.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer)

A brilliant recovery by Chicago Cubs has turned what was beginning to look like a serious situation in the National League back into the normal course of the pennant race and has left the club with a very good chance to stage another comeback in the coming home stand against the eastern teams.

Five games behind the league-leading Giants after losing the first two games of a series to St. Louis, the Cubs regained a full game yesterday by beating the Cardinals 7-2 and 6-4 in a doubleheader while New York's game against Boston was halted by rain. In addition the Cubs performed in one day a feat which only two other club have accomplished all season. They beat both of the Dean brothers.

Paul Dean, the younger, was the opening game victim as Billy and Babe Herman nicked him for a homer apiece in the fifth and he failed to survive the next frame. Babe Herman got another circuit blow off Jess Haines in the ninth. Brother Dizzy waged a close battle against Pat Malone for seven innings of the after-piece but was blasted out in the eighth when Chicago put together a triple, two doubles and a single for four runs. It was his fifth defeat against 21 victories. Jim Collins salved his 26th homer from the defeat.

Games Rained Out

Only the Pirates and Phillies hold decisions over both Deans in addition to Chicago, which has beaten them five times out of 11 they have lost.

The Pirates and Reds played yesterday's other National League game as two contests in the east were washed out, and Pittsburgh came out ahead 9-6 on a late attack on Paul Derringer.

DELORO BEATS LINDSAY TEAM FIVE-NOTHING

Smelters Only One Point Behind Electrics in League Race.

WINNERS HOLD BIG EDGE.

Deloro's outstanding win against Lindsay, on Saturday evening, by five goals to nothing, consolidated their position in the soccer league to occupy second place in the loop standing with only one point behind the Canadian General team that meets the Packers in a return league fixture on Tuesday evening.

Play opened at a terrific pace as the forwards travelled up and down to find the custodians unbeatable. Deloro kept up a steady pressure on the attack and only through the brilliant goal-tending by Art O'Halloran did Deloro find themselves being held scoreless. But after twenty minutes play, Gray tested the goalie was a clever shot. A continuous bombardment finally brought the Smelters success when Brown put a low grounder in between the custodians legs. One minute later, a solo goalie beat in at close range, following which Dick Smith sent a low grounder into the net through a sea of legs. Lindsay replied with nice combination play to test O'Neill from movements around the goal. The Smelters were pressing when half time arrived. Deloro 2, Lindsay 0.

Rearranged Team.

There was no let up in the second half from the first period as the players hovered around one goal then the other to find their progress nullified when inside the goal territory. A foul against Lindsay proved disastrous when Bradley found the inside of the upright to give the custodian no chance. On the next visit, Brooks made the count five. In their anxiety to clear goal, Cousins, full back, and O'Neill collided to hold up the game. The winners indulged in defensive tactics while Lindsay went on the offensive for the remainder of the period. Keith repeatedly travelled down the wing to break through the defense but the custodian was the obstacle to success. In fact, Taylor evaded the defense cleverly to send a rocket drive into the far corner of the goal but O'Neill jumped the full length of the goal to divert the ball around the post. Two corner kicks brought nothing tangible. Deloro 5, Lindsay 0.

Goal scorers: Brown, Bradley, Stewart, Smith and Brooks.

Lindsay: A. O'Halloran, goal; J. Flynn and J. Wiles full backs; B. Moore, Geo. Munt and J. Springhall halves; H. Keith, D. Best, J. Taylor, D. Leether and W. Grant forwards.

Deloro:— J. O'Neill, goal; Tonf Cousins and Jack Hart, jr., full bacys; S. Smith, E. Bradley and J. Sproul halves; W. Cuddy, R. Smith, O. Brooks, W. Brown and P. Gray. Sub—Gordon Stewart.

Referee—Alex. McKinley.

WINGS MUFF OPPORTUNITIES TO OVERTAKE LEADING BEARS

Split Double With Seventh-place Chiefs, Win in First 18-0.

LEAFS HAVE OFF DAY.

(By Associated Press).

Barring a change for the better in the last month of the campaign Rochester Red Wings will be forced to write off the 1933 International league pennant race as a season of missed opportunities.

League-leading Newark's periodic slump have given the Wings plenty of chances to move to the front but the Cardinal farm-hands have muffed them all.

After taking the first game of yesterday's double-header with the seventh place Syracuse chiefs by the one-sided margin of 18-0 the Wings had a fine opportunity to pick up a full game on the idle Bears but they dropped the nightcap 4-2 and remained 4½ games behind the leaders.

Holds Edge.

Albany, in fourth place, maintained its five-game edge over Montreal by holding the Royals to an even split. Clydell Castleman allowed seven hits and issued seven passes in the opener but was effective in the pinches and Montreal won 9-1. Bill Harris and Art Jones gave the Royals 12 hits, including a double and triple by Fresco Thompson. Four Royal errors enabled Albany to win the second game 3-1 although the Senators made only six hits.

Lefty Melton pitched five-hit ball as Baltimore Orioles blanked Buffalo 9-0. Baltimore's 14 hits included Woodley Abernathy's single, double and 26th homer, giving him the league lead in that department.

Newark and third-place Toronto enjoyed an off day.

Costly for Royals.

Saturday was costly for Montreal to Albany 4-2 and 10-3. The second the Royals dropping a double bill game turned into a debacle when the Senators demoralized Royals by pounding home eight runs in the 10th inning.

Toronto dropped the first game to Newark 6-1 but came back under Schott's fine twirling to take the nightcap 4-3.

PRINCE HALL HOLDS NEW WORLD'S MARK

Trotter Travels a Mile and Eighth in 2.18 at Rockingham Park.

SALEM, N.H., Aug. 13.—Prince Hall, son of Laurel Hall-Princess Etawah, who belongs to Thomas Ashworth of Charlton City, Mass., to-day holds a new world's one mile and one-eighth trotting record. Before more than 16,000 persons at Rockingham Park on Saturday and with Henry Thomas in the sulky, Prince Hall raced up through the field in the stretch to cross the line a nose ahead of Irene Hanover, bay daughter of Dillon Axworthy, who just beat out Morley Frisco for second money in 2-18; one-quarter of a second better than the former mark jointly held by Marmaduke and Hollywood Jessie.

More records were set later when the trotters and sidewheelers met in races at 5½ furlongs, a distance not officially raced before by light harness horses.

Prince Hall showed his class by coming back against the same field in a mile race, and coming up from nowhere in the stretch and blazing across the line in the good time of 2.01 2-5.

Sudbury Player Wins Northern Golf Title

SUDBURY, Aug. 13.— (C.P.)—Shooting a birdie on the last hole, Bill Edwards of Sudbury Saturday captured the Northern Ontario amateur golf title by defeating Charlie Langlois, also of Sudbury, 1 up.

Langlois reached the final by defeating last year's titleholder, Bob Lee of North Bay, while in the other semi-final Edwards won from James Charlton of Sudbury.

With Babe Ruth about through as a regular, Greenberg would be the best possible replacement for the Bambino as a New York crowd puller. But it is not to be. Instead, Hank's efforts may be the straw to break the camel's back of Yankee pennant hopes.

Oshawa Juveniles Here On Wednesday

Oshawa juveniles, champions of the section in and around the Motor City, will be here this Wednesday evening to play the Terriers. They meet at five o'clock in Riverside Park in the second game of their O.B.A.A. playdown series, the local Terriers having nosed out a 7-5 win in the first one last week in Oshawa. If Herb Ralph's crew wins again here, they will advance into the O.B.A.A. semi-finals against the Toronto champions. If Oshawa wins, a third game will be played on neutral grounds. Oshawa will send its ace flinger, Normile, to the mound for this important fixture Wednesday, while McIlmoyle will likely start for Ralph's team.

Both these eighteen-year-old-limit squads put up a fine brand of baseball. Several of the players on each team are just about ready to step up to a senior ranking. They put a lot of fight and hustle into their game, plus smart ball. Terriers have been knocking at the door of an Ontario juvenile championship—the only minor one which Peterborough has not won—for some time, and this is the best chance a local team is ever likely to have in this series. But Oshawa may make it tough. The kids' game deserves a large crowd, and fans will enjoy every minute of it.

Regatta, Sports At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 13 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The first regatta and water sports since 1929, will be held in Campbellford on Friday next, when swimming races, canoe and speed boat trials, diving contests, duck chasing, and doughnut eating contest, will be staged. The regatta will be held at the Town Bridge, commencing at four o'clock, twenty valuable prizes being given; the contests being open to boys and girls, men and women. Judges for this event will be Dr. S. L. O'Hara, Dr. E. A. Stuart and S. A. Maguire

Canada Is Second To Mother Country

Lawn Bowling by Herb Martin

THE PROGRAM for this week has been somewhat altered. To-night, instead of playing the final schedule games we will commence the rink games in the O.O.L.B.A. The draw for these games appears below.

IN ORDER to have the greens in as good a shape as possible for the big tournament—it has been decided that there will be no bowling at all on Tuesday—afternoon or evening.

IT WAS intended that the club doubles would be run on the elimination system, but at a recent meeting of the games committee they decided, for the good of the club as a whole, that a four-game series on the 2-1-0 system would be far better. So now the draw and dates for this big series will be posted in the club house in a day or two, and members are asked to get acquainted with all the details. Fred Brown is the convenor of this competition and he intends to commence play a week from to-night.

THE FINALS in the schedule play-offs will be played in the very near future.

ON SATURDAY night Oscar McGill defeated W. Fair to win the Novice Competition. This is the first year of this contest and it created a lot of interest. It was sponsored by R. M. Glover, and has proved a big boon for the new players.

CHAPTER 12

Joan had decided that Rose was more than interested. It was not that she, Joan, was jealous. But there were rights which belonged to a fiancee on which no other woman should encroach. And Rose did encroach. But there was nothing to be done about it. And Joan, on the surface, seemed serene and acquiescent.

After dinner she went at once upstairs, and it was nine o'clock when she came down. Drew had not arrived. Nancy and Adelaide were already playing bridge in the card room. Adelaide wore the costume of a French marquise—much rose-color, and panniers, and diamond buckles, and her white transformation further supplemented by curls and puffs. Nancy, as Night, had managed to invest the costume with a touch of her individuality—midnight blue chiffon with rhinestone stars twinkling amid its draperies, and a comet of them crowning her copper locks.

Joan was, very simply, a naiad—in a shimmer of pale green and silver, with crystal beads dripping. She wore the new slippers and a wrap of silver net. The old slippers had not come. Farley had asked for them at the office, and had been told that no parcel had been delivered.

Joan stopped for a moment by the bridge table, then made her way to the porch. A faint light still lingered over the harbor, and a little moon sailed high. Waiting for Drew, she sat down in a big chair not far from the steps, and it was as she sat there, wrapped in her web of silver, that Giles Armiger saw her.

She was leaning back in her chair, her cheek against the cushioned back, her eyes gazing unseeing into the night.

"Miss Dudley," he said.

She looked up surprised, then recognized him. "You've brought my slippers?"

"Yes. Am I too late? I was unavoidably detained."

She stuck out a foot. "I bought these today in Boston. So I didn't need the others."

He handed her the parcel, "Will you forgive me if I tell you I have put in with the shoes a little book which I thought you might like. It is an abridged history of Granitehead . . . perhaps when you have read it you will understand why my friend Scripps mends shoes and why I am in a bookshop."

He was standing before her with the ease of a man of the world. He wore white tennis trousers and a white turtle-necked sweater. His head was bare. She was aware that he was very good-looking.

She asked, "Why shouldn't your friend Scripps mend shoes and why shouldn't you sell books?"

"Well, people don't so much in these days, do they? But it is a throwback with both of us to our ancestry."

"Tell me about it. How is it a 'throwback'?"

"You will find it in the book."

"But I'd rather have you tell me."

She had not asked him to sit down. She couldn't, of course, Giles decided. If any one came up how could she present him? And some one might be coming up at any moment. He wanted her to himself. He resolved to put it to the touch.

"Will you walk with me a bit, while we talk about it?"

He felt her surprise, and added, "I know I am asking an unconventional thing. We haven't been properly introduced. But all Granitehead will give you my credentials, if you want them."

She laughed and rose at once. "I think Keats made us properly known to each other, don't you? And if he didn't, you are Giles Armiger and I am Joan Dudley. And that's enough formality, and I'll go as far with you as the pavilion."

He swung along beside her as they followed a path which led to a small eminence from which the pavilion overlooked the harbor. It was a still night with a slight mist drifting in. Through it the lights on the boats shone like pale stars. "There was a time when there were no pleasure craft in the harbor," Giles explained, "only fishing boats and great ships—loaded with teas and spices and silks. It was the masters of those ships who built some of the big houses which are still standing, and most of us have in our homes some reminders of their voyages—ivory, porcelain and lacquer. You'll find them in the humblest cottages—for the big ships were manned by our men—upstanding sailors, fine fellows. It is said that the sailors of Granitehead rowed Washington across the Delaware."

He stopped, "Am I boring you with this?"

Her voice came out of the dark, eager, interested. "Oh, no. Go on."

"The Revolution took most of our men away, and other towns got the trade. Shipping declined, and smaller boats began to go to the Grand Banks. Those were the days of storm and stress for the women, of weary waiting. But there was money in it all, and our men defied the dangers, until the day came when they turned to making shoes."

"Making shoes?"

"Yes, except for a few of the old aristocrats the whole town made shoes. Each house had its own little shop and the finished products were sent to the great factories which supplied the material. And no one lost caste because he was a village cobbler," he gave a short laugh, "Scripps' little place is the last outpost of the old order. Granitehead works no more with its hands. When the yacht clubs were built and the hotels, new ideals came in of luxury and high living. The sea and the little shops satisfy our people no longer. They have turned their backs on shoes and ships — and keep summer boarders."

She was not sure he was in earnest. "Oh, well, why shouldn't they?" she demanded.

"There's been a loss of sturdy independence," he asserted, "perhaps it is the trend of the times. But who am I to set myself against it? Scripps and I were college classmates and went overseas together. When we came back, I had no ambition left, only taste for my books, and Scripps was broken, in body and soul . . ." and his face was set in stern lines, "so we decided to do what our grandfathers did . . . and are rather liking it."

There was silence for a moment then Giles spoke in a lighter tone: "But the world moves, and we can't look back. I might shout to the stars, but I couldn't change things, could I?"

"Perhaps you wouldn't if you could."

"Perhaps not . . ."

A change of wind cleared the harbor suddenly. It seemed to burst on them like a spectacle, its lights wavering against the dark sky and in the darker waters. Along the shore on both sides the illumined windows of the clubs and hotels and great houses formed an almost unbroken line of brilliance. At the far end of the peninsula the great globe of the lighthouse hung like a moon among the clouds.

"My cousin lives in the lighthouse," Giles told Joan, "or rather, in the little house next to the light. It's a bit lonely for her with that wide strip of sand between her house and the summer cottages, and in winter there's not a soul for miles."

"But what makes her live there?"

"Her husband is the keeper, and she has hens and a garden . . . and a baby, and she is altogether a very happy little Dilly."

"Oh, I'm sure I shouldn't like it."

"Why not?"

"There's the loneliness,"

"But love lives there—with Dilly."

In the silence which ensued the music drifted up to them from the hotel. "I am afraid I must be going down," Joan said. "They'll be expecting me, and I have promised some dances."

She would dance of course with — Apollo! Giles grew a bit desperate with the thought of it. He dared not ask if he might come and see her. So he said: "Will you drop into the shop some day, and let me show you my treasures? And if Scripps is out, I'll introduce you to old Peter."

"Peter?"

"Our pet gull."

"Why must I wait until Scripps is out to meet Peter?"

"Scripps shrinks from meeting strangers. He was in aviation during the war, and fell with his plane, he has been very slow in getting back . . ."

They had come to the hotel steps The porch was deserted, everybody was in the ballroom, for the costume dance was on.

Joan held out her hand, "Thank you for the little book. I will return it when I have read it."

"I'd like to have you keep it."

"Oh, may I? And may I come and thank you?"

For Tuesday, August 14

The mutual as well as lunar transits must be interpreted as having a "mixed influence" on the affairs of this day. While there may be some advantageous stir in literary, publishing, publicity and promotional schemes and plans, yet there is omen of impediment, obstacles and postponements or other obstructing or disappointing forces to combat. This might possibly be in the nature of illness or bereavement.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which there may be contradictions or conflict in the smooth running of affairs. While all pertaining to writings, publishings, publicity and promotion has signs of activity and profit yet there are also signals of delays, disappointments, obstacles and impediments. These may be in the nature of illness or bereavement.

A child born on this day should be versatile, clever, studious and responsible, but should be trained to overcome impediments and frustrations in its business career

Madoc

During the August holidays, services are being held in St. John the Baptist Anglican church on alternate Sunday mornings, with the Licensed Lay Reader, Mr. Craver, of Stirling, in charge, during the absence of the Rector, Rev. G. W. Hope Swayne in camp at Trout Lake, Bancroft.

RUSH POINT.

Mr. Harold Seeney left Rush Point this week to resume his position with the Wentworth Motors at Hamilton. His host of friends here wish him every success in his work in the city.

Word was received on Wednesday by Mrs. Thos. Menzies of the death of her mother, Mrs. McArthur, who passed away at the home of Mrs. Leonard Keene on Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 8.

Mrs. J. Alley and granddaughters, the Misses Orpha and Mabel McClernon, of Gilbert Plains, Manitoba, left Havelock on Wednesday afternoon to return to the West after spending six weeks visiting friends at Trent River, Norwood, Havelock and Rush Point.

PLANE WINGS SOAR OVER WORLD NATIONS BOLSTER WAR DEFENSE

Germany Sets Pace for Armed Aviation Progress in Europe.

ENGLAND ALARMED.

By Central Press Canadian.

LONDON, August 13. — Wings over Europe?

Twenty thousand German bombers and pursuit aeroplanes filling the skies to England and France; flanking combat ships detaching themselves from the invading squadron masses to route thin lines of French and British ships soaring vainly to halt the Nazi aircraft.... two hours out of Germany, destruction raining from the skies on Paris London and Brussels....mask-penetrating poison gas and bacterial infection destroying millions of civilians, even those hiding "safely" in bomb-proof cellars.....

A fantasy? On the contrary, the sober picture painted by a keen journalist, Wickham Steel, ex-editor of the conservative London Times, and by a famous analytical military critic, Captain B. H. Liddell Hart.

Aviation Engulfs World

A wave of feverish interest on military aviation has engulfed the war offices of the world, and in Europe the nightmare of hostile bombers swooping down on unprotected continental capitals loosing a shower of death has tripled and quadrupled aviation budgets.

Faced by Germany, where Gen. Hermann Goering, Reich minister of aviation, and a famous world war ace, defiantly violates the Versailles treaty in regard to military aircraft and openly manufactures war planes. France, England and Italy are pouring millions into the latest pursuit, combat and bombing planes and airships.

Twenty thousand efficient war machines for the reich is the aim of Goering, who increased the aviation budget from $33,000,000 to $83,000,000 in his first year of office, ostensibly for civil flying, though such transportation declined tremendously during depression years. Recently Germany began to purchase military aeroplane motors and equipment from England, the United States, and even France, while hundreds of factories in the reich are speeding up a return to its "place in the skies."

"Make the German nation a nation of German flyers," Goering has demanded.

England Alarmed.

England has viewed the new evolution with alarm. The realization that under present speed conditions Britain is but two hours from a Nazi bombing invasion recalls the bitter memory of world war days when the ex-kaiser's Zeppelins and aeroplanes brought tragedy across the channel in frequent night raids.

When Acting Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin asserted in Parliament that England "cannot alone reduce its armaments but requires an adequate defence," and asks for $100,000,000 to expand the air force to 1,310 first line aeroplanes within the next few years, he was loudly cheered.

Since the Barthou-Simon "military agreements" between France and England, the former nation increased its aviation expenditures to $69,000,000, partly to nationalize mass production of war aeroplanes. It now possesses 1,650 first line ships plus reserves of 1,300.

In Italy of course aviation has been concentrated mostly on seaplanes due to the long coast line. A budget increase to finance the cost of expanding the present fleet of 1,507 fighting aeroplanes, has been adopted.

Japan's Force Low

Soviet Russia, with 1,400 first-line ships, remains non-committal about its reserves. Few know how many speedy aircraft are concentrated in eastern Siberia for the looming war with Japan.

The Nipponese, unlike the Russians, are not noted for their flying skill. Constant air crashes, and "timidity," keep Japan's trim fighting aeroplanes at less than a thousand.

The Little Entente countries of central Europe, nominally France's allies, have between them nearly 3,000 efficient military aircraft. During present expansion by Goering in Germany, they, too, have poured more gold into their already top heavy defence structures.

The growing air menace with its new military technique has brought vexing problems of tactics.

Military critics view the new strategy as one in which rival fleets will bomb and destroy the large cities of their respective enemies, in order to gain speedy victory. But on the other hand the knowledge that such bombing may bring retaliation or cause both capitals for example, to be attacked simultaneously, may bring international agreement not to permit such air bombings. England has long been trying to have this plan promulgated.

Meanwhile, civilians are regularly given gas mask drills and marched into "bomb-proof" cellars during mock aeroplanes' raids.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK — By R. J. Scott

Waterdown Ghost Gives Family Scare

WATERDOWN, Aug. 13 (C.P.)—The Waterdown ghost has walked again according to Wilfred and Mrs. Robson, who live near here on Saturday they visited the farm of Art Hood on the fourth concession where the ghostly figure was supposed to be stalking through the countryside. They returned home about midnight without seeing the apparition.

They had not been indoors more than a few moments when there was a terrific thump against the side of the house. The occupants shouted to know who was there and the bump repeated. Then Mr. and Mrs. Robson went to the window to see the Waterdown ghost solemnly circling the lilac bush on the lawn. It vanished as suddenly as it had come. Police were called and a search made of the neighborhood, but nothing was discovered.

The "ghost" is described as having the figure of a man of substantial proportions, wearing a woman's coat and hat. It has the habit of popping up out of ditches and vanishing with the greatest of ease.

Buffalo Sportsman Lands Large Muskie

(Examiner Correspondence)

HASTINGS, Aug. 13.—The largest lunge to be landed in local waters this season was landed over the week-end. Johnnie Orr of Buffalo was the lucky sportsman, accompanied by Dr. Copely, also of Buffalo with Sol Scriver as guide. They were trawling opposite Elm Point, summer resort of Mr. Stephen Murphy when the Buffalo bait which Orr was using tempted the big fellow which weighed 29 pounds, 10 ounces and measured 45 inches from tip to tip. It required 35 minutes to land it. The two Americans, who were guests of Mr. Murphy had a very successful two-day catch, getting 14 pickerel and four bass as well as the big one.

CALEDONIANS LOSE TO C.P. IN PECK CUP

Players Lack Finish Around Goal to Make Game Very Uninteresting.

PACKERS 3, SCOTS 1.

Misfortune reigned supreme in the Caledonian Camp on Saturday afternoon, against the Packers in the Peck Cup semi-final, when the latter eleven out-scored them by three to one, before a fair attendance of spectators. Every action of the losers failed to materialize to advantage.

Packers Open Scoring

In the early stages, the play run from end to end with the Scots missing opportunities galore in front of goal. A break away by George Downer split the defense and a perfect cross was met by Todd who found the custodian stopping the drive. Art Downer then hit the upright and Denisen cleared the situation from a scrimmage. A later visit gave the Packers the opening tally when G. Downer bulged the net on an individual effort. The Scots went back to the other end where Green about tallied from close in. The winners gained play at the Scots goal where Art Downer connected with a first timer to register the second goal. They went back again to find the Scot's custodian making spectacular saves from rocket drives of the Packer's attack.

Half time: Packers 2, Caledonians 0.

Uninteresting Period

On resuming, the Scot's right winger kept up a steady pressure to give his pivot man plenty of chances to score but no luck came his way, although the attempt by Green a little later missed the objective by inches. Mid-field tactics held sway with an easy going style of combination proving uninteresting. Repeated scrimmages took place in front of the goal with the goalies holding their citadel intact, but Tice had to admit defeat when Todd connected with a first timer that found the inside of the rigging. The last spurt given by the Caledonians brought them a successful corner kick when Dyer headed in a smart goal to save his team from a whitewash. Canadian Packers 3; Caledonians 1.

Goal scorers: Packers, G. Downer, A. Downer and Todd. Scots: Dyer.

Caledonians—Ed. Tice, goal; H. Mann and W. Denisen, full backs; R. Carmichael, H. Webb and A. Stevens, halves; D. Mowry, G. Clark, D. Green, F. Dyer and W. Rankin, forwards.

WHITAKERS TAKE 1ST WIN OF YEAR

Local Cricketers Defeat Oshawa 78 to 28 in Oval Game Saturday.

At the Oval on Saturday the keenness and perseverance of the Whitaker team was rewarded with a victory (their first of the season) over Oshawa, the final score being: Whitaker's C.C. 78, Oshawa 28. This was quite a creditable win for the local team, as Oshawa are in the Toronto and District League, and this year are lined up for promotion to a higher division. Whitaker's batted first, and their innings was a weird perforance. Three men (Grimshaw 20, Lorne 24 and Smith 24), with "Mr. Extras," provided 76 out of the total of 78, the remaining men getting two runs between them. The innings opened disastrously, there being six wickets downed for only 12 runs, but on Grimshaw, who had gone in first, being joined by Lorne, the tide of disaster was stemmed, and on Grimshaw's dismissal, the total was raised to 32, Smith joining Lorne, a further stand was made, and eventually the total reached 78.

On Oshawa batting, they too started badly, but in their case there was no recovery, the innings closing for 28. Hamilton had the fine analysis of six wickets for 12 runs.

RURAL WOMAN CAPTURES CUP FOR BEST LAWN

Mrs. Christopher Plunkett, R. R. No. 1, Keene, Wins Bell Cup.

CONTEST AWARDS

Mrs. R. R. Hall Has Best Lawn and Garden in Professional Class.

Judging of the lawns and gardens of the members of the Peterborough Horticultural Society in their annual competitions has been completed and the awards are now announced in the various classes.

An out-of-town gardener, Mrs. Chris Plunkett, R.R. 1, Keene, was declared winner of the Mrs. S. T. Bell Cup. This was a splendid example of what can be accomplished even under the severe handicap of lack of water supper.

The Gas Works property at the west end of the Hunter Street Bridge was considered to be the best example of institutional grounds planted among those entered for competition.

Although neither Mrs. R. R. Hall nor Mrs. G. H. Clarke encountered any competition in their respective classes, both gardens were richly deserving of the awards.

Probably the most difficult class for the judges was that for workingmen's flower and vegetable gardens, the margin between the first and second awards was indeed very close, and both Henry Turner and J. A. Smith were highly commended by the judges for their excellent results.

The placing of the awards was done by Messrs. A. E. Prest and Frank Biddle, assisted by J. S. McGiffin as chairman of the competitions committee.

All competitors will shortly receive a statement of the judges' findings and recommendations, along with the points scored by their gardens.

The awards will be presented at the annual flower show August 16.

HASTINGS BREAKS EVEN AT BRIGHTON

Visitors Take Two Games in Trent Valley Bowling League Contests.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HASTINGS, Aug. 13. — Hastings and Brighton broke even in four important games in the Trent Valley Bowling League on Friday night on Brighton greens. In the opening pair Lynch and Sharpe made it close to the half way mark when Lynch copped off the next three ends for ten points and an easy 15 to 4 win. Wellman and Lindsay fought out a close, being all square on the last end, only to have the Brighton skip notch two in the extra end.

Farmers Mercifully End Suffering Of Drought-Stricken Cattle

Cattle with tongues swollen in parched mouths, with legs wobbly from weakness, with bones plainly visible through shrunken hides, are shown being put out of their misery by a government marksman in the drought-stricken areas of western United States. Cattle are the worst victims of the drought and are part of the 6,500 head which have been killed with bullets since the United States government began its purchasing of stricken herds. Over 3,200 have been bought and moved to new pastures.

Trio Of Old Timers Celebrate Derry Day In Millbrook—Been In Order 169 Years

MILLBROOK, Aug. 13.—A trio of hardly old timers with ages totalling 229 years, and whose combined membership in the Orange Order totals 169 years, were present at the Black Knights of Ireland Derry Day celebrations here on Saturday. They were Richard Powell, 86, of Elizabethville; Thomas Farrow, 72, of Pontypool; and Edward McCurry, 71, of Millbrook.

While content to view the parade from the sidelines, Mr. Powell claimed, "I was the oldest man that walked at Port Hope last twelfth." He was in his eighty-third year before he took his Royal Arch degree in the Order, he stated, and took his Scarlet degree six months later to chalk up another record, "as the oldest man they know of to take the Arch and Scarlet degree."

Mr. Farrow has been a member of L.O.L. 82, Pontypool, since he was sixteen years of age. He walked in the parade on Saturday along with Edward McCurry.

The latter, a member of Millbrook R.B.P. 964, said he had been connected with the Order since he was eighteen years of age. Caretaker of the Armouries here, McCurry displayed on his breast the Northwest Rebellion and Long Service medals.

He served through the Northwest Rebellion, he said, in the Millbrook Company of the Midland Battalion under the late Colonel Williamson.

Incidentally, Past Preceptor James H. Paul of Millbrook R.B.P. wore the Long Service medal. An ex-Sergeant-Major of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, he was present at the Coronation of King Edward, he recalled.

Cavan

On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. E. Syer and Miss Lillian Syer were hostesses for a delightful out-door gathering of the Women's League of Grace Presbyterian Church, Millbrook. There was a good attendance and an enjoyable afternoon was spent on the lawn, where tables were spread for a sumptuous supper. Games for the juniors and social conversation for the other members, filled in the time happily. The treasury of the league netted $7.50 by the social gathering.

Mr. Marshall Lamb, of Wilfred, and nieces the Misses Winnifred and Francis Lamb, of Kirkland Lake, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. Lamb this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Staples, of Toronto, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Matchett for a few days recently.

Mrs. Marshall, of Dakota, has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. James Paul for the past week.

Miss Marian Belch, Fallis Line, spent a few days recently with Bee and Nan Fallis.

Mr. Albert Milburn, of Windsor, and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Milburn, of Toronto, motored to Cavan on Tuesday and remained until Thursday, guests of the former's niece, Mrs. C. Carr and Mr. Carr.

Mac. Newton, Toronto, visited friends in Cavan this week.

Miss Edna Beatty, Peterborough, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Wm. Douglas.

Mr. Clifford Carr has returned to Detroit after spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Creighton Carr.

Anne Rorke, small daughter of Mrs. George Rorke, Detroit, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Martin, at Welcome, returned to Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Halliday, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Cooper and Dorothy, of Toronto, motored to Cavan and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Carr.

Frazer, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Carr, had the misfortune to fall on Saturday and suffer a green stick fracture of his arm.

Much sympathy is felt for the little boy, as a few months ago he fractured his leg, just below the thigh, and was confined to bed for several weeks.

appointed to Mr. Hepburn's cabinet.

The death of D. Paul Munro, K.C., Liberal member, made necessary the Wellington South provincial by-election while Grey North was vacated by D. J. Taylor's appointment as Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries. Mr. Taylor carried Grey North for the Liberal cause in the Ontario General elections.

One Three Cornered Battle

A three-cornered fight is promised for this riding where a Liberal-Progressive, Independent Conservative and C.C.F. candidate will appear. E.N. Cooper, Mayor of Meaford, was chosen Conservative candidate at meetings held in Owen Sound Saturday night. The Liberal banner carrier is R. Patterson.

In Wellington South there will be a straight fight between a Liberal and a Conservative, as the C.C.F. decided Saturday against entering a representative. Mayor R. B. Robson of Guelph, defeated Conservative candidate in the Ontario general elections, will carry the Conservative standard again, with Dr. J. H. King standing as his Liberal opponent.

Toronto East Liberals will hold a convention August 21 to select a candidate for the Federal by-election. North York Liberals gather in convention at Newark next Thursday, when Mr. Hepburn will be the main speaker. Captain H. A. C. Breuls, former solicitor of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, is the Conservative selection for York North, but the Conservatives forces have yet to indicate their plans for the other Federal ridings.

R. RAMSDEN IS FINED $10.00

Found Guilty on Reckless Driving Charge—Case Against Strickler Dismissed.

FOLLOWING CAR SMASH.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 13 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Found guilty of reckless driving, resulting in a traffic accident in Seymour Township on July 23, Richard E. Ramsden of Campbellford was yesterday fined $10 and costs when he appeared before Magistrate G. H. Davidson, of Cobourg, in the Campbellford Police Court. The other participant in the accident, Norman Strickler of Beechville, a driver for the Fletcher, Beattie and Springer Company, contractors, had a similar charge against him dismissed. Both charges were laid by Provincial Constable Gordon Campbell of Brighton.

Hearing the case against Ramsden first, Magistrate Davidson told the court that "despite confliction of evidence, I cannot help but believe that Mr. Ramsden was driving in a negligent and reckless manner." Constable Campbell acted for the Crown; Ross Douglas of Campbellford defending Ramsden, and N. A. McColl looking after the interests of Strickler.

Strickler told the court of driving his truck, containing five and half tons of gravel, on July 23, out of a side road onto the new Provincial highway between Campbellford and Havelock, now under construction. Approaching the corner, at which the view was badly obscured by brush, he started to turn onto the highway, being in low gear and travelling about four miles an hour. He saw the Ramsden car approaching fast from the north, and skidding sideways. It struck the front corner of his truck.

Questioned by Mr. Douglas, the witness stated that there were signs along the road warning motorists. His brakes were good, he said, and he could not have stopped sooner. The Ramsden car ended up by the gate of the Van Volkenburg farm, 36 feet away. His truck, he stated, was swung around in the middle of the road about eight to ten feet. The net weight with the load was about 10½ tons.

Charles Harper, another truck driver, told the court that the Ramsden car passed him further up the road, when he was stopped unloading. He was going, he judged, about 35 miles an hour, which was enough for the road he was driving on. Questioned by the Magistrate, he said, "I would not say he was taking the necessary precautions when he passed me." There were road signs up and down the road, he told Mr. Douglas, and one each side of the cross road.

Measured Tracks

Constable Kirk of Hastings, who was on the scene of the accident about ten minutes after it occurred, gave evidence to the effect that he assisted the contractor, William Holdcroft, with others, to measure the tracks of the car. From the point of impact north to the first skid tracks of the car was 63 feet, he said, and then skid marks of four wheels for 36 feet to where the truck was struck. From the truck to where the Ramsden car was sitting was 30 feet, he said.

Questioned by Dr. Douglas, he said that when the measurements were taken, Mr. Holdcroft, Mr. Beattie, Constable Kirk, and himself were present.

Richard Ramsden, who stated he was an insurance agent, said he was travelling on the day in question on this highway, from north to south, at a speed of about 30 to 35 miles an hour. His wife was in the car with him. Before coming to the intersection, he decreased his speed to about 30 miles because a car was passing him on the road. He saw the truck approaching from the side road about 45 or 50 feet from the intersection. He applied his brakes, saw that the truck was not stopping, and swung out to the east to avoid it. He did not see it until it started to come out of the side road onto the main road, he declared.

The front of the truck hit the side of his car he stated, at the right hand side of the windshield. The truck was in motion at the time and went ahead approximately ten feet after it hit the car. There was a sign on the post at the corner of the road, Ramsden told the court, which next day was moved up the road to the next post.

He only recalled passing one car on the road, that of Dr. H. T. Scott of Campbellford. He did not recall passing any trucks. He had looked at the tracks because Constable Kirk had put a mark 36 feet back from the point of impact, which Kirk told him he had put there. This was the point where his tires started to take hold, he declared. After the accident, two cars came west, over the tracks, Dr. F. Free and Mr. Wilson, both of Campbellford.

Questioned by Constable Campbell, Ramsden stated that the measurements of the tracks were made when he was there, and pressed on the point, he could not state definitely that the two cars had run over the tracks.

Summing up for the defence, Mr. Douglas passed for the dismissal of the charge on the grounds that the accused had a right to travel at 35 miles an hour on the highway. He had applied his brakes before coming to the intersection and maintained that if the truck had stopped, Mr. Rawsden would have gotten across. There was no negligence on his part. The skid marks could easily have been those of other cars stopping at the scene of the accident, he pointed out.

After Magistrate Davidson had found Ramsden guilty, Mr. MacColl asked the Crown to withdraw the charge against Strickler. This Constable Campbell did not care to do, in case there was any evidence brought forward that might hold the truck driver partly responsible. Mr. MacColl stated however that he was prepared to let the case against Strickler rest on the evidence brought out, Magistrate Davidson agreeing, and dismissing the case against Strickler.

HEPBURN BACKS WILSON MILLS

of Guelph, secretary of the Ontario Municipal Association, of which organization Mr. Maguire is President.'

Making $30,000 a Year

The insurance company, the premier continued, had been capitalized at $40,000 but only nine $10 shares had been sold. He said he estimated the company had been making $30,000 a year from underwriting insurance in Hydro buildings, Mr. Maguire, he added, had had charge of a distributing $5,000 annually from a slush fund for Hydro propaganda. He charged $3,600 a year had been paid to Verne Buchanan of Ingersoll, Ont., to attend conventions.

Mr. Buchanan, the premier said, had claimed to be a Liberal but he had attacked the premier's stand on the Hydro questions. "He was a Liberal but a Tory to the extent of $3,600 a year," the Government leader charged.

A Liberal Government to give Canada a new deal was required at Ottawa, he continued. Such an administration would assist him in implementing schemes to aid the people of Ontario and he mentioned a land settlement scheme.

Hands Tied by Ottawa

"I would like to place a lot of these poor unemployed people on farms under a new land settlement scheme but our hands are tied by the present administration at Ottawa," he said. "A Liberal Government at Ottawa means a new deal for the Dominion of Canada, just as we are trying to give the people of Ontario a new deal."

The premier then declared his opposition to present interest rates and his intention of breaking the banks' "throttle hold." He said he had decided "interest" was the "root" of the economic crisis. If the banks could not supply satisfactory terms on government loans, when the administration would obtain its money in the United States.

Warsaw

People are wondering how new potatoes are so cheap. It is told by people with relatives in Zephyr that they may be had there for 20 and 25c a bag. Several farmers have to draw water to supplement the home supply. Some have to bring home part of their stock from rough lots because they are so dry. Many are putting their grain in very carefully, as it is heating easily. On the whole crops are perhaps a little better than might be expected. Well cultivated gardens, in which there is a good dust mulch are keeping up fairly well, but there will be no great surplus.

Miss Helen Williams is guest of Mr. and Mrs. David Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald and Miss Elizabeth Douglas, of Norwood, also Mrs. Murray of Tweed, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Crowe on Wednesday.

Mrs. G. G. Taylor went to Carnarvon to spend a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson at Cumfy cottage.

WINDSOR.—Believed to have been lost six years ago a purse was found near where a circus was showing here. A small boy made the find and police are now seeking the owner.

On an inner fold appears the inscription "Grover C. Hutchman, from Hazel" and in the purse was found a wedding ring inscribed "J. L. to H. L," a tiepin, a 25-cent shin plaster and some weather-stained papers.

U.S. Aims To Put Tax Upon Machine Guns

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (A.P.)—The United States government sought to-day to stop free circulation of the gangster's favorite tool—the machine gun.

If a perm possesses a machine gun after next month he'll have to register it with the commissioner of internal revenue.

If he wants to get one after Sept. 24, he'll have to get an order from the commission, be fingerprinted, and pay a price boosted by a sales tax of $200.

The bureau of internal revenue worked to draw up regulations applying the law aimed to keep machine guns, sawed-off shotguns and silencers for such weapons out of circulation.

Pistols aren't included, although proponents of the measure in the last Congress urged that a curb on them was of vastly greater importance than machine-gun regulation.

KILLERS FLEE AFOOT.

Police Comb All Dives—Suspect Crime Done for Vengeance.

MONTREAL, Aug. 14. — (CP) — Police were scouring Montreal and district today as a net was thrown out for three ruthless killers who slunk out of the shadows of a dark street and pumped two bullets into Alexander W. Soulgikoff, 55-year-old police court interpreter, after luring him to a false address. A cordon was thrown around the city to prevent the killers' escape while all known underworld hang-outs were investigated in search of some clue to identity of the murderers.

Soulgikoff, a police court interpreter who spoke eight languages, was murdered early this morning as he sat in his car in what police said was a crime of vengeance. Witnesses who saw the killing were powerless to aid so speedily was the crime executed.

According to the story told police, Raoul Caya, a resident in Delanaudiere street, and his son Lucien were passing up the street on their way home after visiting friends when they spied three men lurking in the shadows. Something in the manner of the men caused the two to quicken their footsteps and they hurried into their home. Hardly had they closed the door and gone to look out the window than they saw the three gunmen converge on a car, flame shooting from a gun held by one of them.

The elder Caya came rushing from the rear of his home and arrived on the scene of the crime just in time to see the killers disap-

Sorrowing Throng Crowds Halifax Church for Worrell Funeral.

KING REPRESENTED.

HALIFAX, Aug. 4.—(C.P.)—Under gray spies, lightened by patches of blue, Most Rev. Clarendon L. Worrell found rest to-day in tree-shaded Camp Hill Cemetery.

Solemn Anglican ritual marked funeral services for the aged Primate of the Church of England in Canada. A sorrowful throng, crowding All Saints' Cathedral and forming a long cortege to the graveside, joined church, state and judiciary in mourning the loss of a beloved leader.

"Death, however tragic, is but a beginning and not an end, an incident on the path of living."

As the words rang through All Saints' a single beam of sunlight pierced the clouds and streamed through the Cathedral's great windows.

Co-Adjutor Bishop John Hackenley was celebrant at a preliminary Holy Communion service. He read the Scripture lesson at the funeral service and Rt. Rev. J. A. Richardson, Bishop of Fredericton, delivered an inspiring sermon.

Royalty Represented

Mourners included representatives of the King, Dominion and Provincial Government, Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, and practically every church organization. Among the throng were His Honor Walter H. Covert, Lieutenant-Governor of

SOMETHING WAS BEING HELD BACK ENGINEER FELT

Chief Municipal Engineer Opposed Abitibi Deal Commission is Told.

HAD ANOTHER PLAN.

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (C.P.).—Disapproval of arrangements by which the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission bought power from the Hudson Bay Power Company in 1932, was expressed by R. T. Jeffrey, chief municipal engineer for the Hydro who was chief witness at the "Abitibi deal" inquiry to-day.

Mr. Jeffrey's evidence all related to the period prior to the launching of the power development scheme at Abitibi Canyon. With other Hydro engineers, he said he had mapped out a comprehensive plan for the long-term development of electric power in Northern Ontario by stages. They had found the power sites on the Mississauga River the most economical prospect for immediate development.

Signed Memorandum.

Although on instructions of F. A. Gaby, chief Hydro engineer, he had signed a memorandum recommending the purchase of 100,000 horsepower from the Hudson Bay Power Company to be developed at Abitibi Canyon, Mr. Jeffrey did not approve of it.

Hudson Bay power was the predecessor of the Ontario Power Service Corporation, the tak-inger of which by the Government in 1933 constituted the "Abitibi deal."

Mr. Jeffrey said he did not like the arrangement whereby Hudson Bay, one subsidiary of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company sold 160,000 horsepower to the Hydro while the Abitibi Electrical Com-

HYDRO APOSTLE WAS 23 YEARS ONTARIO HOUSE

Former Chairman of Power Commission First Entered Cabinet in 1923.

LIFE RESIDENT RAWDON.

Close Friend of Sir Adam Beck —Funeral to be Held Wednesday.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 14. — (CP)—Prominent figure for years in Ontario Hydro affairs, Hon. J. R. Cooke died at his home near Stirling late yesterday afternoon. He was 67 years of age and his death followed injuries received in an auto crash Friday night.

While driving alone in his car near his home, the former chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission crashed his auto into ambutment of a cement bridge in endeavoring to dodge something that had crossed in front of machine. His chest was crushed against the steering wheel and he suffered head lacerations.

Neighbors carried the injured man to his home, and physicians gave him treatment, with Sunday reports indicating he was in "a most favorable condition," but yesterday he took a turn for the worse. Dr. H. H. Alger of Stirling declared he had little chance of surviving the night because of serious internal injuries. A few hours later the noted Hydro supporter died.

Public Ownership Apostle

Life-long apostle of public ownership of utilities and close friend of Sir Adam Beck, father of the provincial "peoles Hydro," Mr. Cooke was best known for his association with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

He believed the loyalty and contentment of the commission's engineering and general staff were a great factor in the success of the enterprise. In the Spring of 1933, as chairman of the commission, he made a stand in declining to reveal to a meeting of members of the legislature the salaries paid to engineers and other experts of the service. Such publicity, he thought,

Maj.-Gen. MacBrien Has Minor Operation

VANCOUVER, Aug. 14 (CP)—Major General J. H. MacBrien, Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was in Vancouver General Hospital to-day for a minor operation on his left leg.

General MacBrien, here to inspect the British Columbia Division of the Dominion Force, injured his leg Sunday when his foot slipped as he was about to dive off the tower at English Bay.

Disregarding the injury as trivial he walked about Sunday, with the result the leg became so badly swollen a surgeon was called.

Hospital attendants said a minor operation was required to put a torn ligament back into place.

BANK IN CARGILL YIELDS $2,000 LOOT TO BANDITS

Foiled by Vault Pair of Armed Thugs Scoop Cash From Cage.

TRIO WAIT IN CAR.

Constable Fires With Rifle But Misses—Villagers Take Up Pursuit.

CARGILL, Ont., Aug. 14. — (C. P). — Two armed men entered the Branch Office of the Royal Bank of Canada to-day and after attempting to force the manager and teller to open the safe, scooped up all the loose currency in the tellers' cage and escaped in a sedan in which three accomplices were waiting. They were said to have escaped with about $2,200.

Cargill is in Bruce County, about nine miles north-west fo Walkerton.

The car was last seen heading toward Greenock swamp with four vilagers in a smaller car, in pursuit. The town constable Neno Zigler, fired three times after the bandits but his shots missed.

According to details given police the two men entered the building just after opening time and with drawn guns threatened the manager L. Dreakes when he refused their demand to open the safe. Dreakes was adament in his refusal and told the robbers they could shoot him if they liked but he would not reveal the combintion.

Pair Grow Nervous.

At that, the two intruders turned on the teller, Gerald Raper who fumbled at the combination until the bandits grew nervous and without waiting to see if the iron door had been opened by Raper, moved over to the cashier's cage which they cleaned out.

With the money stuffed in their pockets, the two men bound manager and teller together by the hands and threatened to shoot them if they attempted to follow. From the door they jumped to the car and raced away before the few residents about the street realized the daring robbery had been committed.

Zigler said he had seen the car parked in front of the bank and, believing a hold-up was in progress, ran home for his rifle He returned in time to catch a glimpse of the speeding car. He fired three times, he said, but could not reach his mark.

It was believed the bandit car was too far in the lead for the pursuers to get within shooting distance.

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—(C. P.)—Hon. Arthur Roebuck, Attorney-General of Ontario said today, in commenting on Labor disturbances in Brampton and Stratford last night, that it was up to municipal and police authorities to maintain order in the respective centers.

The Attorney-General said he would send no tanks or machine guns to aid the Brampton employers in their industrial disputes.

He also warned the Stratford police commission it either must offer protection to Isadore Minister, self styled Communist and organizer of the Workers Unity League when he returns to that city, or be dismissed from its post. Minster was ushered out of Stratford by a body of citizens yesterday.

MADMAN STABS SIXTH VICTIM

Escapes Again Despite Efforts of Ohio City Police, Vigilantes.

AT LARGE 2 MONTHS.

DEFIANCE, O., Aug. 14 (A.P.).—This city's madman knifer and clubber struck again to-day.

His sixth attack within two months—a period in which police and corps of vigilantes headed by a "secret eight" have tried vainly to capture him—came when he stabbed Miss Mabel Krotz, middle-aged spinster, in the left forearm.

She was burning rubbish in an alley at the rear of her home when the man sneaked up behind her, brandishing a pocket knife. Before she could escape he stabbed at her. The wound was a superficial one.

Again Police Chief Karl A. Weaner mobilized the force of 100 vigilantes, who immediately set out upon a city-wide search for the knifer, described as a mentally-deranged youth.

None of the previous victims of the attacks were seriously hurt.

Ancient Chinese City Found Beneath Lake

SHANGHAI, Aug. 14 (A.P.).—An ancient Chinese city has been found beneath the waters of Tai Lake, on the border of Kiangsu and Chekiang Provinces, vernacular newspapers reported to-day.

As the waters of the lake reached a low level, the result of a drought gripping the area, the newspapers stated, the submerged city became visible. The city wall remains intact, with streets and houses inside.

The alleged discovery, made by fishermen, is in accordance with a Chinese legend which says a city called Sanyang, an important commercial centre, was inundated by a great flood which placed it at the bottom of the body of water now called Tai Lake.

YOUTH AVERTS TRAIN WRECK NEAR UXBRIDGE

Spots Tree Across Tracks and Flags Engineer by Waving Hands.

STOPS NICK OF TIME.

Coach on Toronto-Belleville Express Filled to Capacity —Half Hour Delay.

LINDSAY, Aug. 14 (C.P.)—J. W. Forsyth last night prevented what probably would have been a serious wreck on the Canadian National Railway line at Uxbridge when he ran down the tracks to stop the Toronto-to-Belleville train after noticing a large tree lying across the rails.

The train, number 12, appeared at Uxbridge at 6.20 o'clock last evening. Forsyth, son of Asa Forsyth, farmer of the district, was going for the cows in a back pasture when he saw the tree on the track. It was two feet in diameter, large enough to wreck the train.

Forsyth heard the train whistle and then saw it approaching. Within five minutes the young man had run up the tracks and flagged the train by waving his hands. The engineer pulled the train to a stop within 50 feet of the tree, which could not be seen by the engine crew because of a bend in the road.

One coach of the train was filled to capacity and the train was held up a half hour while the tree was cut away.

2,000 Extra Police Required In Saar

GENEVA, Aug. 14. —(A. P.), — The Governing Commission of the Saar region— where a plebiscite will be held in January to determine whether it shall become French or German territory or remain under the control of the League of Nations—to-day informed the league it needs at least 2,000 additional foreign police to maintain order.

The commission declared the situation in th Saar had become so much worse that it was beyond control. It asked that the additional officers of the law be recruited in foreign countries, recommending that they be appointed from countries which are members of the League and in which the German language is spoken.

FAMILY WARNED "DO NO TALKING" PRESS OR POLICE

Note Demanding $150,000 Threatens Harm to Victim for Publicity.

CAR FOUND IN LONDON

Prisoner Disappears Trip to Sarnia—Relatives Head There After 'Phone Call.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 14.—(CP)—John S. Labatt, president of the Labatt Brewery Limited, was kidnapped today while travelling by motor between London and Sarnia.

The family had been warned not to talk to police or newspapermen and no details of the kidnapping were available here. Members of the family were on their way to Sarnia, Ont., where it is believed he is being held.

Mr. Labatt's motor car was found outside St. Joseph's hospital this morning.

It was reported a note was found pinned inside the car which demanded $150,000 ransom and threatened harm to the wealthy brewery head if news of the kidnapping was made public.

It was known that Mr. Labatt left the residence of Harry P. Holland, 10 miles north of here, this morning and the finding of his car in London left police with no doubt that the kidnapping had occurred.

Kidnapper 'Phones

A telephone call to the Labatt residence was the first intimation the family had of the kidnapping. A man's voice told where the car could be found. When he was asked, "Who's calling," he shut off.

Mrs. Labatt, the former Betty Lynch, of Ottawa, and Hugh Labatt, brother of the kidnapped man and vice-president of the brewing company left this afternoon for Sarnia.

Mr. Labatt, who is between 55 and 60 years of age, is a prominent member of London society and well known as a horseman. He broke a leg seven years ago in an accident and has limped ever since. He was married seven years and has three small children.

No Word In Sarnia.

SARNIA, Ont., Aug. 14 (C.P.).—Police authorities said to-day here they had no official knowledge of the reported kidnapping of John S. Labatt, wealthy head of the brewery bearing his name. They had not been appealed to, authorities said, nor had they any other details of the kidnapping, other than provided by newspaper reports.

W.N.S. HOSPITAL RAZED IN BONNEYVILLE BLAZE

BONNYVILLE, Alta., Aug. 14. —(C.P.).—Bonnyville General Hospital, operated by the Women's Missionary Society, of the United Church of Canada, at Toronto, was a smouldering ruin to-day. The 25-bed institution was razed late last night by a fire which started in the boiler room Damage was estimated at $40,000, fully covered by insurance.

Temporary quarters were found for patients in the Church Boarding School, nearby, which was vacant during the holidays. The nurses' home, garage and other mission buildings were saved by volunteer fire fighters. It is anticipated the structure will be rebuilt.

Terrific Storm Rips Across Simcoe County

CYCLONE RIPS PATH OF HAVOC AROUND BARRIE

Tobacco Farmers Lost Thousands as Many Crops Wiped Out.

LIVESTOCK KILLED.

Rink, Houses, Barns Levelled, Wreckage Strewn for Mile.

(By the Canadian Press).

Fields of destroyed tobacco crops and wrecked buildings dotted sections of Ontario to-day, the toll taken by hail, rain and wind in one of the worst storms in several years. Damage will mount to thousands of dollars and numerous tobacco farmers will suffer complete loss of crops on which they had no insurance.

A cyclone swept into the Guthrie district, seven miles north-east of Barrie, and hail pounded the Delhi, Norwich, Otterville and Teeterville sections. From 1,000 to 1,200 acres of tobacco were completely destroyed and 800 to 1,000 partially ruined when the hail appeared in the country surrounding Delhi, sweeping through Norwich, Otterville and Teeterville, the hail cut a swath a mile wide and 12 miles long.

Trail of Havoc.

Trees crashed across highways, barn roofs were lifted, chimneys topped, telephone poles knocked down when the cyclone raged through the Guthrie district, wrecking completely the curling and skating rink. The metal rink was lifted and then smashed to the ground, pieces of tin flung around trees and some carried for half a mile. Alex. and John A. Campbell reported their barns razed, while roofs on James Stoddart's and Henry McCuaig's farms were swung into the air by the fierce winds, and carried for a mile. Small buildings were lifted from their foundations and grain stocks blown out of fields.

Hailstones also fell in the Elmira area and cyclonic winds visited the Dereham and North Norwich Townships, blowing over barns on Brock Snell's farm in the former township and wrecking the farm house on the farm of Frank L. Thompson, Norwich. Thompson's 70-foot barn was demolished; 50 to 60 trees uprooted; root crops torn from the soil; fences wrecked and a calf carried for 100 feet to be plunged to its death. Three cows were killed on another farm.

FACE OF FALLS PRESENTS SMOOTHER APPEARANCE

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Aug. 14 (A.P.)—Nature having done a bit of plastic surgery, the face of Horseshoe Falls to-day presented a smoother appearance to those who follow the honeymoon trail to this resort spot.

A heavy flow of water now rushes over a section of the brink of the Canadian cataract which was dry until the rock collapse of yesterday.

Three years ago a similar bit of face lifting was done on the American falls. Geologists say that the breaking off of the limestone ledge, 90 feet thick, which forms the "lip" of the falls, will occur periodically. When the breaks will occur they cannot foretell as both America and Canadian falls generally are hidden in mist. None can approach close enough to study the condition of the high rocky shelf.

NAZIS IN DRIVE AIM TO JUSTIFY HITLER'S POLICY

Economic Dictator Admits Germany's Serious Financial Plight.

BALLOT ON SUNDAY.

By WALTER E. BROCKMANN
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BERLIN, Aug. 14 (A.P.) — Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Germany's economic dictator, joined to-day the whirlwind campaign to make Adolf Hitler the country's new "Von Hindenburg."

"If we want to overcome present difficulties — as we will," said Schacht, "we can do so only under Hitler's leadership."

Trusted Hitler lieutenants are on the stump in a drive for Nazi self-justification. Germany votes Sunday on the question of approval of Hitler's seizure of the late President Von Hindenburg's powers.

Unlike other speakers, Schacht, who recently was appointed acting minister of economics and who is virtually boss of Reich finance and economics, frankly admitted Germany's woes.

Support Hitler'

In an appeal to the people written especially for the Boersen Zeitung, he said:

"Everybody knows what difficulties we face and it would be ridiculous to attempt to minimize these. But there is only one way of overcoming these, and that is by supporting the determined policy of Der Fuehrer (Hitler)."

Commenting on his association with Hitler, Schacht, President of the Reichsbank, asserted time and again I have been astonished to note what a natural insight Adolf Hitler has into the economic process and its necessities."

Every detail of the employment programme he said has been inspired by Hitler's influence.

That all is not yet well with the Nazi storm troops, whose ranks were "purged" in the June 30th revolution, was indicated by Viktor Lutze, their chief of staff, in an interview.

No definite orders for storm trooper assistance in the plebiscite have been or will be given by the "supreme command," he said, expressing the hope that "after the restoration of the old relationship of confidence the storm troops would become Hitler's most reliable helpers.

VIENNA TREASON PARADE GOES ON

15 More Nazi Go on Trial—8 Already Hanged Keeping Executioner Busy.

WEARS EVENING DRESS.

VIENNA, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Fifteen more Nazis were marched into a courtroom today to be tried for treason, a grim procedure which has left eight of their fellows dangling on the gallows.

They are accused of participation in the seizure of a radio station and the Chancellery July 25 in an uprising which resulted in the assassination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss. More than 100 other Nazis are awaiting their turns to go on trial here.

Austria's hangman, although he is having a busy season, observes the formalities. Not even the weather interferes.

He wore faultless evening dress and a high silk hat when he executed four policemen last night, a few hours after they were convicted of participation in the Nazi revolt. A steady rain fell as the four went to their deaths in the yard of the district court building.

They went through the trial stoically rejecting the opportunity to make a final statement, five other policemen tried with them were given prison terms ranging from 15 years to life.

HEROIC WOMAN AVERTS TRAGEDY

Dashes Between 5,000 Farmers, 300 Civil Guards Battling at Tax Sale.

HALTS FIRING.

CORK, Irish Free State, Aug. 14. (A. P.) — A woman's heroism was credited to-day with saving many lives in savage fighting yesterday between 5,000 farmers, enraged by a tax sale, and 300 civil guards.

Mrs. Eamonn O'Neill, wife of a member of the Dail, rushed between the combatants, risking her life in heavy gunfire, and pleaded with them to stop. Both farmers and officers ceased shooting, fearing they would hit her.

The woman then helped Jeremiah Lynch, critically wounded farmer, outside a yard where the battle took place. Lynch later died. More than 100 others were injured.

The farmers had attacked the guards, surrounding the yard where cattle taken from two farmers who did not pay land taxes were to be sold.

Eight doctors established a dressing station nearby to treat the injured. Disturbances broke out in other sections of the city and police used clubs to disperse demonstrators.

Troops, armed with bayonets, were on duty in Cord to-day as authorities exerted every effort to prevent further disorders.

KILLED ON NEW ROAD.

pearing into the darkness. Soulgikoff lay on the sidewalk, blood spurting from wounds in his head and throat.

According to others on the street, the victim had halted his car a few minutes before and asked a passerby for an address on Delanaudiere Street. Obtaining his information, the driver moved the car forward, stoping at the intersection of Everett and Delanaudiere Streets. It was then that it happened. Two men had been lounging on the corner and another had been ludking behind a pole a short distance away.

The three suddenly sprang into action. One man threatened the interpreter from each side of the car and the third tried to open the rumble seat. Witnesses said one man reached over and raced the motor while a gun roared. Mortally wounded, Soulgikoff stumbled out on the street sagging to the sidewalk in a pool of his own blood. The gunmen fled down Delanaudiere Street and disappeared in a vacant lot.

Witness Tells Police.

Mrs. Francois Galarneau, another witness, hurried into her home and called police. Meanwhile, the Cayas ran to Soulgikoff's aid but he was dead. One bullet had pierced the skull, another had run through his left hand, apparently thrown up to protect himself, tore his lips and buried itself in his throat, according to Dr. J. M. Roussel, medico-legal expert who examined the wounds.

A gun bearing the initials A. S. and believed to have belonged to the victim was found in the field through which the men had fled. It was thought they had removed it from their victim and had thrown it away when they saw the initials on it. Nothing else seemed to be missing from the dead man's body.

Raoul Caya told police he was not certain he could identify them although he had seen them fairly clearly. Meanwhile, while searches were made of underworld dives, police were investigating court records in an attempt to discover a vengeance motive for the killing.

GLAZE ON PAPER MILK PRODUCT

New Machine Takes in Skimmed Liquid at One End, Turns Out Many Things.

BUCKLES, MEDICINE, SOAP.

(By Howard W. Blakeslee, Associated Press Science Editor)

BURLINGTON, Vermont, Aug. 14 (A.P.)—The cow's milk, which forms the glaze on fine paper, has gone mechanical, one of the last of the dairy products to be made by machines.

The new machine, which takes in skimmed milk at one end and turns out a lot of things at the other, including the glaze for acres and acres of paper, is described by Dr. Richard W. Smith, of the University of Vermont., in Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

The glaze material is casein, the solid part of milk. Heretofore the casein has been extracted by hand work. The fine printing demanded by modern advertising, Dr. Smith explains, forced abandonment of hand labor. The old method left loopholes for too much lack of uniformity in the casein.

This results, Dr. Smith says, in better control of the acid mixture, less time for unwanted proteins to settle along with the casein and a more uniform product. The machine washes and dries this "curd" and presses it into cakes.

The casein not used for paper glazing goes into a great variety of articles, ranging from shoe buckles to food, medicine, soap and paint.

CHINESE EXECUTE FIVE FOR MISSIONARY'S DEATH

TIENTSIN, China, Aug. 14 (A.P.) —China exacted retribution to-day for the murder of Dr. J. H. Ingram, 57-year-old American missionary by bandits two months ago, when the provincial government executed five Chinese convicted of the crime.

Dr. Ingram was shot to death in his summr bungalow outside Peiping as he sought to protect his wife and grandchildren from a band of robbers which entered the house late at night.

BRITISH SLOOP SINKS TANKER

Visiting Warship's Stern Swings in Current at Montreal Harbor.

CREW RESCUED.

MONTREAL, Aug. 13 (C.P.).—The British naval sloop, H.M.S. Dragon, struck the small oil-refuelling vessel Maplebranch and sent it to the bottom of the harbor here to-day. The crew of the Maplebranch all escaped.

The Dragon arrived here to-day from St. John's, Nfld., after carrying Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, British Prime Minister, there from Nova Scotia last week.

As the British war vessel prepared to berth in Victoria basin, she altered her course to avoid striking the small coast vessel Saguenay Trader, with the result that the current caught her stern and swung the vessel around. The Maplebranch was moored alongside the liner New Northland, and was struck amidships by the stern of the Dragon.

Tugs rushed to the rescue of the Maplebranch and started to tow her to the opposite side of the basin. The Maplebranch sank lower and lower as water rushed into her hold and tanks through the gash in her plates. The vessel finally sank to the bottom, leaving her top-deck and funnel above the surface of the water. Oil from her tanks appeared a thick film over the basin. The crew were taken off safely.

The Dragon was only slightly damaged, and was berthed near the scene of the mishap. No official statement on the accident was immediately available.

WHEAT FARMER STILL NEEDS AID BY GOVERNMENT

Experts Fear Drought Will Not Ease. Carry-over Sufficiently.

HIT AT ACREAGES.

(By Albert W. Wilson, Associated Press Foreign Staff)

LONDON, August 14 (AP)—That necessity still exists for government measures to bring wheat farmers a satisfactory margin of profit was stressed at the opening session today of the International Wheat Conference.

A review of the current situation disclosed that the wheat "diplomats" expect the 1,000,000,000-bushel glut of world stocks will be considerably alleviated as a result of the universal drought. This, they estimate will cut normal production this year by 300,000,000 to 400,000,000 bushels.

"But we still have far to go if we want to safeguard the world against the danger of grave crises in the future," said a conference spokesman.

"The drought will go a long way this year toward getting rid of the world's surplus, but we are convinced it will not go as far as recent reports indicated. Furthermore, we cannot count on similar favorable prospects next year and the year after."

One Good Crop

A summary of drought results made at the meeting brought out that Argentina alone of the big producers will have a good crop, but big carry-overs were found still to be a serious menace.

Old Colored Mammy Reared 110 Children

FAYETVILLE, N.C., Aug. 14.—(A. P.)—Old Mother Hubbard had nothing on Aunt Lea Williams, 85-year-old Negro mammy, who virtually is a one-woman orphanage.

During her life she's raised 110 children, only a few of them her own, and at times has had as many as 20 under the roof of her four-room home.

"When anything is homeless and hungry, it makes for my cabin," she says. "See them dogs over there They's no-account hounds, but I ain't going to run 'em away."

Gathered about her at the time were nine children who she wasn't going to run away, neither."

For years Aunt Leah has taken in every homeless Negro child she heard of. She is a mid-wife. In her home are few chairs and frequently the children, having no places to sit at meal time, stand around the table and sop their plates with flour flat cakes cooked on an old wood range.

Exhibition Park, home of the Canadian National Exhibition, is one of the most beautifully landscaped parks in Canada. It is a mile and a half in length on the shore of Lake Ontario and covers an area of 350 acres.

Terrific Storm Rips Across Simcoe County

CYCLONE RIPS PATH OF HAVOC AROUND BARRIE

Tobacco Farmers Lost Thousands as Many Crops Wiped Out.

LIVESTOCK KILLED.

Rink, Houses, Barns Levelled, Wreckage Strewn for Mile.

(By the Canadian Press).

Fields of destroyed tobacco crops and wrecked buildings dotted sections of Ontario to-day, the toll taken by hail, rain and wind in one of the worst storms in several years. Damage will mount to thousands of dollars and numerous tobacco farmers will suffer complete loss of crops on which they had no insurance.

A cyclone swept into the Guthrie district, seven miles north-east of Barrie, and hail pounded the Delhi, Norwich, Otterville and Teeterville sections. From 1,000 to 1,200 acres of tobacco were completely destroyed and 800 to 1,000 partially ruined when the hail appeared in the country surrounding Delhi, sweeping through Norwich, Otterville and Teeterville, the hail cut a swath a mile wide and 12 miles long.

Trail of Havoc.

Trees crashed across highways, barn roofs were lifted, chimneys toppled, telephone poles knocked down when the cyclone raged through the Guthrie district, wrecking completely the curling and skating rink. The metal rink was lifted and then smashed to the ground, pieces of tin flung around trees and some carried for half a mile. Alex. and John A. Campbell reported their barns razed, while roofs on James Stoddart's and Henry McCuaig's farms were swung into the air by the fierce winds, and carried for a mile. Small buildings were lifted from their foundations and grain stocks blown out of fields.

Hailstones also fell in the Elmira area and cyclonic winds visited the Dereham and North Norwich Townships, blowing over barns on Brock Snell's farm in the former township and wrecking the farm house on the farm of Frank L. Thompson, Norwich. Thompson's 70-foot barn was demolished; 50 to 60 trees uprooted; root crops torn from the soil; fences wrecked and a calf carried for 100 feet to be plunged to its death. Three cows were killed on another farm.

FACE OF FALLS PRESENTS SMOOTHER APPEARANCE

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Aug. 14 (A.P.)—Nature having done a bit of plastic surgery, the face of Horseshoe Falls to-day presented a smoother appearance to those who follow the honeymoon trail to this resort spot.

A heavy flow of water now rushes over a section of the brink of the Canadian cataract which was dry until the rock collapse of yesterday.

Three years ago a similar bit of face lifting was done on the American falls. Geologists say that the breaking off of the limestone ledge, 90 feet thick, which forms the "lip" of the falls, will occur periodically. When the breaks will occur they cannot foretell as both America and Canadian falls generally are hidden in mist. None can approach close enough to study the condition of the high rocky shelf.

Turning up the cards one at a time, he guesses the identity of each. If he gets one right, he loses; if he gets 52 wrong, he wins.

NAZIS IN DRIVE AIM TO JUSTIFY HITLER'S POLICY

Economic Dictator Admits Germany's Serious Financial Plight.

BALLOT ON SUNDAY.

By WALTER E. BROCKMANN
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BERLIN, Aug. 14 (A.P.) — Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Germany's economic dictator, joined to-day the whirlwind campaign to make Adolf Hitler the country's new "Von Hindenburg."

"If we want to overcome present difficulties — as we will," said Schacht, "we can do so only under Hitler's leadership."

Trusted Hitler lieutenants are on the stump in a drive for Nazi self-justification. Germany votes Sunday on the question of approval of Hitler's seizure of the late President Von Hindenburg's powers.

Unlike other speakers, Schacht, who recently was appointed acting minister of economics and who is virtually boss of Reich finance and economics, frankly admitted Germany's woes.

Support Hitler

In an appeal to the people written especially for the Boersen Zeitung, he said:

"Everybody knows what difficulties we face and it would be ridiculous to attempt to minimise these. But there is only one way of overcoming these, and that is by supporting the determined policy of Der Fuehrer (Hitler)."

Commenting on his association with Hitler, Schacht, President of the Reichsbank, asserted 'time and again I have been astonished to note what a natural insight Adolf Hitler has into the economic process and its necessities."

Every detail of the employment programme he said has been inspired by Hitler's influence.

That all is not yet well with the Nazi storm troops, whose ranks were "purged" in the June 30th revolution, was indicated by Viktor Lutze, their chief of staff, in an interview.

No definite orders for storm trooper assistance in the plebiscite have been or will be given by the "supreme command," he said, expressing the hope that "after the restoration of the old relationship of confidence the storm troops would become Hitler's most reliable helpers.

VIENNA TREASON PARADE GOES ON

15 More Nazi Go on Trial—8 Already Hanged Keeping Executioner Busy.

WEARS EVENING DRESS.

VIENNA, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Fifteen more Nazis were marched into a courtroom today to be tried for treason, a grim procedure which has left eight of their fellows dangling on the gallows.

They are accused of participation in the seizure of a radio station and the Chancellery July 25 in an uprising which resulted in the assassination of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss. More than 100 other Nazis are awaiting their turns to go on trial here.

Austria's hangman, although he is having a busy season, observes the formalities. Not even the weather interferes.

He wore faultless evening dress and a high silk hat when he executed four policemen last night, a few hours after they were convicted of participation in the Nazi revolt. A steady rain fell as the four went to their deaths in the yard of the district court building.

They went through the trial stoically rejecting the opportunity to make a final statement, five other policemen tried with them were given prison terms ranging from 18 years to life.

HEROIC WOMAN AVERTS TRAGEDY

Dashes Between 5,000 Farmers, 300 Civil Guards Battling at Tax Sale.

HALTS FIRING.

CORK, Irish Free State, Aug. 14. (A. P.) — A woman's heroism was credited to-day with saving many lives in savage fighting yesterday between 5,000 farmers, enraged by a tax sale, and 300 civil guards.

Mrs. Eamonn O'Neill, wife of a member of the Dail, rushed between the combatants, risking her life in heavy gunfire, and pleaded with them to stop. Both farmers and officers ceased shooting, fearing they would hit her.

The woman then helped Jeremiah Lynch, critically wounded farmer, outside a yard where the battle took place. Lynch later died. More than 100 others were injured.

The farmers had attacked the guards, surrounding the yard where cattle taken from two farmers who did not pay land taxes were to be sold.

Eight doctors established a dressing station nearby to treat the injured. Disturbances broke out in other sections of the city and police used clubs to disperse demonstrators.

Troops, armed with bayonets, were on duty in Cord to-day as authorities exerted every effort to prevent further disorders.

KILLED ON NEW ROAD.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Aug. 14. —(A.P.)— Four men riding in a truck on a newly-paved highway which had just been opened to traffic were killed in a grade-crossing accident here.

pearing into the darkness. Souligikoff lay on the sidewalk, blood spurting from wounds in his head and throat.

According to others on the street, the victim had halted his car a few minutes before and asked a passerby for an address on Delanaudiere Street. Obtaining his information, the driver moved the car forward, stoping at the intersection of Everett and Delanaudiere Streets. It was then that it happened. Two men had been lounging on the corner and another had been ludking behind a pole a short distance away.

The three suddenly sprang into action. One man threatened the interpreter from each side of the car and the third tried to open the rumble seat. Witnesses said one man reached over and raced the motor while a gun roared. Mortally wounded, Souligikoff stumbled out on the street sagging to the sidewalk in a pool of his own blood. The gunmen fled down Delanaudiere Street and disappeared in a vacant lot.

Witness Tells Police.

Mrs. Francois Galarneau, another witness, hurried into her home and called police. Meanwhile, the Cayas ran to Souligikoff's aid but he was dead. One bullet had pierced the skull, another had run through his left hand, apparently thrown up to protect himself, tore his lips and buried itself in his throat, according to Dr. J. M. Rousael, medico-legal expert who examined the wounds.

A gun bearing the initials A. S. and believed to have belonged to the victim was found in the field through which the men had fled. It was thought they had removed it from their victim and had thrown it away when they saw the initials on it. Nothing else seemed to be missing from the dead man's body.

Raoul Caya told police he was not certain he could identify them although he had seen them fairly clearly. Meanwhile, while searches were made of underworld dives, police were investigating court records in an attempt to discover a vengeance motive for the killing.

GLAZE ON PAPER MILK PRODUCT

New Machine Takes in Skimmed Liquid at One End, Turns Out Many Things.

BUCKLES, MEDICINE, SOAP.

(By Howard W. Blakeslee, Associated Press Science Editor)

BURLINGTON, Vermont, Aug. 14 (A.P.)—The cow's milk, which forms the glaze on fine paper, has gone mechanical, one of the last of the dairy products to be made by machines.

The new machine, which takes in skimmed milk at one end and turns out a lot of things at the other, including the glaze for acres and acres of paper, is described by Dr. Richard W. Smith, of the University of Vermont., in Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

The glaze material is casein, the solid part of milk. Heretofore the casein has been extracted by hand work. The fine printing demanded by modern advertising, Dr. Smith explains, forced abandonment of hand labor. The old method left loopholes for too much lack of uniformity in the casein.

This results, Dr. Smith says, in better control of the acid mixture, less time for unwanted proteins to settle along with the casein and a more uniform product. The machine washes and dries this "curd" and presses it into cakes.

The casein not used for paper glazing goes into a great variety of articles, ranging from shoe buckles to food, medicine, soap and paint.

CHINESE EXECUTE FIVE FOR MISSIONARY'S DEATH

TIENTSIN, China, Aug. 14 (A.P.) —China exacted retribution to-day for the murder of Dr. J. H. Ingram, 57-year-old American missionary by bandits two months ago, when the provincial government executed five Chinese convicted of the crime.

Dr. Ingram was shot to death in his summr bungalow outside Peiping as he sought to protect his wife and grandchildren from a band of robbers which entered the house late at night.

BRITISH SLOOP SINKS TANKER

Visiting Warship's Stern Swings in Current at Montreal Harbor.

CREW RESCUED.

MONTREAL, Aug. 13 (C.P.).—The British naval sloop, H.M.S. Dragon, struck the small oil-refuelling vessel Maplebranch and sent it to the bottom of the harbor here to-day. The crew of the Maplebranch all escaped.

The Dragon arrived here to-day from St. John's, Nfld., after carrying Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, British Prime Minister, there from Nova Scotia last week.

As the British war vessel prepared to berth in Victoria basin, she altered her course to avoid striking the small coast vessel Saguenay Trader, with the result that the current caught her stern and swung the vessel around. The Maplebranch was moored alongside the liner New Northland, and was struck amidships by the stern of the Dragon.

Tugs rushed to the rescue of the Maplebranch and started to tow her to the opposite side of the basin. The Maplebranch sank lower and lower as water rushed into her hold and tanks through the gash in her plates. The vessel finally sank to the bottom, leaving her top-deck and funnel above the surface of the water. Oil from her tanks appeared a thick film over the basin. The crew were taken off safely.

The Dragon was only slightly damaged, and was berthed near the scene of the mishap. No official statement on the accident was immediately available.

Fashion Service

The delightful model pictured shows a style which will serve you many a good turn for vacation. It looks very smart, worn with a white linen suit. You can match your accessories to your blouse, using brown grosgrain ribbon for the pert bow, as a basis for bringing out color harmony.

It's made in a jiffy! You'll be surprised at the small sum it will cost.

Crinkled organdie in navy blue and white check, yellow batiste striped in brown, delicate pastel ice-cream pink in crepe silk and eyelet batiste are other lovely suggestions for it.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Canning, preserving and jelly making are going on at this season of the year in every home where it is possible and practical to have home prepared foods. The cost of doing up the fruit or vegetables in their seasons is trifling compared with the price of commercial canned or home canned products bought after done up. The work of canning is not great, and results can be most satisfying. Be sure the fruits and vegetables are sound and in their prime for flavor is best then. Specked fruits can be made into jams if the bad parts are entirely cut away and only the good portions are used. As the fruits in jams are in small pieces, the irregular shapes which must result from cutting away parts of the fruit, will not be noticeable in the heavy rich syrup.

* * * * * *

The main difference between canned and preserved fruits is in the amount of sugar for each. Canned fruits can be put up without any sugar, but, if so, they have to have sugar added, when served. So, unless sugar is very high or if one is short of it at the time, it is wise to give it one of the ingredients at time of canning. For preserving sugar must be included in the cooking of the fruit, since the syrup must be heavy in preserved fruits.

* * * * * *

An old-time method of canning fruits is to make a light syrup and put the pared fruit into it and boil until tender but still firm. Remove to sterilized jars, packing them as closely as possible without breaking. Fill the jar to overflowing with the boiling hot syrup. Run a silver knife around inside close to the side of the jar to release air and seal air tight immediately. This is a method which takes a minimum of time, and is simplicity itself. Turn jars upside down, after wiping every vestige of liquid from them, and let them stand so for several hours or over night to see if the jars really are air tight. If not the jar which is leaky must have the contents scalded again and rebottled as described. It is important to have air released from jars as described, and to have them filled to overflowing before sealing.

* * * * * *

A good syrup in which to cook fruit is made of half as much sugar as water, brought to a boil before putting in the prepared fruit. Peaches and pears are generally halved. Sickle pears are canned whole. Another method is to weigh the prepared fruit and allow one-quarter as much sugar as fruit. Put the sugar with twice its quantity of water into the preserving kettle and bring to a boil. Follow directions as given for completing canning.

BE BEAUTIFUL

The radiant Kay Francis, who was recently described by a famous English artist as the most beautiful of America's screen stars, always uses two coats of a deep red polish on her nails' And instead of leaving the nail tips white, as is usually done, Kay often brings the polish out to the very edge of each nail. Of course, for someone as exotically lovely as Kay, that's perfectly all right. But for the average woman, white-rimmed fingernails are best. For that is the present accepted standard of nail beauty.

However, women who have very dry, brittle nails can derive a great deal of benefit from applying a liquid polish out to the tips of their nails. For such a polish, if heavy enough, helps to prevent the breaking, splitting and peeling that so often occurs when the nails are dry and brittle.

It is possible to do this, too, while still preserving the whiteness of the nail rims. The trick lies merely in employing two polishes—a colored polish and a colorless one. The colored polish should be applied first to the central part of each nail, but not over the tips or half-moons. And when this has dried, the colorless polish should be applied over each entire nail. In this way, the nail tip receives its coating of polish, and yet remains clear and white looking.

However, brittle nails also require corrective treatments. They are caused by excessive dryness and lack of proper nourishment when the nail is in the process of formation. Sometimes the cause of the dryness is due to internal conditions, and sometimes to external ones. If a woman's diet is deficient in fats, nail dryness may easily result. And so a woman thus afflicted should first add more of the fatty foods to her diet.

If the dryness of her nails is due to external conditions, she can make up the deficiency in lubrication by external means. A bit of warmed olive oil massaged into the base of each nail nightly will help. But I've found that the best remedy is soaking the fingertips nightly in a melted mixture of one ounce of lanolin, one ounce of sweet almond oil and four drams of spermacetti. This helps to nourish the nails and restore them to a normal condition.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Measurements

Sarah: A girl 18 years old, and four feet eleven inches tall, should weigh about 110 pounds. Her measurements should be: Bust 30 inches, waist 24 inches, hips 32 inches, thigh 14 inches calf 11 inches and ankle 7 1-2 inches.

Dandruff

Mrs. R. K.: My method of eradicating dandruff and of increasing the thickness and luxuriance of the hair is too long to print here. It is, however, contained in detail in my "Beauty Culture" booklet.

Eyelashes

Lucille: Daily brushing of the lashes with a small eyebrow brush will in time train them. Use a bit of vaseline or castor oil on the brush when doing the brushing, to give the lashes gloss and promote their growth.

DOWN ONE AT DOUBLE DUMMY

When a fairly good player goes down two tricks on the play of a hand, then goes down one trick after trying the play several times at double-dummy, the hand must be difficult, or impossible' North thought that his partner should in some way have been able to fulfill his contract of 4-hearts. The opening lead was the K of clubs. Then West shifted to the 2 of hearts. South is in with his 10. Try from there to see if you can win 9 more tricks, against any defence open to adversaries.

Bidding went: West, 1-club; North doubled; East, 2-clubs; North again doubled; South, 2-hearts; North, 3-hearts; South, 4-hearts, as he held something better than a bust and was not vulnerable.

South cannot afford to ruff 2 clubs in dummy. He must try to establish the long diamond suit, to obtain throw-offs. But first he must make certain of entry to dummy in spades.

Lead the J of spades. South went down because he persisted in leading low. If West puts up his Ace on the first lead, his best play is to ruff dummy. Have dummy win with the Q of hearts. Lead the K of hearts, leaving each opponent a single trump. Take 2 rounds of winning diamonds Ruff a diamond, thus clearing dummy's suit. Lead the ace of trumps, picking up all opposing hearts. South will win a single trick over his contract.

West's best defence is to play low on the J of spades. Lead a second spade. If West plays the Q, win with the K. Lead back a spade, to clear the suit. East will discard a diamond, to bother the declarer by ruffing the third round of that suit later on. West's best play is to make dummy ruff a club. Ruff with the Q, and lead the K of hearts, leaving each opponent with a single trump. Take 2 rounds of winning diamonds. East will ruff the third lead of diamonds. South must discard his last club. Whatever East does after that does not count. He will lead a club. South will ruff, pick up West's last trump and take his tenth trick with dummy's good spade.

West probably will refuse to win the first spade trick. Probably in actual play he will win the second round of spades with his ace. East's best defence is to ruff a third round of spades. In any event, South should go game.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

There are men all over the country who have exposed dishes of gelatin for a certain length of time in the open air every day through the year. Upon this gelatin there alight the little pollen grains of various plants. It is possible to calculate in this way the approximate concentration of pollen per cubic yard of air.

If you follow such a chart through the months of August and September, you will find that the total amount of pollen begins to rise about the 14th of August. In different years the chart shows some variation, but usually on the 24th or 25th of August the concentration of pollen is at its highest. It stays that way for several days. Then it drops rather sharply, but is still high, until about the 15th of September, when it reaches a fairly low level due to the autumn rains. There is still some pollen in the air, however, until about the 25th of September or 1st of October, or when the first frost comes in. This period corresponds to the hay fever season.

The increase in the pollen content of the air is due to the hay fever producing plants. These are mostly plants of the ragweed family.

The value of these charts to the hay fever victim is to show the time when he should take his vacation. If the hay feverite has a job and can take only a short vacation, he should plan to do so beginning about the 24th of August and staying as far into September as he can. In this way, he will avoid the worst of the pollen concentration. The first ten days in August are not so bad, nor are the last two weeks of September, provided he has had relief in mid-hay fever season.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

J. J.: "What causes hiccoughs in grown people, and what is the cure?"

Answer: Some hiccoughs are due to an infection of the brain, but this is rather rare. They are usually due to indigestible food in the stomach, and are an attempt by nature to pass this onward. Under ordinary circumstances they need no treatment and disappear by themselves. When severe and prolonged, however, they are very troublesome and often defy all treatment. It is occasionally necessary to put the patient under chloroform and even, in extreme cases, to cut the nerve going to the diaphragm.

Cobourg Launch Aids Sailing Yacht

COBOURG, Ont., Aug. 14.— (C. P.)—A sailing yacht which signalled for help early this morning some five miles down the lake from Cobourg, was unable to be reached by a motor boat which set out from Cobourg to their assistance owing to the lake being too rough. Upon assurances that everything would be all right, the rescue boat returned to Cobourg.

Those on board the Cobourg boat were unable to get close enough to attach a line and could not catch the name of the boat. It is believed that she lost her rudder. Charles Elliott's fishing launch was used to respond to the other craft's signals for help.

AVOIDING TAX SALES.

Although not disturbingly prominent, tax sales of local property have received more attention from the City Council this year than for a long time.

They signify the confiscation of the land and building of ratepayers who, in most instances because of the depression, find themselves unable to pay the annual taxes levied by the city.

Payment by instalment of current taxes is one form of consideration shown by the Council in enabling property owners to meet this liability, and delinquents who may be a year in arrears with their payments also receive other assisting arrangements by which they are encouraged to retain possession of the houses and homes they have acquired in more favorable circumstances than the depression of the last four years.

The city takes possession as a last resort, and because the Council would much prefer that ownership remain with the individual citizen a plan adopted by the city of Buffalo may be of local interest.

Buffalo's innovation provides for the collection of back taxes by instalment payments over a period of five years. Taxpayers wishing to avail themselves of this plan must file notice with the city treasurer before October 31. Sponsors of this method maintain that it will improve the morale of property owners whose taxes are in arrears, and also that, with the dread of foreclosure removed, current tax collections will be increased.

Erie County officials are working on a measure that will permit their treasurer to accept deposits of small sums until the full amount of current taxes is collected, when a receipt for payment will be issued. Several months ago the county began a drive for back taxes, and already 150 taxpayers who are in arrears two years or more are making payments on the instalment plan. There have been no signs of default, as arrangements have been based on the property owner's ability to pay.

Any expedient that will help the home owner, especially to finance his obligations to the community during this difficult period, should receive the careful attention of public administrators.

MR. LYON UNFETTERED.

If political interference is permitted to creep into the management of Ontario's Hydro-Electric utilities it will be entirely the fault of Stewart Lyon, the chairman of the commission, recently appointed by Premier Hepburn.

Mr. Lyon leaves no room for doubt of his complete authority as affirmed in a press interview.

"Premier Hepburn made it imperatively plain to me that I am to have an absolutely free hand in my Hydro job," Mr. Lyon said. "The only limitation was that Hydro and politics should be absolutely and endlessly divorced."

There is nothing equivocal in that forthright statement, which is supplemented by Mr. Lyon's comment that "Mr. Hepburn believed I would be animated by the same ambitions and ideals as that great public servant of Ontario, Sir Adam Beck."

Mr. Lyon also discloses the circumstances of his appointment, plainly implying that the office sought him. In the reports of numerous changes in the personnel of public employees since the Hepburn Government succeeded to provincial power there has been practically no information as to the procedure surrounding new appointments beyond Premier Hepburn's intimations that he had been besieged by job-hunters. Mr. Lyon told the reporter that up to the present he has seen Mr. Hepburn "only three times in my entire life." The first occasion was a casual introduction in Massey Hall, the night the Premier addressed a big Toronto audience toward the close of his campaign. A week after the election a friend told him that Mr. Hepburn wanted him to be a Hydro commissioner, and his second meeting was when Mr. Lyon was offered the appointment by the Premier. "And I have seen him only once since I took up my duties in this office."

Critics and opponents of the new administration and Mr. Lyon may not be convinced that his appointment as Hydro chairman was quite so informal as the statement declares, but it is the kind of inauguration every citizen should approve. Mr. Lyon states emphatically that he has been given full control of Hydro policies, and that his ideals of that service turn back to the Beck principle of developing power in Ontario for the municipalities using it, instead of buying it from private power sources on the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Rivers.

SABOTAGING A RAILWAY.

Japanese designs against Soviet Russia's influence in the Far East represent one of Moscow's major problems. Yesterday's cabled news that the Soviet press is preparing public opinion for grave happenings in that disputed area of unrest will not surprise those who have been following the increasing evidences of friction and antagonism between the banners of the Sickle and the Rising Sun.

Virtual control and possession of the Chinese Eastern Railway is a Japanese ambition that has become more imperative since she gained a predominant interest in the arbitrarily hewn state of Manchukuo, which the railway traverses for a long distance.

Ownership of the railway is in Russian hands, but management is directed by a joint Soviet-Manchukuo board. Russia has indicated a willingness to sell the railway, but has rejected the final terms offered by Japan. A recent press report from Moscow, alleging a persistent campaign of violence and sabotage calculated to persuade Russia to dispose of the line at a cheap price, estimates physical damage of more than $200,000 since the first of January.

The Russian manager enumerated the following depredations up to August 6:

Sixteen trains wrecked by planned damage to the tracks; 91 armed raids on railway stations and barracks; 116 railway employees arrested or captured; 9 bridges damaged; 48 murders, including 9 of railway agents; 102 persons injured, including 69 railway agents; 42 robberies of railway employees; 22 cases of arson of railway property; 21 locomotives and 207 coaches damaged.

Meanwhile the Soviet Republic has been pushing forward the double-tracking of her trans-Siberian railway, one result of which would be the facilitating of troop movements and other communications with western Russia. It was intimated some time ago that the Russians were concentrating one thousand airplanes at Khabarovsk, near the sea, of which four hundred are bombers.

Rear Admiral Stirling of the United States navy recently pointed out that Russia's seaport, Vladivostok, is only five hundred miles distant from Japan's industrial centres and within range of military planes from the Siberian mainland. This port, he says, is being isolated commercially by Japan's successful economic attacks on the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Expressing the opinion that Japan will not be satisfied until she has added the city and harbor of Vladivostok to her mainland territory, Admiral Stirling writes:

"That magnificent harbor is sorely needed in the Soviet plan for the industrialization of Eastern Siberia. At the present moment it is said to be practically denuded of shipping and the city itself is quietly sinking into decay. Japan, no doubt, still vividly remembers the menace of that port during her war with Russia when it harbored a few fast Russian cruisers that threatened Japan's troop movement to the Asiatic mainland, necessitating the weakening of her fleet by setting aside a division of armored cruisers to meet the threat."

Fear of war in the Orient occupied a prominent place in British comment yesterday, and the above acts of aggression, irritation and military concentration indicate some of the reasons for apprehension. If Soviet policy had sought friendlier relations with her western neighbors, Russia could bend more of her energies toward strengthening her Siberian positions against the menace of Japan without having to worry about the possibility of trouble on her European borders.

CHEESE EXPORTS DECLINE.

What has happened to Canada's exports of cheese to the market of the United Kingdom is clearly indicated in a statement of the Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa that during the first six months of the present year our shipments of cheese to that market actually fell to fifth place with only 30,842 cwt. being forwarded across the Atlantic.

In contrast with this, New Zealand remained in first place in the British market with 1,316,700, Australia being second with 97,050, the Netherlands third with 61,099 and Italy fourth with 50,938. Two years ago, for the corresponding period, Canada was in third place, coming behind New Zealand and Holland, and prior to the war Canada's supply of cheese to Great Britain was more than double that of New Zealand.

A further statement of the Bureau reports that during the year 1933 Canada's production of factory cheese experienced a further drop, totalling 111,044,628 pounds, a decrease from the preceding year of 9,479,615 pounds, or eight per cent. The total value of the cheese made was $11,113,918, a decrease of two per cent., the average factory price per pound having advanced from 9.46 cents in 1932 to 10.01 cents in 1933. On the other hand, the production of creamery butter in the Dominion rose to 218,532,207 pounds, an increase over the preceding year of two per cent.

It is evident that Canada is continuing to lose her grip upon the British cheese market, where once she was supreme, and if things continue at the present rate it will be only a matter of time before she has been swept off that market by the force of New Zealand's competition. — Brockville Recorder and Times.

FEWER FRENCH RECRUITS.

Beginning this year, the French army feels the effects of the four years of war. Instead of the 250,000 young men of military age who are called to the colors each year, there will only be about 160,000 per year for the next four years. When 1914 came and the war broke out the normally low French birth rate dropped to still lower numbers. The result of that declining volume of births is that from 1935 to 1939 the army will not have the regular number of newcomers to its ranks.

These are troubled years for France. With swords rattling on all sides, the people are nervous. They are not sure whether Germany intends to pick a quarrel or whether Italy will decide to draw swords with the French. With that state existing, it is natural the army leaders are anxious about the strength of the recruits.

It is possible France will extend the term of enlistment from one year to one year and a half or even two years. The Government will hesitate before doing that, as conscription is unpopular. Besides the Communists and Socialists will oppose any move to lengthen the army term.

The Government is caught between two fires. If it tries to make the recruits serve more than a year, the radicals will protest. If nothing is done and the army reduction is accepted, the large army supporters will object. And, as the Government is shaky and far from united, a nice problem has to be solved by Premier Doumergue before Parliament meets again in the autumn.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Hon. Duncan Marshall puts the economic situation in a nutshell when he points out that "the paradox of poverty amid plenty will not be solved by attempting to abolish the plenty."

If all the babies born in Canada could be assured as much care as that which is being lavished upon the Dionne quintuplets infant mortality would be a thing of the past in this country.

Of every dollar we pay in federal taxes, 60 cents of it goes to foot bills accumulated as a result of the Great War. Yet it seemed like a good idea 20 years ago!

However, these new high-speed divorces American wives are getting will probably turn out to be no better than the old-fashioned ones which took anywhere up to 20 minutes.

Hon. Peter Heenan has gone off for a holiday in a private car, Premier Hepburn explaining that "his is an exceptional case; he needs rest." If the Hon. Peter had had to fight that by-election, instead of getting an acclamation, he'd probably have needed two private cars.

Now that the sunburn season is here, perhaps that sound you hear at the bathing beaches is caused by the peeling of the belles.—Kitchener Record.

GERMANY.

Domestic Conditions Alarming.

PRICES for farm products have risen. Two conditions infinitely worse exist. Demand on the home market is weak. Drought has diminished, almost to the vanishing point, salable products. Social conditions under Hitler are worse than under the Republic.

The cities are in a plight. Workers have been given severe cuts in wages. If products on the market were plentiful and cheap, they would have very little with which to purchase. Business in every part of Germany is bad. There is not one bright business spot in the nation. Business gloom is everywhere. The workers are thoroughly discouraged. Germany has no food resources upon which to base a lengthened war. War would mean dismemberment. Bankruptcy would take the place of war-debt burdens.

The farmers are handicapped. Poor markets and drouth have wrought them havoc. The Nazis have handicapped them. The farmers have been compelled to hire extra and unnecessary help. How would you relish the experience of a Canadian Nazi walking into your home with a command to hire one or more men and telling you what wages to pay? Seven-tenths of the farmers are unable to pay any wages. For them the keep of the laborer is more than they can bear. But the command is, "Hire them. Pay them."

In a righteous cause people bear and are patient. Consent to bear wrongs is not human. Agrarian Germany has found its voice. The listeners are the dismissed and returned Storm Troopers. One million of them came from the farm. In their hearts they are still Toopers, though in citizen garb. They will refuse to serve again under the Nazi colors. For them the hour is a crisis. For Germany it is nothing less. The big land-holders are in peril. They have not been compelled to hire extra help!

Nazi women have been dissillusioned. The return of their husbands home without salary, and jobless, and disgraced by dismissal, has changed their viewpoint. Once they rejoiced. They do so no more. Once they rejoiced over the slain Jews, and pacificists and Marxists. But now! It is their own sons who have been murdered, or have been imprisoned. To be in the ranks of the persecuted and the scorned is different. The true nature of the Dictatorship is now evident. Hitherto it has been hidden. Victorious hymns, and marches, and patriotic fervor concealed. It is now revealed in all its hideous barbarity. The voice of the world, in condemnation of the paganism extolled by Hitler and his followers, was not heard by the German proletariat. The masses of the German people were kept in ignorance of the adverse sentiment of the world. All foreign literature was censored by Nazi officials.

All is changed. Mothers' outraged feelings are the condemnation now. Their bereavement adds to their denunciation. Imagine the mother's rage because her son was murdered by the very cause to which she as a patriot had consecrated him. To her no satisfactory explanation can ever be given by Hitler or Goebbels.

Catholicism is strong in Germany. The Catholic Action Society leader in Berlin was slain by Nazis. Many priests have been slaughtered. The news of the killings have been kept from the civilized world. All the facts are not out. Time will uncover the extent of the Nazi atrocities. Dr. Bost, head of the secret police of the Rhineland, let a confidential report fall into the hands of the Catholic underground movement. It is of recent date. What he says is significant.

The report contains these terse sentences: The fight in the Rhineland against critics and grumblers is lost. Never before have so many people gone to the churches. In some places the attendance has been trebled. This is not due to increased piety, but to the fact that opposition elements have found the church a relatively safe center for meeting.

Strasser! Have you read about Strasser? Well, he is an exile in Prague. As Victor Hugo was as active in exile as in freedom so is Strasser. He is the originator of a new brand of Socialism. The Strasser Socialism is isolated from all international connections. This isolated Socialism just fits the mood of the Germans. Germany feels herself isolated from all the rest of the world. Then, Strasser as an exile is in isolation. The evolution of the type of Socialism adopted by Strasser is almost logical. The idea has won many adherents. The followers are known as Strasser's Black Front. So secret are their gatherings, and so well guarded are their secrets even the spy system of Hitler has utterly failed to ferret them out.

Hitler has failed. His barbaric treatment of those who thought not as did he has broken the confidence of the people in his leadership. Distrust has displaced hope and faith. He is a defeated Dictator. The ranks of his enemies have been increased. Their opposition has been strengthened. Abroad in the world "Nazi" is a term of reproach. As a missionary movement it has lost momentum. The fire on the altar has died down to cold ashes. The anthems sung in his praise have lost their inspiration. The Swastika cross is relegated to the pagan past. Instead of cheers Hitler will become the object of jeers. His day is nearly over. Should he start a war the whole civilized world will be arrayed against him. The Presidency will not save him.

FORT FRANCES, ONTARIO

This pretty town, situated in a riot of scenic grandeur just opposite International Falls, Minn., owes its name to the Hudson's Bay Co. On taking over the North-West Trading Co.'s headquarters at the outlet of Rainy Lake, below the Koochiching Falls, they renamed the trading post Fort Frances, in honor of Lady Frances Simpson, wife of the then governor of the Hudson's Bay Co., and one of the most important figures in all the north-west.

A Thought

PRINCIPLES

The principles that are now implanted in thy bosom will grow, and one day reach maturity, and in that maturity thou wilt find thy heaven or thy hell. Nothing so momentous as principles. As sure as August shows the work of the farmer so sure thy faturity will show the principles thou are cultigating now.—Dr. Thomas.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

"AND HOW ARE THE CHILDRENT"

I heard a mother complaining, "I never go anywhere without having people come up to me and say, 'And how are the children?' I don't know why they do it, but they always do. They seem to think I'll feel hurt if they don't ask how my children are. They are not really interested, and I don't expect them to be interested. They're my children, not theirs. I love them, but I don't expect other people to love them . . . I wish I could make people understand that when I'm out for the evening. I want to forget my children and not even talk about them. Why can't they remember that mothers are people, just like everybody else?"

Well, it's just a habit. It's just one of those old customs that decline to die out.

And some mothers ARE offended if you forget to ask them about their children. For them, their children are the most important creatures in the world to everybody. I knew of one woman who went so far, even before her baby was born, that she'd demand, "Why don't you ask me how the baby is?"

And I knew another who was afraid to leave the house in the evening to go to a theatre, even after her children were 10 and 12 years old, and even though other adults were with them. She was in a flutter of fear all the time she was away and made everybody with her as unhappy as herself.

But the majority of modern mothers have more sense. They understand their children deeply. They love them, they find them fascinating and they are glad they have them. But they know that, after all, children are only half-ripe and not as completely fulfilling as adults.

So, when those mothers are with other adults, they wish to be treated as complete adults, too, not just as mothers who have children at home, not just as the older half of a biological relationship. They insist on being accepted as PEOPLE and they feel that this continual reminder of their children at home is, in its way, a condescending insult.

I don't blame the mother who does not want to be asked, "And how are the children?" in that smooth, silly way. If I were a mother I'd blow up, too, and I wouldn't get my remarks out of any book of etiquette, either.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A NAVAL HEROINE OF THE LAKES.

On this date, in 1814, the good ship Nancy was blown up in Georgian Bay to avoid capture by Americans. She was no baby that Nancy, for she had been launched at Detroit by John Richardson, the great Montreal merchant, November 24, 1789. She made her maiden voyage in the spring of 1790 from Detroit to Fort Erie, whence she sailed upward in June with a full cargo for the Grand Portage at Sault Ste. Marie. By 1793 the Nancy had become the property of the George Leith Company, but sometime before the end of the century she passed into the possession of the North West Company by whom she was employed on Lakes Erie, Huron and Michigan, where she won the reputation of being one of the smartest and quickest sailing boats on the lakes.

When the war broke out in 1812 she was at anchor at Moy, opposite Detroit, and was taken down under the protection of Fort Amherstburg' Then she was impressed as a transport for men, arms and provisions and was not a combatant. But in 1814 she was the only British vessel left on Lake Huron. Anchored in Nottawasaga Bay, she was attacked by three American gunboats, with 24 pieces of cannon and 300 men, while the defenders numbered only twenty who had only three guns'

Rather than surrender, the defenders blew up both blockhouse and vessel, and she lay in the mud until a few years ago when she was rescued to be now an exhibit of British prowess to holiday visitors to Wasaga Beach.

(For further details of the Nancy read "The Story of The Nancy," by C. H. J. Snider.) Her owners did not suffer financially, for they were paid 2,200 pounds compensation for her loss, as well as 1,243 pounds for her sevrices from 1812 to her destruction.

MISSION LECTURE GIVEN IN MARMORA

Rev. F. W. Story Tells of Races in South America—Slides Added.

MARMORA, Aug. 14.—(Examiner Correspondence.) — Rev. F. W. E. Story, returned missionary from South America, gave an intensely interesting lecture on the Argentine and other parts of South America before a good sized gathering in the United church on Monday evening. The lecture was profusely illustrated with an excellent series of slides.

With a quick delivery and arresting style, the lecturer visualised for his listeners the heathenism of the races in South America's interior and also drew a contract between pagain ideas of living and godlessness in our own civilised lands. A collection on behalf of the Auxiliary to missions in South Ame rica was taken at the close.

W.A. Presents Quilt To Minister and Wife

OWENBROOK, Aug. 14.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The W.A. of St. Andrew's Church held a very successful picnic on the Rosebush flats at Owenbrook on Wednesday. Dinner and supper were served under the trees, and the large number of young people present had a glorious time on the merry-go-round, erected by George Robson. The refreshment booth was well patronized, netting about $25. During the afternoon an autograph quilt upon which nearly 300 names were worked was presented to Rev. C. A. G. Spence and Mrs. Spence by Mrs. George Robson, on behalf of the W.A., as a mark of esteem. The quilt was the work of the members. The picnic entailed a lot of hard work which was cheerfully accomplished by the ladies and well deserved the success attained. In the evening moving pictures were exhibited by the rector in Mr. Shepherd's barn and attracted quite a crowd who found accommodation in the mow.

Volunteers were called out to fight fire on Sunday located on the huckleberry plains east of Methuen. Reports as to the extent and seriousness of the fire are not to hand, but a second call was sent out about noon for further help.

Men are also fighting a bush fire a few miles south-west of Apsley, somewhere in the vicinity of Long Lake.

BUSY SESSION AT WARSAW W.I.

Mrs. H. Clement Reports on Relief, Mrs. A. Payne on District Annual.

$2 GIVEN ON SCOLARSHIP.

WARSAW, Aug. 14.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The August meeting of the Warsaw W.I. was held in the Institute rooms on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Anderson presiding.

It was voted upon and carried that Mrs. David Miller, the honorary president with power to vote, also that Mrs. Elsie Thompson be appointed secretary-treasurer until her mother, Mrs. R. Moore, can return. At present no bills can be paid as there is no one who can withdraw money from the bank.

Mrs. Henry Clements read the relief report. A sick woman was supplied a nurse, supplies were sent; some children were outfitted for Sunday School; a mother who could sew was given material to make a dress for daughter; several dresses had been given where needed; blouses, trousers, and other garments had been made; all supplies had been donated, except of course the shoes and stockings and groceries. The place of buying and price paid for what must be purchased was left to Mrs. Clement's discretion. A letter was read from Mr. Sloan thanking the ladies for the $21 donated to clear the debt on the rink.

The roll call, birthdays was answered by all. No two were the same.

Mrs. Arthur Payne gave a splendid report of the district annual held at Hall's Bridge.

Two dollars is to be given Mrs. Weller, district secretary, as Warsaw's share in the scholarship, which entitle the girl, Miss Ethel Blakely, who came best at the judging, to two weeks at Guelph.

Mrs. David Miller gave the current events, Canada's four hundredth anniversary, Toronto's one hundredth, Great War's twentieth, ex-service men's re-union, conflict between Jews and Arabs in Algeria, death of Von Hindenburg, Iroquois priest saying mass at the graves of the murdered Jesuit missionaries, beer in Ontario, meeting of country women of the world in London, successful emigration from England to Australia, and clean films.

Next meeting will be Grandparents' Day and roll call will be grandmother's maiden names.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 87c to 92c; oats, 35c to 36c; barley, 50c to 53c; corn 80c to 82c; rye, 55c to 57c; buckwheat, 60c to 62c.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Right-about-face reversal of statements that the Washington Administration 1935 crop curtailment plans would be abandoned gave impetus to brisk rallies of grain values yesterday.

The rallies lifted wheat more than 3 cents a bushel after early breaks of about 2 cents had carried quotations down to 9 cents below recent top points. Profit-taking on bulges, however, caused some reaction at the last from the day's best figures.

Wheat closed irregular, ¼c off to ¼c up, compared with Saturday's finish, corn at ⅝c decline to ¼c advance, oats ¼c to 1⅛c down, and provisions showing a rise of 25 to 32 cents.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Egg prices were firmer on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday while prices of other commodities were generally steady.

On the butter market fresh No. 1 in cartons or less brought 18½c a pound, unchanged, small lots to retailers were quoted at 20c a pound for solids and 21c for prints. Receipts totalled 526 boxes.

Cheese prices tended higher, Ontario colored being 10¼c a pound against 10c to 10¼c a pound last week, while Quebec cheese was 2¾c a pound in comparison with 9¾c to 9¾c a pound at the end of last week. Receipts were 615 boxes.

Egg prices were higher, particularly the top grades. Graded shipments in less than cariots of Ontario eggs were 23½c to 24½c a dozen for A-large, up 1 cent; 21½c to 22½c for A-medium. 19c to 19½c for B and 18½c to 19c for C. Western eggs, in cariots or less, brought 21½c to 22c a dozen for A-large, up ½c.; 20½c to 21c for A-medium, up 1 cent; 19c to 19½c for B, up ¼ cent., and 18c to 18½c for C, up ¼ cent. Arrivals totalled 1,589 cases.

New Quebec potatoes were unchanged in price, being 55c to 60c per 80-pound bag of No. 1 grade.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Wheat yesterday regained some of the ground lost in Saturday's panicky selling and closed 1 to 1¼ cents on the upside. Heavy buying for export account brought about the advance, although final figures were cut down 1¼ to 2 cents from top levels by a late selling movement.

October wheat wound up at 88¼, Dec. at 89½ and May wheat at 93⅝ to 93½ cents. Foreign demand was credited with the disappearance of about 1,000,000 bushels of the Canadian wheat surplus.

Saturday's plunge appears to have shaken out the weak holders, and despite weakness at Chicago annd Liverpool the Winnipeg market advanced from the start. Trading was light in comparison with the previous market to-day. Eastern and Southern buying augmented the export support.

Liverpool wheat broke 2⅝ to 3¼d Buenos Aires was off two cents and Chicago was about unchanged.

Cash grains were in good demand; coarse grains firmed.

DOMESTICS HOLD UP.

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (CP).—The industrial share market was unable to get going today in either direction and the result was an irregular close on a small day's turnover. Interlisted shares recorded more losses than domestic listings, due to New York's generally soft tone. Nickel, Brazilian, C. P. R., Ford "A" and Smelters all closed on the down side.

FAMILY RE-UNION HELD ON SATURDAY

Descendants of the Late Sam Black Gather at Harwood Resort.

WARKWORTH, Aug. 14. —(Examiner Correspondence). — The sixth annual re-union of the descendents of the late Samuel Black and his wife, the late Mary Sherwin, daughter of John Sherwin and Ann Turner, Harwood, was held at Cobourg, Saturday, August 11th.

Mr Black came to Canada eighty five years ago from Rasharkin Co., Antrim, Ireland. Both Mr. and Mrs. Black spent all their married life in Northumberland County, the last few years of which they spent in Warkworth where they died. Mrs. W. J. Harper, Warkworth; Mrs. O. Alger, Oshawa; Rev. J. A. Black, Mallorytown; J. H. Black, Warkworth; and Mrs. C. L. Cryderman, Toronto, are the five surviving members of a family of eight.

One one hundred and seventy were present and each enjoyed a pleasant time.

The oldest lady present was Mrs. Joseph Jibb, Fenella and the youngest child present was Edwin Harper, 17 days.

A fine programme of sports was carried out after dinner which was enjoyed.

After supper O. M. Alger, Oshawa, president, called the gathering to order for business. Mrs. W. J. Harper was requested to prepare the history of the family to be used at the next re-union.

The officers elected were:

President—O. M. Alger, Oshawa.
Vice President—Hugh Sherwin, Fenella.
Secretary-Treasurer — Mrs. C. A. Wolfraim, Castleton.

Committee— Leslie Turner, Peterborough; Annie Fleming, Belleville; J. H. Black, Warkworth; C. L. Cryderman, Toronto; Norman Sherwin, Roseneath; Margaret Sykes, Bowmanville; Wesley Sherwin, Cobourg; Rev. J. A. Black, Mallorytown and William Jibb, Camborne.

A vote of thanks was tendered the officers for the splendid success of the gathering and also to Mrs. C. L. Cryderman, who donated the prizes.

The singing of 'For they are jolly good fellows brought to a close the picnic.

Come Up, Hepburn Invites Buchanan

TORONTO, Aug. 14. —(C. P.). — Premier M. F. Hepburn to-day invited J. Verne Buchanan, Ingersoll Liberal, to come to his office to discuss the Premier's platform charge that Buchanan had received $3,600 a year and expenses from a Hydro "slush fund" to attack Mr. Hepburn's criticism of Hydro.

Earlier to-day Mr. Buchanan announced his intention of registering at the King Edward Hotel here and warned Premier Hepburn that he would begin suit for libel if he did not come down to the hotel and talk it over.

"He is welcome to come to my office," Mr. Hepburn announced.

SPOILED HOLIDAY

BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 14 (CP) —Losing her purse containing her bank book, $100 and some papers, Miss Viola Brulacher, Kitchener, had her trip from her home city to Alberta, where she would attend a religious convention, rudely halted.

turn to the city this morning, but as yet he has not been seen, and officials of the Chesterfield and Furniture Worker's Union, which organization Minster formed at the time of the Furniture Workers strike last fall, are reticent about answering questions.

It is believed, however, that before the day is out informations will be laid against one or more citizens who participated in yesterday's gathering, where Minster was scooped into an automobile, rushed to the local Legion headquarters, told that he must leave the city and not return and then taken to the outskirts of the city and placed aboard a bus bound for Kitchener.

Claim Police Lax

The Chesterfield Union officials, it is said claim the police were lax in not making arrests at the scene of activity yesterday and reports are that they have forwarded a telegram to Attorney General Rosbuck, demanding that the actions of the local police be investigated.

Chief of Police R. J. Beatty, announced this morning that should Minster return to the city and request police protection it will be afforded him.

ROGERS-MAJESTIC SALES SHOW BIG IMPROVEMENT

Sales of Rogers-Majestic Corporation Ltd. for the month of July 1934 show an improvement of 388% over the same month of last year and for the first four months of the company's current fiscal year—to July 31, 1934—a betterment of 244% over the same period of last year is reported.

Unfilled orders, reported by Rogers-Majestic, at the end of July totalled 10,667 sets as compared with none at the end of July 1933. The company's sales plus unfilled orders in the first four months of its current fiscal year are equivalent to the business done from April 1, 1933 to January 1, 1934. In other words the company has done as much business in four months this year as it did in nine months last year. The improvement amounts to STORAGE BASIN.

WINDSOR, Aug. 14. —(C. P.)— Proposal that a half-million gallon water storage basin be constructed as one unemployment relief measure here was made to-day by the Water Commission. This would serve to equalize pressure during peak-load hours and would be located near the outskirts of the city.

SANDY GAINS SECOND ROUND CANADIAN OPEN

Somerville is Victor in Nip and Tuck Battle With Logan of Montreal.

SPOTTY EARLY GOLF.

Ray Nies, Jack Munger, Jesse Guilford Among U.S. Players to Advance.

(By J. F. Sanderson, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 14 (CP)—Sandy Somerville of London, Ontario, whose broad shoulders have worn the mantle of the Canadian amateur golf title four times and the American once, advanced to the second round of the Dominion tournament here to-day after a nip-and-tuck battle with Frank Logan of Montreal.

Somerville, one of the hot favorites for the Canadian title, played spotty golf to make the turn all square and win 2 and 1. He was far off his game and would have been eliminated if Logan had not missed one, two and three foot putts consistently.

Some idea of the spottiness of Somerville's game may be judged by the fact he took 42 strokes for the first nine.

Jesse Guildford, the Boston siege gun, winner of the United States amateur in 1921, was carried to the last green by young Rolland Brault of Montreal.

Arthur "Ducky" Yates of Oak Hills, N.Y., defaulted his first-round match to-day, cutting down the invasion from the United States. Among the United States players who advanced early were Ray Nies, Beverly, Mass.; Jack Munger, Dallas, Texas, and Guilford.

Among the early Canadian victors were Colin Rankin, Montreal, who knocked off Dick Moore, Vancouver; and Don Carrick of Toronto.

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 14. — (CP) — Sandy Somerville of London, Ont., one of the hot favorites for the Canadian Amateur title, made a shaky start here today in the first round of the tournament. Blessed by Lady Luck, he retrieved his game before any damage was done and was all square at the turn.

Frank Logan of Senneville, Montreal, practically unknown outside club circles, had the four-times winner of the Canadian title one down at the fourth and would have had a larger lead with any luck. At the third, the tall, fair-haired Logan obligingly sank Somerville's ball to give him the hole. Logan was on the Green with his second, Somerville in three. Logan putted two feet short, Somerville four inches away. The Montreal man's fifth shot hit Somerville's ball, dropped it into the yawning cup and careened three or four inches away. It was Somerville's hole. On the fifth, Logan missed a two-footer to let Somerville square the match and at the sixth he missed a 12-inch put to go one down.

Somerville laid a partial stymie at the seventh to win it and go two up. But Somerville was playing erratic golf and might have been four or five holes down if his opponent had been clicking. Logan won the eighth and ninth to square the match.

There were no early upsets. Don Carrick of Toronto, Canadian titleholder in 1926 and 1927 had no difficulty winning from a young Montrealer, David Schwob, 5 and 4.

Carrick, whose play has been erratic this year, had his game working well.

The first American to advance was Ray Nies of Boston, brother of the more famous Johnny, who defeated Jacques Archambault of Laval, 3 and 2.

Jack Munger, semifinalist in the United States amateur last year won handily over A. C. Bethune, Royal Ottawa, three and two.

Another Ottawan, Mel Rogers the noted figure skater, defeated Rene Mongeau, young Montrealer, 4 and 3.

Jack Cameron breezed in with a 5 and 4 victory over Jay Ronald, another young Montreal man.

REMANDED.

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (C.P.). — Fred W. Hastings, held as a material witness in the alleged conspiracy to kidnap James F. McLean, to-day was remanded in police court to August 21 on a charge of forgery.

DOING WELL.

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 14. — (C. P.). — Four of the 78-day-old Dionne quintuplets gained in weight to-day to record an aggregate increase of 3½ ounces and bring their combined weight to 25 pounds, 8¼ ounces.

Skeptics

OGDEN, Utah, Aug. 14.—(C P)—It cost Charles Santillion and John Tafoya $5 each because they refused to believe Enoch Bingham's announcement that he is sleeping in his water-melon patch. The $5 fine was imposed in city court.

SOMETHING WAS BEING HELD BACK

pany, another subsidiary, bought 35,000 horsepower from the Hydro.

He thought something was being held back and was not "dealing with all the cards on the table."

E. G. Long, K. C., prominent Toronto Corporation lawyer was first witness called at the re-opening of the probe.

He said he had been retained by Alexander Smith, former President of the Ontario Power Corporation on June 12, 1932.

When A. C. Slaght, K. C., Commission counsel, questioned him regarding the nature of his service to Mr. Smith, Mr. Long claimed the privilege of not disclosing transactions between solicitor and client. Mr. Chief Justice F. R. Latchford, one of the Commissioners, upheld this claim.

Answering Mr. Slaght further, Mr. Long said he had met Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and had gone with him and W. H. Gundy to the legislative buildings. Mr. Meighen had gone into the office of the Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General and Acting Premier, while he and Mr. Gundy waited outside. This was on June 22, 1932.

"May I take it that you were representing Mr. Smith and the Ontario Power Service Corporation and Mr. Gundy was representing certain bondholders of the company?" asked Mr. Slaght.

"Mr. Gundy or his house had been identified with the sale of the bonds," said Mr. Long.

He said he knew of no reason why Mr. Meighen alone should have interviewed Mr. Price while he and Mr. Gundy waited outside.

A letter from C. A. Magrath, former chairman of the Hydro Commission, to former Premier G. Howard Ferguson, dated March 1, 1929, was produced by J. D. Law, a Hydro clerk. It outlined the reasons for and the plans concerning the extensions of the Hydor Commission's activities into Northern Ontario.

Chief Engineer.

R. T. Jeffrey, chief municipal engineer of the Hydro Commission, was another witness called. He was questioned by J. C. McRuer, K.C., counsel for Hydro Commission.

As member of the Engineer's Executive committee of the Hydro and for a time its chairman, Mr. Jeffrey said he had to do with the drawing up of plans for supplying Hydro power in Northern Ontario. A study had been made of the available power sites in the north, both on the Upper Ottawa and elsewhere.

"The plan was," said Mr. McRuer, "to develop the northern power sites in stages and to use the surplus power in the Niagara system."

"Yes, eventually," said Mr. Jeffrey. At that time, in 1930, the Hydro had application from mining companies in and around Sudbury. Mr. McRuer referred to a report drawn up by Mr. Jeffrey on the various sources of power, finding the Mississauga power site the most economical source of power for the Sudbury area.

This was because the Ottawa river sites needed large developments. Abitibi power had to be taken in large blocks but the power on the Mississauga river could be developed in stages and it was needed and as the demand increased.

A later report repeated this opinion. Development of the Mississauga, he said, would have been a part of a general plan mapped out for power developments in Northern Ontario.

"Can you tell me what happened between Jan. 27 and April 11, 1930, when there was a complete change and a decision made to bring power down from Abitibi?" asked Mr. McRuer.

Smith Made Several Visits.

He said Alexander Smith had made several visits to the commission and he knew Mr. Smith was submitting propositions to the commission for sale of power. These propositions, he said, were not submitted to the engineering board for study and comparison with the Mississauga plan. The engineer learned of the terms later on.

A report signed by Mr. Jeffrey dated April 9, 1930, was read by Mr. Mcruer this report said negotiations had been completed with the Hudson Bay Power Company, predecessor to the Ontario Power Service Corporation. It also recommended purchase of 100,000 horsepower from this company at $13 per horsepower.

At this point, Mr. Jeffrey said he wished to make an explanation. Up until April 1, 1930, al departmental reports to the Hydro Commission had been signed by F. A. Gaby, chief engineer, although prepared by other officials. At that time a change in procedure was made and the heads of the departments signed reports themselves though they might not always agree with their contents.

This report, said Mr. Jeffrey, was signed by him on instruction from Mr. Gaby, and did not represent his personal views.

"The studies I had made," he said, "led me to believe the most economical development was the Mississaugs. Just why the shift was made to Abitibi I did not know. It was not my duty to inquire. This was a Government matter as the Commission was only to handle the power as an agent for the Government as was the rule with Northern properties.

"So I presumed there was reasons for the change of which I was not aware."

"Did you ask the reasons?" asked Mr. Mcruer.

"No I did not consider it my business."

In reply to Commissioner Smith, Mr. Jeffrey said the report was really Mr. Gaby's and not his own.

No contract between the Hydro Commission and the Abitibi Power was signed until Jan. 6, 1932, said Mr. Jeffrey. He was at a loss to understand the reason for this as the comupany had agreed to sign a contract and the contract was a key one in a series of contracts respecting power hookups.

In the year between October 1, 1931, and October, 1, 1932, the Hydro Commission had paid the Abitibi Company for 25,000 horsepower from its Island Falls plant at $13 per horse power. Of this only 14,000 horsepower was used by the International Nickel Company, although the company paid for 18,000.

No Definite Trend Evident in Toronto Mining, Gains and Losses About Even.

PRICE CHANGES SMALL.

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (CP).—The mining section of the Toronto Exchange developed no definite trend in today's session, the market closing with as many losses as gains showing. Price changes at the close were small. Volume was thin through the early part of the day, but picked up a little in the last two hours, the secondary golds figuring mainly in the flow of transactions.

MRS. VAN HORNE KILLED IN CRASH

Auto Plunges Down Bank as Victim is Returning From Dance.

MISSED CURVE IN FOG.

ST. STEPHEN, N.B., Aug. 14 (C. P.) — Mrs. W. C. Van Horne of Montreal and Toronto died in hospital here to-day. Her skull was fractured when her automobile rolled down an embankment into a creek four miles from here early this morning as she was driving from St. Stephen to "Covenhoven," the Van Horne summer estate at St. Andrews By-The-Sea.

Mrs. Van Horne, who before her marriage in 1926 was Miss Edythe Audrey Fraser of Montreal was returning from a dance in St. Stephen, a heavy ground mist obscured the road and hid a sharp curve in the highway. Mrs. Van Horne's car hurtled off the road and plunged down a 20-foot embankment, turning over several times before it crashed into the rocky bed of a small creek.

Occupants of a farmhouse nearby heard the crash and rushed to the aid of Mrs. Van Horne, pulling her from the wreckage and rushing her to hospital here in their own car. Mrs. Van Horne died shortly after her admittance to hospital.

Miss Peggy Fraser, sister of Mrs. Van Horne, was also at the dance here last night, but preceded her sister in another car on the journey home to St. Andrews where they were guests of Miss A. Van Horne.

MILWAUKEE FAMILY SUSPECT RELATIONSHIP WITH DIONNE'S

Point Out Twins Have Blossomed on Several Branches of U.S. Group.

PLAN TO WRITE.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 14.—(AP)—"We think we're related, but now we're going to find out for sure," is the answer the Emanuel Dionnes of Milwaukee give to curious neighbors wondering about a connection between them and the famous quintuplets of Callander, Ont.

The Milwaukee Dionnes' family record seems to point to some possible link as twins have blossomed on several branches of the family tree.

William Dionne, who settled in Marinette, Wis., from the same section of Canada now made famous by the baby quintuplets, had 12 children and one set of twins. His father, William had 21 children and two sets of twins. Emanuel is a son of the younger William.

"We thought we'd write them," said Mrs. Dionne when asked whether she had inquired as to possible kinship with the Canadian Dionne's. "And then, there was so much publicity we thought we'd wait. Now we are anxious to know definitely. We're going to write."

The family explained a brother of William Dionne, the father of the 12, is Joseph, of Duck Creek, Wis. He has 10 children, two of them twins. Israel Dionne, one of William's 12, had 17 children including two sets of girl twins and one of Israel's daughters, Mrs. William Moore of Marinette, had twins but they now are dead. Israel lives at Wales, Wis.

Clarence, another of the 12, who lives at Menominee, Mich., has 10 children including one set of twins.

SEASON OPENS IN CHURCHILL

Two Freighters Arrive Almost Together for First Grain Cargoes.

ALL TOWN TURNS OUT.

CHURCHILL, Man., Aug. 14. — (C.P.).—Canada's most northerly seaport was in holiday attire today. Flags were flying and streamers fluttered from every place of prominence along the huge 1,800-foot wharf. The advance guard of the 1934 grain fleet was in. Trimmers, men skilled in the distribution of grain into ships' holds, were ready to load the season's first shipment of wheat for world markets.

Tied securely to the dock and gaily decorated with flags and bunting, the steamship Dalworth, commanded by Capt. J. G. Graves, won the honors that go to the first vessel to enter port. The entire town turned out last night to witness the arrival of the big freighter as it nosed into the harbor 300 yards ahead of the Rio Clara.

Dredges and tugs screamed their welcome and in answer the Dalworth and Rio whistled their reply as the flag of Canada was hoisted to their mastheads.

The spacious harbor was a blaze of light as the tug Graham Bell steamed slowly out to guide them to their wharf position.

The loading of the Dalworth started early to-day and Captain Graves hopes to put to sea for his return trip to Europe by the end of the week. The Rio Clara anchored in the outer harbor last night and docked this morning. It is expected the small ship will be ready to sail with the Dalworth on the outward journey.

Following closely in the wake of the first two vessels, the S.S. Brandon and S.S. Grelhead are expected to arrive to-day; and a fifth boat, the S.S. Thomas Walton, was due to reach port Wednesday morning.

Four States Ballot Primary Elections

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. — (A. P.). — Primary elections were held in four states to-day, ending campaigns marked with bitter words and the threat of Senatorial investigations.

The sharpest contests lay in Idaho and Arkansas.

The Ohio primary had a three-cornered scrap for the Democractic Senatorial nomination as its focal point. Gov. George White, former governer, Vic Donahey and rep. C. West all sought nominaton in a fight embracing all factions of the party. United States Senator Robert J. Bulkley, supporting West, charged Gov. White with buying support with higway jobs and threatened a senatorial investigation if White were nominated.

The Republican Senatorial race found Senator Simeon D. Fess, Gov. stalwart, opposed by four condidiates.

For Governor the Republicans had seven candidates in the ring and the Democrats three.

WHEAT FARMER STILL NEEDS AID

Andrew Cairns of Canada, Secretary of the World Wheat Commission, said he found France, Yugoslavia and Hungary especially will have a larger carryover than anticipated earlier.

The first problem to be tackled by the conference, at which 15 countries are represepted, is acreage reduction.

It was learned that Canadian, American and Australian delegates, who held preliminary meetings yesterday, want to maintain reductions already effected during the past year and also to bring European countries into the scheme.

At least a 16 per cent reduction by each of the four big producers—and reductions of from 10 to 15 per cent by various European countries is desired.

The "Big Four" are Canada, the United States, Australia and Argentina.

May Extend Pact

If an agreement can be reached delegates expect it to lead to an extention of the International Wheat Pact signed by 21 countries last Fall. The pact ends July 31, 1935, but any acreage reductions next year would affect crops marketed during 1935-36.

Delegates indicated the question of extension of the Wheat Pact probably would be taken up before the subject of export quotas. There are strong indications the United States will be satisfied with a quota of about 35,000,000 bushels, although it was tentatively granted 84,000,000 bushels for the second year.

In this connection it was pointed out that the drought has drastically changed the world wheat situation.

The attitude of American, Canadian and Australian delegates toward an Argentine demand for a quota of 150,000,000 bushels, it was learned, will depend upon what Argentina does regarding acreage reduction.

would not be in the best interests of the commission or its employes.

It was announced at that time Mr. Cooke had submitted his resignation as chairman to Hon. George S. Henry, then premier. This was not accepted, however, and he remained chairman till the appointment was revoked by the incoming Hepburn government after the Liberal sweep on June 19.

A few days later the salaries of 50 members of the Hydro staff became a matter of public information when they were given notice of dismissal with provision in most cases for possible re-employment on a new basis.

Mr. Cooke was later called as a witness before the Royal Commission investigating the sale of the Abitibi Power properties to the Ontario Hydro Commission.

Farmer By Vocation.

John Robert Cooke was a farmer by vocation. He was born Sept. 1, 1866, in Rawdon Township, Hastings County, which he called 'home' all his life. Son of James and Margaret Duggan Cooke, both of Irish stock, he was educated in the public schools of the district.

Mr. Cocke was elected Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for North Hastings in 1911 and represented that constituency in the Provincial House till last June when he retired. His general popularity and the confidence of his constituents were reflected in the fact during his 23 years' service in the assembly he was four times elected by acclamation.

He was appointed member without portfolio of the Ontario Cabinet in July, 1923, and became a member of the Hydro Commission the same year. He was made chairman in 1931.

In his earlier public life Mr. Cooke served as a member of the Rawdon Township Council and was elected Reeve in 1910.

In 1888 he married Emma Wickens, daughter of William Wickens of Ivanhoe. He was a member of the Masonic and Orange fraternities and the Church of England.

Mr. Cooke is survived by his wife; one brother, W. H. Cooke of Bannerman, Man.; two sisters, Mrs. Henry Eggleton of Runefield, Man., and Mrs. Margaret Lloyd of Melita, Man.

No inquest will be held into the death. The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 1.30 p.m. from the Cooke residence on the 8th Concession of Rawdon.

A WAY HOME.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 14. — (C. P.). — Mrs. Charles Christnacht, a war bride, confessed in court that she stole a pair of shoes because she was home sick. She hoped the government would deport her as a criminal.

STREET FAIR PLANS MADE

Campbellford Rotary Club Appoint Convenors for Coming Annual Event.

CHILD CLINIC.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 14—With no speaker featured at the weekly luncheon of the Campbellford Rotary club, held yesterday noon in the St. Lawrence Hotel, plans were made for the coming carnival and street dance, which is to be held on Friday of this week. The vice president, Clarence Williams, handled the gavel.

Rotarian Williams will be the chairman for the street fair, the following convenors being appointed: Bingo, N. A. MacColl; horse games, C. Calver, H. N. Carr; wheels, T. E. Hall, E. H. Greig; money game, C. J. Windrim; duck game, A. D. Bennett; fish pond, S. A. Maguire.

The street dance, which will be run from 11 p.m. to 2 a.m. will be handled by C. H. Davidson and S. A. Maguire. Music for this affair will be provided by Edge Dolmans Aristocrats, an 8-piece dance orchestra.

A report of the survey made by the local club, in connection with the holding of a medical clinic in Campbellford, whereby underprivileged children can have free examination, was given by Dr. H. B. Longmore. He was of the opinion that this clinic should be postponed until early in September, to enable Toronto specialists to attend, this season of the year being blank, with many of them on vacation.

One suggestion was put forward however, and will be considered by the club in the near future, that a clinic be held in the town, with the local doctors giving their services, with the idea in mind of eliminating some of the forty odd children and thus making the work of the visiting doctors lighter.

COASTAL FIRES KILL 3 FIGHTERS

Exhausted Crews in Idaho and California Are Driven Back.

WORST SINCE 1930.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 14 (A.P.). —Roaring forest fires drove back exhausted crews in Idaho and California to-day after killing three civil conservation corps workers.

The worst Northern Idaho fire since the 1930 conflagration that wiped out entire towns, took the lives of two young men identified as Leroy McGinnis of Kewanee, Ill., and Lester Johnson of Galesburg, Ill.

William Mattison, 31, of Los Angeles, was killed while fighting flames near Nevada City, Calif.

Falling snags, charred and weakened by flames, crushed each of the trio. Their's were the first deaths this year in blazes which have raged through western forests and drawn heavily on C.C.C. camps for fire fighters.

McGinnis and Johnson were killed in the Selway National Forest, center of the flame-swept Northern Idaho area, where 4,000 men fought futilely to control four major blazes and innumerable spot fires.

Elsewhere, blazes were reported under control or of negligible proportions.

District Escaped Heavy Storm Damage

Peterborough and district was fortunate again yesterday, apparently escaping the full violence of the severe electrical storm that swept sections of the province. No damage was caused here as a result of the storm, R. L. Dobbin, manager of the Utilities Commission, stated that "surges," which caused a momentary lowering voltage, occurred on several lines leading to the city owing to storm disturbance, but no damage was caused. The fire department received no calls, and the Bell Telephone system was undisturbed.

Weddings

THOMPSON—MIDDLETON.

The wedding took place quietly at eleven o'clock this morning, in Murray Street Baptist Church, of Lorraine Amy Middleton, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Middleton, of George street, and Mr. John McBain Thompson, B.A.Sc., of Sioux Lookout, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Thompson, of Hunter street west.

The Rev. C. K. Tyler officiated.

Attendants were Miss Isabel Scott and Mr. Joseph Paquette.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. Thompson and his bride left for Sioux Lookout, Northern Ontario, where they will reside.

MARSH—HEAKES

A quiet wedding was held this morning at 11 o'clock in Wycliffe College Chapel, Toronto, when Miss Margaret Dorathea Heakes, daughter of Mrs. Heakes and the late William A. Heakes was married to Rev. Henry Hooper Marsh, son of Canon Charles H. Marsh, D.D., of St. Paul's Church, Lindsay, and the late Mrs. Marsh. Ferns, palms and varicolored gladioli decorated the chapel, and the father of the groom officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother wore an effectively simple gown of bridal satin, cut on long lines, the skirt forming a train. Her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried an ivory prayer book, and deep red roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Dorothy Clark, the bridesmaid was frocked in pink stiffened chiffon with lacy hat to match, and arm bouquet of Butterfly roses and blue cornflowers. Little Miss Ruth Marylen Jones, cousin of the bride was flower girl, wearing pink organdie hand-embroidered in blue, hat of the organdie, and carrying an old-fashioned nosegay.

The best man was Mr. A. G. (Bud) Heakes, brother of the bride, and the ushers were Mr. E. N. Johnston and Mr. A. C. Savage. Mrs. Heakes was gowned in aquamarine blue crepe and white lace, with black beret and corsage of pansies.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride and bridegroom left for a wedding trip, both travelling in white flannel suits with Varsity blazers. The will live in Toronto on their return.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter.

COB WITH SEVEN SPIKES.

As the saying goes—there are cobs of corn and there are cobs of corn. A cob with seven spikes of golden kernels instead of a mere one, was brought to The Examiner this morning.

The vegetable freak was grown by Art Carpenter in his garden at 431 Mark Street. A main spike stands in the centre of the cluster and the six additional "cobiets" are grouped about somewhat as off-Shoots. The corn is of the golden bantam variety.

POLICE AWAIT MAN

No results have been gained by the appeal police made yesterday to the motorist who picked up Robert Meharry on Monaghan Road north of Byersville, about 10.35 on the night of Meharry's murder, July 21. Police have information that a motorist picked up Meharry and gave him a lift. As yet the man has not communicated with police, as requested.

CONTINUE INQUEST.

The adjourned inquest into the circumstances attending the death of John A. Dunsmore, 60, of Franklin, Manitoba, will be re-opened by Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young at the Police Court room at 8 o'clock this evening.

It will be recalled that Dunsfore was the victim of a head-on collision between two automobiles near Fraserville on the morning of July 23 last. The inquest opened on the day following the fatality, but was adjourned to permit the attendance of John Frank Dunsmore of Beamsville and Gideon Nantel of Port Hope respective drivers of the two cars, who were confined to hospital with injuries.

LANDS FINE BASS.

While fishing in the Crow River recently, William Steenburgh of Havelock, hooked and landed a small-mouthed bass bass, weighing 5 pounds 12 ounces. It had a measurement from tip to tail of 20½ inches and a girth of 16½ inches. Mr. Steenburgh expressed the intention of entering the fish in the Toronto Daily Star contest.

16 POUND MUSKIE.

While demonstrating the art of casting with the "pikey minnow" at second bridge on the Otonabee River recently, with a number of tourists providing an interested "gallery," Dr William Hayes was successful in hooking a 16-pound muskelunge. The fish put up a twenty minute struggle before being landed amid plaudits of the onlookers.

Dr. Hayes claims that the muskelunge are about through with their annual "teething," and that the fishing should be good from now on.

FULL-TIME MAN IS BADLY NEEDED IN THIS DISTRICT

Government's New Plan Meets With Strong Opposition Here.

CAR IS TURNED IN.

Inspector Marshall Using Own Private Car in Doing His Work.

The plan of Hon. Harry C. Nixon, Provincial Secretary, to discharge all fish and game inspectors and hand their duties of enforcing Fish and Game Laws over to the Provincial Police will meet strong opposition from Liberals and Conservatives here, who are keenly interested in the proper protection of the county's fish and game.

Scores of letters from members of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association have gone forward during the past month, since it was rumored that the change in policy in the department might mean the discharge of Fred C. Marshall, county fish and game inspector. All these letters, The Examiner was informed, emphasized the remarkable services Inspector Marshall has given here during the period that he has been inspector, his high qualities as an inspector, and urged that his services be retained.

Area Large in County

More recent letters have pointed out that while Provincial Police might be able to do fish and game work in other counties, in Peterborough County there are so many lakes and streams, the area to be watched is so large, and the protection of fish and game is so important, that at least one officer is needed on the job at all times. The letters urged that Inspector Marshall has displayed every capacity for this important duty.

The Fish and Game Association here, with a membership of nearly 150, is unanimous in the opinion that Inspector Marshall's services should be retained, The Examiner learned. "Liberals and Conservatives are united in this opinion," an executive member of the Fish and Game Association said.

These letters have been sent to Hon. Mr. Nixon and also to James Hawthorne and the Liberal Association here.

Recently Inspector Marshall turned in his official car to the Department, as requested by Queen's Park, and is now using his own private car in doing his duty as game overseer.

WINTER'S COLD CAUSED SLIDE

Low Water Also Played Part at Niagara Says Superintendent.

NO AFFECT ON POWER.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 14 —(A. P.). — Low water and the extreme cold of last winter were blamed to-day for the 30,000,000 pound dock slide from the brink of the Horseshoe Falls.

Charles F. Seyfred, superintendent of the Niagara Reservation on Goat Island which separates Horse shoe Falls from American cataract, pointed out the cold caused the rocky lip of the waterfall to crack due to the absence of water Heat expansion this summer caused the rock to move gradually until it broke off yesterday, he said.

Power Companies on the Canadian side of the Gorge continued to operate today without interruption or decreased efficiency.

A. S. Robertson, of the Ontario HydroElectric power Commission, said the rock fall has been to divert some of the water to the point where the tons of rock toppled to the foot of the cataract. The ledge that fell was dry. The official also said the water now had a tendency to flow in greater quantity on the Goat Island side of the Falls, but it did nto affect power generation.

Prof. Reginald H. Pegrum, head of the University of Buffalo, a geology department, said the rim of the Canadian, or Horseshoe Falls has shown within th last 15 years a greater tendency to disintegrate than the American side.

"The reason," Pegrum said, "is the tremendous fall of water on the Canadian side which constantly undermines the underlying soft shale."

Obituary

HUGH ROSS

(Special to Examiner)

MONTREAL, Aug. 14— The death yesterday morning of Hugh Ross, at his residence, 16 Ballantyne avenue, Montreal West, removes one of Montreal's older business men, for nearly half a century ago Mr. Ross, came to the city from Peterborough and took over the business of the late J. D. Anderson, merchant tailor, of St. James street. Up to a few years ago he carried on that business on the site where the Royal Bank of Canada head office now stands, next to the Mechanic's Institute of a decade ago.

Born at Tain, Scotland, on May 27, 1850, Mr. Ross came to Canada 60 years ago and started in business in Peterborough, Ont., as a merchant tailor. He married in Ontario and 48 years ago came to Montreal with his wife. For a long number of years he resided at 78 Summerville avenue, Westmount, but after death of his wife in a January 1931 he removed to Montreal West. Mr. Ross enjoyed good health almost up to the time of his death, and till two weeks ago used to take a daily walk.

Curling was his great hobby, and Hugh Ross was one of the best curlers that the Caledonian Curling Club had on its roster a couple of decades ago. He was a life member of the Mount Royal Lodge, A. F. & A. M. and a member of the St. Andrew's United Church, Westmount.

He is survived by four sons: H. Alec Ross, Stanley Gordon Ross, and Donald Ross, all of Montreal, and Wallace Ross, of Buffalo, N.Y. and one daughter, Mrs. H. L. Andrews, of Buffalo.

The funeral service will be held in the chapel of the undertaking establishment of Jos. C. Wray & Bro., 1304 Mountain street, and will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. W. J. Clark, formerly of St. Andrew's United Church, Westmount, with interment in Mount Royal Cemetery.

GEORGE WILLIAM SPRING.

The death occurred around midnight of George William Spring, of 132 Maud street, following an extended illness, at the age of 76 years. He passed away at the residence of his son Frank Spring, 338 Downie street, where he had been recently removed.

A native of Deptford, London, England, the late Mr. Spring came to Canada at the age of 14 years, and had resided in Peterborough for the past twenty-nine years. Until his retirement about four years ago he had been in the employ of the William McDonald Lumber Company, and had been regarded as a valued employee.

Besides being a member of the I. O.O.F. he attended Park Street Baptist church.

He is survived by his widow, three sons, William O. Spring, Belleville; Edward Walton Spring, of Toronto, and Frank Spring, of this city also one sister, Mrs. Fred Featherstone, of Vancouver.

The funeral is to be held from the residence of his son, Frank Spring, 338 Downie street, on Thursday at 2 p.m., with the Rev. C. K. Tyler, pastor of Park Street Baptist Church, officiating. Interment at Little Lake cemetery.

GEORGE ALEXANDER EDMISON

The funeral of George Edmison who died on Friday evening last following an illness of two months' duration, was held yesterday afternoon from the family residence Lot 9, Concession 2, Smith Township. Services conducted by the Rev. Frank M. Wootton, pastor of Trinity United Church, assisted by the Rev. J. I. Wilson of Oshawa, a relative of the deceased, were largely attended by relatives and friends.

Youngest son of the late Alexander Edmison the deceased was born on the family homestead in Smith Township, and had resided in the district during his entire lifetime. He was a successful farmer and was regarded with deep respect and esteem by his neighbors. He was a member of St. Andrew's United Church.

Surviving are his widow Louisa J. Fowler, one daughter, Mrs. James H. Shields, one son G. Allen Edmison, and two brothers, J. H. Edmison and P. J. Edmison, all of Smith Township, and Mrs. James McEwan of Winnipeg.

Interment was made at Little Lake cemetery, the pall-bearers being: Messrs. George Simpson, Norman Edmison, James Young, George Milburn and Charles Moore.

Minneapolis Truck Dispute Deadlocked

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 14 (A.P.)— Knots of dispute held taut the lines of disagreement in the truck drivers walkout to-day as strikers, buttressed by fresh food supplies and new cash reserves, maintained their non-yielding attitude toward the employers' offerings.

Their larder stocked with chicken, meat, and farm produce donated by the farmers holiday association and with $6,000 which Farrell Dobbs, strike leader, said was given the Drivers' Union No. 574 by the milk drivers' organization, strikers penned another rejection last night to revised peace terms.

GRANDCHILDREN YOUNG BOY, GIRL CRITICALLY HURT

Car Crashes Head on Into Toronto Machine Near Kitchener.

BLOWOUT BLAMED.

Victims on Way to Arthur for Holiday—Change of Mind Saves Another Girl.

KITCHENER, Ont., Aug. 14. — (CP) — Two persons, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jasper of Stratford, were killed and their two grandchildren, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jasper, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Jasper were seriously injured today when two automobiles struck head-on on the Stratford-Kitchener highway.

Two Toronto men, Harry Aitcheson and John H. Fisk, were riding in one of the cars and were taken to hospital. Their injuries were not believed to be serious.

It was believed the accident was caused by a blowout on the car in which the four Stratford residents were riding.

Mrs. Jasper died before reaching nearby St. Mary's hospital while her husband succumbed shortly afterwards. Their two young grandchildren were taken to the operating room and were reported to be in a critical condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper accompanied by the two children left Stratford today for Arthur.

The two children who were riding in the Jasper machine are Marion and Teddy Jasper grand children of the accident victims. Jasper was 63 years old, and was night superintendent of the Stratford water works.

MISSES TRAGEDY

STRATFORD, Ont., Aug. 14 (C. P.)—Roberta Keith, who has lived with Mr. annd Mrs. Alfred Jasper since she was a young girl, had first arranged to go with the ill-fated car in collision near Kitchener today with the loss of two lives, but last night for no reason whatever she changed her mind and decided to stay home.

When they left Stratford Teddy, aged nine years, son of Roy Jasper who lived with his grandparents, was sitting in the front seat of the car with his grandad while Marion, aged 12, daughter of Lorne Jasper, who lives on Rebecca street, was sitting in the back seat with Mrs. Jasper.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jasper were well known in this city and their sudden deaths will come as a distinct shock to a wide circle of friends. They were both born near Listowel and came to Stratford shortly after their marriage.

NINE ISSUERS GAME LICENSES

Liberals Deny That There Will be Shakeup in Local Issuers.

LOUIS YEOTES NAMED.

Rumors that a shake-up in regard to the local authorities for selling fish and game licenses is pending were denied by a local Liberal in close touch with the Government to-day. One new authority to sell licenses was granted this morning, however, to Louis Yeotes, restaurant proprietor.

"As far as I know the government has considered no action in the matter as yet," it was stated. "Possibly in the future changes will be deemed advisable but, to my knowledge, no such recommendations beyond that concerning the granting of an authority to Mr. Yeotes have been made from local sources."

With the addition of Mr. Yeotes, it is understood that there are nine license vendors in the city. The big business is in fishing licenses. This year there were three type of fishing licenses for non-residents—a $1.00 three-day license; the regular $5.50 individual season license and an $8.00 family license. The seller's commission on the $1 license is 15 cents; 50 cents on the $5.50 license and 50 cents on the $8.00 license.

Uncertainty with regard to the gun and hunting licenses to be required this Fall prevails. Apparently the Government intends to abolish the $1.00 gun license which netted the seller a 15-cent commission. Up to this year, $4.00 deer hunting licenses, moose hunting licenses, and small game and general licenses for non-residents have been dispensed.

U.S. WILL FIGHT FOOD PROFITEERS

Roosevelt's Policy on Drought, Farm Relief Expected in Few Days.

STILL URGE CROP CONTROL

(By Steph J. McDonough).

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.— (A. P.)—President Roosevelt is expected to lay before the United States within the next few days a statement of future policy on drought and farm relief.

There are indications that it may include an answer to critics of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's crop reduction, some of whom have been stressing drought devastation to emphasize what they call the 'sin" of artificial slashing of food supplies.

AAA officials have been touring the country, answering this criticism. They told farmers human control was necessary to curtail over-production that depressed prices, to restore farm purchasing power, and thus to produce better balanced economy.

Secretary Henry Wallace stressed yesterday that, though the AAA sought large cuts in production before the drought came along and slashed crops indiscriminately, the aim of "control" is not necessarily smaller crops.

A rise in the general cost of living, but especialy food stuffs, is considered likely this winter and the Government is pushing preparations for its anti-profiteering campaign with war-time fervor. Secretary Wallace said he felt the cost of living would not rise more than six or seven per cent, although the price of food would probably go beyond that.

Exposes of "wild cat" speculators are planned as a chief weapon. The officials think that after full publicity, the force of public opinion will do the rest.

ZELLER TO OPEN STORE IN CITY

Montreal Company Will Open Departmental Store in Turnbull Building.

OLD ESTABLISHED FIRM.

The W. P. Zeller Company of Montreal will add a Peterborough store to its chain of departmental dry goods stores, opening in the Turnbull building about the middle of September, it was learned unofficially this morning

Workmen are to begin immediately a general reconditioning of the store. New show windows on both the Simcoe and George Street fronts, are to be constructed and minor alterations are planned for the interior. Only the ground floor and basement of the building will be used at first.

Although little information was available to-day, it is believed that the store will retail in the same fields as the Zeller stores in Montreal and Toronto. These stores carry comprehensive lines of men's, women's and children's clothing, with other diverse departments in the retail field. The store is to be the type known in the trade as a "junior departmental store."

The Zeller firm has been established many years in Canada.

A'S BLANK SENATORS IN LONE MAJOR STRUGGLE

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

AS THEY used to say during the war days all is quiet on the western front so it is with racing in Western Ontario this week with nary a track operating until Saturday when Stamford throws open its gates for the second meeting of the summer. One horse that is going to be a winner at that session is Powder Monkey and no mistake as he sure loves the Niagara course. Frank Higgins has him in tip top shape and it will be just a case of hanging up the numbers.

Top Hattie is due for his second winning effort of the season at this place also, it being more or less his home grounds. A few years ago a well known racing fan witnessed Top Hattie win a race at the Woodbine in May when the track was very muddy. He said he would watch the horse throughout the summer and as soon as he was in again on a muddy racing strip he would lay it on. Time went on and the hide travelled through Hamilton, Fort Erie and all over the circuit, but old Jupe Pluvius did not see fit to throw in a shower and tracks remained dry and plenty fast.

COME THE middle of July and with the opening of Stamford Park, this devout follower went over to Niagara Falls. On a certain afternoon Top Hattie was entered and as it was very hot with not a cloud in the sky, the horsemen decided to stay in the hotel and catch himself about forty winks. Top Hattie was in the last race and about 5.30 a thunderstorm came on followed by a cloudburst which changed a lightning fast track into a sea of mud. The heavy roar of the thunder awakened our friend and he immediately looked at his watch and figured he could make the grounds and place a bet on his favorite mudder. But alas and alack he failed to make the grade, arriving just as the mutuel window was closed and watched Top Hattie pay off at 27 smackers for two.

The McLaughlin horses at Saratoga have now reached top form and Harry Giddings is determined to send winners to the post from now on. He has already sent two to the post to date. Bearing out our prediction of two weeks ago he has also purchased two yearlings which will be heard from next year. Croat Au Pot from the Newmarch barn was only beaten by a nose in the feature event on Saturday and on his next trip postward should be returned a handy winner. This horse Quickly from the Smallman stable is a bear for consistency, having won ten races since the Canadian season opened.

VINCE BARTON'S SLUGGING SCORES 4 RUNS FOR NEWARK

Montreal's Early Lead Too Big For Albany and Royals Win 6-5.

ORIOLES LOSE 10-7.

(By the Associated Press)

Thanks to some heavy hitting in the first two innings on the part of his teammates, Leslie Munns, Brooklyn farm hand, to-day had to his credit his first victory in the International League, and Montreal Royals were back within four games of the fourth place-play-off position.

Making his second start since joining the Royals last week against Albany Senators, the big right-hander was touched for 12 hits and had to receive help from Harry Smythe but the Royals came through with a 6-5 decision. Smythe was rushed to the rescue in the ninth when Gus Dugas hit a homer with one teammate on base to make the score close. Alvin Powell also hit for the circuit for the Senators in the sixth with the bases empty.

The Royals scored all of their runs off Walter Beck, former teammate of Munns, in the first two innings, counting in groups of three each. Thereafter they were blanked by Art Jones and Ray Prim.

Three home runs, the final one coming in the 11th inning off the bat of Johnny Mize, gave Rochester Red Wings a 4-3 victory over Syracuse Chiefs. Tom Winsett and Jimmy Brown hit homers earlier in the game to give the Wings a lead but the Chiefs tied the count with 2 runs in the eighth and another in the ninth. Pete Appleton held Syracuse to one hit for seven innings but gave two more in the eighth following an error. Jim Winford and Norbert Kleinke held the Chiefs hitless through the remainder of the game.

Vince Barton's 28th and 29th homie runs helped the Newark Bears down Toronto 7-3 and remain 4½ games in front of the field. Charley Devens held the Leafs in check until the eighth when he was lifted after Toronto had scored twice. Hank McDonald came in and shut off the rally. The game was called after the 8th to enable Newark to catch a train.

Two home runs by Ollie Carnegie, his 21st and 22nd, and one apiece by Roy Spencer and Marvin Olson accounted for nine of the 10 runs Buffalo scored in beating Baltimore 10-7 in the last meeting of the season between the two clubs. Woodley Abernathy, clouting Oriole, clouted his 26th and 29th to share the league lead with Barton.

SOCCER POSTPONEMENT

WINNIPEG, Aug. 14 (CP)—Rain last night caused postponement of the second game of a series between Prince Albert City Reds and Montreal Verdun Park to decide the Canadian Soccer League championship. Verdun Park, representatives of Eastern Canada, defeated the Westerners 4-0 in the first game.

The game will be played Tuesday. The third game, if one is necessary, will be played Wednesday.

VIRADO IS a very cheap hide but this season has developed into a very useful horse, having won over three grand in purse money and he is not through yet. Conny Smythe took his small string back to Detroit after failing to win a purse at Hamilton. He has acquired White Thorn, the former Whitney star in a trade with Dave Gharrity.

Local Netters Lose To Oshawa Players

In exhibition tennis at the Peterborough Club over the week-end, Oshawa netters defeated the local players in all their matches. John Harris defeated Gordon Kirkwood in men's singles, 6-1 and 6-2; while S. Jarvis won from Jack Kirkwood, 7-5 and 6-2. The ladies' singles lasted over two hours with Ruth Fishleigh finally beating out Gladys Carvolth, 8-10, 6-3 and 6-1. In men's doubles, R. MacDonald and Ray O'Hara were successful over Roy Friend and Howard Hammell, 6-3, 4-6 and 6-3. Ladies' doubles went to A. Goheen and Bess Furber over Ann Macdonald and Muriel Donaldson, 4-6 6-1 and 10-8; and to Aubrey Prichard and Betty Thompson over Louise Lundy and Ruth McKee, 6-4 and 6-4. Mixed doubles saw Ruth Fishleigh and Ted Fishleigh beat Barbara Cutting and Andy Rutter, 6-4 and 6-0.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

EAST LIVERPOOL, O. — Teddy Yaross, 158½, Monaca, Pa., outpointed Bud Saltis, 163, Chicago, (10); Charles Burns, 130, Johnston, Pa., and Lee Shepherd, 131, Cleveland, drew, (8); Marty Gornick, 139, Whitaker, Pa., knocked out Sammy Keller, 140, Cleveland, (1).

CHICAGO—Joe Louis, 198, Detroit, outpointed Jack Krans, 187, Gary, Ind., (8).

PITTSBURGH—Eddie Zivic, 134, Pittsburgh, stopped Frankie Marchese, 130¼, New York, (7); Jimmy Vaughan, 136, Cleveland, outpointed Charley Baxter, 134, Pittsburgh, (8).

OLD ORCHARD, Me. — Sammy Fuller, Boston, knocked out Dick Edwards, New York, (2).

YESTERDAY'S STARS

She finished a 22-mile course more than a minute ahead of Frederick Prince's Weetamoe, more than two minutes ahead of Harold S. Vanderbilt's Rainbow, and five minutes ahead of Vanitie, Gerard Lambert's old cup boat, now ineligible.

EIGHT SEEDED PLAYERS WIN IN WOMEN'S TENNIS TOURNEY

Helen Jacobs and Betty Nuthall Score Impressive Three-set Victories.

CRUICKSHANK OUSTED.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 14. — (A.P.)—Playing on rain-soaked courts as slippery as a dance floor, the eight seeded United States and foreign stars, paced by champion Helen Jacobs, yesterday survived the first round of the forty-seventh annual women's national tennis championship.

Miss Jacobs opened the tournament by whitewashing Marjorie Sachs of Cambridge, Mass., in straight sets without the loss of a game.

Miss Jacobs Brilliant.

Miss Jacobs' brilliant showing, coming a little more than two weeks after her defeat in the finals of the Seabright invitation tournament, served to dispel the fears of some who had visions of the title crossing the Atlantic this year with Betty Nuthall, the bounding English star, who turned the trick in 1930.

Miss Nuthall eliminated Priscilla Merwin of Los Angeles with almost as much despatch, 6-1, 6-1. She ran Miss Merwin dizzy from corner to corner with deep backhand shots and played effectively at the net.

Canada's entrants went out in the opening round. Jean Burritt of Toronto was defeated by Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., the fourth seeded home-bred, 6-0, 6-2, while Effie Billings of Montreal wilted before Baroness Maud Levy of Minden, Nev. Scores of the latter match were 6-1, 6-1.

Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass., and Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles seeded second and third, respectively, in the American group, gained the second round. Miss Palfrey easily defeated Ruby Bishop of San Marino, Cal., 6-0, 6-0, while Miss Babcock met with stubborn opposition from Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Cal., before winning, 6-1, 6-4.

English Players Win.

Also winning first-round matches were Katherine Stammers and Freda James of England and Elizabeth Ryan, a Californian, who has lived and played in England many years.

Miss Stammers impressed with her stroke execution in disposing of Helen Pedersen, Stamford, Conn., 6-3, 7-5. Miss Stammers made an admirable come-back to take the second set, winning five consecutive games after trailing 2-5. Miss James conquered Mrs. Virginia Erb of Buffalo, 6-2, 6-1, and Miss Ryan took the measure of Eunice Dean of San Antonio, Texas, 6-2, 6-2.

Terriers Can Win Series On Wednesday

Oshawa Juveniles meet the local Terriers at five o'clock tomorrow (Wednesday) evening in Riverside Park. It is the second game of their O.B.A.A. quarter-final series, Terriers having won the first in the Motor City by a 7-5 score. The winner meets the Toronto winner in the Ontario semi-finals. If Oshawa wins here tomorrow, a third game will be played on neutral territory. This is the best minor baseball league game played here this season and deserves a large crowd. It should be packed with excitement, with Oshawa starting their ace hurler—Normile—in a final effort to stave off elimination.

Herb Ralph's youngsters are right at peak form now, playing just about as good a brand of baseball as they will ever play. They have Eddie Starr catching, Thorburn on first, Kingdon on second, Al Clark at short, Dunkley at third, Grant Clark, O'Leary and Connelly in the outfield, with Anderson, McIlmoyle, Field and G. Clark all available for pitching. McIlmoyle will likely get the assignment here Wednesday. This crew—together three years—is a hustling, scrappy gang that can play smart ball, having worked out all summer with the seniors. It promises to be a game well worth seeing.

Adds To Laurels Of Montreal "Y"

MONTREAL, Aug. 14 (C.P.) — When Florence Humble won a place on the relay swimming team chosen to represent Canada at the Empire Games in London, the swimming department of the local Young Women's Christian Association added another credit to its excellent record.

For the past three years the Montreal Y.W.C.A. has held the Rubenstein Cup for the Provincial competition in life saving, and at present holds the Duranleau Trophy (awarded this year for the first time) for the best all-round exhibition of swimming.

TEN-HIT BARRAGE IN INITIAL GIVES ATHLETICS 9-0 VICTORY

Yankees and Tigers Open Crucial Series of Current Race To-day.

(By the Associated Press)

After a day of almost complete idleness, major league baseball's warriors plunged back into the thick of the pennant frays with battle lines once more sharply drawn between east and west.

Topping the American League program was a double-header in New York between the pennant-bound Detroit Tigers, now 4½ games in front, and the second place New York Yankees. This twin bill marked the opening of a five-game series that may go far toward determining the race. Cleveland at Washington, Chicago at Philadelphia and St. Louis at Boston were the other pairings.

Giants at Pittsburgh

In the National League, the world champion New York Giants began their last western tour at Pittsburgh with a four-game lead over Chicago Cubs who opened a series with Boston Braves. The other contests found Brooklyn Dodgers at Cincinnati and the Phillies at St. Louis, whose Cardinals, 3½ games behind the Cubs, still had some faint pennant hopes.

Blank Senators 9-0

Washington and Philadelphia had the baseball scene all to themselves yesterday, the Athletics pounding over nine runs in the first inning to win, 9-0. The A's fell on Al Thomas, Jack Russell and Alec McColl for 10 hits, including three doubles, in that wild first frame. After that McColl blanked them with six hits but the Senators never could pierce Johnny Marcum's pitching defense. Marcum scattered eight Senator hits over six innings. Roger Cramer's triple and three singles led the Athletic drive.

The defeat left the Senators, last year's American League pennant winners, in fifth place, only half a game in front of St. Louis Browns.

The only other game scheduled in the majors, Cincinnati vs. Pittsburgh, was called off on account of rain.

COLUMBIA GOLFERS RETAIN WILLINGDON

Ontario Team Second by Four Points After Leading at End of Morning Round.

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC GOLF CLUB, Que., (CP)—A hard-hitting team of young golfers from British Columbia retained the Willingdon Cup yesterday, defeating four other Provinces in teams of four play as a prologue to the Canadian amateur championships. The cup is emblematic of interprovincial team supremacy in amateur golf. The Pacific Coast rolled up an aggregate of 596 for 36 holes to pare one shot off the record for the competition and hold the cup they won for the first time last year at Vancouver.

Four points behind was the Ontario team, who led at the half-way mark. The Quebec team was third with an aggregate of 669, Manitoba fourth with 623, and Alberta in last place with 644.

Peterboro "A" Team Defeats Port Hope

Peterborough A team defeated Port Hope three matches to two in their recent Kawartha Tennis League matches, the Peterborough players winning the men's singles and both men's doubles. Max Cotton turned back E. Wynn, 6-1 and 6-2. In doubles, G. C. Scott and H. A. Wilson beat their rivals, 6-4 and 6-4; and M. Swarts and R. White were successful by scores of 4-6, 6-4 and 7-5. Mrs. Dewart and Miss Caddy lost the ladies' doubles, 4-6, 6-4 and 9-7; while Miss P. McClellan and A. Lord lost the mixed doubles, 6-2 and 6-1.

LEAFS PREPARED FOR FINAL DRIVE

Added Reinforcements From Clubs Across Line Great Help to Boonemen.

Ike Boone and his battling Toronto Maple Leafs are thoroughly prepared for the final drive during the closing weeks of the International League to clinch a place in the post-season play-off series.

During the first week or so of the current month, the Leafs were riddled by injuries, but the unfortunate players are swinging back into action and Manager Boone will have his Maple Leafs at full strength for the closing league games.

Since our last bulletin, Maple Leafs have optioned Catcher Crouch to Nashville and sold Harry Rice to the same club. From Cincinnati came Catcher Francis Laveque and Outfielder Lincoln Blakely, two lads with much promise. The biggest news of the month was the transfer of Pitcher Don Brennan and Infielder Jake D'Arcy Flowers from the Cincinnati Reds to the Maple Leafs. Brennan for many seasons was a sensational hurler with Newark and the Maple Leafs figure he will be just the man needed to put the finishing touch to the Toronto pitching staff. Brennan, while with the Reds this season won four and lost two games.

Flowers is a veteran infielder and can fit in any place, giving Boone that needed infield protection. Flowers is no mean hitter thus adding several points to the Leaf's offensive punch.

An attractive list of games at the Maple Leaf Stadium in Toronto is presented for all Ontario boosters of the Maple Leafs. All night games are listed for the current week with the exception of Saturday, August 18. Newark Bears conclude their series with a night game starting at 9 p.m. on Monday, August 13. Baltimore Orioles are in for quite a session as Manager Ike Boone and the Toronto boys are keen to avenge their recent series in the Maryland city when the Orioles took four out of five games. The Orioles will be at the Maple Leaf Stadium for night games with the Toronto club on Tuesday, August 14th—Wednesday, August 15th—Thursday, August 16th—and Friday, August 17th, all games starting at 9 p.m., Toronto time. On Saturday, August 18th, Toronto opens a six game series in three days with Syracuse Chiefs. A double-header will be played on Saturday, August 18th and two games on Monday, August 20th, the first starting at 6.30 p.m. and the second at 9 p.m. On Tuesday, August 21st, the third double-header will be held with games at 6.30 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Returning home after a short road trip, the Leafs open with Rochester Red Wings on Friday, August 31st and on Saturday, September 1st at Maple Leaf Stadium. Morning and afternoon games are scheduled for the Labor Day holiday, Monday, September 3rd, with Buffalo Bisons. Tuesday, September 4th is a red-letter day on the Toronto Baseball program with Buffalo meeting the Leafs at 2 p.m. and none other than the famous New York Yankees with Babe Ruth and all the stars on hand for the 4 p.m. contest. Buffalo Bisons will be on hand for a single game Wednesday, September 5th. The final series of the schedule at Pieet Street Stadium brings the colorful Montreal Royals on Thursday, September 6th, Friday, September 7th and Saturday, September 8th.

Lawn Bowling
BY Herb Martin

On this, the eve of one of the biggest sporting events ever attempted in this city, we only hope that the Weather Man will treat us kindly.

BY THE TIME that this paper is off the press it is altogether likely that we will have reached our objective—namely 64 entries.

UP UNTIL late last night we had officially received 46 entries and that is the biggest post-entry that we have ever had.

SOME OF the boys will be giving us the well-known horse laugh if we don't put this tournament across; but we don't mind that. Every one of this committee has worked hard and long and they deserve all kinds of credit.

WE WOULD like all members, ladies and gents, to wear the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club souvenir pin.

AND NOW we would just like to extend to the public in general, a hearty invitation to come up to the greens on Wednesday, any time, and see one of the finest bowling tournaments ever staged in the Province of Ontario.

CRICKET

A special meeting of the Peterborough Cricket Club has been called by the executive for Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock at Nicholls Oval. All players and officers are urgently requested to attend.

LOCALS CINCH PLAY-OFF PLACE

Clubmen Take 7th Victory in 8 Starts by Trouncing Cobourg 11-6.

SUPERIOR COMBINATION.

Kiwanis cinched first place in the district O.A.L.A. group standing, and assured themselves of a play-off berth last night in Cobourg by trouncing the Lakeshore lacrossers, 11 to 6, before a small crowd. It was the seventh victory in eight starts for the local squad. They played a superior brand of combination besides checking the homesters up closely throughout.

The visitors led 2 to 1 to end the first quarter and 5-1 starting the second half. There was a big third period with Kiwanis slapping in two quick ones first and then Cobourg settling away to tally four and make it exciting. The count at the end of the period was 8 to 5 for the blueshirts, and they still had an edge in play during the final quarter.

The defensive play of Miller, LeBarr and Red Creighton was good for the winners, while the veterans on the forward line turned in a fine game, the younger ones also going fair. A. Morford, Cancilla and Cooper all looked outstanding for the losers, who were minus a couple of players. The teams:

Kiwanis—Goal, R. Creighton; defence, Miller and LeBarr; rover, Magee; centre, Dundas; wings, King and Weir; subs, Jones, Olaveson, McDougall and E. Creighton.

Cobourg—Goal, Brown; defense, Hagerman and Cancilla; rover, F. Morford; centre, Cooper; wings, A. Morford and Johnson; subs, Spooner and Hie.

Referees—Reynolds and Black.

Summary:

First Quarter

Kiwanis—King (Weir) 3.00
Cobourg—F. Morford 6.00
Kiwanis—Olaveson 12.00

Second Quarter

Kiwanis—Dundas 4.00
Kiwanis—Dundas 9.00

Third Quarter

Kiwanis—King (Magee) 3.00
Kiwanis—King (Miller) 4.00
Cobourg—Cancilla 5.00
Cobourg—Cancilla 7.03
Cobourg—Johnson 8.00
Kiwanis—McDougall 9.03
Cobourg—F. Morford 11.00
Kiwanis—Magee 13.00

Fourth Quarter

Kiwanis—Magee 4.00
Kiwanis—E. Creighton 6.00
Kiwanis—King 10.00
Cobourg—Cooper 14.00

LOCAL SOCCER LEAGUE STANDING

	P.	W.	L.	D.	Pts.
Can. General	10	8	1	1	17
Deloro	10	8	2	0	16
Canada Packer	7	4	3	0	8
Caleys	8	2	5	1	5
Lindsay	11	9	10	0	0

Two points for a win and one for a draw.

Deloro vs. Lindsay games count 4 points.

Art O'Halloran, captain of the Lindsay team occupied a new position on the field, last Saturday, in goal and gave a clever display. He was followed by a smart understudy in Dave Leether, jr., who went into goal in the second period and astonished the fans by his display between the sticks.

To-night, the Canada Packers and Canadian General meet in a return league engagment on King Edward Park. In the previous tussle these two teams gave a great combination exhibition throughout.

Next Saturday afternoon, the Caledonians and Canada Packers meet in a league fixture. Before the game a sports programme will be run off, including a Softball game. There is a 100 yard dash race open to all players connected with local association. They must run in football attire.

Here is a synopsis of the events for the Benefit Sports and Football Game on King Edward Park, on Saturday afternoon: Challenge Race, Footballer's Race, Softballers Race, Children's Race, Ambulance Race, Tug of War, Dribbler's Race, Greasy Pole, Softball Game: South End vs. Peterborough Juniors. Football Game—C. P. C. versus Caledonians. Married Ladies' Race, High Jump. The first event will start at 1.30 prompt.

Canadian General were defeated by Trenton in an exhibition game, last Saturday, at Trenton, by the score of 4-2. The players were highly pleased with the reception received. An excellent repast and every facility necessary for the comfort of the players. The Board gave the local team permission to play them the return fixture here on Saturday, September 1st.

At the top of the greasy pole there will be a Smoked Ham. In the Skipping Rope Contest the prize will be given to the player who skips the most number of jumps without a stop.

All the finances collected during the afternoon will be handed over to the fund collected to assist a player who has been on the injured list.

Next year, Trenton, Belleville, Bowmanville, Warkworth and Port Hope will form a league of their own and the winner of the district will play the winner of the Peterborough district for a cup and medals.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse Tennis Softball, Bowling etc.

By C. J. P.

Ho, hum, the men softballers go back at it again tonight at Central. It's supposed to start at six, but since yesterday's tilt didn't get under way till 6.40, we'd better make no predictions. But, if the weather's oke, the players ready and the umps of a mind to, then maybe it'll commence somewhere around six bells. So far the teams have met four times in the five-game playoff series, yet only two games were played! How come? Well, the first was a tie, hence "no contest"; and last night's affair was called for darkness early in the seventh, so again "no contest." The teams have won a game apiece, and must have a winner ready to go to Lindsay Friday.

Johnston's Tires had the edge on Orphans in last eve's abbreviated number. They were leading by 13 to 8 when it was called, and the last Orphan counter was scored because the fielders couldn't see the ball in time. The Tiremen were getting better heaving from Price and were fielding better. The last stanza was just a joke, Johnston's trying hard to get out fast to make it a legal game, and the Waifs stalling and booting the ball around. There was nothing else to do but call it off. In fact, it could have been called at the end of the fifth. The teams switched the diamond around owing to a wet infield.

The Terriers, local juvenile ballplayers, are all set for their game with Oshawa here tomorrow. It'll be at five o'clock in Riverside Park, and we honestly think it will be a nifty number. We saw these teams tangle in Oshawa last week in the first game of their O.B.A.A. playdown series, and it was a swell scrap by two good squads. Ended 7-5 for the Terriers. Since the visitors intend starting their star flinger, a guy named Normile—he didn't start in Oshawa—for this second fixture, Herb Ralph's boys might find the sledding much tougher tomorrow.

What all do they do at regattas? We've been asked that often and while we're not the "Commodore" (the regatta reporter), still we can list the events for the one at Wallace Point this Wednesday: Invitation canoe doubles, men's single canoe, duck hunt, ladies' single canoe, pie plate fours, men's crab race, swimming race for 16-year-olds, ladies' crab race, men's fancy diving, ladies' double canoe, tug-of-war, mixed double gunwale, ladies' swim, gunwale race, greasy pole, men's canoe fours, novelty race, mixed tandem canoe, upset race, single canoe for gents 60 and over, men's tandem canoe, ladies' fancy diving, 50-50-50 race, and tilting on platforms. Not to mention grub and a hop at night.

According to playdown instructions as sent out by the Provincial Women's Softball Union recently, the O.A.S.A. rules will prevail except in three cases: 1—Only ladies in uniform may coach on base line; 2—The bases shall be 45 ft., and the pitching distance 33 ft.; 3—Rule 22 of the O.A.S.A. rules, section 3, shall be amended to read: "It is a regulation game if it be called....provided 4½ or more equal innings have been played, or if the team second at bat shall have made more runs at the end of its 4th inning or before the completion of its 5th than the team first at bat has made in 4½ completed innings." The local girls' loop does not have to go by this, but it might be a good idea as it'll get dark pretty early by September when their playoffs start.

• • • • • • •

C.G.E. lasses were leading Sixth Line yesterday when the game at the Bowl was called owing to darkness in the sixth. Omemee plays the Leafs there tonight, while Westclox go to Keene Wednesday. This schedule is being dragged out too much, and some of the postponed games should be run in. Another thing the loop officers and team managers should correct at once is the late starts of the games. Outside of Keene and C.G.E., all the outfits are late starting their contests at home and away. This isn't giving the players full games, it's causing too many to be called, and it's hurting the league with its followers.

• • • • • • •

Kiwanis lacrossers rambled down the highway to Cobourg last gloaming and took a neat 11-6 win to cinch first place in their O.A.L.A. group. It was a good game, clean all through and exciting in spots. The whole Kiwanis team played good lacrosse with the veterans strutting their stuff in a largeish sort of way. Cobourg is due back here next week, and that'll about wind up proceedings. And then the merry playoffs, tra la. But unless there's more interest shown here at this next tilt, the locals' playoff games may be transferred to Norwood.

• • • • • • •

The Petes play in Belleville tonight, with Russ Kitchen and Jack Williams the probable twirlers. The Nats want another game or two to make sure of a playoff berth, and it looks like it's up to the Chief. Knotty Lee's gang have a very good chance of getting into second place, and possibly even the top rung but must step on the gas from now on. Meantime Oshawa and Kingston are starting their final drive for a shot at the big dough and may be harder to shake than a burr in a horse's tail. They tangle in a double-header in Kingston tomorrow, and have another twin bill in Oshawa the 25th. The Petes' next game is in the Limestone city next Tuesday.

• • • • • • •

Picking em off the grapevine: Peterborough "A" and Port Hope are now tied for the leadership of the Kawartha Tennis Loop . . . . Bowmanville took the first game of the Lakeshore Baseball League semi-finals over Port Hope, 3-1 . . . . Is Vaughn Jack to return to the Nats' lineup? . . . . And will Spook Scriver be ready to pitch a game if the Petes get into the C.O.B.L. playoffs? . . . . Lot of the boys are talking about boxing around here again . . . . A large crowd hung around at Central last eve for that softball tussle.

GRIMES SETS MAJOR RECORD

Burly Relief Moundsman Has Hurled for Eight Different Teams.

MAY CHANGE SOON.

BURLEIGH GRIMES may not be a member of the Pittsburgh Pirates when you read this. If he isn't and has, instead, gone to work for some other major outfit it doesnt make a great deal of difference. "Boily," as his Brooklyn followers always called him, already holds the record for pitching with most major league teams.

'Way back in 1913 when Grimes gladly departed from Ottumwa, Ia., and the Central association for Detroit he thought he was launching himself on a long career as a Tiger mound star.

He wasn't. He was, instead, starting one of the greatest one-man migrations known to baseball.

Detroit returned Burleigh to the minors. He bobbed back two years later with Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh sent him to Brooklyn, in 1918. After a long and honorable career in Flatbush Grimes really began trekking in 1926.

Burleigh spent 1927 with the New York Giants, 1928 and 1929 in Pittsburgh again, 1930 with the Boston Braves part of that year and 1931 with the St. Louis Cardinals, all of 1932 and some of 1933 with the Chicago Cubs, back late last year with the Cards, again. He started this year with the New York Yankees and is finishing, a third time, with the Pirates.

Tigers Pirates Dodgers Giants, Pirates, Braves, Cards, Cubs, Cards, Yankees, Pirates. Eight different major league teams but 11 changes of uniform!

And Grimes may not be through—yet. The Philadelphia Athletics could use a veteran relief man—and so could one of the few other teams Burleigh hasn't tried.

Hambletonian Stakes Run Off Wednesday

GOSHEN, N.Y., Aug. 14 (AP).—The Hambletonian, a race that has grown from merely the richest harness racing purse in the United States to one of nation-wide interest in four years, will be renewed over the Good Time Park track tomorrow with an evenly matched field of eight or more three-year-old trotters measuring strides for the major share of $40,000.

The race had its inaugural in 1926 when it was worth close to $74,000, but not until the event moved into W. H. Crane's sprawling track on the outskirts of this capital of Orange County in 1930 did it take on the aspect of a race of importance.

"NO GREATER GLORY"

This is an unusual picture that illustrates with a great deal of detail of mimic warfare in which two rival gangs of boys take part. Although the wood is somewhat obscured by the trees, the general idea seems to be a moral lesson against the horrors of warfare.

The Paul Street Boys and the Red Shirts are rival neighborhood gangs of boys who appear to make fighting, on a somewhat scientific basis, their entire business in life. The manner in which they carry out the miniature war and the strategic bits that enliven it, the "battle of the sandbags," all over a vacant lot, demonstrates very well the way in which the seniors battle for some small bit of good. A stolen flag constitutes a major element in the picture.

The acting of these small men is quite remarkable. It is intense and sincere in the extreme, and the little hero who gives up his life because of his devotion to the cause and the leaders, is a marvellously fine child actor. The only feminine element is provided by the mother, arriving, as in actual warfare, in time to weep over, and bury, the slain.

"No Greater Glory" may have been intended as a lesson against the folloy and horror of war, but probably it will act merely as an incentive to neighborhood fights, for the youngsters. The moral is for the adult mind.

There is a chapter of the thrilling serial of the moment, and the news reel contains a picture of the Siamese twins, in which Violet and her would-be husband lament the sadness of their lot (their inability to procure a marriage license).

GUELPH MARKSMAN WINS MACDOUGALL

More Than 500 Riflemen Participating in Long Branch Meeting.

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, Aug. 14.—(C.P.)— With one day's shooting under their belt, more than 500 crack Canadian marksmen were ready to-day to show their best at the Dominion of Canada annual rifle meeting.

First event of the day was the completion of Banker's match, one of the richest of the meeting, carrying more than $700 in prize money, at the 600 yard butts. Yesterday they fired the first relay over the 300 yard range. This will be followed by the Walker, Harold L. Borden, the Gzowski cup and the Dundonald cup.

The riflemen felt out the ranges yesterday in the MacDougall challenge trophy, captured by Capt. J. A. Steel of Guelph with a possible 70 for 300 yards and 500 yards. He led five others, Sergt. Dave Stuart, Ottawa, Sergt. W. G. Macdonald, Toronto, Capt. S. T. Peterly, Halifs, Ltd. J. A. Boa, Vancouver, and Lt. Desmond Burke, former King's prize winner, by one point.

Fourteen wound up in third place with 68 and 13 were in fourth place with 67.

NEW YORK GALS VETOED ON SHORTS GAME BUT CHICAGO COURSES GET OFFICIALS O. K.

GIRL GOLFERS these days are worrying about their shorts game—not their short game.

The question of what constitutes proper costuming for ladies at teetime has forced the two largest cities and, at the same time, the two greatest golf centers of the United States into opposing camps.

New York frowns upon shorts for divot digging dolls, while Chicago, probably with its proud boast of a Century of Progress in mind, had okd the cool costume for links ladies.

The war began when Beatrice Gottlieb, the New York blonde who defeated the Prince of Wales at golf a year ago, and a girl friend appeared on a metropolitan course in shorts.

While the golfing fathers shook admonishing fingers and said this must "never, never" happen again, Miss Gottlieb was enthusiastically announcing that the added comfort enabled her to cut five strokes off her game.

Immediately Lucy Stoners of the links demanded the freedom of the knees on any golf course. But the Women's Metropolitan Golf association concurred with the men and voted the abbreviated bloomers out.

Meanwhile, a Chicago miss or missus may ramble the rough in tiny trouserloons if she desires and it's her own fault if she runs afoul of briars or poison ivy.

The action of golf associations of other cities is eagerly awaited by fairway femmes who complain that shooting any course swathed in long skirt, woolen socks and sweater changes golf from a gay game into a grind.

GAME RAINED OUT.

Albions and Orioles' sudden-death semi-final game in the Southend Softball League was rained out last night. They will run it off this evening, and the winner will meet the Nationals Thursday evening, both games being on the Brinton Grounds.

Famous before the World war as the yacht of the Kaiser, the Hohenzollern has been acquired by a Swedish company and converted into a pleasure cruiser.

TENNIS DRESS REFORMS

Not usually given to prophecy, we, however, will venture the prediction that by the end of the 1935 season shorts will be as common on any golf links as they are to-day on tennis courts.

But an outstanding champion, courageously defending the new mode by wearing them herself, may be the only means by which shorts can win out on the fairways.

Each drastic change in tennis costume has come about as the result of some great champion's advocacy of the innovation.

At Wimbledon, England, the holy of holies of tennisdom, the fad of going stockingless was considered to perfectly decisass to even discuss until Helen Wills Moody, then world champion, adopted the style. Immediately, there was a world wide shedding of socks.

Then the tennis shorts made an appearance—at first only on isolated public courts. However, in the national singles championship tournament in Forest Hills, L.I., up stepped brave little Helen Jacobs, defending champion, in a neat, white-panted costume.

You can get your answer to what happened then by visiting any tennis court where fair racqueteers are at play.

SILVER SLIPPERS

BY Temple Bailey

CHAPTER 13

It was nearly 10. In the ballroom people were going about between dances with pencils and pads of paper. There was much hilarity as they listed titles. As Joan appeared in the door, a little group broke up and hurried to meet her.

One of the men whispered, "Undine?" and wrote that down, and one of the woman guessed "Mermaid?" out loud and was chagrined when Joan shook her head.

And still Drew did not come. Joan had promised him every other dance. Hence at alternate intervals she was left high and dry. In one of these intervals a voice at her elbow said: "May I have this?"

She turned, and gave it to the man who asked. She danced beautifully, and as she made the rounds of the room with him, there came to her a sudden resolve. Since Drew was not there to claim his dances, she would not keep them but give them all to others. She would have a good time in spite of this deadly sense of desertion. Drew should not have stayed away. Everyone would see him when he came in with Rose. And it wasn't fair that she should have to seem neglected Drew should have telephoned direct to her, have made his excuses, not have left her with his name scratched against all those dances, to sit them out alone.

And why shouldn't she play the game, since Drew was playing it? She looked up at her partner from under drooping lashes. "How well you dance," she said. That was the way the game began. She had heard other women say that. And had always thought it silly!

It was nearly 11 when Drew arrived. She saw him in the door with Rose and Marion Stickley. Marion had on a most amazing costume. A futurist affair of purple and red, and over her own hair was a wig of red silk. She looked like one of the lanky dolls one sees in the gift shop windows. Everybody rushed towards her. Everybody but Joan, who stood talking with her partner.

She saw Drew leave the others and come towards her. "Sorry we were so late. But Marion couldn't get into her costume when it came. We had a hilarious time fitting her wig on her, while her maid did things to the dress. Did you ever see anything so original? She'll get the prize, of course."

"It's original," Joan agreed, brightly, "but it's a shuddery sort of thing. She's like something out of a bad dream."

The music began again. The partner drifted off, and Drew put his arm about Joan. "This is ours, isn't it?"

She shook her head, "I didn't know you were coming. I have promised it to someone else, Drew."

He held out his hand, "Let me look at your card."

She gave it to him. He read the names, "This isn't the one I filled. What did you do, get another?"

"Yes. When you didn't come—I tore the other up."

He looked at her, then laughed, teasingly, triumphantly, "You did?" he shredded the card he held into tiny pieces and tossed them into the air. "That's that, my darling, you are going to dance all the rest with me."

She found herself dancing with him. He was saying things in her ear. Things that made her blush and tremble. She was his, and didn't she know it? "Mine, mine . . ." was his reiteration. It seemed to beat with the music.

And later, when the dance was over, he took her with him to a far end of the porch and had it out with her. "Don't you know that Rose means nothing to me?"

"But she takes you away from me."

"She can never take me so far that I won't come back. And you can never go so far that I won't follow you. You know that, Joan, don't you?"

He put a hand under her chin and turned her face up to him. "You know it, don't you?"

She whispered, "Yes," and with a sudden movement his arms closed around her. "Say you love me, say it, say it . . ."

When she went upstairs at last, she was, she told herself, happy. Drew loved her, why doubt him? And she must not expect to have him to herself as she had had him in Maine.

When she was undressed she sat for a long time by the window, looking out over the harbor. Darkness had taken the place of the almost fantastic illumination of the earlier hours, but at the end of the peninsula the great globe on the lighthouse glowed steadily.

It was this steadiness which stilled gradually Joan's pulses. The words of the man who had talked with her in the pavilion came back to her. "Love lives there with Dilly." She wondered about this Dilly who lived there, serene, content. If only her own life could be like that with Drew.

It was almost morning when she went to sleep. The dawning light showed tears on her cheeks. And she sighed a little as she slept.

"William," said Dilly to her husband, "I'm a whited sepulchre. Here I am eating one of my darling old bens and enjoying her."

"Which is what you should do," was William's response, "and the dumplings are delicious."

Dilly came around the table and kissed the top of his head. "Oh," she told him, "you are so nice and steady-ing . . . and you simply won't let me weep crocodile tears, will you?"

He laughed. "Not over a setting hen."

The dining room of the lighthouse cottage was a charming place because Dilly had made it so. White paint, the blue of the curtains matching the blue of the sea outside, nasturtiums in bowls, on a shelf some queer old porcelains which had belonged to William's grandfather, and Dilly who had cooked the dinner with her own hands, was crisp and cool in primrose gingham, with short sleeves which showed her plump arms and a round cut which showed her pretty neck.

Standing beside her husband's chair, Dilly rumpled his hair with thoughtful fingers. And presently he turned and looked up at her. "Well, what's on your mind, Dilly?"

"Giles."

"Why?"

"William, he has changed so in the past two weeks."

"Changed? How?"

"Oh, he's more like a boy than he has been for years."

William drew her down to his knee. "What has changed him?"

"A girl."

"Surely not."

"Yes," impressively, "and I met her yesterday. She came into the shop while I was there, and after that, while Giles was polite to me and all that, I simply didn't matter."

"Who is she?"

"Joan Dudley. She's staying with her aunt at the Wind and Wave and has lots of money, and she's engaged to a New York broker, Andrew Hallam. Everybody in town is talking about them and here's Giles quite mad about her and he doesn't know it."

"What makes you think that?"

"Oh, after she had gone he talked a lot about friendship—as if there could be such a thing between himself and that girl. It's come too late for him, Billy. She's engaged, and he has to think of Scripps and Amelie. And it's tragic. Things have never worked out for Giles, and I want him to be happy."

"Did he talk about the girl before Scripps?"

"Yes, and Scripps wasn't very nice about it. You know how cynical he can be when he's upset."

"He owes a lot to Giles. I should think he'd realize it, and try to make things easier."

"Poor Scripps. And Giles is so brave, Bill. He doesn't pity himself. And he won't let life beat him. Yet he wants what you and I have . . ." she laid her cheeks against her husband's, and after a moment she said, "Sometimes I'm fussy, and sometimes I'm discontent but I know there's always—you."

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, August 15

The astrological forecast for this day holds high prospects for the breaking away of old frustrating and congested conditions, making way for steady increase in accumulated possessions, a stabilizing of precarious fortunes and the co-operation of employers, superiors or elders in a substantial manner. But all these harbingers of enhanced fortune should not be negatived by an indulgence in rash, impulsive, headstrong and extravagant or indulgent conduct. Calm actions win out.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of steady growth, with profit and prosperity from many directions, largely through employment, labor and steadiness, with employers and elders ready to offer substantial recognition. New and shrewd contracts flourish and landed possessions or other property increase. But do not jeopardize these excellent prospects by rash and hasty conduct or personal extravagance, excesses and turbulence.

A child born on this day may be industrious, practical, studious, proud but prone to be impulsive, rash and headstrong.

Magistrate's Court

Arrested yesterday by Provincial Constable Allan Stringer, of Provincial Police Headquarters, Clifford Walke, 18, and Harry Carl, 18, both residents of the district north of Apsley, pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate Langley to-day to a charge of theft. They admitted burglarizing the summer home of F. Fitch in October last year and stealing an outboard motor. They were remanded one week for sentence.

Stanley Dummitt, 24, of this city, did not rob a bank, but he stole one. It happened this way. Dummitt was employed as laborer on the farm of James Shields, a mile east of Jackson Park. Mr. Shields had a small bank in which he used to drop odd nickles and dimes. The bank contained nearly five dollars in small change.

To-day Dummitt pleaded guilty to stealing the bank. He was arrested last night by Constable George Carey as he entered the city after leaving the farm. He was sentenced to one month in jail.

Ages of a party of London grandfathers who recently held an excursion to Hastings, totaled 4000 years, the youngest being 61 and the oldest 84.

FLANDERS SEEKING SEPARATION FROM BELGIUM FOR HOLLAND

Flemish People Would Unite With Dutch if Latter Would Have Them.

PREDICT COLLAPSE

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.
Central Press Canadian Writer

ANTWERP, Aug. 14.—The acute tension which exists in Belgium between Flanders and Wallonia since the new King Leopold III. ascended the throne, may perhaps well be illustrated by the following incident:

"I want a ticket to the Keizerlei," I said to the conductor on the street car here in Antwerp.

"Sorry," he replied, "I don't speak French."

"Don't you understand it?" I asked.

"Sure," he came back, "but I refuse to speak that language. In Flanders we speak Dutch!"

"All the same to me," I said. "I haven't forgotten my mother-tongue. What are you?" I asked in the same breath, "Activist?"

"Dinaso," said the man.

Nationalists Oppose Jews

Dinaso is the nationalist party of Flanders, which is daily growing in numbers. It is modelled on the Nazi party of Germany. The militant members wear brown shirts. They gather in so-called "Green Houses." One of their leaders is the able journalist Ward Hermans. Since many thousands of Jews have settled in Belgium in the last few years, especially in Antwerp, which is the world's centre of the diamond trade, the Dinasos are also anti-Semitic. In each of the three "greenhouses" I visited, I saw a sign on the wall which read: "The Frenchman belongs in Gallia, the Jew in Judea, the North Sea shore belongs to us. Send the foreign blood where it belongs." The Dinasos are also believers in the Aryan race theory of Dr. Rosenberg. They are, at that, probably of purer Nordic descent than Herren Hitler and Goebbels, who both hail from an extremely suspicious neighborhood.

The word Dinaso is a contraction of the following: Dietsch National Solidaristen, which means Dutch National Solidarists. Their hymn is the "Wilhelmus van Nassouwe," which is also the national anthem in Holland. They also have a battlemarch known as "De Vlaamsche Leeuw," which begins with the words: "They will never succeed in conquering him, the free Flemish lion, as long as that lion has teeth, as long as that lion can claw." Their newspaper carries as a permanent banner at its masthead: "Our enemy is Belgium. Flanders is our fatherland!"

Anthem Insults Holland

The Dinasos detest the Belgian national anthem, chiefly because there is an insulting reference in that hymn, known as the Brabanconne, to the royal family of Holland. The reference is this: "La mitraille a ecrase l'orange de l'arbre de la liberte" (the machine gun has shot away the orange from the tree of liberty). The song is a word play, the royal family of Holland is the House of Orange, descendant of William the Silent.

The Dinasos have their own flag, a black lion on a yellow field. The official Belgian flag is red, yellow and black. Dinasos refuse to salute the official flag. They refuse to speak French. Along the railway track of the main line from Antwerp to Amsterdam I saw a huge sign in the meadows, where every passenger on a passing train could see it. It read in Dutch: "Hollanders speak your own language in Flanders!"

Leopold Seeks to Heal Breach

From the above it should not be deducted that the conflict between Flanders and Wallonia is by no means a mere language dispute. The late King Albert always treated it as such. Since he enjoyed wide esteem, although not in Flemish nationalist circles, the conflict never came to a head. Now, under the new king, Leopold III., the quarrel seems to be growing more acute. Leopold himself speaks Dutch, so perfectly in fact that Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, whom he visited on one occasion when he was still crown prince, complimented him on his fluent command of the language. Queen Astrid speaks Dutch. Two days a week the court in Brussels speaks Dutch, which is a change over former days under Queen Elizabeth, who never allowed a word of Dutch to be spoken.

King Leopold attends Flemish fairs, and other public functions. He has recently decorated some Flemish poets and writers, seeking to win Flemish public opinion to his side, or at least trying to keep more Flemings from slipping into the nationalist camp. The king's theory is that of the Flemish nobility and upper classes namely that both peoples can go on living in the Belgian state under a system of cultural autonomy. This view is supported also by the higher clergy. But the lower clergy, which is nearer to the common people, is on the whole nationalistic and favors the break-up of the Belgian state into an independent Flanders. Whether Wallonia also becomes independent or joins with France leaves them cold.

Led by Lower Clergy

The nationalist clergy does not favor a re-union with Holland so much as the Dinasos, because Holland is a Protestant state. As in Ireland and Catalonia it is the lower clergy which has supplied the intellectual leadership for the nationalist movement.

Except among the students and the nationalist and fascist societies of which there are now half a dozen in Holland, there is no backing of the nationalist movement for reunion of Holland and Flanders. Holland, a small state in Europe, although possessing the second colonial empire in the world, cannot afford to take a position hostile to Belgium. Because behind Belgium stands France. The Calvinist party in Holland, which dominates the political life of the country, is averse to the Flemish aspirations, because a reunion of Holland and Flanders would mean a reversal in the balance of religions. The Flemings are predominantly Catholic.

"What is your chief objection to the present Belgian state?" I asked Joris van Severen, head of the Dinaso organization.

"Our chief objection is the unnatural lumping together of two peoples who have nothing in common. We want to remain what we are: Flemish. We have a culture second to none in Europe. Our country wrote one of the most brilliant pages in history in the era of the Flemish renaissance. Since we have been lumped into the monster state of Belgium, we have degenerated into half-baked Frenchmen. Ultimately this process would destroy us. Against that we stand on guard. We favor cutting loose from this unholy, indecent, unnatural alliance and go our own way."

War Would Aid Cause

"Any chance of success?" I asked.

"A new war in Europe will change many maps," he replied significantly.

"So your hope is for a war? Can't you reach your goal by peaceful means?"

"They won't let us," he replied. "The whole state apparatus of Belgium is directed to crush the legitimate aspirations of Flanders."

"Still the Belgian government subscribed to the 14 points of Woodrow Wilson, one of which is self-determination for small peoples?" I ventured.

"Sure," he replied, "I know they did. Czechs, Slovaks, Bosniaks, tribes who fought with Austria against the allies obtained that right in principle, but that right was not recognized for the Flemings."

"What will the upshot be? Revolution?"

"I won't use that word," he said. "I will say this: before ten years are over there will be no Belgian state. We will have shaken off the odious yoke" . There's going to be an awful lot of shaking in Europe, by the look of things.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterborough Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Marie P. Esson,
R. R. No. 3, Peterborough, Ont.

Your handwriting reveals a keen sense of good humor, but you do at times allow this characteristic to become rather sharp, and so you are misjudged and presumed to be sarcastic. In reality you are very witty, but one of course must learn to use one's best traits to advantage as well as one's talents. The widely spread letter formations, indicate impulse, and I am inclined to think that this leads you a merry dance, for you would give without thinking, often leaving yourself with less than you require of material things.

Your variable capitals denote some artistic talent, but it seems to me that you spread this out over a large field, instead of concentrating on one thing till you attain perfection. Your 't' bars which are long and placed at the top of the letter, portray a tendency to argue over minor details, and to leave the greater things which, of course, are of more importance, unnoticed, or in other words, you cannot be bothered with too much 'bigness'.

Your birthsign is Libra the Balance. You are ruled by Venus. August and December are your most fortunate months. Friday is your lucky day. Your best number, according to numerology, is seven. Seven's are very often misunderstood, because they have deep thinking powers.

Leta Marie Huffman, Norwood, Ont.

Your handwriting portrays diligent study of all things pertaining to mental progress. You want to know things and so you endeavour to learn everything that is within your power to grasp. Facts, interest you more than mere possibilities.

You are quite artistic in a general sense, and one with your type of writing usually has a well-modulated voice which is an attraction to the opposite sex. The culture of voice as in singing should appeal to you. Your disposition is fairly even, but you cannot be termed 'insipid' in any manner.

You wear your clothing well, and try to appear neat and well shod at all times. Your 'i' bars reveal a slight versatility which is typical of you, for it sets you apart as decidedly interesting. You see, you can be quite determined and adhere strictly to your point of view, then again you can be most generous in your kindly manner, and grant requests too frequently, in order not to be thought dominant or stubborn.

Those long, lower loops of yours depict graceful activities, such as dancing, swimming or poise in deportment.

You are most appreciative of kindness shown, and will always reciprocate a thousandfold.

Your mind is keen and retentive. You have a faculty of attending to routine and detail, and I think you rather enjoy making the works of your hands as complete as it is humanly possible for you to do so.

Muscular control seems to bother you sometimes when being watched. This is due in part to over consciousness, and a deep desire to always show one's self at one's best, no matter what the circumstances may be.

Thank you so much for your kindly letter. It is very nice to know that one's work is appreciated, and it tells me that you are one who does not believe in keeping all the flowers for the departed. Happiness can be gained here on earth for many more of us, if only a few more genuine people like yourself existed.

E. (Elaine) Kellogg, 690 Harvey St., City.

Your handwriting as portrayed on your sample for analysis, reveals a reserve which is really detrimental to your health. If you could give yourself more scope for enjoyment, you would no doubt experience better health. Of course I do not mean to imply that you must create a selfish attitude, for that would be foolish and extreme, but I do think you should set a standard for yourself, which is above the one that you allow yourself at the moment. You see, your mind is keen. You have excellent faculties for remembering details, but it seems to me that you do not make the very best use of these faculties at present. You cramp your style, and then wonder why destiny has produced such a hard row for you to hoe. Your capital 'H' in the word handwriting, shows me that you are worthy of better things. Your 'E' demonstrates artistic talent, this may be carried out in either music, designing or hairdressing.

Very small writing such as yours usually reveals a scientific turn of mind, and the ability to question the why and wherefor of subjects under discussion. However, as your writing is so changeable in size, shape and formation, I do not think that you would wish to go into scientific study very deeply for some time.

Your birthsign is Leo the Lion, and you are ruled by the Sun. This should make you desire to be out of doors more than most people. Sunday is your most fortunate day. January and October are the best months in which to endeavour to commence important undertakings.

Your numerological number is seven. You also have a five, three and eight in your vibrations. Any of these numbers should bring you good luck, extra special luck might be yours under the number 535, turned about in any manner because this totals your vibration number, seven.

1934 Exhibition Is The 89th Annual Show

Important Factor Making District Farming Centre

Peterborough Exhibition, Which Opens Its Gates Next Week, Was First Started in 1845 as One-Day Fair in Central Park.

NOW COMMUNITY'S OLDEST INSTITUTION EVER INCREASED ITS SCOPE AND VALUE

Ranks as One of the Four Class "A" Fairs in the Province—To-day It Stands as a Symbol of Co-operation and Sacrifice.

When the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition opens its gates at noon Tuesday, August 21, to the crowds which will eagerly probe its wonders, it will be for its 89th annual show.

The Exhibition, which is of so much importance to Peterborough and district, was founded in 1845. The late Frank Dobbin, the city's historian, termed it "the community's oldest institution," and he emphasized its ever-increasing scope and value as an enterprise of progress.

Although nearing the century mark in years, the Exhibition carries its age lightly. It has experienced good years and bad years, depressions and booms, crop failures and bountiful harvests, and still, through it all, has moved steadily forward in its definite purpose of assisting agriculture

Important Factor.

It is agreed that the Exhibition has been an important factor in making this district one of the richest and most enterprising agricultural centres in Ontario. It encourages and rewards the best in farming, presenting the successful agriculturist with an opportunity to display the improved results of his effort and genius and impress others to adopt like methods and gain similar benefits.

The Peterborough Exhibition is large enough to be important, but small enough to be friendly. In its friendliness it resembles the village fair. Not only does farmer converse with farmer, exchanging wise opinion on crops, livestock and poultry, but at the Exhibition, too, farmer and city man meet and the importance of their common interest, the improvement of agriculture, is stressed on every hand.

Symbol of Co-operation.

But the Exhibition did not become what it is without effort—it is a symbol of co-operation and sacrifice. City men and farmers have given unstinting service to the show down through the years. It is an institution of which Central Ontario, and particularly Peterborough, may well be proud.

The foundations of the Exhibition were laid back in 1845 when a small group saw the need, as Mr. Dobbin sets forth, "It was established with the object of encouraging the bringing in and raising of cattle, horses and stock of improved breeds and the general improving of methods of agriculture."

It has passed through many stages of growth and been known by several names. First, it was the West Riding of Peterborough Agriculture Society and was a one-day fair that held forth at Central Park, now Confederation Square. Even the province recognized its worth and made a small grant to assist its work. Later it was renamed the Midland Central Fair, and finally the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

Growth Since War.

Since the war the Exhibition has made its greatest growth. In 1918, the first marked changes and improvements were made. That summer old-time work "bees" were held. Farmers voluntarily brought in their teams and graded the grounds, while other members of the Exhibition Board toiled straightening fences and doing other necessary work. At this period, for three successive years, every member of the directorate donated ten dollars each to assist in defraying the expense of improving the grounds.

New fences were built, new gates erected. In 1920 the handsome manufacturers' building was built by the manufacturers of the city. Year by year new buildings were put up, cow barns, horse barns, poultry building, rest-rooms and secretary's office. During this period of marked expansion more than a dozen permanent buildings were erected.

Funds Subscribed.

All the funds for these buildings were raised by public subscription. Most of the lumber was purchased from the Department of National Defence and it had been formerly used by the 93rd Battalion.

The Exhibition Grounds have an area of 30 acres and can accomodate with comfort a crowd of 15,000. Showmen from all points agree that it has the finest exhibition "plant" of any city in Canada. This is particularly true of its smooth, half-mile race track. Spectators have a clear view of the whole track and miss no action of the speeding horses as they battle for position.

It has a cement, all covered grandstand which will seat 3,000. This grandstand is 260 feet long and more than ten years ago replaced the old 60-foot stand. Beneath the fine new grandstand are dressing rooms for the entertainers who each year thrill the crowds with their sensational acts.

Valued at $75,000.

It is estimated the whole equipment at the Exhibition Grounds has a value of at least $75,000.

Recognition of the outstanding growth of the Peterborough Exhibition came two years ago when the Federal Department of Agriculture gave the local Exhibition Class A rating. There are only three other shows in Ontario—Toronto, Ottawa and London—With Class A rating.

Marmora Engages New School Staff

MARMORA, Aug. 14.—(Examiner Correspondence.) — The staff of Marmora Continuation school has been engaged for the coming year. Hundreds of applications received for vacant positions made selection difficult.

Mr. E. J. Gale has been engaged as principal. He will teach mathematics and science. Mr. Alan Smith of Millbrook, will be assistant teacher of mathematics and science. Miss P. Wilson of Garden Hill is the only member of last year's staff to return. The other teacher it is expected, will be Miss Farley of Ottawa. She will teach Latin and Art and such other subjects as may be arranged. The acceptance of her application awaits confirmation.

CLARK CHOSEN TAX COLLECTOR

Trustees Appointed for Pontypool Community Park at Council Meeting.

COMMUNICATIONS READ

BETHANY, Aug. 14.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The Manvers Council met Friday with all members present and the reeve in the chair. The following communications were received and read:

From W. H. Hooper, giving suggested names for trustees for the Memorial Park, Pontypool.

From the Consolidated Casualty Insurance Company, as to the state of the bridge near Janetville station.

From the Board of Health in the city of Guelph, as to the discharge of district health officers. On motion, no action was taken.

From the Department of Highways, with auditors' report of expenditure on roads in township in 1933.

From James R. Shea, with notice of equalization of School Sections Nos. 11, 15, 19, 20, by the assessors of the townships of Cavan, Clarke, Darlington and Manvers.

Cumiskey-Neals — That the following were appointed trustees of the Pontypool Community Memorial Park for three years: W. H. Hooper, Bert. Richardson, T. E. Cain; for two years; Dr. McNeil and William Rennie; and that the representatives of this Council be on the board for this year.

The estimates for several rates were very carefully considered and the results were embodied in the by-laws.

By-law No. 1103, to appoint J. J. Clark collector of rates and taxes for 1934, was passed.

By-law No. 1104, to levy county rate 11 9-10 mills on the dollar, township rate 4 7-10 mills on the dollar and general school rate 5 8-10 mills on the dollar, passed.

By-law No. 1105, to levy a trustee rate in the several sections of the township for 1934, was passed.

Skuce-Neals — That cheques be drawn and signed by the reeve and treasurer for the following amounts:

Manvers Muncipal Telephone System, maintenance, $300; Hydro-Electric Power Commission, lighting Town Hall, $11.33; Hydro-Electric Power Commission, street lighting, Bethany, $47.35; Hydro-Electric, street lighting, Pontypool, $31.65; Clarence Neals, sheep worried by dogs, $35; John Payne, sheep worried by dogs, $14; John Shackleton, sheep worried by dogs, $5; Reginald Palmer, $5; James R. Shea, equalization of S. S. Nos. 11, 15, 19, 20, $12; W. L. Rowan, cement for sidewalk in Bethany, $14.30; Fred. Fallis, work on sidewalk in Bethany, $24.30; McCalpine McGill, work on sidewalk in Janetville, $35; A. B. Sisson, road superintendent, vouchers Nos. 4, 5, 6, $2,483.15.

Boggs-Skuce—That the Council adjourn, to meet on Thursday, September 6, at one o'clock p.m.

Weddings

ARCHER—BEGGS.

JANETVILLE, Aug. 14.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A marriage of interest to many in the Janetville vicinity was performed in Carlton Street United Church, Toronto, on Wednesday, when Estella Beggs, daughter of the late Mr. George Beggs and Mrs. Beggs, all well-known former citizens of Janetville, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. Chester Archer, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Archer, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Crossley Hunter.

Following a short honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and other points, the happy couple will take up residence in Dewhurst boulevard, Toronto. A host of former friends at Janetville extend best wishes to the young couple.

WRIGHT—FOUND.

YELVERTON, Ont., Aug. 14. — (Examiner Correspondence). — A quiet but pretty wedding of wide interest took place on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pound, Little Britain, when their daughter, Ada Acy, was united in matrimony to Ernest Robinson Wright, son of Mrs. Richard Wright and the late Mr. R. Wright, of Yelverton. The ceremony was performed on the beautiful lawn at the bride's home by Rev. J. G. McKee, of Little Britain.

The bride approached the ceremonial scene on the arm of her father, carrying a beautiful bouquet of roses and sweet peas to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ross Pound. She was daintily attired in a gown of eggshell pink sheer crepe cut in long lines with elbow length puffed sleeves. She also wore a pretty bandeau of pink flowers and matching accessories.

Miss Marion Lee, niece of the bride, acted as flower girl and carried a bouquet of pink and white gladioli. She wore a pretty maize organdie frock and hat. Little Charlie Gorrill, nephew of the bride, was the groom's ring-bearer. During the signing of the register Lloyd Pound, brother of the bride, played "The Perfect Day."

Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served to twenty-five guests. The happy young couple left by motor for a short honeymoon. The bride travelled in a navy crepe fitted swagger suit and white accessories. On returning they will take up residence at Yelverton.

Probe Woman's Death In Auto Collision

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 14 (CP)—An inquest has been ordered in the case of Mrs. Charles G. Bolton, aged 55, of New Dublin, fatally injured on Saturday night when the car driven by her husband met in collision with another car driven by George Power, Brockville, on No. 29 Highway, two miles north of here.

Found crouched beneath the dash board of the car after the accident, she died in hospital an hour afterwards.

Her husband, Charles Bolton, suffered a fracture of the right arm, concussion, together with severe bruises and lacerations about the face and legs, while their daughter, Evelyn, was cut and bruised about the head, body and legs. Both are in the General Hospital.

George Power, driver of the other car, was also removed to the hospital, but was able to leave that institution on Sunday. His car overturned in the ditch and was destroyed by fire, Power being removed from the machine with difficulty.

E. G. HAND BUYS REVIEW PLANT

Review Printing Company's Plant is Sold by A. H. Stratton.

FOUNDED IN 1853

The Review Printing Company, one of the oldest establishments in the city, recently changed management. A. H. Stratton, manager of the Review since 1917, has been succeeded in that capacity by E. G. Hand, formerly of Toronto.

The Review was founded in 1853. At one time a weekly paper was published and later a daily. Mr. Stratton purchased the old Daily Times and combined it as a publication with the Review. Later The Examiner purchased the Review, but Mr. Stratton continued its business of job printing.

The new manager, Mr. Hand, was born into the printing business, his father, the late E. D. Hand, being proprietor of the Fenelon Falls Gazette. Later Mr. Hand was connected with the Cobalt Citizen, the New Liskeard News and the Northern Miner.

Fraserville L.A.

Members Are Entertained at Home of Mrs. Richard Moncrief—Finish Quilt.

FRASERVILLE, Aug. 14.—(Examiner Correspondence)—A very pleasant afternoon was spent at the home of Mrs. Richard Moncrief on Wednesday when she entertained the members of the Fraserville Ladies' Aid.

The meeting was in charge of Group "A"

Miss Alita Moore gave a reading, "The Missionary Hen."

The president, Mrs. Ray Finlay, then took charge of the meeting and the usual business discussion followed.

During the afternoon a quilt was completed for Mrs. A. Hewitt.

VANSICKLE.

Mr. Gesser, of Walkerton, and Miss Ruth Jones, of Marmora, spent Tuesday evening the guests of Miss Jean Sopha.

Mr. Harry Vansickle has moved his engine to North Marmora, where he will start to thresh.

Mr. Roy Althouse spent Tuesday at Oak Lake.

Miss Maurice Sopha is spending two months with her grandmother, Mrs. J. Hurl, of Port Hope.

The many friends of Miss Beatrice Vanvolkenburg will be glad to hear she has been successful in passing her first form examinations.

Miss Edna Vansickle is spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carman.

Mrs. Robins has returned to her home after spending a month with her daughter, Mrs. Alex. McLarlin.

Messrs. Hugh and Alex. Imes spent a day at their cottage.

Miss Bernice Kelch spent a couple of weeks with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell, of Toronto, are camping at Deer Lake.

Having long since transcended its national status the Canadian National Exhibition is now an annual international display of the natural and manufactured products of many nations, an educational institution of unquestioned merit and an industrial stimulant without an equal in any other annual exhibition anywhere.

Hall's Bridge

Miss Norah Endicott, of Lindsay, is the guest of Mrs. Art Smith.

On Tuesday the Buckhorn and Selwyn ball teams played a game at the 16th concession, the result being a win for Buckhorn, 8-2.

While bathing off the shore of Sandy Lake Miss Juby, of Peterborough, was struck by a piece of shell thrown by her brother. A severely bruised eye and a cut on the upper eyelid was inflicted. After the wounds had been dressed she was able to return home.

On August 10, a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Steve Taylor, of Curve Lake.

After Sundown
A FAIRYLAND . . . OF FUN

Although primarily and basically an industrial, cultural and agricultural Exhibition, the "Show Window of the Nations" is a rendezvous of merrymakers after sundown.

The colossal pageant, with a cast of 1500 costumed actors depicting the evolution of our Dominion from the wilderness Cartier discovered until to-day, is an arresting array of brilliance and colour, a vivid portrayal of the development of this great Dominion.

The merry mile-long midway of thrills, of strange sights and weird sounds, is a fun-fair for young and old; and as a grand finale, glittering domes, towers and fagentils of the Exhibition's magnificent display palaces pierce a multi-colored sky afire with brilliant illuminations and crashing, booming, sparkling pyrotechnics. Education, recreation and fun for everyone, that's your Exhibition. This is the big year.

1934 Exhibition Is The 89th Annual Show

Important Factor Making District Farming Centre

Peterborough Exhibition, Which Opens Its Gates Next Week, Was First Started in 1845 as One-Day Fair in Central Park.

NOW COMMUNITY'S OLDEST INSTITUTION EVER INCREASED ITS SCOPE AND VALUE

Ranks as One of the Four Class "A" Fairs in the Province—To-day It Stands as a Symbol of Co-operation and Sacrifice.

When the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition opens its gates at noon Tuesday, August 21, to the crowds which will eagerly probe its wonders, it will be for its 89th annual show.

The Exhibition, which is of so much importance to Peterborough and district, was founded in 1845. The late Frank Dobbin, the city's historian, termed it "the community's oldest institution," and he emphasized its ever-increasing scope and value as an enterprise of progress.

Although nearing the century mark in years, the Exhibition carries its age lightly. It has experienced good years and bad years, depressions and booms, crop failures and bountiful harvests, and still, through it all, has moved steadily forward in its definite purpose of assisting agriculture

Important Factor.

It is agreed that the Exhibition has been an important factor in making this district one of the richest and most enterprising agricultural centres in Ontario. It encourages and rewards the best in farming, presenting the successful agriculturist with an opportunity to display the improved results of his effort and genius and impress others to adopt like methods and gain similar benefits.

The Peterborough Exhibition is large enough to be important, but small enough to be friendly. In its friendliness it resembles the village fair. Not only does farmer converse with farmer, exchanging wise opinion on crops, livestock and poultry, but at the Exhibition, too, farmer and city man meet and the importance of their common interest, the improvement of agriculture, is stressed on every hand.

Symbol of Co-operation.

But the Exhibition did not become what it is without effort—it is a symbol of co-operation and sacrifice. City men and farmers have given unstinting service to the show down through the years. It is an institution of which Central Ontario, and particularly Peterborough, may well be proud.

The foundations of the Exhibition were laid back in 1845 when a small group saw the need, as Mr. Dobbin sets forth, "It was established with the object of encouraging the bringing in and raising of cattle, horses and stock of improved breeds and the general improving of methods of agriculture."

It has passed through many stages of growth and been known by several names. First, it was the West Riding of Peterborough Agriculture Society and was a one-day fair that held forth at Central Park, now Confederation Square. Even the province recognized its worth and made a small grant to assist its work. Later it was renamed the Midland Central Fair, and finally the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

Growth Since War.

Since the war the Exhibition has made its greatest growth. In 1918, the first marked changes and improvements were made. That summer old-time work "bees" were held. Farmers voluntarily brought in their teams and graded the grounds, while other members of the Exhibition Board toiled straightening fences and doing other necessary work. At this period, for three successive years, every member of the directorate donated ten dollars each to assist in defraying the expense of improving the grounds.

New fences were built, new gates erected. In 1920 the handsome manufacturers' building was built by the manufacturers of the city. Year by year new buildings were put up, cow barns, horse barns, poultry building, rest-rooms and secretary's office. During this period of marked expansion more than a dozen permanent buildings were erected.

Funds Subscribed.

All the funds for these buildings were raised by public subscription. Most of the lumber was purchased from the Department of National Defence and it had been formerly used by the 93rd Battalion.

The Exhibition Grounds have an area of 30 acres and can accomodate with comfort a crowd of 15,000. Showmen from all points agree that it has the finest exhibition "plant" of any city in Canada. This is particularly true of its smooth, half-mile race track. Spectators have a clear view of the whole track and miss no action of the speeding horses as they battle for position.

It has a cement, all covered grandstand which will seat 3,000. This grandstand is 260 feet long and more than ten years ago replaced the old 60-foot stand. Beneath the fine new grandstand are dressing rooms for the entertainers who each year thrill the crowds with their sensational acts.

Valued at $75,000.

It is estimated the whole equipment at the Exhibition Grounds has a value of at least $75,000.

Recognition of the outstanding growth of the Peterborough Exhibition came two years ago when the Federal Department of Agriculture gave the local Exhibition Class A rating. There are only three other shows in Ontario—Toronto, Ottawa and London—With Class A rating.

Marmora Engages New School Staff

MARMORA, Aug. 14.—(Examiner Correspondent.) — The staff of Marmora Continuation school has been engaged for the coming year. Hundreds of applications received for vacant positions made selection difficult.

Mr. E. J. Gale has been engaged as principal. He will teach mathematics and science. Mr. Alan Smith of Millbrook, will be assistant teacher of mathematics and science. Miss P. Wilson of Garden Hill is the only member of last year's staff to return. The other teacher it is expected, will be Miss Farley of Ottawa. She will teach Latin and Art and such other subjects as may be arranged. The acceptance of her application awaits confirmation.

Boggs-Skuce—That the Council adjourn, to meet on Thursday, September 6, at one o'clock p.m.

Weddings

ARCHER—BEGGS.

JANETVILLE, Aug. 14.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A marriage of interest to many in the Janetville vicinity was performed in Carlton Street United Church, Toronto, on Wednesday, when Estella Beggs, daughter of the late Mr. George Beggs and Mrs. Beggs, all well-known former citizens of Janetville, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. Chester Archer, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Archer, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Crossley Hunter.

Following a short honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and other points, the happy couple will take up residence in Dewhurst boulevard, Toronto. A host of former friends at Janetville extend best wishes to the young couple.

WRIGHT—FOUND.

YELVERTON, Ont., Aug. 14. — (Examiner Correspondence). — A quiet but pretty wedding of wide interest took place on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pound, Little Britain, when their daughter, Ada Acy, was united in matrimony to Ernest Robinson Wright, son of Mrs. Richard Wright and the late Mr. R. Wright, of Yelverton. The ceremony was performed on the beautiful lawn at the bride's home by Rev. J. G. McKee, of Little Britain.

The bride approached the ceremonial scene on the arm of her father, carrying a beautiful bouquet of roses and sweet peas, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ross Pound. She was daintily attired in a gown of eggshell pink sheer crepe cut in long lines with elbow length puffed sleeves. She also wore a pretty bandeau of pink flowers and matching accessories.

Miss Marion Lee, niece of the bride, acted as flower girl and carried a bouquet of pink and white gladioli. She wore a pretty maize organdie frock and hat. Little Charlie Gorrill, nephew of the bride, was the groom's ring-bearer. During the signing of the register Lloyd Pound, brother of the bride, played "The Perfect Day."

Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served to twenty-five guests. The happy young couple left by motor for a short honeymoon. The bride travelled in a navy crepe fitted swagger suit and white accessories. On returning they will take up residence at Yelverton.

Probe Woman's Death In Auto Collision

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 14 (CP)—An inquest has been ordered in the case of Mrs. Charles G. Bolton, aged 55, of New Dublin, fatally injured on Saturday night when the car driven by her husband met in collision with another car driven by George Power, Brockville, on No. 29 Highway, two miles north of here.

Found crouched beneath the dash board of the car after the accident, she died in hospital an hour afterwards.

Her husband, Charles Bolton, suffered a fracture of the right arm, concussion, together with severe bruises and lacerations about the face and legs, while their daughter, Evelyn, was cut and bruised about the head, body and legs. Both are in the General Hospital.

George Power, driver of the other car, was also removed to the hospital, but was able to leave that institution on Sunday. His car overturned in the ditch and was destroyed by fire, Power being removed from the machine with difficulty.

E. G. HAND BUYS REVIEW PLANT

Review Printing Company's Plant is Sold by A. H. Stratton.

FOUNDED IN 1853

The Review Printing Company, one of the oldest establishments in the city, recently changed management. A. H. Stratton, manager of the Review since 1917, has been succeeded in that capacity by E. G. Hand, formerly of Toronto.

The Review was founded in 1853. At one time a weekly paper was published and later a daily. Mr. Stratton purchased the old Daily Times and combined it as a publication with the Review. Later The Examiner purchased the Review, but Mr. Stratton continued its business of job printing.

The new manager, Mr. Hand, was born into the printing business, his father, the late E. D. Hand, being proprietor of the Fenelon Falls Gazette. Later Mr. Hand was connected with the Cobalt Citizen, the New Liskeard News and the Northern Miner.

VANSICKLE.

Mr. Gesser, of Walkerton, and Miss Ruth Jones, of Marmora, spent Tuesday evening the guests of Miss Jean Sopha.

Mr. Harry Vansickle has moved his engine to North Marmora, where he will start to thresh.

Mr. Roy Althouse spent Tuesday at Oak Lake.

Miss Maurice Sopha is spending two months with her grandmother, Mrs. J. Hurl, of Port Hope.

The many friends of Miss Beatrice Vanvolkenburg will be glad to hear she has been successful in passing her first form examinations.

Miss Edna Vansickle is spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carman.

Mrs. Robins has returned to her home after spending a month with her daughter, Mrs. Alex. McLarlin.

Messrs. Hugh and Alex. Imes spent a day at their cottage.

Miss Bernice Kelch spent a couple of weeks with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell, of Toronto, are camping at Deer Lake.

Having long since transcended its national status the Canadian National Exhibition is now an annual international display of the natural and manufactured products of many nations, an educational institution of unquestioned merit and an industrial stimulant without an equal in any other annual exhibition anywhere.

Hall's Bridge

Miss Norah Endicott, of Lindsay, is the guest of Mrs. Art Smith.

On Tuesday the Buckhorn and Selwyn ball teams played a game at the 16th concession, the result being a win for Buckhorn, 8-2.

While bathing off the shore of Sandy Lake Miss Juby, of Peterborough, was struck by a piece of shell thrown by her brother. A severely bruised eye and a cut on the upper eyelid was inflicted. After the wounds had been dressed she was able to return home.

On August 10, a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Steve Taylor, of Curve Lake.

HAMILTON.—When the milk wagon he was driving was struck by a C.N.R. freight train at the Sherman Avenue crossing early to-day, Tony Kwienk escaped with many bruises and a bad shaking up. He was travelling south and he did not observe the approaching train. The horse was killed and the wagon destroyed.

RETAIL PRICE IS INCREASED TO TEN CENTS

Milk Control Board Will Stand Behind New Code for Peterborough.

PRESENT PRICE $1.20.

All Milk Must Be Sold in Bottles—No Premiums or Discounts Allowed.

A general retail price of ten cents a quart for both raw and pasteurized milk with a basic price of $1.70 per hundred pounds to the producer was set in a code signed by producers and distributors of the Peterborough district and approved by the Ontario Milk Control Board at a sitting in the City Council chamber last night. The new prices will be effective to-morrow.

The signing of the code indicated the bringing to an end of chaotic conditions which have prevailed in the milk industry in this district for three years. With a quiet but continued price war being waged by raw milk distributors, pasteurized milk distributors, producer-vendors and other factions in the business, the retail price about the city has ranged from five to nine cents a quart. Although prices to the producers in other centers of Ontario have been, on the whole, maintained above the $1.50 level, the Peterborough producer has been receiving $1.20 up to the present.

More Than Sixty

Chairman of the Board, J. A. MacFeeters, with his able cohort, J. E. Houck, supervised the discussions and the drawing up of the code with firm hands. More than sixty producers and vendors heard pleas for sane and fair co-operation voiced by Mr. MacFeeters and Mr. Houck shortly after they convened at 8 o'clock. The two groups then divided for separate discussion and reassembled to give unanimous endorsation to the code designed tentatively by Secretary J. B. Nelson. Mr. Houck stated clearly that the Board would stand behind the code but that it would be readily alterable on the agreement of the producers and distributors in the future.

The code follows:

"The undersigned distributors of milk in the city of Peterborough agree with the milk producers for the city as follows:

"The milk distributors will pay to milk producers $1.71 per hundred pounds of milk testing 3.6 per cent butter fat delivered to plants, payable to the producer with one cent payable to the Peterborough Producers' Association.

COLIN CAMPBELL LIBERAL CHOICE

Will Contest Frontenac-Addington in Federal By-election.

RAN FOR LEGISLATURE.

KINGSTON, Aug. 15. — Colin Campbell will be the Liberal candidate for the Federal by-election in the Frontenac-Addington riding it was decided yesterday. Mr. Campbell was the unanimous choice of the many delegates.

A new Federal organization for the constituency was appointed when the Provincial organization was promoted as a body. A. R. Black will be president, and James Garvin Secretary-Treasurer, it was announced. These men were in charge of the recent Provincial campaign, in which Colin Campbell was defeated.

Ross W. Gray member from West Lambton, and Nelson Parliament, organizer for the Ontario Liberal Association, both of whom spoke on behalf of Mr. Campbell, will also be active in the coming campaign, it was stated.

"FORGOTTEN 400"

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (CP)—Battery Park, Mecca of tourists when the sun is high, has it night visitors, too. They sleep on benches and in the band stand. A New Peach

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 15.—(CP) — While on a trip through Michigan a year ago, a local resident tasted coffee and peaches grown there. On his return he brought seeds of both plants. Now he has three coffee plants and a peach vine. The peaches taste like Canadian grown but grow on a vine instead of a tree. There are no pits and are about the size of a goose egg.

CHANGED NAME MISLEAD PUBLIC PROBE COMMENT

Chief Justice Latchford Very Critical About Power Company Changing Name.

WANTS REASON PRODUCED.

TORONTO, Aug. 15. —(C. P.)—Changing the name of the Hudson Bay Power Company to the "Ontario Power Service Corporation" was apparently for no other purpose than to mislead the public Chief Justice F. R. Latchford said at the "Abitibi deal" probe to-day.

The Chief Justice with Hon. Robert Smith constitute the Royal Commission conducting the inquiry into the acquisition of the Abitibi Canyon Power property by the Ontario Government. The power development was launched first by the Hudson Bay Power Company, a subsidiary of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company but the name was later changed to the Ontario Power Service Corporation.

Produce Evidence.

Evidence should be produced, said the Chief Justice, to show the reason advanced for the change and what steps the Government took to ensure there was no fraudulent intent at it appeared main idea was to make it easier to sell bonds to the public.

The commission held a short sitting to-day and adjourned at noon on account of the funeral of J. R. Cooke, former chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, who died from injuries received in an automobile accident.

Always Opposed Purchase.

R. T. Jeffrey, chief municipal engineer of the Hydro Commission was on the stand all morning and insisted he had always been opposed to the purchase of power from the Abitibi canyon. He thought Hydro should have developed its own power sites on the Mississauga river in order to supply the city and district of Sudbury.

When he signed reports recommending the acceptance of an offer from the Hudson Bay Power Company of 100,000 horsepower at $13 per horsepower he said he had been carrying out what he conceived to be the wishes of F. A. Gaby, former chief engineer although Mr. Gaby had given him no instructions.

Cattle Truck Upsets Injuring Four Men

HAMILTON, Aug. 15 (C.P.). — Four men were injured and a load of cattle was scattered over the roadway when a truck owned by Andre Wise of Princeton, Ont., and driven by Charles E. Meggs, overturned 50 yards east of the intersection of No. 8 and No. 5 highway about 3½ miles distant from Rockton shortly before noon to-day.

Those hurt were L. Govier and N. Newton, riding in the truck with Meggs, who suffered a cut forehead and lacerations of the face and arms, and Milton Peters, who had been picked up by Walter Townend, Toronto, at Clappison's Corners when he asked for a lift shortly before. Townend's car was struck and damaged by the careening truck and Peters, who was in the front seat alongside of the driver, received a smashed shoulder. With the exception of Meggs, who was given first aid treatment by highway motorcycle officers, the injured were taken to the general hospital, Hamilton, on the instructions of Dr. R. Smith, Dundas.

HAMILTON.—A service in honor of the memory of Sir Adam Back was held at his grave in Hamilton Cemetery this afternoon. Civic and Provincial dignitaries gathered for the occasion and the service was conducted by Venerable Archdeacon McIntosh of Dundas.

THREE TROPHIES IN COMPETITION ON CLUB GREENS

Crack Bowling Fours From Woodstock to Kingston Entered in 5th Annual Event.

36 OTHER PRIZES.

Leaden Skies Fail to Dampen Spirits of Kitty Tossers in Open Tourney.

Fifty-four crack bowling rinks, representing clubs from Woodstock to Kingston, but chiefly drawn from the cream of bowlers among Central Ontario clubs, started out this morning at the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club in the biggest bowling tournament ever held in this city and one that may set a new record for Ontario.

It was the fifth annual open tourney of the Peterborough club, and promises to be an eventful day in bowling history.

Possession of three trophies hangs in the balance upon the result of the day's competition. First there is the prized Stratton Trophy, the C.D.S. Cup for runner-up, and the Warne Cup for the hard-luck grind. As though these valuable cups were not sufficient to raise the bowlers to their best efforts, there are 36 other sets of prizes. These prizes were donated by local business firms. Altogether the tourney ranks as the richest ever bowled off in this district. In fact, with the prizes neatly piled in rows this morning, a section of the club house resembled a merchandising establishment.

Brave Weather Man

The Wealth Man tried to dampen the spirits of the bowlers this morning, but the competitors were equal to the occasions. Leadened skies and showers of rain failed to dampen their spirits, and then Old Sol shone forth, chased away the clouds, and by 10 o'clok it looked as though the tourney would enjoy perfect weather for the remainder of the day.

Large Entry List

A list of the clubs competing reads like a railway timetable. The list with the number of rinks from each club is as follows: Peterborough, 21; Madoc, 1; Kingston, 1; Bowmanville, 3; Woodstock, 1; Oshawa, 2; Port Hope, 3; Uxbridge, 3; Port Perry, 2; Cannington, 2; Belleville, 1; Cobourg 6; Campbellford, 1; Warkworth, 1; Norwood, 1; Lindsay, 2; Toronto Strathconas, 1; Toronto St. Matthews, 1; Toronto

SHEEP KILLERS ROUSE FARMERS

Police Dog and Hound Blamed for Killing 12 Near Brantford.

OTHERS TORN.

BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 15. — (C.P.).—"Get those dogs," is the slogan of aroused and armed sheep owners of the Mount Pleasant district, whose flocks have, for the past two weeks, been ravaged by two dogs, one a police dog and the other described as a "hound."

Last night two sheep from the flock of John Richardson, Pleasant Ridge, were killed, while others were left bleeding and torn. The killings of last night brought the total for the two weeks' period up to 12—all in the same section of Brantford Township.

Brantford Township officials stated this morning that all dog owners in the township had been advised to keep a close watch on their dogs, and every effort was being made to kill the wily pair responsible for the killings.

John S. Labatt

Kidnapped brewery head for whose release his brother Hugh, in a Toronto hotel holds $150,000 ready to pay on an instant's notice. The time limit of threatened death, unless the ransom was paid, expired at one o'clock noon.

FAMILY OBJECT TO MOB AROUND HUGH LABATT

Claim So Many Persons Make it Impossible to Contact Gang.

ANXIOUS FOR WORD.

LONDON Ont., Aug. 15.—(C.P.)—Contact with the kidnappers of John S. Labatt, London brewer, cannot be made in Toronto because of the large number of interested parties following the movements of Hugh Labatt, brother of the missing man, it was stated here this afternoon by Claude Savage, spokesman for the Labatt family.

Savage, a member of the law firm of Ivy, Elliott and Cillanders at London, was in touch by telephone with Hugh Labatt at 2.10 p.m. E.D.T., when she was informed no contact had been made and none could be made because of by-standers and observers at the hotel where Labatt is registered. Savage was advised Labatt "does not expect the contact will be made in Toronto."

Uneasiness pervaded the Labatt home on Central avenue, where the family has been silently waiting word from Hugh Labatt, brother of the missing brewery president, who raced to Toronto with the ransom money a few hours after the disappearance yesterday. Mrs. John Labatt, mother of the brewer, is in poor health and his wife is still in uncertain condition following the birth of a child four months ago. All are alarmed lest the shock prove seriously harmful to the head of the house.

Anxious For Father

The family, anxious for the father's weak heart which had forced him to follow a special diet for some time, was anxious to make a contact with the kidnappers but appeared unable to do so. From the London home, which has been barred to visitors since the kidnapping, phone calls went out to relatives in Ottawa and Sarnia to make no move, give out no statement. But the family waited in vain for word from Hugh in Toronto that he had been able to turn over the ransom.

A round-up by police of suspicious characters revealed nothing. Scores of cars halted on the highway on the way to Toronto and to Sarnia where they might pass over to the United States at Port Huron Mich., yielded no clue. So police went quietly about a systematic search of the western Ontario peninsula in the hope they might stumble on the kidnapper's lair.

Notables From Many Walks of Life Attend Services at Rawdon Farm Home.

NEIGHBORS, PALL BEARERS

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 15.—Present and former members of the Ontario Hydro Commission, members of civic fraternal bodies in Hastings county and numerous personal and intimate friends attended the funeral of the late J. R. Cooke, held this afternoon from his residence on the eighth concession of Rawdon township, near Harold.

Owing to the ill-health of his widow the funeral was held from his spacious farm home, but there was an opportunity for only those connected to enter the house so large was the attendance.

Rev. Canon Swayne of Bonarlaw, Rev. T. H. H. Hall, Rev. Stanley Morton conducted the services at the home and graveside, interment being made in St. Thomas' cemetery. Officers of Tanner L.O.L. 62 held their service at the conclusion of the religious ceremony.

There was no eulogy, the simple service of the Anglican church being used throughout. Immediate neighbors where he had spent his whole life acted as pallbearers. Floral tributes from many organizations testified to his esteem in the community and world of affairs.

EXPECT BREAK IN KIDNAP CASE BY SIX O'CLOCK

No Ransom Paid, Yet Says Hugh Labatt, Waiting in Toronto Hotel.

UNDER HEAVY GUARD.

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—(C. P.)—A break in the sensational Labatt kidnapping case is expected by police by six o'clock (E.D.T.) tonight, it was learned confidentially today. Though Ontario and Toronto police have been silent since wealthy John Labatt, London brewer, was abducted yesterday morning, both forces are working actively on all angles.

Every effort was being made to shield the movements of Hugh Labatt, brother of the abducted man, who drove 150 miles from London to Toronto yesterday within a few hours after the brewer had been taken from his car while driving from Sarnia to keep an appointment in London, the brewery headquarters.

At his hotel in Toronto today, Hugh Labatt told the Canadian Press he had not paid over any ransom.

He was authoritatively said to have drawn from a London bank $150,000—the amount demanded by the abductors in a kidnap-note under threat of death.

Under Guard.

A nervous Hugh Labatt talked to newspapermen to-day in his dressing gown at his hotel room. He was guarded by Inspector Gardner of Ontario police, formerly of London, Ont. In adjoining rooms were city detectives, forming a miniature police headquarters on the hotel floor. Reporters were searched for cameras before they entered the Labatt suite.

While Labatt gave assurances he had made no contact with the kidnappers, he refused to give out the contents of the ransom-note, said to be signed by "Three-Fingered Abe," which was found under the front seat of the abandoned car of John Labatt in London yesterday. He said he could not say whether he would remain at the hotel during the day.

Contact Fails.

While Hugh Labatt carefully guarded the contents of the kidnap note a rumor subsequently denied said it contained specific orders to await contact from the kidnappers at 10 a.m. If this was so, the kidnappers' agent defaulted on the meeting. It was reported and denied that nevertheless some contact had been established.

While police reiterated their statement that no contact had been made with the abductors there were mysterious activities at noon around the hotel.

Two unidentified men, one of foreign appearance, went up to the fifth floor and after knocking were admitted to detective quarters adjacent to the suite occupied by the kidnapped man's brother. They were in the room some minutes behind closed doors when one reappeared with Detective Sergeant Frank Crowe of the city force, accompanied by a bell boy carrying four grips. They alone were allowed on the elevator, and disappeared.

The detective returned later and gave a jocular reply when asked what the bags contained. He insisted no contact had been made with the abductors.

Mounties Interested.

Meanwhile it was learned that Superintendent King of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Toronto was conferring with Gen. Draper, chief of Toronto police, and Gen. V. A. S. Williams, commissioner of Ontario police.

There was no doubt the mounted were co-operating with the other two forces in efforts to round up the kidnappers.

Hon. Arthur W. Roebuck, Attorney General, was known to have wired Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Canadian Minister of Justice, seeking full assistance of the Dominion police. King's visit here was in response to the Attorney General's telegram.

Meanwhile, all holidays and leaves were cancelled in the Provincial Department of Criminal Investigation and every available man was mobilized for the search.

Dominion's Greatest Hunt is On—Family Fear Shock Fatal to Victim.

TORONTO, Aug. 15. —(C. P. —A Toronto paper to-day says a note, believed to be authentic, from John S. Labatt, kidnapped London brewer, was received at London to-day by members of the Labatt family, it was disclosed late to-day.

"Do everything possible to aid my release," the note read, "and obey orders given." The note was signed "John Labatt" and members of the family, it was stated expressed belief the signature and handwriting were genuine.

(By the Canadian Press)

Ontario waited tense this afternoon for some word of the daring kidnappers of John S. Labatt, widely-known brewer of London, Ont., who vanished with their victim before noon yesterday.

But Ontario waited in vain—while hundreds of police scoured all parts of the western Ontario peninsula, and while Hugh Labatt, brother of the missing man, ached for a chance to hand over the $150,000 the kidnappers demanded.

Ontario waited helplessly—wondering whether the criminals who snatched the 60-year-old sportsman from his car had kept their promise to kill him if the ransom was not turned over within 24 hours—elapsed at ne o'clock E.D.T. this afternoon.

And Hugh Labatt waited—excited, restless, almost hopeless—in a suite in the largest hotel in Canada, for a phone call or message from the men who hold his brother. He waited in the midst of a bustle of policemen, a crowd of eager reporters and said he was "still hopeful" for a contact.

At London in a cosy home the Labatt family almost in distress. Behind locked doors and drawn

BROTHER HOLDS $150,000 CASH RANSOM READY

Note Threatens Death to Londoner Unless Gang Paid in 24 Hours.

HUNT FORMER EMPLOYEE.

Dominion, Provincial Police on Trail, Fear Victim Taken Over Border.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 15.—(CP)—Wheels of justice rolled silently today as the law continued an intensive hunt for the kidnappers of John S. Labatt, millionaire London brewer. Police activity was veiled with secrecy while the deadline for payment of $150,000 ransom neared.

Appearance of Canada's first ransom kidnapping came with the finding of a note in Labatt's car, demanding the huge ransom within 24 hours under threat of death. The 50-year-old brewery head was believed kidnapped after he left his Sarnia Beach summer home at 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning for London and the 24-hour death threat sped authorities along the kidnappers' trail this morning.

Hugh Labatt, a brother of the missing man and vice-president of the brewery firm, rushed to Toronto yesterday, reported to be carrying $150,000, which lent support to the belief Toronto was to be the "pay-off" center. No indication, however, was forthcoming as to whether the kidnappers had been contacted in the Ontario capital.

While police and the abducted man's brother, refused to reveal their moves, numerous theories spread across the province. One report placed the hide-away the gangsters chose for Labatt in a

PROBE NEAR END IN AIR SERVICE

Capt. Maxwell Claims Airdrome Costs Not Accurately Represented.

FULL CREDIT NOT GIVEN.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 15 (CP)—The hearing of evidence here at the probe into the Ontario Government Air Service will be completed to-day if the hopes of D. W. Lang, K.C., are realised. The inquiry will continue to-night, he said, if necessary, with further sessions to be held later in Toronto.

Captain W. Roy Maxwell, in giving evidence yesterday, said the cost of running the airdrome was not accurately represented in the annual book given to the public. Caches of Government gasoline were used as depots for sale to commercial aircraft hired by the government, and the service receives credit for the sale, he stated. The service, he continued, was allowed no credit for a sinking fund for depreciation and upkeep on the airdrome here and at Sioux Lookout These expenses had to be made from the annual grant. Work was also done on Forestry Branch canoes.

Captain Maxwell will probably leave the stand until the probe resumes in Toronto.

Material worth about $245 was made into fire-screens and andirons valued by T. H. Lake at about $600. They were sent to the Parliament Buildings at Toronto. Mr. Lake, a blacksmith at the airdrome, said he did not make a metal wreath exhibited at the Canadian National Exhibition in 1933, and valued at about $1,200, at the airdrome, as has been stated by former witness. He had made the wreath before the witness came to the district, Mr. Lake said.

Gus O'Reilly, air engineer since 1927, told of an unsuccessful experiment with homing pigeons at the airdrome. They had been intended originally for maintaining communication between the airplanes and the airdrome; but on a trial, only one out of four had returned, and it, he stated, came in 24 hours after being released. Pigeons were still kept in the hangar, he said.

Carolina Governor Commutes Term, Suspends 9 Years Jones Was Free.

MODEL CITIZEN AGAIN.

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

COLUMBIA, S.C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Ben Jones of Los Angeles, who dared the guns of prison guards to become a model citizen, went free today to resume a nine-year trend of life abruptly broken last fall by the revelation that he was C. D. Cooper, an escaped South Carolina convict.

The man who unsuccessfully placed a continent between himself and his past won his way back into the world of the unfettered by a clemency from Governor I. C. Blackwood.

For the past 11 months, he has sat behind bars and relieved the deadly routine from which he escaped "over the wall" in 1925 to transform himself into Ben Jones, husband of a devoted wife, a respected citizen and steady provider 3,000 miles from the scene of a murder he allegedly committed 15 years ago.

Wife Fights For Him

Mrs. Irene Jones, who married him four years ago without knowing of his jail record, announced "I don't care—I would give my life for him," and crossed the country with an attorney to intercede with Governor Blackwood last October.

Spectators who saw Cooper tried and convicted of killing Nick Dulcis, Birmingham, Ala., taxi driver at Bennettsville in 1919 write the governor they felt convinced of his innocence. But a South Carolina jury had adjudged him guilty.

Yesterday the governor announced he believed that the requirements of justice had been met. He commuted the life term to 13 years and suspended the portion of it during which Cooper was at liberty.

HITLER FIGHTS TO SAVE NATION

Goal of 100 Day Campaign is to Reduce Amount of Imports Needed.

AID FOR EXPORTERS.

(By A. D. Stefferud, Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—The German nation embarked to-day on a 100-day campaign to pull itself out of a morass of economic ills.

The purpose of the campaign is the reduction in the amount of imports needed and in its success or failure lies largely the success or failure of Germany's pressing trade and foreign exchange problems. Trade figures for the first six months of 1934 show that imports increased 10 per cent over the same period last year, while exports have dropped 12 per cent.

With the start of the campaign there became effective also a decree lifting prohibitive tariffs on grain imports, following a costly drought.

Germans are asked as a patriotic duty to save all they can—to watch lest they use unwisely pieces of rubber, paper, grain foodstuffs and meals; to conserve such things as bristles and to seek substitutes for articles not produced in Germany.

The next 100 days is expected to mean much in working out Germany's economic salvation and that, neutral observers declare, is all of Germany's immediate future.

As an aid in the fight to wipe out the adverse trade balance, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, acting head of the Minister of Economics, announced he would give firms manufacturing for export preferential treatment in filling their needs for raw materials. Distribution of such materials is in control of the State because of the foreign exchange situation.

Nominations Of County Liberals

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 15 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—For the purposes of nominating a candidate for the forthcoming Federal election, and the election of county officers, the Liberal Association of Northumberland County will go into convention on Friday afternoon, August 24, at Warkworth. The meeting will be held in the Town Hall and will convene at 2 p.m. Standard time. Speakers for this function will be Charles D. Howard, M.P., of Sherbrooke, Quebec; W. A. Fraser, M.P., of Northumberland; and Harold N. Carr, Liberal member for Northumberland in the Provincial Government.

SEE INDICATION OF SECRET FUND T., N.O. RAILROAD

Allege Certain Favored Employees Were Reimbursed for 10 p.c. Cut.

COMPLAINTS FILED.

Probe Evidence Shows 583 Guests Carried on Private Car "Whitney."

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 15 (CP).—Allegations that certain officials and "favored employees" of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway were reimbursed through various departments for the 10 per cent. reduction in their salaries were in the hands of Armand Racine, K.C., commissioner investigating railway affairs, to-day.

The allegations were to be investigated with the resumption of the railway probe along with others that a "secret fund" of the railway had been established.

Commissioner Racine said that complaints filed with him following yesterday's hearing alleged that the 14 per cent. pay cut put into effect by the Conservative Government did not, in fact, apply to all employees. The so-called "favored employees," it was complained, received the 10 per cent. cut back through other railway departments.

Evidence given before the probe yesterday by company executives indicated that Cabinet Ministers and officials of the company had carried 583 guests during the past few years on the private car 'Whitney,' and that 6,570 meals had been served to these guests and their hosts while travelling on the T. and N.O. or on the C.N.R. or C.P.R.

The cost of the meals and other incidentals were charged to the Ministers, Commissioner Racine found, but whether or not the accounts were paid was not made clear. "I have yet to determine whether these meals were actually paid for," the Commissioner said.

The evidence before the Commission has been given under oath and the commissioner under the Public Enquiries Act holds the power of a judge in court. Commissioner Racine states that evidence given yesterday would form a part of his report.

WHEAT EXPERTS WAIT U.S. STAND

Expect Roosevelt to Rap Argentina for Failing to Cooperate on Stabilization.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Indications that President Roosevelt would make a statement shortly on his agricultural policy aroused mixed fears and hopes today as delegates resumed negotiations for extension of the 1933 world's wheat pact. Some representatives at the International Conference believe Mr. Roosevelt will seize the opportunity to rap Argentina on the knuckles on a charge of failing to cooperate in efforts to raise and stabilize wheat prices.

Delegates noted that an official United States delegation is now in Argentine discussing with officials there the possibility of getting better cooperation."

The American delegation went to Buenos Aires after negotiations fell through two months ago to grant Argentina an increased quota and she exceeded her 1933-34 allotment.

Other observers expressed fear that if Mr. Roosevelt should rebuke Argentina, and possibly some European countries, for pursuing Nationalistic agricultural policies, it would endanger the prospect of reaching an agreement at the present conference.

It was believed he may indicate the United States will cease to take the leadership in international restriction schemes and threaten to return withdrawn acreage in America to wheat unless something is accomplished here.

DR. FRAIN DROWNS AT HALIBURTON

Former Toronto Resident Suffers Heart Stroke While Swimming.

LINDSAY, Aug. 15.—Dr. Frain, aged 40 years, of Haliburton, was drowned yesterday afternoon in shallow water at Kushog Lake, three miles south of the village. He had motored to Wag-a-nog Inn, and went in bathing with a number of tourists. On his first dip he took in a mouthful of water, and returned to a diving-board, where he rested. When he next took a short swim, he sank and failed to come up. His body was recovered after five minutes, but life was extinct. Dr. Speck of Haliburton said death was due to heart failure, as there was very little water in the lungs. Dr. Crowe, Coroner of Minden, deemed an inquest unnecessary. Dr. Frain, whose home was in Toronto, settled in Haliburton eight years ago. He is survived by his wife and one son. He was popular in the village and district, and was an officer of the Masonic Lodge at Haliburton, and a member of the Anglican Church.

Large Tomato Weighs 17 Ounces

CAMPBELLFORD, August 15 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—And despite the lack of moisture in this section of the country, some large fruit or vegetables are being grown by Campbellford amateur gardeners. This fact was evidenced when George Lucy produced a splendid specimen of tomato from his garden, weighing exactly one pound and one ounce. The vegetable was large, firm, and well colored, and measured exactly fourteen inches in circumference.

Australia boasts that it now has one-seventh of the world's sheep.

HOUSE DELAYS LONG'S PROGRAM

Refuses to Sanction Bare Majority Instead of Two-thirds for Rule Suspension.

SPECIAL SESSION.

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 15.—(A. P.). — Senator Huey P. Long political machine started a steamroller assault on the New Orlean's City Government to-day, but the throttle was stuck short of the high speed sought by the "Kingfish."

The first skirmish on the floor of the Legislature went against the Senator. The house, which he controlled during the recent regular session, refused to suspend rules so Long could rush through measures to tighten his grip on the hostile city.

More than two dozen bills were put on the calendar in an effort to widen state control over New Orleans affairs and provide for a sweeping investigation into the municipal government.

Ignoring a New Orleans Civil District Court injunction ordering him to disband the National Guardsmen who hold the Orleans voting registration office, Senator Long came to Baton Rouge, stood by while his political lieutenant, Gov. O. K. Allen, issued a sudden call for a 12-day session of the Legislature and then sent the bills before the Assembly through floor leaders.

Eighty-three of the 100 house members and 29 of the 37 Senators managed to reach the capitol for the session at 10 p.m., last night and the Long floor leaders at once introduced resolutions to amend the Legislature procedure to provide that only a bare majority be required to suspend the rule instead of two-thirds now necessary.

The Senate assented, 21 to 7, but the House balked after a bitter floor exchange.

Lively Imagination Laid To Spry Negro

WINDSOR, Aug. 15—(CP)—"Willie sure must have seen ghosts" said Essex County jail officials to-day when told the Chattanooga lad had said to New York police that a prisoner was hanged in Essex County jail and buried beneath Willie's cell window.

There has only been one hanging in the jail in some 30 years and that took place last year.

"While Willie was with us he did not tell any ghost stories," the official commented. "He sure was one spry lad and his imagination is just as spry as his feet. He did what was considered absolutely impossible when he leaped from one vantage point to another, just like a monkey, and escaped over the 25-foot wall in the exercise yard. And then when he hid in the river with just the end of his nose above water he sure showed he was resourceful. You know we rather miss him since he went away even if he did not tell us ghost yarns."

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

In the summertime when white is so cool to look at and fashionable to wear, it is pleasant to realize that it is also a wise choice for garments. It does not fade. That can be relied upon. Since white is the absence of color, there are no pigments in any form to loose their hues. Perspiration marks can be removed easily. The sun bleaches white materials to a more equisite tone of dazzling beauty. White washes better than colors. When the highest guarantee of the laundering of colored textiles is given, they are said to wash like a piece of white goods. A well laundered garment of white cotton or linen takes on the appearance of fresh new goods. One such frock that is whole and undamaged or torn, can be so revived by laundering when its gets soiled that it actually is as good as new.

* * * * * * *

In speaking of white goods not changing color reference has been to cotton and linen. Silk grows yellow with age. That is it gets a cream color which gradually darkens to a deep cream. But since its darkens uniformly, this is scarcely a fault. It is more of a peculiarity. Cream silk is as much in demand as pure white. If anything it is in greater demand, and so it can scarcely be said to be detrimental to a white silk frock if it becomes cream color. However, to avoid quick changing white silk after washing should be dried in the shade.

* * * * * *

One advantage which every woman will appreciate about wearing white is that one is not recognized, nor dated, by its color. That is one dress can be worn repeatedly, especially if different accessories are used with it. With colors it is not so. A costume is known to ones friend by its color, a green, a yellow, orchid, etc., frock. It is easy to remember when it was that it made its first appearance, and by the same token it can be said to be last year's dress, or year before lasts for that matter. A white dress is undated.

* * * * * *

White for little children is an economy. It will not fade. It washes wonderfully. Spots and stains can be removed easier from white than from any color. And it is the daintiest of all colors for costuming the little folk.

EMPHASIZE LOVELY EYES, IF MOUTH IS UNATTRACTIVE

A famous American artist and portrait painter recently created quite an uproar in Hollywood by announcing that he could not find one single perfect beauty in the whole of the movie city. Katharine Hepburn, he pointed out, has too strong and prominent a jaw. Norma Shearer's eyes are too small and close together. Jean Harlow's features are too heavy. All the stars, he insisted, are generally looked upon as being beautiful by the public. Yet not a one of them possesses all the ideal beauty points.

Perhaps that's true enough. But most stars know how to conceal their beauty defects, know how to create the illusion of perfect loveliness. Take Loretta Young, for instance. Loretta has very prominent teeth. But she makes this defect negligible by dispensing with the use of lipstick entirely during the daytime. And she makes up her lovely eyes skillfully, so that the observer's attention will be called to them and not to her mouth.

No girl who has prominent or protruding teeth should make her mouth brilliant. For if she does, she will immediately call attention to the imperfections of that feature. The wisest plan for her is to concentrate on perfecting the loveliness of the attractive features she possesses, so that they, rather than her mouth, will be outstanding.

A mouth that is too small for beauty can always be made to appear larger. And a mouth that is too large can be made to look smaller. It's all through the clever use of make-up. But a mouth that is marred by prominent or protruding teeth should have no attention called to it whatsoever. If any lipstick is used, it should be applied with a careful and sparing hand.

Of course, such a mouth shouldn't be neglected entirely. The skin never should be permitted to become dry and scaly. It should, through the proper use of emollients, be kept of a soft, smooth texture. And if the lips are absolutely pale and do not possess the least vestige of natural color, a bit of lipstick may be used. But in this case, the coloring should be applied very lightly, and any excess should be carefully wiped away after its application.

Loretta Young

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Manicure

Blondie: If you can't afford manicures right now, do your own manicuring. You'll find full instructions in my booklet on "Care of the Hands and Nails". There's no reason why your nails shouldn't look beautifully groomed when done by yourself, if you follow instructions.

Hand Lotion

Peggy: An excellent hand lotion can be made of equal parts of rosewater and glycerine, or of one part of glycerine and three parts of rosewater.

Mouth Wash

Marcella: An excellent mouth wash can be made by dissolving one-fourth teaspoon borax, one-fourth teaspoon of peroxide, and one-fourth teaspoon of salt in a glass of warm water.

Legs

Gretchen: The exercises in my article on "Care of the Feet and Legs" are indeed helpful in reducing fat, flabby thighs and thick ankles. These exercises, I regret to say, are too long to print here.

Colors

Mary L.: I think that you will find shades of brown, gray, blue, tan, dark green, dark red and black most becoming to you.

$1,500,000 PICTURE.

PARIS, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—A despatch to a Paris newspaper says Andrew W. Mellon has paid the Soviet Government $1,500,000, one of the largest sums ever reported in such a transaction, for Raphael's painting, the "Alba Madonna."

Mellon, former Secretary of the United States Treasury, already has a superb Raphael collection.

The despatch, from Riga, said Russia sold the picture because it needed the funds, but times and circumstances of the transaction were not specified.

ONE PRIZE TOO MANY

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15 (CP)—The thief in the office of Dr. John L. Dorris used wrong "timing."

He picked up a coat, an umbrella, a hat and a clock. But the physician's wife heard the ticks of the clock rading away and, screamed. The thief dropped his loot and fled.

ROSENEATH PAYS E. TURNER HONOR

Over Hundred Gather in Orange Hall for Social on Eve of Departure.

CLUB BAG PRESENTED.

ROSENEATH, Aug. 15.—(Examiner Correspondence). — Nearly one hundred people gathered in the Orange Hall on Friday night, to do honor and bid farewell to Edward Turner who has lived in the village all his life and has been an employee of Mr. Charles Brown, general merchant, for the past six years.

The evening was spent socially in dancing, every one doing his or her part to make a pleasant send off to a young man that was very highly esteemed by both young and old. Edward Turner is the youngest son of the late Frank Turner and Mrs. Lily Turner.

During the evening, a suitable address was read by Nelson Harvie and Flex McMillan made the presentation of a leather club bag. Edward was taken unawares but briefly replied his appreciation and thanks.

Mrs. Tucker sponsored two- spot dances, Mr. Jack Loukes and Miss Eileen Hall, Mr. Billie Halstead and Miss Doreen Elliott winning prizes.

Refreshments were served at midnight and dancing continued for another hour.

At the close of the Sunday School hour on Sunday morning, the Superintendent asked Messrs Orra Robins and Edward Turner to come to the front and Mr. Robins read an address and presented the latter with a bible.

Edward Turner left early on Monday morning for Pittsburg where he will remain for a time.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS
By E. V. SHEPARD

A RIFT BETWEEN LAW MAKERS.

With the worthy object of making it easier and pleasanter for those of one nation to play with those of another nation, "The International Bridge Laws, 1932," were drafted by representatives of the Portland club, London, the Whist club, New York and the Commission Franchsise du Bridge, Paris.

These three legislative bodies appointed themselves to express the views of the players of their respective nations. No particular objection was raised by other players. Probably no other groups of players could have done better. The task was a very difficult one, as the three legislative bodies represented in general, three different stages of bridge advancement. After an investigation of the mathematical side of the game, and the laws governing card distributions, in 1928, representatives of two great universities in this country pronounced contract "a science, not a mere pastime." This is the belief of the most advanced players in this country as well as in Canada, Latin America, Australia, New Zealand and scattered residents of many other countries. England in general regards the game as a more or less light pastime. France, and nearly all European countries, still regard the game even more lightly.

Years ago many players here and abroad objected to the informatory double as not meaning what the call indicated. Long ago its efficiency was recognized, and it now is used everywhere without protest. Similarly the present rift comes over feature showing, as definitely locating certain cards, instead of meaning the bidder's possession of a suit which he wants to play. Time will make all see that the call is a logical and necessary part of the game. The Portland club prohibited its use, some months ago. The Whist club answered that it approved of the convention, and that it would continue to use it.

The Portland club announces that a new code must be drawn to make clear if feature showing is or is not legal. Captain Johannes Brun, delegate of the Norwegian Bridge league, writes that the code should be drafted by the International Bridge league, and not by a private club.

It is proposed to divide members of the International Bridge league in zones: 1. Denmark Norway, Sweden. 2. Belgium, England, France, Germany, Holland. 3. Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland. 4. Bulgaria, Italy, Rumania, Switzerland, Yugoslavia. 5. Greece, Turkey, Russia, Zetland, Spain Portugal. 6. America.

The international championship will be played between the European champion team and the champion team of the American Bridge league (unless in the meanwhile a Canadian, Mexican or some other divisional American league is formed). The International Bridge league final contest will take place in the country of the current president of that body—Belgium.

EXHIBITION ADDS FEATURES TO JUNIOR FARMER SECTIONS

Encouragement of Farm Boys and Girls One of Functions of Fair.

WEDNESDAY BIG DAY

Great care has been devoted by the Exhibition directors to arrangements for the section of competitions for junior farmers and farmerettes this year. Since the junior farmer section was first made a definite part of the program several years ago, its importance has increased steadily.

Believing the encouragement of farm boys and girls to be now one of the most valuable functions of the Fair, the committee has planned two full sections of competition for girls including the general household science classes and a new feature, an inter-county team demonstration on good dressing. For the boys there are the regular classes in cattle, poultry, horses, sheep and swine in the livestock section, the showmanship competition and the additional section for the Peterborough Boys' Shorthorn Calf Club. Indications are that the competition will be enthusiastic and that the number of entries in the various classes will be the heaviest yet.

The principal part of the junior program will be carried out on Wednesday, August 22. At 9.30 a.m. household science judging and livestock judging—beef cattle, dairy cattle and poultry—will commence. Livestock judging will continue at 1.30 o'clock that afternoon with heavy horses, sheep and swine the center of interest. At 2 p.m. the dress parade demonstration on good dressing will proceed and the boys will join in the showmanship competition at 4 p.m.

The Shorthorn Calf Club program is being allowed a schedule extending from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Thursday.

As in other years, the junior competitions will be governed on the whole by the general regulations of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. Juniors between 16 and 26 in the case of girls and under 26 in the case of boys residing in Peterborough, Durham, Ontario, Victoria, Northumberland, Hastings and Prince Edward Island, will be eligible. Special restrictions regarding attendance at the Ontario Agricultural College and previous competition apply in certain classes.

Directors who are concentrating on the junior section of the program are Gordon Hancock, chairman of the committee; V. S. Milburn, Carman Seymour, A. D. Runions and H. Webber.

NEW GOLD RUSH IN WEST ONTARIO

Hundreds of Prospectors Canoe Across Boundary Waters to Sanaga Lake.

ORE $17.50 TO TON.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Aug. 15.—(CP)—Free gold, first discovered by three Lakehead Indians into the Lake Seganagons country of Northwestern Ontario. Samples taken from the New Ontario discovery have assayed as high as $17.50 a ton.

The careless swinging of an axe by Mike Powell, Lakehead Indian, as he trudged along an old pack train with his two brothers, Frank and Bill, uncovered the vein.

For three years the brothers kept their secret. This spring they staked 23 claims in the area and as a result the district today was being combed for the yellow metal by prospectors from Northern Ontario and Grand Marais, Minn. The find is 60 miles north of Grand Marais and accessible only over the old Gunflint Road or by aeroplane.

Tom Montgomery, veteran Lakehead prospector who has molled for gold from Mexico to Alaska and from Pacific Coast to Labrador staked claims adjacent to the Powell discovery and in Fort Arthur today declared the find was promising.

Widowed Mother of John Smith Confident That Her Son Is Safe—Finally Win Through

Johnny Smith's widowed mother, Mrs. Theresa Smith, of Bellevue street, is confident that her boy is safe.

Despite the fact that the last news of the adventurous youth was received almost a month ago when he set forth to cross the Gulf of St. Lawrence from Gaspe to Newfoundland in his frail craft, his mother has confidence that Johnny will finally win through.

Fishermen believe that the young man was drowned in a storm that swept the gulf a few days later, but no proof of his fate has been discovered and his mother's hopes remain steadfast.

During his journey down the St. Lawrence, in which he conquered all the dangerous rapids, Johnny wrote letters to his mother as opportunities were presented. The last letter she received from him was written at Baisbrule, a Quebec fishing village, on July 23.

"He said that he was in good health and was sure of success," Mrs. Smith said yesterday. "I can't just understand why they haven't had some word of him since. Perhaps he could not find Newfoundland. I believe he is safe, but I hope some big boat picks him up."

TOLERANCE OF THE "SPOILS SYSTEM."

In deploring the distribution of political spoils following an election, Archdeacon Blagrave expresses a sentiment that receives approval from every citizen whose primary concern in the exercise of his franchise is a desire for the fullest efficiency in all public services.

Wholesale dismissal of Government employees, as the venerable rector of St. John's described recent results of the induction of a new administration in Queen's Park, is distasteful to independent electors, whatever may be the clashing reactions of partisans.

But when Dr. Blagrave says that if the same thing had happened twenty years ago public opinion would not have tolerated it, but would have risen up and said "no," there are some reasons for doubting this conviction of a decline in moral consciousness.

A little more than twenty years ago a federal election substituted the Government of Sir Robert Borden for the administration led by the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Whatever may have been the extent elsewhere of the rush of party camp-followers for the plums dangling on the political tree, there is no question about what happened in Peterborough when J. Hampden Burnham succeeded the Hon. J. R. Stratton as the member of Parliament.

The political broom was wielded competently, thoroughly and without any qualms of moral conscience. If any "Grit" remained on the Trent Canal he must have been somehow overlooked in the ousting, or was possibly too valuable an employee to be discharged. The clean-out reached down to the last laborer and bridge tender. Heads fell in the post-office, and party lieutenants and corporals were rewarded with jobs both in that department and in the customs house.

Twenty-three years ago the moral consciousness of this political community may have been affronted by the numerous dismissals of Government employees, but it certainly did not utter one protesting, pious "no," ministerial or lay.

Not a funeral note was heard after the federal election of 1911 when scores of "Grits" walked the plank in this district, and if that affair and its silent reception by the public is to be regarded as a criterion it does not suggest a livelier moral consciousness than Rev. Dr. Blagrave observes in the public attitude toward dismissals during the last few weeks.

In fact, Dr. Blagrave's condemnation of the spoils system sounds a note that was not heard here in 1911, an evidence in itself of a fairly general repugnance to the so-called "spoils system." This sentiment is at least true of independent voters, those who are not "hide-bound Grits" or "dyed-in-the-wool Tories." And as their number increases there will be less tolerance of the "spoils system" than has been demonstrated both recently and twenty-three years ago.

SAVING $169,000 A YEAR.

The outcome of the salary slash applied by the Hepburn administration to the more highly paid engineers and other officials on the staff of the Hydro-Electric Commission was disclosed by the Premier at St. Thomas Saturday night.

Not one of the men whose salaries were crimped by the reductions has resigned, and those who had been receiving $10,000 a year were willing to continue in their positions on the new scale of $5,000. The aggregate result is a saving of $83,000 a year to the Hydro treasury.

The attitude of the new management points to the fact that with no major developments planned or in the course of construction, Hydro is more concerned about the selling of the power that has been contracted for than with the engagement of its engineers. Some private corporations would have been as appreciative as the Hydro Commission and retained its high salaried men on the new basis, but others would have dismissed those who were dispensible as soon as they were no longer needed.

Another economy was announced yesterday in the forthcoming dismissal of fifty-four provincal constables whose salaries amounted to $86,000 a year. They were added to the force last winter when labor troubles were anticipated in lumber camps of Northern Ontario.

With the number of provincial police reduced to its ordinary force of about three hundred, including the motorcycle branch, its normal strength has not been reduced, and should be sufficient to provide adequate police protection throughout the province.

In these two items the total annual saving to the people, including Hydro consumers, is $169,000.

THREE ACTS OF VIOLENCE.

Three separate assaults on personal liberty were reported from different parts of the province in yesterday's papers.

John P. Labatt, millionaire brewer, was kidnapped near London and is held for $150,000 ransom.

Isadore Minster, professed Communist and organiser for the Workers' Unity League, was forced to leave Stratford by a group of self-appointed vigilantes who warned him not to return.

And at Brampton a number of strike-breakers were pelted with rocks and tomatoes and in some instances were struck by the fists of strikers and their sympathisers.

They were all offences of the same category differing only in their degrees of violence to private citizens. The most serious was the kidnapping of the president of Labatt's brewery on his way home to London from Sarnia, an outcropping in Canada of a form of crime adopted by gangsters in the United States in a series of attempts to extort large sums of money from wealthy families. The seizing of Mr. Labatt seems to have been carefully planned, but it is to be hoped that provincial police will quickly succeed in solving this ransom plot.

The expulsion of Isadore Minster from Stratford by a number of citizens incensed by his alleged activities last winter in promoting a strike among furniture workers offends the Canadian sense of lawful procedure. If he had committed any illegal act he should be dealt with in the courts. It is reported that he was told his personal safety could not be guaranteed if he returned to Stratford. If the agencies of justice and liberty cannot guarantee the safety of an individual against intimidation by otherwise respectable citizens who stoop to gangster methods against a Communist, then our sense of right and our police strength and methods should both be overhauled.

In the Brampton mob scene shoe factory strikers and their supporters assaulted a group of strike-breakers, brought from Ingersoll, thereby infringing upon the individual's right to accept work where he finds it.

Hon. Mr. Roebuck, Attorney-General, was warned that trouble was brewing, but refused to send additional provincial police to Brampton. He said the duty of maintaining order rested upon the municipal authorities, and that provincial police would be despatched only in the event of a real emergency arising. He intimated that industrial disorders had been deliberately provoked. Surely it is more than an academic question whether the province should assist a small town's police force in guaranteeing a citizen's right to work where he wishes, even if he be a strike-breaker and a "scab." Lawful picketing by strikers should be kept within its proper bounds, and threats of mob violence should be serious enough to call forth the intervention of provincial police. It is not the duty of the Attorney-General to decide any phase of the element of provocation. If Hon. W. H. Price erred in sending a tank and machine guns to Stratford last winter, a veritable military demonstration, Mr. Roebuck should be careful not to commit a fault in the other direction.

Back of the Stratford and Brampton's incidents of Monday and the provocation of Minister's activities, and a reported wage cut in the shoe factory of 40 per cent. under last year's scale, is the broad and complex problem cited by the Hon. H. H. Stevens, Canada's Minister of Trade and Commerce, in his recent booklet which Premier Bennett has banned.

"In the needle, boot and shoe and furniture trades," Mr. Stevens wrote, "men and women are living on a basis that is a disgrace to Canada. I will never rest until something is done to remedy it. I do not care what happens. No economic or political system can survive that will tolerate things like that except in one of two ways.

"Either you must have a dictator to impose these conditions with an iron hand, or you are going to have an uprising that will destroy the system.

"There is the third alternative—reform. The Conservative party must base its politics on the well-being of the farmer first and of the large body of industrial workers in the second place.

"The real health of the nation depends upon the success of those two groups."

Resort to violence, as in these three incidents, remedies and settles nothing, is un-Canadian and should be stamped out promptly and firmly.

THE WEST'S LIVESTOCK TRAGEDY.

The western provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta are confronted with a difficult decision. It relatives to the problem of what is to be done with possibly 126,000 head of livestock for which there is no visible supply of feed for the coming winter.

The Government of Alberta is inclined to the opinion that 75,000 head of cattle in that province ought to be slaughtered and processed for hog feed. In Saskatchewan the number of cattle which it is believed it will be impossible to maintain through the winter is 50,000.

The wholesale destruction of farm animals is an undertaking that cannot be entered upon without the most mature consideration of all the factors. If it should be done, as suggested, it would occasion a tremendous shortage of cattle during the next few years and it would superimpose heavily on extensive economic disasters that have already afflicted the western agricultural areas. However, there are virtually no alternatives to this drastic remedy. The financing of any project to relieve this situation would have to be undertaken by the Governments. It might be possible to remove a considerable number of starving livestock to more northerly areas where there is said to be a fair surplus of fodder. This would entail an onerous task and a heavy outlay. It is a question whether such an elaborate scheme of transportation would be profitable in the long run. The spartan step of destroying the farm animals and recovering whatever salvage is possible from that move may be the most economical measure to cope with this new crisis on the prairies.—Sarnia Observer.

A SLAVE TO HER MONEY.

Miss Lillian Rosenfelt died in New York, and the cause of death was poison, yet it was not a case of self destruction. Miss Rosenfelt is described as having been eccentric, living in two cluttered basement rooms of a tenement where she secured free rent on the plea that she was a pauper.

Most of her meals she secured by picking up scraps. When opportunity presented she would pass through a restaurant and take pieces from tables where a diner had just finished and where the waiter had not yet cleared the table. At one of these restaurants a man had eaten half a roll in which he had himself placed a quick-acting poison. Miss Rosenfelt came after he had collapsed and been removed from the room. The rest of the poisoned roll she ate.

It was found after her death that she had $60,000 on deposit in a savings bank, and from time to time she added to it. It was said by those who lived in the tenement that she was never known to spend a cent. She loved money above all else. She could have made a very conservative investment at four per cent., and the interest alone would have provided her with $200 per month. She could have lived in comfort instead of leading the life of a rat in a cellar.

Money is of use only in so far as it serves some good purpose. The money salted in the bank was the reason why Miss Rosenfelt died in the agony of poison. Instead of the $60,000 being owned by the lady in question she belonged to the money body and soul. One could have more patience with a spendthrift.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The slogan adopted by Queen's Park—"Relief to workers; nothing to shirkers"—has both rhyme and reason.

It simply had to come—that annual controversy over hanging nude paintings in the arts building on the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

Gandhi has started another fast. But this time it appears on the inside pages. There are other things far more important in the world to-day.

Albert E. Wiggam, the writer, says there has been no new type of crime discovered in 5,000 years. Apparently Mr. Wiggam has never heard a saxophonist practicing.

JACQUES CARTIER AND ANTICOSTI.

On this day, in 1535, Jacques Cartier, on his second voyage to Canada, reached the island of Anticosti. He had been there the previous year. After leaving Gaspe, where he had raised the cross and taken possession of Canada for the King of France, he sailed in a northeasterly direction. Westward on his left had he but known it, lay the opening of the St. Lawrence. Than an island appeared. His ship nearly circled it, but the powerful current and contrary winds between the island and the mainland checked its advance until it could make no progress at all. Landing with some of his men, Cartier made his way to the west end of the island. Looking westward over the stormy waters he believed that here might be the entrance to the mysterious west; but the season was late and he decided to turn back, determining to return next year.

And return he did. He had brought back with him the two young Indians whom he had taken to France. When they landed on the island (which Cartier named l'Ile de l'Assomption, though the Indians called it Anticosti) the Indians were on familiar ground. They told him that to the south of it lay the passage from Honguedo (Gaspe) to Canada and that two days' journey began the the kingdom of the Saguenay; but it was not until September 1 that the river of mystery was reached.

Since then the "Graveyard of the St. Lawrence," as it was called by sailors because of the many wrecks there until it was lighted by Canada, the island has its history. When Louis Joliet returned to Quebec after, with Father Marquette, discovering the Mississippi, he was given the island as his seigniory. At the time of the cession to Britain the island was placed under Newfoundland, but was given back to Canada in 1774. Early in the 19th century it was the property of the Anticosti company, but that failed and then for years the island was owned by Menier, the French chocolate king. In 1926 it was sold to a Canadian syndicate, who floated a company in which many people invested, with disaster, for the lumber and paper industry has fallen on bad days, and Anticosti is now a white elephant. Some day, perhaps, it may come back and then those who handed their savings over to the promoters may get some of it back. Who knows? Anticosti has always been a hard nut to crack.

Tortured Child's Plea Saves Mother

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 15.—(AP)—A mother who punished her six-year-old daughter with fire was free today because of the intercession of the child.

"I love my mommy," little Nora Ruth Niciferos told Justice Eugene Daney, Jr. "I was a bad, bad girl and picked things up after she told me not to. She never was mean to me before."

And because of her daughter's plea, the court released Mrs. Miliana Niciforos, who admitted holding the little girl's fingers over gas flames as a punishment, with a 30-day suspended jail sentence.

THE NEW CURRENCY

To the Editor of The Examiner.
Sir:

At the present moment Australia is in a prosperous condition, all of which is supposed to be due to a re-adjustment of her money values by which interest has been lowered and prices raised. It is no doubt true and will always be true that if we pay less and receive more our condition will be improved. But as soon as people get settled to the new prices the old fact will loom up again and that fact is that with modern improvements, in normal times, production ceases to be a paying vocation. Balance is the secret of economic as of other forms of happiness and until supply and demand balance there must unquestionably be slumps to enable one or the other to catch up and that is where we are now.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

LIFE WILL NOT STAND STILL.

An odd business, indeed, the way life will not stand still. You want it to do it, but it refuses.

Did you ever try to take a photograph of a baby, or of a puppy? . . . You adjust the gadgets and decide that the light is correct. You measure the proper distance. You put the baby or the puppy on the nice green grass. You're ready. But the baby isn't. He's chewing his shoe, and his face is in the shadow. Or the puppy has left the neighborhood to chase a butterfly, or is trying to lick the camera . . . Neither the puppy nor the baby will stay put, and if you expect to get a characteristic picture of either of them, you must catch them unawares.

Neither will a man's life stand still. Nor can it be compelled, persuaded, or argued into doing so.

You plan and struggle to reach a certain point in life . . . You marry, you build a house, you get a job, you cure an ailment, you save a little money, you get the children into school, or you get them out of school, you achieve something you wished. . . . And then you say to yourself, "Now everything's settled." . . . But it isn't. It never is. The quiet pool is ruffled. The perfectly arranged flowers wilt. The young things grow up. The perfect moment passes before your very eyes. The bloom leaves the peach . . . Life doesn't stand still.

But why should you sigh? The beautiful moment goes, but so does the ugly moment . . . You cannot forever keep what you desire, but neither must you keep forever those moments of agony and terror. You say to yourself, "How can I possibly endure this?" and wonder if you will have the strength to bear the pain and grief. Thinking, as you say this, that life stands still . . . The minutes pass, and the days, and the months, and after a while you decide that fortunately for you life did not stand still . . . Sometimes you sigh that this should be so, but all the rest of the time you should be grateful that life is so much like a lively baby or a wriggling puppy.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

AYLMER, ONTARIO

This village was first called Troy by settlers from Troy, New York, but in the stirring times just before the rebellion of 1837 feelings of strict loyalty on one side and a desire for independence on the other were carried to bitter contention in nearly all matters.

A meeting was held to decide on a name, and the name Aylmer, from Lord Aylmer, then governor-general, was decided on and sent to the post-office department for approval.

Teach House Help Some Simple Arts

FOUNTAIN INN, S.C., Aug. 15.—(CP).—Robert Quillen, noted paragrapher who publishes the weekly Tribune here "for his own amusement and the entertainment of his friends," chronicles a local advance in schooling:

"Professor Anderson, new head of the colored school, has inaugurated a community service never before attempted.

"His domestic science teacher will hold classes every Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock to instruct house servants in the art of answering the door bell and telephone, washing silks and laces, arranging table silver, and all kindred household lore.

"There is no charge. White folks can do their part and profit greatly by permitting their servants to attend these classes."

ANNOUNCE REDUCED FARES FOR LABOR DAY WEEK-END

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 15.—Reduced fares to cover the Labor Day week end from Friday, August 31 to 12 noon Monday, September 3, have been authorized on both Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways between all stations in Canada, according to an announcement made today by Joseph B. Parker, secretary Canadian Passenger Association Western Section at Winnipeg.

Mr. Parker explains that tickets for the round trip will be a fare and a quarter and the return limit has been set at midnight Tuesday, September 4th, minimum fare at 50 cents with the season's former holiday rates as criterion, it is expected that a large number will avail themselves of travelling privileges for the final summer week end holiday.

AMERICAN TOURISTS PLENTY SORE OVER MONEY DISCOUNT

Protest Against City Merchants Charging Extra Cents on Paper Currency.

HE WHO LAUGHS LAST.

Peterborough tourists who had occasion to suffer from the heavy discount on Canadian money in the United States two years ago are now finding it their turn to laugh. Merchants on George street were charging from three to five cents on the dollar discount on American paper currency to-day.

Turn about may be fair play but American visitors are protesting vehemently against the discount.

"American money's as good as any money in the world, a woman tourist from Ohio declared as she tendered a United States ten-dollar bill in one of the city's stores this morning. It's an imposition."

Explaining that he would have to discount the bill four per cent, the clerk explained patiently. "I'm sorry madam but the banks are charging us four and a quarter per cent. on your money to-day."

"I don't care what your banks say," the lady aserted stoutly "Our money's just as good as yours."

This was a typical reaction according to reports from a half dozen different sources on the main street. The Americans can't take it, one merchant opined. They seem to have forgotten that in 1932 they were charging Canadians as much as 27 per cent on Canadian currency and making them like it, he said.

Fail to Know Exchange.

In the cases of many tourists, their objections arise from a simple ignorance of the existence of foreign exchange discrepancies. Many seem to have been unaware that differences between the dollar sof two countries, sometimes small and sometimes large, generaly prevail. Although it is true that enlightened visitors accept the discount understandingly, others find it hard to believe that the currency of canada could possibly be worth more than the currency of the great United States.

At the opening of the money markets this morning, the American dollar in Montreal was quoted at 97⅞ cents and the Canadian dollar brought $1.02⅛ cents in New York. Although the American dollar strengthened a fraction during the morning, Peterborough banks were discounting the United States currency at 4 per cent. On bills of smaller denomination than $10, 4¼ per cent. was being charged. The banks claim that a 2 per cent. spread from the actual exchange figure is justified by the risk and transportation costs.

No American Coins.

Few, if any, Peterborough merchants are discounting American coins although the bank discount is considerably heavier than the currency rate. The discount is being applied to currency from $1 bill up, to American traveller's cheques, and to regular cheques on American banks.

Of particular interest in connection with the exchange matter is the fact that about $60,000 of the City of Peterborough's debentures are payable in New York City as well as in Toronto, Montreal and other Candian centers. During the period when the discount rate on Canadian currency in New York soared above 20 per cent, the city "paid through the nose" as these debentur holders insisted on payment in United States Funds. Under the reversed situation of a premium on Canadian money, the city gains or loses nothing in the matter, however. The debenture holders naturally ask for payment in Canadian funds.

Kinmount Homes Are Struck By Lightning

LINDSAY, Aug. 15 (Special to Examiner)—During the progress of the second electrical storm which passed over the Kinmount district on Monday evening, the home of James Simpson, opposite the Northern Hotel in that village, was struck by a blinding flash which tore up a rug in the upper apartments and damaged the floor considerably. Mrs. Clark, a visitor at the Simpson home was struck down by the bolt and suffered a serious shock She is under the doctor's care In Brock Township a man named Evans was almost buried alive while walking over a section of a road which had been undermined by the flood water and caved in. He sank into the earth up to the arm pits and was rescued by two men in the nick of time. The residence of Neil McDonald, was struck and damaged. The lightning came down the lightning rod, entered the house and set fire to some papers in a cupboard, then ran to the ground via the cistern.

A petition signed by about two hundred residents has been forwarded to Hon. Dr. Faulkner, Minister of Health, protesting against the action of the town of Lindsay in dumping sewage into the river.

The funeral took place at Wilberforce, Haliburton County, of a pioneer resident of the north country in the person of Mrs. Nicholas Trino. The deceased passed away at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. D. Morrison, Peterborough. She is survived by her husband, five sons and three daughters.

Frank Weldon, the well known cattle drover, of Cambray, Fenelon Township, threshed a few days ago and had a record yield of barley—fifty bushels to the acre. The average yield in Victoria County last year was twenty-four bushels to the acre. Many farmers in the district report the finest crops in their history.

For the second time in ten years Fred McGill, of Janetville suffered the loss of his barn by lightning. Monday afternoon the 2nd visitation came, when his barn, newly threshed grain and straw and the season's hay crop went up in smoke. A team of horses and a number of head of cattle were saved. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

ONTARIO HOG PRICES.

TORONTO, Aug. 15 (CP).—Bacon hog prices were higher again today at $7.75 to $7.90 a hundredweight f.o.b. shipping point, with $1 premium for extras. Today's prices: Peterborough, $7.75, unchanged; Kitchener, $7.90, unchanged; Brantford, $7.85, up 35; Stratford, $7.90, unchanged; Hull, Que., $8.25 off truck, up 10.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Aug. 15 (CP).—Hogs showed the only gain on the Toronto Livestock Market this afternoon, advancing 10 cents to sell 40 cents higher for the week. The gain was offset, however, by drops of 15 to 25 cents on the cattle division. Good cows registered the higher loss. Under slow trading, only half the cattle supply was sold and it appeared the 200-head holdover would be increased. Calves and lambs continued steady while sheep were slightly stronger.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 860; calves, 530; hogs, 650; sheep and lambs, 980.

Medium to good weighty steers ranged from $4.50 to $5.00 while choice butcher cattle were steady at $4.50 to $4.75. Common to medium butchers were easier at $2.50 to $4.50 to $4.75.

Medium to good weighty steers ranged from $4.50 to $5.00, while choice butcher cattle were steady at $4.50 to $4.75. Common to medium butchers were easier at $2.50 to $4.25. Butcher cows were selling at $2.75 for tops while canners went unchanged at $1.00. A few bologna bulls brought $2.00 to $2.25 and fed calves sold mostly at $5.50 to $6.50 with tops at $7.00.

The calf division continued steady at $5.50 to $6.00 for choice vealers and at $3.00 for plain. A few common grassers made $2.50. Lambs were also steady at $6.50 for good ewes and wethers and at $5.00 to $5.50 for culls and bucks. Sheep were a shade stronger at $2.50 to $3.00 for good, light ewes. Cull sheep went at $1.00.

Hogs, after an unsettled opening in which packers bids were at yesterday's close, settled 10 cents higher at $8.00 f.o.b. for bacons, $8.35 off truck and $8.75 off car.

Cattle quotations remained unchanged with the exception of good cows which were quoted from $2.50 to $2.75.

Hogs, off car basis, selects, $1.00 premium; bacons, $8.75; butchers $1.00 discount; heavies, $1.50 discount; lights and feeders, $1.00 discount; sows, $5.75.

GANG'S DEATH THREAT LIMIT

blinds, the family waited for a word from the 50-year-old father who has been under doctor's care fearful the shock of his abduction may have been fatal.

In half a dozen centres throughout Ontario, police waited for word that might send them speeding to the aid of John Labatt. In city police were ready. Ontario police yere ready and the famed Royal Canadian Mounted Police were ready to get out after the men who had dared to perpetrate the first ramson-kidnapping in Canada's history.

The police waited, not knowing where to go, whom to seek.

All Cars Checked.

Police at Windsor, after a conference with Detroit officials, said known Detroit gangsters had not been concerned in the kidnapping. Police at Sarnia, Niagara Falls—all along the border—checked goings and comings of autos and motor boats but without success. Police everywhere faced a blank wall.

At Toronto, where Hugh Labatt said too many people were about to make a contact with the kidnappers possible, police looked for a break before six o'clock E.D.T. to-night. Labatt said to a London spokesman for the family he had almost decided he could not get in touch with the kidnappers at Toronto and that the contact might be made elsewhere.

But none knew what to expect. Police refused to make any statement, to admit defeat or to express hope. Hugh Labatt said nothing except he wanted to hand over the money and could not. Relatives of the Labatt family kept silent, fearing vengeance from the kidnappers on the head of John Labatt.

John S. Labatt was still in his hotel suite here at 2p.m. E.D.T. to-day. He said he had not made contact with the abductors but was "still hopeful."

Tracing All Calls.

It was believed a telephone contact with the abductors of the London brewer was anticipated, for telephone calls were routed without comment through the hotel switchboard into the room, Labatt in most cases answering. Before the calls were plugged in, a delay of some 20 seconds was usual, indicating efforts were being made to trace the origin of each call.

From a source close to Labatt, it is learned he was named go-between with the kidnappers in a pencilled note from John Labatt scrawled on the back on the ransom demand found in John's abandoned car at London yesterday. Hugh, however, refused to confirm this, but indicated there was no doubt as to the authenticity of the note.

Presence of a squad of police in adjoining rooms gave rise to the belief that any rendezvous Labatt planned with the kidnappers would be somewhere outside the hotel, and a tea-wagon heavily loaded with food, delivered to the Labatt suite at 1.45 p.m. indicated that any dash for a secret meeting would be delayed at least for a while.

SARNIA, Ont., Aug. 15 (C.P.)—The quiet little summer colony of Bright's Grove at Sarnia Beach on Lake Huron, where for the last three summers John Labatt, London millionaire, had sought to regain his lost health, seethed with excitement to-day.

Not in its uneventful history had there been so many detectives, police officers and other investigators as combed the district to-day. Residents of the district crowded to the Grove and remained for hours, hoping there might be some "break" in the search for the kidnapped brewer.

Police, however, discredited theories the abductors and their victim were hiding somewhere in the vicinity of the summer home, guarded by a circle of uniformed officers and volunteers.

Dominion Lends Aid.

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (C.P.).—The Dominion forces of law and order are co-operating with those of Ontario in their effort to uncover the Labatt kidnappers. Instructions issued to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police have ordered this force to be active in the search.

At the same time, Customs and immigration officials at all border point s have been notified to keep a sharp look-out in the event the kidnappers attempt to cross into the United States.

Family Ignore Orders.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 15 (C.P.).—Disregarding a threat of death to the abducted brewer, the family of John Labatt, London millionaire, ignored orders in a ransom note to remain silent, and appealed for co-operation from Canadian authorities, the United States Department of Justice and Detroit police, according to Vincent T. Foley, London lawyer, acting as spokesman for the family.

Foley, declining to reveal full contents of the note, said they were "so fantastic as to be almost unbelievable. He corroborated previous announcements the family was willing to pay over the demanded $150,000 for release of Labatt.

Information here said police had concentrated a search along the international border, while other officers combed the vast marsh lands of St. Clair flats.

Penalty Too Light?

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (C.P.).—The kidnapping of John S. Labatt, of London, has directed attention to the penalty exacted by Canadian law for this crime, and has raised the question if this is severe enough. The suggestion that kidnapping should be placed on the list of capital offences punishable by death has now become a live one, which may find its way into Parliament at the next session. The law now provides imprisonment of 25 years for kidnapping.

While fear is expressed that this form of crime may spread unless drastic action is taken, it seems unlikely that the Government will act hastily in the matter. The criminal code is, of course, subject to amendment from time to time, and very few sessions pass without some changes. These are generally, however, of a minor nature.

Under the code, as it now stands, murder and rape carry with them the dealth penalty. The numerous cases of kidnapping in the United States involving suffering not only to the victims but to all their relations and friends, have aroused a great deal of feeling in Canada. A determination that Canada is not to become the ground for an expansion of these criminal practices is responsible for the demand in some quarters that the crime of kidnapping be added to the capital list.

RADICAL ACTION BRINGS PROTEST IN STRATFORD

Citizens Send Delegation With Appeal to Attorney General.

BAR MINISTER, COLLINS.

Fear Violence if Unity League Agents Return to Address Rally.

STRATFORD, Ont., Aug. 15. — (C. P.). — Unreserved condemnation of the activities and radication of Isadore Minster and Fred Collins, agents of the Workers' Unity League, who have made Stratford their fort for nearly a year were expressed last night at an indignation meeting of a large number of citizens, held in the Loghrin Memorial Home, headquarters of the local branch of the Canadian Legion.

Men in attendance at the meeting represented many organizations and clubs, including labor men, railway men and representatives of the new Federal Furniture Union, recently organized in the city.

Announcement was made at the meeting that W. Angus Dickson, M. L. A. for Perth, was to be to Toronto to-day to interview Attorney General Roebuck and to outline to him the menacing situation that has arisen in this city since the forcible expulsions of Isadore Minster, Monday afternoon.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP).—Buying in building shares gave the stock market a mild flip in the forenoon dealings today. But prices turned irregular in the late trading. Metals were inclined toward heaviness. U. S. Smelting and Union Pacific sagged around 2 points each. U. S. Steel was steady while American Telephone and Johns-Manville were firm. Transfers approximated 600,000 shares.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS.

TORONTO, Aug. 15 (CP).—New Yorkers sent in a few orders for Imperial Oil and International Pete today and outside of these and International Nickel, trading on the industrial board of the Toronto Exchange was in the dumps. Prices eased down generally due to casual selling on a slim buying market. All the interlisted shares closed lower. Only the bank group held even with or above the previous close.

TORONTO MINING.

TORONTO, Aug. 15 (CP).—A thin buying market resulted in a general shaving of prices on the mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange today though losses in no case were severe. There was no bidding for the big gold shares and the trade in the silver and base metal shares dragged. Base metals Corporation weakened on fair turnover and another British Columbia issue, B.R.X., was offered down to 80 but it recovered to 88 where it closed 10 cents off.

"Doctors' clubs," the members of which pay four cents a week and may demand medical attention whenever necessary, are being started in all parts of England.

Tennis Results

In men's doubles semi-finals of the city tennis turnament played at the Kawartha Club, Max Cotton and J. Cowling defeated Roy Friend and Howard Hammell, 6-3, 6-3 and 6-0; the latter pair trying a power game that was made to order for the hard-hitting Cotton-Cowling team who proved too strong in all three sets. In the other bracket, J. Donaldson and J. H. Bell had little trouble defeating W. Perks and A. Ward, 6-3, 6-1 and 6-1. In Mixed doubles semi-finals, Mrs. Dewart and Max Cotton won over Miss Donaldson and W. Perks, 6-3 and 6-4. Cotton's play swinging the balance.

Gladys Carvolth will take part in the Toronto and District tournament, starting to-morrow, playing in junior singles, senior singles and in mixed doubles, with "Army" Armstrong of Oshawa.

Men's doubles finals will be played at five o'clock this evening at the Kawartha Club, while the mixed doubles will not be completed probably till next week.

Somerville Gains Third Round To-Day

LAVAL, SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 15 (CP).—Sandy Somerville, playing his best golf of the week, barely edged out a victory over brilliant Bud Donovun, Winnipeg, in the second round today of the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship. Sandy won on the 18th green to be the only former Canadian champion advancing into the third round this afternoon.

Don Carrick, Toronto, champion in 1925 and 1927, was joined in defeat by Geoff Turpin, Montreal, winner way back in 1913. The other former title-holders, Gordon B. Taylor, 1932, and Happy Fraser, 1922, lost out yesterday.

VETERANS DEFEAT MIGHTY HUBBELL

Grimes and Hoyt Gang Up to Hand Leading Giants 3-2 Setack.

(By The Canadian Press)

Pittsburgh's Pirates laid themselves open to suspicion of a conspiracy against the National League leaders when they pitched two reputedly fading veterans, Burleigh Grimes and Waite Hoyt, against the mighty Carl Hubbell and managed to beat the league-leading Giants, 3-2, with rallies in the last two innings.

Grimes pitched six-hit ball for eight innings and left with the score tied even though Hubbell had granted only three hits, two of them in the eighth. Two more blows, Fred Lindstrom's double and Gus Suhr's single, won the game in the ninth.

The second-place Cubs took an even worse licking when Braves lambasted four flingers, starting with Guy Bush, for 23 hits and won 15-2 behind Ed Brandt. Boston had two six-run innings in the slugfest.

The Cardinals imitated Pittsburgh's mound tactics in gaining a 5-1 decision over the Phillies. Dazzy Vance toiled seven innings, giving three hits and fanning six, before a blistered finger forced him out. Jess Haines finished. Bennie Frey's seven-hit elbowing

RICHARD HALL LIMITED

WARREN TO OPEN FLOWER SHOW

Official Opening Will Take Place at Noon on Thursday.

IN LEGION HALL

On Thursday, at 12 o'clock noon, the annual Flower Show of the Peterborough Horticultural Society will be opened to the public by F. W. Warren, of Hamilton, a well-known horticulturist. Mr. Warren was the first amateur to hold the office of president of the Canadian Gladiolus Society, and is now a director and also convenor and supervisor of judges for the shows of the C.G.S.

Horticulture with him is a hobby as he is an architect by profession, and is responsible for many large schools in Ontario, the new high school at Madoc being the latest sample of his ability.

Mr. Warren will also act as one of the judges of the show along with Charles Lane of the firm of W. W. Lane & Son, Kenilworth Gardens, Valentia, Ont.

The trio of judges is completed by J. S. McGiffin, Editor of "The Canadian Horticulturist and Home Magazine," Canada's only monthly journal devoted to the interests of the amateur gardener; a resident of Peterborough and a keen amateur horticulturist combined with his professional knowledge essential to conduct a gardener's paper. The judging will be open to competitors and public alike, giving opportunity to those interested to see how a flower show is judged and to listen to the comments of the judges.

The Society asks the indulgence of spectators to assist the show officials in carrying out these arrangements by refraining to make comments or in any other way hamper the progress of the judges in their work.

There are 7 classes for adults and 9 classes for juniors, giving a wide range of exhibits, all of which must be staged by 12 noon. A committee will be present to assist exhibitors to name and place their entries.

This is Peterborough's premier show and the aim of the committee is to stimulate a wider interest in Horticulture as a means of filling the need for a hobby with which to occupy the ever-increasing leisure hours, being a personal pleasure that can stimulate community feeling and activity.

Other interesting features of the show will be the presentation of the trophies for the lawns and gardens' competition, which is to take place at 9 p.m, also the draw for the beautiful Kenwood Blanket, which which is to be offered as a door prize.

The society won the cup at the Ontario No. 4 District Show, held at Orono, August 9th for scoring the greatest number of points in that show.

Another item of great interest is the donation of a Challenge Cup by Mr. H. L. Beal for the best six cut roses exhibited by amateur growers, which must be grown by the party entering them for exhibit. This is a splendid addition to the Society's numerous trophies.

BROTHER HOLDS $150,000 CASH

wasteland known as the old Canada Company property near Thedford. The Labatt family hold grave fears for the brewer's safety as he has suffered for some time with heart trouble and lengthy stay in his abductors' hands might prove fatal, especially if his surroundings prevent proper care.

Heart Greatest Danger.

His physician, Dr. Stuart Fisher, of London, explained last night, Labatt did not require any special diet. "He can eat anything he wants," the doctor said. The heart weakness was the great danger.

A Halifax angle took its place in the case when Mrs. R. E. Balders, sister of Labatt who lives in the Nova Scotia capital, got in touch with the family at London in what was understood to be a consultation regarding the ransom payment. Mrs. Balders was described as "too upset" to discuss the case with newspapermen. She is the wife of Major R. E. Balders, army officer.

Dominion authorities threw their forces into the hunt, notifying Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Customs and Immigration officers to make every effort in tracking down the criminals who face 25 years imprisonment if caught. Fingers of United States gangland were feared to have stretched into the Dominion because of the Federal drive across the line against law-breakers, forcing under-world characters to seek new fields.

Possibility existed Labatt was spirited across the St. Clair river from Sarnia into United States territory and police were described as concentrating their probe on activities of a former employee of the Labatt Brewery, unseen since he left his job.

He was said to have been connected with a gang of liquor smugglers who operated by aeroplane into the neighboring country.

Crisp, new bills to the number of $150,000 were said to repose in the pockets of Hugh Labatt as he anxiously sought to gain his brother's freedom. With the money, reported to have been withdrawn from the Bank of Nova Scotia at London yesterday afternoon, he caried a ransom note signed "three finger Abe" which gave instructions concerning payment of the huge sum.

Hugh Labatt guarded carefully the contents of the note.

Hugh Labatt's efforts are spurred by the pleadings of his brother's invalid wife, mother of three children. He was silent about his plans when he appeared in Toronto yesterday from London, a journey believed made by a route designated by the kidnappers in an attempt to send police off their trail while they rushed their captive into United States.

Threads of the countrywide search were picked up at the large summer home of the Labatts, set in spacious grounds near the Blue Water Highway, near Bright's Grove, 10 miles north of here, at 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning for London where he was to keep business appointment with his brother Hugh.

Between 9.30 o'clock and 10, Charles Robertson, service station proprietor, 10 miles from the summer resort, said he sold four gallons of gas to a man answering Labatt's description and driving a car similar to the one owned by the brewer. The man, Robertson said, headed his car towards London.

Trail Disappears.

This was the point where police stumbled. No trace could be found where Labatt's car was stopped en route to London. The next thread led to the finding of the car in London before St. Joseph's Hospital with the note demanding $150,000. In the meantime Hugh Labatt, who has waited vainly the arrival of his brother had been called by phone, a gruff voice informing him of the kidnapping and giving him instructions regarding the pay-off.

Hugh Labatt immediately dashed to Toronto in the company of Louis McCaughey, brewery sales manager, while rumors flew around in connection with the missing man's whereabouts. One theory was Labatt had been intercepted while on the way to London, thrown into the gangster car and then carried across the St. Clair River in one of the numerous craft that during prohibition days figured in the rum-running trade.

Fear Vengeance.

Anxiety for the victim's safety caused the Labatt family to make their own efforts to reach the abductors, lest police activity would result in the culprits taking revenge on Labatt. The ransom money is available and Hugh Labatt is prepared to hand it over to ensure his brother's safety.

Word of the kidnapping brought Mrs. Labatt to her London home with her three small children, one only four months old. For a while the mother was not informed because she also suffers from a weak heart, but later she was told of her husband's disappearance and received the news calmly.

It was not the first occasion kidnapping hung over the home. Last summer, it was learned, the Labatt family took precaution against kidnapping threats against their children.

CAMPBELLFORD

NEWS ITEMS FOR THE TRENT TOWN DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 15.—On Friday afternoon last, some twenty-five Campbellford friends motored to Trent River and spent the afternoon and evening, the guests of the Rev. and Mrs. H. P. L. Seymour, at Mrs. James Dickson's cottage.

The late Mr. Claude Insley, whose funeral was held last week, was survived by his wife, one step-daughter, Mrs. F. Ruttan of Trent River, three step-sons, Jack, Douglas and William, at home, and one sister, Mrs. J. Owens of Mount Morris, N. Y. He had been the lock master at Healey Falls for the past nine years.

Mr. Cecil Goodfellow of Codrington, was a visitor to town on Tuesday looking up acquaintances.

Masters Gordon Smith, Char Smith, R. Dooher, Mack Atkinson, and Raymond Wragg, are camping at the "Cedars," the summer cottage of Mr. Fred Smith.

Mrs. Harry Murphy, of Belleville, is spending a week with the Rev. and Mrs. H. P. L. Seymour, at Mrs. James Dickson's cottage, Trent River.

Hazards

PRESTON, Ont., Aug. 15.—(CP)—When C. Hawkins and E. Eaton signed up with the Preston fire department they were aware of the fact there was an element of danger. But the gravity of this danger did not present itself until the annual firemen's picnic where the firefighters and their wives joined in the sport, the feature attraction being a ball-throwing contest for the women. The targets? None other than the heads of their respective husbands protruding through a hole in a canvas sheet.

Mrs. Hawkins and Mrs. Eaton carried away the honors with two 'possibles.'

Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Eaton are nursing numerous bruises.

CLERKS TAKE PLAYOFF GAME

Register Easy Win Over Mill in First of Series by 23-5 Count.

TWO HOME RUNS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 15 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—Snatching the first game of the three-game series for the championship of the Campbellford Town Softball League, the Clerks, last year's champions, registered a 23-5 win over the Mill, group headers, last evening, in a game that was one-sided from the word go. A large crowd of fans ranged the sidelines to see the playoff, which was a walkover and not the usual brand of ball produced by the two fastest teams in the league.

Scoring from the drop of the hat the Clerks rung up six runs in the first innings, counting another three and six in the two following frames and four in the fourth. Against this lead the Mill seemed unable to battle, and a series of errors in the infield, caused by the first game on the new diamond, to which they are unused, enabled the Clerks to walk away from them and pile up their tally.

Both aggregations put up a good fight on the mound, although Holmes for the Clerks got better support than did McComb. The Mill, however, registered the only two home runs of the play, Don Holmes rounding the bases in the first innings, and Montgomery making the circle in the seventh. Both outfields were on their toes, while Palliquin at first base for the Mill, and Upton at third for the Clerks, exhibited some spectacular plays.

The teams:

Clerks.—Hendy, 1b; Block, cf; Bush, 2b; Upton, 3b; Reynolds, rf; MacArthur, c; Morton, ss; H. Atkinson, lf; Holmes, p, sub.; M. Atkinson, lf.

Mill. — Owens, c; Holmes, 3b; Montgomery, rf; Peake, lf; Ingram, 2b; Stuart, cf; Palliquin, 1b; Johnston, ss; McComb, p, sub; Runnions, cf.

Umpires—Plate, George Richardson; bases, H. Tinney and W. Sarginson; scorer, E. H. Lewis.

Score by innings:

Clerks	6	3	4	0	2	3	—	23
Mill	1	1	0	0	0	3	—	5

Goering Injured In Auto Collision

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Premier of Prussia, is recuperating to-day from injuries suffered in an automobile wreck.

The stocky Goering, who is making campaign speeches for his chief, Chancellor Hitler, suffered contusions to his right side and cuts on the face.

Goering was en route home when his car collided with a truck.

Physicians who examined the Premier at Rosenheim Hospital said his injuries were not serious. He was taken to his country home at Obersalzberg, where Chancellor Hitler came to visit him.

Diversification of crops is being urged in the Philippines.

USE RAZ-MAH CAPSULES

One of them, Harold L. Lockhart, Andover, N.B., writes: "This spring, when the Hay Fever started in I used RAZ-MAH right away. The third dose I got relief, and by the time I had used one $1 box, the Hay Fever was gone. For two months now I haven't had a trace of the Hay Fever, and so I've come to the conclusion that the way to keep free of Hay Fever, to have dry eyes and a clear nose all summer is to start in early with RAZ-MAH and use enough to break up the attack."

London Kidnapping Hits U.S. Headlines

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(C. P.).—The attention of the United States long a favorite preserve for kidnappers, was focussed on Canada last night by the Abduction of John S. Labatt.

Electric lights on the Times building in busy Times Square, which flash news bulletins in moving letters five feet high, told the theatre crowds the wealthy brewer of London, Ont., had been snatched for a reported ransom of $160,000.

Metropolitan newspapers made page one copy of the few known details of the sensational case, giving the story prominence under such streamers as, "Labatt, Brewer, kidnaped" and "Canada Hunts First Kidnap Victim."

Police at Port Huron, Mich., across the St. Clair river from the Labatt summer home, near Sarnia, Ont., had not been officially requested to guard against the criminals seeking to bring their victim over the interntional border. They said, however, they would maintain a routine lookout.

Magistrate's Court

Pleading guilty to a charge of intoxication William Harris, Toronto, this morning drew a fine of $10 and $4.50 costs from Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. The following cases were disposed of in Traffice Court: Stanley Herd of Peterborough, $5 and $4.05 costs; and Miss Violet Benoliel, Toronto, $5 and $3.25 osts (both charges of speeding). Duncan Brown, Apsley, inadequate brakes, $10 and $3.75 costs. Jack R. Richardson, 139 Romaine street, $4 and $4.25 costs, operating vehicle without vision mirror. Henry Succe, Peterborough, $10 and $4.25 costs, no driver's license. Hilton R. Meredith, Toronto, $10 and $3.75 costs and license suspended 3 days, convicted of reckless driving. C. Harvard Reddick, 22, Omemee, $15 and $3.25 costs, convicted of reckless driving, in passing traffic on brow of hill, also license suspended 7 days.

IN MEMORIAM.

BULLOCK—In loving memory of Maureen, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cephas Bullock, who died Aug. 15th, 1932.

Little Maureen we miss you sadly.
We, who welcomed you so gladly,
Hardly learned to use your name,
'Ere God took you home again.

In our home a vacant spot
Where you were we see you not.
Silent now your baby wail.
You have gone beyond the veil.

Sadly missed by mother, daddy, Vivalaene and Quenton.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHURCH FAIR TO-NIGHT

To-night is the night of the Summer Fair of the parish of the Immaculate Conception. All day long, busy hands have been carefully placing everything in readiness for one of the season's big events in the life of the Ashburnham church and its people.

At half-past five o'clock, a softball match will be in progress between East City and Campbellford on the church grounds, in connection with the Fair, and the service of supper begins later, with the usual excellent and bountiful home-cooked viands which are a feature of this annual open-air gathering. Supper will be served in the church basement from five to eight o'clock.

During the evening, music will be provided by Joe Minicola's band, and there will be plenty of diversified entertainment for patrons of the Country store, the "little horses" and various other games.

Spain expects its bumper crops this year will create work for its 425,000 unemployed farm workers.

Balmy Beach, 2; Hastings, 1.

J. T. Braund, president of the Peterborough Club, speaking from the club house verandah, addressed warm words of welcome to the visitors:

Members of our club are gratified to see such a large turnout and keep competition is certain to-day," he said.

Alderman J. D. Fitzpatrick welcomed the visiting bowlers on behalf of the city. The growth and splendid facilities of the local bowling club, he said, was but another example of the city's progress. He gave the visitors the "freedom of the city."

Herb Martin, official score keeper, announced that the tournment would be "elimination."

The draw had been made previously and without further ceremony the bowlers lined up their rinks and opened play on the 16 greens. From then on every green was kept busy.

Blood Samples Given By 12 Former Victims

Collection of blood samples volunteered by recovered cases of infantile paralysis, was the mission that brought Dr. Hardman of the Provincial Department of Health to the city to-day.

About twelve former victims of the disease were expected to submit themselves to Dr. Hardman in the Provincial Health Laboratories this afternoon, in order that the doctor might obtain blood samples to be used in the preparation of serum by the Department in its fight against the disease.

In the first four months of this year France increased its shipments to the United States but decreased its imports from here.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter.

AWAY ON VACATION.
On vacation for the next two weeks, Fire Chief George Gimblett is attending the annual convention of the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs in session at London, Ontario. He is ret iring treasurer of the organization, having been elected to that office as host to the Association here last year.

CORRECTS STATEMENT.
Correcting a statement appearing in last night's Examiner, Inspector Fred Marshall of the Fish and Game Department denies that he was ordered to turn in the provincial car to the Department as The Examiner stated. On the contrary the inspector declares that he is voluntarily using his own car and is being paid his running expenses for the car by the Department.

HOLIDAY LAND
Mr. and Mrs. G. Robert Schwab of 369 Mark street decided to take a vacation in Northern Ontario this summer. They did so, according to Mrs. Schwab, "because we wished to see for ourselves if all the claims made for that section of the province were true." They were not disappointed.

Making their headquarters at a camp located on the shores of Fushimi Lake, near Hearst, Mr. and Mrs. Schwab enjoyed some wonderful fishing. In a 9-day period they caught a string of 133 pickerel, pike and lake trout.

Mrs. Schwab expressed the opinion that harvest conditions are much more promising in the north than they are in Central Ontario. There had been a lot of rain in the northlands, she said, and the crops were looking exceptionally good.

The route taken by Mr. and Mrs. Schwab lay for a greater part over the Ferguson Highway.

NEW LICENSE VENDOR
The privilege of selling fish and game licenses has been granted to George Robertson, proprietor of a George street barber shop by the Department of Game and Fisheries. With the granting of an authority also to Louis Yeotes of the Elite Restaurant, two additions to the group of license vendors in the city have been made this week.

Weddings

GROWLEY—McGUIRE
The Church of the Sacred Heart was the scene at eight o'clock this morning of a very pretty ceremony, when, Miss Mary McGuire, R.N., daughter of Mrs. Mary McGuire of Westcott street and the late Mr. James McGuire, became the bride of Mr. Harold Growley, son of Mrs. Kathryn Growley of Gilmour street and the late Mr. Thomas Growley.

The Nuptial Mass was solemnized by the brother of the bride, the Rev. James McGuire of Bowmanville.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Joseph McGuire, wore a lovely frock of white flat crepe, made on long princess lines. The skirt was fashioned entirely of tiers of net ruffles that rippled to a V line and the same line was repeated in the plain neck finish. The short puff sleeves were of net ruffles and the narrow belt was buckled with silver.

A large picture hat of white mohair was stitched in angora wool and had a narrow band of grosgrain ribbon finishing in a small bow at the back.

White kid slippers with flesh-colored hose, and long white lace mittens, were worn, and the bride carried a bouquet of pink Butterfly roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Anne McGuire of Toronto, sister of the bride, was daintily gowned in a long, tightly-fitting dress of jade green stiffened georgette, with sash of mauve and green taffeta Her large transparent hat of mauve was trimmed with green velvet ribbon and she wore green moire slippers, flesh hose and green lace mittens. Her harmonising bouquet of Los Angeles gladioli was a sheaf in a shade of lovely pinkish-mauve.

Mr. Vincent Crowley was best man for his brother.

The wedding music was played by Mr. J. Armstrong and Miss Phyllis Cowie sang during the progress of the Mass.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast, catered for by Hooper and Sons, was served at the home of the bride's parents. The decorations were in pink and white and the table was done with the bride's cake, pink roses in silver vases and rose candles in silver holders.

Mr. Crowley and his bride left later by motor for a trip to Tonawanda, New York, the latter travelling in a suit of English tweed, a brown and fawn mixture, with brown felt hat and brown accessories.

On their return, they will live at 191 Dublin street.

HARVEY—GORE
The marriage of Ann Gore of Peterborough, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gore of Toronto, and Mr. Robert B. Harvey of Peterborough, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harvey of Hornchurch, Essex, England, was solemnised at St. John's Church by the Ven. Archdeacon Blagrave, D.D.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a dainty frock of blue crepe, toe length, cape style, trimmed with net. Her close-fitting hat of blue crepe was finished with an eye veil of white. She wore white kid shoes and gloves and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses, maidenhair fern and gypsophila.

The bridesmaid, Miss Eileen Biddle, was in pink brocaded organdie, with a jacket of white organdie, white hat, shoes and gloves, and bouquet of pale pink roses and gypsophila.

Mr. William S. Gore of Renfrew, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Miss Lily Bacon, A.D.C.M., A.T.C.M., played the wedding music, and Miss Jessie Pattison sang "Until", during the signing of the register.

After the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. J. Gore, Antrim street. The rooms were decorated in pink and white and the bride's table was centered by the wedding cake.

Mrs. Gore, mother of the bride, received in a dress of brown crepe trimmed with ecru, and brown hat and shoes.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey left for a week's vacation, to live at 177 Antrim street on their return.

The gift to the bridesmaid was a compact, to the best man a silver collar and cuff set and to the soloist a pair of book ends.

BLETCHER—BUCHANAN
The wedding of Mr. Harold Kendry Bletcher, of Edmonton, Alberta, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Bletcher of Charlotte street, Peterborough, and Miss Sadie Gray Buchanan, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buchanan of Edmonton, took place at the home of the bride's parents, on Thursday, August 9th. The ceremony was solemnised by the Rev. Andrew Osborne, D.D. of Edmonton, in the living room, which was banked with summer bloom and tall baskets of blue delphinium, stocks and pink roses.

The bride was in white lace, made on princess liner, with a hat of white lace straw and a bouquet of pink roses and blue delphinium.

She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. J. Buchanan was matron of honor for her sister-in-law and wore a gown of Lido blue crepe de chine with matching hat and bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas.

Mr. John Falkenberg was groomsman.

The wedding music was played by Miss Marjorie Derbyshire.

After the ceremony, which took place at four o'clock in the afternoon, a wedding supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Bletcher left by train for a trip to Eastern Canada and Peterborough, going by way of the Great Lakes. The bride travelled in an ensemble of brown triple sheer trimmed with taffeta.

They will return by motor about the middle of September and will reside in Edmonton.

FOUR DISTRICT PROVINCIALS' NAMES APPEAR ON FIRING LIST

Provincial Officer William Warren One of Provincials on List.

PERCY GRAY OF MARMORA.

White Toronto press despatches to-day list the names of four local and district Provincial Police officers, who are to be dismissed as a result of the Order-in-Council reorganizing the Provincial Police Department, Highway Traffic Officer Clarene Metcalfe of Marmora stated he had not yet received official notice that his services were being dispensed with. It is presumed that the other three officers concerned are in the same position, and are without any notice that their services are no longer required, beyond the intimation that was contained in the list of names published in the press.

According to announcement of the Attorney General, Hon. Arthur W. Roebuck, the economy involves the dismissal of fifty-four traffic officers and constables, the number appointed since October, 1933; and the abolition of the positions of thirteen special constables, among other measures.

Traffic Officer Metcalfe, stationed at Marmora, appointed four months ago to patrol on Highway 7 west as far as Peterborough, is listed for dismissal under the first category, while Provincial Police Officers W. Warren, Peterborough; Percy Gray, Marmora; and Fred Hill, Madoc, are included in the second category.

Obituary

MRS. THOMAS JOHNSTON.
BAILIEBORO, Aug. 15. — The funeral was held recently of Elisa Jane Sackville, widow of the late Thomas Johnston, who passed away on August 5 in her 82nd year. Services were conducted at the family residence by the Rev. E. M. Cook, of Fraserville, assisted by the Rev. G. K. Tyler, and interment took place in the Baptist cemetery.

Private services at the residence preceded the church service, when hymns requested by the late Mrs. Johnston were sung. They included; "Jesus Lover of My Soul." "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," and "The Old Rugged Cross." Pall-bearers were: grandsons, Rolland E. Johnston and Melville C. Johnston, both of Peterborough; William Stanley Johnston and Lawrence Allenby Johnston of Bailieboro; Emery C. Johnston of Toronto ,and Howard Hall of Peterborough.

The late Mrs. Johnston leaves one daughter, Ella, residing at home, also one son, James H. Johnston of Bailieboro, and a brother in Saskatoon .

FRANCIS JOSEPH MALONEY
An impressive service was conducted in the Church of the Sacred Heart as Francis Joseph Maloney, son of the late Francis Maloney and Joanna McCarthy of Ennismore, was borne to his final resting place in St. Peter's Cemetery yesterday morning. An unusually large gathering of mourners attended the service and joined in the solemn procession to the grave.

Rev. J. C. Maloney celebrated requiem mass assisted by Rev. Paul Costello as deacon and sub-deacon Rev. J. F. McGuire. Present in the sanctuary were the following: His Excellency Right Reverend Dennis O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborough; Rt. Rev. W. J. McColl, V. G., Lindsay; Rt. Rev. A. F. Kelly, Cobourg; Very Rev. F. O'Sullivan, Rev. P. J. Galvin, Grafton; Rev. V. J. McAuley, Ennismore; Rev. V. G. McFadden, Downeyville; Rev. J. J. Guiry, Port Hope; Rev. J. J. Garvey, Lakefield; Rev. A. McCann, Toronto; Rev. Austin Scully, Akron Ohio; Rev. S. A. Perdue, Toronto; Rev. V. J. Gilogly, Toronto; Rev. P. P. Butler, Kinmount; Rev. W. E. Welsh and Rev. C. McCarney, Lindsay; Rev. G. Wolff, Cobourg; Rev. H. Black, Parry Sound; Rev. F. Grant, Huntsville; Rev. C. J. Carroll, Rev. J. Finn, Rev. Dr. Masterson, Rev. V. Corkery and Rev. C. Begley. The students of St. Augustine's Seminary were present also as representatives of the religious orders.

Present at the funeral from a distance were Dr. P. J. Maloney, Mrs. Maloney and Scollard Maloney of Ottawa, F. J. Maloney of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brioux and Miss Marie Flood of Toronto and Lawrence Moher of Ottawa. Pall bearers were nephews of the deceased. They were Harry Connelly and Frank Maloney, of Peterborough; Frank Brick, Raymond Crough and Arthur Crough, Ennismore; and Francis Cleary of Buffalo.

Rev. J. J. O'Brien, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, delivered the funeral sermon from the text: "I am the Resurrection and the Life; he that believeth in Me, although he be dead, shall live and everyone that liveth and believeth in Me, shall not die forever."

The deceased is survived by his wife, formerly Elizabeth Crough, four sons, Rev. J. C. Maloney, curate of the Sacred Heart Church, Frank of Ottawa, Ian of Detroit, and James at home; and four daughters, Mrs. F. L. McGarrett, Mrs. Robert Brown and Mrs. W. M. Hogan, all of Toronto and Ann at home. Brothers and sisters are Mrs. John Brick, Ennismore, Dr. P. J. Maloney of Ottawa, and Mr. Eugene Maloney, Ennismore.

CONNAUGHT PARK are furnishing good racing this week. The fields are large and the contention keen, with enough long shots to keep the boys and girls up on their toes. Wee Toddler 2nd which finished second on Monday looks headed for a winning effort. Last year he was the most consistent horse in Eastern Canada. Omarcan is another that we like awfully well, and will be a real price too, while Phil R is just waiting for the proper spot. It will be just like picking cherries when they take the halter off of him. From Saratoga comes word that Jimmy Sutro is all primed for a winning effort. He has a lot of class and is in the best shape of his career.

JOCKEY DON Meade who does the important riding for the powerful stable of Col. E. R. Bradley is the highest paid jockey in America. He receives a yearly salary of fifteen thousand dollars plus a ten per cent rake off on all purse winnings. He and little Cucci are having a great battle for riding supremacy at the Saratoga meeting. Our guess is that at the close Meade will be the leader. Our own Frankie Mann has been astride two winners already and as Harry Giddings has his eye on a few more purses, Frankie should pilot a few more.

The most astounding piece of news is that Adolph Hitler ordered Max Schmeling and Walter Neusel to battle in Berlin, Aug. 26, to see which one was champion of Germany. We always thought Adolph claimed that title, too.

Kitchen Too Much For Slugging Nats In Their Own Yard

Central League Moundsman Holds Nationals To Five Singles—Petes Tie Quinte Crew For C.O.B.L. Lead As Result Of 8-0 Victory—Foley's Circuit Is First In Belleville Park This Season.

LOCALS NICK CHIEF WILLIAMS FOR 14 SAFETIES LEE CLAN GIVES BRILLIANT FIELDING DISPLAY.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 15.—(Special to Examiner)—Knotty Lee's Peterborough seniors elevated their standing in the C.O.B.L. to a tie with the Belleville Nationals when, coupled with excellent timely hitting and the superb pitching of Russ Kitchen, they blanked the locals by the score of 8 to 0 here last evening. Kitchen was in rare form, striking out six National batters and passing but one to allow five small singles that ever at any time gave him trouble. Jack (Chief) Williams strolled to the Belleville hillock and was nicked for 14 safeties, including a home run by Tommy Foley in the third frame. Incidently Foley's circuit blow was the first four base hit that has been registered in the Belleville park this season. The win was clean cut and places the Petes in a position to finish well to the fore in the final C.O.B.L. standing.

The Petes played stellar ball in the field giving Kitchen superb backing and not kicking in with a single error despite the fact many balls were hit hard and eventually well taken care of. "Bud" Murray led the visitors in the field with three assists and four put outs while Konopka kicked in with three nice assists at short. Collectively the Petes repeatedly rose to the occasion when both the outfield and infield made sensational catches and saves to give the Lee clan a well earned victory. Foley with a home run and two singles led the Petes with the willow while Ash and Calladine kicked in with three one base blows. Calladine slapped the pellet for three bases in the fourth but was called out at second for skipping the bag. Batten was the only other Pete hitter to count for an extra base.

Jack Williams hurled for the Nationals and was repeatedly hit by the Peterborough hitters, who once they had men on the base paths clouted the spheroid profusely. Weir was the only local hitter to collect more than one hit, of the five singles allowed by Kitchen. Ford, Jack and Green played good defensive ball for the locals.

After two were out in the second frame, the Petes unleashed a hitting barrage when Ash singled, went to second on a passed ball and scored on Calladine's one-base blow. The next frame opened with Kitchen whiffing, Konopka singled, and Batten dropped a double into left after which Tommy Foley strutted to the plate and crashed a mighty home run to deep right centre that brought him the applause of 900 fans and three runs for his teammates. No more scoring was in evidence until the first of the ninth when the game broke wide open, successive singles by Ash, Calladine, Whatley and Kitchen gave the Petes a run, then Konopka walked giving them another and when Batten hit to third, Whatley was tossed out at the plate, Foley then crashed a single to left scoring Kitchen and Konopka but Murray lined to first, ending the batting spree. Every batter of the Lee clan stepped to the plate in this hectic frame, except Les Burton.

One On In Seventh

Only once in the entire game did the Nationals have a runner on third base, that coming in the seventh inning. With one out Mills singled as did Weir. Both advanced on Smith's infield out, but Kitchen bore down on Kerr and forced him to pop to Murray, ending the only National rally.

DECKMEN HOLD FIXTURE LEAD IN PLAY-OFFS

Break Tie in Tenth After Orphans Make Count All Square in 7th.

HECTIC STRUGGLE.

Scoring a run in the tenth inning at Central last night, Johnston's Tires took a game lead in the playoffs by nosing out Orphans, 8 to 7. The Tiremen have won two of the three games played so far, and another victory in the two remaining tilts gives them the title. They meet again tonight. Last evening's fixture was a hectic number all through, coming to a grand climax in the ninth and tenth frames.

Orphans tied the count at 7-all in the last of the ninth, Weese doubling, taking third on an out and home on Jones' scratch hit. Jones went to second on the throw-in and, apparently, stole third with the pitcher standing on or near the mound. The latter threw wildly to third and Jones scored. But he was called out for leaving the base with the pitcher on the rubber, as the umpires stated. A near riot ensued with players and fans on the diamond. Play finally resumed and Johnston's won in the tenth when Stanger singled, took second on a wild pitch and home on Cadd's peg to second which went off the runner into centre field.

Tom Montgomery and Frank Shine were the opposing twirlers with both pitching fair ball and getting great support most of the way. The Deckman got five runs in the first two innings, but the Waifs got three back in the second and took a 6-5 lead in the fifth. Johnston's jockeyed back to a one-run lead next frame and held it till the ninth when it was tied. Montgomery gave way in the ninth to Parsons when Weese led off with a double, Parsons finishing up in good style.

The fielding of the Tiremen was excellent all through with Anderson, Dorrington, Crary and Stanger shining in particular. Ellis also held down first neatly. Weese, Miller and Hope were best for the losers. Each side pulled off a snappy double-play to keep the big crowd thrilled.

Dorrington led the victors with the willow, pounding out a double and two singles in five. Ellis hit a triple and single, Parsons a two-bagger and single, and Stanger two singles. For the Orphans, Shine was top hitter with three in four appearances, Cadd, Miller and Hope getting two apiece. Miller, Willshaw and Weese hit doubles.

Fifth Inning Attack Wins for Bisons 5-1 Over Syracuse.

SENATORS LOSE 3-1.

(By The Associated Press)

Once more Buffalo Bisons were knocking at the top of the International League's second division to-day, threatening to sink Montreal Royals into sixth place.

Taking advantage of the Royals' 7-2 beating at the hands of Newark Bears last night, the Bisons went into a virtual tie for fifth place by setting back Syracuse Chiefs, 5-3. Carried to four places, the percentages still favor Montreal, but the Royals' advance is all but nonexistent.

Once he had gotten past the first two frames, Lefty Milstead pitched splendid ball for Buffalo, and his mates responded by pounding over four runs in the fifth to clinch the game. Greg Mulleavy led the attack with two doubles and a single.

Newark, holding a 4½-game lead in the race, easily tripped up Montreal, pounding John Pomorski and Lauri Myllykangas for 12 hits including three doubles and a single by Dale Alexander, big first baseman. Vito Tamulis held the Royals to eight hits.

Four-hit pitching by Ray Harrell and home runs by Johnny Mize and Tom Winsett gave second-place Rochester an easy 8-1 decision over Albany Senators. Fred Sington, Albany outfielder, collected three of the four hits the Senators made, one a home run.

Orioles Nose Out Leafs

Woodley Abernathy's 30th home run in the ninth enabled Baltimore to nose out Toronto, 10-9. The Orioles scored nine runs in three-run clusters in the fifth, sixth and seventh, but it was Abernathy's drive that was decisive. Toronto rallied in the ninth, but the spurt fell one short of a tie.

SUPERIOR COMBINATION COUNTS IN ELECTRICS' SOCCER VICTORY

Both Teams Display Excellent Brand of Code Until McMaster Injured.

WINNERS HOLD LEAD.

The Canada Packers lost two valuable league points to the Canadian General in the soccer league by three clear goals to nil, last night, before a large attendance of spectators, in King Edward Park. The losers depended too much on individual play; while the winners combination clicked to perfection, to get the reward.

Ben McMaster was injured in the early part of the second half and received first aid. It was thought that his ankle was broken at first but he was removed to the Clinic to get the leg x-rayed. Just before the finish, Jack Chamberlain, Packer's custodian, collided with two opponents to split his upper lip one. The win gives the C. G. E. a good lead in the league.

Gets Smart Goal.

Right from the kick off, the C.G.E. carried the attack into the Packer's goal where Darling connected with a rocket drive that hit in below the cross-bar. Buchan blocking the rebound shot from Burgess. He sent his forwards away to the other end. On the extreme right, Colbran delivered a shot into goal. Curtis jumping up in the air to fist the ball out of danger. A foul against the Packers proved disastrous for them when McMaster caught the ball on the drop to rattle the sphere into the rigging. The Packers retaliated with a concentrated attack by the forwards and the half backs to pepper the custodian from all angles. While the losers indulged in individual methods, the winners relied upon the perfect combination to break through the opposition. As the play hung around the Packers' goal, McMaster tapped the ball back to Burgess who dribbled his way past three of his opponents to climax his performance by slipping the ball away out of the reach of Chamberlain.

Before the interval of thirty-five minutes duration, the Packers hemmed the C. G. E. into their own half. Time and again, did they bombard the Curtis citadel to find him right on the job to repulse their attempt to score, as the play run from wing to wing, then hovered in the vicinity of goal to bring only scrimmages. Half time—Canadian General 2, Canada Packers 0.

Combination Fails.

After seven minutes of play in the second half, Burgess broke up a Packer's attack to carry the ball towards the C. P. goal. With a quick dribbling method Burgess evaded the defense to pick the far corner of the goal to make the count read three-to-nothing. A break away by McCracken transferred the attack into C. G. E. area where the halves blocked the Pacers attack. Jones intercepting a well-planned movement to send the ball down the field. Both teams seemed to feel the loss of McMaster and depended upon individual play thereafter which resulted in a kick and rush style that proved interesting. With only a few minutes to go, Colbran stretched Curtis as the ball was travelling into the far corner. Then Buchan struck the cross-bar to see the ball go out of play. Canadian General 3, Canada Packers 0.

Goal scorers — McMaster and Burgess (2).

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer, Softball, Bowling, etc.

By G. J. P.

Baseball fans, don't forget that juvenile fixture at five tonight in Riverside—weather permitting—between Oshawa and Terriers. The local Terriers hope to wind this O.B.A.A. playdown series right here tonight, and not have to play a third game on neutral territory. But the Oshawa champs will be battling to stave off elimination, and they have a smart team with a classy hurler. Both outfits, as a matter of fact, are nifty squads. They trained all summer with intermediate teams, and generally licked them, too! The kids need the support, vocal and financial, and they'll dish up a worth-while ball game.

• • • • • • •

Up at Central, Orphans and Johnston's meet once more at six. It will be their fourth regular playoff game, the Tirumen having won two and the Waifs one. A win tonight for Bert Deck's lads will give them the loop title, the Taylor Trophy and the right to represent this town in the O.A.S.A. playdowns. But if the Orphans win, a fifth game will be staged tomorrow to settle the argument. Last night's game started on time, and it is hoped the same thing will occur this eve.

• • • • • • •

Talk about the San Francisco strike—it had nothing on the scene at Central last p.m. from the ninth inning till some time after the tenth! Yeah, it looked like a real man-sized riot. Trouble started when Jones apparently scored the winning run for Orphans in the ninth, going from second to third and then in on the pitcher's snap throw which the third-sacker didn't even see. But Jones was called out, ye umps claiming he had left second while the pitcher was on the mound. Jones and his teammates maintained the hurler was several feet off the mound, but ye umps had the last say. But the law had to step in and clear the diamond with several fights threatening to break out and the place a bedlam.

• • • • • • •

We missed the play completely. It happened immediately after the tying run was scored and we were just jutting down that run when there was a yell and we looked up to see Jones going to third. Hence, we can't say where the pitcher was standing, and doubt if many others in the crowd could swear to it. Anyway, it was a tough break for the Waifs and good news to the battling Tiremen. The whole game was a thriller—the series so far has been, too—and both teams fought hard for it. Johnston's won it, 8-7, in the tenth. They really earned it on their fighting spirit and their sparkling fielding.

• • • • • • •

Frank Shine pitched nice ball for the losers and, with better support at the start, might have pulled out a nifty win. He had a good opponent in Tom Montgomery, though Tom was replaced in the ninth when Percy Harrison's scrappers threatened to get to him. This is the sort of softball we like—every player fighting for every point, a fairly low score and good defensive ball. And when you get five or six hundred rabid rooters throwing fits in the exciting final frames—well, they must be enjoying themselves and the game, to put it mildly!

• • • • • • •

Those peculiar Petes are up front now with the Nats in the screwy C.O.B.L. parade. By stepping into Belleville last evening and dumping buckets of whitewash, to the tune of 8-0, over Feeney Mills' outfit, the Petes moved into a first-place tie. Yeah, they go like a million bucks away from home and generally like four dollars and a quarter in Riverside. Beautiful flinging by Russ Kitchen, plus timely hitting and sparkling fielding by his teammates, gave the Lee clan a most emphatic nod. And it was at the expense of Chief Williams, rated as the most dangerous tosser in the loop this summer! Augurs well for the playoffs, provided we can cop a couple more and get in there.

• • • • • • •

Big Russ was in the pink and put the Nats in the red, fanning six and holding the former loop leaders to five bingles. Foley's mighty homer in the third with two on helped a lot, and a four-run splash in the ninth cinched it. Murray's fielding was a highlight, but they all went good. Calladine and Ash had three hits each, as did Foley. Not an error was chalked up to the winners. The Petes and Nats have now won eleven games apiece and dropped eight, while Oshawa and Kingston have seven victories each and ten losses. Schedule ends in two and a half weeks.

• • • • • • •

The Junior Petes' softballers meet Trenton here at 5.30 Friday e'en in Riverside in the first game of their O.A.S.A. playdowns, winner to meet Kingston. Doug Mowry has a promising looking young outfit lined up for the local team, including: Ridley, pitcher; Mowry, catcher; McKinley, first; Heal, second; Caccavelli, short; Vitarelli, third; Coughlin, Gardino and Dixon in the field; and Reeds, Ward, Todd and Leggitt for spares. Trenton is supposed to be pretty strong this season and it ought to be a smart softball struggle.

• • • • • • •

Up and down Sports' Rialto: Omemee gals won again last p.m., beating Maple Leafs here, 20 to 17 . . . . Bellleboro plays C.G.E. an exhibition gals' game, weather permitting, to-night at six in the Bowl . . . . And the Electrics go to Cobourg for a tussle Friday . . . . Elimination of several senior ball teams in Western Ontario may result in the forming of a Mourners' League to play a post-mortem schedule—what, no tombstone trophy? . . . . We haven't heard any more of an exhibition ball game for Riverside this Sat'day . . . . Bill Calladine missed second last night in Belleville on a triple, so gets credit for only a single.

TIGERS SCORE BRILLIANT TWIN VICTORIES OVER GOTHAM YANKS

Packed Stadium Sees Gomez Batted From Box in Initial Game—Rowe Limits New Yorkers to Four Hits in the Nightcap.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer)

Labelled a "team of destiny" as plainly as if the words had been sewn on their uniforms, Detroit Tigers were riding the crest of the baseball wave to-day as they faced the third game of their important series with the Yankees.

Triumphant in their opening doubleheader with the second-place club yesterday, the Tigers had a 6½-game lead with nothing more to do than protect it in the three remaining games of the series. They boasted two more brilliant achievements which shone the brighter after yesterday's 9-5 and 7-2 victories. Their winning streak had been stretched to 14 consecutive games, just five short of the American League record set by the White Sox of 1906 and their young mound ace, Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, had his 13th successive mound triumph, leaving him three victories away from the American League record.

To-day Tommy Bridges, second only to Rowe among the Tiger pitchers, was ready to face either Johnny Broaca or Johnny Murphy, the only Yankee moundsmen available to start after five flingers tried vainly to stop the Detroit assaults yesterday. For Thursday it is Elden Auker's turn and then Rowe may be sent back in the final clash of the series.

With a crowd of 71,000 cash customers, one of the greatest in baseball annals, looking on, the Tigers twice performed their favorite feat of coming from behind to victory, after allowing their opponents five runs in the first three innings of the opener they blasted Lefty Gomez into submission to tie the score in the sixth as Charley Gehringer opened the rally with the first of the day's two home runs. In the next inning Jimmy Deshong was pelted out when the Tigers again batted around and scored four runs.

Stars in Relief Role

Meanwhile "General" Alvin Crowder, recent cast-off from the Senators, justified Mickey Cochrane's managerial strategy in picking him as starting pitcher. He recovered from his bad start and pitched shutout ball for five innings before Fred Marberry finally relieved him in the ninth.

Rowe was the biggest factor in the second triumph as he pitched four-hit ball and walked only one. But after Gehringer again provided a flying start with a first-inning homer, the Yanks were able to tie the count in the sixth when Lou Gehrig slammed his 27th circuit blow of the season. Charley Ruffing, who pitched the whole game for New York and struck out 11, failed to match the grown-up Schoolboy in the last two frames and yielded three hits and two runs in each.

The American League's other first-division clubs, Cleveland and Boston, also gained on the Yanks. Mel Harder limited Washington to four hits to give the Indians a 5-1 victory while Lefty Grove, making his first start since having his tonsils removed a few weeks ago, gave the Red Sox a six-hit game against St. Louis and won it 7-2.

Tip Top Cup Final Ends In Argument

HASTINGS, Aug. 15.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— An unfortunate incident marred the final game on the local bowling greens for the Tip-Top trophy. Dodd and Huycke had battled through the League schedule and into the play-offs for the historic old trophy. There was a large gathering present on Tuesday night to watch the final. On the last end Dodd was leading by one, but Huycke was lying two when Dodd was about to throw his bowls. On his first shot he took one out, and with his next one he moved the "kitty" over. Huycke's rink claimed a dead end, while Dodd and his men argued it was still alive. Opinions differed whether the kitty was clear of the line or not. The matter will likely be cleared up at an executive meeting.

The following were the rinks:

BETTY NUTHALL IS ELIMINATED

British Star Loses to Baroness Maude Levi in Stirring Upset.

U.S. FINAL LIKELY.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 15 (A.P.)—An all-American final for the women's United States tennis championship appeared virtually assured to-day with little Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass. a top-heavy favorite to be in there Saturday against either Helen Jacobs, the two-times title holder, or Caroline Babcock of Los Angeles.

With Betty Nuthall of Great Britain, out of the tournament, beaten in a stirring upset by Baroness Maude Levi of Minden, Nev., in one of yesterday's second round twilight matches, Miss Palfrey's path to the final was without a serious obstacle, barring a reversal in form.

Miss Jacobs and Miss Babcock were locked in the lower half of the draw along with Katherine Stammers, the English girl with a powerful free-style forehand, and Elizabeth Ryan, California veteran. Mis Jacobs and Miss Babcock appear destined to face each other across the net in the semi-finals on Friday.

With the original group of eight seeded players reduced to seven by Baroness Levi's 6-4, 6-4 triumph over Miss Nuthall, the remaining seeded players had little in the way of opposition for third round matches with the exception of Miss Stammers who encountered Katherine Winthrop of Boston. Their match was regarded as a toss up.

TROUBLE OVER VOCE BLAMED ON AUSSIES

Official Explanation is That Bowler Has Sore Shin.

NOTTINGHAM, England, Aug. 15. — (C. P.). — The touring Australians were subjected to what they call "barracking" down under, when they resumed their cricket match with the Nottingham County side yesterday—all because the crowd seemed to think Australian protests were responsible for the absence of William Voce.

Voce, ace bowler of the county side, employed the fast leg-theory style of bowling, which resembles bodyline bowling that aroused a storm in Australia on Saturday, and collared eight Aussie wickets for 66 runs. He was not in the line-up yesterday, last day of the match.

The Explanation.

The county club said officially that Voce was suffering from recurrence of a shin soreness, but this did not satisfy the crowd, especially in view of the fact that dispite his brilliant performance Saturday Voce was not included among the men invited to be ready to play against Australia in the final and decisive test match starting Saturday.

Pitchers Walloped In Omemee Victory

Omemee continued to pack in the wins in the second half of the Ladies' Loop last night at the Bowl when they trimmed the Maple Leafs 20 to 17 in a free clouting duel that saw three pitchers soundly walloped.

Agnes Sturgeon was the first pitcher for the losers. She allowed six hits in the three frames in which she worked with her teammates kicking in a flock of errors. Genevieve Mann went to the slab in the fourth, but the visitors continued their batting rampage, sending four more across in that frame. They scored four again in the sixth and one in the seventh. Hickson went the whole game for the winners, but was not as effective as usual. She walked one, fanned three and was touched for fifteen bingles. Valera Hart and D. Rehill gave smart fielding performances for the winners, while Lil Cockerill and E. Foster were the best for the losers.

The teams:

Omemee—Rehill cf, Sherin ss, 2b, Pickett 1b, M. Bigelow c, Hart rf, McQuade 3b, Hickson p, P. Bigelow 2b, ss, Magee lf.

Maple Leafs—Cockerill 2b, Rome ss, E. Sturgeon 1b, H. Mann lf, E. Foster cf, E. White c, G. Mann 3b, p, L. Trollopp rf, A. Sturgeon p, 3b.

Score by innings:

Verdun Park Beaten By Prince Albert 2-0

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15. —(CP)— A smooth - functioning, rejuvenated soccer eleven from Prince Albert last night came from behind in their Dominion title-series with Verdun Park to defeat the Eastern champions 2 to 0. Victory left disposition of the Dominion Football Association championship to a third game, Verdun won the first game, on Saturday by 4 to 0.

Lightning-like rushes and a defense that moved to block each dangerous play before it gathered momentum gave the Western champions the margin of victory. Eyard, Reds' inside left, gave his mates the lead in the first half, and Rodgers, fleet inside right made victory secure five minutes before the final whistle.

PLAYER WALKS 26 MILES FOR ALASKAN BALL GAME

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 15 (AP)—A baseball game in Alaska is not just a ball game—it's an event.

Led by the Anchorage shortstop, who walked 26 miles for a chance to play, thousands of Alaskans came on foot, by special train and gas boat to see the locals play the nine from the U.S.S. Wright. A special excursion train came from Seward, bringing 500 visitors including the mayor.

The local boys lost 3-2, but everybody was happy, even the shortstop who had to walk the 26 miles back home.

SILVER SLIPPERS By Temple Bailey

READ THIS FIRST:

Joan Dudley, vacationing with her wealthy aunt, Adelaide Delafield, is engaged to marry Drew Hallam, who is twice her age. At Granitehead where they are stopping, with Drew's sister, Nancy, is a bookshop owned by Giles Arniger, below which is a shoemaker's shop run by Stephen Scripps. They had become fast friends in France. As a result of his war experience, Scripps was obliged to turn from law to a trade and his friend, Giles, remained close by. Taking her slippers to be mended in Scripps' shop, Joan recognized Giles as a man she saw in a boat near Gloucester and they become interested in each other. Later Giles see Drew and determines to spare Joan from him somehow. Meanwhile Drew is paying considerable attention to Rose Carter, a former sweetheart, who is stopping at the same hotel. Dilly, Giles' cousin, and wife of the lighthouse keeper at Granitehead, begins to notice Giles' interest in Joan.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 14

William smoothed his wife's hair, and said nothing. He was a quiet, inarticulate man, but he adored her.

She got up present and removed the plates and brought berries and cake for their dessert. And it was when she was eating her last berry that a little cry floated down from above.

"It's baby," Dilly said, "and she wants her bottle, and there's the table to clear and the dishes to wash, an' everything. And at five o'clock Giles is coming over."

"Giles?"

"Yes. All this has been just a prelude, William. Giles is coming over and he is bringing the girl."

"What for?"

"Oh, he's told her about the light, and she wants to go up and look at it, and I'm to have tea with them, and I should have been thinking about it instead of sitting here and talking with you."

"I hope," William remarked as he rose, "that she won't be as silly as most of them are about the towe-stairs."

Dilly laughed. "Oh, it's nuts to you, William, their being frightened and begging you to help them."

"It isn't nuts," he retorted, "and you know it."

"Perhaps I do," she agreed, "and now it will help a lot if you will take the baby her bottle."

The dishes were washed, Dilly had changed her dress, and the baby was spick and span when Giles' boat came up to the landing. The tide was out and William, helping Joan to bridge the distance between the boat and the pier and lifting her with strong arms, was aware of her youth and slenderness. She was nothing but a child, he decided, this heiress to millions, and she was very simply dressed, more simply even, than Dilly, in a white flannel skirt and a pale violet sweater.

Dilly served tea from a gay painted table set out on the sands and shaded by a big orange umbrella. The waves spread themselves in a thin green wash over the hard beach, and Dilly's small Susan, barefooted and ecstatic, splashed about in the warm water, or dug hopefully for clams with an infinitesimal tin shovel.

Dilly's prying old hens, coming up to share the tea, were a source of much amusement. "Williams says they ought to lay Plymouth rocks instead of eggs," Dilly stated, "to be in keeping with their environment. I don't know what I'd do without them. They are such good company."

Joan was finding it all delightful. Here was Dilly, pleasant, pretty, unaffected, and her William, sturdy and rather silent, but at his ease, and there on the sands was that fluttering bit of loveliness.

"How happy you must be," she said to her hostess.

"Oh, well, now and then we get a bit fed up on solitudes, don't we, William?" But William wouldn't admit it. The look which flashed between husband and wife made Joan's heart stand still. How sure they seemed, and—safe!

When they had finished their tea, William took Giles and Joan to see the light. As they came into the stone tower, it was cool and dark in contrast to the bright sunlight outside. Going up and up was a spiral staircase, an iron structure that turned until as one followed its height the brain grew dizzy.

"Going up is nothing to coming down," William said, as they began the ascent, "but I'll lead the way and Giles can bring up the rear, and that will give you confidence."

But Joan was not afraid. It was great fun, she declared. She talked to Giles over her shoulder, and the thick walls gave back her words in hollow echoing sounds.

Giles with his hand on the rail just back of hers, hardly heard what she said. It was, he felt, nothing short of a miracle to have her here, and to know he had her friendship. For he had it! He exulted in the thought.

In the weeks which had followed their talk at the Wind and Wave, Joan had come often to the shop. First to tell him what she bought of the little book, and after that to look at the things he had to show her. She had stopped in as a rule during her morning walks when Drew was on the links. If Giles had a customer she would sit contentedly in a corner, reading quietly and waiting until he could talk to her. Giles was half afraid to think what those talks were beginning to mean to him . . . There had grown up between them a relationship which was on his part protective, on hers confiding. She treated him as if he were an elder brother. She discussed with him her affairs, frankly, and without self-consciousness.

She had told him she was to be married. And to whom.

And he had said: "You danced with him in the woods?"

"How did you know?"

"I could see it in your eyes when you spoke of him."

She had drawn a quick breath: "Sometimes it seems so wonderful I can't quite believe it."

"Because you love him?"

"Because he loves me."

"Why is that 'wonderful'?"

"Oh . . . he's seen so much of the world . . ."

"Haven't you seen the world?"

"No . . . I have never traveled."

He had wondered a little at that, it did not seem to fit in with her position as her aunt's heiress. But one morning when Scripps was out, they had gone down into the shoe shop, and there had been a conversation which had enlightened him with regard to her circumstances.

Old Peter had welcomed them, and Joan had been told his history. Of how Scripps had found him one morning, crippled on the rocks, with the rain beating on him, half-dead. And now he seemed happy, and relieved Scripps' loneliness.

"But why should he be lonely," Joan had asked, "doesn't he live with you?"

Giles had been reticent. "Yes, but his history is tragic . . . and there's a loneliness which comes from—longing."

He had deliberately turned from the topic, and had showed her the shoes on the shelves—seamen's boots and sailors' sneakers, and women's down-at-the-heel Oxfords, and young girls' pumps, and the stout stubby footwear of the children of Granitehead. "There's a history in every pair, and some poetry, though Scripps says not. You should have seen your silver slippers shining among them."

"My silver slippers . . .?" She had flashed at him a startled look, and after a moment she had said: "I threw them away."

"Threw them away?" his voice had showed his astonishment.

The red had come up in her cheeks. "I shouldn't have told you that, should I? But I did throw them away. It was a grand gesture . . ." her eyes had a faraway look and there had been silence for a moment.

Then she said: "You see, Drew and I . . . had a misunderstanding about them—and I hated them. So the morning after you brought them I went out alone to the rocks and threw them as far as I could, and at first they floated, and then they sank, and I was glad to see the last of them."

He had smiled. "We'll hope the mermaids are wearing them."

"Perhaps they are . . ." the tenseness had gone outof her voice, and she had smiled back. And when they had climbed the stairs again and were among his books, she returned to the subject. "Do you mind if I talk it over? You are so wise. You see Drew thought it was rather miserly for me to have them mended. And he said so, and my feelings were hurt. But perhaps he was right."

"What makes you think that?"

"Oh, well, all my life I have had to save and scrimp, and I can't accustom myself to spending lavishly. I am always thinking that some day I may need what I have thrown away."

"But surely you have no reason to fear that."

"Yes, I have." In a few words she had sketched Adelaide's attitude towards her. "You see," she said, at the end, "I am really not sure of anything."

He had found her story surprising. He wondered if Hallam knew the situation. It seemed hardly like the man, as he read him, to tie himself up to a financial uncertainty.

He had asked, then: "You want my opinion?"

"Yes."

"It seems to me that in all such matters you should be free to do as you please. There is such a thing as encroaching too much on another's personality. Whether you spend your money or not is your own affair, isn't it?"

"In a way, perhaps. But in a way it may be my husband's affair."

It had been like a blow to hear her speak of Hallam as her husband. Oh, the thing was unspeakable!

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, August 16

The lunar transits of this day emphasize the probability of a sudden disruption, disintegration or radical change, quite unforeseen and which may have a decisive bearing on the whole future life. The domestic, social or affectional relations seem to be involved, with possibly unwelcome change or journeys, and attended by elements of the irregular, unconventional or sensational. There is a rather ominous caste to these operations calling for wise decisions and well-directed action, before launching on some hazardous career.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year in which there may be precipitated sudden disruption, confusion, upheaval. Matters of a quite unexpected nature may arise forcing false positions, perilous moves or unconventional situations. These disturb the domestic, social or affectional relations, causing change travel and uncertain issues. Move with caution and deliberation.

A child born on this day may be devoted to art, music and social activities, with tendencies toward the unconventional, erratic or romantic.

Only two of the 30 varieties of whales are likely to survive the modern methods of whale hunting, according to experts in Europe.

An airplane service has been inaugurated between the coast of Papau and gold mines in the interior, which cannot be reached otherwise because of the impossibility of buildings roads.

IGNOMINIOUS ARREST FOILS ATTEMPT TO SEIZE ANDORRA

Tiny Republic Had Called Out Guard (of Three) in Preparation.

BACKED BY DUKE

By CORALIE VAN PAASSEN.
Central Press Canadian Writer

PARIS, Aug. 15.—Hamlet's old problem: "Whether 'tis nobler to suffer in the mind the stings and arrows of outrageous fortune; or to take up arms against a sea of troubles," has been neatly settled by Boris I., nearly monarch of Andorra, by quietly going to jail in Madrid when the bumbailiff came to fetch him.

That's how Andorra is still a republic today. Even so, it was a close shave for the mountain principality, if one may be permitted to speak lightly of shaving in a country where you can't even vote unless you cultivate a bramble-patch on your chin. For a day or so, Andorra was in a high state of excitement as Boris hung around the pub in the neighboring Spanish town of Seo de Urgel debating the age-old question whether he was going "to be or not to be" a king. Spies brought news of every move Boris made to Andorra and the fathers of the people (that's what they call the members of the privy council down there). The fathers became alarmed. Just as they were on the point of calling out the reservists, all three of them, and the supreme ayndic took the stopper out of the local pop-gun, the Bishop of Seo de Urgel, a courageous man, took the bull by the horns, so to speak, by sending over his beadle to arrest King Boris I.

Conspiracy Began in Madrid

The monarch seems to have accepted his fate with extraordinary meekness. Whether he was impressed by the beadle's cocked hat and turkey plumes, or whether he was struck dumb with respect for the clerical authorities, that he didn't even try to knock their emissary in the dust, is not known. This in itself is a circumstance much to be regretted in my estimation, for it might have helped posterity somewhat I think, in determining what's wrong with kings in our time. They seem to run faster than hares at the first sign of danger, abandoning their thrones like so many cardboard pieplates after a picnic.

Now, once upon a time when kings were kings they used to. . . . What?

Boris bobbed up on a Dutch passport a couple of weeks ago in the Grand Cafe in Madrid near the Puerta del Sol, where all the cabinet ministers and the journalists sit spread out in armchairs before the plate glass windows. He announced bluntly that he was the legitimate heir to the throne of Andorra. The cabinet ministers forgot their Cassou-Cassis for a minute, screwed their eye-glasses a little tighter and listened. The journalists quickly borrowed pencil-stubs from the waiters and wrote down long interviews on the menu cards, thus curiously mixing Boris' war plans and the names of his ancestors with pork chops on the grill, salade russe, wiener schnitzel, bouillabaisse and Hungarian goulash.

Death to Bolsheviks!

How Boris came in possession of a Dutch passport was not stated—and probably not asked. After all, what's a little thing like a passport when European thrones dangle in the balance? He said his full name was De Skossynese, which is Lithuanian or Ugro-Finn, I don't know which. Further, that he was Prince of Orange and count of something else. One of the Princes of Orange was known as William the Silent. Boris obviously did not take after that ancestor. He spoke for three hours, working his way up, or down, all the way from Noah to Charlie Chaplin and Custer's last stand. His war record, he said, included service with the British tank-corps on the Murmansk coast. With regard to the Bolsheviks, he said he was what "fit" is to bedbugs. He simply exterminated them, that's all. This duly impressed the Spanish journalists for reasons not far to seek.

Would Recruit An Army

Finally came the big word. Boris announced he was recruiting an army to seize Andorra. At this the cabinet ministers sighed. Happy days! The journalists stopped writing and assured him that they would go along as war correspondents to chronicle the victories he was bound to pile up. Boris magnanimously accepted their services. Thereupon they all had a set-up of Perez-Malaga at the bar and everybody went home.

Now Andorra is not really an independent principality. The president of the French republic (as the successor of the kings of France) and the Bishop of Seo de Urgel in Spain are co-princes, but have delegated their powers to a syndic who rules with the aid of a council of fathers of the people. Boris visited Andorra, spoke in secret with the army, who happened to be out in the fields that day attending to some beanstalks that had been blown over, time of the big wind we had in July, and then the monarch withdrew cautiously to his base. In Seo he spent money lavishly. All the smugglers of the neighborhood which, with the exception of His Grace, the Bishop, means the entire population, flocked to see him.

Surrendered Without Struggle

He spoke of liberty, equality, fraternity, polygamy, and maternity. At these familiar words the people nodded their heads. They knew that tune by heart all over Europe by now. But their eyes glittered when he passed out some currency. Then they all went off to their respective wine cellars and Boris was left alone. It was precisely at that moment that a gent with a plumed hat hove in sight whom Boris took for an ambassador. It turned out to be the bishop's beadle, armed with a halberd for dignity's sake and a blunderbuss for action. Boris surrendered without a word. That beadle was lucky he wasn't a Bolshevik!

Boris travelled to Madrid in a third-class railway carriage, shackled to an incorruptible hombre with a big gat. In the capital he disavowed his former statements, and declared that he merely wanted to take Andorra for the Duke de Guise, the pretender to the French throne, because he wanted to provide the duke with a sort of jumping-off place for the conquest of France. He stays in the model jail of Madrid pending deportation.

"To sleep," said Hamlet, "to sleep! perchance to dream!"

CIVIC CONCERT SERIES PLANNED

Trio of Recitals Will Be Given By Visiting Artists.

FIRST OCTOBER 29

Peterborough is to have a civic concert series this year in a trio of recitals by visiting artists that promise to be among the musical highlights of the season.

At the present time, Cyril Rice, organist and choir leader of St. Andrew's United Church, who is managing the series, is making a drive for subscriptions to the series. The very inexpensive character of the trio will commend it to all. The price for the series of three concerts is fixed at the ridiculously low sum of one dollar, with special students' tickets costing fifty cents.

On October 29th, Miss Helen Rowe, contralto singer from Yorkminster Baptist Church, Toronto, will open the series.

Miss Rowe is considered one of the finest concert artists in Canada and has given recitals in many cities in the Dominion, and also in the United States.

Second Program.

The second concert, on December 3rd, will feature a visit from Gertrude Huntly, musical director at Alma College, St. Thomas, and, according to Leopold Godowsky, one of the world's six ranking pianists.

Dr. John W. Bearder, F.R.C.O., in the Ottawa Evening Journal, says of her: "She is a magnificent pianist, artistically, technically and emotionally. It has been claimed for Miss Huntly that she has a perfect piano hand. As I am no student of anatomy, I cannot vouch for this, but I can say that she has very capable and sensitive hands, fingers, wrists and arms which, in combination, produce every delicate nuance in shading and expression, from the most ethereal pianissimo to a dynamic fortissimo."

Concluding Concert.

The concluding concert in the series will be presented on Monday, February 4th, 1935, when Anlon Young, of Toronto, who for three years was leading baritone with the Covent Garden Opera Company in London, England, will sing.

Beverley Baxter, writing in the Daily Express of London, England, said of Mr. Young: "The biggest singer Canada has produced." From "L'Eco di Bergamo," Italy: "Anlon Young met with wonderful success as 'Rigoletto,' demonstrating himself to be a chosen artist. His voice is luscious, strong, clear and secure and his art lifted the audience to its feet." Mr. Young has sung leading roles with opera companies in Italy, Finland, Latvia and Estonia.

With each visiting musician an assisting artist will appear, so that all programs will be well balanced. The programs have been arranged so as to be attractive to all types of students.

Remember, the low price of one dollar for a series of three concerts which will afford three opportunities to hear successful and talented musicians who have not appeared heretofore in the city.

Ottawa Exhibition To Open On Monday

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—Next Monday, August 20th, the Ottawa exhibition will open its gate for six days and six nights of education and enjoyment. This year the high standard of previous exhibitions will be more than sustained by the outstanding attractions and the excellent displays. To thousands of music lovers the interest will center in Creatore and his band.

Creatore and his band! The picturesque conductor and his musicians have a grip upon the imagination and affection of music lovers of Ottawa and district unequalled by any similar organization. Other bands of distinction come and go with well deserved popularity, but it is the magic name of Creatore, the magic of the music evoked from superb instruments under his magnetic direction that lures throngs twice a day to the vicinity of the shell in Lansdowne Park while a Central Canada Exhibition is in progress.

More than $100,000 is awarded annually in prize money at the Canadian National Exhibition in the agricultural department alone.

WHY WE DO THIS

It is a well-known fact that high-grade advertising is the life of business. In advertising, short, catchy phrases and sentences, called slogans, are very valuable. We need them and will gladly pay for them, and are taking this method of getting a number of suggestions.

Most slogans which have brought fortune to business houses were thought of by someone not connected with the house. Cash and credit vouchers will be given to people who least expect them. Only a few minutes' work is all it takes. Equal prizes in case of tie.

All prizes are given free.

Successful contestants will be notified by mail.

Credit vouchers are transferable.

More than one honorable mention prize will be issued.

Any one credit good for face value not to exceed one-half the purchase price on any used car or truck in stock. Credit expires Aug. 25, 1934.

All slogans must be in the mail by 9 p.m., Monday, Aug. 20, 1934.

Use coupon or plain white paper!
I hereby submit the following slogan for the judges' consideration. I agree to abide by the decision of the judges without question: ... ...

Two Lads Remanded For Theft, Hold-Up

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—(CP)—Daniel Nigra, 17-year-old Ottawa youth, was remanded for one week in police court today, without pleading, on charges of stealing the automobile of Senator Charles Murphy, shooting at Constable Kedey, of the city police, and robbery while armed. The charges arise out of the robbery of William Blair's drug store Saturday night and pursuit by city and Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The other alleged accomplice in the robbery, a younger Ottawa boy, appeared in the juvenile court and was remanded until Monday without pleading. Two charges were read against him: Stealing the motor car of Senator Murphy and robbery while armed. In the meantime, the question whether the younger boy's hearing will take place in police court or the juvenile

DUNSMORE CAR ON WRONG SIDE JURORS RULE

Inquest Into the Death of John A. Dunsmore Concluded Last Night.

DRIVERS BOTH PRESENT

Showing Obvious Signs of Severe Injuries Sustained in Crash.

John Frank Dunsmore, 43, of Beamsville, and Gideon Nantel, of Port Hope, drivers of the two cars that met in head-on collision just south of Fraserville on the morning of July 23, last night testified at the adjourned inquest into the death of John Albert Dunsmore, 60, of Franklin, Manitoba. Both witnesses, recently recovered sufficiently to leave hospital, still bore obvious signs of the severe injuries they sustained in the crash.

The Verdict.

The jury sitting under Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young found that, "John Albert Dunsmore met his death on No. 28 highway as a result of a collision between two automobiles, in one of which he was a passenger." Upon the evidence submitted the jury concluded that the south-bound car in which the victim of the crash had been riding was travelling on the east side of the centre of the pavement.

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., conducted the examination of witnesses. The Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., and T. J. Carley held watching briefs, the latter on behalf of Gideon Nantel, employee of the Department of Highways, who had been driving towards Peterborough on the morning of the accident, accompanied by John Jordan and Thomas Graham, also employees of the Highways Department.

Arm in Plaster Cast.

With his left arm still in a plaster cast, John Frank Dunsmore, of Beamsville, who said he was a nephew by marriage of the dead man, was permitted to be seated while giving evidence. He had only a slight recollection of passing one or two other cars immediately prior to the crash. If he did, he stated, he would naturally "have pulled back to my own side of the road as soon as possible."

Unable to state where his car was in relation to the centre line at the time of the impact, witness stated if the skid marks showed that he had been on the wrong side of the road, as Traffic Officer Hornick swore at the previous hearing, "I will have to abide by that."

". . . Then the Crash."

"All I can recall is just seeing a car and then the crash," witness testified.

Crown Attorney—At what speed were you travelling?

"Thirty-five miles per hour."

Asked what explanation he could give as to the cause of the accident, witness replied, "I really haven't any."

Eunice Hammond, of Bridgenorth, who was one of the seven persons in the Dunsmore car, swore, "I do not remember seeing the other car at all. I just remember hearing brakes squealing, and then the crash." She expressed the opinion the "squealing" was caused by application of the brakes on the car driven by Nantel. "As near as I know we were on our right side of the road," she also stated.

Gideon Nantel, described as an engineer of the Department of Highways, was permitted to be seated while giving testimony. He limped into the box supported by a cane and had his left arm in a sling.

Over Centre Line.

Driving north, witness said he had just topped the crest of the hill when he saw the Dunsmore car approaching about 100 feet away. It was slightly over the east of the centre line at that time, and witness applied his brakes, he said, and swung over as far as he could to the east side of the road. The Dunsmore car continued to approach in a south-easterly direction, and witness was just about to take the ditch to avoid a crash when the collision occurred.

Questioned regarding the empty liquor bottle found in the wreckage of the car he had been driving, Nantel denied any knowledge of how the bottle had come to be in the car. He stated, "I had nothing whatever," when asked by the crown attorney if he had partaken of any liquor on the morning of the accident.

Similar denial was offered at the former hearing by Jordan and Graham, who were passengers in the car.

The jury was composed as follows: Sidney Whatley, foreman; John Duignan, John McCabe, James Lundy, Harry Rudkins, George Dinsdale, Frank Shanahan, William Welsh, Harold Baptie, W. R. Payne, W. E. Lech, Ted Boyer.

Dr. Williams' BABY'S OWN TABLETS

RETAIL PRICE IS INCREASED

Peterborough will sell milk at the following prices: Retail quarts, 10 cents; pints, 5 cents; wholesale and relief, retail prices less 10 per cent; special milk over 3.7 per cent butterfat and Jersey milk, quarts, 11 cents; pints, 5½ cents.

Cream Prices

"Milk distributors will sell cream at the following prices: Whipping cream, quarter pints, 10 cents; half pints, 20 cents; pints, 40 cents; quarts, 70 cents; gallons, $2.40; table cream, half pints, 15 cents; pints, 30 cents; quarts, 55 cents; gallons, $2.00.

"Wholesale cream prices to be the regular retail prices less 10 per cent.

"That all milk except milk to institutions be sold in bottles.

"That no premiums or discounts of any kind will be given nor the canvassing of customers combined with sales of the products.

E. Butler, president of the Peterborough Milk Producers' Association, and V. S. Milburn, secretary, signed the code for the producers. Twenty-eight, all but one of the distributors present, signed as distributors.

Mr. MacFeeters

"The Milk Control Board has no intention of exercising undue authority," Mr. MacFeeters said, in an informal preliminary address. "We are anxious to have you settle your differences among yourselves. I understand you are experiencing a difference of opinion in regard to what is a fair price to the farmer and to the consumer. Our task is to oversee your efforts and see that all three parties—the producer, the distributor and the consumer—get square deals."

Mr. MacFeeters said that the Board could not approve of the existing inequality in retail prices in Peterborough. Milk prices range from five to eight cents a quart here, he reminded. The Board, he said, favors level prices with raw milk selling at the same prices as pasteurized milk. Without a levelling of prices, the milk business cannot flourish in a healthy condition and the farmer producing the milk is the ultimate sufferer, he said.

Prices Elsewhere

To give an idea of the milk prices prevailing in other centers of the Province, Mr. MacFeeters read the following list of prices to the producer and quart and pint retail prices:

Toronto, $1.80; 11 and 7 cents.
Barrie, $1.70; 11 and 6 cents.
Oshawa, $1.61; 10 and 6 cents.
Orillia, $1.65; 10 and 6 cents.
Port Hope, $1.50; 8 and 5 cents.
Belleville, $1.50; 8 and 5 cents.
Brantford, $1.65; 10 and 6 cents.
Chatham, $1.65; 10 and 6 cents.

In a few words, Mr. Houck told of the creation of the Board by the Henry Government. The new Government realizing the intense need of control in the milk business, gave the Milk Control Act new teeth and the Board is well prepared to carry on its task of maintaining satisfactory conditions to all concerned in the milk business, he said.

Remarking that the Board had been charged with partiality toward the producer, he said that the body had acted impartially in the interests of the distributor and the consumer as well as the producer. In its experience, however, the Board has found that the producer is in the most desperate plight of the three parties and has found it necessary to give particular attention the producers' problems. In cases where the Board has recommended a raise in the retail prices to the consumer, the recommendations have been made generally with a view to easing the distress of the producer, he said. The farmers of the Province, particularly those dependant on milk, have been in great need and relief for them has been most urgent for the general welfare of the province. With this in mind, consumers can not honestly object to paying a fair price for their milk even if the price is a cent or two more than they have been paying in the past.

Mayor Denne.

Mayor Denne welcome the Board on behalf of the city. "I think it is a move in the right direction," he said. "In touch with the farmer as well as the city I realize that the farmer is not getting enough for his milk. Yet the price to the consumer can not be too high for the consumer has not the money to pay for it. I have confidence in you men in your effort tonight to reach a fair compromise in this difficult situation."

Mr. Denne scored the milk distributor striving to undersell those who have the burden of heavy plants and land investments. This practice can be eliminated with great benefit to the entire business, he said and pointed out that the producer will ultimately receive a better deal. "There is no need to point out that the prosperity of our city people depends on the prosperity of the farmer," he said.

Second Visit

The Milk Board paid its first visit to the city two weeks ago. At that time, Mr. McFeeters and Mr. Houck outlined the adjustments they wished made in local milk affairs. Meetings of the distributors and vendors were held in the intervening time but, up to last night, a dead-lock existed. The producers wanted $1.80 per hundred on the 10 cents per quart and 5 cents per pint basis while the distributors asserted that they could not afford more than $1.65. Mr. Houck broke the deadlock urging the distributors to pick up the extra five cents through the taking up of the slack resulting from the price war.

George A. Gillespie of Silverwood's made the motion for the $1.70 price during the distributors' meeting. Carl Campbell of Campbell's Dairy seconded it. The producers assented readily on Mr. Houck's recommendation that it was a fair price in view of the local situation.

Present at the meeting with the Board was E. H. Clark of Aurora, Ontario, secretary of the Ontario Milk Producers' Association. As the Board was rising he said, "I wish to tender our thanks to the Milk Control Board. We appreciate what you have done for the producers. We might now say Amen."

Obituary

MISS AGNES ROBERTON

(Examiner Correspondence)

ROSENEATH, Aug. 15.—The funeral of the late Miss Agnes Roberton, who passed away at Cobourg on Saturday morning early, was held on Monday afternoon from the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. Edwin Harvie.

Deceased was born in the township of Hamilton on January 19, 1857 and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Roberton, who were natives of Scotland coming to Canada as some of the first pioneer settlers.

In the early lifeof Miss Roberton, she was a very ardent and faithful member of the Presbyterian church. A true Christian character and was very highly esteemed.

Rev. L. W. Scott, delivered a beautiful address basing his remarks on the words "There will be no night in heaven" and reading a favorite hymn of the deceased 'Nearer My God to Thee".

Other than her brother-in-law, Mr. Edwin Harvie she is survived by one niece, Mrs. Harry Mouncey, Alnwick township and one nephew, Mr. Duncan Harvie of LeRoy, Michigan.

The remains were conveyed to the family plot at Cold Springs. The pall bearers were Messrs Reg. Crego, Kenard Harvie, John Murphy, Albert Halstead, William Buttars and Charles Buttars.

Summer agricultural work in England and Wales is providing employment for over 100,000 extra persons this year.

HASTINGS

Mrs. Minor and children, Geraldine, Tommy and Donald, are guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Jones (nee Isobel Herriott) of Percy township, were tendered a miscellaneous shower at their home when a very large crowd from Hastings, Warkworth and Campbellford districts were present. Messrs. Shea and Bailey provided music for the many round and square dances. The bridal couple were the recipients of many useful and pretty gifts.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 97c to 99c; oats, 35c to 38c; barley, 50c to 53c; corn, 80c to 82c; rye, 55c to 57c; buckwheat, 60c to 62c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Lively tumbles in prices late yesterday plunged wheat down 3½ cents a bushel below earlier high points, and forced into execution many stop-loss orders.

Brisk selling, which started from Eastern sources just before the close, revealed that for at least the time being wheat values were without any aggressive support. Uncertainty over the Washington Administration's crop control plans was in some quarters looked upon as an unsettling influence.

Wheat closed weak at almost the day's bottom quotations, 1⅛c to 2⅛c under Monday's finish, corn ⅛c to ⅜c down, oats ¼c off to ¼c up, and provisions showing 20c to 50c gain.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Butter was fractionally higher in price while the price of potatoes eased slightly on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday.

At the weekly auction held at the Board of Trade here yesterday, 615 boxes of butter and 734 boxes of cheese were offered. Fresh No. 1 Quebec butter brought 18½c a pound, while No. 1 white Quebec cheese sold at 9 9-16c a pound and No. 7 colored Quebec cheese was quoted at 9 7-16c a pound.

On the butter market quotations were 18½c to 18¾c a pound for fresh No .1 in car lots or less, an advance of ¼c. Small lots to retailers were 20c a pound for solids and 21c a pound for prints. Receipts were five boxes.

Cheese was unchanged in price, Ontario colored being 10c to 10¼c a pound, while Quebec cheese brought 9¾c a pound. Arrivals totalled 3,054 boxes.

The egg market was steady. Graded shipments in less than car lots of Ontario eggs were priced at 23½c to 24½c a dozen for A large, 21¼c to 22½c for A medium, 19c to 19½c for B and 18c to 19c for C. Car lots from the West remained at 21½c to 22c a dozen for A large, 20½c to 21c for A medium, 19c to 19½c for B and 18c to 18½c for C. Receipts totalled 2,490 cases.

Potatoes declined 5c, new Quebecs being quoted at 50c to 55c per 90-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Weighty selling from Chicago, where wheat slumped in the closing minutes, broke Winnipeg Grain Exchange wheat prices here yesterday, plunging down from gains of 1⅞ cents, quotations were ½ to ⅝ cents lower at the finish.

October wheat ended at 87⅞c, December at 85¾c and May at 93⅝c. Export business and Liverpool strength accounted for the early upturn. Seaboard houses were credited with taking at least 750,000 bushels of Canadian wheat.

Offerings were limited until the closing minutes, with the bulk of the selling coming from elevators. Trading was in moderate volume.

Liverpool wheat closed 1d to 1¼d higher. Affected to some slight extent by wet weather in southern areas of Western Canada where harvesting is in progress. Buenos Aires continued to advance. Chicago prices dropped 3⅛c from the day's top.

German advices were constructive, and suggested increased wheat imports, but all bullishness was outweighed by the late selling burst.

PRESS WAXES SARCASTIC OVER HINDENBURG WILL

LONDON, Aug. 16 (C.P.-Havas).—More or less sarcastic comment on the finding of the Hindenburg will is furnished by several London papers to-day.

The Daily Herald remarked: "Hindenburg's political testament, which appeared five days before the plebiscite, contains such flattery for Hitler that it could not be more effective propaganda if Goebbles himself had written it."

The Daily Express in commenting on the circumstances surrounding discovery and publication of the will, stated: "This is even better than the burning of the Reichstag."

The Daily Telegraph wrote: "It was a masterly stroke of propaganda. One cannot help but be surprised, however, that Goebbels questioned the existence of such a will only last week, considering how favorable it is to Hitler."

HUGH LABATT WAITS AT 'PHONE TORONTO HOTEL

Two Unknown Men Try in Vain to Gain Admittance to Room.

TENSION TIGHTENS.

Detectives Take Over Duty of Corridor Guards—Labatt Gets Letter.

TORONTO, Aug 16.—(C.P.)—Tempo of developments in efforts to recover kidnapped John Labatt gradually increased after quiet early hours today, but only active principals in the case could judge their relative importance.

Early this afternoon General S. C. Mewburn, chief of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Ontario detachment entered the hoted suite where Hugh Labatt watches the telephone and waits for definite contact with the kidnappers who removed his brother from a London-bound sedan on Tuesday.

Presumably Hugh was still in possession today of the $150,000 he drew from a London bank before he hurried to Toronto that afternoon. That was the amount demanded in the note signed "Three-fingered Abe" and left in the Brewer's car at London.

General Mewburn's visit followed unsuccessful attempts by two unidentified men to gain entry to the Labatt suite here, and admittance of another stranger, a big well-dressed man who apparently attempted to mislead watchers by turning down a corridor away from the room and then returning.

Later one of the first two returned in the company of two others—believed to be plainclothesmen—who talked to the guard at the Labatt door. His two companions entered, but he left the building, replying with a brief "no" to questions as to whether he would identify himself. At least one unidentified man visited the suite last night.

But whether these developments had any direct bearing on the abduction was not known. If negotiators were any closer to return of the man who heads the century-old brewery where the Labatt fortune was built, they were keeping the information to themselves.

Detectives Stand Guard.

Tension visibly tightened about the Labatt hotel suite this afternoon as two detectives took over the duties of corridor guards from the porter who previously had carried out this duty. The detectives were visibly disinclined to talk to newspapermen even in general terms about the case.

Hotel attendants to-day delivered a letter to Hugh Labatt's suite, where it was examined closely. Mr. Labatt at first denied he had received a letter, explaining later it

STEVENS PLEADS FOR A UNITED EAST AND WEST

Says Conservative Political Doctrine Best for People Under Democratic Gov't.

FAVORS SILVER COINAGE.

BY FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER, Aug. 16.—(CP)— A plea for a United East and West, government recognition of agricultural as well as industrial interests and a defence of the administration headed by Premier R. B. Bennett was launched on its way today by H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Mr. Stevens prescribed the Conservative political doctrine as one best suited to a people who live under a democratic system of government. "Many things in democratic countries are wrong," he said, "but that doesn't mean the principle of democracy is wrong."

Speaking to a Conservative rally here last night he referred to the declaration of Sir John A. MacDonald, and his declaration the first duty of government is in the interests of agriculture as well as Inflation.

He took time out from a defence of the Bennett Government to answer a question sent up to him which asked: "What is the difference in inflation as applied to coinage and the watering of stock as applied to big business."

"There isn't much difference in their effect on the economic life of the country," the Minister replied. "There is just as much menace in an over-issue of bonds and stocks in industry as in an over-issue of currency.

"That is the reason I criticize the growing practice of making huge issues of mortgage bonds on industry.

"Monetary inflation is not so easy to define. It may mean turning on the printing presses. What statesman in British Columbia asks that the Dominion print $400,000,000? That is inflation of the crudest sort."

Regarding the question of the rehabilitation of silver, Mr. Stevens said he had delivered a speech on it two years ago, and had not changed his attitude since.

Uncertain on Silver Move.

"I can't make any pronouncement on what Canada will do in the light of what Mr. Roosevelt has done. Any action by any other country will in some measure influence Canada in her policy. What that policy will be I'm not prepared or at liberty to say."

"If, however, it were possible for the leading commercial countries of the world to accept silver as coverage for their currency, it would be of great benefit to the trade of the world. But such a move would have to be international.

BEST IN THE WORLD.

BLENHEIM, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.).—Canadian newspapers are the best in the world, declared Victor Lauriston of Chatham, well-known author, when he addressed Blenheim Rotary Club. They were best, he said, because they combine the wide-awakke characteristic of the United States newspaper with the veracity of the British publication.

EXPECT GRIFFIN LEE SUCCESSOR T., N.O. RAILROAD

T. J. Cassidy Likely to Follow Former as Superintendent of Line.

$9,000 PAID LEE.

Commissioner to Inspect Property to Moosonee, Using Ordinary Coach or Freight.

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 16 (CP). — William A. Griffin, superintendent for the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, will likely succeed George W. Lee as general chairman of the Railway Commission, it was learned here today from official sources.

Thomas J. Cassidy of St. Thomas, former employee of the Wabash Railway, was mentioned as a possible successor to Mr. Griffin as superintendent. Mr. Cassidy, sent here by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn to inspect the road's rolling stock, equipment and trackage, today started a survey of the shops here.

At The Probe.

David Hamilton, auditor, was the first witness again at to-day's sitting of the Racine Commission which is investigating the affairs of the T. and N. O. Railway.

The witness set the 1933 "income surplus" at $32,536.20. This, however, the auditor said does not include "depletion of surface account," of $18,033.09.

Auditor Hamilton revealed to Commissioner Racine the T. and N. O. last year paid $50,000 to the Ontario Government in interest charges which, he acknkowledged, was a greater sum than the road earned. The auditor explained, "We paid $50,000 to the province as proceeds of operations, anticipated, but as it turned out we did not earn what we estimated."

The salary of George W. Lee, chairman of the road, is $750 monthly, or $9,000 per year, the auditor testified.

Witness said "as far as he knew" that was the chairman's salary. Commissioner Racine announced he would "examine closely" the salary roll of Chairman Lee and his associate commissioners.

Will Inspect Line.

Mr. Racine informed Mr. Maund that he would inspect the entire length of the T. and N. O. and its branch lines. He instructed Mr. Maund to make arrangements for the trip, adding: "We will not travel in any private car. Probably to save expenses, we will amke the trip over the week-end and will take evidence along the route.

As there is no regular passenger train leaving here Saturday, Mr. Racine will go by freight train. He said he would inspect the "white elephant" hotel at Moosonee.

Chairman George Lee was unexpectedly called to the hearing this morning. He said his salary is $10,000 a year less a 10 per cent cut made in 1932 and a five per cent cut made on "organized employes" in 1933. He sad he had a monthly charge account at the Royal York hotel, Toronto, since the hotel opened and he was questioned about the account for the period from September, 1929 and July 1934.

Brief 'Quake Shakes Three Scottish Towns

DINGWALL, Scotland, Aug. 16 (A.P.). — A 10-second earthquake shook Dingwall early this morning.

Bedsteads and other furniture trembled, plaster cracked and fell and woodwork began to creak, arousing the startled residents. There was no serious damage.

The inhabitants of Inverness and Pitlochry likewise were alarmed when furniture and crockery started shaking badly.

The Exchange Telegraph Agency correspondent reported: "All thrifty people—that is to say, practically the entire population of the districts affected—dashed out of bed to save their china and glass, thinking that at least it was being stolen by a careless burglar who might smash something."

Agricultural School Employees Are Fired

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 16.—(CP)—Ten or eleven employees of the Kemptville Agricultural school, a provincial government institution, have received notice of their dismissal from the service effective at the close of the present week included are part-time workers taken on each season. Two members of the office staff, a mechanic, and men employed as teamsters.

Brother of the kidnapped John Labatt, who is attempting to contact with the kidnappers.

LANDS, FORESTS COURT ACTION WILL BE TAKEN

Hope to Recover Sums Wrongly Spent in Administration Says Hepburn.

WAIT HEENAN'S RETURN.

Dr. Simpson Promises More Practical Secondary School System.

MIDLAND, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.)—Action will be taken through the courts to recover sums wrongfully spent in the administration of the Department of Lands and Forests in Ontario, Premier Michell Hepburn states. The action will be initiated on the return of Hon. Peter Heenan, minister of that department, from his northern tour.

Premier Hepburn announced his attention of following the example of former Premier E. C. Drury, who investigated expenditure under the administration of his predecessor, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, at a large Liberal rally held here yesterday. Premier Hepburn, referring to the probe being conducted into the Ontario air service, said he had been informed more startling disclosures would be made shortly.

With regard to the economy program which his government had instituted, he detailed his purpose as being to ensure government money being spent efficiently and honestly, and recovered when it had been wrongfully spent. "My sympathies are with the man on the back concession," he said.

Dr. L. J. Simpson, Minister of Education, who preceded Mr. Hepburn, said it was the purpose of the government to change the system of secondary school education, with an aim of making it more practical as well as economical. The needs of those who do not intend continuing into university would be specially considered, he indicated.

FAMOUS PEAK TAKES 4 LIVES

Two Climbers Topple to Death on Matterhorn—Two Die of Exposure.

ONLY THREE RETURN.

ZERMATT, Switzerland, Aug. 16 (C.P.-Havas).—The Matterhorn today had repelled in death the latest attempt to climb its jagged summit. Two mountain climbers toppled to sudden death from its treacherous slopes. Two others died of exposure.

Three came back, after successfully reaching the lofty peak's summit, 14,900 feet high, but two of them were in a dangerous condition from exposure.

The climbers—all of them Italians—set out Wednesday in two groups. Two of the advance trio slipped and fell to their deaths. The third went back safely. The second group of four men, undaunted, reached the summit of the famous Swiss peak. But the bitter cold and the rarity of the atmosphere cost two of them their lives.

In recognition of her record solo flight from England to Australia the New Zealand Cabinet has granted Miss Jean Batten $2500.

The Borqual whale, which seldom exceeds 32 feet in length, has been exempted from death by whale hunters of the world because it is held to be too small to be worth slaying.

POLICY CHANGED ON THE DEATH OF SIR ADAM BECK

All Evidence Submitted in the Probe Into Abitbi Deal.

SLAGHT SPEAKS.

Change of Name Rushed Through in One Day Witness Declares.

TORONTO, Aug. 16. (CP) — Charging a complete change in the policy of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission had come about after the death of Sir Adam Beck, Arthur Slaght, counsel for the Royal Commission probing the "Abitibi deal" began his argument after all the evidence had been presented to-day.

Sir Adam Beck was the founder of Hydro and Mr. Slaght said his policy was public ownership of the sources of power and economical operation. After his death the "Ferguson-Henry-Price combination" abandoned the principle of public ownership and set about buying power from private sources, saddling Hydro with onerous contracts.

Assumed Load and Risk

"Hydro assumed the load and the risk," said Mr. Slaght" and the private operators and speculators were able to sell their bonds on the strength of their contracts with Hydro."

He referred to the purchase of power from the McLaren-Quebec Power Company, the Gatineau Power Company and the Beauharnois Power Company and then said the same practice was followed in the case of the Abitibi Canyon power.

"No better example of political trucking to private interests was exhibited anywhere than in this case' said Mr. Slaght referring to the Abitibi. He said in 1926 former Premier George Henry, then acting Minister of Lands and Forests, granted the Hudson Bay Power Company a lease of the Abitibi Canyon power site. The company, he charged, was a mere shell, a subsidiary of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company set up for the purpose of receiving and holding this valuable concession. It had no assets and was financially irresponsible for carrying out such an enormous development.

Offered No Evidence

No evidence was offered at the probe by W. N. Tilley, K.C., counsel for members of the former Conservative government or Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Hydro Commissioner. As soon as Mr. Slaght's last witness finished his evidence the argument started.

Yesterday Commissioner F. R. Latchford asked the reason for the change and suggested it was for the purpose of "misleading the public." To-day A. G. Slaght, commission counsel, called J. P. Law, clerk in the provincial secretary's department, to show how the change was made.

He said the whole thing was completed on one day, July 30. A petition from the company was received on that day. Passed through the usual process in the department, and the order changing the name was issued the same day. One of the reasons given was that the company needed to obtain certain financing which could only be done if a change in name was made.

"Do they go through that fast as a rule?" asked Mr. Slaght.

"Not as a rule," replied Mr. Law

Scared, Thugs Flee Leaving Loot Behind

STRATFORD, Ont., Aug. 16 (CP).—Presumably frightened when Gordon Taylor switched on the electric light in his home across the road, robbers fled from the general store of his father, J. M. Taylor, Sebringville, early this morning, leaving behind them loot which they had evidently prepared to take and which is valued at between $400 and $500.

Before entering the Taylor store the same robbers are presumed to have burglarized the Sebringville hardware store, operated by A. P. Schmidt, as part of the loot taken from the hardware store was found in Taylor's. All the thugs got away with, according to a cursory check, was approximately three dollars in cash from the hardware store and four dollars in cash from the general store.

WINNIPEG—Theodore A. Hunt, K.C., prominent in civic affairs and the legal profession here, died suddenly at his home today Death was due to a heart attack. He was 63 years old.

Too Much Lather

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Aug. 16.—(C.P.)—A number of Illinois Central Railroad locomotives worked up a lather instead of generating maximum steam until deputy sheriffs caught four small boys taking their daily baths in the railroad's tank.

Engineers said the soap raised the boiling point of the water, keeping down steam and slowing down the engines. The boys were warned to bathe at home.

COBOURG RINKS CAPTURE MAJOR BOWLING CUPS

Jack Skitch is Victor in C.D.S. Competition, While W. Hopper Wins Warne Trophy.

SUCCESSFUL TOURNEY.

Carruthers-Oke Final in Stratton Play Provides Followers With Plenty Thrills.

J. Carruther's Bowmanville rink won the Stratton Trophy, feature competition of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club's annual open tournament in which 54 crack rinks competed, when he defeated Walter J. Oke's crack Peterborough four.

Jack Skitch's Cobourg rink won the C.D.S. Trophy, in the second competition, and another Cobourg rink, skipped by W. Hopper, won the Warne Cup.

The tournament, which opened yesterday morning shortly after 9 o'clock, was not concluded until 2.30 this morning. Competitors declared it the keenest competed journey in which they had ever played, and praised the manner in which the local club accomplished the titanic task of conducting the whole important affair.

Plenty of Thrills.

When the Carruthers and Oke rinks clashed in the finals for the Stratton Trophy, it proved to be one of the best played games of the whole tournament. Oke opened up a lead at the start, but Carruthers moved up even with him. On the ninth end they were tied 9-9, but Carruthers secured six points on the tenth, and from there until the finish he gained a big margin. The final score was 19-11.

Members of these two rinks were:

Bowmanville—B. Kent, W. Dudley, A. Elliott and J. Carruthers, skip.

Peterborough—Norman Routley, Charles Seymour, W. Wood and Walter Oke, skip.

Having earned their way through to the finals in the C.D.S. Trophy, J. Skitch's Cobourg rink and W. Hogarth's Toronto St. Matthew's rink decided that they would toss for the cup. It was then 2.30 this morning, and members of both rinks were tired out after the day's hard play. A coin was

Indian Ferry Upsets 170 Men, Women Sink

ATNA, India—Drowning of 170 men and women when a ferry boat overturned in mid-stream was reported today from Cdarihars.

There were about 200 persons on the boat, who were seized by panic as they were hurled into the river.

Terror of a number of bullocks being carried on the boat was said to have been responsible for the disaster.

When the boat rocked the animals became frightened and jumped into the water.

The movement caused the boat to rock more, and terrified passengers crowded to one side. Their weight caused the craft to capsize.

Boatmen rescued about 30 persons, taking from the river one old woman who saved herself from drowning by clinging to a bundle of faggots.

Wrong Answer

PITTSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 16.—(C.P.) — Pranksters' frequent telephone calls peeved Patrolman Patrick Walsh. He was gruff as he answered the station telephone once more.

"Who's there?" asked a voice.

"Come up and see me some time, and I'll tell you," was the retort.

Police Chief Luke Keating came right up. Patrolman Walsh was suspended.

Three Squads of Police Centre on Detroit Following Reported Clue.

SPORTSMAN SUSPECTED.

Believed Man Who 'Phoned Hugh Labatt in Toronto Hotel in Morning.

DETROIT, Aug. 16 (A.P.)—In the face of denials that definite "heads" had been found, the entire manpower of three police squads was mobilized to-day to search for clues here in the kidnapping of John S. Labatt, millionaire brewer of London, Ont.

Chief of Detectives Fred W. Frahm, while insisting that no one in particular was sought, ordered the homicide, holdup and special investigation squads to concentrate on the hunt. The purpose, he said, was to find out about recent movements and present whereabouts of known gangsters and racketeers.

The order went out after a prolonged conference with Sergeant Ted Wels, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and three officers from Toronto.

There were numerous reports that a definite Detroit link with the kidnapping had been found. But most of them were denied.

Suspect Sportsman

One report was that activities of a man described as "well known in sporting circles in Windsor, Ont., and Detroit" were being investigated, and that he was believed to have been the man who telephoned Hugh Labatt, brother of the abducted London, Ont. brewer in Toronto to-day about payment of the demanded $150,000 ransom.

In Toronto, it was said that the man sought was a Michigan racketeer and there was a suggestion that a gang might have sought protection money from prominent brewers in Michigan and Ontario.

The Canadian and Detroit officers united at noon in a statement that no fingerprints of any kind were found on the automobile from which Labatt was taken Tuesday afternoon, somewhere between Sarnia, Ont., and London.

Chief Frahm also denied specifically that police were looking for Joe Massie, former liquor runner and a co-defendant with Pete Livavoli in the slaying of Milford Jones in 1932, in connection with the Labatt case.

Police of port Huron, Mich., which is across the St. Clair River from Sarnia, to-day began a systematic search of river shore. They paid particular attention to known blind pigs, supposedy vacant buildings and other places suspected of being hide-outs for law breakers.

In the meantime R. G. Ivy, of the firm of Ivy, Elliott and Gillanders who is official spokesman for the Labatt family stated that he has nothing new on the matter this morning but invited newspaper men to meet him in his office this afternoon for a conference. Mr. Ivy would not divulge anything pertaining to the conference.

Charge Maxwell Lax In Inspecting Post

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.).—Inquiry into the administration of the Ontario air service was adjourned to-day until August 23 by Commissioner D. W. Lang, K.C., of Toronto. The probe will resume at the Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

W. H. Ptolemay, recently discharged as superintendent of western flying operations of the service at Sioux Lookout, charged at to-day's brief hearing that lately he had not received co-operation from Capt. W. Roy Maxwell, director of the air service.

The director had not visited the post in 16 months, and had ignored most of his recommendations, Mr. Ptolemay testified.

Sweeping Magisterial Changes to be Made In Ontario

ROEBUCK PLANS DIVIDE ONTARIO INTO DISTRICTS

Each Will Be Under a Chief Magistrate With Two Junior Aides.

50 MEN TO REPLACE 147.

Fee System to be Replaced With Wage "Enough to Live Respectably."

FERGUS, Ont., Aug. 16.—(CP)—A thorough reorganization of the Ontario magisterial system was promised today by Hon. Arthur W. Roebuck K.C. Attorney General for Ontario. Speaking last night at a Liberal rally held in honor of Dr. J. H. King, candidate for the provincial by-election in Wellington South, Mr. Roebuck announced sweeping changes were to be made, including reducing the number of magistrates from 147 to less than 50.

Ontario would be divided into districts, "each under a chief magistrate, with two junior itinerary magistrates", all of whom would restrict themselves to the hearing and judging of evidence, under the attorney-general's proposed scheme. The fee payment system would also be done away with, the minister promised, saying the magistrates "will be paid enough to live, not sumptuously but in respectability."

Industrial codes for the province were intimated, when Mr. Roebuck said a conference of employers and labor unions would be called, from the findings of which, laws for the insuring of fair wages and hours would be enacted at the next session of the legislature. He inferred the laws would be rigidly enforced when enacted.

Absolves Chief

Referring to criticism which had been directed at Chief Constable Draper during the episode of the hunger marchers, Mr. Roebuck said Chief Draper was simply carrying out orders, and had been left "holding the bag" when opposition arose to the policies of his superiors.

He quoted figures to show the public debt had become inadvisably large. "We are trying to put the Government on a reasonable basis," he said. He charged Hydro had been grossly maladministered by the former Conservative Government, claiming the purchasing of power from other producers had been entirely too large.

Speaking of the use of the pri-

TENDER IS LET SEYMOUR BOARD

John H. Wallace of Campbellford, Secures Contract for Building Fair Addition.

CONTRACT PRICE $300.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 16. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—For a tender of $300 covering the complete work, with the gravel to be laid down on the ground by the society, John H. Wallace of Campbellford, secured the contract from the Seymour Agricultural Society for the building of the extention to the present poultry house to transform it into a main building.

This action was taken last night at a meeting of the board of directors over which the president, W. S. Milne, presided. The motion for the letting of the contract was made by T. J. Herkins and John Locke. Other tenders received were, Work alone, H. M. Donald, $75; James Blue, $96. Lumber, A. C. Connor and Son, white pine, $177.-90; spruce, $175.90. H. M. Fowlds and Son, $177.24; work complete, James Blue, $330. The work will be done under the supervision of the property committee and according to specifications.

Mr. Horkins reported to the board having been given a grant of $100 by the town council to assist with this work, a vote of thanks to the council being passed at the meeting. It was agreed to let the town have the use of the office at the fair grounds during the winter months, for the purpose of storing their tools.

Much time was taken up by the revision of the prize list, one of the main features of which was the setting of the purse for speeding events at $230. Last year's purse was $300. Twelve entries were reported for the foal club.

LEAGUE RE-INSTATED

OTTAWA, Aug. 16 (C.P.) — The St. Lawrence Baseball League has been re-instated as member of the Eastern Ontario Baseball Association, according to an announcement by W. R. Elliott, president of the E.O.B.A.

The St. Lawrence League had been suspended pending payment of dues and receipt of amateur cards, which have now been received by the association.

Panhandlers

CREIGHTON MINE, Ont. Aug. 16.—(CP)—Pay day is always the occasion for an influx of peddlers, beggars and bunco artists to this town and twice a month, when the mine wages are distributed, the Sudbury ben disgorges as many as a dozen panhandlers and knights of the pack-sack.

A particular crafty panhandler was tripped up the other day by an alert housewife. Limping and carrying a cane, he approached the back door. His lower teeth were missing and his upper teeth protruded. He presented a card listing his infirmities and gave the name of John Gilbert. He received 25 cents.

An hour later came another knock at the same door. This time the visitor's upper teeth were missing while his lower ones protruded, he carried two canes and wore dark glasses. His disguise was penetrated, however, and no hand-out was forthcoming.

MINSTER WILL PRESS CHARGES

Workers' Organizer Ignores Stratford Warnings—Plans to Return.

FAILS TO SEE ROEBUCK.

TORONTO, Aug. 16 (C.P.)—In defiance of a warning to keep away from the city, Isadore Minster, organizer for the Workers' Unity League to-day announced his intention of returning to Stratford, Ont. and lay charges of kidnapping "against those people who forced me to leave town." Minster was escorted out of Stratford last Monday by a group of citizens following his organization efforts among members of the Woodworkers' Industrial union. He was warned by the "Vigilantes" that his safety in the city would not be guaranteed if he chose to return.

Minster declared he had been unsuccessful last night in gaining an interview with Arthur W. Roebuck, Attorney-General. "I finally got his secretary and was told to go to Stratford," Minster said. I asked him what protection I would get in going through the city, but he could not answer me.

"I am going to Stratford; the boys will meet me. I intend to lay charges against those people who forced me to leave town! Minster preceded. "I had the facts yesterday to lay before Mr. Roebuck and then yesterday I took them to the provincial police, but got little consideration there."

ROOT CROP HELPED BY HEAVY SHOWER

Harvest Well Advanced in Bailieboro District—Late Peas Below Normal.

BAILIEBORO, Aug. 15.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The rain which fell in the district on Monday afternoon did untold good to dried out area. The heavy shower which lasted for a half-hour in this vicinity was the only rain which has more than settled the dust since June and was very much needed.

It will take a very heavy rainfall to thoroughly penetrate the sundried soil, but Monday's shower has relieved the situation for the time and the roots and buckwheat will be greatly refreshened.

The harvest is now well advanced. The crop is mostly cut for this season with the exception of some late sowed oats.

Considering the extremely dry season the early peas, oats and barley and some crops of spring wheat are exceptionally good in this district. The later crops of peas were affected by the pea lice and hot weather and as a result are far below normal.

problem to farmers. The continued dry weather has completely burned the grass and the farmers are compelled to use their winter's feed supply to feed their stock during the summer and fall. This is making a great inroad in the supply of feed which is not plentiful.

Farmers who have already completed their harvesting are awaiting more rain to enable them to prepare their soil for fall wheat seeding, which will commence after September 1.

THREE 'PHONE CALLS ARE MADE IN EARLY HOURS

Mysterious Stranger Right After Meets Hugh Labatt, Toronto Hotel Room.

TALK HALF HOUR.

Police, Press Camp on Trail —Officers Regard Messages as "Fishy."

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—(CP) — Kidnappers of John S. Labatt, 50-year-old millionaire brewer, today were believed to have made their first steps toward collecting the $150,000 they demand for his safe return. Early morning telephone calls to the brother of the man held for ransom under a death threat, lifted the veil that has covered the kidnappers' movements since the wealthy London, Ont., brewer was abducted more than 44 hours ago.

Harried and nervous from sleepless days, Hugh Labatt crawled from his bed at a downtown hotel at one o'clock this morning to hear a voice that sent him into feverish activity. Odd words of the conversations heard by newspapermen, stationed in hotel rooms nearby, indicated the phone call was to arrange a meeting with the kidnappers.

"Can I see my brother," were the first words Hugh Labatt uttered in to the 'phone. Then police arrived on the scene. They dashed into Labatt's room; newspapermen ran along corridors but even after two more such calls Labatt did not make any attempt to leave the building for the supposed meeting, described by one officer as "fishy."

A slim, grey-haired man who sat in the rotunda of Labatt's hotel for two hours mysteriously entered the scene. When the three 'phone calls had been completed and police activity ended, the grey-haired man walked along the corridor, ignoring all who sought to question him, and entered Hugh Labatt's room, where he remained for half an hour.

Attired in grey flannel trousers, blue serge coat and panama hat, the well-dressed stranger disappeared as suddenly as he had arrived. He had sat quietly in the hotel rotunda, it was said, while police conferred with Labatt. His entry into Labatt's room was made while police were outside the building.

Hubbub that followed the telephone conversation had died down at three o'clock this morning; hotel officials had cleared the corridors, closed doors and windows in Labatt's section of the hotel when the man in the flannel trousers visited Labatt, probably as an emissary of the abductors.

Suspect Secret Meeting

It was thought Labatt might leave the building secretly to meet the men who "snatched" his brother Tuesday morning while he was on his way to London from the summer home at Sarnia Beach, but Chief Inspector John Miller of the Provincial Police denied there was such intention. Authorities were urging Labatt to co-operate with them, but he was eager for his brother's return, the heart weakness the missing man suffers from causing grave fears for his welfare. And also the peril of death which the abductors threatened unless the ransom was paid in 24 hours, spurred Hugh in his efforts to contact the gangsters.

The Call!

Newspapermen were idling in their rooms and police rested half-dressed on their beds when the brother of the abducted brewer was

Miss Milda Mumby of Toronto is visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity for a few weeks.

Mr. Fred A. Peake of Toronto visited friends in Bonarlaw on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

Messrs. Ralph Mumby and Gerald Haslett of Toronto visited their parents at Bonarlaw over the week-end and also called at Sunset Lodge, Crowe Lake.

Rev. S. E. Morton, M.A., rector of Trinity Church, Brockville, conducted the services at St. Mark's Church on Sunday evening last, Rev. Canon Swayne being away on holidays, accompanied by Mrs. Swayne. Mr. Morton delivered a very impressive sermon on worship, emphasizing the privilege as well as the duty of worshipping God and in God's House. At the close of his sermon he congratulated the congregation on the beautiful new edifice in which they are now privileged to worship.

Mr. W. V. Riddell, of Toronto, professional walker and sportsman, who has been camping near Callaghans Rapids for some weeks returned to Toronto on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Barlow and Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Bristol took a motor trip to Silver Lake and Perth on Sunday last.

The entire community is saddened and shocked by the tragic death of Hon. J. R. Cooke who resided such a short distance from here and was so well known and beloved by nearly every man, woman and child in this neighborhood.

Smoke Paddlers Hold Spotlight At Wallace Point Regatta

RICE LAKE AQUATIC ATHLETES TAKE FAIR SHARE OF EVENTS

Tug-of-war Features Keen Sports Card at Wallace's Point Regatta.

PRIZE WINNERS.

WALLACE POINT, Aug. 16.—(By Staff Reporter).—Somebody said it was a smoky day at Wallace Point yesterday, and a smoky day it was. Zack, Fred, Earl and Gordon Smoke, four Indian paddlers from Hiawatha, held the spotlight as the annual Wallace Point Canoe Club regatta was run off.

Although honors were more evenly divided than in most of the other regattas this season, the Smoke family seemed to stand out. When they did not figure in the placings, one or other of the four was among the prominent runners-up. And yet other of the season's headliners were definitely conspicuous. To mention a few: Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Cardwell, Bill Taylor, Hec. McLeod, Nels. Stanger and Ruth Sutton, all of Wallace Point; Pat and Lillian McClellan, Hiawatha; Ralph Louckes and Frank Gray, Alderville, and Don. Sidey and Pat and Mary Perrin, Bewdley.

Smaller Crowd.

The inviting pleasantness of a sunny afternoon failed to attract as large a number of competitors and spectators as last year. Possibly the unsettled weather earlier in the day was the cause and possibly the Lakefield regatta. Aspirants for the Rice Lake Aquatic Association individual championship cups made the best of the opportunities afforded by the absence of heavy competition from Chemong.

Ben. Moore, Peterborough; Harold Nattress, Millbrook, and Mose Anderson, Hiawatha, took care of the judging. Jack Deyell, Wallace Point, officiated with the starter's gun, and Henry Perrin, Bewdley, the megaphone. Miss Mae Cardwell, Toronto, was clerk of the course.

As in other years, the tug-of-war was a feature event. With their canoes snubbed together by a stout piece of rope, Don. Sidey and Frank Gray dragged Ralph Louckes and Zack Smoke over the centre line in short order and an easy victory by Herb. Cardwell and Bill Taylor followed.

Then it was a battle of champions for the championship. The conclusion of a half-minute of desperate paddling found the position of the canoes unchanged. After a rest interval, Cardwell and Taylor dug their paddles for a meager victory after a hard pull.

Men's Gunwale.

Ten entries made the men's gunwale a good contest. Bill Taylor nosed Earl Smoke over the line by a matter of inches. Ralph Louckes finished in third place a length behind with the pack on his heels.

The tandem contestants in the novelty race were required to paddle their canoes backward. It proved an excellent item on the program, almost as much speed being demonstrated as in the regular races. Don. Sidey and Frank Gray had an easy win, but Gordon and Earl Smoke had to battle it out with the rest of the field before qualifying for second money.

A contest that appealed to the spectators was the fifty-fifty-fifty race. The four men who entered were required to run fifty yards to the water's edge, swim fifty yards out to their canoes and paddle fifty yards back to the dock. Herb. Cardwell came out an easy winner in the wild scramble, with Bill Taylor second.

The Prize List.

THREE 'PHONE CALLS ARE MADE

summoned to the telephone at one o'clock this morning. Hectic scenes resulted suddenly when it became known the kidnappers were seeking their ransom.

Another call came to Labatt at 1.36 o'clock and a third at 2.35, apparently urging Labatt to keep a rendezvous with the criminals.

"It's one o'clock now and I I cant' get there until 2.30" were words overheard. "How can I get there alone? It's harder than you think with all these reporters around me," Labatt was heard to say.

Police arose from their beds, put on their coats and buckled on their guns Hurried consultations were held and Inspector Charles Gurnett, Chief Inspector Miller and other officials dashed to Labatt's room, summoned from their sleep Inspector Gurnett carried his little black book, containing lists of telephone exchanges, and the call was apparently checked

"I don't know," was the reply Inspector Gurnett gave to newspapermen's questions "I have nothing to announce," said Labatt; words he repeated when asked to confirm or deny he intended meeting the kidnappers

Call Considered "Fishy"

He conferred with police and seemed eager to keep the suggested appointment made over the telephone, but General Victor Williams, Commissioner of Provincial Police, was said to consider the call "Fishy"

Reference to "20 miles" was made by Labatt in his first 'phone talk; In the second he found it difficult to hear and continually muttered "I beg your pardon" He then said, "Apparently you are speaking too close to the phone" after which he was disconnected and the operator informed him his party had hung up.

Inspector Miller called a person believed to be General Williams and informed him of the details of Labatt's conversations. Labatt also spoke to this person and asked: "Do you think I should go?" His question apparently was received with instructions not to heed the early morning 'phone calls.

"Well, I won't keep the appointment," Hugh Labatt was heard to remark. The conversation was continued by Inspector Miller who used the name "Massey of Detroit" and also the words "New York" and "racketeer."

Hugh Labatt returned to his room to continue his vigil, still anxious to gain his brother's release. At 2.35 o'clock the ringing of the phone was heard again.

"Shall I answer it?" Labatt asked police, who approved his doing so.

Too Many Reporters

"I can't get out alone this morning because of the reporters," Labatt told the person at the other end of the line. "The corridor outside my room is full of them, ready to follow me wherever I go."

Further discussion followed and then Inspector Miller, Gurnett and Lougheed placed their hats on their heads and left the hotel. "Going home to bed," they said.

It was then the corridors were cleared by the hotel management, doors and windows closed and the man in the grey flannels made his appearance. When his meeting with Labatt was over the officers returned. They had only driven around the hotel block three times.

Earlier in the day Hugh Labatt had appealed for an opportunity to deal with the abductors without interference. "Since I arrived in Toronto I've not had a moment away from reporters and other interested parties," he said. He deplored the publicity given to the case, declaring it was possibly responsible for the failure of the kidnappers to communicate with him.

Mum On Ransom Note

To all queries from newspapermen Hugh turned a deaf ear, or dismissed them with an abrupt, "I have nothing to say," or "please do not trouble me." He has steadfastly declined to discuss the nature of the ransom note which was left in his brother's abandoned car.

Reports a second note had been received from the kidnappers, in the handwriting of the abducted man, were emphatically denied by Inspector Miller. "I have never heard of any note or letter other than the first one, left by the kidnappers in the Labatt car," he said.

Inspector Miller branded as "ridiculous" a report that Hugh Labatt had come to Toronto as a police and press decoy until some undisclosed "go-between" had completed negotiations for the safe release of his brother. Meanwhile Hugh Labatt carried the $150,000 the kidnappers demand, ready to hand it over whenever possible, the forces of the law stretched into every part of the province, scouring highways and wooded areas and guarding border points in case the victim of Canada's first ransom kidnapping is smuggled into United States territory. Dominion, provincial and city police were thrown into the hunt, Canada's famous "Mounties" aiding in tracking down the criminals.

Maze Of Theories.

A bewildering maze of theories continually developed but they only met with silence from official sources. It was suggested Labatt was "snatched" by a Detroit beer baron to whom he refused to pay tribute in selling the product of his large London brewery in Detroit. It was in this United States city Labatt made a telephone call to his brother in London, promising to keep the Tuesday morning business appointment, and it was feared his conversation was overheard by gangsters who tracked him to his Sarnia Beach home.

John Labatt was believed kidnapped after he left his summer residence on Lake Huron for London, 50 miles away, probably way-laid in his car by persons pretending to be hitch-hikers. In the Sarnia area police forces are concentrated with search being made of a wasteland near Thedford, known as the old Canada Company property, possibly the hide-away chosen by the gangsters.

Early last night two Provincial police constables rushed from Sarnia northwards to Lake Huron shores in answer to a summons, the nature of which they refused to divulge. They were reported heading toward a spot not far from the vicinity of the old Canada Company property.

Mysterious Trip.

Inspector H. Gardner of the Provincial police, who made a mystery dash to London from Toronto yesterday, is expected in Sarnia this morning with a detective-sergeant of the criminal investigation department.

It had been previously thought John Labatt had purchased gas from Charles Robertson's service station, 10 miles from his summer home on the way to London, but Robertson described the man who visited his establishment as 65 years of age and wearing a felt hat. The brewer is 50 years of age, and he was wearing a straw hat. Also his car was reported well filled with gasoline when he left his home at 9.15 o'clock to hurry to London for a 10 o'clock engagement with Hugh Labatt, an appointment he never kept.

The victim's wife and three children were at the home of Hugh Labatt in London, where it was declared no word had yet been heard from the kidnappers, whose note, signed "Three-Finger Abe," and demanding ransom was found Tuesday in the missing man's car, parked beside St. Joseph's Hospital.

Deloro Hands Coe Hill 6 To 0 Defeat

MARMORA, Aug. 16 (Examiner Correspondence)—Playing at home on Wednesday evening before a good crowd, Deloro handed Coe Hill a 6-0 defeat and increased their chances of being in the play-offs. Though B. Giles had only eight strike outs and F. Callery seven, both pitchers shaped well and were given good support. Boudreau's double to left field in the sixth which was the best hit of the game. In the seventh Lehigh hit into a doubleplay. It was possibly the only game of the season where neither side did any replacing of players.

The line-ups:

Coe Hill—M. Martin, rf; Rollins, cf; Watt, c; H. Giles, 2b; G. Martin, lf; Dorie, 3b; Lehigh, ss; McTavish, 1b; B. Giles, p.

Deloro—O'Neill, 1b; V. Callery, rf; Leal, lf; Stewart, 2b; M. Callery, cf; Boudreau, c; F. Callery, p; Gray, ss; Simmons, 3b.

Score by innings— R H E
Coe Hill .. .. .. 000 000 00—0 4 3
Deloro. .. .. .. 100 101 03—6 12 2

Umpires—J. Martin at plate, C. McCoy on bases.

flipped and Mr. Skitch "called it," winning the cup.

A feature battle developed in the finals for the Warne Cup, in which W. Hopper, of Cobourg, defeated the Peterborough rink skipped by R. F. Downey. The rinks were tied coming home, but in the great finish the Cobourg players made it sure, winning 7-5.

Members of these two great rinks were:

Cobourg—W. Wilson, R. Holland, W. E. Wilkins and W. H. Hopper, skip.

Peterborough — R. M. Glover, J. Skinner, George Taylor and R. F. Downey, skip.

C.D.S. Competition.

Quarter-final results in the C.D.S. competition were:

Hogarth 13, McMillan 5.
Skitch 8, Goodman 5.
Goodman 9, Delaney 6.

Semi-Finals.

Hogarth 11, Kennedy 7.
Skitch 8, Goldman 5.

Holders of the three trophies last year were:

Stratton Cup—J. Skitch; C.D.S. Cup—J. J. Howden, Peterborough; Warne Cup—Charles Seymour, Peterborough.

Besides the three valuable trophies competed for yesterday, there were 36 sets of valuable prizes, donated for the competition by local business firms. These prizes were carried off by fortunate rinks to all parts of Central Ontario.

HEINZ CO. BUILDS ADDITION TO PLANT

Company Celebrating 25th Anniversary of Its Factory at Leamington.

H. J. Heinz Company is this year celebrating the 25th anniversary of its factory at Leamington, Can., by erecting a large addition to that establishment. Work is nearing completion on a three-story building, 118 x 177, and on a large pickle receiving platform.

The company's first manufacturing venture in Canada was at Burlington in 1898, or 36 years ago, but in 1909 activities were concentrated at Leamington, a town in the center of a section noted for its fine tomatoes and other vegetables. The first products were pickles, but almost every year the company has enlarged the factory, until it now produces many varieties of food and is one of the most important of its kind in Canada.

The factory not only supplies Heinz Varieties to Canada, but is an important factor in Canada's export trade, shipping in large quantities to the Orient, as well as to England and the European continent. It has not been unusual for whole trainloads of Heinz Varieties to leave Leamington for Montreal, to be transferred there to ships bound for British ports. Whole cargoes have been loaded for direct shipment water across the Atlantic. Last year, the government completed a new dock at Leamington, which has greatly facilitated water shipments from that port.

To distribute the 57 Varieties to all parts of Canada, the company maintains sales branches and warehouses at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver, and its headquarters are at Toronto.

R. A. Logan's 25th anniversary as manager of the Leamington plant was recently celebrated with fitting ceremonies.

Obituary

MRS. CLARENCE COLE

WOOLER, August 16. — Emma Gainsforth, wife of Clarence Cole, died on August 9th, at the age of 49. Mrs. Cole had been in poor health for some years, but her death came with suddenness.

She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Esma, Pearl, Helen, and two sons, Lorne and Gordon; one brother, Earl Gainsforth, and one sister, Mrs. W. Ames of Codrington.

A LEGACY FROM HON. J. R. COOKE.

The successful career of the late Hon. J. R. Cooke has left a valuable legacy of inspiration to every young Canadian of ambition, especially to young men from our farms.

Opportunity first tapped his shoulder when he was elected to the Rawdon Township Council in 1900, and if the years could be rolled back it would be interesting to observe the progress and fate of the thousands of other men who started from scratch in municipal experience that year even as he did.

Eight years later he was elected deputy-reeve, and in 1910 he became chairman of the Council, and by that time had already made an impression in Hastings County Council. The ability he had already displayed and the manly, modest, pleasing character which had already won him many new friends recommended him for the Conservative nomination in North Hastings, in the provincial elections of 1911. For twenty-three years he was a member of the Legislature, elected by acclamation in 1911, 1919 and 1929. In 1923 he was appointed to the Hydro-Electric Commission as a member of the Cabinet without portfolio, and became chairman of the Commission in 1931.

Mr. Cooke was literally a self-made man. With only a primary school education as his equipment when he entered the Municipal Council of his township, he acquired in the school of experience and by extensive reading a broader knowledge that gave him a place of equality among his later associates whose youth had been more favorably endowed.

Each new outlet of opportunity, from smaller to larger fields, found the former Rawdon Township councillor prepared for the increased responsibilities that confronted him, his personality in full flower, and his abilities enhanced by the fruits of study.

Mr. Cooke had become a fluent speaker with a well stored memory from which he called apposite and effective quotations that touched his addresses with literary refinement. A pathetic feature of his untimely death is the loss of his personality, his experience and culture to the district that afforded him his first opportunity of advancement. To that community he returned his public trust untarnished, and he returned also the character that had won the confidence of his township in 1900, enriched by the respect and affection of a host of friends throughout the province, a memory and legacy to his contemporaries for many years to come.

CRICKETERS "SELL" AUSTRALIA.

A recent picture of King George V. and Queen Mary taken with the members of the Australian cricket team at Windsor Castle is a reminder that Australia shares with the Mother Country a tremendous enthusiasm for the British national game. And the fact that the Australians are mighty foemen at bat and in the field must have a potent effect in creating a closer kinship between the people of Great Britain and their antipodean Commonwealth, for the bonds of sport and its friendly rivalries are a powerful factor in the promotion of goodwill and friendship.

The fact that Australian and New Zealand products are reported to be gradually gaining a larger place in the British market may be due to more aggressive display and sales methods, as Canadian producers have been informed and warned. And who will say that the Australian cricketers are not her best business promoters and salesmen in Great Britain? If that be so, and there are good reasons for crediting it, Canada is at distinct disadvantage in a subtle form of publicity and competition which we have no similar means of meeting.

Our preference for baseball should create a kinship in sports with the United States, but our trade policy with our next door neighbors still trails after our 1911 slogan of "No truck and trade with the Yankees." We endeavor to extend our trade relations with Great Britain where our chief competitors within the Empire receive every year priceless publicity in the news and sports columns of the British press.

It appears to be a handicap to all our efforts in turning out better cheese and butter and various other products. Possibly it might pay the Department of Agriculture to take up credit as a sideline, and set a goal at seeing Canada represented at Lords and in a series of games with the English counties.

BEAUTIFYING THE CITY.

Mayor Denne's penchant for converting civic beauty spots out of neglected community material has been a consistent policy during the years of his City Hall service.

The disappearance of the old, dilapidated brewery in Ashburnham, and the extension of the park at Hunter and Burnham streets is one example of the improvement his policy creates. The park property, planted with young trees, at the north end of Water street opposite the Auburn mills, a promising asset for that part of the city, reclaimed from an unsightly hollow, is exhibit number two. The improvement to the Hunter street slope leading down to the Lift Lock, the filling in of the bank along Crescent street, some day to be planted with grass, are other projects, apart from the boulevarding of many streets, which he ardently supported, all forming part of the general progress in adding beauty to Peterborough.

Mayor Denne contends that time is on the city's side if the Council will take the first steps. Grass and trees, shrubs and sward, soon become established, and in ten years have gained in strength and attractiveness which the future will amplify. Why should ugly spots be tolerated by a city like Peterborough when at small expense they can be transformed into beauty, a heritage and example for the next generation.

An observing and imaginative eye can see such possibilities, but a policy of civic adornment also requires determination to make them realities. Mayor Denne has received the co-operation of the Council in undertaking improvements that were of his suggestion, but when one job is completed he usually has another for proposal. At present several projects have at least reached that stage.

A suggestion to build a small dam on the north side of Bonaccord street and broaden the creek into a lily pond or swimming place for children in the west end was mentioned as an opportunity for another improvement by the mayor in a recent visit to Jackson Park with a representative of The Examiner.

The summer that goes by without some new accretion of community attractiveness is a summer wasted, according to Mayor Denne's philosophy. Nature has given Peterborough the background and materials for such work, and the citizens as a whole endorse it. Some day when the years have added their increment of beauty to the projects already begun, the members of the Denne Councils will be entitled to claim a large measure of credit for their contributions to the city's beauty.

FALSE PROPHETS.

More than one expert has been telling the people of Canada in the past two years that the Dominion Government was courting disaster by buying wheat. Prices were on the downgrade, they said, and some day we would have to sell it all with the country losing millions. There was simply no escape.

So much for the experts. But what about the facts? Last week in Winnipeg wheat reached the dollar mark. The result—the Federal Government, instead of losing millions, stands to make millions. Actually the Government's wheat profits stood last week very near $20,000,000.

Of course, the Government's agents cannot go out and sell all this wheat at once and realise such an enormous profit. But whatever of it can be sold without depressing the market is bringing a most substantial financial advantage for the public purse.

Furthermore, it becomes clear that all the fearful talk about ruination due to falling wheat prices was just plain panic about nothing. So it is with nine-tenths of the "disasters" we see impending, but which really never happen. It takes time for individuals and nations to learn not to cross bridges before they come to them.—Kitchener News-Record.

CRADLE OF COMMUNISM.

In the light of some current discussion over the contents of Mr. Stevens' famous pamphlet, it is interesting to turn to a report just issued by the United States Senate and Banking Committee on the manner of doing business followed by American bankers from 1923 to 1930. Their methods, says the report, were "incompetent and scandalous."

From 1923 to 1930 these bankers sold to the public $6,393,000,000 in foreign bonds alone. On March 31 of this year $2,900,000,000 of these bonds were in default as to payment of interest and principal.

The Senate committee made a careful inquiry to find who had bought these bonds, and one paragraph in their report says "the bootblack, the stenographer, the barber, the widow and the laborer bought $3,222,000,000 worth of securities of foreign corporations, of which 43 per cent. were in default last March."

The report holds that banking houses did not make even the most elementary inquiries regarding the worth of the bonds they sold, being interested only in making the sales and taking the commissions. Thousands of people gave up money which they had earned through years of hard work because they believed the banking houses would not give them poor advice or sell them something that was not worthy. They had not yet heard of "banksters."

One might moralize over such things at length; over greed, avariciousness, money-madness. A more challenging thought is over what it suggests of the need of Governments having to deal with business if business won't deal with itself. No sense exists in championing individualism if individualism refuses to behave, or to have a sense of decency or responsibility. The bankers who sold these worthless bonds and profited by them were no doubt good "individualists." They didn't want "Government interference." More than that, they were most likely the sort of people who denounce "radicals," who rail against Socialism and Communism, who are all for putting down "Reds."

Yet their behavior cradled Reds. They did more to create Communism, to foster radicalism, to promote the mood of unrest, than anything or anybody else in the world.

And that is why Government interference becomes necessary. It is a case, simply, of preserving individualism—which is freedom—from those who abuse it. The lesson—in Canada as in the United States—is for business; the lesson that failure to play the game, failure to subordinate greed to public responsibility, is likely to turn out badly. Some people and interests who are denouncing men like Mr. Stevens might give a thought to this matter.—Ottawa Journal.

THE SUN
The Light Sphere
BY H. W. L. MAHOOD

Dependence is a law of the universe. It is everywhere evident. Uranus and Neptune on the outermost rim of our universe, are dependent upon the Sun for both heat and light. Not much of the Sun reaches that far distance. Neptune is thirty times as far away from the Sun as is our Earth. There is a law that helps in the calculation of how much heat and light from the Sun reaches Neptune. The law of the Inverse Ratios of the distance enables us to compute quickly the comparative amount. The quantity is small. One-nine hundredth part of that received by the Earth is the total.

One nine-hundredth part of the light and heat given our Earth world is not so insignificant an amount after all. Increase of the light of the Moon seven hundred times, would make the night almost day. We could read small print in sun light. The heat would be missed more than the light. Climate like that of Labrador would prevail over the tropics. Pineapple, oranges, lemons, bananas, tea, coffee, tobacco, and other warm climate products could not be grown successfully.

In this connection it will not be out of place to tell of the purpose of the telescope with the larger lens. Commonly understood, it is for the purpose of increased reach. The larger the lens the bigger the framework of the instrument. Hence, the conclusion of many is the increased seeing distance. Not distance but more light gathered by the lens is the objective. A telescope two inches in diameter gathers four times as much light as one of one inch. An experiment with a lens of four inches, and with another of ten inches led to some important finds. The lens with a diameter of ten inches gathered twenty-five times as much light as the lens with the four-inch diameter. Multiply the twenty-five by four and you have the times greater than the one-inch lens telescope. Thus opens a fascinating Sun story.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

LOTBINIERE, QUEBEC

Before the discovery of Canada, the Indian name of Lotbiniere was "Achelasi," but the origin of that name is lost through the passage of years. Local historians do not know the exact date of the founding of the settlement, but records disclose that the second church in the district was erected in 1693.

A vast area of land where Lotbiniere is now situated, was donated to Chertier de Lotbiniere by the king of France as a seigniory. Alain Joly Chartier de Lotbiniere, a veteran of the world war and the present seigneur, is a direct descendant of the founder of the settlement.

BUSINESS MANAGEMENT

(From The Christian Science Monitor)

Business management expresses certain qualities of thinking. Every business or trade policy, whether of local or far-reaching effect, is first formulated in thought before it can be given expression in the conduct of business affairs. It is essentially mental in origin and nature.

Honesty is plainly an essential quality in the councils of sound business management. If honesty is expressed, the business will be founded on a rock that can never be shaken under investigation. Honesty has nothing to hide and nothing to hide from. It is respected by all right-thinking people, and it carries within itself the law of its own success. By contrast, dishonesty, even in a degree, is foolish and futile.

Justice is another divinely derived quality which insures fair dealing with all, under all circumstances. It never misleads, and does not permit false impressions to go abroad. It takes into account the interest of all concerned and establishes for those who exercise it a permanent reputation for trustworthiness.

Obedience to law is another of the qualities of true wisdom. Much complaint is heard today of restrictive and regulatory legislation. Strict obedience to law, both moral and legislative, would unquestionably result in less need for legislation.

Christ Jesus, while still young, was about his Father's business. The Master knew well that, whatever form or organization it might have in human activity, true business is always the expression of God, infinite Mind. He taught the groundwork of sound business. He stressed love for God and man as the first requirement. He gave the rule that needs no further law or supplement: "All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." He gave also the unfailing business forecast, based on that rule: "With the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again."

Janetville Farmer Loses Barn—Crops

LINDSAY, Aug. 15.—The barn of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGill, Janetville, was struck by lightning and entirely destroyed, together with contents, which included the season's hay and several boys of grain threshed the day previous. Several implements were also lost. A few years ago Mr. and Mrs. McGill suffered the loss of their farm home by lightning. It is expected that the barn will be rebuilt at once.

RADICALS ORGANIZE POLISH NAZI PARTY

Conduct Party Program Along Catholic Principles, Leaders Insist.

(By Central Press Canadian.)

WARSAW, August 16. — Organization of a Polish Nazi party following broadly the lines of the German is announced here by the National Radical Camp, young wing of the National Democrates.

In the party program, the German Nazi philosophy has been adapted to Polish life and includes points calling for:

Strong armaments with the military spirit dominating the nation. Army service to be the greatest honor obtainable; citizenship for Jews would be refused, although Ukrainians and White Russians would be given citizenships; Jews to enjoy however, complete protection by the state, and non-recognition of the German minorities living within Polish frontiers.

The leaders of the party insist they will conduct the party program along Catholic principles.

The party calls further for the confiscation or nationalization of all property, industries, utilities and the like which are financed by foreign capital and provides for drastic agricultural reforms. Large estates would be cut up into smaller estates for peasants, under terms of the new party's program.

In addition the party is opposed to the Pilsudski regime, Free Masonry, Communism and capitalism.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

SOME PEOPLE ENJOY MISERY

That friend of yours, who has just left you—you wonder and wonder why you weren't more sympathetic toward him and his troubles; why your sympathy was so mixed with contempt . . . You wonder if, after all, you aren't hard and cruel, and perhaps you are a little shocked at yourself.

He's been weeping on your shoulder, telling you how harshly how unfairly, he has been treated . . . By life. . . . By people . . . By fate . . . And the story he tells is so real. It's parts fit together so precisely, so beautifully. It does sound as if he had been the unfortunate victim, and as if people and life and fate had been acting the part of the villain in his tragedy.

And yet, somehow, you can't be as kind as you'd like to be . . . Somehow you feel that he's enjoying his troubles just a little too much. He draws a long face, he sighs, the tears brim his eyes. But he is so articulate, and the words tumble over each other as he tells his story . . . He begs for your pity, and pity doesn't come that way . . . He is broken, but not brave. You have a feeling that a man, even when he is troubled, should be able to draw on some reservoir of courage . . . He talks too much. You have an idea that the fountain of speech should be frozen by grief . . . But the thing that checks your sympathy most is his enjoyment of his own unhappiness. There's a gleam of triumph in his eyes, a note of victory in tone of his voice.

And suddenly you remember an article you read once upon a time by a taxidermist. He said, among other things, that when people come rushing into his shop carrying a poor, dead pet, hardly cold in death, and insist that it be stuffed and mounted, he always asks for a substantial deposit, because in most cases those people never come back.

Perhaps that man who has just left you is like those fiercely grieving, suddenly comforted people. And when you meet him tomorrow he will be blithe and gay and oblivious of how he cried upon your shoulder and forced you to share his grief.

You may be callous. You may be hard. You may be doing him an injustice. But the chances are you have judged him rightly. You know him better than I do. He may, indeed, be one of those people who are happy in their misery . . . They do exist, and most of us are like that occasionally.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Red Williams

THE BIRTH OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

Today the Province of New Brunswick will begin at Saint John a two days' celebration of the 150th anniversary of its creation as a province. August 16 was the date in 1784 when Thomas Carleton, brother of the more famous Guy Carleton (Lord Dorchester), was appointed the first governor of the new province; but Professor W. F. Ganong asserts that the date of the actual order in council separating New Brunswick from Nova Scotia was May 29.

Who first proposed the partition of Nova Scotia? It is known that on July 7, 1783, Colonel Edward Winslow wrote to Ward Chipman making the first proposition on this side of the Atlantic for the creation of a new province. The Loyalists were dissatisfied with the treatment they were receiving from Halifax; some of the disbanded troops were complaining that their lands were not as good as those given to civil Loyalists. Chipman went to England, but the decision had been reached to divide Nova Scotia long before he got there, although the official announcement was concealed from him for some time.

But recent researches seem to prove that the stop was more the result of imperial policy than a direct result of the Loyalists' complaints, for as early as 1776 Lord Germain, colonial secretary, proposed as a new province "The tract of country that lies between the Penobscot river and the St. Croix, the boundary of Nova Scotia, on that side offers itself for the reception of other meritorious but distressed people and 'tis the king's intention to erect it into a province."

Two years later, William Knox, under secretary to the Colonial office, proposed to divide "Main" and give the new province the name "New Ireland," and August 7 1789 Germain wrote to Knox: "I hope New Ireland continues to enjoy your thought." Four days afterwards he wrote: "The king approves of the plan for the province to be called New Ireland."

Can any one tell when "New Ireland" was changed to "New Brunswick?"

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 87c to 92c; oats, 35c to 36c; barley, 50c to 53c; corn, 80c to 82c; rye, 55c to 57c; buckwheat, 60c to 62c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Disturbed by uncertainties over reports of proposed measures at Washington touching control of crops and food prices, Chicago wheat values underwent material fresh tumbles yesterday.

Big breaks in European wheat quotations, partly a result of general rains relieving Australian drouth, were a contributing bearish influence. It was the fifth successive day of an irregular downward trend of prices here, and the extreme overnight fall of wheat today was 2¼c a bushel, carrying the market to about 11c under last Friday's top point.

Wheat in Chicago closed nervous, ¾c to 1¼c lower than yesterday's finish; corn, unchanged, to ⅝c higher; oats, ¼c to ⅝c down, and provisions varying from 5c decline to 12c advance.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Cheese and potato prices were lower on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday. Butter and egg prices were steady.

Cheese was off ½c a pound. Ontario colored cheese was quoted at 10c to 10½c a pound, while Quebec cheese brought 9⅝c a pound. Arrivals totalled 1,349 boxes.

The butter market had a steady tone, fresh No. 1 in cariots or less being 18½c to 18¾c a pound. Small lots to the retail trade were priced at 20c a pound for solids and 21c a pound for prints. Receipts totalled 998 boxes.

Egg prices were unchanged, graded shipments of Ontario eggs in less than cariots being quoted at 23½c to 24½c a dozen for A—large, 21½c to 23½c a dozen for A—um, 19c to 19½c for B and 18c to 19c for C. Cariots from the West also were steady at 21½c to 22c a dozen for A—large, 20½ to 21c for a—medium, 19c to 19½c for B, and 18c to 18½c for C. Arrivals were 2,286 cases.

On the potato market, New Quebecs were off 5c, being quoted at 45c to 50c per 80-pound bag for No. 1 grade. No. 2 grade brought 35c to 40c per 80-pound bag. Old New Brunswick Mountains were 20c to 25c per 80-pound bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Losses of ⅛ to 1 cent were marked up for wheat futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, but the final figures represented a considerable paring down of maximum declines of 2¾ cents.

Late purchasing from an undetermined source was responsible for the rally after a price slump at Liverpool and lack of export demand had sent Winnipeg quotations downhill.

October wheat finished at 87⅝c, December at 88⅝c and May at 91⅞c. The weakness at Liverpool was attributed to rains in Australia where there is still time for moisture to help crops. Net losses in the English market aggregated 3½d and for a time completely reversed sentiment in North American markets.

Spreading operation of Chicago traders supplied the bulk of the thin purchasing power in the early session with scattered selling coming in for the hedging orders.

Cash and coarse grains both steadied up in the late market stages.

Ottawa Rifle Team Wins In Brier Match

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South Marsh, Ont., Aug. 16 (CP)—Team of four from the Governor-General's Foot Guards of Ottawa were announced winners of the Macdonald Brier team match today at the annual meeting of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association. The Ottawa quartette compiled a total of 379 points, one more than Victoria Rifles of Montreal and received a shield and first prize money.

Winnipeg Rifles "B" squad was third with 377, and three Toronto units, 48th Highlanders, Headquarters M.D. 2, and York Rangers were tied for fourth position with 376.

Good shooting weather prevailed to-day. Bunched clouds kept the sun darkened, and a slight westerly breeze was of little bother to the riflemen when they took the butts at 200 yards in the first stage of the featured Governor-General's Match.

APPROVE CASH RELIEF.

WINDSOR, Aug. 16 (C.P.). — Windsor City Council to-day passed a resolution approving the principle of cash relief and work in place of the voucher system. Alderman Norman Eanaor opposed the resolution.

Acting Mayor Clyde Curry stated that he did not believe registration of welfare recipients was necessary here because of the continual check which has been kept on possible cheaters.

British scientists are decreasing the mortality from tuberculosis, diphtheria, scarlet fever, typhoid and whooping cough.

CONTRACTS LET DIAMOND DRILL

Development Under Way on Arcadia Property in Famous Porcupine District.

FAVORABLE ORE REPORTS

Contracts have been let for an extensive program of diamond-drilling on Arcadia property located in the famous Porcupine district.

This diamond-drilling operation, work on which has already commenced, will it is expected block out a very large ore body. One of the engineers reporting states that the ore "can be effectively blocked out by drilling as the average width of eighty feet makes it entirely different from the ordinary gold mining proposition with narrow veins and irregular ore shoots."

Milling tests already made on the ore in this property, and reports from several engineers unanimously favorable not only as to quality of ore but also as to its presence in quantity, make them believe, the Arcadia directors report, that this property will show very well in comparison with the six producing gold mines already in this district.

The Porcupine mines have produced over $329,000,000 in gold to date, and the present development plans for the Arcadia are designed to lay foundations for the same qualities of large-tonnage production and long life.

Financing of the Arcadia development program is announced today as to be undertaken probably next week.

Canadian Mining Projects, Limited, have awarded a contract to Boyle Bros. for diamond drilling of a maximum of 15,000 feet on the McCafferty and North-Star Gold Shower properties now under development by this company. Equipment for the drilling will arrive at both properties this week, and the drills will be set up as soon as possible. A series of closely spaced holes will be drilled on the McCafferty property to test the vein at the 100 foot horizon, while on the North-Star Gold Shower groups the recommendations of John Drybrough, consulting engineer, a minimum of 3000 feet of drilling, to be supplemented later by additional drilling if required, will be carried out.

New York, Aug. 16th, 9:27 a.m.:

The action of the market as a whole is not very impressive. The industrials have shown by far the best performance and it is that section where the more promising opportunities are to be found. The rails have scored only a moderate rally, while the utilities are tottering weakly as though to drop to new lows. The account that the railroads are going to fight the pension bill and are planning to battle for an early increase in freight rates makes it dangerous to be short of rail stocks at this time. However, the long term outlook for the rails does not justify a bullish attitude toward them.

Brokers' Opinions.

Clark Childs Keech: "All in all, the stock market does not as yet give one the assurance necessary to warrant changing from a selling to a buying attitude."

Potter: "We continue to adhere to the attitude that it is commodity and inventory groups that offer the greatest attraction."

Waldo Young: "Yesterday the news provided a fairly strong test of the internal strength or weakness of the stock market and the outcome was an absolute lack of showing any weakness, and I should say that the possibility of the test of the July lows has now become less of a probability. I doubt if there is more than a point reaction in the market before there is a development of general strength."

Intense Activity In Schreiber Area

Indications in the Schreiber area, Thunderd Bay District, point to a season of intense activity. A number of prominent companies have their engineers in the field looking over promising ground, while several operations are of a more advanced character. One Company in particular is in the midst of mill erection while another company is contemplating the erection of a mill before the freezeup. The topography of the country lends itself to tunnelling operations and several companies, including Gold Range Mines, Limited, are proceeding with the erection of additional camps to accommodate a larger crew of men while an extensive underground development campaign is also under way.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS.

TORONTO, Aug. 16 (CP).—The interlisted leaders held the main interest today on the industrial section of the Toronto Exchange, trading in better volume than usual and at higher prices. Advances were registered in the oils, distilleries, metals and Ford "A" and Brazilian. The latter touched 10 for the first time in months and closed at 9 7-8 for a net gain of 3-8.

TORONTO MINING.

TORONTO, Aug. 16 (CP).—The trend was upward on the mining section of the Toronto Exchange today, with the gold shares leading the way. Hollinger set the pace for volume in the senior group, selling at 19.40, only 10 cents down from its high mark for the year. McKenzie and Macassa were features of the cheaper group. Base metals shares were quiet but firm to strong and silvers held steady in spotty trading.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP).—Stocks quietly backed and filled at moderately higher levels today. Rail and communication shares were firm in the forenoon, but conceded part of their gains later. The tone was steady in the last hour. Modest gains were held by U.S. Steel, Western Union, Postal Telegraph Preferred, New York Central, Chrysler and American Telephone. Transfers approximated 600,000 shares.

Italy Moves Troops Off Austrian Border

(By John Lloyd—A.P. Foreign Staff).

ROME, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—Italy today ordered the withdrawal of the 40,000 troops she concentrated on the Austrian border at the time of the Austrian Nazi putsch late last month.

Several regiments started south from the frontier this morning immediately after their receipt of the order. They were bound for their regular camps, 25 to 50 miles away.

Only the normal border garrisons will be retained near the frontier.

The withdrawal order was cited in official quarters as proof Italy believes the situation in Austria has been cleared.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

NICKEL DIVIDENDS IN SECOND QUARTER

Profit Equivalent to 31 Cents a Share Earned on Common Stock in First Quarter.

The International Nickel Company of Canada, Limited, practically duplicated in the second quarter of this year the net profit made in the first three months, according to the quarterly statement mailed to stockholders last night.

The exact figure for the second quarter was $6,962,262.46 as compared with $5,049,273.91 in the preceding period. After provision for quarterly dividend on the preferred stock, this profit was therefore again equivalent to the 31 cents a share earned on the common stock in the first quarter.

Net profit for the first six months of 1934 was $10,012,642.39, as compared with $1,862,886.51 for the first half of 1933.

The balance sheet reflects purchase of additional shares of Ontario Refining Company, Limited, and further reduction in the outstanding debenture stock of British subsidiaries, the two transactions involving a total of $5,290,132.04. Despite these outlays and the payment of two dividends on the common stock, aggregating $2,916,633.80, cash on June 30, was $15,961,963.92 as against $14,088,610.64 on December 31, 1933.

A net debit of $401,973.97 resulting from exchange adjustments made during the first six months of 1934, was carried to exchange reserve and was not reflected in net profit. The balance in exchange reserve was $1,434,949.72 on June 30.

In an accompanying letter to stockholders, Robert C. Stanley, President, points out that the Company has developed processes and refineries to recover metals other than the nickel content of the ore. He lists these by-products in the following order of importance: Copper, the platinum metals (platinum, palladium, iridium, ruthenium and rhodium), gold, silver, selenium and tellurium. Continuing, he writes:

"Second only to Soviet Russia in the production of platinum, Canada is now the world's largest producer of palladium. Discovered and named by Wollaston in 1804, this member of the platinum group has been until recently little known outside the electrical and dental fields. Now, largely through your Company's development and research activities, palladium's fine color and its true resistance to atmospheric tarnish (properties which it shares with platinum) have become recognized, and the metal is finding new places in jewelry and the decorative arts."

Finger Prints Found?

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 16.—(C.P.) —The inference that tell-tale finger prints were found on the car from which John Labatt was kidnapped Tuesday, or on the note signed by "Three Fingered Abe" demanding $150,00 ransom, was drawn from conversations with police here today.

An indirect admission came when a reporter tried to discuss the Labatt case and met with the usual reticence.

"Around Toronto it is believed it was the Dillinger gang that did the job," he said.

"Don't think so," was the police reply. "We have the finger prints of all the Dillinger gang. That was all, but it was taken to indicate police had something in the way of finger prints, from some source, to compare with those of the Dillinger gangsters.

Up to the present, however, they have refused to admit that any finger prints or any clue whatever has been found that would lead to identification of the criminals.

Identification Officer Walter Harpur of the city police department, said he had examined the Labatt automobile for finger prints as soon as the car was found on Tuesday.

Did you take any finger prints off the machine?" he was asked.

"I don't know anything about it, and if I did I would not make it public until I received orders to do so," he said. Adding: "So far I know nothing; I looked the machine over."

Gangsters Missing

WINDSOR, Aug. 16 (C.P.)—Chief of Detectives Fred W. Frahm, Detroit is quoted here as saying Inspector Gardner expected there but had not arrived. Also quoted as saying "We have already looked over the city but most of the gangsters known to have been connected with the kidnapping racket are mysteriously missing from their accustomed haunts." He declared no arrests had been made.

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 16 (A.P.)—Finger prints on the way from Detroit to Albany by aeroplane in connection with the investigation of the kidnapping of John S. Labatt, wealthy London, Ont. brewer, are, in the opinion of police officials, being forwarded for comparison with the prints of three missing Albany men under indictment for kidnapping. The fugitives are John Oley and his brother Francis, and Percy Geary.

The Oley brothers and Geary disappeared from Albany at the time of the kidnapping a year ago of young John J. O'Connell, Jr., nephew of Ed. and Dan O'Connell, the politically powerful leaders of the city and county of Albany.

Ex-Employee Hunted

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 16.—Information that a London man, former employee of the Labatt Brewery, has been missing since Monday and is now being sought by Provincial Police for questioning was given the Canadian Press to-day by a prominent Londoner just after he had been interviewed by a Provincial official.

The man who was interviewed asked that his name be withheld but he said that he had been informed that the hunt for the kidnappers is centered on London district and that police believe the missing man is being held not many miles away from his home on Central Avenue.

The former brewery employee who is now being sought was discharged, it is said, because of irregularities in his accounts.

E. M. Burke, general manager of Labatt's Brewery, when asked regarding a recently discharged employee of the brewery who is said to be wanted by Provincial Police for questioning, stated that he knew nothing whatever about the matter. "I dont' know anything about it," replied Mr. Burke.

HUGH LABATT WAITS AT 'PHONE

had not reached him at the time of the denial. In any event he said it had nothing to do with the kidnapping.

To-day's developments followed a hectic night in the course of which Mr. Labatt received telephone calls purporting to come from the kidnappers. In the course of the first, it was gathered he was urged to meet the abductors at the Humber Bridge, but he was dissuaded. Police thought the affair fishy." Two subsequent calls were apparently made to urge him to come.

About the time set for the rendezvous a young man was seen at the bridge. He told a passerby he was "waiting for a friend," and later entered a passing car and drove into Toronto.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.).— Charges were levelled at the newspapers to-day as John S. Labatt, wealthy London brewery head, was still in the hands of his gangster captors, with no clues to his whereabouts.

Detective Inspector Thomas Bolton, head of the local detective staff, was as "mum" about the sensational kidnapping as he has been over the past two days. He absolutely refused to discuss it.

"Well, if you want me to say something," he said, "I'll say this. John Labatt would be home right now, safe, and the gang that kidnapped him would be in the toils of Canadian justice, but for you newspapers."

Inspector Bolton criticised particularly the "scare lines" which appeared in London papers and papers across the continent, on Tuesday afternoon, announcing the kidnapping, and a number of the details, including the journey of Hugh Labatt to Toronto.

"These kidnappers are not too slow to read the papers. The papers are simply helping them out, by keeping them abreast of every move."

Nabbed on Egremont Road.

SARNIA, Ont., Aug. 16 (C.P.).—A series of developments, practically all of them uncovered by local newspapermen, to-day pointed strongly to a belief that John S. Labatt was kidnapped not on No. 7 highway between Sarnia and London, but at a point on the Egremont Road, three or four miles east of the village of Camlachie, 16 miles north of Sarnia.

By close check up of residents of the locality had revealed by 1 p.m. fairly definite evidence that Mr. Labatt's car had passed through Camlachie alone, but three miles east of there was seen in company of two other cars. By 1 p.m. reporters had traced the movement of the cars to a point about six miles south of Forest, and were proceeding with their inquiries from there.

SOMERVILLE IN QUARTER FINALS

London Golfer and Ken Black of Vancouver to Meet on Friday.

FIVE CANADIANS IN.

(By J. F. Sanderson, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 16 (CP).—Five Canadians and three Americans to-day advanced to the quarter finals in the Canadian amateur golf tournament, to be played later in the day over the rolling fairways of the Laval course.

There were no upsets when the field was cut from 16 to 8 in the fourth round. The draw narrowed down with every prospect on an international final. In the top bracket, two Americans, Jack Munger, Dallas, Texas, and Jesse Guilford, Boston, will meet, to make sure of an international semi-final.

Two of the brightest Canadian stars, Sandy Somerville, London, and Ken Black, Vancouver, will play against each other. In the bottom half of the draw, Ernie Palmer, Winnipeg, will play Gil Walker, Toronto, while the Toronto veteran, Fred Hoblitzel, meets the defending champion, Albert "Scotty" Campbell of Seattle. Campbell kept pace with the field when he eliminated a fellow-countryman, Wilfred Crossley of Boston, junior titleholder of Massachusetts, 2 and 1.

The two main Canadian hopes, pitted against each other in the semi-final through the luck of the draw, Somerville and Black, played steady and at time brilliant golf.

17 GIVE BLOOD TO AID FIGHT DREAD DISEASE

Former Victims of Infantile Paralysis Give 200 c.c. Each.

PAYMENT IS MADE.

Blood Will be Used to Make Serum to Give Sufferers of Disease.

Seventeen persons yesterday each donated an average of 200 c.c's of their blood to the advancement of medical science and for the more specific purpose of aiding in the effective campaign being waged by the Ontario Department of Health against infantile paralysis. The blood donated is to be used by the Department in the making of serum for the treatment and checking of the disease in its early stages.

Dr. R. P. Headman, director of the Division of Preventible Diseases of the Department of Health, assisted by Nurse Bernardine C. Scollard of the Isolation Hospital staff, took the blood samples the donors submitting themselves to the doctor at the Provincial Health Laboratories here.

Each of the donors were persons over the age of fifteen years who had been victims of infantile paralysis at some period of their lives. They were paid for their blood donations at the rate of twenty dollars for each 200 c.c's of their blood, and less in proportion to the amount of blood donated.

For five years, Dr. Headman stated, the Department of Health has been securing blood samples from recovered cases of infantile paralysis for the making of "poliomyelitis serum", and each summer during that period, he stated, he has made visits to this city for the purpose of securing blood samples.

Dr. Headman said he wished to emphasize the fact that his visit here was not to be misconstrued as an indication that an epidemic of infantile paralysis is feared in any section of the province. "This is the only means we have of obtaining the serum," he explained, "and the serum treatment is the only effective means known to medical science of checking the disease if taken in the early stages."

"We like to keep a good supply of the serum on hand in Toronto," Dr. Headman said, "as there is always a certain demand for the serum which is free to any medical man in the province. While it is useful as a preventative of paralysis," he stressed, "it is of utmost importance that treatment should be given in the earliest stages."

Explaining why the blood only of former victims of the disease is suited to the making of the serum, Dr. Headman said: "Protective substances are found in the blood of persons who have recovered from infantile paralysis." It was a disease, he remarked, which once contracted, rendered the subject immune to further attack.

"How much serum can be obtained from the blood samples you have taken this afternoon?" Dr. Headman was asked.

"For every 200 c.c's of blood we average 100 c.c's of serum," was the doctor's reply.

"How much serum is required for the normal treatment of each individual case," "The Examiner" queried.

While the quantity of serum largely depended on the circumstances connected with each particular case, Dr. Headman stated that the normal quantity was 50 c.c's. He agreed that for every 200 c.c's of blood, which was the average secured from each of the seventeen donors yesterday, there could be enough serum made to treat two cases, or a total of thirty-four infantile paralysis patients.

Special Envoy Papen Arrives In Vienna

VIENNA, Aug. 16 (AP)—Franz Von Papen, special envoy of Germany to-day presented his credentials to President Miklas in the presence of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg and the staff of the German Legation.

It was apparent that the Austrian Government wished to minimize the importance of Hitler's representative in making the ceremony as unpretentious as possible.

When the special envoy arrived at the Chancellery, one company of Vienna Infantry Regiment rendered military honors.

The presentation of the credentials were preceded, earlier in the day, by an informal call by Von Papen upon Chancellor Schuschnigg and at the Foreign Office in which greetings were exchanged.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterborough's Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Miss Adelia Sargent, Indian River, Ont.

Many thanks for your confidence, and I must say, that for one of your age, you write exceedingly well. Your writing as presented just now reveals teaching abilities, which I feel sure will be demonstrated later on. You seem to be very neat and to desire perfection in all things. This noteworthy characteristic would lend itself very admirably to that of the nursing profession, too. Your writing, if in ink, would no doubt portray other deeper characteristics, but the main character is there for delineation now. Your disposition is normal, not too rigid, but trustworthy, honest and fine. You are not easily 'ruffled' but desire genuine friendship, for if by chance you discover that one of the chosen few have under-estimated your confidence, then, all your better qualities come to the fore, and you regret the experience, but do not allow yourself to say much, though you are deeply hurt inwardly.

Your birthsign is Aries the Ram. You are ruled by Mars. June and July are your most fortunate months for beginning important undertakings, such as marriage or business. Tuesday is your lucky day. Your number is three, and so you will find that other people who respond to an odd number will have greater sympathy with you, as you journey through life.

Miss Lillian M. Matthews, Stirling, Ontario.

Your handwriting is very expressive for one of your years, and I am sure that if you continue in the future as you are doing now, there should be no reason why success should not follow your path. You are determined, intelligent and cautious. You have a reasoning mind. It might be termed analytical, for you simply must know the why and the wherefore, and you adhere strictly to your point of view. Perhaps sometimes you like to argue, but that is quite characteristic of you. It is mental keenness that makes you desire to get to the bottom of things and not just accept the 'say so' of another.

You are a plodder; you continue to work and sift facts long after others have given up. You are one who will always be punctual, and rather than be late would not try to attend at all.

You are honest with yourself, and realize your own failings but do not wish to be told about them. If at any time some one unthinkingly tells you of your faults, though you know them to be true, you are hurt so deeply that it takes many days or even weeks for you to recover your self-respect.

I have mentioned the above, because you ask for weak points, strong points, lucky number and day, but I am afraid that you will have to ask the Editor to allow you the privilege of another delinestion, because you omitted to give me your birth-date, month or year, and so the lucky dates cannot be given to you this time. We have had such a great number to delineate, that we have had to curtail the second reading and request for numbers etc., so from now on, only those who include the request with sample of handwriting, are entitled to this extra service.

You wish to know what you shall undertake as a life-work later on. I suggest teaching small children, or taking the position of nursery governess, for your type usually have the best qualifications for this type of work, as they love little children and seem to heap all their maternal devotions upon the fortunate children who come under their care, and then later, when the time arrives to settle down to the more serious side of life and love for themselves, they are devoted wives and mothers, making their homes havens of rest, neat and orderly, artistic and yet not too fussy. They are generally good cooks, but economical, thrifty, and adept with the needle.

Bernice Wright, Pontypool, Ontario.

Your handwriting delineates you as a very exciting sort of person. You seem to just bubble over with fun, and I sincerely hope that you will never lose your sense of humor, for that will help you over many rough spots as you progress through this life.

You seem to be rather given to act upon the spur of the moment, and do things in a hurry, but if you did not, then you would simply have to make yourself complete tasks for you do not like doing things that necessitate too much concentration.

Some of the letters reveal youth, but others depict a keen mental instinct which would do credit to a much older person.

Your capital 'B' in your name Bernice portrays a slight artistic tendency, and could be developed either through music or voice culture.

Your 't' bar crossings show a normal amount of will power, but I am afraid that you often wish that you had a great deal more. Don't you?

There seems to be a tightening of the nerves at times, due to being watched when at your work, and I might say now that you would always work much better if you were allowed to be alone when you desire mental concentration.

The lower loops attendant to your letters which are graceful and below the line as in the 'G', the 'Y' and the 'p' show that you would be keenly interested in out of door activity once you learned how to make the most of its freedom, time and body building qualities. This would encourage you to "Get out' more often than you do at present.

The smaller letters reveal a secretiveness which prevents you from asking assistance when you really need it, and which no doubt is the means of many hours of loneliness.

The last 't' in the word Wright indicates how difficult it is for you to commence some tasks, and how difficult it is for you to make yourself complete them, but I think that you will overcome this tendency when you learn to like your work.

I have not set a vocation for you, because you do not seem quite old enough to venture upon one definite line as yet.

SUMMER FAIR WELL ATTENDED

Very Successful Fair is Held on Grounds of Immaculate Conception Church.

SUPPER SERVED.

A very successful Summer Fair was held last evening on the grounds of the Immaculate Conception Church, with the usual large attendance.

The softball game between East City and Campbellford drew a big crowd, and was a hard-fought battle that resulted in a score of 5-4 for the local team.

Between four and five hundred people enjoyed an excellent supper of home-cooked viands, served in the church basement at tables decorated with flowers.

The amusements of the evening included a fine band concert by Joe Minicola and his players, the sale at the Country Store, where George and Dan. Leonard were in charge, the aeroplane and little horses games and the refreshment booths.

The Young Ladies' Sodality of the Church had charge of the sale of ice cream. The booths were gaily decorated with colored paper and flowers.

URGE CULTIVATION CERTIFIED WHEAT

Member of Dominion Seed Branch Touring County With A. R. Runions.

An effort to institute the growing of certified fall wheat in order that the requirements of certain local markets may be met, is to be made in Peterborough County the local branch of the Department of Agriculture said today. G. W. Michael, of Belleville, a representative of the Dominion Seed Branch, set out on a tour of visits to some of the county's wheat growers, with agricultural representative A. D. Runions this morning.

Up to the present, no local farmers are growing certified fall wheat and consequently their product fails to compete in markets which would otherwise be open to them. Farmers in a number of districts in Western Ontario have been cultivating the certified product very profitably. It is the hope of inspector Michael and Mr. Runions to induce a half dozen local men to grow it this fall, somewhat as a county experiment. They are recommending Dawson's Golden Chaff variety.

Farmers producing a certified crop must use either registered or certified seed and the crop must pass field inspection.

W. F. Kearns Dies of Internal Injuries, Fractured Skull in Illinois Hospital.

ON SALES VISIT.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 16 (CP)—William F. Kearns, a native of Ottawa and lately a resident of Elmhurst, Ill., was found fatally injured in an alley behind a hotel here yesterday, apparently the victim of an attack. The 35-year-old Canadian was living when found, but died several hours later in hospital. He was the son of the Assistant Auditor General for the Canadian Government.

An abrasion on Kearns' face was the only outward mark of violence, but on examination he was found to be suffering from a fractured skull, four broken ribs and internal injuries.

As a representative of a Chicago engraving concern, Kearns visited Rockford every month, and was said to have been well known about the city. He had spent the night before his death, police said, in making the rounds of various clubs.

The robbery motive was discounted when cab-drivers reported Kearns' funds were low when the evening was over. He is survived by a wife and five-year-old daughter, resident at Elmhirst.

ATTACK DISEASES BY FINGER-PRINT

Research Develops Prospect of Attacking Epidemics in New Way.

LONDON, Aug. 16 (C.P.).—Prospect of the study of finger-prints completely revolutionizing methods of attack on disease seems probable in the near future through the discoveries of Professor Heinrich Poll, German scientist. After 27 years of research it is claimed that he has arrived at results that have astonished experts who had thought of finger-prints merely in terms of crime detection.

Professor Poll has treated thousands of cases and it has been revealed that people suffering from certain diseases had similarly characteristic finger-prints, and that the same is true of different classes of healthy subjects. The direction of the campaign against cancer, tuberculosis and other diseases may, the professor thinks, be profoundly influenced by the new material which he has collected.

"I began my inquiries when I was working in mental asylums," said Professor Poll. During an outbreak of a disease, which afflicts children's limbs, it was discovered after many finger-prints had been observed, that they were of the same group.

"We concluded that disease is directly reflected in finger-prints and it would be possible to say that some persons will be likely to develop a disease. One could say of a newly born child that it would have such and such a chance of developing or not developing a disease. The same principle could be applied to any disease—cancer, tuberculosis and the rest. The scope is enormous."

As a result of Professor Poll's visit, the anthropological study of finger-prints, as apart from criminology, is to be introduced into this country.

It now costs $6.22 a day to hire a policeman wearing plain clothes, in London, and $1.90 extra when he wears morning or evening dress.

Annual Flower Show Will Open At 8 P.M.

The Canadian Legion Hall was a very busy place this morning, with many energetic hands getting beautiful blooms in place for the Flower Show of the Peterborough Horticultural Society, which will be opened officially at eight o'clock tonight by F. W. Warren of Hamilton, who was on hand this morning and took an active interest in the many fine exhibits.

From the advance showing, this year's show promises to be a splendid one. The gladioli are gorgeous blooms and the hall has been decorated beautifully by the committee in charge.

The presentation of trophies in the lawn and garden competition will take place to-night, also the draw for the door prize, a handsome Kenwood blanket.

5 Overpower Guard Flee Virginia Prison

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 16 (AP)—Five long-term convicts who escaped from the State Penitentiary to-day abandoned their stolen automobile about 20 miles from the city and took to the woods where State and County Police claimed to have them surrounded.

Overpowering a lone guard, the convicts forced the guard to unlock an outside door. Then, carrying Mrs. Virginia Spencer, a matron across the yard as a shield, they scaled two fences commandeered an automobile and raced out of the city.

Two of the escaped men were white and the others negroes.

Canadian's Invention May Prevent Many Fatal Explosions

William H. Horn of Winnipeg, Man., has perfected an invention which will prevent gasoline explosions during fires. Principle of the invention consists of fine mesh wire core, placed inside gasoline container. It is especially sewn and folded to form a cylinder extending into the container and equipped with solder plug as emergency valve. In a demonstration the inventor placed a gallon can of gasoline while the fire outside burned, in the midst of a fire. The gasoline boiled but did not explode. United States air mail authorities may interest themselves in the invention.

17 GIVE BLOOD TO AID FIGHT DREAD DISEASE

Former Victims of Infantile Paralysis Give 200 c.c. Each.

PAYMENT IS MADE.

Blood Will be Used to Make Serum to Give Sufferers of Disease.

Seventeen persons yesterday each donated an average of 200 c.c's of their blood to the advancement of medical science and for the more specific purpose of aiding in the effective campaign being waged by the Ontario Department of Health against infantile paralysis. The blood donated is to be used by the Department in the making of serum for the treatment and checking of the disease in its early stages.

Dr. R. P. Headman, director of the Division of Preventible Diseases of the Department of Health, assisted by Nurse Bernardine C. Scollard of the Isolation Hospital staff, took the blood samples the donors submitting themselves to the doctor at the Provincial Health Laboratories here.

Each of the donors were persons over the age of fifteen years who had been victims of infantile paralysis at some period of their lives. They were paid for their blood donations at the rate of twenty dollars for each 200 c.c's of their blood, and less in proportion to the amount of blood donated.

For five years, Dr. Headman stated, the Department of Health has been securing blood samples from recovered cases of infantile paralysis for the making of "poliomyelitis serum", and each summer during that period, he stated, he has made visits to this city for the purpose of securing blood samples.

Dr. Headman said he wished to emphasize the fact that his visit here was not to be misconstrued as an indication that an epidemic of infantile paralysis is feared in any section of the province. "This is the only means we have of obtaining the serum," he explained, "and the serum treatment is the only effective means known to medical science of checking the disease if taken in the early stages."

"We like to keep a good supply of the serum on hand in Toronto," Dr. Headman said, "as there is always a certain demand for the serum which is free to any medical man in the province. While it is useful as a preventative of paralysis," he stressed, "it is of utmost importance that treatment should be given in the earliest stages."

Explaining why the blood only of former victims of the disease is suited to the making of the serum, Dr. Headman said: "Protective substances are found in the blood of persons who have recovered from infantile paralysis." It was a disease, he remarked, which once contracted, rendered the subject immune to further attack.

"How much serum can be obtained from the blood samples you have taken this afternoon?" Dr. Headman was asked.

"For every 200 c.c's of blood we average 100 c.c's of serum," was the doctor's reply.

"How much serum is required for the normal treatment of each individual case," "The Examiner" queried.

While the quantity of serum largely depended on the circumstances connected with each particular case, Dr. Headman stated that the normal quantity was 50 c.c's. He agreed that for every 200 c.c's of blood, which was the average secured from each of the seventeen donors yesterday, there could be enough serum made to treat two cases, or a total of thirty-four infantile paralysis patients.

Special Envoy Papen Arrives In Vienna

VIENNA, Aug. 16 (AP)—Franz Von Papen, special envoy of Germany to-day presented his credentials to President Miklas in the presence of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg and the staff of the German Legation.

It was apparent that the Austrian Government wished to minimize the importance of Hitler's representative in making the ceremony as unpretentious as possible.

When the special envoy arrived at the Chancellery, one company of Vienna Infantry Regiment rendered military honors.

The presentation of the credentials were preceded, earlier in the day, by an informal call by Von Papen upon Chancellor Schuschnigg and at the Foreign Office in which greetings were exchanged.

We have had such a great number to delineate, that we have had to curtail the second reading and request for numbers etc., so from now on, only those who include the request with sample of handwriting, are entitled to this extra service.

You wish to know what you shall undertake as a life-work later on. I suggest teaching small children, or taking the position of nursery governess, for your type usually have the best qualifications for this type of work, as they love little children and seem to heap all their maternal devotions upon the fortunate children who come under their care, and then later, when the time arrives to settle down to the more serious side of life and love for themselves, they are devoted wives and mothers, making their homes havens of rest, neat and orderly, artistic and yet not too fussy. They are generally good cooks, but economical, thrifty, and adept with the needle.

Bernice Wright, Pontypool, Ontario.

Your handwriting delineates you as a very exciting sort of person. You seem to just bubble over with fun, and I sincerely hope that you will never lose your sense of humor, for that will help you over many rough spots as you progress through this life.

You seem to be rather given to act upon the spur of the moment, and do things in a hurry, but if you did not, then you would simply have to make yourself complete tasks for you do not like doing things that necessitate too much concentration.

Some of the letters reveal youth, but others depict a keen mental instinct which would do credit to a much older person.

Your capital 'B' in your name Bernice portrays a slight artistic tendency, and could be developed either through music or voice culture.

Your 't' bar crossings show a normal amount of will power, but I am afraid that you often wish that you had a great deal more. Don't you?

There seems to be a tightening of the nerves at times, due to being watched when at your work, and I might say now that you would always work much better if you were allowed to be alone when you desire mental concentration.

The lower loops attendant to your letters which are graceful and below the line as in the 'G', the 'Y' and the 'p' show that you would be keenly interested in out of door activity once you learned how to make the most of its freedom, time and body building qualities. This would encourage you to "Get out' more often than you do at present.

The smaller letters reveal a secretiveness which prevents you from asking assistance when you really need it, and which no doubt is the means of many hours of loneliness.

The last 't' in the word Wright indicates how difficult it is for you to commence some tasks, and how difficult it is for you to make yourself complete them, but I think that you will overcome this tendency when you learn to like your work.

I have not set a vocation for you, because you do not seem quite old enough to venture upon one definite line as yet.

SUMMER FAIR WELL ATTENDED

Very Successful Fair is Held on Grounds of Immaculate Conception Church.

SUPPER SERVED.

A very successful Summer Fair was held last evening on the grounds of the Immaculate Conception Church, with the usual large attendance.

The softball game between East City and Campbellford drew a big crowd, and was a hard-fought battle that resulted in a score of 5-4 for the local team.

Between four and five hundred people enjoyed an excellent supper of home-cooked viands, served in the church basement at tables decorated with flowers.

The amusements of the evening included a fine band concert by Joe Minicola and his players, the sale at the Country Store, where George and Dan. Leonard were in charge, the aeroplane and little horses games and the refreshment booths.

The Young Ladies' Sodality of the Church had charge of the sale of ice cream. The booths were gaily decorated with colored paper and flowers.

URGE CULTIVATION CERTIFIED WHEAT

Member of Dominion Seed Branch Touring County With A. R. Runions.

An effort to institute the growing of certified fall wheat in order that the requirements of certain local markets may be met, is to be made in Peterborough County the local branch of the Department of Agriculture said today. G. W. Michael, of Belleville, a representative of the Dominion Seed Branch, set out on a tour of visits to some of the county's wheat growers, with agricultural representative A. D. Runions this morning.

Up to the present, no local farmers are growing certified fall wheat and consequently their product fails to compete in markets which would otherwise be open to them. Farmers in a number of districts in Western Ontario have been cultivating the certified product very profitably. It is the hope of inspector Michael and Mr. Runions to induce a half dozen local men to grow it this fall, somewhat as a county experiment. They are recommending Dawson's Golden Chaff variety.

Farmers producing a certified crop must use either registered or certified seed and the crop must pass field inspection.

W. F. Kearns Dies of Internal Injuries, Fractured Skull in Illinois Hospital.

ON SALES VISIT.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 16 (CP)—William F. Kearns, a native of Ottawa and lately a resident of Elmhurst, Ill., was found fatally injured in an alley behind a hotel here yesterday, apparently the victim of an attack. The 35-year-old Canadian was living when found, but died several hours later in hospital. He was the son of the Assistant Auditor General for the Canadian Government.

An abrasion on Kearns' face was the only outward mark of violence, but on examination he was found to be suffering from a fractured skull, four broken ribs and internal injuries.

As a representative of a Chicago engraving concern, Kearns visited Rockford every month, and was said to have been well known about the city. He had spent the night before his death, police said, in making the rounds of various clubs.

The robbery motive was discounted when cab-drivers reported Kearns' funds were low when the evening was over. He is survived by a wife and five-year-old daughter, resident at Elmhirst.

ATTACK DISEASES BY FINGER-PRINT

Research Develops Prospect of Attacking Epidemics in New Way.

LONDON, Aug. 16 (C.P.)—Prospect of the study of finger-prints completely revolutionizing methods of attack on disease seems probable in the near future through the discoveries of Professor Heinrich Poll, German scientist. After 27 years of research it is claimed that he has arrived at results that have astonished experts who had thought of finger-prints merely in terms of crime detection.

Professor Poll has treated thousands of cases and it has been revealed that people suffering from certain diseases had similarly characteristic finger-prints, and that the same is true of different classes of healthy subjects. The direction of the campaign against cancer, tuberculosis and other diseases may, the professor thinks, be profoundly influenced by the new material which he has collected.

"I began my inquiries when I was working in mental asylums," said Professor Poll. During an outbreak of a disease, which afflicts children's limbs, it was discovered after many finger-prints had been observed, that they were of the same group.

"We concluded that disease is directly reflected in finger-prints and it would be possible to say that some persons will be likely to develop a disease. One could say of a newly born child that it would have such and such a chance of developing or not developing a disease. The same principle could be applied to any disease—cancer, tuberculosis and the rest. The scope is enormous."

As a result of Professor Poll's visit, the anthropological study of finger-prints, as apart from criminology, is to be introduced into this country.

It now costs $5.22 a day to hire a policeman wearing plain clothes, in London, and $1.90 extra when he wears morning or evening dress.

Canadian's Invention May Prevent Many Fatal Explosions

William H. Horn of Winnipeg, Man., has perfected an invention which will prevent gasoline explosions during fires. Principle of the invention consists of fine mesh wire core, placed inside gasoline container. It is especially sewn and folded to form a cylinder extending into the container and equipped with solder plug as emergency valve. In a demonstration the inventor placed a gallon can of gasoline while the fire outside burned, in the midst of a fire. The gasoline boiled but did not explode. United States air mail authorities may interest themselves in the invention.

Annual Flower Show Will Open At 8 P.M.

The Canadian Legion Hall was a very busy place this morning, with many energetic hands getting beautiful blooms in place for the Flower Show of the Peterborough Horticultural Society, which will be opened officially at eight o'clock tonight by F. W. Warren of Hamilton, who was on hand this morning and took an active interest in the many fine exhibits.

From the advance showing, this year's show promises to be a splendid one. The gladioli are gorgeous blooms and the hall has been decorated beautifully by the committee in charge.

The presentation of trophies in the lawn and garden competition will take place to-night, also the draw for the door prize, a handsome Kenwood blanket.

5 Overpower Guard Flee Virginia Prison

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 16 (AP)—Five long-term convicts who escaped from the State Penitentiary to-day abandoned their stolen automobile about 30 miles from the city and took to the woods where State and County Police claimed to have them surrounded.

Overpowering a lone guard, the convicts forced the guard to unlock an outside door. Then, carrying Mrs. Virginia Spencer, a matron across the yard as a shield, they scaled two fences commandeered an automobile and raced out of the city.

Two of the escaped men were white and the others negroes.

HEAD GRAIN CROPS GOOD IN MOST ONTARIO DISTRICTS

Straw Yield Short, However—Pasture Land Dry Despite Some Rain.

CORN MOSTLY FINE

Throughout most areas of Ontario, grains have shown a good yield this season, although reports from the various agricultural representatives of the government reveal straw is short. Grey County district has little alsike or red clover seed. Rain is still needed in most places, with pastures scant.

Various counties report as follows:

SOUTHERN ONTARIO.

Brant—Greater part of harvest is cut. A number of farmers have completed harvesting operations. A considerable amount of threshing has been done and varying yields have been reported. Generally yields will average lower than last year. Most sections of county suffering from lack of rain. Pastures are very poor and dairy men are feeding their herds. Feed situation is rather serious.

Haldimand — Reports of fall wheat yields continue to come in, indicating a great variation, the average being 20 bus. to the acre or less. One farmer in Oneida Township reports threshing 1,000 bushels of oats the other day with the yield running around 45-50 bus. per acre and the oats weighing in the neighbourhood of 35-40 pounds to the bushel.

CENTRAL ONTARIO.

Ontario—This county has been fortunate in having rainfall from time to time and spring grain crops along with roots and corn are good along the line. At the present time rain is badly needed, especially for pastures. Ninety per cent. of the spring grain is in the stook. Threshing is general. Splendid yields are reported. Yields to 60 to 70 bus. to acre; barley 50 bus. per acre being not at all unusual. Threshers say they will have 50 to 100 more days' threshing.

EASTERN ONTARIO.

Glengarry and E. Stormont — The number of poultry on hand is about normal, though will probably mature later than usual due to later hatching. This is particularly true with reference to turkeys. Some farmers here are still drawing in hay, while, on the other hand, I heard of one farmer in the county who is through harvesting and has his threshing finished. There is a good deal of cutting done and some stook threshing, but on the other hand there is a lot of grain still quite green.

Lanark— Harvesting is well on its way. Oats and barley are nearly all harvested. A few farmers have threshed. Yields are surprisingly good. Pastures are so dry that they are almost useless. Corn is drying up. Fires are raging in some sections.

Leeds—Oats and barley are turning out well considering drought conditions. Several reports have been received of over 50 bushels per acre and quality of grain is good. Potatoes and roots do not look promising. Corn is good except on shallow light land.

Lennox and Addington — Milk production is still low as compared with other years. Cows have not gained on the grass. Practically all oats and barley have been harvested. Crops are very good. Some threshing has been done, barley yielding as high as 35 to 40 bushels per acre; oats from 40 to 50. Considerable ground is being made ready for fall wheat. The southern part of the county is very badly in need of rain.

Prescott and Russell—Continuous heat and drought are severely affecting our clover fields, which are kept for seed production. A good percentage of the plants are drying up and unless we have rain pretty soon chances are that the seed yield will be much below normal.

Renfrew—Cutting is about 60 per cent. completed and threshing is general, especially stook threshing. Dealers are offering 54 cents per bushel for malting barley that will test 47. This is about 14 cents per bushel better than prices last year. Owing to the light yields of the pea crop, farmers are expecting a higher price. Prices for newly threshed seed peas are opening at about $1.25.

Many fields, where sow thistle has been prevalent, have now been plowed. Most fields are being left without cultivation until they are completely dried out and with the extremely dry weather farmers are hoping that sow thistle will be 100 per cent killed. This method of control is quite general and it is gratifying to note that there is much less sow thistle growing up this year than there was a few years ago.

Oxford—Recent rains are freshening up the pastures to some extent, but cows particularly are showing the effect of dry pastures. The grain harvest is pretty well along and had it not been for the showers this week, a good many would have finished. Oat yields have been reported up to 50 bushels per acre. Wheat has been running from 15 to 35 bushels. Four carloads of pure-bred Holstein cattle were purchased in this Western Ontario area this past week.

5,000 ATTEND COOKE FUNERAL

Ferguson, Henry, Meighen Pay Touching Tribute to Loved Former Colleague.

UNDER L.O.L. AUSPICES.

MARMORA, Aug 16 (Examiner Correspondence). — Striking eulogies to the character of the late Hon. J. R. Cooke were given at the funeral service conducted at his late residence on the 8th Line of Rawdon Township on Wednesday afternoon by Canon W. G. Swayne, rector of the parish.

In addition to Canon Swayne's striking tribute to the deceased gentleman with which he coupled the text, "He went about doing good," Hon. George S. Henry, Hon. Arthur Meighen and Hon Howard Ferguson made eloquent reference to the fine characteristics of their former colleague in which they failed to hide their emotions.

Among other nobles were noticed former Lieut. Governor Ross, Hon. T. Ashmore Kidd, Hon. Leopold Macauley, Hon. W. H. Price and Loftus Reid. Many seats and benches were requisitioned from Springbrook Orange Lodge and placed upon the spacious lawn but were inadequate accommodation for a gathering estimated as numbering five thousand.

Also robed with Canon Swayne were Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell, Revs. B. F. Byers, T. H. Hall, S. E. Morton and N. R. Stout. St. Mark's Choir, robed in the vestments so recently furnished by the late "Bob" Cooke, led in the singing of the two hymns, "Unto the Hills," and "Nearer, My God to Thee." By special request the solo "In The Garden," was swetly rendered by Mrs. Colden, who resides on a neighboring farm.

Ex-Cabinet ministers acted as honorary pall-bearers, and the active bearers were Ernest Brown, Hiram Dafoe, W. J. Tanner, George Bailey, Charles Mumby, and William Martin.

The funeral was under auspices of Tanner L.O.L., No. 309, of which the deceased brother was a Past Master. About 300 brethren, representative of all lodges in Centre Hastings County and other lodges further afield were in attendance.

The interment took place in the cemetery adjoining St. Thomas' Church. Following the committal, the ritual of the Orange Order was taken by R. Wor. Bro. H. B. Fetterly, Grand Master of Ontario East, and R. Wor. Bros. W. E. Tummon and T. Ashmore Kidd.

At Harold War Memorial plot, Harold Public School, and St. Mark's Church, flags flew at half-mast in respect for one who in life brought honor to the many movements he was so deeply interested in.

Roast Beef

MARMORA, Aug. 16 (Examiner Correspondence). — While The Examiner representative was having an informal chat with the Hon. Howard Ferguson at Harold on Wednesday afternoon, an old friend of the latter interposed, "You haven't failed much over there, Mr. Ferguson."

"No," replied Ontario's former Premier, "thanks to the roast beef of Old England."

Recent Kidnap List

[By The Canadian Press]

While police of Canada have long been untroubled by kidnappings authorities of the United States have spent many sleepless nights chasing "nappers"—and in most instances over the past 2½ years were finally successful. Here are some of the outstanding cases in that period:

CHARLES A. LNIDBERGH, Jr. March 1, 1932—Kidnapped at Hopewell, N.J. Found dead May 12, 1932. $50,000 ransom paid. (Unsolved).

CHARLES BOETTCHER, 2nd. Feb. 12, 1933—At Denver. Returned March 1, 1933. Verne Sankey, charged with crime, committed suicide.

PEGGY McMATH May 2, 1933—At Harwichport, Mass. $60,000 paid. Returned May 5, 1933. Abductors convicted.

MARY McELROY May 27, 1933—At Kansas City. $30,000 paid. Returned next day. Abductors convicted; one sentenced to death.

JOHN FACTOR July 1, 1933—At Chicago; $50,000 paid. Returned July 12, 1933. Touhy gang convicted.

JOHN J. O'CONNELL, Jr. July 7, 1933—At Albany, N.Y.; $40,000 paid. Returned July 30, 1933. Manny Strewl convicted.

AUGUST LUER July 10, 1933—At Alton, Ill.

CHARLES F. URSCHEL July 22, 1933 — At Oklahoma City. $200,000 paid. Returned Aug. 1, 1933. Kidnappers convicted.

BROOKE HART Nov. 9, 1933—At San Jose, Cal. Slain. Abductors lynched.

EDWARD C. BREMAR Jan. 17, 1934 — At St. Paul, Minn. $200,000 ransom paid. Returned Feb. 8. Four awaiting trial.

WILLIAM F. GETTLEN May 9, 1934—At Los Angeles. Found May 15. Three men sentenced to life imprisonment on guilty plea. No ransom paid.

CLOSE MARGINS FEATURE RACES CHEMONG PARK

McPherson Juniors Among Major Prize Winners Along With "Spike" Matthews.

PRESENT TROPHIES.

Pronounced by committee members as one of the best Junior Regattas in a long list of children's annual events, yesterday's aquatic program at Chemong Park was most successful. It was featured by energetic and enthusiastic competition, a large list of youthful entries in every contest and an absence of 'crabbing' that was very pleasing.

Once again, the skilful McPherson juniors, children of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. McPherson, were major prize winners, along with Gordon ('Spike') Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Matthews, who ran up a total of thirty-two points during the afternoon, ten points ahead of his nearest competitor.

Two silver cups donated by Walter Belleghem to the boy and girl obtaining the most points in the fourteen year old class, were won by Mary McPherson, with 20 points, and Ted Cragg, with 22. (Ted's runner-up was Rex Forsythe, with 21 points).

Two silver cups donated respectively by J. A. Dewart and W. J. Thompson to the boy and girl obtaining most points in the twelve-year old class, were won by Betty Petterson, with19 points, and Don McPherson and Boy Jopling, tied with 19 points apiece. (The committee will present a silver cup to each of the boys).

The silver cups donated by J. K. Hughes and Fred L. Roy, to the boy and girl obtaining the most points in the class of ten and eight-year old competitors, went to Gordon Matthews, Junior, with the large total of 32 points, and Betty Darling (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Darling), with 17 points. (In this section, Murray Dewart was runner-up with 18 points).

Very Close Finishes.

Extremely close finishes featured the majority of the events, with difficult decisions for the judges, in more than one instance.

The children's swimming was exceptionally good and heartily contended for. In the 14 year and under class, there was almost a dead heat. Rex Forsythe won, with Morley Geraghty in second place and Ted Cragg in third.

Another very close finish characterized the girls' swimming race for ten years and under, Betty Darling won, followed by Barbara Moore and Beulah Milburn.

In the girls' swimming race for 14 years and under, Dorothy Boyle beat out her sister, Marjorie, by a small margin, and Barbara Scott came third. But Marjorie was winner of the swim for 12 years and under, with Helen Mathias second and Margaret Westbye third.

A graduated line of little boys who stood waist deep in the water and sank to chin length at the farther, deeper end of the line, took part in the 12 years and under swimming event. There was a round baker's dozen of them, with one careful contestant donning a white rubber cap for the occasion. Amid loud hurrahs from the bank, they threshed valiantly through the thirty-five yards of water that separated them from the finish line. Harold Matthews came first, Bruce Castle second, Jack Forsythe third and Morley Geraghty fourth. The winner decided to call it a day a little too soon, and paused on the near side of the goal, but finished first after all.

There was a patriotic note to the red, white and blue caps of the little codgers who competed in the mixed swimming event for boys and girls of 8 years and under. This was a vigorous affair that resulted in a win for Murray Dewart, with Jack Matthews in second place for the boys. The first girl was Catherine Scott and little Jane Abbott was second.

Another very close swim was for boys of 10 years and under. First place was won by Gordon Matthews, second by Murray Dewart and third by 'Sunny' Roy and Fred Drummond (tied).

Good Canoe Races.

Canoe events were all well contested, with some close finishes. In the boys' single canoe races, the following were winners: 14 years and under, 1st, Rex. Forsythe, 2nd Jack McNulty, 3rd Ted Cragg, 4th Andrew Scott. 12 years and under, Andrew Scott 1st, Bob Jopling 2nd, Harold Matthews 3rd, Gordon Matthews, 4th. 10 years and under, 1st Gordon Matthews, 2nd Murray Dewart, 3rd Alex Edwards, 4th 'Sunny' Roy. 8 years and under, 1st Mudray Dewart, 2nd Jack Matthews, 3rd John Rutherford.

Girls' single canoe races, 14 years and under—1st Mary McPherson, 2nd Jean Petterson, 3rd Mary Overend. 12 years and under, 1st Betty Petterson, 2nd Mary Overend, 3rd Helen Mathias, 4th Isabel Forsythe. 10 years and under, 1st Beulah Milburn, 2nd Betty Darling, 3rd Margaret Abbott. 8 years and under, 1st Ann Overend, 2nd Hazel Forsythe, 3rd Jane Abbott.

Boys' tandem canoe race (14 years and under)—1st, Rex Forsythe and Harold Matthews; 2nd, Gordon Matthews and Craig Sommerville; 3rd, Andrew Scott and Don McPherson. This was a nice race with a very close finish. 12 years and under—1st, Jack Forsythe and Bob Jopling; 2, Harold and Gordon Matthews; 3rd, Don McPherson and Andrew Scott.

A special event of the afternoon was a tandem canoe race for girls of 10 years and under, with the winners in Margaret Abbott and Betty Darling, and second places to Irene Forsythe and Barbara Moore.

Mixed tanlem canoe races provided plenty of entertainment and the nearest to mixups in the water in a program singularly free from such haphazards. The one exception of the afternoon was in the race for 12 years and under, in this section, when eight entries were made and five of the boats went into a huddle in the water, leaving a clear sweep for the winners—1st, Betty Petterson and Bob Jopling; 2nd, Betty Darling and Gordon Matthews; 3rd, Helen Mathias and Don McPherson.

Tandem Canoe

In the mixed tandem canoe race for 10 years and under, first place went by an extremely close margin of a few inches, to Gordon Matthews and Ann Overend, with Alex Edwards and Irene Forsythe second and Betty Darling and 'Sunny' Roy, third.

Mixed tandem for 14 years and under—1st, Mary McPherson and Ted Cragg; 2nd, Betty Petterson and Rex Forsythe; 3rd, Helen Mathias and Jack McNulty; 4th, Barbara and Andrew Scott. 8 years and under—1st, Beverley Hughes and Murray Dewart; 2nd, Ann Overend and John Rutherford; 3rd, Jane Abbott and Jack Matthews.

The Gunwale and crab races and mixed pie-plate race proved to be amusing events that had surprisingly few spills, considering the extreme youth of some of the contestants.

Gunwale events: 14 years and under, (3 heats)—1st, Ted Cragg; 2nd, Rex Forsythe; 3rd, Harold Matthews; 4th, Bob Jopling. 12 years and under—1st Don McPherson; 2nd, Bob Jopling; 3rd, Harold Matthews. For girls of 14 years and under—1st, Mary McPherson; 2nd, Betty Petterson.

Crab race, 14 years and under—1st, Ted Cragg; 2nd, Don McPherson; 3rd, Craig Somerville. This was another extremely close finish.

A secret cache of aluminum pie-plates, with a treasure trove of 26 of the much-valued articles, was used to provide the implements for the mixed pie-plate event. The silvery plates flashed through the silver water, making a pretty picture under a grey sky. The children battled manfully for the first place, four in a canoe, 12 years and under. The winners were Bob Jopling and his crew: Mary Moore, Betty Petterson and Jack Forsythe, with second place going to Don McPherson and his crew: Mary Overend, Helen Mathias and Harold Mathews.

The tilting and pillow contests afforded more entertainment for the onlookers. Tilting 16 years and under was won by Douglas McPherson, with Ross Pulkinghorn paddling, with the second winner in Ted Cragg, with Mary McPherson padding. Tilting for 14 years and under—1st, Ted Cragg, paddled by Mary McPherson; 2nd, Don McPherson, paddled by Gordon Matthews.

Closing Events

Pillow fights for 12 years and under—1st, Don McPherson; 2nd, Bob Jopling; for 10 years and under—1st, Gordon Matthews; 2nd Frank Draper. One energetic pillow 'sock' by 'Spike' Matthews decided the last-named section, in the fraction of a second. Jim Macfarlane and Ross Thompson were judges for these events.

The canoe sailing race, run off yesterday morning on the lake, with contestants of 16 years and under, was won by Douglas McPherson, with Ross Pulkinghorn second, and Grant Clark in third place.

Dr. A. W. McPherson was chairman of the Children's Regatta, with Gordon Matthews and Fred Hills as announcers. Acting in various assisting capacities were W. J. Thompson, G. H. Roper, Allan Cameron, John Weddell, Ross Thompson, Jim McFarlane and Ralph Clark. The entire list of judges for the two regattas, the Senior and and Junior, is as follows: J. F. Strickland, W. J. Thompson, Dr. D. W. Clark, H. Wolff, Dr. G. Ray Scott, Dr. F. P. McNulty, Fred L. Roy, F. J. Overend, J. J. Duffus, P. P. Westebye, J. A. Dewart, R. Abbott, R. Dixon, E. Burnham. Starters: James Matthews and J. C. McClenaghan. Announcers: F. Hills and F. Jopling. Committee: J. K. Hughes, chairman; Ross Thompson, secretary-treasurer; O. Eastwood, J. Mcfarlane, K. Duffus, F. Jopling, A. Wood, D. McPherson, R. Clark, J. Weddell, G. McElhiney.

James Matthews was busy all afternoon, with his assistants, handing out the free ice cream cones which are a feature of Junior Regatta Day at Chemong Park.

An impromptu program of races with all-day suckers and cream cones as awards, was run off on the bank during the progress of the regatta.

WHY WE DO THIS

It is a well-known fact that high-grade advertising is the life of business. In advertising, short, catchy phrases and sentences, called slogans, are very valuable. We need them and will gladly pay for them, and are taking this method of getting a number of suggestions.

Most slogans which have brought fortune to business houses were thought of by someone not connected with the house. Cash and credit vouchers will be given to people who least expect them. Only a few minutes' work is all it takes. Equal prizes in case of tie.

All prizes are given free.

Successful contestants will be notified by mail.

Credit vouchers are transferable.

More than one honorable mention prize will be issued.

Any one credit good for face value not to exceed one-half the purchase price on any used car or truck in stock. Credit expires Aug. 25, 1934.

All slogans must be in the mail by 9 p.m., Monday, Aug. 20, 1934.

Use coupon or plain white paper!

I hereby submit the following slogan for the judges' consideration. I agree to abide by the decision of the judges without question: ... ...

FINE CROP YIELDS BURNBRAE DISTRICT

Good Grain Average Where Spring Crop Sowed in Winter Wheat Fields.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BURNBRAE, Aug. 16. — Threshing is very much the order of the day here, and as there is a large acreage of grain to be handled the threshers are using every available minute to keep up with their work. Some very fine yields are reported, especially on those fields where wheat winter killed, and spring grains were sown. Messrs. George Fry and Sons threshed 276 bushels from four acres of such land. This was mixed oats and barley. J. C. Nelson and Son on an eight acre field report well over 50 bushels per acre of oats. The early grain is of very good quality, but owing to the extreme heat the later stuff will be lighter. However a grain crop above the average, and a good healthy crop of straw will put many farmers in a better position as regards winter feed than looked possible in the spring.

The dry, burning heat has made the present feed situation a serious one. Pastures are burnt to a crisp except on low swampy land, and there is little second growth on the hay fields. Many farmers have cut green oats, but the season for these is past. Green corn is the next item but with the corn crop going back every day, in many cases, the large corn acreage would not last the cows very long if fed at the present time.

Early sown root crops are doing very well, but the later sown stuff is almost a failure. Potatoes have made astonishing progress and the gardens are much better than weather conditions would seem to justify. Even though hard hit by the drought this section of good old Ontario cannot complain too much when stories come drifting in from other districts and other lands.

FORMER DUTCH LINE RESIDENT RETURNS TO FAMILIAR FIELDS

Aunt and Nephew Meet Again After Absence of Fifty Years.

LIVES IN SAULT STE. MARIE

HASTINGS, Aug. 16.—(Examiner Correspondence). — Separated for over fifty years Mrs. James Stinson of Hastings and her nephew, Lynn Rightmire, of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., met over the week-end.

Born in Prince Edward county, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Rightmire, Mr. Rightmire came to Hastings district with his parents when an infant. When he was seven years old his father decided to move to Cochrane Islands. It was on this trip that tragedy entered into the life of young Rightmire. Going via boat to their new home the ship caught on fire and they were forced to all jump into the water, during the scramble for safety his mother received injuries which caused her death shortly after. Rather than take his son into a new land Mr. Rightmire returned to Hastings with his son Lynn, where the latter remained with his aunt and uncle, Mrs. Stinson and the late James Stinson, who at that time were residents on Dutch Line.

One of the most interesting places Mr. Rightmire found on his visit to Hastings was the school house in the Dutch Line which he attended in his boyhood. The old school is on the same lot but has been renovated and moved around. A treasure which he valued was a small branch from a tree which he used to play under. This along with numerous pictures he took back home with him.

Mr. Rightmire, who is a very interesting conversationalist, related interesting experiences he has had since reaching manhood. For four years he had charge of a large number of Chipawa Indians in a lumber camp. The actions and deeds of some of these Indians as related by this very interesting visitor would make the ordinary white man shiver. For a great number of years Mr. Rightmire was in the lumber business going out of this to open a large car salesroom in the Sault, which he now operates with his sons.

Mr. Rightmire knew the famous John Dillinger, also his accomplice, Hamilton, who was a resident of the Sault at one time.

In 1933 Mr. Rightmire's son made a trip to this district, and it was from this visit that his father met for the first time in fifty years his aunt, Mrs. Stinson, and his uncle, Mr. Manley Waller, who resides in Flint, Mich., only a few hundred miles from the Sault.

He was accompanied on his trip here by Mrs. E. H. McKenzie of Owosso, Mich., Mrs. Bowman of Detroit, Mich., and Manley Waller of Flint, Mich.

While in the district Mr. Rightmire visited Mrs. Rogers of Peterborough, another aunt who he had not seen in fifty years.

Lightning Bolt Plays Queer Prank

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BURNBRAE, Aug. 16. — That lightning plays queer pranks, was amply proven in the severe electrical storm that visited this vicinity about 4.30 Monday afternoon.

On the farm of Robert G. Clough, two stooks of grain, about 70 feet apart, were set on fire, while another stook midway between, was untouched, as were others in the same field. Also on the farm of Lindsey Watson at Burnbrae Corners, the bolt seemed to strike in two places as the transformer and fuses in connection with his hydro equipment were blown out, while a tree in the orchard several yards away, was struck, and the grass beneath the tree ignited. Prompt action by Mrs. Watson prevented the spreading of the flames.

For Eczema - Skin Troubles

Make up your mind to-day that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well.

Go to any good druggist to-day and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil—it lasts many days because it is highly concentrated.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that your skin troubles will soon be a thing of the past.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue, and that it must give you full satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

Magistrate's Court

Appearing before Magistrate Langley this morning to swear out a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm against an Otonabee man, Nathan Fine was asked by the Magistrate, "What did he do to you?"

Mr. Fine turned his head and pointed to a very black and much swollen eye. "I have the doctor's certificate here, too," he said.

"I don't need that now," replied His Worship.

The youth, Everett Jones, pleaded not guilty to the charge of assaulting Mr. Fine. The case was adjourned until Tuesday, bail being fixed at $500.

MOTOR COLLISION

Cars driven by R. C. Flitton of Montreal, holidaying at present at Chemong Park, and Madam Merriam, who was conveying some children to a picnic, collided near the pavilion at Chemong Park, yesterday afternoon. Both cars were damaged considerably by the impact. A little passenger in Madam Merriam's car, David Bell, suffered a slightly cut lip, but was able to signify his determination to proceed to the picnic, after ministrations by Dr. J. A. Morgan.

LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN

She was a long-time resident of the city and she stepped out of the Empress Hotel to cross the street and wait for the Chemong 'bus. A car stood at the curb. Short-sightedly, she peered at it. It looked familiar. She said to a woman bystander: "Is this the Chemong—?"

The woman, interrupting: "No, this place is Peterborough!"

UPHOLDS WORTH OF AIR SERVICE

Chief of Forestry Branch Says Planes Indispensable in Fighting Fires.

SAVE VALUABLE TIMBER.

SAULT STE. MARIE Ont. Aug. 16 (C.P.)—Sittings here of the investigation into affairs of the Ontario government air service were scheduled to end to-day. The probe has been carried on under the direction of D. W. Lang, K.C., of Toronto.

It was expected evidence would be complete to-day and that if any further sittings were required the commission would resume its hearings in Toronto.

The hearing proceeded late into last night with Nigep Kensit, chief of the forestry branch, the chief witness. He declared every flight made was requisitioned by himself and that the air service was indispensable in the effective combatting of forest fires.

Mr. Kensit assured the commission that the entire area patrolled was worth the protection and that aeroplane service was the only means of communication with outlaying districts.

Without planes a fire might gain such headway before aid could be summoned that it would destroy valuable timber.

There was no jealousy or conflict between members of the air service and the ground service, he told the commissioner.

LOCAL LAWYER TO FACE TRIAL

J. A. O'Brien is Committed for Trial on Two Charges.

LITTLE EVIDENCE TAKEN.

J. A. O'Brien, local lawyer, was committed for trial to-day on two charges under the Criminal Code by Police Magistrate Langley following brief preliminary hearing.

The first charge alleges that Mr. O'Brien during the past year as administrator of the estate of the late Sarah Menzies received monies to the amount of $4,565.62 which he was required to pay to her heirs and that he fraudulently converted these funds to his own use and thereby did commit theft. The second concerns a N.S.F. cheque for $200 which he is alleged to have given to W. H. Magee as part payment on a new motor car.

Little evidence was taken to-day. Mr. O'Brien, through his counsel, T. J. Carley, consented for committal for trial on the evidence produced.

George A. Sherry, registrar of the Surrogate Court, and local registrar of the Supreme Court of Ontario, and Miss Mabel E. Moore, court stenographer, were the only witnesses in the estate case.

Mr. Sherry said he had the records of the Sarah Menzies' estate filed at his office, and he produced a document dated July 25 in which Mr. O'Brien promised to pay into the Supreme Court to the credit of the estate the sum of $4,565.62 by the end of July. Mr. Sherry said that the usual receipt of payment from the bank for this money to the estate had not been received in his office.

Miss Moore read from her shorthand notes of the hearing before Judge McGibbon on July 25 in which Mr. O'Brien made statements regarding the payment sums of money into the estate which Judge McGibbon ruled were short by $4,565.62.

CLEVER ACT AT SUMMER GARDENS

Presentation by the Six Dancing Debutantes Equal to Many Professional Floor Shows.

That there is a good deal of fine talent for entertainment in Peterborough was evinced to the large crowd that attended Brock Street Summer Gardens last evening and saw the floor show put on by the Six Dancing Debutantes, all charming young Peterborough ladies. The program they presented under the direction of Miss Mae Perry was equal to many professional floor shows that are presented from time to time throughout the amusement places of the province. The feature dancing numbers of this group of young ladies was much appreciated by the audience. They appear again tonight and tomorrow night and will no doubt be greeted by increasingly larger crowds.

The Brock Street Summer Gardens offers opportunity to clever amateur entertainers to present themselves and gain experience in the line of entertainment they are proficient at. 1d

WOMEN PUT HEART INTO LAND PLANS

Quebec Mothers Show Lead in New Spirit of Colonization.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—(CP)—Stout-hearted French-Canadian women, of the fibre and spirit of those heroic days when New France knew its Jeanne Mance and its Madeleine de Vercheres, are apparently going to lead their men and children out of unemployment's Valley of Despair to the sun-swept hills and plains of old Quebec—back to the land.

When, a short time ago, Mayor Camillien Houde outlined his plan for land settlement it was received with obvious lack of interest, and its backers were about ready to concede that the scheme was a "flop". But within a week the situation had changed completely. Aldermen reported they were being bombarded with demands for information. Men who, a few days before, had been uninterested, were asking, "When do we start?" And the typical explanation of their change of heart was, "My wife has been thinking the matter over, and she wants to go."

Reports from the various ward offices indicated that the women were not particular whether they went to the old farms or to Abitibi or Temiscamingue, but they would like to go in groups with relatives and friends. Most of them wanted to be assured that there would be school facilities, and all of them wanted to be far enough from any large centre that their husbands would not continually be on the watch for a job in the city, but would put their backs into the farm work.

Obituary

MRS. JOHN TUCKER

The funeral of the late Mrs. John Tucker was held from her late residence on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. W. A. Hunter of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church officating in the absence of her pastor, Rev. G. W. Rivers of Trinity United Church.

Sarah Cassidy, the late Mrs. John Tucker, was born near Bridgewater, and passed away at the age of nearly 84 years. She spent all her married life in Madoc, her husband predeceasing her two years ago last June.

She was a member of long standing of the Methodist Church, later the United Church and was deeply interested in the Women's Missionary Society. She was also keenly interested in W.C.T.U. work, relief work of the Salvation Army and the work among the lepers in India.

Rev. W. A. Hunter preached a most inspiring sermon from the text, "I shall be satisfied when I awake in Thy likeness." Applying it to mean in this life rather than in the other world.. The hymn, "Forever With the Lord," concluded the service.

Old neighbors were the pallbearers. Walter Tucker of Ottawa, brother of the late John Tucker, spoke briefly, thanking all friends and enighbors for the many kindnesses and the respect paid to the departed.

Several nieces and nephews are left to mourn besides Mrs. T. Tucker, a sister-in-law.

Interment was made in Lakeview Cemetery, where she was laid beside her departed husband.

NOISY NEW YORK CAN BE QUIET

Residents For Kindness' Sake Aid Stricken Woman to Recover.

HAD TO BE QUIET.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 16. — (C. P.). — Noisy New York can been quiet for kindness sake, even in the overcrowded districts where "quiet" ordinarily would mean the cries of dozens of children at play and the tunes of a score of radios. It proved it recently to save the life of Mrs. Margaret Berger.

Doctors found Mrs. Berger's condition so critical, after she had given birth to a 10-pound baby, that they decided only rest and quiet in the fresh air could save her life. And Mrs. Berger was much too weak to be moved daily in and out of the hospital to the verandahs. Someone suggested a tent be pitched in the yard and that she be put out there.

Two six-storey apartment buildings stand close by. From the windows, housewives, working to the music of their radios or with one ear policing a child's piano practice, saw the tent and wondered somebody made inquiry.

For 10 days there was no parties in either apartment building. The children were quiet and the radios were turned off. And Mrs. Berger recovered.

SYRACUSE TIGERS HERE ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Arrangements have been made to stage an unusual exhibition baseball game in Riverside Park at three o'clock Saturday. It will be between the Petes and the Syracuse Tigers, classy colored outfit from the States. The Tigers are all negroes and have been playing a number of teams throughout Eastern Ontario recently, including Kingston. They have not dropped a game so far. This American squad plays a fast brand of ball, many of them ranking good enough for professional company. They expect to add another win to their list here Saturday.

The Petes have been travelling fast lately and have a C.O.B.L. playoff berth practically cinched now. This will be an excellent practise for them and will show fans how the locals stack up against a really fast outside team. The fact that it is the only senior game here this week and that the visitors are all darkies should result in a huge crowd, particularly as it shapes up as being a snappy contest throughout. Deyell or Calladine will, in all probability, do the Petes' pitching.

Fourth New York Game Is Postponed

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The fourth game of the Detroit-Yankee series was postponed today because of wet grounds.

The game will be played as part of a double header tomorrow when the series closes, ending the Tiger American league appearances here for the season.

Rain through the night soaked the stadium field and made play impossible.

Grey top hats are again fashionable for men of London.

THIRD VISIT TO CLINIC OF RT. HON. W. L. MAC. KING

The former Premier of Canada made his third visit to Dr. Locke on Monday. He came from Toronto en route to Ottawa.

Mr. Mackenzie King is much impressed with the reality and success of the work of Dr. Locke. The sincerity and humility of "Our Doctor" left an equally clear impression with the famous statesman.

Mr. King will, from time to time, continue to receive treatments from the hands of Dr. Locke.

—The Williamsburg Times of Aug. 10, 1934.

THOUSANDS return each year to the Dr. M. W. Locke Clinic in Williamsburg, Ontario, Canada, for treatments. There must be a reason.
Dr. M. W. Locke says:
... that weak and fallen arches and bone displacements in the feet cause incorrect posture and contribute to and cause such ailments as arthritis, rheumatoid arthritis, synobitis, neuralgia, neuritis and myiditis. Dr. Locke believes that if the bones of the feet are restored to normal position and a shoe worn that will maintain the bones in their correct positions, nature will complete the cure.
Your Feet . . .
How they can be helped.
If you cannot visit these clinics you can stop in at our shoe department—let our experienced shoe fitters tell you the secrets about the M. W. Locke shoes—how the proper type of shoe is selected—how your foot can gradually be adjusted—how real foot happiness can be enjoyed in a pair of the original M. W. Locke shoes.

Weddings

NEAL—CONNOR.

MARMORA, Aug. 16 (Examiner Correspondence).—A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church parsonage on Wednesday morning, when Jennie Whytock, younger daughter of Mrs. A. H. Connor, became the bride of Ralph E., elder son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Neal, both contracting parties being of this village. Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth officiated.

The bride and groom were unattended. Upon their return from their honeymoon they will reside in Marmora.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15.—It's a story that needs telling, the latest kindly deed of Mrs. Abraham Lehr. For years this gentle lady has been known for her charitable work in the film colony. She and her husband, who is an associate of Samuel Goldwyn, recently suffered a great sorrow in the loss of their daughter. But Mrs. Lehr never desisted in her work for others Recently she became interested in the plight of a musician who used to work in silent pictures. The man, with his wife and two children, have been living on a small orange ranch. There was no house on the property and, money gone, the family was camping.

Mrs. Lehr told others of the sad case. She got ready response. The other morning a caravan of cars descended upon the ranch. Inside were 50 studio workers. The party arrived at 6 a.m. It had been arranged for lumber to be on hand. Everyone started to work. A short time was taken out at noon for a picnic lunch. Then work began again. And so it happened that at 7 p.m. the musician and his family were looking at a house miraculously risen on their ranch.

How pleasant to report such deeds!

THE MARION

Nixon-Bill Seiter marriage may come off almost immediately or it may be delayed several months. Bill says he and Marion haven't got as far as naming the definite date. But they're in love—as if Hollywood needed to be told—and both are now free to marry. Laura La Plante's foreign divorce gave Bill the immediate right. And Marion's divorce from Eddie Hillman recently became final.

ONE OF THE

most ingenious mystery dramas of the season is "The Crosby Case," the Universal screenplay which opens an engagement at the Regent Theatre yesterday. Here is a picture which lays bare the inner workings of the New York Police Department, and follows the investigation of a crime in a manner which maintains the interest at fever heat.

In the role of Scotty Graham, suspected of a murder and apprehended by the police, Onslow Stevens remembered as the long-suffering playwright in "Once in a Lifetime" displays histrionic ability of a high order, and an earnestness which makes his character live on the screen. Similar praise goes to Wynne Gibson in the principal feminine part of Lynn Ashton, suspected of the same crime, and altogether lovely as a girl at bay. Alan Dinehart is especially convincing as the police inspector, and other important roles are finely played by Skeets Gallagher, William Collier, Sr., Warren Hymer, Edward Van Sloan and John Wray.

DOWN AT

Wilmington, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Company is building an exact replica of the ship described in "Mutiny on the Bounty". The vessel will be thoroughly seaworthy, as it will be sailed to Tahiti for the filming of the picture. Amusing to let the fancy play on this voyage. An ancient ship suddenly looming out of the mist before astonished eyes of a skipper on some tramp steamer's bridge.

Your Health

By DR. LOGAN CLENDENING

If you know from past experience that you are going to have hay fever, you have one of five choices in the way of management.

One, of course, is to lay in a good supply of handkerchiefs and just bear it.

Second is to attempt to prevent the attack by the use of vaccines of the pollens which are responsible. In order to do this you should engage the services of a physician early in the season, about June. He determines what pollen you are susceptible to. He does this by making solutions of the various pollens and injecting or scratching them into the skin. The skin will react with a red, raised wheal to the one which causes the hay fever. Vaccines of this pollen are then made and given hypodermically for several weeks before the advent of the hay fever season. This is the simplest form of the vaccine treatment; in certain complicated cases more extended—for instance, all year round—treatment must be undertaken.

Third is to take a vacation through the entire hay fever season, and remove yourself to a climate where the scourge rageth not. This course is, naturally, open to very few people.

Fourth is the use of air filters or air conditioned rooms. A filter placed in a window can be constructed so that it will remove all the pollen grains which come into the room. This, used in a bedroom, will give relief, according to experiments, in about 98 per cent. of cases. The same thing put in an office window will assure both day and night relief, with only slight possibilities of discomfort while outdoors.

The cost of these filters ranges from $34 up, so that they are really cheaper than a vacation or many other forms of treatment.

Fifth, if none of these things can be arranged, a great deal of relief will come from using certain substances in the eye and in the nose to keep down the irritation. Ordinary saturated boracic acid solution makes a good eye wash, and can be used freely also as a douche for the nose. Many people get relief from a preparation called "estivin", which is dropped in the eyes. Other remedies used in the same way are ephedrine, adrenalin and neosynephrin. When dropped in the eye, these solutions get to the nose through the lacrymal duct, and usually give relief to both places, although there is no reason why they should not be used both in the eye and nose.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

S. M.: "For five years I have had in my mouth fillings and inlays made of silver, gold and platinum. I would appreciate knowing your opinion on whether or not these various metals in one mouth would be likely in any way to cause even a slight disorder in the stomach or kidneys."

Answer: There is no danger of kidney or stomach disturbances from inlays of gold, silver or platinum. I do not believe there is any danger in having mixed inlays in the mouth.

Farmers Worried By Shipping Fever

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—(CP)—Concern is being felt among farmers throughout Canada over the losses sustained in what is known as "shipping fever," a disease which, overtaking cattle in transit, is rapidly fatal. The outbreak is being enquired into by the Department of Agriculture.

"Shipping fever" is a malady which has a particular virulence for cattle whose resistance has been weakeend, as it has this summer, by absence of proper fodder nourishment. Cattle transported in overheated box-cars, where, in high temperatures, they are crowded together are especially susceptible.

The investigation of the Agricultural Department officials will extend to the conditions under which

MISSION CIRCLE HOLDS SUCCESSFUL GATHERING

BURNBRAE, Aug. 16.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A most successful social evening and garden party was staged by the young ladies of St. Andrew's Mission Circle on the manse grounds here Friday evening. Visitors were present from a wide area, even as far away as Belleville, and were well rewarded for coming. A delightful lunch was served, after which the Rev. MacMillan conducted a brief but interesting program by local talent. The refreshment booth did a rushing business, particularly when the ice of cut prices dawned.

During the daylight hour preceding the social Mount Pleasant and Menie girls' softball teams played another snappy encounter. Menie could do everything but score counters, and as a result finished on the short end of a 19 to 5 count.

The manufacturers at London, Ontario, of Kellogg's Corn Flakes are proud in the knowledge that a Canadian product was requested by Their Majesties, according to the following item which appeared recently in the Toronto press, under the caption, "Dainty Dish Set Before a King": "The following is an excerpt from an Edinburgh paper at the time of a visit to Scotland by King George and Queen Mary.

"An urgent message was received by an Edinburgh firm the other evening. It requested that a packet of Kellogg Corn Flakes be sent to the Palace at Holyroodhouse. It had to reach the palace before 7 o'clock the following morning.

"At midnight, a wholesale house had to be opened up and the packet was dispatched to the palace by taxi.

"Holyroodhouse is the official residence of the King and Queen while in Scotland."

Fashion Service

Very like the well beloved wrap-over dress, so simple and comy to slip on when one is about the house, garden, porch, country or shore, is this dress. It has, however, just a little difference, which makes it much more interesting.

The raglan sleeves make it very easy to fashion. Another asset is that is opens out flat for pressing. Rever collar may also be self-fabric. You can, too, bind all the edges with a contrasting color.

Cottons such as dimity or lawn prints, ginghams, pique, checked or striped seersucker, etc., are all suitable for this model.

Style No. 3205 is designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch material with ¾ yard of 35-inch contrasting.

BE BEAUTIFUL

In past ages, lips have been a source of much tinkering for beauty's sake. Women of East Africa bored holes in their lips and inserted sharp wooden pegs to enhance their charms. Egyptian damsels used to wear precious stones embedded in their lips. And gals in Ethiopia were accustomed to puncture their lips and force brass hoops through them, in order to adorn themselves.

In this day and age, of course, all we gals want to adorn our lips is a charming smile. For we know that even the plainest of Plain Janes can make an engaging and attractive appearance if she has a pleasing smile. That doesn't mean, of course, that one must cultivate a professionally cheer grin. A perpetual smile becomes sort of mask-like and unnatural when viewed often enough. A smile's got to have sincerity behind it to be convincing. If a gal's got the makings of a charming person in her, her smile will naturally be sweet. And she won't have to force herself to make it convincingly so.

There are, of course, all sorts of smiles. There are joyous smiles, sad smiles, smiles of understanding, love, sympathy and gaiety. That sad little smile of Sidney Fox's, for instance, can just about break your heart. The seductive smile of Marlene Dietrich makes you feel most romantic. And that infectious, perky little smile of Dorothy Lee's can make you feel just every bit as gay and cheery as she does.

You don't have to have a tiny, rosebud mouth, either, to have an attractive smile. Look what Garbo did with the generous mouth that she possesses! Look at Bette Davis' mouth. Too large, critics often say, for her face. But once she gives you that lovely smile of hers, her mouth becomes one of her most charming features. Kay Francis, too, has anything but a tiny, Cupid's bow mouth. But there's character in her smile—and plenty of it. Any gal can have an attractive, charming smile if she knows how to cultivate it. And if you want the low-down on how to acquire such a smile—you'll find the details outlined in my next article.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Brown Spots

Hazel: To eradicate brown spots, so-called "liver spots", use a solution of hyposulphite of soda and water, one part of the chemical to eight parts of water.

Sunburn

Mrs. Allen: You will find a half-and-half mixture of linseed oil and lime-water a healing lotion when applied frequently to a sunburned skin.

Warts

Gertrude: Warts are caused by skin infection. It would be dangerous for you to attempt to remove them from your face yourself. See a skin specialist about them.

Mouth

S. P. B.: Apply a heavy coating of camphor ice, cold cream or lanolin to your mouth corners nightly before retiring. Try to keep a bit of grease on them during the daytime. This should help to eliminate the cracking.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

A MATTER OF PERSONAL TASTE.

There are many things in both bidding and play which are more matters of personal taste than questions of right and wrong. My own preference for an opening bid of South's hand would have been 1-heart, but many bidders still object to a call of a major suit of only 4 cards. South's preference was for 1-no trump, which nobody opposed. When North bid 2-clubs, South went 2-hearts, which seems odd as long as he would not make an opening bid of 1. His partner bid 3-hearts, which South shifted to 3-no trumps, and North did not disturb, knowing that a long and powerful suit would have been utilized for the opening call.

The opening lead was the 5 of diamonds. When dummy was boarded the declarer saw that he must play his best to fulfill his contract. Even then he would require some good luck to go game with so many high honors held adversely. Dummy played the 6. East's Q won the trick. He led back his 10, to avoid any possible block of the suit, also to show partner that South did not have so important a card. Dummy was in with the ace. West dropped the 3, showing that originally he held 5, unless he also had the 2.

The only 8 cards of a suit held by the declaring side were in clubs. About the only hope for game was finding West with the doubleton K of that suit. A low heart was led from dummy. Declarer's K won the trick. South led his lowest club. It is poor policy to lead a J toward an A-Q, with K-10-9 missing. The finessed Q held the trick. If the K did not fall there was little hope of going game. The ace of clubs was led. The K dropped from West's hand, establishing the suit. A low club forced East to put up his 10. The J won. West let go the 7 of spades. He discarded his 10 of spades when dummy won the last club trick. East let go the 2 of spades.

The seventh trick played, of which South had won 6. He required 3 more tricks for game. The ace of hearts and the A-Q of spades would give what he required. The question was whether he should finesse his Q of spades, hoping that East held the K, or should he throw West in. He had very little upon which to determine the answer. South's sole clue that West might hold the K of spades was East's discard of the 2. West's discard of the 7 and 10 might be masking his possession of the K. A heart was led. The ace dropped West's Q. Then South gave West his 3 diamond tricks, by leading his J. West had to give East 2 spade tricks on the return lead.

Menu Hint

Grapefruit Juice, Ice Cold
Veal Salad Creamed Potatoes
Butter Beans
Lemon Rice Pudding
Hot or Cold Tea

I served canned grapefruit juice the other hot night, with the juice of two limes added to the juice from the one can of grapefruit. Possibly this would make it too tart for your taste, so try it with one first. Lemon juice may, of course, be substituted for the lime.

Today's Recipes

Veal Salad, Serving Three.—One cup diced cooked veal, two hard cooked eggs, diced; one-half cup cooked peas, one-half cup chopped celery, two tablespoons chopped pimentos, two tablespoons chopped onions, two tablespoons chopped pickles, one-third teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, one cup salad dressing. Mix and chill ingredients. Serve on lettuce leaves.

Lemon Rice Pudding.—Cook one-third cup of rice in a pint of milk until very soft, then stir in one-fourth teaspoon salt, the yolk of one egg and one-half cup sugar, mixed together, and season with the grated rind of one lemon. Beat egg whites stiff, sweeten with confectioners' sugar, and one tablespoon lemon juice, top pudding with it, and brown in oven.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Novel Earrings

An ingenious and style-conscious woman writes: "I wanted some earrings out of the ordinary to match different dresses. Not wishing to pay very much, as they are a fad, I bought some 10-cent ones, soaked them in hot water over night and off came the button. I took a small file and filed down the point in the center, bought some very pretty buttons, three for 10 cents, and glued them on the earrings. I now have some very pretty earrings that are different from anybody's and at very small cost. I am trying this plan with different colors."

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Old things can renew their value when put to good use. The articles may have outgrown their first usefulness, but they may have a secondary place to fill successfully. While the second use may be a far cry from the original one, there should be nothing incongrous about it. Sometimes, in a desire to make the most of things, articles are put to amusing and absurd uses. To properly make the most of things there must be nothing inconsistent in the transfer. There are, of course, many things which are not convertible; but, even then, they may have some trifling value sold as junk. It is not these latter, however, that interest us just now, but the convertible things.

* * * * * *

There is one fine charity I know of, which is supported entirely by the income from discarded articles. Friends of the work send in all sorts of things from old shoes to handsome clocks, and beautiful things which they have ceased to care for, yet which they know will bring money to support the activity. They send these things in lieu of money, thereby relieving their homes of what they wish to discard, yet realizing they are good. Perhaps there is some such charitable work in your community. Many insignificant articles go to this little shop called the Salvage Shop, and it is surprising how they fill the needs of those who buy them.

* * * * * *

In the home there should be a sort of home salvage work going on all the time. Have you a velvet frock which you have worn until you are tired of it, or perhaps it has worn out in places. How about transforming it into sofa cushion covers, if you need them. Or you may need a runner for a living room table. Use the good length of the velvet for the runner and sew a border of fancy silk, embroidery, brocade or tapestry, on each end edging it with metal gimp. Line the runner. You will have a handsome table runner with the small outlay only for the border strips. This will be little as the amount of material required will be small. Or, you may have something that will be just the thing for the borders. Silk or satin can be used for these runners, if you have either material.

Beautiful bags can be the secondary use for good parts of frocks. The good parts of old linen sheets or dresses make material which is excellent for luncheon sets, napkins, tray cloths, etc. Picture frames make good rims for glass trays. Be sure to have them securely backed with wood to make them strong. Dishes are heavy and a tray must be substantial. In all these transformations the secondary use of the things is as consistent as the first.

Light Blue, Dotted

Light blue polka dot silk was chosen by Grace Bradley, motion picture player, for this semi-tailored street ensemble.

A tiny white turned-up hat, white gauntlet gloves and accessories are worn with the suit.

Encouraging Reports By Free Methodists

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 16.—(CP)—Reports of very encouraging nature on work being carried on in the various circuits, marked the opening session of the 39th conference of Free Methodist Church of Eastern Ontario here last night.

Bishop William Pearce of Titusville, Penn., presided over the gathering.

Rev. F. A. Daw, district elder of Uxbridge, was re-elected secretary and Rev. R. L. Casement of Bracebridge was re-elected as assistant secretary.

Laymen elected on stationary committee included D. J. Zurbrigg of Kingston, Johathan Sexsmith of the Peterborough district and George Fuller Sr., of the Toronto district.

Bishop Pearce gave a short address in which he instructed ministers on their work and dwelt on important points of their labor. William Hoover of Orillia is probably the oldest delegate at the conference. He is 80 years of age and in spite of his advanced years gave a splendid report from his district and is taking an active part in proceedings.

Employment in Austria increased eight per cent in a recent month.

Terriers Advance Into O.B.A.A. Semi-Finals

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

BILLY WOOLLATT the hustling manager of Thorncliffe racing plant is already busy getting everything in shape for the Fall meeting which opens on Saturday, September 8th. He was at Hamilton the other day exacting promises from horsemen to ship their charges to the popular Leaside plant. He is going to Stamford Park next week with the same idea in mind and also plans a trip to Saratoga and Detroit before the meetings close at these points. For some time the wise ones have been saying there would be a shortage of horses at Toronto for the Fall meeting but with dynamic Bill hitting on all cylinders it begins to look as if the difficulty will be overcome.

EDDIE SEAGRAM has been giving Young Kitty a nice rest after her very successful spring campaign when she never finished out of the money in twelve starts. She will start in again where she left off as she is by far the most consistent thoroughbred in our midst. He also expects his good sprinter Irish Kid to earn plenty of oat money from now on.

Chatmoss is at the same place and it is just a matter of time until he does a cake walk. The talent at Saratoga are crying out loud about the large number of favorites that have been taking it on the chin. In previous years at this track the public choices used to come home like trained pigs, but this year it is vastly different. A little bird whispers that Khorasan is going to crash the headlines one of these days at the new track at Providence. He was in grand shape when he left here and by now should be ready for any kind of company. Down there also is our old friend Tuffy G., who wakes up every once in a while and runs like Equipoise. His connections tell us they expect him to make history in the near future.

At Detroit, Art Halliwell seems to have a hard time of late in putting over a winner, but it will not surprise us in the least to see him gather in three or four in a row. He has Don Vern and Tarnish all steamed up and ready to go, besides several lesser lights. They are getting Stamford Park at Niagara all fixed up for the big opening on Saturday. Granite Rock who won his last on closing day at Hamilton has been shipped over with the rest of Willie Russell's string and should repeat on his very first start. Arthur Hullcoat who passed up the first Niagara meeting in order to give his charges a rest, has sent his entire string there this week.

JUVENILE PETES ELIMINATE OSHAWA KIDS FROM PLAYOFFS BY WINNING SECOND GAME 6-2

Wildness on Part of Hobbs, Motor City Starting Pitcher, Cost Them Victory.

NIP AND TUCK AFFAIR

Terriers Score Six Runs in Wild Fourth Frame—McIlmoyle Goes Route.

Eliminating Oshawa Juveniles, 6-2, in Riverside Park last night, Herb Ralph's local Terriers advanced into the O.B.A.A. semi-finals. A good-sized crowd saw a neat struggle between two classy juvenile outfits, with wildness on the part of Hobbs, starting pitcher for the visitors, costing them the game. Terriers scored all six runs in the fourth frame. Aside from this big inning, it was a nip-and-tuck affair.

Hobbs got by in good style the first two innings, but walked two in the third before the side was retired. He allowed three walks and two hits with none out in the fourth and was yanked in favor of Graham. The latter walked two more and was pulled. Normoyle took up the task then and pitched excellent ball the rest of the way, allowing only one hit. The Oshawa hurlers gave a total of but four hits, but handed out ten complimentaries. Their support was good.

McIlmoyle Goes Route

Jack McIlmoyle went the route for the homesters and pitched three-hit ball, no two to an inning. He settled away after a slightly shaky start and was unbeatable, besides getting good backing most of the way by his teammates. He fanned seven and issued three walks.

Dalton, Young and Brockman were the only visiting batsmen to hit safely, Young conking a triple. Vitarelli led the locals with two singles in four times, while G. Clark and Caccavelli got the others. Dalton starred at short for Oshawa, handling nine chances perfectly and twice taking hard catches going back over his head. Fair and Young also were good. For Terriers, Kingdon, Caccavelli and Thorburn went best, the latter playing a fine game at first. Starr's peg to third to nip a runner in the second was a feature.

Score First in Third

Oshawa's first run came in the third when Dalton singled, took second on an out, stole third and scored on an error. They got their other one in the eighth, Young tripling to the score-board and tallying on a miscue. Only four men reached third for them throughout.

Terriers did not get a man to third in any but the fourth inning when they scored six runs. Walks by Thorburn and Starr with a bunt hit by Caccavelli filled the sacks. Vitarelli's single scored two, and an error sent in another. A fielder's choice by O'Leary and McIlmoyle's walk loaded the bases again, and walks by G. Clark and Kingdon, with an out sent three more across, two of the runs being forced in.

In a recent traffic case in London it was decided that the yellow light on the traffic signal is a semi-colon instead of a full stop.

LOWLY BALTIMORE BIRDS TAKE 12TH FRAME 4-2 DECISION FROM THIRD PLACE LEAFS

Orioles Making Great Comeback Under Clever Leadership of Guy Sturdy.

STRATEGY COUNTS.

(By the Associated Press)

Baltimore Orioles are the "forgotten men" of the International League but the fact remains that they have shown amazing progress under the leadership of Guy Sturdy.

With virtually the same team that played .253 ball for managers Frank McGowan and Joe Judge the first three months of the campaign, Sturdy can point with legitimate pride to the .538 clip at which the Orioles have been travelling the last month.

Baltimore hit its seasonal "low" on July 14 when the Orioles, with 21 victories and 62 defeats, were in last play, 14 games behind seventh place Syracuse. To-day, as a result of a streak of consistent play which has brought them 21 victories against 18 defeats in the last month, the Orioles still were in the cellar but trailed Syracuse by only 5½ games, no mean accomplishment.

They won a 12-inning 4-2 decision over the third place Toronto Maple Leafs last night as Beryl Richmond gave the Leafs only four hits and fanned six. John Kroner's double, following a single by Keith Molesworth, a sacrifice by Richmond and a walk to Sturdy, produced the winning runs off Whitey Hilcher, who pitched the last four innings. Fred Blake struck out eight Orioles in the eight frames he worked.

HERD IN 5TH PLACE.

Newark, the league leader, accumulated 14 hits off Ray Fritz and trounced Montreal 9-1, Jess Hill, Bear's outfielder, went on a batting rampage with two doubles and three singles in five trips to the plate. Marvin Duke limited the Royals to five hits and blanked them until the eighth.

Buffalo took sole possession of fifth place, a game ahead of Montreal, by turning back Syracuse 7-6, although outhit 13-9. Home runs by Carnegie and McGowan, each with a man on, helped keep the bisons in front. Sarge Connally travelled the route for the winners although in constant trouble.

Good pitching by Lefty Michaels and Norbert Kleinke enabled Rochester to win two night games from Albany, 6-3 and 7-3 and cut Newark's lead to four games. Johnny Mize clouted a home run with the bases loaded to win the opener while the Wings clinched the second contest by hammering Johnny Milligan for six runs in the first two frames. Michaels gave eight hits in he first duel; Kleinke six in the second.

SOMERVILLE ADVANCES TO 4TH ROUND OF TITULAR GOLF PLAY FARLEY IS BEATEN BY GUILFORD

Ken Black, Vancouver Contender, Wins Close Match From Wright and Reith.

CARRICK OUT IN SECOND.

Five Americans Left in Sixteen Players Remaining in Competition.

LAVEL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 16 (C.P.).—Three rising stars in the Canadian golfing firmament flashed across the horizon yesterday, when the field in the Dominion amateur tournament was cut to sixteen players, ten Canadians, five United States players and H. J. Jukes from Cartagena, Colombia, S.A.

Ken Black, 22-year-old son of the famous Vancouver pro., Davy Black, eliminated on the nineteenth green, Fred J. Wright, Trapello, Mass., seven times amateur king of his State, in a see-saw battle, in which neither man was ever more than one up. Black advanced to the third round, where he beat Bobby Reith, Winnipeg, former Manitoba open and amateur titlist.

Guilford Beats Farley.

Another 22-year-old youngster, Phil Farley, Toronto, carried Jesse Guilford of Boston, 1921 United States amateur titlist, and former Walker Cup team member, to the twenty-second green before being eliminated from the third round. Farley was one over par for the 22 holes.

Jack Munger, Dallas, Texas, had to post sub-par figures to send to the sidelines a 20-year-old Montrealer, Jack Archer, in the third round. Fighting all the way, Archer was very much in the picture until he dubbed a drive at the seventeenth, losing 2 and 1 to the steady, experienced play of the Texan.

Two More Rounds Yesterday.

Two 18-hole rounds were played yesterday over the tricky, rolling, heavily wooded Laval course to cut the field from 64 to 16. Two more 18-hole rounds will follow to-day to reach the semi-finals Friday.

Albert ("Scotty") Campbell, of Seattle, who took the title to the United States last year for the second time, won his two rounds yesterday. In the morning he defeated John Nies, Boston, 4 and 3. Then the quiet, soft-spoken Pacific coast lad went on to his second win of the day over a fellow-countryman, eliminating G. H. Flynn of Oakmount, Pa., 4 and 3.

The main Canadian hope, C. R. ("Sandy") Somerville, London, Ont., kept pace with the field. In the morning he had his hands full eliminating young Bud Donovan, Winnipeg, who took him to the eighteenth green, losing 1 up before stepping to the sidelines. Somerville was two over par with a 73, the Winnipeg boy taking 75. Somerville eliminated Gordon Taylor, Jr., of Toronto, 6 and 5, in the afternoon.

Mel Rogers, the Ottawa figure skater, who also wields a better than average golf club, sprang one of the big upsets of the day when he eliminated Jack Cameron, of Montreal, in the third round. In the second he defeated Geoffrey Turpin, Montreal, grey-haired titlist of 1913.

To-Day's Draw

The draw for to-day's fourth round in the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship is as follows:

H. D. Jukes, Cartegena, Colombia, S.A., v. Jack Munger, Dallas, Texas.

Melville Rogers, Ottawa v. Jesse P. Guilford, Boston.

R. M. Somerville, London, v. Nicol Thompson, Jr., Toronto.

Henry Palm, Beverley, Mass., v. Ken Black, Vancouver.

Ernie Palmer, Winnipeg v. Jack Matson, Victoria.

Bob Proctor, Calgary, v. Gil Walker, Toronto.

W. A. Bush, Montreal, v. Fred Hoblitzel, Toronto.

Wilfred Crosley, Boston, v. Albert Campbell, Seattle.

ORPHANS EVEN FINAL SERIES ON 10-6 WIN

Winners Show Greater Power With the Willow to Connect For 14 Safeties.

SHINE GOOD ON MOUND.

Playing inning ball behind the superb pitching of Frank Shine, the Orphans last night came through in great style to thrill a huge mob of rabid fans when they trounced the Johnston Tire crew 10 to 6, to even up the series for the city championship, at the Central School grounds. This win makes another game necessary, and the two outfits will tangle tonight in order to be ready for Lindsay on Friday.

The Orphans showed greater power with the willow than their opponents and hammered out fourteen clean hits from the offerings of Elliott and Parsons who divided the hurling duties. Neither of these twirlers had much success in stemming the batting barrage of the Orphans. Parsons showed poor control in the last frame, when he walked in a run. Shine tossed them in for the Orphans, and gave his usual steady exhibition. He fanned three and allowed nine hits, which were well scattered.

Hits Two Circuits

Joe O'Toole playing right for the winners was the outstanding swat artist, connecting for two clean homers in four trips. On one of these he scored one other run. Max Board conked four singles in five trips to show the best average, while Bud Weese and Cliff Cadd, both connected twice. O'Toole's fielding performance drew the plaudits of the crowd, as he speared four hard hit flies, on the run. Hope at center made a great running catch in the fifth. Jim Ellis and Tom Montgomery secured the only extra base hits for the losers, both tripling. Crary singled twice in five tries. Dinty McQuade was the pick of the losers in the field, with Stanger and Crary also showing up well.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer, Softball, Bowling, etc.

By O.J.P.

The weather had better bet right this evening for the final men's softball game at six in Central. If it isn't, then the Orphans and Johnston's Tires are sort of in a jam. They've got to have a winner ready to play in Lindsay tomorrow, and with the Waifs snatching a 10-6 win last eve, the local playoff series is all tied up now at two wins apiece. They will play and settle it tonight, if at all possible—regardless of rain or darkness, up to a certain extent, anyway. And maybe the fans aren't going hot for this torrid serial! Every game is a wow—in fact, a flock of wows rolled into one! Better start tonight's again sharp on time.

• • • • • •

Mister Frank Shine, the boy wonder of the Orphans' hurling staff, was presented with the Cowan Cup for being the most valuable player in the league this summer. He was miles ahead of the rest and easily rated it. The crowd gave Frank a mighty ovation that lasted several minutes. He pitched another smart game last night and had good support afield and at bat to grab the duke. O'Toole, in particular, aided muchly with two homers and a bunch of grand catches in and around right field. Hope also caught a nifty one. Parsons replaced Elliott on the other mound and went okay at first, but the Waifs got to him for four markers and the win the last two canoe.

• • • • • •

There will be a City Baseball League meeting this e'en at eight bells in Duffus'. Officers, team managers, bantam players, and others interested are requested to attend. It's important that the managers and players on the bantam squads be on hand. Several matters of interest to those named will come up.

• • • • • •

Terriers advanced to the O.B.A.A. juvenile semi-finals here last night by knocki... off Oshawa, 6-2. They had won the first game in the Motor City, 7 to 5. The Ralph squad will probably have to wait a week or two now before they tangle with the Toronto winners. A pretty fair crowd, maybe three hundred, watched the kids' tangle in Riverside, and it would undoubtedly have been twice as big but for the interesting men's softball playoff at Central. Those who did go saw a nice battle with the locals winning on complimentaries in one frame.

• • • • • •

Jack McIlmoyle held the visitors to three hits and fanned seven, going good all through. He put himself in a few holes at the start but got out okay. Oshawa used three flingers, Normoyle being the best. Hobbs walked a flock in the fourth, which with a couple of timely clouts, gave Terriers their six runs. The locals' fielding was very good, too, except for a few boots. They didn't do much hitting but didn't need to, what with so many Annie Oakleys. The fielding of Dalton at short for the losers was worth watching, and this kid will no doubt be heard of plenty in a few more years. 'Twas a neat tussle.

• • • • • •

Oshawa played in Kingston last gloaming and lost the first end of a double-header, 2-1, in eleven frames; but came back to cop the second one by a 3-1 score. Both were fine hurling duels, but the split verdict practically washed up both teams' chances of grabbing a C.O.B.L. playoff berth. It's still a mathematical possibility but pretty slim. Both teams now have eight wins and eleven losses and are three full games back of the Nats and Petes. Oshawa have five more to play and Kingston four besides a tie game. Belleville goes to Oshawa Saturday and has three more tilts, with two ties. The Petes play four more regular contests, besides a possible tie replay.

Some fun in the Southend League last evening. The sudden-death game to decide second place in the half wound up in the fifth inning with Albions leading Orioles, 18-3. The umpire called the game and awarded it to Albions 'cause the Birdmen were stalling to the point of making a farce of the tussle. They were warned but persisted. The protest committee after the game upheld the umps and Prexy McFadden resigned after a hot argument with the Oriole manager. Albions and Nationals meet in a sudden-death game Monday night, the winner meeting Orioles Tuesday and Thursday next week in a two-out-of-three serial. But dope on these playoffs appear elsewhere.

A large entry of harness horses is expected for the three-day meet at the local Exhibition next week. They race Thursday, Friday and Saturday for purses totaling twelve C's—okay, twelve hundred to you. Entry is free. The dope is listed in a separate story in today's sheet. Williamson of Toronto will be here with his horses; Lou Bennett of Port Hope will have a string of five along—including Walter Stone; Litt of Goderich will bring Bedford Grattan, Toronto Futurity winner last year; and a number of others well-known around the circuit.

YANKS BREAK TIGER STREAK AT NEW YORK

Johnny Broaca Pitches Effectively Against Leaders in Pinches.

BRIDGES BATTED OUT.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
[Associated Press Sports Writer]

All good things, according to time-honored tradition, must eventually come to an end, and that includes the remarkable winning streak which carried Detroit Tigers pennantward for more than two weeks.

After 14 consecutive triumphs, the Tigers found the end of their streak yesterday when the Yankees and young Johnny Broaca subdued them 8-3 in the third game of their highly important set of five. As a result the Detroit lead had been reduced to 5½ games to-day despite the double triumph which marked the opening Tuesday. And the Yankees' position looked far less hopeless as they moved into the fourth contest with two more of the younger generation of hurlers, Johnny Murphy and Elden Auker, slated for mound duty.

Control in Pinches

Broaca, although he allowed 10 hits, had control yesterday and Tommy Bridges, who opposed him, did not. That was the deciding factor of the contest. In the first two innings Bridges gave three walks and two of them resulted in runs when Ben Chapman followed with a single in the first and Frank Crosetti clouted a home run in the second. The Yanks went on to get two more runs before Tommy retired at the end of five innings and to rake his two successors, Carl Fischer and Luke Hamlin, for three more tallies.

Meanwhile Broaca didn't issue a pass, scattered the 10 hits over six separate innings and got some great support from Babe Ruth on the one occasion when he got into serious trouble. With the Tigers threatening to stage one of their typical comebacks rallied in the sixth, the Babe fielded Charley Gehringer's drive fast to delay one run and made a great running catch of Hily Roggell's fly to help shut off the uprising with only two runs.

CLERKS ALMOST CINCH PLAYOFFS

Hay Crew Takes 8-3 Decision From Dramatics in Hastings League.

LEAD FROM START.

HASTINGS, Aug. 16 (Examiner Correspondent).—Dr. Hay's Clerks just about clinched a berth in the play-offs of the local Softball League on Wednesday night when they defeated Dramatics 8 to 3 before a big crowd. Gordie Gibson for the Dramatics pitched good enough ball to chalk up a win, but his support was in and out. He had five strikeouts to his credit. The Clerks perhaps played their best game of the season, and with Whitred in rare form, the losers found the path from third to the plate a hard one to get to.

Clerks—Kelley ss, Hill cf, Stevenson lf, Wilson 1b, Hay 2b, Smith 3b, Crate rf, Whitred p, Beavis c.

Red Sox Enter Pact With Syracuse Chiefs

ROCHESTER, N. Y., August 16.—Announcement has been made by Tom Yawkey and Eddie Collins of the Boston American League Club that they have entered into a working agreement with Syracuse of the International League for 1935. The agreement was reached here Tuesday at a conference between Yawkey, Collins and Jack Corbett, president of the Syracuse Club.

In making the announcement Collins said:

"I think the agreement will be of benefit to both clubs."

At the same time, Collins said the Red Sox had recalled Johnny Marcum, left-handed pitcher, from the Chiefs.

Italy will continue this year its system of withholding part of its grain crops from the market until consumption requires the release, this being done to keep up prices.

Below Are just some of the main things that appealed to us as an interested spectator:

]:[

And Was it a grand tournament—we ask you—we ask everybody. Rain or shine, the boys carried on just the same.

]:[

About All some of the boys got out of the tournament was a souvenir pin.

]:[

Nelson Bentley was the last entry in and the first out.

]:[

The Only Reason that Jack Sedgewick didn't lose four games was that there were only three competitions.

]:[

And Did "Shorty" Little talk a wonderful game.

]:[

The Ladies kept the boys in humor by feeding plenty and often.

]:[

The Visitors took every cup away but the one that hangs by the pump.

]:[

There Is No Truth in the rumor that the Coleman family is going to take to canoeing—somebody was just having some fun.

Tennis Results

The men's doubles finals of the city tournament was not completed last evening, darkness interfering with the count 3-all in the fifth set. It will be finished at five to-night at the Kawartha Club, the veterans, Donaldson and Bell, surprised their younger opponents, Cotton and Cowling, to play on even terms for the evening. The latter pair started off brilliantly, forcing the play by rushing the net and keeping Donaldson and Bell on the defensive with their well-placed volleys and hard smashes. But the others put up a stubborn resistance to hold their first three services, Cotton and Cowling then broke through service and led, 5-3, with Cotton serving when they cracked and their opponents won five out of the next six games and the first set, 6-3.

The younger players continued their hard-hitting and got a 2-0 lead in the second set but again their rivals played steadily and effectively to win the second set, 6-3. Facing defeat, Cotton and Cowling steadied themselves and played carefully to take the third set, 6-2. In the fourth, the rallies were very long, neither side taking many chances with hard hitting. At 3-all, Donaldson and Bell faltered and the other pair took the set at 6-3. The veterans rallied strongly to take the first three games in the fifth set but weakened as the light became bad and the match was called with the games 3-all.

In mixed doubles semi-finals, Miss G. Carvolth and Jack Kirkwood defeated Miss H. Jackson and Walter Jackson, 6-4 and 6-2.

All fees by tournament players should be paid right away as prizes must be bought yet, and those in arrears are requested to arrange this matter with J. Kirkwood at 320 Maitland avenue.

Travis Jackson, Giants and Waite Hoyt, Pirates—Jackson made three hits in first game; Hoyt limited Giants to eight in second and fanned five for third victory in four days.

Frank Crosetti, Yankees—Led attack on Tigers with three hits, including homer, and three runs.

Ralph Boyle, Dodgers, and Adam Comorosky, Reds—Former hit triple, two doubles and two singles in doubleheader; latter made four singles in opener.

Babe Walberg, Red Sox, limited Browns to five hits.

Draw Announced In Kawartha Golf

The draw has been made for a qualifying round for the Kawartha Club golf championship, and members are asked to have this round played off by August 26th. Medal play, 18 holes, and no handicaps. The lowest scores will be taken and these players will playoff for the club title. If members cannot play as drawn, they will arrange to play with another member but they must get a marked card from the Caddie Master before starting. Those who play and fail to qualify will be immediately eligible to enter a Consolation Cup competition, details of which will be given out later. Only those who have turned in cards will be accepted for either competition. The Tournament Committee requests full co-operation. Following is the qualifying draw:

Ponies And Oshawa Split Double Bill

KINGSTON, Aug. 16.—Kingston Ponies and Oshawa Dukes both saw their chances of finishing in a playoff position in the Central Ontario Baseball League practically vanish here yesterday as the teams split a double-header, Kingston winning the afternoon game 2 to 1 in 11 innings and Oshawa taking the twilight affair by 3 to 1.

Both games were smart pitching battles, with Jamieson and St. Louis having the edge over their opponents. In the afternoon Oshawa got a run on two hits in the sixth, and Kingston tied it with a walk, a single and an outfield out. In the 11th Scrutton and Foxton singled, Arniel walked to fill the bases with two out, and Smith drove out a single to win the game.

Errors gave the Dukes the nightcap, all three runs coming in the fifth on three singles and three errors. After that the Dukes were held hitless until the end. Kingston scored their run on a walk and Foston's hit. The splitting of the double-header left Kingston and Oshawa each with eight wins and 11 losses, three full games behind peterborough and Belleville.

BOWMANVILLE 9; PORT HOPE 2

BOWMANVILLE, Aug. 16.—Bowmanville advanced into the Lake Shore League playdowns last night when they administered a 9 to 2 trouncing to the Port Hope nine. Six errors, three by Secondbaseman Brown, left the visitors hopelessly beaten, despite the fact that they outhit the locals, 9 hits to 5. Both Brokenshire and Len Wakely pitched for Port Hope, but with poor support in the field failed to make much impression.

CHAPTER 15

There had been another day when Joan had come, and there had been trouble in her face. She had sat very still in a corner where she was screened from customers by a bookcase, and had let Giles talk to her. And it seemed to him that half of the time she did not listen.

At last he had said, "Tell me."

"Tell you what?"

"The thing that is on your mind."

"How do you know there is something on my mind?"

"You have lost your—radiance."

Her voice was very low—"Perhaps I shouldn't speak of it. But you are my friend . . ."

"You know I am."

"It's because I'm not used to things I suppose—but it hurts me to share Drew with . . . other people . . ."

He had known she meant with "other women." He had recognized Hallam's type, had seen him now and then with a tall girl in an orange cap. "Does he ask you to share him with—other people?"

"Oh, he laughs at me if I protest. He says it doesn't mean anything . . ." she caught herself up. "Oh, I must'nt . . . I mustn't speak of it . . . even to . . . you . . ."

He had seen her distress, and had said, gently, "What you say to me is sacred. You know that?"

"Yes."

He had let his hand rest for a moment on her shoulder. Then they had talked of other things.

Giles, going now up the lighthouse stairs, thought of those meetings. He thought, too, of the words he had written in his journal—If I saw a ship headed for the rocks! Some way must be found to save Joan's little ship of life. But as yet he had not found it.

They came at last to the top of the spiral staircase, and there was the light, its prisms catching the rays of the afternoon sun, its brasses gleaming, and on all sides blue skies, blue seas, and gulls flying. William explaining the mechanism of the lamp was at his best. "My grandfather tended the Granitehead light and my father. Things were more dangerous then, and the work harder, but the light was always a living thing to them as it is to me."

They stood looking down now from that great height to where Dilly's orange umbrella was like a mushroom on the sands. Near the umbrella, Dilly, feeding her hens, was dwarfed to the stature of a doll. The baby in her pink dress might have been a rosebud tossed up by the waves.

Along the road which led across the moor and thence to the houses of the summer colony and to the causeway which connected the mainland and the end of the peninsula, a car was coming. It was running at high speed and seemed to the watching eyes of the people in the tower like a mechanical toy wound up and working like mad.

William said: "Not many cars come this way. It may be some one who wants to see the light."

"Shall we go down?" Giles asked.

William looked once more from the window. "Dilly's there," he said. "She'll show them the way."

Dilly having fed her hens had turned at the sound of the motor, and had seen the car stop in front of the orange umbrella. A woman's voice said: "Think of serving tea in these solitudes."

And a man's voice, "Why not, Rose? Isn't tea served everywhere?" He leaned out and spoke to Dilly. "We'd like to go up in the lighthouse. Are visitors allowed?"

She said: "Yes. My husband is over there now with some people. You will find him at the top if you don't mind climbing the stairs alone."

She went over to the lighthouse and opened the door for them, and as they began to ascend she stood watching them. She thought to herself that the woman was handsome in that orange cap, and the man was good-looking.

Their voices echoed and re-echoed. Then at last they were silent, and the echoes ceased.

Half way up the lighthouse stairs, Rose had complained of dizziness. "I'll have to sit down a moment, Drew. This is dreadful."

He was just above her, leading the way. "I'm sorry. Perhaps we shouldn't have started."

"Oh, that's all right. I'll be ready to go on in a minute."

Looking down at her, he laughed, "Shall I hold your hand?"

"It wouldn't be the first time."

Their eyes met. Then Rose said, slowly, "Do you remember, Drew, that old tower in France? This makes me think of it."

So that was why she had stopped on the stairs! He had thought it strange. Rose had, as a rule, a steady head. As for the old tower, there had been a romantic moment. But it belonged to the past. And the past was dead. There must be no revival now of the burned-out ashes of an ancient fire.

Yet he let himself say, "I remember. It was a high moment, Rose."

She looked up at him. "Are we never to capture it again?"

"How can we?"

"We might . . ." There was a long silence, out of which she said, feeling her way, "But I mustn't poach on your little Joan's preserves, must I?"

He thought it extremely bad taste for her to bring Joan's name into it. "Why should you think you could poach on her preserves?"

"Sometimes I have fancied she was a bit jealous, Drew."

"Of you?"

"Yes."

"She needn't be."

"Flatterer."

"Oh, well, you know what I mean, Rose. You and I like the game and we play it. But Joan is—different. She is mine in a way that very few women are in these days to men they are going to marry. She never sees anyone else, never thinks of anyone—but me."

"And you aren't bored by it?"

"Not at all."

Rose's chin went up. "It may not bore you now. But it will, some day."

"I think not. You see I'm rather sold to the idea that she's the last and best, Rose."

It was a brutal thing for him to say, and he knew it. But . . . she had brought it on herself . . .

It was then that the echo of their voices had ceased. Rose, staring up at the snake-like evolutions of the stairway, had broken the silence: "You go to the top. I'll stay here."

"Oh, come along . . ."

"No," petulantly, "I like my own company best."

He knew Rose's moods. She wanted to be coaxed back to good temper. To have him sit on the stairs beside her, and play the game. But he didn't want to play it. Not here, in the dimness and silence . . . and with the memory of those moments in the old tower.

So he said: "I'll run on and be down again before you know it."

He did not run, however, as fast as he had anticipated. The stairs were steep. He was out of breath as he ascended the last of them and emerged into a dazzling glass-enclosed space, which looked out on sea and sky, and gave one a sense of sailing in some celestial ship straight through the blue.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, August 17

Although there may be some dubious or adverse conditions to cope with on this day, judging by the lunar aspects, yet on the whole there are definite signs of much initiative, constructive work and progress, with a fair degree of prosperity and increased fortunes. The afflicted circumstance may be a bit of slander, or gossip, or mayhap the loss of a document, but the offsetting aspect shows gain through friends of prestige and power, and also a profitable and aggressive assault on new undertakings of scope and importance. Rings, combines and secret societies will be found approachable on these projects for advancement.

Prosperous Year

Those whose birthday it is, although possibly concerned by some loss of not major importance, or by a sting of gossip or slander, on the whole may look for a prosperous year, with important projects flourishing and with the co-operation and friendship of those in power and prestige, large corporations, rings or secret bodies also offering friendly support. Hard work and enterprise merit these.

A child born on this day should be practical, aggressive, enterprising and should gain the support and friendship of those in power.

FACTORY WORKERS ON TEN-HOUR DAY

McDonald Lumber Company to Supply Pews for New Jewish Synagogue.

Claiming that his firm is handling twice the volume of work they were a year ago and that prospects for the immediate future are brighter than they have been for some time, Claire McDonald, plant manager of The Alfred McDonald Lumber Company, announces the plant is now operating to a 10-hour day schedule.

In proof of his claim Mr. McDonald escorted an Examiner reporter through the plant, where twenty-five hands are finding full time employment. Three new hands were added this week when the plant started working an extra hour per day on Monday last.

The sash and door factory and the cabinet making department are particularly busy spots in the life of the organization at present. Sashes and doors are now in course of manufacture for five houses being built locally on which the McDonald Company has secured the woodworking contracts, while in the cabinet department one of the largest contracts in recent months is being handled. The contract is for the pews in the new Jewish Synagogue on Aylmer street and is regarded by the first "as a large order for this time of the year," according to Mr. McDonald.

The pews are being made under the able foremanship of R. F. Roode. They are being executed in Elm grown in the district and milled by the McDonald Company. In pattern they conform to usual church design, with moulded panels. The contract calling for completion by the end of the present month includes the numbering of the seats by the McDonald Company, Albert V. Shadgett will do the staining.

Mr. Roode substantiated Mr. McDonald's claim as to improved business conditions, and spoke optimistically of prospects for the immediate future in the trade. He pointed out that cabinetmaking under which classification, manufacture of the pews would come, is not new to the McDonald Company, although it is the first order of its kind to have been handled in some months, and is regarded as an encouraging sign.

Bethany

On Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 8th, Mrs. Kenneth Thorndyke, received for the first time since her marriage, at her home on Wilson street. She was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Alva Thorndyke. Assisting in the tea room were: Gladys Wright, Pauline Thorndyke and Miss Holden.

Decoration services were held at Fallis' cemetery on Sunday at two o'clock. Rev. James McMullen of Belleville delivered the address. The Bethany band was in attendance and the following people from a distance were present: Mr. and Mrs. William Whitfield, Mr. and Mrs. George Whitfield and Mr. and Mrs. Robinson of Monaghan, William Porteous, Nestleton, Mrs. Hugh Logan and Mrs. Jackson, Miss N. Fallis, Laura Hutchison of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Cooke, Newcastle; Mr. and Mrs. Todd of Newtonville; Harry Sandy, Omemee; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fallis, Millbrook; Irene and Edna Fallis, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. McKnight, Millbrook; Mrs. Joseph Thompson, Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Spalding of St. Thomas, are guests of Lottie Reynolds, and attended the divine service at St. Paul's Anglican church on Sunday.

On Friday evening a large concourse of people assembled at the town hall to tender a slight token of esteem to the worthy young couple whose marriage was solemnized recently at St. Paul's church, Mr. and Mrs. K. Thorndyke. An address was read by Everett Dawe and the presentation of the gifts was made by Carl Smith and Roy Mack. Mr. Thorndyke replied suitably. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ward, South Line, a daughter.

South-End Review

Stalling tactics by the Orioles caused their game with Albions last night to be called in the fifth inning by the umpire, the contest being awarded to Albions when the other team refused to take warning. The Orioles were trailing, 18-3, at the time and they threw the ball all over the place to delay it, while the Albions were fanning on everything to hurry it up—making a farce of the affair.

The game did not start till 6.45 due to Albions' late arrival. Waterman was hit hard while Cavanagh held the Orioles in subjection. At a heated loop meeting after, the protest committee upheld the umpire. President Harry McFadden resigned following a warm argument with the Orioles' manager.

Thursday's sudden-death game between Albions and Nationals to decide second place in the playoffs has again been postponed to allow the O.A.S.A. juniors a chance to practise together. This game will be held Monday night. The winner then meets Orioles in a two-out-of-three series, starting Tuesday. In the event of a National win Monday, the Albions, first-place team in the first half, will commence a two-out-of-three series with Cogs, who finished first in the other half, Friday, Aug. 24th.

All the playoff games will be played in the Brinton field and teams are asked to note that the games are definitely called for six p.m. sharp.

CAN'T TAKE IT

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 16 (CP) — American tourists are taking anything but kindly to the change in exchange situation which results in discount of United States funds, according to service station attendants. Some stores and merchants are charging about four or five per cent, and the tourists in some cases object strenuously. Banks are discounting money from across the line, and merchants have no option but to do likewise.

Electric Maidens Win In Exhibition

C.G.E. girls battled the Bailleboro team last night at the Ashburnham Bowl, and eased out a neat 12-11 victory after nine innings of close ball. They chased over the winning counters in their last time at bat when Helen Newson, S. Martin and M. Snowden all singled and scored on infield outs.

Marg. Snowden did the hurling for the winners with Roberta Wood on the mound for the visitors. The latter showed a deceptive style, and plenty of control, allowing just two free passes. Both teams booted the ball considerably, and C.G.E. outfield made several glaring errors.

The teams:

Bailleboro—P. Carl, 3b; A. Barnard, c; R. Wood, p; M. Whittington, cf; D. Dowson, 2b; M. Wood, 1b; K. Smith, lf; T. White, ss; I. Campbell, rf.

Mass Appeal of Such Proportions Never Been Made Before.

NO VOICE OF OPPOSITION.

Faith in Hitler Only Solution Thousands of Posters Blare.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (C.P. Cable)--"Deutschland dein fuehrer ruet"--"Germany, thy leader calls." So in streaming red headline the official Nazi organ, the Voelkischer Beobachter, yesterday led its first page. The campaign for Sunday's plebiscite to put the stamp of public approval on Adolf Hitler's move in combining his office of chancellor with that of the Reichs-president is on in full blast, even if there is no opposition.

Hitler is calling in no uncertain voice. Even in this land of mass appeals there has been no such mass appeal before. In last November's plebiscite the Hitler government appealed on the slogan of "peace, honor and equal rights," now the appeal is personal for Hitler himself.

Crossing the frontier from Austria, where vigorous anti--Nazi propaganda is in progress, the first thing catching the eye is a poster proclaiming that the whole people on Aug. 19 will say "Yes." It quotes Bismarck, that lying in the centre of Europe Germany must be more united than other nations, if the sacrifices of the past are not to have been made in vain.

Prophecy Coming True

Germany is told that for the first time Hitler has made Bismarck's prophecy come true. He is shown as a workman adding bricks to the German wall. Under the caption, "Leader of the Germans," he is shown receiving the salute of packed masses with upraised right arms.

No voice is raised either in opposition or in public criticism. The slogan is "One Reich, One United People, One Leader." It's a one-way plebiscite.

Dr. Frick, the Minister of the Interior, declares that under the general authority given by the Reichstag, the German Government could without a plebiscite have adopted the law uniting the Chancellory with the Presidency. But in urging consultation of the people by plebiscite, Hitler had shown himself "a better democrat than so-called democrats who only talk of the people's will," he declared.

The Minister of Justice, Dr. Frank, points out to German jurists they have sworn fidelity to Hitler as the leader and Chancellor. "Be mindful of your oath," he urges. "Be mindful of the exhortation of Hindenburg, the hero of Tannenberg."

Day of Destiny

Forty million electors are reminded that Germany faces a day of destiny. If this law is sanctioned, declares Dr. Otto Dietrich, Nazi press chief, "then the German people will out of itself have created a German leader-state. It means realization of the idea for which the German people have striven for a thousand years. It means that through Adolf Hitler a true German state is consummated—a state which rests not on bayonet points but in the hearts of the German people. It will be a witness before the whole world that the German people are embodied in Hitler, because in him and his personality they have again found themselves."

A reporter from the Nazi organ gathered the views of the "Man in the Street." He saw a workman with two children sitting on a bench waiting for an underground train. The workman had a paper under his arm. "Let's see again," his children are quoted as asking. "Daddy opens his parcel and shows two pullovers. 'Yes, buying again,' he tells the reporter."

"'In two years without work the little folks' clothes were worn out. Now with pay every week we are slowly putting them into shape. He departs with a friendly 'Heil Hitler'."

So Germany goes to the polls.

DAFOE HOSPITAL MAY GET HYDRO

Gov't Considers Cost—Sends Surveyor—Special Care Against Prowlers.

HOME LIGHTED ALL NIGHT.

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 16 (CP).--Every precaution is being taken by authorities to guard against prowlers or other unwanted visitors at the cottage housing the famous Dionne quintuplets.

The little frame home, nestled in the woods along the winding bush road leading from Callander to Corbeil, was illuminated for the first time last night, and an all-night vigil was maintained as usual by the special guard. Four gasoline lanterns hung from the corners of the home, as directed by W. H. Alderson, Red Cross executive, and one of the legal guardians of the 70-day-old sisters.

Appeal has been made to the Government for installation of a Hydro-Electric power line in the isolated area, and a Hydro official already has made a survey over the bush route leading to the new "Dafoe hospital," named in honor of Dr. A. R. Dafoe, the babies' physician.

Work Being Rushed.

Construction work on the hospital is being rushed so the children may be moved into larger and more up-to-date quarters, which will be their home until they no longer require constant care of doctors and nurses.

Dr. Dafoe appealed for the Hydro line so his hospital equipment could be brought up to date and every care given the children, still living in little incubator homes.

"The Government is favorable to the suggestion of installation," said Mr. Alderson, "but it is a matter of expense. I'm expecting word of the decision any day now."

Manufacturing companies continue to donate various equipment, said Mr. Alderson, announcing arrival of five little metal beds for the new hospital, woollen blankets, tiny mattresses, and it is expected glass partitions will surround the children's quarters.

JOHN LABATT IS RELEASED

To-day

Short News Items Received By Examiner Over Direct C. P. Wire.

TORONTO.—A car occupied by Inspectors Charles Gurnett and Lougheed, of the Provincial Police, working on the Labatt kidnapping case, collided late last night with an automobile driven by Mrs. Warren Snyder, wife of Dr. Warren Snyder, former Toronto University football star. Mrs. Synder suffered a broken ankle.

MANCHESTER, England.—The new Australian duties on cotton goods are held to be a breach of the Ottawa trade agreement between Canada and the United Kingdom, in a statement issued here to-day by the joint committee of the cotton trade organizations.

BRANTFORD.—Thieves who robbed the general store of R. H. Benson at Port George last night were very careful. They took off a steel plate from the door, then pried out the plate glass without breaking it, laid it carefully to one side, entered through the space, and then helped themselves to one brand of cigarettes, (others being left untouched), two pairs of shoes, a shirt and socks.

STRATFORD.—Albert Woods, Fullarton farm hand, pleaded guilty here to-day to the theft of a diamond ring from his employer, Mrs. Francis Morris. He was remanded for sentence.

WINDSOR, Ont.—Harry Styles, 54, was admitted to hospital to-day, suffering from back injuries sustained when struck by a hit-run motorist. His back is believed to be broken. Police have no clues on which to work, as no person witnessed the crash.

STRATFORD.—Charged with disorderly conduct as a result of last night's fracas in Lakeside Park when a crowd of citizens broke up a meeting called by the Furniture Workers' Union, six local men appeared in police court here this morning. Five pleaded guilty and sentence was suspended. The sixth pleaded not guilty and after hearing the evidence the charge was dismissed.

SUDBURY.—Struck by a piece of rock while blasting on the trunk highway near Wahnapitae yesterday afternoon, Pasve Lahti, Coniston, received a fractured skull, from which he died in St. Joseph's Hospital, Sudbury, last night. Lahti was well known here as a marathon runner.

KINGSTON — John Byers, Art Teacher at Fort William vocational school is engaged in carving in granite at Abbey Dawn sanctuary, five miles east of here, a memorial to the late Robert Nelson, noted Canadian wild flower artist.

The memorial will be located on the property of Abbey Dawn, owned by Wallace Havelock Robb, poet and naturalist.

HAMILTON — Pleading guilty to two charges of burglary, Thomas Durant, Brockville, was remanded until Thursday for sentence in magistrates court this morning. Accused was arrested after he had entered a house on Ray street, north, and stolen a quantity of liquor and a variety of jewelry. He later stole a revolver from a Charlton Avenue house. Further charges may be preferred.

GIVEN FREEDOM NEAR TORONTO

Wealthy Brewer Joins Brother in Royal York, Rests Hour, Drives Home.

PALE AND HAGGARD.

Family, Relatives Silent on Whether $150,000 Ransom Paid or Not.

(By the Canadian Press)

John Labatt, millionaire brewer, was released by his abductors on the outskirts of Toronto early today and was driven to London, Ont., where he joined his family at 5.30 a.m. E.D.T. it could not be learned whether all or any part of the $150,000 ransom demanded was paid.

Details of his release were few but it was established that after he was given his freedom he was driven to the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, where he joined Hugh Labatt, his brother. He stayed in the hotel an hour and then drove to London with Hugh to join his wife and three children.

The freed brewer went to bed a few minutes after he reached his brother's apartment in London and the family refused any information. He was nervous and overwrought from his 67 hours as captive. He was in good health.

Police were ignorant of the release negotiations until after Mr. Labatt had been freed. His friends conducted the matter without advising authorities of their plans. Provincial and Toronto and London police heads immediately threw all their resources into the hunt for the kidnappers. Inspector John Miller of the Ontario force sped from Toronto to London as soon as the release became public. It was reported he would attempt to interview John Labatt as soon as he awoke in the hope of obtaining a lead that would put police on the trail of the criminals.

NO RANSOM PAID TO GAIN RELEASE OF JOHN LABATT

Kidnappers Got "Cold Feet" Canadian Press Reliably Informed.

POLICE ON HEELS.

Most Angles in Dominion's Most Sensational Case Still Unsolved.

TORONTO, Aug. 17 (CP) —Not one cent of ransom was paid for the release of John Labatt from his kidnappers, the Canadian Press learned from a reliable source to-day. It was stated the abductors got "cold feet" annd released the wealthy brewer on the outskirts of Toronto early to-day. He hailed a taxi and was driven to his brother's hotel. He was blindfolded all the time he was held, the informant said.

Labatt returned to his London family unharmed 65 hours after he was taken from his car between Sarnia and London Tuesday, released when the kidnap gang, apparently convinced police were closing in, decided to abandon their attempt to extort $150,000 and to cover their tracks as best they could.

Friend Gives Details.

The fact no money had been paid over was learned by the Canadian Press to-day from a source close to the Labatt family. While 65-year-old John Labatt slept, the victim of nervous exhaustion at the home of his brother Hugh in London, Hugh also was sleeping, after more than two days of feverish activity in the effort to assure John's release.

It was not until after 5:30 a.m., E.D.T. that it was learned definitely John Labatt had come to the hotel here. A few scattered guests who rad they were within hearing distance of a stranger when he entered, asserted they heard him say "I am John Labatt; will you take me to my brother?"

The desk man, they said, apparently thought it was a joke, but ushered the visitor into the executive offices, whence the party went upstairs, after dashing across the lobby to a freight elevator.

One of the chief mysteries incidental to the whole puzzling case was the relation between family and police in the effort to solve it. Late Tuesday Hugh Labatt conferred with various police officials, but the conference story was not then made public at the request of Chief Constable Draper, later police inspectors were in and out of Hugh's suite at the hotel, but whether the kidnapped man's brother took them fully into his confidence as far as negotiations for release were concerned was not known.

Full Co-operation

It was certain, however, that with the release effected, police were pushing their efforts to bring the abductors to justice, and the presence at the Hugh Labatt home in London of Inspector John Miller of Criminal Investigation Department served to indicate full co-operation existed between th e family and authorities.

While every effort was being made by Hugh Labatt, brother of the kidnapped man, his solicitors and friends, to get in touch with them, the kidnappers decided they

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 17.—(CP) — John Labatt was in bed under a physician's care this afternoon and will likely remain so for a day or two; but no one outside his immediate family has seen him since his announced return from the hands of kidnappers.

Hon. J. C. Elliott, former Canadian Minister of Public Works and a member of the law firm of Ivey Elliott and Gillanders, Labatt solicitors, told the Canadian Press today he "presumed" members of the family had seen the millionaire brewer, but he could not say for sure.

ROYAL PROMISE SAVES INDIAN

Chippewa is Freed on Charge Illegal Possession of Big Game Carcasses.

RIGHT TO HUNT UPHELD.

EDSON, Aug. 17.—(C.P.)—A promise by the Prince of Wales that Indians could hunt for a living was written into court records to-day with dismissal of a charge of illegal possession of big game carcasses.

John O. Cese was the accused Chippewa Indian chief. Police had found the carcasses in his possession and brought the charge. The court ruled a full-blooded non-treaty Indian could not be convicted of hunting for a living as it was the only means of livelihood he knew.

A sister of the accused chief cited the promise of the Prince of Wales the Indians wold always have the right to hunt for a living. She described the experiences of her tribe and how loyal they had been in times of trouble. She made a stirring plea for her brother, pointing out they had a mother to take care of who was 105 years old.

Dismissing the case, the magistrate warned the chief he must endeavor to obey the laws of the land as far as possible. Then they shook hands.

FAILURE TO NOTIFY POLICE AUTHORITIES HANDICAPPED WORK

Attorney-General Roebuck Says Labatt was Blindfolded Throughout Captivity—No Hot Trail Of Abductors For Police To Follow.

LABATT SAYS HE WAS IN ONTARIO ALL TIME. TWO MEN ACTUALLY DID THE KIDNAPPING.

Released At About 12.30 In Forest Hill Village—Took Taxi To Royal York Hotel And Then To London Without Notifying Police.

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—(CP)—"Labatt was released in Toronto last night or this morning, about 12.30," said Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck today, issuing official details of the John Labatt kidnapping.

"He was blindfolded and had been continuously blindfolded since the time he was taken. He was left in the vicinity of Forest Hill Village, from where he took a taxi to the Royal York hotel."

"He was immediately carried from there, by his own friends, in a car to London.

"At the time of his release he drove between five and six hours, he thinks, but his judgment is that of a man blindfolded. He also thinks the kidnappers were killing time in the latter drive in waiting for darkness."

"At the time of his capture he drove around for a time, which he estimates at 12 hours. He was in Ontario all the time. He has no knowledge of having passed over any water.

Failed to Notify Police Authorities

"For some reason those who took charge of him failed to notify either Toronto or Provincial police.

"His arrival resulted in lack of co-operation between the authorities and his friends. There is no hot trail of the abductors. It is most unfortunate and unnecessary that the police forces of both the Province and the City have been very seriously handicapped in their work by their inability to secure complete control of the situation.

"Mr. Labatt arrived at London at 3.45 a.m. today. In this office there is no knowledge as to what financial arrangements, if any, have been made between the friends of the captured man and the criminals. Whatever arrangement was made did not come either from Hugh Labatt or his solicitor, Mr. Ivey.

"We are now fairly certain that the contact made in Toronto was a genuine one. I might add that Mr. Labatt's eyes were closed with adhesive and glasses drawn down over the adhesive tape. When let out of the car he was told not to remove either the tape or the glasses until the auto had moved on.

Three In Car At Time of Release

"There were three or four men in the car when he was released, in addition to himself. There were two men when he was kidnapped.

"It will be observed that owing to the exclusion of the police from the transaction in its closing hours there is very little out of the incident on which investigators can build.

"I have not told all the police know, nor have I indicated what has been done, but I am confident that in due season there will be a solution to this crime."

The Forest Hill village mentioned by Mr. Roebuck is a residential district in the west and north-central section of the city. About three and one-half miles from the hotel into which Mr. Labatt walked early today.

Attorney-General Roebuck made his statement in the presence of Chief Constable D. C. Draper and General V. A. S. Williams, Commissioner of Provincial Police.

"We have in Ontario," he added, "a large number of municipal police forces and one very large one in Toronto. In a crisis such as the one we have passed through there has been every desire to co-operate. The Minister of Justice at Ottawa offered the help of the Dominion police but there has been no unified control and no one person who could dictate to every man in the various forces what he must do or say." This the Attorney-General thought was a "weakness".

Inspector Miller Interviews Labatt

"I have been in touch with Mr. Ivey (R. G. Ivey, Labatt solicitor) just now by telephone at London. At the present moment Mr. John Labatt is being interviewed by Inspector John Miller, of the Provincial police, and every detail is being secured from him. He is in bed in his home. The house is guarded by Provincial police. There is to be no access to him for some little time. While there is no authority as there should be for the police to take charge of individuals concerned, the family is co-operating to the extent of allowing Inspector Miller to issue orders within the household.

I think the time must surely arrive when authority will be given to uniformed police forces to take charge of the relatives and their affairs in cases of this kind, so that in spite of themselves they may be prevented from becoming victims of racketeers."

Two Days Beard On Cheeks

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—(CP)—A weak-looking stoutish man with a slight limp, with two days' growth of beard on his cheeks, walked into the Royal York hotel rotunda early today and said he was John Labatt.

No one believed him, but "Where is Hugh? Where is Hugh?" he kept demanding. And a guest who knew him by sight crossed the rotunda and convinced officials the unkempt stranger, wrapped in a heavy coat, was the man for whom Western Ontario and the Michigan border had been combed since Tuesday noon.

He was taken quickly to an elevator and carried to the fourth floor. When until yesterday his brother Hugh waited

(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

TOKIO, Aug. 17. (AP).—The Japanese government is "considering the possibility of sending a general warning" to Moscow as the next step in their gravely strained relationship, a foreign office spokesman said to-day.

This procedure has not yet been decided upon, he added.

The spokesman said the possible warning would recount many frontier incidents, including alleged Soviet plots and provocations.

Settlement of past cases would be urged with assurances requested against repetitions. "But such a warning will not necessarily carry threats," the official asserted.

This spokesman denied the arrest of 17 Russian officials and employees of the Chinese Eastern Railway in Manchukuo this week or other troubles there were connected with the deadlock in Japanese negotiations for purchase of the railway from the Soviet.

The arrests, in which the Russians were charged with revolutionary plotting against Manuchukuo, "are purely Manchukuo's affair and Manchukuo is an independent state" said the official.

"Concerning the Chinese Eastern Railway negotiations we consider them still in progress and not broken off."

One of the 48 Magistrates Retained Under New Judicial System.

OVER FIVE COUNTIES.

Peterborough's Police Magistrate, O. A. Langley, K.C., not only retains his judiciary position here as a result of Attorney-General Roebuck's re-organization of Ontario's magistrates system, but he has been elevated to the position of chief magistrate of this district, covering five counties—Peterborough, Northumberland, Durham, Victoria and Haliburton.

Magistrate Langley is one of the 48 magistrates retained out of the 136 magistrates, previously conducting courts outside of six large cities. Ninety-nine magistrates as a result of the change have lost their jobs.

Salary Reduction

Magistrate Langley's salary will be $3,500 a year. This is really a reduction for him, since previously he had received $2,400 annually from the city and $1,300 from the province. He had also been able to conduct a rather lucrative private practise.

Under the new regulations no magistrate will carry on any other business. His is a full-time position.

Campbell and Somerville Hold Leads in First Round of Semi-finals.

SANDY FIVE UP.

20 Year Old Seattle Defending Champion Clips One Stroke From Par.

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Sandy Ross Somerville of London to-day entered the Canadian amateur golf championship with a crushing victory over Jess Guilford, veteran Boston golfer, at the 27th hole of their 27-hole match. Sandy was eight up. He will meet the winner of the Campbell-Palmer match being played this afternoon.

LAVAL-SUR-LEALAC, Que., Aug. 17. (CP).—An international final for the Canadian amateur golf title teomed to-day when the defending champion, Albert "Scotty" Campbell, of Seattle, and C. R. "Sandy" Somerville, London, Ont., rolled up big leads in the first round of their semi-final matches.

Somerville, at the end of 18 holes had a five hole lead over Jesse Guilford, Boston and Campbell had a six hole advantage over young Ernie Palmer, Winnipeg.

The 20-year-old Seattle lad, rapidly forging to the front rank of American amateurs, clipped one stroke from par for the round. Somerville slipped one over, his card reading 72, although he never was forced to the limit of his game because of the erratic play of Jesse Guilford.

Playing the steady methodical game that has carried him to the Canadian title four times and the American once, Somerville overwhelmed the Boston veteran who held the United States crown back in 1921. The American could win only one hole in 18, the eighth when Somerville three putted. They will play the remaining holes this afternoon, the winner to advance to the final to-morrow.

Guildford had trouble holding his tee shots to the line, finding trap after trap and touring most holes through the rough.

He stayed in competition only because of several remarkable recovery shots. Twice he had glorious chances to win holes, blowing them with three putts. Somerville seldom was in difficulty and never was forced to the limit of his game. Two or three times Guilford came to his rescue by missing short putts, permitting the Canadian to divide holes he should have lost.

HUGH LABATT WAS NEVER OUT OF ROYAL YORK

Changed Rooms to Fool Reporters Press Learns—"Away 12 Hours," Say Police.

RANSOM PAID, SAYS GLOBE.

Officers Profess Ignorance of Spot Millionaire Was Released.

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—(C. P.)—Darkness that enshrouded the release of John S. Labatt, wealthy brewer of London, Ont., was pierced today when it was learned confidentially by the Canadian Press that the kidnapped man had been brought to the hotel from which his brother Hugh conducted negotiations with the abductors.

It was further learned that Hugh Labatt had never left the Royal York hotel though police late yesterday afternoon told the reporters who gathered around his room that Hugh had been out of the hotel for 12 hours. The Canadian Press was informed that Hugh Labatt merely transferred from room 529 to room 430.

Labatt's release was in the Toronto vicinity and he was in the hotel with his brother, the room change apparently made to bewilder reporters further.

Inquiries at 430 were not answered, and the room appeared to be abandoned. Provincial police in room 529 could give no information as to when Hugh Labatt left the hotel, nor could they see whether he was with his brother at the time.

SECRET PARLEY TUESDAY NIGHT

Hugh Labatt Leads Press Wild Chase After 3-hour Talk With Police.

ENDS UP IN ROYAL YORK.

TORONTO, August 17 (C.P.) — The story of a secret parley Tuesday night between Hugh Labatt, brother of the abducted London brewer, and heads of Ontario and Toronto police was told for the first time to-day in Ontario newspapers. Reports of the conference were withheld by the papers at the earnest request of Police Chief D. C. Draper of Toronto.

The conference opened around six at night after Hugh Labatt had made a dash from London carrying $150,000 in cash, the ransom demanded by the kidnappers. For almost four hours he was in closed session with Gen. Draper and Gen. V. A. S. Williams, Commissioner of Ontario Police.

It was the first real story for the newsmen since the news of Canada's first ransom kidnapping startled a continent. The press was ready to play it to the full, but General Draper's request for no publicity was observed.

Nothing to Say

At 8.25 p.m. General Williams walked out of the conference room and, brushing reporters aside, said, "Absolutely nothing to say."

Shortly after his departure a man in dinner jacket entered the room and talked with General Draper and the several detectives grouped about the table. Innumerable telephone conversations took place. Twice during the conference the

99 MAGISTRATES GIVEN THE AXE IN NEW ORDER

10,000 J.P.'s Retire in Major Clean-up of Ontario Judicial System.

48 ARE RETAINED.

O. A. Langley Appointed Senior Magistrate of District Eight.

TORONTO, Aug. 17. — Complete reorganization of Ontario's Magisterial system was implemented at Queen's Park yesterday through an Order-in-Council announced last night by the Attorney-General of the Province, Hon. Arthur W. Roebuck. The changes, involving personnel, salaries, court sittings, and procedure, are virtually equivalent to a reconstruction of the primary court organization of the Province. Only the major cities— Toronto, Hamilton, London, Windsor, Ottawa and Brantford—are unaffected. A drastic reduction in the number of the Province's 10,000 Justices of the Peace is also scheduled.

99 Eliminated

Highlights in the Attorney-General's announcement are as follows:

1. The number of Magistrates, now 147; is reduced to 48, outside of the six urban centres.

2. Old Ontario is divided into twelve magisterial districts; New Ontario into six.

3. Magistrates in each district will be expected to change their itineraries so that each Magistrate in each district will sit at some time or other in the year in each court.

4. There will be a uniformity of salaries, except in a few cases, where a little more or a little less will have to be paid.

5. Magistrates who will have Province-wide jurisdiction will not be permitted to carry on any other business, and will have to devote their whole time to the work.

6. Clerical allowances will have to be cancelled, and the entire reorganization will effect a saving, described by the Attorney-General as only a secondary consideration, of $50,000 a year.

These changes, scheduled to go into effect when the Lieutenant-Governor signs the order this morning, were coupled with a provision directed against the practice of hearing evidence before the cases are put in court, and with the announcement of the even more drastic reduction in the number of Justices of the Peace.

No Preconceived Ideas

Of the first practice, the Attorney-General, in his announcement, said: "It is expected that the Magistrate will travel from place to place, and will do nothing but try cases. He will not see any of the interested parties until they apear in court. He will have no preconceived ideas of the cases."

The 10,000 Justices of the Peace, whose number was announced by the Attorney-General with the commencement that an office under the code has been degraded, will be retired, and in the future there will be only the 263 Justices set up under the new judicial organization, and located in nearly every town and city. "It will be their duty to hear complaints, take informations, and issue summonses and warrants and any other matters of that nature" said Mr. Roebuck. "It will also be their duty to arrange for the hearing of the cases in their particular locality, and act as Clerk of the court." The Justices will not try any indictable offense or any other case except in simple instances falling under municipal by-laws, and then only when so required and directed by the Senior Magistrate.

In another portion of his announcement the Attorney-General said of the Justices: "They will be men of standing in their community, having some idea of the problems of the people generally, and able to give good, sound, common sense advice, as part of their duty is to consider whether informations should be taken or not, and whether warrants or summonses should issue." He added that in cases of doubt these officials should communicate with the local Crown Attorney and be guided by him. "They will be paid a small allowance, as it is considered that the payment by fees is a bad system."

Senior Magistrates

Kneeling above a large map of the Province, which was spread out on the floor of his office, the Attorney-General, last night pointed out the location of the various districts into which his new organization divides the Province. One of the Magistrates in each districts, his memorandum stated, will be designated "Senior Magistrate." In his charge will be the laying of the itinerary of the Magistrates in his district, subject to the approval of the Inspector of Legal Offices. All Magistrates will forward to the Inspector of Legal Offices the required returns.

Mr. Roebuck stated that in the selection of the forty-eight Magistrates, there had been absolutely no reference to their political standing. "The appointments being made are not on the recommendation of the members of the ridings," he said. They had been based on Mr. Roebuck's knowledge, and the advice of a committee composed of I. A. Humphries, K.C., Deputy Attorney-General; Colonel W. W. Denison, K.C.; and Crown Attorney J. W. McFadden, K.C. The latter had been included since his territory was not affected by the reorganization.

Special praise was given by the Attorney-General to the work of Colonel Denison, the Inspector of Legal Offices. "He is to be highly commended," said Mr. Roebuck.

Queried about the cities, which were not affected by this organization, the Attorney-General stated that for simplicity's sake they had been set aside. "The cities are not perfect," he commented. It was also found impracticable to arrange the list of the Justices of the Peace until the new Magisterial organization becomes settled. It is to be announced in a week or ten days.

Although mentioning the saving of the $50,000 a year through his new changes, Mr. Roebuck emphasized the statement that this was a secondary consideration. "The object to be gained is not so much the saving of money," he said, "as the better administration of justice."

Senior Magistrates Named.

Excerpts from the Attorney-General's memorandum follow:

"District VIII, comprises the Counties of Northumberland and Durham, Peterboro', Victoria and Haliburton. The population of these counties is 98,861. It is almost entirely rural. The front of the district is quite well populated, and has several highways running through it. That is where the cases mostly arise. The back part of the district is very sparsely settled, and there is not much work to do up there. Mr. O. A. Langley of Peterboro' will be appointed Senior Magistrate.' Mr. Langley is prominent as a Magistrate in this Province. He is very careful about his work.

"District IX. comprises the Counties of Hastings, Lennox and Addington, Frontenac and Prince Edward. The population of these counties is 127,694. It is almost entirely rural Ontario, but in the rear part of the area there is a population of distinctly poverty-stricken people. Mr. E. J. Butler, barrister, Belleville, has been chosen as Senior Magistrate. The other positions are not decided upon. There will have o be appointed a new Magistrate in Kingston.

FEDERAL BALLOT IN NEAR FUTURE SAYS HEPBURN

Claims Defeat of Bennett Will See Reciprocity Taken Up With U. S.

SPEAKS AT N. YORK RALLY.

NEWMARKET, Ont., Aug. 17 (C. P.)—A federal election in the near future is expected by Premier Mitchell Hepburn, Liberal leader of Ontario, if his party is successful in the coming by-election in North York riding. "This by-election means a lot to the citizens of Ontario," he said here yesterday.

Support of reciprocity with the United States was voiced by the Premier, who was speaking on behalf of Colonel W. P. Mulock, candidate chosen yesterday for Federal honors in North York.

"President Roosevelt is looking towards Canada to move towards reciprocity," he said. "Defeat of the Bennett government and the placing of a Liberal administration in power will allow this province to work hand in hand with the federal government."

A provincial loan of $85,000 had been made to the farmers of Ontario, said the premier and all hope of collecting principal or interest rested in trade agreements with other countries, the producers of Canada should be given opportunity to compete in the markets of the world, he stated.

$300,000 Saving

Reorganization of the auditing system of Ontario would save a great part of the $300,000 spent in the last five years on the Ontario Hydro books, he claimed. The Liquor Control Board cost $18,000 for annual inspection, Mr. Hepburn stated. By taking over the work, supplanting private firms by government men these large sums could be materially reduced.

Premier Hepburn said his government had saved $2,000,000 in administration expenses since coming into office. Mentioning the order-in-council submitted by H. Henry Nixon, designed to turn over the enforcement of Game and Fisheries Laws to the provincial police, he said it alone would effect a saving of $200,000.

With regard to the investigation into the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, he declared, "I believe the T. and N. O. railway can be put on a paying basis, and we are going to do that." Mr. Hepburn said the railway had been operating since 1915 at a loss amounting to $7,000,000.

TRIO ARRESTED OVER WIFE SALE

Collector Holds Bartering Spouse is Business, But When She Stole His Stamps

THAT WAS DIFFERENT.

HOBOKEN, N.J., Aug. 17.—(A.P.)—Selling his wife to another man on the installment plan was business pure and simple, but any woman who would hurt the man who gave her a good home—two good homes in fact—by taking his stamps—well, words could hardly express Richard Rost's chagrin, as Police Chief Edward J. McFeely revealed the story yesterday.

Rost, who is 46 and a professional stamp collector, his wife, Hilegarde, 30, and Paul Herman, 41, a Union City engineer, were arraigned before Recorder Thomas J. McAleer yesterday and held in $5,000 bail each on a charge of conspiracy to violate the morals code. They were unable to supply bail.

Mrs. Rost, as McFeely unfolds the story, met Herman in a Hoboken restaurant last month. Just a friendly meeting, but soon the two felt they were in love with each other.

McFeely is a little vague just how this part of it came about, but he says Rost agreed to sell Mrs. Rost for $700 to Herman. The engineer agreed. A notary public drew up a bill of sale, $200 was the down payment, and Mrs. Rost changed from one good home to another, taking along the six year old Rost child.

Just about the time Herman finished paying off the balance, according to the chief, the police got an inkling of the affair, and just about that time, too, Rost discovered that $175 worth of stamps were missing. And, of course, says McFeely, Rost figured his wife took the stamps.

Last night the police stepped in, and, according to McFeely, the three confessed to the whole business.

NO RANSOM PAID TO GAIN RELEASE

were in danger of arrest. They believed Provincial police were hot on their heels.

Hugh Labatt knew nothing of his brother's release until he arrived at Hugh's hotel suite, it was learned.

Many Mysterious Angles

Most angles of the Dominion's most sensational crime in years were still unsolved as far as the general public was concerned. Salient outstanding facts were the safe return of the wealthy brewer and the statement he was released without the payment of money. General D. C. Draper, Toronto's Chief Constable, placed location of the release at "the outskirts of Toronto." Announcement of the return was made by General Draper in Toronto and in London by Richard Ivey, lawyer acting as spokesman for the family.

But unknown factors in the kidnap equation were: The exact point at which Labatt was removed from his black sedan as he drove from his Barnie Beach summer home toward London, Tuesday; identity of "Three Fingered Abe" who signed the ransom note found in the car, and his companions; location of the hideaway at which Labatt was kept during his captivity; identity of strangers who called at Hugh Labatt's hotel suite Wednesday night and Thursday in Toronto; Hugh's mission when it was announced late yesterday he had been gone from the hotel 12 hours; and the relative part played by family and police in obtaining the brewer's release.

LABATT RESTS AFTER ORDEAL

Family Lawyer States Captive Arrived Home in London at 4.30 A.M.

MUM ON DETAILS.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.) — John Labatt, wealthy London, Ont., brewer, who was kidnapped Tuesday morning while motoring from his Barnie Beach home to London, was released by his abductors at 4.30 o'clock this morning (E.D.T.).

Announcement that the end had come in the three-day search for the 55-year-old millionaire was made by Claude Savage of the law firm of Ivey, Elliott and Gillanders, shortly after Labatt's release.

Mr. Savage declined to reveal any further details, and refused to say whether the $150,000 ransom or any part of it had been paid. He also declared he was not in a position to disclose where Labatt had been released.

He declared, however, Labatt was now with his family—a wife and three children, the oldest only six years of age. Savage said Labatt showed no outward sign of ill treatment but was nervous and hagard, the result of his ordeal.

Labatt, according to the family spokesman, was ordered to take a complete rest and even his closest friends were denied the privilege of congratulating him on his safe return.

City Asleep on Arrival

London was asleep when John Labatt, liberated by kidnappers who had held him since Tuesday, drove up to the home of his brother Hugh at 4.30 E.S.T. this morning. Knowledge of his safe return to his wife and children did not become general until two hours later when newspapers containing the news circulated.

Mr. Hugh Labatt's home is in an apartment building at 369 Waterloo street. A policeman had been on guard all night and after the kidnapped men's return the guard was doubled. Mr. Labatt went to bed immediately after arrival. It was stated he took no food before he retired which would indicate he had been well treated in that regard by his abductors.

His wife and children were waiting at Hugh Labatt's apartment when John arrived and there was a joyful reunion. He had slipped into town quietly and he was in bed and asleep before the family solicitors released news of his liberation.

FANCIER OWNS WIDE VARIETY

Morgan Brown Has for Years Figured Prominently at Poultry Shows.

OWNS OVER 500 BIRDS

For the past eleven years Morgan Brown, young Smith Township farmer, has been exhibiting in the poultry section at Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, and for eleven years he has figured prominently in the prize awards.

Becoming interested in poultry-raising and breeding at the time his late brother, Wilfred Brown, was an exhibitor at the Exhibition many years ago, his reputation as a successful breeder of fancy poultry is now so well established that he is acknowledged by poultry fanciers throughout the district as one of the keenest enthusiasts amongst them.

The owner of over 500 birds of a great many varieties and types, Mr. Brown has expressed the intention of exhibiting not only at Peterborough Exhibition next week, but at the Ottawa Fair also, which is being held at the same time. He plans on going to Ottawa himself, stating that as an exhibitor there for the first time last year he was so successful and received such a warm invitation to return that he is anxious to do so.

He is also exhibiting poultry at Belleville and other district fairs, including the Royal Winter Fair, at which he is an exhibitor of long standing.

At this time of the year Mr. Brown has a larger portion of his poultry ranging loose on the farm, situated near Queen Mary Hospital on the boundary between the city and Smith Township, while others are provided with individual coops out in the fresh air and sunshine. One of the secrets of his success as a poultry-raiser, he believes, is the fact that he does not keep his birds in the same poultry houses the year around.

Some idea of the extent of Mr. Brown's poultry-raising operations may be gained from the following list of some of the breeds he is engaged in: Partridge Wyandottes, Columbian Wyandottes, Buff Leghorns, rose comb White Leghorns, White Crested Black Polish, Silver Spangled Hamburgs, Speckled Sussex, Partridge Cochins, light and dark Brahmas, dark Cornish, Anconas, Jersey Red Giants.

Bantams—Pile Game, black and brown Red Game, black, white and buff Cochins, silver and golden Sebright, Black Rose Comb.

Geese—Toulouse, Emden, African, Chinese.

Ducks—Dorset, Aylesbury, Pekin, Cayugs, Indian Runner and Muscovy.

A war on fairs has been started in the Irish Free State.

SECRET PARLEY TUESDAY NIGHT

lights were turned off in the room.

At 9.10 o'clock the whole party filed from the room into the police garage. Newspapermen were chased from the enclosure. Suddenly the doors of the garage shot open and a police car dashed from the yard in a roaring take-off.

Newspaper cars standing idle nearby were caught unawares. To make more certain of evading pursuit the car in which Labatt had motored to Toronto rushed in an opposite direction.

10-Mile Chase

Through city streets the first car wound, taking all sorts of strange routes to throw off pursuers. A Canadian Press car finally overtook the fleeing police car and the man who came to seek their aid. After a ten-mile drive the car halted at a back entrance to the Royal York Hotel, only about two miles from police headquarters.

Labatt and the man in the dinner jacket stepped out. A door opened. A service elevator whisked the pair upwards.

The man in the dinner-jacket was later identified as a hotel official. He admitted to the Canadian Press his companion was Hugh Labatt, who in the following days made the hotel his headquarters for negotiations with the kidnappers of his brother.

release shook off a throng of newspapermen as well as the police before they contacted the kidnappers. Reporters who had camped outside Hugh Labatt's suite in the Royal York since he arrived a few hours after the kidnapping Tuesday were thrown off the trail Thursday when they were told he was not in the hotel.

To-day it was reported he had never left the building and had merely moved from one room to another. General V. A. S. Williams, head of the Provincial Police, said his information was that Hugh Labatt spent Thursday in Windsor, Ont. It was possible he went there to contact the abductors, who may have been Detroit gangsters.

Return of the wealthy brewer to his family ended anxiety that began for them Tuesday when he disappeared on a drive from Sarnia Beach, a summer resort near Sarnia, to London, Ont.

The 'Phone Call

They were instructed in a telephone message that his car was parked outside St. Joseph's Hospital, London, Ont. A note found in the car warned them not to advise police and gave directions for payment of the ransom in or near Toronto within 24 hours.

Hugh Labatt is reported to have drawn $150,000 from a London bank that afternoon and carried it to Toronto later that day. It was believed to have been kept in his hotel suite while he and friends of the family attempted to contact the abductors.

There were many mysterious coming and goings from the hotel. Reporters scurried after each visitor suspecting him as emissaries of the abductors. Hugh Labatt is known to have had at least two telephone conversations with the men who held his brother.

The negotiations yesterday that resulted in the release were conducted without the slightest hint leaking out to police and reporters. There were at least 30 newspapermen in the hotel early this morning when reports were circulated that John Labatt had been spirited inside, but his presence could not be confirmed.

HASTINGS, Aug. 17 (Examiner Correspondence).—In the snappiest game of softball played in Hastings, Fashion Craft of Peterborough defeated Hastings 4 to 0. The Peterborough team were late in arriving, and darkness halted the game at the end of the fifth. Butcher on the mound for the winners showed more speed than has ever been displayed by any softball pitcher here. In five innings he struck out thirteen of the locals and allowed only one hit, a three-bagger by Stickles to right. He was more charitable with free tickets to first, issuing three walks. Hahn pitched a good game, but slow fielding by his team-mates and snappy base running by the winners cost him a victory.

The teams:

Fashion Craft—Gray c, Butcher p, C. Clarke 1b, Mowry 2b, Wright ss, Vittarelli 3b, Ripley lf, Beatty cf, G. Clarke rf.

HUGH LABATT WAS NEVER OUT OF ROYAL YORK

the kidnappers, it was later reported by the Toronto Globe.

Early this morning the brothers left the hotel secretly and sped to London, where John S. Labatt met his wife and three children. The victim of Canada's first ransom kidnapping was unharmed but haggard and nervous.

With his brother he entered his home, and even closest friends were not permitted to disturb him. Complete rest was the order for the millionaire, who suffers from a heart ailment, an affliction that caused grave concern while he was in the hands of the gangsters.

Claude Savage of the law firm of Ivey Elliott and Gillanders, announced the tremination of the three-day search for Labatt, a search that saw all the forces of the law available in the province thrown into action.

Release Spot Secret.

While reporters kept vigil at Hugh Labatt's hotel and police dashed over highways in motor cars, searching for the criminals, John Labatt apparently was leaving his abductors on the outskirts of Toronto. The exact location of the release point was a closely guarded secret, the Labatt family refusing any information on this point.

Police officials claimed ignorance of the spot where Labatt was freed. Only meagre details, they said, were available to them. But they were spurred into action. General V. A. S. Williams, commissioner of the Ontario Provincial Police, immediately ordered Acting Chief Inspector John Miller of the criminal investigation department to London to continue tracing down the gangsters, described in some reports as members of Detroit's purple gang.

Freed On Outskirts.

Brief announcement came from Chief D. C. Draper of the Toronto police. He said:

"Mr. Labatt was released by the kidnappers on the outskirts of Toronto. He had some experience, but is unharmed and in company of his brother, Hugh Labatt, is now in London."

Chief Draper said he obtained this information from R. G. Ivey, a member of the legal firm for the Labatt family and the brewery company. The head of Toronto's police force had played a prominent part in attempting to bring into the law's toils the men who perpetrated the first ransom kidnapping in Canada.

Shortly before one o'clock this morning the men who acted as negotiators met the kidnappers and the ransom money was paid over by Angus McDonald of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

The Toronto Globe received this information, and this paper further stated the party then departed and the automobile was driven to the Royal York Hotel. It was at this hotel, the paper said, John Labatt was instructed to walk to the night clerk and register.

He was escorted to room 430, with his brother Hugh anxiously waiting in an adjoining room. In this room, the Globe continues, the re-union was held and the brothers, with relatives, were taken to the 17th floor of the hotel, where they awaited completion of arrangements.

From the hotel the Labatts rushed to their London residence. Before the house a police guard was stationed and no one was allowed to approach the grounds, the Globe said.

Toronto Livestock Review

TORONTO, Aug. 17 (C.P.) — Prices went high on two classes of livestock on the Toronto livestock market this week, were slightly stronger on another and held firm on the other two.

Four grades of cattle, weighty steers, feed calves, butcher cattle and cows, registered gains with the first two up 25 to 50 cents and the others 15 to 25 cents. Hogs jumped 40 cents for the week. Sheep were the class to show stronger prices while calves and lambs were firm.

Light runs on Monday produced an active market and the division responded with the higher levels. Choice steers sold for export at $5.50 to $6.06 while plain steers went down to $3.50. A top load of butcher cattle brought $5 though the general top throughout the week was at $4.70.

Good butcher cows ranged from $2.75 to $3 and good bulls for export also made a top of $3. Fed calves went from $6.50 to $7 for choice with medium down to $5. Sales on closing day were down a little with cows closing at $2.75 for tops and at $1 for canners. Bologna bulls moved at $1.65 to $2.25.

Activity on the division was maintained fairly well to the close and less than 100 head remained unsold. Medium grades were being discounted on Thursday. Milkers and springers were steady at a top of $45 and a few lots of stockers brought $2.50 to $2.90. Exporters shipped 486 cattle for Great Britain.

Under a 700-head heavier run than for the previous week, the calf division held last week's advance. Choice vealers sold active at $5.50 to $6.00 while commons brought $3. Grass calves ranged from $2 to $2.75 cwt. Trading slowed down a bit at the close.

The only division to show lighter receipts, hogs moved upward with a 30 cent advance on Monday and added another 10 cents on Wednesday. The close was steady with the levels at the week's highs of $9 F.O.B. for bacons, $8.25 off truck and $8.75 off car. Reports from England indicate a strong bacon market with advances expected.

Lambs sold firm throughout the four day's trading at $6.50 for good ewes and wethers and at $5 to $5.50 for culls and bucks. A few bucks were sold with loads to packers as low as $4.50. Sheep were stronger with the division closing at $2.50 to $3 for good, light ewes and at $1 to $1.50 for culls.

THE NEW MILK DEAL.

The new deal to the milk producers of this district will not perhaps be rousingly applauded by consumers, especially by those who have to count their pennies, but it will be a definite gain to dairy farmers.

An increase in the price to the public was to be expected from the course the negotiations took, and also as the only means by which the farmer could receive a fairly adequate return from his investment and labor. The former price of $1.20 a hundred weight has been advanced by agreement to $1.70, and if there is any doubt about the Provincial Milk Board's functions it will be removed by legislation to the next sessions empowering the board to fix prices.

It is not likely that the board's intervention will halt at the price-fixing stage. Advantage will hardly rest with the dairy farmers alone. If the board can adjust prices, it will probably have the right to say a great deal about the conditions under which milk is produced, an eventual benefit to the consumer.

The institution of the Milk Board was begun by Hon. T. L. Kennedy, and his successor, Hon. Duncan Marshall, has emphatically declared his intention of making it effective as an instrument for improving the conditions of Ontario's dairy farms.

A "LOST PEOPLE" DISCOVERED.

With Queen Victoria's far-flung Empire metamorphosed into the British Commonwealth of Free Nations, old England seemed almost ready to lay down the "white man's burden."

And now come Australian explorers from the central wilds of New Guinea to announce that 5,000 acres of fertile land have been added to the British map, and 200,000 natives of "unknown tribes" are added to official cares.

On a high plateau, cut off by enormous mountains, the adventurers found a temperate region of grassy plains and rivers, wherein a strange and docile people dwell in peace and live by husbandry.

The description reminds one of Rousseau's picture of the admirable savages our ancestors were all supposed to be, until Sir Henry Maine and the anthropologists proved otherwise.

Anything so idyllic as the New Guinea explorers' report ought to be left alone. But it will not be. Already the reports say white men are "penetrating" the new region and the prospect of gold discoveries may lead to an early extinction of the newly found race.

To prevent such tragedy the Australian representatives are trying to introduce colonial self-government among the natives, under the Australian mandate of the League of Nations.

Quite likely it will be a hopeless effort. The last aboriginal Tasmanian succumbed to the white man's civilization years ago, and the gentle savages of New Guinea may be doomed even now.—Chicago Herald-Examiner.

WHY NOT THE LEGION?

A new ex-soldiers' organization is apparently in the first stage of formation as a result of the amazingly successful reunion of the Canadian Corps in Toronto during the Civic Holiday week-end. Its primary purpose is to perpetuate the comradeship and loyalty of Canada's veterans, and to give permanent effect to the oath of allegiance, taken at the Sunday drumhead service, "to our God, to our King and to our country." Its provisional chairman affirmed that it would in no way conflict with existing associations of ex-service men, but would co-operate with them.

Nothing in the reports of preliminary steps of organization intimates that the proposed corps association has any objective not already sought by the Canadian Legion. With such a capable association as the Legion, embodying the aspirations of ex-service men, soundly established, and with a splendid record of mediation and accomplishment in their behalf, it would seem the wiser course of the tentatively designated Canadian Corps Council to reinforce the Legion with the fresh enthusiasm born of the reunion, and also to swell its ranks by the recruiting of new members.

What can another association achieve that would not be possible to the Legion with a big increase of membership and a rekindled spirit of comradeship? One of the lessons the Canadian Corps exemplified was the strength and effectiveness of unity and a unified command.

The Legion has for years given abundant proof of wise leadership, high Canadian principles, and a fine spirit of comradeship. It has earned the respect of the public and merits the actual co-operation and support of every ex-service man.

THIS CAR SHOULD BE EXCEPTED.

Presumably one of the hundred automobiles to be sold by the Hepburn Government as an economy flourish at Varsity Stadium August 28 is the car that has been used by Peterborough County's game warden in the performance of his duties.

One hundred automobiles comprise a fleet of impressive numbers. Many of them can be put on the auction block without any loss or restriction of public service, and with this phase of the Government's promised economy the great majority of citizens will find no fault. In fact, general sentiment endorses it as a means of reducing departmental expenses, although the immediate saving may be widely out of proportion to the publicity announcing the spectacular sale.

But in that park of cars surely none could have been less deserving the humiliating fate that awaits the automobile in which this county's game warden has tried to protect the fish and game of Peterborough's many lakes and rivers and woods. This car can not be accused of swanking around the country after the alleged manner of ministerial limousines. It certainly doesn't belong in that category. Most people believed that it was properly and effectively employed, an honest sort of machine that had no apologies to offer for its expense sheet, and could look the grimmest economy axeman in the eye without blinking.

However, it is understood to be on the proscribed list, cheek by jowl with sleek streamlined, motorized luxury that is supposed to be a reproach to depression's want and woe, and to a community knee deep in debt. In this scene of general judgment its honest proletarian mileage is ignored in the reprehension of plutocratic limousines.

Seriously, it seems that the game wardens cars might have been spared. At least they should have been given a hearing. In a county like Peterborough, the very centre of the Kawartha Lakes district, a game warden can't be of much service without an automobile, and a vague notion of his salary does not suggest that he can afford out of his income the expense of purchase, upkeep and travel.

We hope this information is wrong, and that an exception is to be made in the great dispersal sale of August 28 of the game warden's car.

DOLLAR WHEAT.

Wheat, long king crop of Canadian agriculture, is once more coming back to its historic place as a revenue-producer. May futures are hovering around the dollar mark at Winnipeg. This is cheerful news to Canadian farmers. Dollar wheat will bring an increased return of millions of dollars to be distributed among those fortunate growers who have reaped a harvest, despite drought, grasshoppers and hail. Western farmers, in particular, will benefit from the rise in price, even though the estimated yield is now no larger than the yield for 1933, or roughly speaking, 270,000,000 bushels. The carry-over of 180,000,000 bushels, so long a depressing factor, may now be moved out at a profit to both elevator companies and governments. The material returns from dollar wheat will be great; the cheering and tonic effect to farmers who have seen wheat prices drop to a low of 42 cents in 1932 will be even greater.

While Canada as a whole will benefit from the brighter outlook as wheat again ascends its throne, farmers in Western Ontario are faced with an ironical situation. They have hoped for dollar wheat as a partial relief for their acute financial difficulties. The hoped-for figure has been reached, but their granaries are and will be virtually empty. Fall wheat suffered severe injury from winter-killing. It suffered even more severely from drought. Fields carefully prepared, seeded and heavily fertilized shriveled under a blistering sun. Wheat is being threshed in Middlesex now. Yields are reported at from eight to eighteen bushels per acre, a return which will not begin to meet the cost of production. Western Ontario farmers must rest content with the cheering effect of dollar wheat, instead of benefitting financially.—London Advertiser.

A ROYAL CODE.

What King Henry VI, longed for on the day when battle swayed to and fro "like a mighty sea forced by the tide in contest with the wind," even the poorest of the gainfully employed have to-day. The schedule of periods which his imagination framed for him lacked only the specific hours and his decree to make it a code. Envying the happy life of a "homely swain," he sits upon a molehill, as a shepherd, computing time, seeing the minutes how they run; how many make the hour "full complete," how many bring about a day and how many finish the year. This being known, he then divides the time:

So many hours must I tend my flock;
So many hours must I take my rest;
So many hours must I contemplate;
So many hours must I sport myself.

"Ah, what a life were this! How sweet! How lovely!" he adds, in envy of his humblest subject.

Under such a code, with ample hours left after work for rest, contemplation and recreation, one can understand why Shakespeare makes King Henry say:

Was ever subject long'd to be a king
As I do long and wish to be a subject?

And if for "subject" one reads "citizen," what better fortune can one wish than to be secure in enough gainful work to be able to command the freedom of the hours "pass'd over to the end they were created"—a code decreed for humanity by its higher destiny?—New York Times.

WHERE MARRIED WOMEN WORK.

Statistics based on the official census of Great Britain for 1931 show that many married women are working. It came as a surprise to find there were more women in professional occupations than men. The figures are; men, 356,726; women, 389,389.

Married women have invaded the railway field, and no fewer than 821 of them are working as shunters, pointsmen and level crossing guards, while 347 have turned to the trade of blacksmithing and skilled forge workers.

Other unexpected places of employment for women came to light in learning that 218 are stationary engine and crane drivers, five are boiler firemen and stokers, 93 are dynamo, switchboard and motor attendants; five are chief constables, superintendents or inspectors.

Nor is farm work missed. There are 6,080 classified officially as "agricultural laborers."

And all these women are married!—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

BEING HONEST

To the Editor of The Examiner.

CROONING.

Dear sir:

Men object to crooning. Now crooning is the baby-song, the lullaby and men who refuse to rock the cradle (bless them!) have no right to object to crooning if the others like it. A long low monotonous whine is what baby has to hear to go to sleep and if fathers don't like it—let them go to sleep too.

SPOILS SYSTEM

To the Editor of The Examiner.
Dear sir:

What is the meaning of this furious attack in high places upon the spoils system? Is it because of something already done or is it a barrage for protective purposes? Anybody I agree with Mr. Peck, K.C., M.P., who said that political appointments should be handed around. He said that it was only fair that they should be handed round at suitable intervals. Of course, those who entered the civil service by examination and irrespective of political leanings do not come under this heading. At first I thought that once in, always in, but Mr. Peck has changed my mind. He has laid down a law for political appointments that has the ring of fairness about it.

The reference to myself and the T.V.C. dismissals is rather ill-advised I should think since those dismissals were made after a government trial and the most sensational evidence. No man was ever dismissed by me without the opportunity of a hearing.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

By H. W. L. MAHOOD

FRANCE.

FRANCE is in a crisis. There has not been any severe armed outbreak. There is national tension. Two men of strength have hobbled the government. Tardieu and Herriot are fighting each other. If Herriot makes a speech in public, or to the cabinet, Tardieu can be counted on to make a bitter reply. The cabinet is not manned with leaders strong enough to function in the face of this personal antipathy. These men are poison to each other. This deadlock has prevented France from going very far in any direction. Herriot is liberal. He favors some concessions to placate Germany. Tardieu fights such a policy with a vengeance. The army and a majority of the people back Tardieu. There is a respectable minority who favor ending the breach between the two nations. Herriot is convinced that his cause is just and the way to bring peace to Europe. Domergue is an astute diplomat and experienced statesman. These two men are his handicap.

The French Cabinet has in its membership some veterans. They caucussed in June. With a majority of two votes they decided to "tolerate the present cabinet until the middle of August". Many of the Army Veterans survive. Their influence will be given for a thorough going revision of the Constitution. This can be accomplished by the selection of men who will work for peace-with-honor.

The picture of the French crisis is not without some bright relief. The report has reached the outside world that Socialists and Communists have made a pact for mutual defence and protection. They have agreed to cease their mutual vituperation and abuse. For the first time in Europe the Socialists and the Communists have united forces to support the government and to wage a campaign against the Fascists.

GERMANY.

DISPLACE the Supreme Court of any nation, then justice will be led to the scaffold. Hitler has created a court above the Supreme Court. Its judgments are final. He decreed it so. In the final analysis he is the New Court. The nomenclature is The Peoples Tribunal. All the functions of the Supreme Court are to be exercised by the New Court, but its chief function is to try cases of treason. The panel consists of thirty members. The name and the function make it the Tribunal of Hitler and not The Peoples Tribunal. If the people were the Tribunal, Hitler would be tried for high treason. How much longer will the German people tamely submit to be deceived and fooled and bullied?

Amazing that Hitler would counsel the creation of such a Tribunal. More astounding that he should be self-appointed the Chief Tribune. Other thirty members beside himself compose The Peoples Tribunal. As these lines are being written on the 2nd of August, 1934, this august Court of Superior Justice is in session trying cases of treason and sedition. Twelve members, including Hitler, are chosen from the bench. Six are from Prussia. One represents Saxony. Bavaria's quota is two. Baden and Hamburg and Wurttemberg, each have one. The panel is broken into six Peoples Tribunals.

Some excuse there is for the name, The Peoples Tribunal. Laymen have been conceded membership. Five are Storm Troopers. The five made a record for prompt-knock-down blows given opponents of Hitler. The five are Trooper Generals. Two are army colonels. Two are naval captains. Five are aeroplane officers. The War Office is in the count. One is a Government Counsellor. One a farmers' union leader and Reichstag member, one a brewer, one an inspector of the Ministry of Justice. But Hitler is it.

THE JEW.

STURMER is the name of an outstanding Nazi newspaper. It is rank anti-Jewish. The publishing office is in Nuremberg. Almost every Jew and his family within reach of this city have been subjected to the most atrocious treatment. Sturmer has been the instigator of the brutality. After the killing of Roehm and the others, this newspaper scandalized the whole civilized world with the "Ritual Murder Number". From denouncing the treasonable in the ranks of the Storm Troopers the attention of the publisher has been turned to the Jews. The extravagant statements are the condemnation of both the newspaper and the editor. The Manchester Guardian of Friday, July the 20th, 1934, in translated form on page 50 quoted as follows a paragraph from Stürmer:

"He (the Jew) knows that he and his race will never get on in the world by honest means. . . . The Jew is incapable of living by productive work. He can only subsist by constantly endeavouring to deprive non-Jews of the fruits of their labor and by taking away their earnings and their fortunes by fraud, forgery, theft and every kind of swindling. . . . The non-Jew is never a friend of the Jew by conviction; he has only become so by those subtle arts of corruption which the Jew practices on certain influential or 'superior' non-Jews. The Jews are a nation of outcasts. Crime is their calling. They can only follow this calling with the help of corrupted comrades. Every non-Jew must know that no who champions the Jews is never an honest man, but has been bribed by the Jews. He is a comrade of the Jews, a 'two-fold child of Hell', a traitor to his own people and fatherland.'"

Julius Streicher is the publisher of Sturmer and a personal friend of Hitler. Read some of his sentiments. "There are exceptions to every rule that only prove the rule. Thus, there are decent Jews, who prove the indecency of the Jews. The decent Jew is, as a matter of fact, worse than the indecent Jew, for he is not really decent—he is a great deceiver . . . his decency is based on an illusion engendered by the fact that the 'decent Jew' knows how to conceal the Talmudistic mind (which every Jew embodies), behind a mask of calculated decency . . . It is the business of all educated men to put an end to the legend of the 'decent Jew' at last."

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

AURORA, ONTARIO

The first survey of the township from which the municipality was drawn was made in 1800. The town first was known as Matchville, and later Machell Corners.

About 1850 the name was changed to Aurora and is believed to have been suggested by Charles Doone, afterwards the first reeve and postmaster. The name, no doubt, was taken from that of the Greek goddess. Machell's Corners was named for a man who owned the property just after the first settlement was formed.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

"THE FOUNDER OF METHODISM"

On this date 130 years ago, there passed to her rest Barbara Heck, the founder of Methodism in America. In the Blue burying ground in Augusta Township, Grenville county, there stands a monument, the inscription on which reads:

Barbara Heck
Born, 1734 Died Aug. 17, 1804

Barbara Heck put her brave soul against the rugged possibilities of the future and, under God, brought into existence American and Canadian Methodism, and between these her memory will ever form a most hallowed link.

In memory of one who laid foundations others have built upon.

There are monuments to other members of the Heck family, including Paul, Barbara's husband, but today Barbara Heck is the chief figure to be considered. Barbara Buckle was born at "Buckle Hill," County Limerick. Her forefathers were of German Palatine stock, who, after a brief refuge in England, were given lands in Ireland. They were attracted by the doctrines of John Wesley, whose personal visits gave them enthusiasm. In due course Barbara Buckle became Mrs. Paul Heck, and soon afterwards they, with relatives, sailed for New York, among the party being Philip Embury and his wife.

New York even in 1760 was very different from the Irish village and Barbara's zeal for religion soon found openings. She persuaded Philip Embury, who had gone into business, to resume his preaching and between them they founded the first Methodist Society in America, which eventually, in 1768, built Wesley chapel, the first of that name in the new world.

When the revolution came the Hecks decided that they could not forswear their allegiance, and they and the Embury family (Philip had died) made their way by Lake Champlain and the Richelieu up to Montreal, where Paul Heck joined the army and Barbara Heck and Mary Embury became hospital nurses. On Paul's discharge from the army they decided to settle in Upper Canada. (The original of Paul Heck's discharge, signed by Sir Frederick Haldimand, is in the archives of Victoria College, Toronto).

In the spring of 1784 the party landed where the village of Maitland now stands and began cutting their home out of the wilderness. Almost at once the Hecks and Emburys formed themselves into a Methodist society, Samuel Embury, following in his father's footsteps, becoming class leader. One day a horseman drove up to the clearing. It was William Losee, the first ordained Methodist minister in Canada. The Heck boys went through the settlement with the news and that night there was held the first Methodist service in Canada (New Brunswick had had an earlier service, but that was not then in "Canada").

The death of Paul Heck preceded that of his wife by eight years. She died peacefully in an old arm chair with an open Bible on her lap. All her life she was true to the sentiments she uttered when asked to join the rebels in New York:

"The service that we love is no bondage, but truest liberty; we have under the old flag beneath which we were born all the rights we want, the right to worship God according to the dictates of our conscience, none daring to molest us or make us afraid."

Truly a United Empire Loyalist!

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 90c to 92c; oats 35c to 36c; barley, 58c to 60c; corn, 65c to 66c; rye, 55c to 57c; buckwheat, 60c to 62c.

CHCIAGO GRAIN

Virtually wiping out of material new advances of grain values yesterday accompanied late reports that the United States Department of Agriculture would attempt to check speculation in commodities.

Decided enlargment of pressure to sell became quickly evident following the reports indicating likelihood of Administration measures for increased governmental regulating of grain trades. Word of beneficial moisture in Argentina acted also as a late bearish influence.

Retreating from a maximum fresh rise of 3¼c a bushel, wheat closed steady at the same as Wednesday's finish to ⅝c gain; corn, ¼c off to ¼c up; oats, varying from ⅛c decline to ¼c advance, and provisions showing 12c to 30c climb.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Eggs declined fractionally in price on the Montreal produce and dairy market yesterday, while other commodities maintained their former level.

On the egg market, graded shipments of Ontario eggs in cartons or less brought 23c to 24c a dozen for A-large, off ½c; 21c to 22c for A-medium, down ½c; 19c for "B", off ½c, and 18c for "C", down 1c. Western eggs were quoted at 21½c to 22c for A-medium, 19c for "B", off ½c and 18c for "C" down ½c. Receipts totalled 695 cases.

Butter was unchanged in price, fresh No. 1 being 18½c to 18¾c a pound in cartons or less. Small lots to retailers were 20c a pound for solids, and 21c for prints. Arrivals were 3 boxes.

Cheese prices were steady, Ontario colored being 10c to 10¼c a pound, while Quebec cheese brought 9¾c a pound. Receipts were 2,467 boxes.

The potato market held steady at Wednesday's levels. New Quebecs were 45c to 50c per 90-pound bag of No. 1 grade, and 35c to 40c per 80-pound bag of No. 2 grade. Old New Brunswick Mountains quoted at 20c to 25c per 90-pound bag, unchanged.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Absence of speculative demand and pressure of hedging sales pushed wheat prices 1¼ to ⅝ cents lower on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday despite resumption of Canadian export business and higher quotations at Liverpool.

The market closed near the day's low points with October wheat at 86¾c, December at 87c and May at 91¾c. Selling against the movement of new wheat to market proved the greatest burden on prices.

Offerings were not particularly heavy but wheat was always on tap and the buying was not aggressive enough to stimulate bullish enthusiasm. Trade volume was comparatively light and late operations were routine in character. Early foreign sales of Canadian wheat aggregated 750,000 bushels.

Liverpool wheat gathered 1⅝ to 1¾d. Cables attributed the strength to late upturns at Winnipeg Wednesday and hint of labor troubles in the Argentine, where it was reported a railway strike was imminent.

Cash and coarse grains operations were in the doldrums.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Mastin.)

HOW TO PICK A WIFE.

1. Decide that you are never, never going to be married . . . Girls are no good. You are fickle. You don't intend to be tied. Kipling said that "he travels the fastest who travels alone". Look at all the unhappy marriages. No girl would have you, anyway . . . And so forth.

2. Make up your mind that if you do marry, the girl must have certain characteristics . . . She must be pretty. Or perhaps beautiful. With brown hair, or black, or blonde. Nice teeth and shapely figure. Unselfish. Witty. Modest but attractive. One with a lot of pep, but not one of those excitement eaters, either . . . A girl who does not expect a man to dance attendance on her every minute. Not a bossy girl. Not a timid girl. One with a good disposition, but some fire in her spirit, too . . . Decide that if you do marry, the girl must measure up to all those specifications.

3. Wonder if it might not be a good idea to get married, after all . . . Other people are married, and why not you? Even the homely fellows seem to have pretty wives. You know a couple of terrible bums whose wives adore them . . . You're tired of living alone . . . A fellow gets tired of even the best restaurant cooking . . . It would be nice to have a home . . . And perhaps a family.

4. Take this girl to the theatre. That girl swimming. This other girl to a dance . . . Find yourself thinking of one girl almost constantly . . . Visit her home, shake hands with her father, talk with her mother, wonder if the daughter will look like the mother when she is twenty years older. Decide that she will. Decide that she won't. Decide that it does not make any difference. Wonder what she thinks of you . . . Remember everything she said the last time you saw her . . . Wonder all over again how much she thinks of you . . . Quarrel . . . Make up . . . Talk about everything . . . Find yourself wishing you'd always known her; find yourself envious of everybody who knew her before you did . . . Realize that you love her . . . Ask her to marry you. Hear her say yes. Walk on air . . . Swing dizzily between torment and delight.

5. Marry her . . . Suddenly remember that you didn't follow a single one of those rules you laid down for yourself in picking a wife . . . Tell yourself what a ridiculous idiot you were.

A Thought

LIFE

Life seems to me like a road—a road that is always going round corners. And when we are quite young we expect to find something new and delightful round every turn. But the road gets harder as we get farther along it, and there are often lions in the path, and unpleasant surprises meet us when we turn corners; and it isn't always easy to be kind and honest and keep a cheerful face, and lines come, and wrinkles. But if the lines come from being sorry for others, and the wrinkles from laughing at ourselves, then they are kind lines and happy wrinkles and there is no sense in trying to hide them with paint and powder.—O. Douglas.

CAMPBELLFORD FELINE HAS TWENTY-FOUR TOES

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, August 17. — How many toes has a cat? is the question that Dave Bowen of Campbellford is asking himself. He has two felines who have more than their ordinary share of these members. One cat, eight months old, has in all twenty-four toes, six on each foot, while this animal's mother musters twenty-two toes, seven on each of the two front paws, and four on each of the two hind feet.

MILD WEAKNESS IN INDUSTRIALS

Trading Centres Mostly in Two Brewing Corporations, Nickel and Brazilian.

FOOD SHARES OFF.

TORONTO, Aug. 17 (CP).—A mild note of weakness crept into the industrial share list in the last hour today and the close of the Toronto Exchange revealed more recessions than gains as a result of the day's operations. Volume appeared chiefly in the two brewing corporation issues, International Nickel and Brazilian and these, with exception of Brewing Common, were higher at the close. Distillery, oil and food shares finished narrow fractions off.

Early gains in the interlisted group were not maintained except in nickel and Brazilian. The latter moved up 3-4 to 10, for a net gain of 5-8. C.P.R. finished the session unchanged and Ford "A" worked back 1-4 to 19 3-4.

Distillery shares eased down with the New York Market, Distillers Seagrams, Industrial Alcohol and Walkers Common taking losses of small fractions each.

LABATT RESTING

ed for "sometime this afternoon."

"During the time Mr. Labatt must remain in bed, no outsiders will be permitted to see him." Mr. Elliott said. "The one great thing is that he is safe, and further than the message which was given to the press this morning I haven't a thing to say." He was referring to the announcement of Mr. Labatt's safe return, made by Richard Ivey.

"He is pretty well fatigued. No member of the legal firm has seen him so far since he came back."

Police Have Note

Mr. Elliott said he presumed the wealthy brewer had seen his wife and children, but he was unable to say so positively. He had no information as to ransom payment and did not know whether the family had been prepared to make the payment demanded in the ransom note. "Police probably have the note in their possession now," he added. So far as he knew, no one except the Labatt brothers and the police ever saw it or knew of its contents. He replied negatively to all questions about the possession of clues to the kidnappers, and added his reticence was a result of lack of knowledge.

It was suggested to Mr. Elliott that if spokesman for the family declined to give details about the actual abduction and release it might raise suspicion in the public mind that all was not "above board."

"If so, it can't be helped, said Mr. Elliott. "I'm giving you all the information within my knowledge."

Door Guarded.

A police guard stood at the door of Hugh Labatt's home. No one was permitted to enter the house at all without special credential.

About 25 newspapermen gathered on the lawn in the hope possible principals in the case would emerge. E. M. Burke, general manager of the Labatt brewery, said only: "We can't say a thing until to-night; now is the time to try to catch those responsible for the kidnapping."

"If you want any information," he added, "go to the provincial police, the case is entirely in their hands." The provincials, however, referred all questioners to the family.

Shortly before noon Inspector John Miller of the provincial police's criminal investigation department, arrived at the Hugh Labatt home, after visiting R. G. Ivey, Labatt spokesman, V. P. Cronin, London lawyer, and Colin Stratherd, a nephew of John Labatt, also entered. Purpose of the visit was to get information in connection with the kidnappers. So closely was the apartment guarded that Stratherd, on a previous visit, was refused admittance because he could not produce credentials.

Hugh Near Breakdown

Hugh Labatt was reported to-day to have suffered severe nervous strain approaching a breakdown as a result of his efforts to obtain safe return of his brother.

Lights in the apartment were on when the motor car in which Hugh and John drove from Toronto arrived at the door after driving by, turning back, and dashing up the driveway. The front door of the apartment house was open when the car stopped.

This morning Mrs. Hugh Labatt, speaking from an upstairs window, instructed the officer on guard to allow no one in. Three hours later Inspector Miller, with Cronin, Strathered and Ivey arrived.

Half an hour later Dr. W. J. Tillman, the family physician, and two other men entered. Dr. Tillman told newspapermen who sought to identify him, "Who I am has no bearing on the case." He was recognized, however.

Cronin and Stratherd left early this afternoon, but Miller, Ivey and Dr. Tillman were still inside the the apartment. Mayor George Wenige went to the door, remained there about three minutes, but did not go in. Mrs. Labatt's physician who attended her at the time the third child was born a few months ago was also denied admission.

Other residents in the apartment house were being admitted only after careful questioning

PRIZE FLOWERS AT SUMMER GARDENS

Al Spenceley's Prize Winning Flowers on Exhibit—A Beautiful Display.

Al Spencely, proprietor of Al's Pastime Gardens, who was successful in winning seven firsts and six seconds at the Peterborough Horticultural Society Flower Show, has kindy placed them on exhibition at the Brock street Summer Gardens for to-night and to-morrow night which dresses up the Gardens beautifully and is well worth seeing.

Growing flowers is a hobby with Al and he is to be congratulated on the results he obtains.

Gomez Blanks Tigers In Initial Game 5-0

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP) — (Lefty) Vernon Gomez shut out the league-leading Detroit Tigers with eight scattered hits as New York Yankees bunched their blows off Vic Sorrell in two innings to take the first game of to-day's double-header, 5-0, played before a crowd of 45,000. The victory reduced the Tigers' lead to 3½ games.

John Labatt's Home In London Is Closed

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 16.—(CP)—The London home of John Labatt was deserted today, doors barred, shades drawn. The family was at the home of Hugh Labatt, where the brewer was sleeping after three days in the hands of kidnappers.

On the verandah of John's home were piled the newspapers of the last three days — all of them eight-column-lined with stories of his disappearance.

Market Briefs

as Received Over Wire LEEMING AND LEEMING Phones 2786—2787

New York, Aug. 17:

Long predictions of accumulation are usually productive of a case of "nerves" among the trading fraternity. Prices at the present time are about the same level as they were a year ago. Dur to restricted trading and rapidly changing political policies, fluctuations have been harder and sharper than ordinarily is the case. However, in recent sessions price changes have shown a tendency to become narrower even though leadership has changed from group to group.

Brokers' Opinions.

E. A. Pierce: "Probably overshadowing all other market factors is the fall business trend and opinion is forming to the effect that the development of this trend will be at a later date than usual."

C. D. Barney: "We believe the wisest course is to continue somewhat skeptical of the market's ability to rise during the next two weeks."

Last Minute Gague Contact.

Will be called for trading on the Montreal Curb market today. Capitalized at 5,000,000 of which 2,664,230 is issued. It was reported that the first diamond drill put down encountered rich values.

Central Manitoba.

Official denial has been given to reports which have been circulated to the effect reorganization was being considered. Annual report has not been issued yet, but is expected to be available before autumn.

MINING TONE HOLDS STEADY

Hollinger Retains Most of Gains Despite Late Profit-taking.

GOLD GROUP FIRM.

TORONTO, Aug. 17 (CP).—Hollinger continued the active trader till the close of the mining section of the Toronto Exchange today with the price slipping moderately on profit-taking in the late transactions. The bulk of the day's gain was held, however. The general tone was firm, mainly in the gold group.

Siscoe held a gain of 8 cents at 2.65 and Central Patricia was up narrowly at the close, while McKenzie, under profit-taking sold back about 5 cents below Thursday's close.

The heavy action in Hollinger, which closed 30 cents up at 19.75, exercised no influence on the rest of the senior gold list which dragged along in slow trading. Dome at 42.50 was off 1.50 and Wright Hargreaves lost 15 cents, Bralorne 10 and Pioneer added 15.

RELIEF GARDEN WINNERS NAMED

Judging Completed in the Community Garden Plots Contest.

EXCEPTIONAL GARDENS.

"The interesting but difficult task of judging the many community gardens has been completed," A. B. Cunningham, chairman of the Garden Plots Committee announces.

"The fact that so many gardens showed a very high standard of cultivation and care," he said, "made the judging exceptionally difficult, and it was only by repeated visits and comparisons that a final decision was made."

Judges of the contest compliment not only the winners but also the many others whose gardens they stated, "were a real pleasure to examine." The opinion was voiced that the gardens testify to healthy exercise, good food, and an intelligent provision for the needs of the coming winter.

The prizes were entirely unsolicited and the committee expresses its deep appreciation to the donors. They were awarded as follows:

Best women's garden.—Mrs. Kennedy, 1013 Water street, garden No. 114 in the Barnardo group. Prize $3, donated by Miss Cathleen McCarthy of The Examiner staff.

Best mixed garden on sod lot only.—T. L. Mahood, 136 London street, garden No. 118 in Park Hill group. Prize $3 in goods, donated by Hamilton's Grocery, Simcoe street.

For most attractive lay-out.—Vegetable garden.—G. Leal, 85 Gladstone avenue, garden No. 16, in Gladstone avenue group. Prize $3 donated by Dr. A. J. Madill, 808 Georgs street.

For best mixed gardens (3 prizes donated by The Examiner).—L. C. Lisle, 479 Bolivar street, garden No. 3 on the LaPlante group, $5; 2, George Gregory, 450 Murray street, garden No. 162 Bonaccord group, $3; 3, R. Howard, 95 Rubidge street, garden No. 55 Douglas avenue group, $2.

The last three prize-winners were unique in that their gardens were not located on the best of soil plots and they serve to illustrate what may be done by good attention under handicap conditions.

Recent rains have brought new life to the gardens. Mr. Cunningham states, and while it is too late for some of the earlier vegetables it will assure a good yield for later varieties.

The committee voices its deep appreciation of the fine co-operation of the gardeners that again made more than a 95 per cent success of the work. They also appreciate the services of Thomas Sargent, an experienced gardener, in the judging of pla

Cotton And Cowling Win Doubles Honors

Max Cotton and Jack Cowling won the men's double championship in the city tennis tournament, defeating John Donaldson and J. H. Bell in the final set yesterday—this set being unfinished from the previous night. In point scores, the two younger men just nosed out their veteran rivals by 171 to 168, while the set scores were 6—8, 3—6, 6—2, 6—3, and 6—4. After dropping the first two sets, the Cotton-Cowling team steadied down and proved just a shade stronger to come through and take the final three sets. A good crowd saw the finals which produced some excellent tennis by these four finalists. Mixed doubles are all that remain of the tennis championships.

Banker Negotiator Silent On Ransom

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—(C.P.)—Exhausted after three days of work on the Labatt case, A. L. MacDonald of Toronto, named to hand the ransom money to the kidnappers, was resting to-day. He refused to comment on the information received confidentially by the Canadian Press that the ransom had not been paid.

At the Bank of Nova Scotia here, where MacDonald is chief accountant, it was stated he "left Wednesday on his holidays." The bank

The Weather

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—Synopsis—Pressure continues low over the greater part of Northern Canada and a shallow low area is centred off the Middle Atlantic coast, while pressure is high on the British Columbia coast. Except for light showers in a few districts the weather has been fair in all provinces with high temperatures yesterday in the west and a teindency to higher temperatures in Ontario and Quebec.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valleys—Southerly winds; fair today and Saturday with stationary or a little higher temperature.

Northwestern Quebec and Lake St. John—Partly cloudy to-day and Saturday; and becoming a little warmer; a few light scattered showers.

Lower Lakes Region and Georgian Bay—Light to moderate winds; cloudy to-day and Saturday; becoming a little warmer.

COUNTY LOSES J. P.'S SERVICES

49 Justices of Peace in Peterborough Are Removed by New Order.

SERVED PUBLIC.

The 49 Justices of the Peace in Peterborough City and County are removed from office as a result of Attorney-General Roebuck's sweeping changes in the province's junior judiciary system. In all 1,000 Justices of the Peace in the Province are displaced as result of the Government's Order-in-Council.

The Justices of the Peace in this district received little or no remuneration for the valuable services they did for the public. In fact they were appointed for the convenience of the public. J.P.'s resided in widely separated sections of the country, making it easy for persons to swear affidavits without the expense of motoring to the city. Several of the Justices in the city also served from time to time in police court, during brief absences of Magistrate Langley.

"The office had become merely honorary," Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., pointed out today. "The Justices did a real service to the public, with no remuneration."

The list of Justices in Peterborough City and County, who are removed by the new order, is as follows:

Armstrong, S. R., Simcoe street, Peterborough; Adams, Frank, Simcoe street, Peterborough; Braund, Ralph C., 320 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough; Barrons, Ross A., Cordova Mines, Ont.; Crowe, Nathaniel, Bobcaygeon, Ont.; Carpenter, Albert, R.R. No. 7, Peterborough; Corkery, John, 467 Gilmour street, Peterborough; Costello, Jos. J., Ennismore, Ont.; Clark, Jno., Kinmount, Ont.; Cameron, Dr. G. S., Peterborough, Ont.; Cotton, Robt. S., 308 Park street, Peterborough; Charlton, W. J., Lakefield, Ont.; Dewart, John A., Indian River; Denne, Roland, 344 Water street, Peterborough; Eastwood, Vincent, 378 Downie street, Peterborough; Elliott, Matthew, R.R. No. 2, Norwood, Ont.; Hawthorne, Edward, Warsaw, Ont.; Howson, Gilbert, Keene, Ont.; Joyce, Samuel S., Havelock, Ont.; Howden, Wm. S., 27 Lansdowne street, Peterborough; Kidd, W. H., 72 Benson street; Lancaster, John, Westwood, Ont; Leahy, Francis D., R.R. No. 4, Lakefield, Ont.; Lancaster, T. P., Havelock, Ont.; Leeson, Ernest J., Havelock, Ont.; Lillicrap, J. R., Lakefield, Ont.; Mathieson, Wm., Havelock, Ont.; Morrison, M. A., Peterborough, Ont.; Morgan, Henry W., 368 Mark street, Peterborough; John McIntosh, R.R., 3, Peterboro; McNulty, Patrick, Norwood, Ont.; Morrow, W. G., Toronto Savings and Loan Co., Peterborough; Parker, Lewis, Nogies Creek, Ont.; Fakenham, C. E., Norwood, Ont; Russell, James W., Havelock, Ont.; Ridpath, James W., Lakefield, Ont.; Rose, James A., Warsaw, Ont.; Rosebush, James W., Glenalds, Ont.; Sargent, Samuel L., R.R. No. 7, Peterborough; Squire, Frederick J., Havelock, Ont.; Spence, Claude A., Apsley, Ont.; Squire, Edwin C., Norwood, Ont.; Smithson, Morley E., R.R. No 8, Peterborough; Udy, Thomas P., Bridgenorth, Ont.; Watson, James, Lakefield, Ont.; Wilde, Abraham A., Havelock, Ont.; Weir, David, Peterborough, Ont.; Wannamaker, W. L., Havelock, Ont.; Young, T. W. H., 305 Stewart street, Peterborough.

O. A. LANGLEY IS APPOINTED

the Bar in 1896, and in 1914 accepted the office of police magistrate for Peterborough County. In 1921 he was appointed magistrate for Peterborough City also. Two years later he was appointed Local Master and in 1931 was made a King's Counsel.

Interviewed by telephone by The Examiner this morning at his home in Lakefield, Magistrate Langley expressed his satisfaction at being retained in office. He recalled that he had received all his appointments under Conservative Governments.

"I am pleased to know that my services have been retained," he said. "I knew nothing of what was happening except what I read in the papers. As yet I have received no official notification of any change."

He did not care to comment on the change in the magistrates' system, stating that he had not had an opportunity to study its probable effects and improvements.

Paid By Province

TORONTO, Aug. 17. (CP).—The Provincial Government will pay the salaries of the new magistrates appointed under the reorganization of the magisterial system in Ontario, I. A. Humphries, K.C., Deputy Attorney General, said to-day. Later, however, the government may change this plan, he intimated, by apportioning some of the cost to the municipalities. Under the reorganization, salaries range from $2,500 to $4,000 a year.

Although J. F. McKinley of Ottawa has been retired from his magistracy, his status as chairman of the Ontario Parole Board and judge of the Juvenile Court are unaffected, Mr. Humphries said.

JOHN LABATT IS RELEASED

patiently for some word from the brewery millionaire's kidnappers.

Hugh had moved secretly to another room on the 17th floor, and thence John was taken to leave shortly afterward on a fast motor ride through the night to his wife and three children in London.

This was the man who had been released a short time before from the kidnappers' car, containing four men and who had hailed a taxicab to be driven from a corner in North Toronto 3½ miles to the hotel.

Say $50,000 Paid

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 17 (CP) —"Less than $50,000 ransom was paid for the release of John Labatt "according to information here today."

A sum was fixed upon after a long conference with the kidnappers' contact man, according to the report. Arguments for reduction of the $150,000 ransom originally demanded were that John Labatt had far less money than was generally believed, and that $150,000 could not be raised. The exact figure said to have been paid was not revealed.

Looking for Hudson

BARRIA, Ont., Aug. 17 (CP) — Police to-day were seeking a sedan (Hudson) with red wire wheels in connection with the kidnapping of John S. Labatt, London brewer, released early to-day by his abductors. The search was being made in the Barrie area and when questioned shortly after noon police said they had not found the machine yet.

The car was described by Willard Anderson, farmer, who witnessed the transfer of a man believed Labatt into another auto

HAMILTON, Aug. 17 (C.P.)—The Lambton Mills episode in the Labatt kidnapping yesterday was nothing more than an attempt by overzealous newspapermen to frame a situation where they could get startling pictures of contact men arriving with bags of ransom money, the Canadian Press was informed to-day by a relative of the family. Toronto police had investigated and almost made an arrest over the unpleasant incident, he declared.

It will be remembered that a service station operator at Lambton Mills phoned the Toronto police and said that some men had come into his place to use the telephone. He had heard them call the Royal York and mention the name of Labatt. They were in three or four cars. Police investigated and deemed the matter a hoax.

"They just wanted us to go out there, where they expected we would turn up with a couple of bags full of money, and then they counted on getting flashlight photographs of the party by night.

But we didn't bite. The Toronto police almost made some arrests over it."

It was authoritatively stated that Hugh Labatt never drew any money from the Bank of Nova Scotia in London as he was reported to have done.

"As a matter of fact, the bank was closed when he was supposed to have got the money. I doubt, if that branch of the bank would carry $150,000, and if it did, it would be in large denomination bills which kidnappers would never accept.

"It was later stated that Hugh Labatt put the money in his pocked and rushed to Toronto. It would take two or three large satchels to carry that much money.

The relative enlightened the Canadian Press on the identity of the "mystery man" of yesterday's news reports. The man was said to have been attired in white flannels and Panama hat and his actions aroused suspicion when he stayed around the hotel lobby and then visited Hugh Labatt's room.

Special Detective.

"That man was just the special detective employed to watch the telephone switchboard for calls to the room," it was pointed out.

Relatives gave great credit to Chief D. C. Draper, of the Toronto police, for the work in the Labatt case.

"He hasn't been in bed for the whole three days since John Labatt was kidnapped," they explained. "He certainly deserves a great deal of credit for his work."

In State of Collapse.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17.— (C. P.)—In a telephone conversation with London this afternoon, Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck learned John Labatt, released after 60 hours in the hands of kidnappers, was "in a state of considerable collapse" after his ordeal. He was under constant care of his physician, Mr. Roebuck was told.

LONDON.—The United States was tentatively allocated a 1934-35 wheat export quota of 10,500,000 bushels by the international wheat conference to-day, the Associated Press was informed by an official source.

Splendid Calibre of Exhibits at Flower Show

GEORGE CLARKE IS WINNER OF J. A. MADILL CUP

Do People of Peterborough Appreciate Kind of Horticulturalists They Have?

CARDWELL CUP WINNER

J. A. Smith Wins Cup for Best Half Dozen of Cut Roses.

"I sometimes wonder if the people of Peterborough appreciate the kind of horticulturists they have in their midst. You have here some of the finest growers in Canada. They can win in competition anywhere.

"As for the show to-day, it is of a very high order and the exhibits are of splendid calibre. If you continue in this way, in a few years Peterborough should be one of the flower centers of the country. That should be the objective of your society."

F. W. Warren of Hamilton, who, with Charles Lane of Valentia and J. S. McGiffin of Peterborough, acted as judge at the Flower Show held under auspices of the Peterborough Horticultural Society in the Canadian Legion hall yesterday, spoke briefly to the gathering at the show last night, giving his evidently very sincere opinion of the exhibit of flowers which was a feature of yesterday in the city.

There were 79 adult classes, with 29 exhibitors and 306 exhibits, and 9 classes for juniors, with 29 exhibitors (the same number as in the senior section), and 81 exhibits. Of the 29 juvenile exhibitors, 26 were prize-winners.

Cup Winners

George H. Clarke of 49 Alfred street, with 49 points, proved the winner of the challenge cup presented by Dr. A. J. Madill for the largest number of points gained in the show. Runners-up were J. A. Smith of 150 Benson avenue (44 points), and H. W. Cardwell of Fraserville (30 points).

Mr. Clarke also secured the Ontario Horticultural Association ribbon for 1934, for the outstanding exhibit in the show, which was a gladiolus spike of the "Picardy" variety.

The G. H. Clarke challenge cup presented for the best gladiolus spike in the show, went to H. W. Cardwell of Fraserville.

The Challenge cup presented by H. L. Beal for the best half dozen cut roses exhibited by an amateur grower, was won by J. A. Smith of 150 Benson avenue.

Owing to insufficient information as to school exhibits, it was impossible to decide the winner of the Rotarian cup given to the school winning most points in the Juvenile section. This will be decided later.

Major Exhibitors

Large exhibitors in the show included G. H. Clarke, J. A. Smith, H. W. Cardwell, Al Spenceley, J. S. Mason, H. Gabbutt, George Benton, Mrs. W. G. P. Benton, E. Benson, Mrs. Plunkett of Keene, Mrs. Henderson of R.R. No. 7, Mrs. Dickson of Chamberlain street, Mrs. Dummitt of Alfred street, J. Stenton, W. J. McKnight and N. Monks of R.R. No. 6.

Energetic officers of the Peterborough Horticultural Society who assisted materially with all details, included the president, S. T. Harris, the secretary, W. G. P. Benton, the staging and advisory committee G. H. Clarke, F. Biddle, S. T. Harris, W. G. P. Benton, J. Stenton, the chairman of the show committee, J. A. Smith, and the very obliging secretary of the show committee, E. Bradshaw of Mark street.

The big hall presented an attractive setting for the show. Pale green paper formed the table coverings, the curtains on the windows, and the pointed decorations on the walls. Overhead the pastel-tinted ornaments of the ceiling harmonized with the flower tints, in their faint mauves, greens and yellows.

The ladies of the committee had a pretty tea-room in the retiring-room at the south end of the hall, and they sold ice cream also.

Drawing the attention at once with its beauty, at the entrance, was the City Parks' exhibit, "not for competition," of some wonderfully pretty bluish-mauve statice, a delicate, lacy thing that has an evanescent charm, and is grown right here in Peterborough.

Annuals were arranged in attractive array; rose-pink and purple larkspur, fragile, velvety, sweet william, coreopsis, frilled centaurea, marigolds, pincushiony scabiosa, misty blue ageratum, cosmos, purple candytuft, and a novelty in a South African veldt flower, the "dimophetheca," if you please, that keeps good hours and goes sleep early in the evening, remaining somnolent until about ten the next morning.

Exquisite Sword Flowers.

The gladioli were superb. Tall, exquisite, sword-like blooms, they stood in martial, stiff array, spreading petticoats that included colors like jewels—amethyst, ruby, coral—colors like wines — sherry, port, grape — colors like old, matured woods—mahogany, walnut, oak—and the fairy colors of the rainbow spectrum.

The glowing, translucent whites were outstanding in their beauty and perfection of bloom. Pure snow white are the "Maid of Orleans" and "Milkmaid"; gorgeous crimson in the "Red Lory" ruby-purple is the "Charles Dickens"; dawn pink is the appropriately-named "Aristocrat"; shell-pink the lovely "Duna"; ethereal blue the "Ave Maria"; lemon-yellow is "Spray of Gold" and "Amethyst" is just tinted like its name.

Dainty gladioli with ruby-tinted hearts were the Madame Mounet-Gully and the creamy "Coronation," while the strange greyish-pink of "ash of rose" colored the beautiful "Mother Machree."

Salmon-pink and mulberry and mauve were other striking tones in these brilliant flowers, and there were some unusual combinations of colors in the tall glasses holding triple stalks. One example, for instance, showed a trio in the pure white of "Maid of Orleans," the azure of "Heavenly Blue," and the ruby-centered white of "Miss Clare." A second trio included two lemon-yellow blossoms, "Spray of Gold," and "Perfection," and a pinkish-mauve spike of "Lavender Bride." The rose-splashed edges of the pale pink "Painted Lady" appeared in another lovely combination.

Catching the eye with their glowing beauty were gladioli featured in large decorative baskets. Twenty spikes of dead-white "Albatross" were arranged with a banking of "snow on the mountain" (that decorative stuff that careful botanists persist in alluding to by the unlikeable name of Euphorbia, in one basket.

Pale yellow and mauve 'glads' filled another lovely basket, but the pick of the lot (from Al Spenceley's Pastime Garden), was the delectable arrangement of "Patricia Carter" gladioli, tall, delicate, shell-pink 'prims,' with a mass of feathery gypsophila.

Size featured many of the blooms. The gladioli were large and tall, there were some huge dahlias and zinnias and even the phlox leaned to out-size types, this year.

All of the flowers, with only one exception, some anaemic-looking clarkia, were singularly fresh and free from blemish. Their complexions were marvellous, if one may use the phrase with regard to flower countenances. Pansies retained their vigour by showing only their faces and keeping their stalks immersed in plenty of cold water, through wire meshes in shallow pans.

Striking Color Combinations

Ingenuity and genuine good taste were exhibited in the choice of blossoms for the low bowls and silver holders for ornamental table use. One outstanding combination was in the blue and purple of monkshood, the pale yellow of heliopsis and the feathery prettiness of baby's breath. Another dainty arrangement included pink larkspur and little yellow helenium, or dwarf sunflowers.

Included in the seven senior and nine junior classes were "Novice" sections and an extremely fine "Juvenile" table that was acclaimed as quite out of the ordinary in excellence. Here the competitors went in for blazing orange calendula, red, pink and purple phlox, glaring African ball marigolds and larkspur, to say nothing of well-laundered beets and carrots in a miniature vegetable array.

There were decorative baskets of cut flowers, one example making a brave showing with the aid of a trio of flamboyant sunflowers, included in a display of cacti dahlias, burnt orange gladioli and golden glow. And long strands of mulberry 'love lies bleeding' and magenta princess feather finished the edges of this striking basket.

The large table where big baskets were on view had also a central item in a large pot of English ivy, the "ivy green" of Dickens' poem; a flowering begonia plant, foliages and red geraniums and some healthy ferns, among them a fine, lacy "Martha Washington." Here, too, were succulents; a rubbery cactus plant and a huge house-leek, or sempervivum, for all the world like a hard green rose.

Fragrant roses and sweet peas had a little table all to themselves, roses red and white and creamily yellow, and sweet peas in rose and pink and white.

The individual displays of various flowers included zinnias, those strange off-color flowers that look as if they just happened somehow and weren't quite sure just what color they would assume. Some of them changed their minds after their faces were colored and had the backs of their petals tinted some other shade, like the crimson zinnia with the henna reverse.

"Pansies for Thoughts"

There were velvety-faced pansies, the 'thought' flowers; cacti dahlias with pointed, spike formations, in henna, vermilion, tangerine and lemon-yellow; spicy carnations and pinks; beautiful displays of mahogany-colored salpiglossis, petunias, single, double, frilled, larkspur in pink and blue and purple; phlox; friendly nasturtiums; gaillardia, and lilies.

The lilies were most interesting. Tall tiger blooms with spotted faces were paramount, and there were the faintly orange blooms of Lily Henryi, and the yellow-pencilled petals of lilium auratum, with its heady perfume.

Delphinium were scarce, as were asters.

The major element in the show was the gladioli. They may not have the comforting or companionable presence of other, less stately flowers, but they catch the eye with their translucent delicate colorings, like jewels in the sun, the odd tints that give each flower an individuality all its own, and the variations in plain and ruffled edges. The primulini variety, with tinier petals and a different arrangement, were just as attractive and the colorings as delicate and lovely.

An arrangements of wild bloom that was imbued with tall, dignified prominence and the interest of its neutral - tinted sprays, included many of the well-known vagrant wild things of the woods and roads, combined effectively in a big reed basket. There were yellow goldenrod spikes ("The hayfever flower"), mulbery Joe pie weed, white ironweed and arrowhead, purple vervain, scarlet lobelia and the familiar 'butter and eggs' of childhood, all interspersed with long fronds of spear grass.

It was the kindly Mr. Biddle who took a lot of trouble to point out the various specimens in this interesting basket, and he demonstrated also how the little 'hinges' on another wild bloom, the false dragonhead, may be bent back and forth without injuring the plant in any way.

RUSH POINT.

Masters Roy and Russell Keating of McGill spent last week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Keating, of Rush Point.

Miss Thelma Lewis of Trent River is the guest this week of her cousin, Miss Luelle Keating, of Rush Point.

A large number of Rush Point and Round Lake people attended the street dance in Havelock on Wednesday evening of this week and declared the evening a great success.

Mr. Ray Connor of Campbellford Lumber Co. was at Rush Point on business recently.

CHEMONG AQUATIC CONTINGENT PROMINENT IN ANNUAL REGATTA

Janeway Takes Honors in Mile Swim, Premier Event on Program.

LAKEFIELD REGATTA.

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 17 (Examiner Correspondence).—Lakefield dock was thronged with citizens and visitors on Wednesday for the Annual Regatta, which was run off very successfully with good entries in every event, and a close finish. The Lakefield regatta course, just off the government dock, is ideally situated and well sheltered. The weather was ideal and the day not too hot for comfort and everything contrived for a first-class aquatic program. Mr. Cyril Tuck, of Peterborough, was the managing director of the committee and very efficiently conducted the work of preparation. The committee of judges were excellent and were: G. G. Connell, F. Jopling and Dr. Zimmerman. Ed. Wright, of Peterborough, was starter, and filled the bill to the King's taste. F. X. White was the announcer and Miss B Graham the recorder.

A contingent from Chemong Park played a prominent part in nearly every event and added to the gaiety. Kawartha Park sent down a quota who did their bit. Local entries were proportionately small, but the highway has absorbed a good many of the budding athletes of the village. Several came all the way from Stoney Lake to attend, and the dock, which with its three levels made an extra nice grandstand, was lined with all ages, occasionally an over-curious juvenile fell in, but that was a mere incident, and no accident marred the pleasure of the event.

The mile swim was really the premier event and while only three entered, it was worth seeing. Janeway's performance was a treat to see. Charlie Robertson, of "The Grove", who took second place, swam well and though really only a youngster, showed real form. Jack Tripp, of Omemee, was third and not much behind Robertson.

Biggest Entry.

As usual the crab race brought out the biggest entry, with twelve boats, and as usual too, the course was a zig-zag one. Doug. MacPherson showed skill and led the field, but when victory was almost within a paddle length his boat spun around and before he could get it back Ralph Jopling had shot ahead and won the race.

Boats upset in several of the races, but most of the competitors wore their bathing suits and no damage resulted. Four boats entered the war canoe race, which was run the second time to try to overcome the fouling. The men's single canoe race was also repeated as there were several fouls.

Frank "Drake" Jopling would have been an easy winner of the points prize if there had been one, as his work was outstanding and his strength and skill combined to put him in first place in most of the men's single events.

The following are the results:

Mixed Tandem Canoe—6 entries: (1) Phyllis and Frank Jopling; (2) Helen Clark and Ted Hiland; (3) Jean Parsons and George Stenner.

Gunwale Race—7 entries: (1) Frank Jopling; (2) Ross Pulkinghorn; (3) Douglas MacPherson.

Men's Single Canoe—8 entries: (1) Frank Jopling; (2) Jack Jopling; (3) Ted Hiland.

Ladies' Single Canoe—3 entries: (1) Phyllis Jopling; (2) Phyllis Charlton; (3) Jean Parsons.

Mens' Tandem Canoe—9 entries: (1) Perry and Ralph Jopling; (2) Douglas MacPherson and Ross Pulkinghorn; (3) Frank Jopling and Ted Hiland.

Ladies' Tandem Canoe—4 entries: (1) Helen Clark and Helen Stevens; (2) Mary Zimmerman and Madeline Charlton; (3) Phyllis Jopling and Constance Stuart.

Crab Race—12 entries: (1) Ralph Jopling; (2) Douglas MacPherson; (3) Douglas Zimmerman.

Mixed Fours—6 entries: (1) Mary Zimmerman, Minnie Pierdon, Ted Hiland and Frank Jopling; (2) Phyllis Madge, Perry and Ralph Jopling (Chemong); (3) Alice and Bill Pierdon; Madeline Charlton and Douglas Zimmerman (Kawartha Park).

One Mile Swim—3 entries: (1) Vernon Janeway; (2) Charlie Robertson; (3) Jack Tripp.

War Canoe Race (six)—4 entries: (1) Jack Jopling's crew; (2) Doug. MacPherson's crew; (3) Fred Marsden's crew.

Men's Swim—75 yards, 5 entries: (1) Frank Jopling; (2) Ward Wright; (3) Vernon Janeway.

Ladies' Swim—75 yards, 3 entries: (1) Mary Kingsbury; (2) Thelma Buller; (3) Phyllis Charlton.

Boys' Swim—50 yards, 16 years and under, 7 entries: (1) Ted Hunter; (2) Jack Jopling; (3) A Freeman.

Girls' Swim—50 yards, 16 years and under, 4 entries: (1) Denise Hill; (2) Margaret Hunter; (3) Lena Shearer.

Prizes were presented at the dance in the Pavilion in the evening and a highly successful event goes down into the annals of aquatic events in Lakefield's history.

ALL-BRAN MADE HIM REGULAR AS CLOCK

Delicious Cereal Corrected His Constipation

We quote from his voluntary and enthusiastic letter: "After reading your advertisement, I decided to use ALL-BRAN. I had been taking pills right along. But now I don't have to take pills.

"I take ALL-BRAN every morning, and am as regular as the clock. It has done me a lot of good."—Stephen Higgins (address furnished upon request).

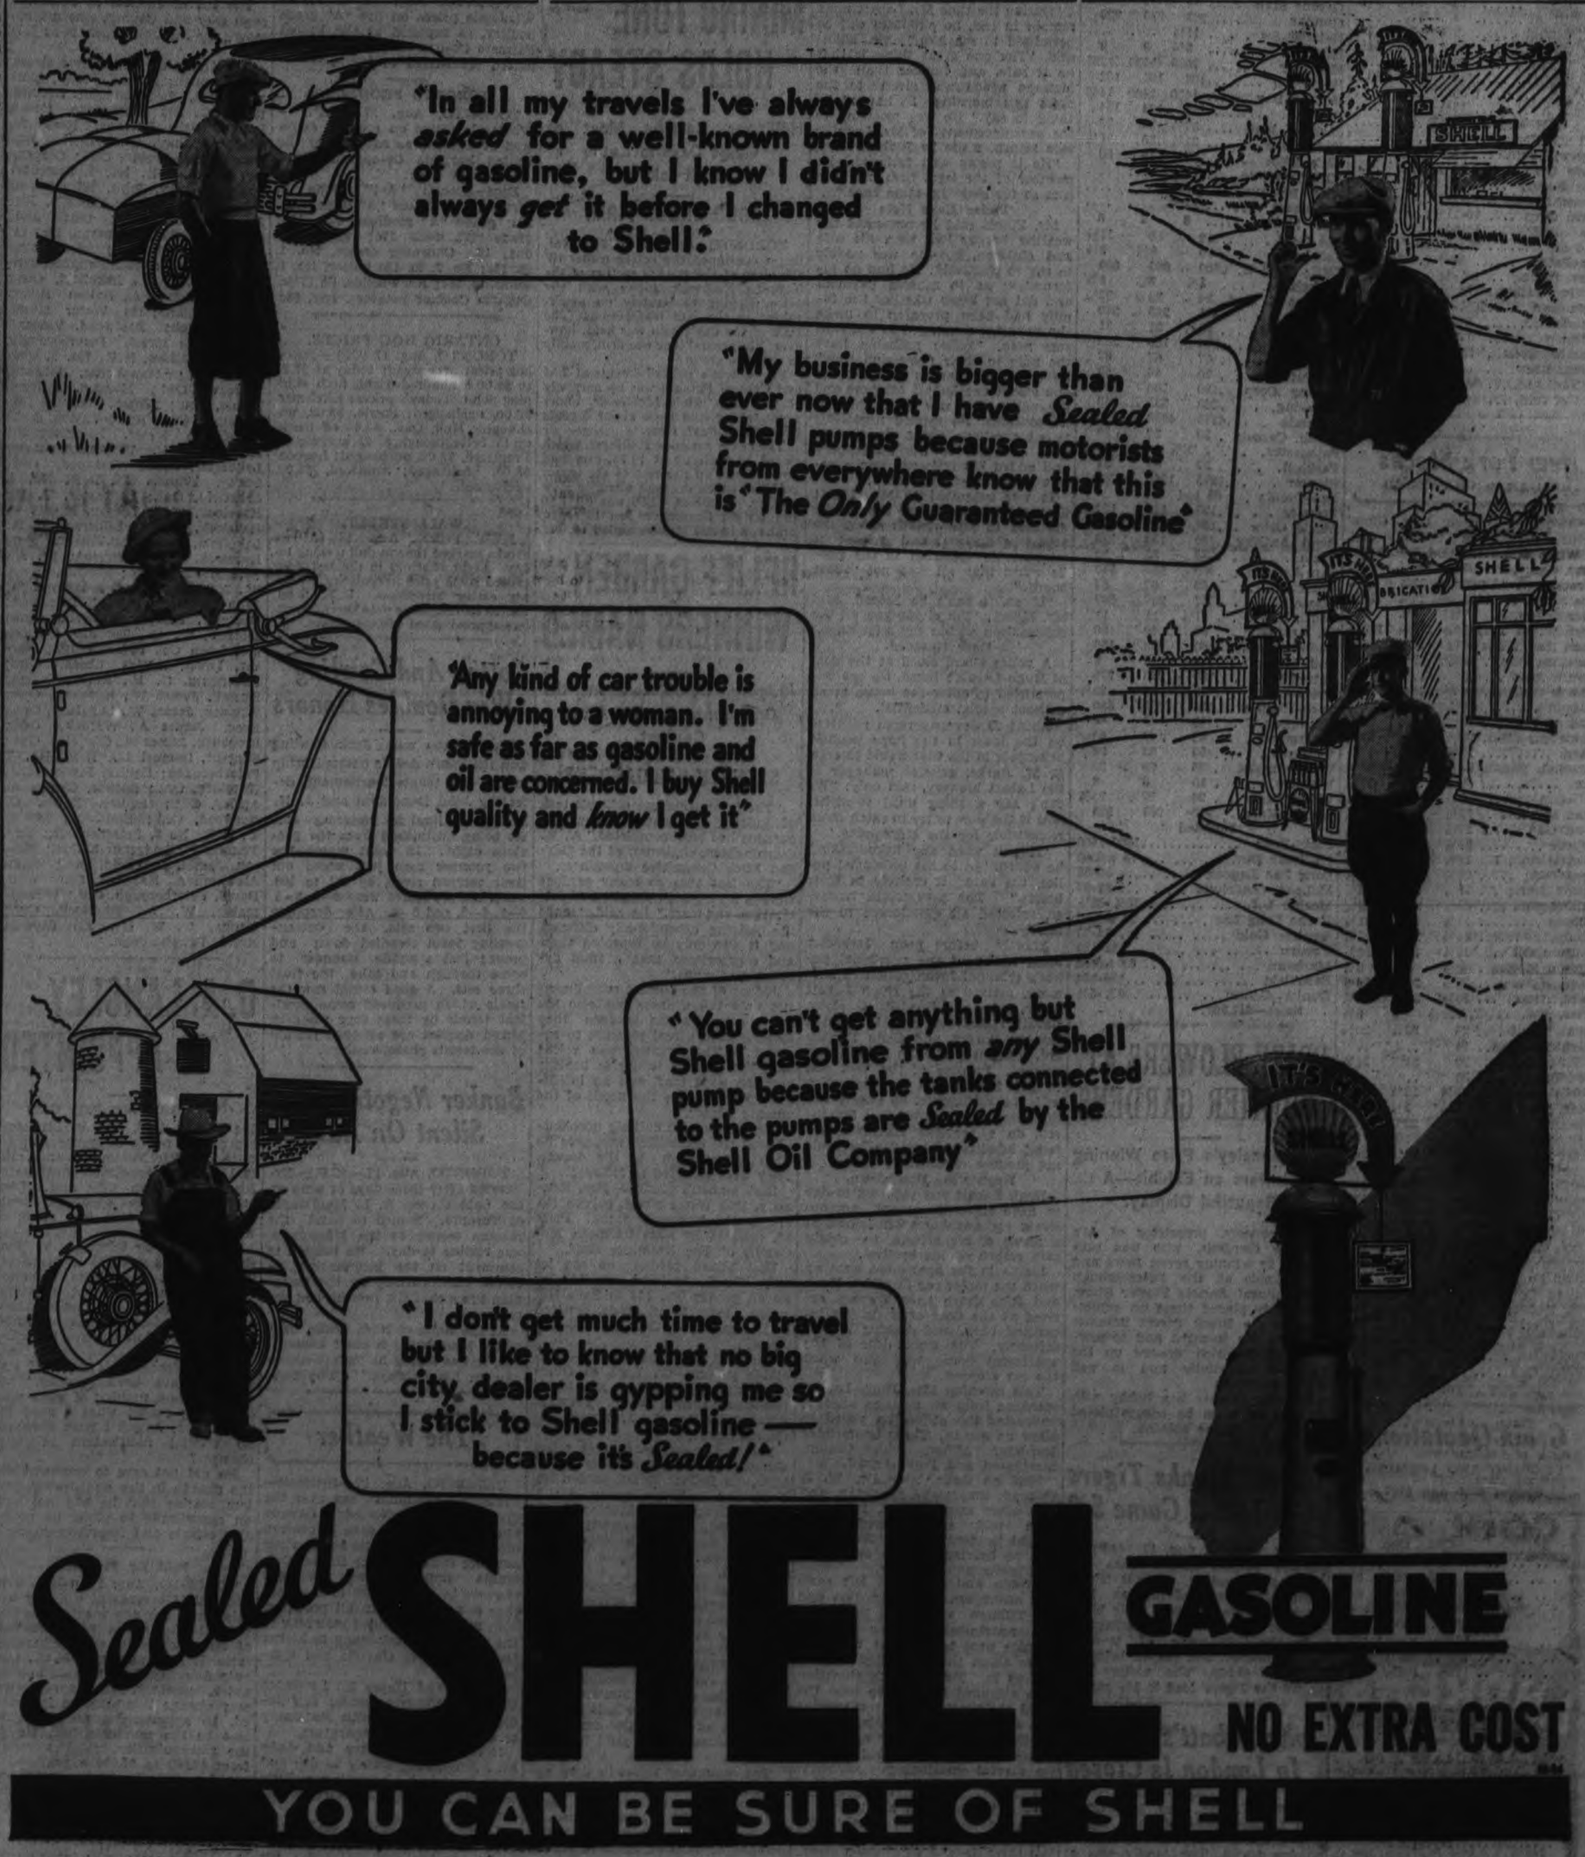
Common constipation frequently causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Yet this condition can be overcome, usually, by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Tests show this delicious cereal provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN is also rich in iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently this clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this safer than taking harmful patent medicines? Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream. Use it also in making fluffy muffins, and breads, etc. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.



150 Men at Camp 5 on Apsley Highway Lay Down Tools

RING LEADERS ARE DISMISSED CLAIM BAD MEAT

Entire Camp Resumed Work After Complete Inspection.

CHECK-UP IS MADE.

Meat Supply Question is Being Taken Up With the Department.

Dismissal of over half-a-dozen agitators at Camp 5 on the Burleigh Falls-Bancroft highway construction project, was the official action given effect yesterday following a strike at the camp on the previous afternoon.

The strike causing the entire camp of some 150 men to down tools on Wednesday afternoon, and to forfeit four hours pay, was the result of alleged complaints of "maggot ridden" meat stated by employees at the camp to have been sent out to them for dinner.

Excepting the alleged ringleaders who were summarily dismissed by order of Chief Superintendent McCarthy of the Northern Development Department the entire camp resumed work as usual yesterday morning, and no further trouble is anticipated.

Complaints were investigated by James Hawthorne and J. S. Selkirk, and also by The Examiner who dispatched a representative to the scene of the trouble.

Complaints Unfounded

While The Examiner interviewed highway workers, who stated positively that they had seen maggots in the meat served from the camp kitchens, Mr. Selkirk stated with equal emphasis that the results of the investigation made by himself and Mr. Hawthorne had led to the conclusion that the complaints were without foundation.

"Do you consider the complaints were justified," The Examiner asked Mr. Selkirk.

"No we do not," he replied stating that he spoke also on behalf of Mr. Hawthorne.

"The complaints about maggots in the meat were not justified," he reiterated. "All the complaining was done by young men between 18-25 years of age who have had no former experience of camp life. The older men who have had former camp experience are agreed that the meals are up to usual camp standard."

Meat Twice Weekly

While admitting that under present conditions Crawley and McCracken, the boarding contractors, are receiving meat deliveries at the camps from Peterborough twice weekly, and that none of the camps have facilities for the keeping of meat on ice in summer months, Mr. Selkirk said that he and Mr. Hawthorne found all the meat which they inspected at the camp yesterday and which had been delivered there the day previous, to be in good condition. "In fact," he remarked, "the meat was still holding the frost."

He added that Mr. Hawthorne had taken up the question of meat supplies with the Department of Northern Development and had suggested the possibility of the boarding contractors purchasing their beef locally and having it killed and prepared by local butchers.

Examiner Check-up.

To check-up on the rumors relative to a disturbance in one of the camps, and the further rumor, which was discovered to be without foundation, that two highway workers were admitted to Apsley Red Cross Outpost Hospital suffering from food poisoning, Examiner representatives drove over the tortuous route, making specific investigation into the cause of the strike at Camp 5, and a superficial survey of the general situation as it effects the whole group of camps.

Dr. E. H. Manning, Medical Officer of Health for Burleigh-Anstruther Township, and physician at Camps 4, 5, and 6, stated no cases of sickness from food poisoning at any of the camps under his jurisdiction has been brought to his notice.

"I have heard several complaints about the food at each of the camps," Dr. Manning said, "but whenever I have eaten at the camps I have found the food to be substantial and wholesome. The situation to me seems to be that half the men are satisfied and the other half are not."

Summer 'Flu Epidemic

He commented on the general health of the highway workers as being "good," while admitting that many of the men have been sick with summer influenza, which he believed was evident in mild epidemic form throughout the district.

"I do not attribute the influenza which has affected many of the camp workers as being due to faulty diet, bad water or insanitary conditions at all," he declared. "It is an epidemic which has affected members of my own family and other private residents in Apsley and other parts of the district."

As medical officer of health, Dr. Manning said he was responsible for sanitation and water supplies at the camps, and he was quite positive in stating that the requirements of the Department of Health were being carried out in these important respects.

Water and Sanitation.

"The water at each of the camps had been carefully tested with satisfactory results," he stated. He added that Dr. N. E. Sutton, former District Medical Officer of Health could bear him out in that respect, and also in regard to camp sanitation.

"Officially none of the trouble can be attributed to bad food or water supplies," the doctor stated.

Proceeding on to Camp 6, about four miles north of Apsley, The Examiner found that Charles Annis, camp superintendent was away for the evening. The "straw boss" however readily invited "the press" to speak with any of the men they desired in order to obtain information as to conditions at the camp.

As was to be expected The Examiner found the odd individual who was not satisfied, and learned that only that morning a new cook had made his appearance in the camp kitchen. "It seems to be the custom to change the cooks around about once a month," one of the men stated.

Typical Camp Menu

Asked what the menu for the day had been another worker said, flap jacks, "porridge for them as wants it" and bacon was served for breakfast. Dinner consisted of meat, potatoes and vegetables, while for suppes among other things, fresh tomatoes were served. He referred to "fresh tomatoes" as though they were an unusual delicacy, as indeed they are in the camps, and added they had been greatly enjoyed by everybody.

There was little or no discontent apparent at Camp 6. The men with few exception appeared bronzed, healthful physical specimens. Some of them with no apparent intention of leaving camp for the evening were lounging around in their work clothes, others were performing camp chores, another group was busy "putting the shot", while yet another group were togged out in their best clothes awaiting arrival of a taxi they had hired, "for six bits apiece" to take them into Lakefield for a street dance.

Most of the men in Camp 6 hail from Toronto and Western Ontario, although The Examiner was informed that the blacksmiths and carpenter are Peterborough men.

Camp No. 5

Stopping-off at Camp 5 on the inward trip back to the city, a reporter found no apparent indication of any recent disturbances at the camp. Indeed it was ascertained from the various men who were interviewed that the "trouble" amounted to nothing more than that the entire group of men downed their tools and refused to work.

"We all went out to work this morning as usual," a young Peterborough man said, "on being assured that a delegation was coming up to look into things."

Questioned as to what had been the specific cause of the strike, the youth stated that the gang he was with had been working about 2 miles south of the camp Wednesday morning and that when they received dinner at noon the men had found maggots in the meat. "It was unfit to eat," he said, "so everybody just walked off the job."

There was no disturbance raised at the camp, he added. The entire group of workers just left their work and returned to camp for the rest of the day.

"Super Fair and Square"

Archie Whitmore, is superintendent at Camp 5, but the men interviewed had no fault to find with his administration. "He is a nice fellow, fair and square in his dealings with us," one of the other men remarked.

Commenting on Cook Reid of Apsley a highway employee said, "I think that if the man had the proper facilities it would make all the difference to the meals. As it is some of the food is not only rotten but it is only half cooked."

"Did you actually see maggots in your meat," another man was asked.

"Yes," was the definite assertion. He added that "five Peterborough men whose names I do not care to state took samples of the meat into the city last night to see if something could not be done about it."

It was alleged by this same man that when Mr. Hawthorne and Mr. Selkirk arrived at the camp at noon "the cookhouse was all cleaned up for the occasion and all the bad meat had been disposed of."

According to Mr. Selkirk, Reid is regarded as a competent cook, who was employed at one time by the late J. E. A. Fitzgerald. Referring to the suggestion that the kitchen at the camp had been cleaned-up prior to arrival to himself and Mr. Hawthorne at the camp, Mr. Selkirk remarked that "today is not the first time I have inspected the kitchen. I have visited the camp on three former occasions." At no time had he seen any cause for complaint, he said.

London's famous fortress, the Tower, now has a regular resident population of 700 men, women and children, including the detachment of Guards on duty.

Apsley Is "Wide Open," Highway Worker Declares, Beer At 40 Cents, Liquor $3.50

Persistent rumors that Apsley is "wide open" and is a thriving nest of bootleggers were investigated yesterday by The Examiner.

"Sure, if you want a drink I can take you to a dozen places," a highway worker, who did not know that he was talking to a reporter, stated casually. "The place is alive with 'em. You can get vendor's beer at 40 cents a quart, any brand, hard liquor at $3.50 a bottle and moonshine for two bucks a quart.

"And, say, has that moonshine got a kick! I tried it. Once was enough. It nearly made me blind. I had trouble with my eyes for five days."

The reporter did not accept the lad's well-meant invitation to visit some of the "legs," but did obtain more local color on the situation.

"Sure the cops have been up here several times," a resident of Apsley stated, "but they never caught anybody. The bootleggers always knew when they were on their way."

Other facts regarding Apsley "wetness" were secured.

However, all this information was minimized by a prominent citizen of the village. "I don't think there is any more bootlegging here than any village of similar size under similar conditions," this man said. "Any drinking that there has been has caused no one any harm and there has been no disorder on the street."

However, this was the only dry note in all the chorus of "wetness" the reporter heard.

A CHEERING NOTE IS SOUNDED HERE

Business Good Despite Adverse Economic Conditions Generally—Brighter Outlook for Fall.

FREE TICKETS TO THE EX.

This year quite a few new features are combining in a praiseworthy effort to assure Peterborough Exhibition's growth in educational attraction and entertainment, and McBride & Franks' gift of free tickets is also proving a factor for increasing attendance. Quite a few in-town and out-of-town citizens have taken advantage of this enterprising firm's offer of a free admission ticket to the Exhibition for every $5 in cash spent in their store up to and including the last days of the Fair, and no doubt more will follow. Of course, this free gift proposition applies also to each $5 paid in cash on credit purchases, up to a limit of seven tickets to each customer.

This furniture and furnishings store shows a very gratifying gain in clientage since its inception, and to use the partners' own words, "They find no reason to regret moving from Charlotte street to their present quarters on George street, a few doors north of The Examiner." Then, despite adverse economic conditions generally, their business has been outstandingly good; and they are practically expressing grateful acknowledgment of the same by offering drastic price reductions on all regular merchandise purchased this month of August sales.

McBride & Franks attributes their business success largely to their operating policy of "the customer must be pleased"—yes, satisfied with the quality of his or her purchase, its price, the terms (if any), and last, but not least, the service. Just now the three floors of this big house furnishing emporium are teeming with one hundred per cent. values for discriminating shoppers—values in chesterfield, dining-room, bedroom and breakfast suites, draperies and individual pieces of fine furniture that irresistibly arrest the eye and hold the attention of visitors. "Come in and look around whether you buy or not," invites McBride & Franks.

Reports Submitted To Humane Society

At a brief business meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Humane Society, held yesterday afternoon at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Powell, on Buckhorn Lake, where the members of the executives were entertained, the following report was submitted by the Inspector, Dr. Thos. Johnston: Horses examined, 12; dogs brought to shelter, 10; dogs humanely destroyed, 9; dogs placed in homes, 2; cats brought to shelter, 7; humanely destroyed, 7; cattle examined, 50; complaints investigated, 5; warnings issued, 4; emergency calls, 2. Many telephone calls were received.

The Society would like to point out that, while it is anxious to have all cases of neglect and cruelty to animals reported, it objects to false reports being sent in, as tending to antagonize, instead of assisting, in the prevention of cruelty to animals.

THAT "LIKE THE DICKENS" FEELING IS LIVER

Wake Up Your Liver Bile. Feel Fit. You Needn't use Calomel To Do It.

It's your liver, failing to pour out the vital two pounds of bile, daily, into your bowels, that makes you feel so off-colour.

Lack of bile means poor digestion. Food stays too long in your bowels and decays. Your system is poisoned. You go through the misery of gas, bloating, pain, heartburn. You have a dark brown abominable taste in your mouth and bad breath. Your skin's unhealthy and often your head aches. Your whole system needs cut of kilter.

How can you reasonably expect to clear up a condition like this by merely taking salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum, or enemas? These only move the bowels, and that's not enough. You must wake up your liver bile.

A good salomel (mercury). Take Carter's Little Liver Pills. They're purely vegetable, gentle, sure and safe. They'll make you feel a hundred per cent better in a very short time.

Don't waste your money on substitutes. Be definite. Ask for Carter's by name—and get them! Look for the name, Carter's, on the red label. 25c, at all druggists.

The Kids

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 17.—(CP)—Visitors from almost everywhere come to see the Dionne quintuplets. Today two cars with Ohio licenses wheeled up to the front gate within a minute of each other and the occupants piled out in the direction of "Grandpere" Oliver Dionne who answers all the questions the tourists ask.

A stout matron from one group approached members of the other. "We're from Lorrane. Where are you folk from?

"Cleveland," another woman answered and then asked: "What brings you away up here?"

"Just to see the kids. How about you?"

Same thing. Small world, eh?"

WILLIAM BEER DIES SUDDENLY

Prominent in Educational and Community Affairs

OLD PETERBOROUGH BOY

BRANDON, Manitoba, Aug. 17.—Death came with shocking suddenness to William B. Beer, for twenty-eight years a resident of the city, prominent in the educational life of Brandon and of the province of Manitoba, Mr. Beer was driving with his family near Minnedosa when he took ill and was removed to the farm home of W. A. Ross, Basswood district, and expired almost immediately. The death was due to heart failure.

The late Mr. Beer came to Brandon 28 years ago at that time as teacher in the collegiate institute. In 1916 he was appointed as assistant principal in the Brandon Normal school which position he held at the time of his death. Mr. Beer played an important part in the matters of education both in the city and in the province and there are scattered throughout western Canada many former students who will ever retain the fondest memories of his kindly advice and encouragement during the days spent in his classes. He was ever the friend of the student.

Educated In Ontario

Mr. Beer was born in 1872 at Cleveland, Ohio, coming to Canada when an infant with his parents, Rev. W. C. and Mrs. Beer. He received his education in Peterborough and London and his normal training in Hamilton, Ont. He taught school at Dutton and Kincardine and came West in 1906. He was married in 1904 to Miss Elizabeth J. Huff, of Belleville, Ont.

He was a member of the First Church United, having been secretary of the official board and clerk of the session for a number of years. He was also a past president of the Canadian club, and a veteran of No. 62 lodge, I.O.O.F. He showed his interest in civil welfare to a marked degree and was president of the citizens' welfare league.

Besides his widow he leaves one son, W. Murray Beer, a student at University of Manitoba, and also two brothers, former residents of Brandon, Dr. E. C. Beer, of Toronto, and Dr. F. L. Beer, London, Ont., and one sister, Mrs. L. Allin, London, Ont. Mr. Beer's father was former minister of Mark Street Church, Peterborough.

PREPARED FOOD IS QUINTUPLETS NEXT ADVANCE

Collection of Human Milk in Toronto and Montreal Costs Considerable.

SCORES ADVISE DOCTOR.

Noted Physician Gradually Introducing Babes to Cooler Room Air.

(By A. R. Fulford—C.P. Staff Writer).

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 17 (CP).—The next big move in the lives of the $1-day-old Dionne quintuplets, apart from the jaunt they will take across the road to their hospital in a month or so, will be a change in diet from human milk to more substantial fare, possibly a prepared food.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe, the country physician who has attended them since they were born early in the morning of May 28, said to-day he expected that by September 30 they will be strong enough for the next move in the development of their tiny bodies.

The supply of human milk being sent here daily from Toronto and Montreal cannot be relied on indefinitely as its collection is expensive and the physician believes that in another month and a half it will be possible to make a gradual change to some other form of food.

No Pasteurized Milk

Pasteurized cow's milk is not available near their home and so it is planned to use a prepared food, of which there are dozens of varieties packed in cans. This will change the food problem from a daily worry over whether the supply will arrive to a simple matter of opening cans.

No change will be made, however, until the physician is positive it will be for the babies' good. And when it is made it will be gradual. A preparation will be selected and introduced ounce by ounce into the feeding routine until it entirely supplants the present food.

Before the big change in food, Dr. Dafoe plans another development in the babies' lives. Next week he hopes to have the nurses take Yvonne and Annette, the heaviest two, from their incubators and leave them lying on a table for increasing periods each day.

His idea is to acclimatize them to the lower room temperature. They will be given a 15-minute "stretching period" the first day and this will be increased. It is hoped that in a month or so they will have graduated from the incubators and will be able to move into beds when their new hospital is opened.

Many Obstacles Ahead

The other three youngsters, Marie, Cecile and Emilie also will be given the new freedom but the time for starting them on it is indefinite, it is possible they will be able to use beds almost as soon as their heavier sisters and that incubators will not have to be taken to the hospital.

Their physician says the babies now are in splendid condition but there are many potential obstacles to their full development. An infection of any sort at this time would endanger their lives and for this reason he is impatiently awaiting opening of their new abode where conditions for protecting them will be better.

Marie is responding slightly to the radium treatment she received from Johns Hopkins specialists last week and it is expected that within a few days her reaction will be more evident. The treatment was used for a naevus tumor on her right thigh.

Dr. Dafoe considers Yvonne, Annette and Cecile will have reached a "normal" stage at about Aug. 31. They will then, he expects, have attained a development comparable to that in normal babies of their weight and age. Emile and Marie, who weigh less, will reach this stage in about a month.

Signs of Advance

The cyanoses condition which was evident frequently when the children were younger has practically disappeared. In the first few weeks of their lives they frequently turned blue from lack of oxygen and it was necessary to administer it to them artificially. Marie had an attack last week but the other girls, it is believed, have passed the stage where they were subject to the condition.

Administration of oxygen as a mild form of stimulation is still routine treatment in the daily lives of the youngsters. It increases their appetites and generally despite the fact his orthodox treatment had brought them further along in life than any other quintuplets in history, Dr. Dafoe still receives about 100 letters a week telling him how to take care of the children. Mention in newspaper stories of a small whooping cough epidemic in the district last week brought a flood of letters carrying cures and charms for the disease.

The same thing happened when it was mentioned they had colic and jaundice some time ago.

Some letters ask advice on professional matters and others offer means of exploiting the doctor's name. Although the widower-physician will not be drawn out on the matter, it is supposed some even contain proposals of marriage.

The koto is the Japanese harp, made in the form of a zither and consisting of 13 silk strings stretched over an oblong sounding board.

KINMOUNT FARMER TAKES OWN LIFE

Aged Resident Suffering From Delusions for Past Eight Months.

LINDSAY, Aug. 17. (Special to The Examiner).—Suffering from delusions of persecutions and believing that some one was out to kill him, James Ritchie, aged 65 years, a farmer of Kinmount, ended his life by stabbing himself in the abdomen, the sharp point of the knife entering the spine.

Ritchie, who was living with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Scarlett, had suffered delusions since the death of his wife some eight months ago. Scarlett saw the old man stab himself and when Ritchie tried to cut his throat, Scarlett rushed forward and wrenched the knife away.

The grim act was committed at ten thirty yesterday morning and Ritchie was rushed to the Lindsay hospital but was unable to stand the loss of blood and the injury to the spine.

Dr. Harris of Kinmount was in attendance and called Dr. Logan of Lindsay. There will be no inquest.

Some years ago a brother of Ritchie's ended his life by hanging on the same farm.

Harbors existed in the earliest stages of civilization, as soon as man began to venture on to the ocean.

WHY WE DO THIS

It is a well-known fact that high-grade advertising is the life of business. In advertising, short, catchy phrases and sentences, called slogans, are very valuable. We need them and will gladly pay for them, and are taking this method of getting a number of suggestions.

Most slogans which have brought fortune to business houses were thought of by someone not connected with the house. Cash and credit vouchers will be given to people who least expect them. Only a few minutes' work is all it takes. Equal prizes in case of tie.

All prizes are given free.

Successful contestants will be notified by mail.

Credit vouchers are transferable.

More than one honorable mention prize will be issued.

Any one credit good for face value not to exceed one-half the purchase price on any used car or truck in stock. Credit expires Aug. 25, 1934.

All slogans must be in the mail by 9 p.m., Monday, Aug. 20, 1934.

Use coupon or plain white paper:

I hereby submit the following slogan for the judges' consideration. I agree to abide by the decision of the judges without question: ... ...

SELLING BEER BURLEIGH FALLS IN PARK HOTEL

Beverage Room is Opened up in Township of Burleigh.

MANY CUSTOMERS

Northern Township Residents Now Have Handy "Oasis."

Another "oasis" besides Peterborough City has developed in the county as a result of the Government's freer sale of beer.

Burleigh Falls is surrounded by lakes, but that is not all that makes it "wet," an Examiner reporter discovered to his surprise yesterday.

The Park Hotel, at the Falls, has a most up-to-date "beverage room" and is doing a rushing business, judging by the number of customers seen drinking beer there last evening by The Examiner. The reporter endeavored to get into the room to investigate more closely, but its crowded state discouraged him.

A prominent Liberal, who is in close touch with current events about the county, when questioned about the Burleigh Falls beverage room admitted that it was all news to him.

"I didn't know they were selling beer there," he stated.

However, it was his opinion that Burleigh Township was not local option, as is the remainder of the county. "They never voted on the question," he explained. "They could sell beer at Mount Julian, but I don't think they have any intention of doing so."

Low prices attract attention but fine quality is the best 'bargain' when it comes to tea.
Fine tea is richly flavoured, clear as crystal and healthful. Common tea is merely an indifferent beverage.

Weddings

FOX—McCOY

MADOC, Aug. 17. (Examiner Correspondence).—On Wednesday, Aug. 8, at 11 a.m. at the home of the bride's parents, Madoc township, a very pretty wedding was solemnized when Freda Blanche, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCoy became the bride of George Bert Fox, only son of Mr. John Fox of Eldorado. The Rev. A. S. Doggett of Queensboro officiated in the presence of the immediate families of the bride and groom. Mrs. M. E. Baker, sister of the bride played the wedding march.

by her father and was charmingly attired in a gown of ivory corded taffeta and net with head bandeau of pearls held in place by bridal roses and carried a bouquet of pink and cream bridal roses.

Immediately after the wedding breakfast the happy couple left by motor for Montreal and points east. The bride travelled in a smart suit of navy blue domino crepe trimmed with gray and hat and shoes to match.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Fox will reside in Madoc.

Obituary

MATTHEW A. BRECKENRIDGE.

The death occurred of Matthew Arnold Breckenridge at Colinton, Alberta, on July 20 last, at the age of 60 years. He was a native of Indian River. Surviving him are his wife, one daughter, Mildred, of Fort Saskatchewan; three sons, Valentine, of Colinton, Alta., Stanley of Fort Saskatchewan, Gavin, Clarenholm, Alta., and one sister, Janet, of Peterborough, and four brothers, Gavin, of Edmonton, John, Thomas and William, all of Peterborough.

A daughter, Etolle, predeceased him in November, 1932. The funeral service was held on Sunday, July 22, at Colinton United Church with interment at Colinton Cemetery.

DENIS McGRATH

MARMORA, Aug. 17 (Examiner Correspondence) — Quite a shock passed through this community on Thursday evening when it was learned that Denis McGrath, highly respected farmer of Marmora Township died at his home shortly after partaking of his supper.

He had pulled back his chair from the table for a smoke and chat with a visitor when death overtook him. Deceased who was about fifty-five years of age had been under medical treatment for heart trouble for a number of years, but so bright was his disposition and so affable his manner that many did not suspect his ailment.

He was a devout member of the Sacred Heart Church. Widespread sympathy is extended his widow (a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Shannon) and five young daughters who survive.

MRS. WALTER SALISBURY.

MADOC, Aug. 17 (Examiner Correspondence).—Early on Tuesday morning the friends and neighbors of Madoc village and vicinity were shocked by the sad news that Mrs. Walter Salisbury had passed away shortly after midnight after only an illness of about one hour. The late Mrs. Salisbury had been in poor health for about fifteen years. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dennison Haight of Moira and had lived her life in that community until about three years ago, when with her husband and daughter, Miss Edna, she came to reside in Madoc.

The late Mrs. Salisbury was about 57 years old, and was an ardent and devout Christian, a member of the Standard Church.

The funeral service was conducted at the Standard Church, leaving her late residence on South Durham Street shortly after one o'clock, and from thence for interment in the family plot at Moira.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, Mr. Walter Salisbury; one son, Roy, of Belleville; three daughters: Mrs. Carman Foster and Miss Edna Salisbury of Madoc, and Mrs. J. Hyde (May) of Toronto; also four sisters: Mrs. George Clare and Mrs. Harry Vanderwater of Moira, Mrs. George Mills of Toronto, Mrs. Arthur Salisbury and one brother, Fred. Haight of Belleville. One sister, Mrs. Frank Vanderwater, predeceased her about six months ago.

The many friends and old neighbors of Moira and Madoc extend the deepest sympathy.

MISS ANN CROSS.

MADOC, Aug. 17 (Examiner Correspondence).—On Wednesday, Aug. 15th, Miss Ann Cross passed away in Madoc village at the advanced age of 94. The funeral is to be held from her late residence to St. Peter's Presbyterian Church.

5,000 HASTINGS COUNTY PEOPLE PAY TRIBUTE TO LATE J. R. COOKE

"Went About Doing Good," is Tribute Paid Late Hydro Chairman.

GAVE SELF UNSTINTINGLY

STIRLING, Aug. 17.—More than 5,000 residents of Hastings County, and former colleagues gathered in Rawdon Township Wednesday afternoon to pay their last respects to the late Hon. J. Robert Cooke, ex-M.P.P. and former chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric system, who succumbed to injuries received late Friday night in an automobile accident near his home.

Almost the entire Cabinet of the late Henry administration was present in a body, also Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, and Hon. G. Howard Ferguson and Mrs. Ferguson. Those intimately connected with Mr. Cooke in public life included H. C. Schofield, former Attorney-General Price, ex-Premier George S. Henry, W. J. Bragg, M.P., E. N. Ashworth, J. Gibbons, L. H. Reid, H. B. Fetterley, Col. Yates, Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Hon. George Challies, C. A. Maguire, J. P. Hill, Hon. T. A. Kidd, W. H. Ireland, W. E. Tummon and Judge James Parker.

Funeral service was held on the lawn of the Cooke residence, with Rev. Canon Swayne, of St. Mark's Anglican Church, Bonarlaw, in charge. He was assisted by Rev. T. H. Hall, Rev. Mr. Byers and Rev. Mr. Levason. The service in St. Thomas' Church Cemetery was held under Orange Lodge auspices, with Rev. A. L. Green assisting the worshipful master of Tanner Lodge, No. 509. More than 100 Orangemen took part in the service. During the rites at the home, Mrs. E. Colden sang "In the Garden," by special request. Mrs. W. G. Swayne acted as organist.

Always Did Good.

Opening the service, Canon Swayne said:

"We are here observing the end of an active life, and the beginning of an infinitely more active life in the other world. The text itself will help us to remember our friend, 'He went about doing good.' If there is any human being who represented his text, it was Bob Cooke. His bigness of heart, generosity, and willingness to help the opposition as well as his allies will make him long remembered."

Canon Swayne paid tribute to Mr. Cooke's loyalty to his township and county, and spoke of his fine work in the Church of England.

Ex-Premier George S. Henry gave a short eulogy on Mr. Cooke, telling of his 20 years' friendship with the Hydro apostle. He told of his friend's success in developing rural Hydro.

"I knew him more intimately than ever during the last three and a half years," he went on. "He was always ambitious for Hydro.

Gave Self Unstintingly.

"I can easily see how his influence grew in this county where he was elected by acclamation four times," stated Mr. Henry, "since he gave himself unstintingly to the province. Mr. Cooke could ill be spared from the province, but his work is done. His contributions of the past 23 years will go on bearing fruit, and he will remain long in the memory of the province for which he labored so zealously and ceaselessly."

Paying his tribute to a devoted friend, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen stated that no words of his could add to the esteem in which Hon. J. R. Cooke was held in the county and Eastern Ontario.

"You have for over 20 years expressed a confidence and paid a succession of tributes to him which none can ever hope to equal, and which he treasured above everything. Bob Cooke was a product of rural Ontario. He gathered the fine characteristics of the farmer, and added his own native talent, the super-structure of which he owed to his own energy."

Hon. G. H. Ferguson said: "I have known Bob Cooke for 25 years, and I've never had a better friend. The motives inducing him to take up public life in the earnest way he did came from his inexhaustible sympathy, his breadth of outlook, and his eagerness to help everyone. He was most sincere in all his friendships. As the years go by, it will be seen that Bob has erected his own monument, and we shall all feel sincere gratitude to him for his efforts as a public-spirited citizen."

UTILITIES WILL ENFORCE RULE

Persons in Arrears More Than Two Months Will Have Service Discontinued.

URGED BY HYDRO.

The local Utility Commission decided yesterday to make more stringent office rules regarding persons in arrears for utilities services. When a consumer is 15 days in arrears for two months service his service will be cut off.

This is in accordance of the Clause 49 of the Standard Interpretation of rates and Hydro-Electric Commission has requested the local Commission to enforce the rule.

The rule reads:

"When a consumer is fifteen days in arrears for two month's service, the service will be discontinued, and service shall not be given again until payment is made in full, including a charge of $1.00 for the cost of re-connecting. Such discontinuance of service does not relieve the consumer of the liability for arrears or for his service charge of minimum bills for the balance of the term contract. The corporation may if deemed advisable, make more rigid requirements regarding payment of bills."

Farm Help Demands Are Now All Filled

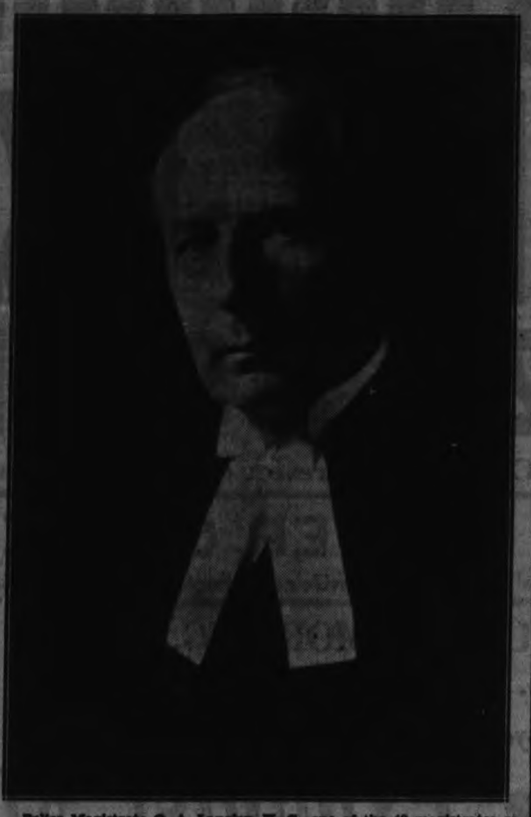
Curtailment of the Government's relief road work has relieved the farm labor shortage in the Peterborough district, Hugh Robertson, manager of the Employment Bureau, said to-day. Demand for harvest and threshing help have been filled with little difficulty during the past several weeks, despite th low farm wages being paid.

A considerable number of unemployed were placed on farms late in July and early this month, Mr. Robertson revealed. Most of the jobs will last until the end of August. Although the $15 per month with board wage was general earlier in the summer, some farmers are paying as high as $30 at present.

A mid-summer slackening in industrial employment about the city is reported by Mr. Robertson. The textile plants have laid off a few men and cereal plant operations have slowed down somewhat. The cereal plants are looking for increased activity in the Fall.

The number of job seekers visiting the bureau averages around 150 each day at the present. While some are new callers, a considerable portion of them are men and women who have been making daily inquiries for weeks.

Senior Magistrate Of District



Police Magistrate C. A. Langley, K. C., one of the 48 magistrates retained in office in Ontario as a result of the sweeping changes in the magistrates system. Ninety-nine magistrates will lose their jobs. Magistrate Langley will be elevated to the post of senior magistrate of Peterborough, Northumberland, Durham, Victoria and Haliburton Townships. His salary, a decrease, is now $3,500.

KIDNAP, STRAIN ON MRS. LABATT

Remains Calm Throughout 65 Hour Vigil Despite Her Illness.

Tots Overjoyed at Return.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.).—John Labatt returned to his family to-day at 5.30 E.D.T. A speeding car drew up before the home of his brother Hugh on Waterloo Street. A few minutes later the millionaire brewer was deep in sleep, ravaged nerves quiet after more than two days in the hands of the gang who abducted him last Tuesday.

Hugh also slept. Since Tuesday night he had hardly closed his eyes, intent on a telephone in a Toronto hotel room, hoping for word which might lead to his brother's release.

John Labatt was released early to-day "on the outskirts of Toronto." An hour after he had greeted his brother in the hotel there they were on their way to London, covering the 110 miles in about three hours. It was not until the trip was completed, John safe at Hugh's home, that R. G. Ivey, a spokesman for the family, announced the brewer's return.

His release ended a tense vigil for wife and children. Mrs. Labatt, the former Bessie Lynch, Ottawa, was calm throughout the ordeal. She and her two eldest children, John, 6, and Mary, 4, were told of the abduction shortly after the disappearance of the husband and father became known. The youngest child, Arthur, is little more than three months old. Mrs. Labatt had been unwell since his birth, and her physical condition added to the anxiety felt by other members of the family.

But she stood the suspense without breaking. Joy was uppermost in her mind and the minds of the children to-day. Meanwhile, friends recognized the necessity of absolute rest for the released man and made no attempts to offer congratulations at once.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter.

RIGHT ON HAND.

The firemen reared out to an alarm in the West End about 4.30 o'clock this morning. Leaping to the ground as their trucks screamed to a halt at their destination, the smoke eaters found an Examiner reporter already on the job watching the merry blaze.

"You sure beat us to it this time," one of the firemen exclaimed. "How did you get here so fast?"

"No trick at all," the scribe explained. "I live in that house."

MEWBURN GAVE KIDNAP NEWS

Cousin of Family, Present When First Call Came, Immediately 'Phoned Police.

NOTE FOUND LATER.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.).—General S. C. Mewburn, of Hamilton, was responsible for summoning police when John S. Labatt, millionaire London brewer, was found to have been kidnapped Tuesday. General Mewburn is an uncle by marriage of the wealthy brewery firm head, who was released by his abductors at 5.30 o'clock (E.D.T.) this morning.

Thomas Bolton, London inspector of detectives, to-day said the telephone message to police came from General Mewburn, who was in London for a business conference with the two Labatt brothers when the ransom note demanding $150,000 was found in John Labatt's abandoned auto. General Mewburn is a director in the Labatt brewery concern.

The telephone call to Hugh Labatt from the kidnappers, informing him of his brother's abduction and the ransom demand, was received before the auto was found. General Mewburn phoned police and Detective Bolton rushed to where the car was parked beside St. Joseph's Hospital and discovered the note, signed "Three Fingered Abe."

The note gave specific direction for Hugh to go to the Royal York Hotel in Toronto and take the $150,000 with him. Labatt was kidnapped, it is estimated, between 9.13 o'clock Tuesday morning, when he left his Sarnia Beach home for the London business engagement, and 10 o'clock.

RANSOM ASKED IN LABATT CASE ONE OF LARGEST

Greatest Sum Paid Over in Racket Was $200,000 for Edward Bremer.

PASTOR LATEST VICTIM.

(By The Associated Press)

The $150,000 ransom demanded for the freedom of John Labatt, London, Ont., brewer, who was held three days by kidnappers and released to-day, is one of the largest in the history of the "snatch racket."

Fifty thousand dollars was paid as ransom in the Lindbergh baby kidnapping. The baby later was found dead, and the kidnappers never have been found, nor the money recovered.

The ransom sum in the Edward G. Bremer kidnapping in St. Paul, Minn., this year was understood to have been $200,000, which was paid. This is believed to be the highest tribute yet paid to abductors.

The Charles F. Urschel kidnapping in Oklahoma City called for a $200,000 ransom. The kidnappers were captured later and sent to prison, and part of the ransom payment recovered.

In the John Factor kidnapping in Chicago $70,000 was demanded and paid.

Charles Boettcher II. was held captive more than two weeks and freed upon payment of $60,000. The same sum was paid for the release of little Peggy McGrath of Harwichport, Mass., and in that case the kidnappers were caught and the money recovered.

Kidnappers of William Hamm, Jr., of St. Paul collected $100,000 before releasing him; and the freedom of Mary McElroy of Kansas City, Mo., cost her father $30,000.

At Goldsboro, N.C., to-day a demand of $35,000 is being made for the release of a 28-year-old evangelist, kidnapped about the same time that abductors seized Labatt in Ontario.

NOTICE!

TO THE ELECTRICAL CONSUMERS:

Clause 49 of the Standard Interpretation of Rates reads as follows:—

"When a consumer is fifteen days in arrears for two month's service, the service will be discontinued, and service shall not be given again until payment is made in full, including a charge of $1.00 for the cost of re-connecting. Such discontinuance of service does not relieve the consumer of the liability for arrears or for his service charge or minimum bills for the balance of the term of the contract. The corporation may if deemed advisable, make more rigid requirements regarding payment of bills."

The Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario has instructed us to carry out this regulation.

Fashion Service

Almost all of us have been confronted with the necessity for slim smooth fitting new undies to wear with the slenderline frocks.

For this reason, such a set as today's pattern, which can be easily and so inexpensively made at home, is a thing to be welcomed.

Crepe de chine or flat crepe is a practical choice. Use tiny glass buttons to tone with the silk you select. Tea-rose washable satin is exquisitely lovely, too.

Style No. 3009 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 1¼ yards of 35-inch material.

The regular monthly meeting of the executive of the local Humane Society was held yesterday afternoon at "Sunset Camp", the beautiful summer home of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Powell, on Buckhorn Lake. At the end of the motor trip, the visitors sailed across the lake to the camp, where several of the guests enjoyed a swim and others explored the island, taking in the view from the top of the hill, and also made friends with the four friendly Shetland ponies belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Powell, who also spend their summers on the island. Later, a sumptuous picnic supper was enjoyed and hearty thanks extended to the hosts for their kind hospitality. A brief business meeting was held, the report appearing in another column.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Trouble makers exist. It is not a pleasant thought, and but little time should be given to considering them. Yet it is the part of wisdom to recognize the fact in order to discount what they say and do. There are various reasons why persons choose to be makers of discord, but underlying most of these reasons will be found a desire to be important and a wish to exercise power. It may be that the startled look of the listener assured the gossiper that she is attracting attention to herself by what she states. As an informant she is important. She is likely to be reffered to and quoted. She is making her impression, and sad to say, by derogatory statements, except in rare instances. Pleasant gossip is exceptional.

* * * * * *

Then there are persons who in the business world have little heed paid to what thy think should be done, and how, and other persons who are subject to rules and regulations during business hours. Foolishly, they rebel by becoming tyrants at home. They may find fault so strenuously, that they make factions within the very home circle. They stir up trouble by asserting themselves, because they wish to exercise power, somewhere.

* * * * * *

It is important for each person to accept statements about others with many grains of salt. If a person is known in your dealings with them to be fine, refuse to be swayed by unfavorable comments. But have a care about what you say to the gossip. A person who talks against another can scarcely be expected not to talk about you. Trouble makers find inconsistencies, and flaws in what is said and done, however harmlessly meant, and generally retail stories about them where they will create the greatest sensation.

* * * * * *

When hearing unkind and derogatory stories about persons either discount them to yourself, or weigh them with the balance of the good things you yourself know of the persons. The result of hearsay against evidence should be in favor of the latter always. A trouble maker's word should be treated with slight consideration.

BE BEAUTIFUL

The charming and talented Katharine Hepburn, who played the part of Jo so delightfully in "Little Women", certainly created a furor among the younger set with that Civil War-day coiffure that she sported in the picture. There were numerous young lassies who tried to copy her coiffure. They went in heavily for bangs and pompadours. And a good many of them, of course, wound up by achieving nothing more than a rather grotesque effect.

Coiffure stylists, however, have now created a modernized version of her coiffure that was the highlight of the Civil War period. This modernized version retains all the charm of the original, but is more restrained. It is appropriate for both formal and informal wear. And it can readily be adapted to various types of women. For the woman with severe features and a tailored air, the ringlets that form the pompadour and chignon are usually left fitted closely to the head. While for the woman with soft, delicate features, the ringlets are combed out into a soft frame about the face and at the neckline.

Before this coiffure is arranged, the hair should be shampooed thoroughly, and all excess moisture removed. Then a good waving lotion should be applied, and the hair smoothed entirely back off the face. The part should be made next. It is an oval part, beginning at one side of the forehead, curving in about two or two and one-half inches toward the back of the head, and ending at the other side of the forehead.

This portion of the hair should be used to make the pompadour. The hair, when combed forward, should be only long enough to reach the tip of the nose. It should be separated into tiny strands, and each strand should be twisted up into a tiny ringlet and pinned securely in place. The remainder of the hair should be combed backward from the oval part, and should be set in soft waves that swirl from one side of the head to the other. And at the back, the hair ends should be curled into ringlets with aluminum or kid curlers. This coiffure always requires thorough drying. And when entirely dry, it should be combed out gently, and the ringlets combed softly around the finger.

AN UNACCOUNTABLE BID.

Once in so often many excellent players seem unable to resist making a bid which cannot be reconciled with their reputation for conservatism. Usually this comes after a considerable period of holding poor hands. Along comes a doubtful hand. As if pent-up steam had to be released, the holder jumps into a game or slam, as East did. The other side had been winning steadily and alone were vulnerable.

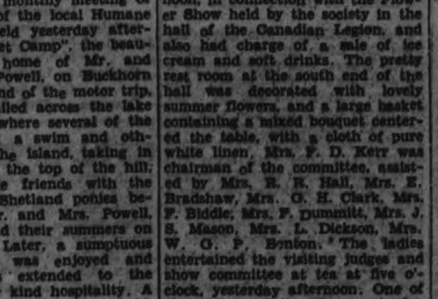
East made a fourth hand opening bid of 4-hearts. South doubled. The opening lead was the 10 of clubs. Dummy played low. North's lone K lost to declarer's ace.

East took two rounds of winning hearts, dropping all held by North, but leaving two good trumps for South. The declarer did the safest thing possible. He threw South in with a small trump, forcing him to lead up to the declaring hand. North signalled to lead a diamond, and South led his only card of that suit. East ruffed, took his club and put South in the lead with a trump.

South was in a tight place. He held no more diamonds or trumps. Either he had to lead a losing club, making every card of that suit in dummy good, or he had to lead a spade, letting dummy in, to run off its good clubs. He took his ace of spades and threw down his hand, surrendering the balance of tricks.

An opening lead of the ace of spades, then putting dummy in the lead with another spade would have defeated the contract two tricks. Just another evidence of the probable futility of ending from worthless suits plus a contradiction of the general rule not to open tenace suits against suit calls.

How Many Tricks Can South Win at Diamonds?



South played the hand at 5-diamonds doubled. The opening lead was the K of spades. Before starting to play, count how many South should win against subsequent defence.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

TOMORROW afternoon sees Stamford Park at Niagara Falls open their gates for the second summer meeting. They decided after a lot of controversy to again allow everyone to gain admittance at the gate for two-bits. Their idea is to get a large crowd of fans inside and then look for their profits from the percentage cut on the mutuel play. Another difficulty rises up in that there will likely be another battle between the track management and the horse owners on account of most of the purses being only four hundred dollars.

At the first meeting in the early days of the summer a strike was narrowly averted only by the promise of the association that they would adopt a minimum of five hundred smackers for their second meeting and when the condition books were distributed last week they still called for the smaller amounts. The horsemen are all heated up but in our opinion things will be straightened out without seriously interfering with the success of the meeting.

CONNAUGHT PARK closes tomorrow after having a very successful week. As this marks the finished of hide galloping in the east most of the horses will come on to Toronto to await the opening at that place. There will be a lot of sleepers in the shipment too, every year, around Thorncliffe at the Fall meeting, after a long shot has registered, you hear the question asked, "Where did that one come from?" and to which a wise guy among the talent will answer, "Oh, he was running down around Montreal or Ottawa and the public did not think he could be classed with these horses up here."

One that will bear watching is Wood River who is much better than the ordinary plater and will score for a good many more wins before our season comes to a close. Len Sweep who has been burning up the tracks down east will be back also and will show them what real sprinting is like. Kiltamond who formerly belonged to Nat Ray and won a lot of races down around Florida way last winter has just arrived at Detroit. While at the same place is The Doctor who has been hiding in the tall grass all summer.

WAIFS WIN TAYLOR SOFTBALL TROPHY

TIREMEN LOSE TIGHT BATTLE TO WAIFS 11-5

Shine Gives Masterful Display on Mound—Ably Backed by Team Mates.

ENDS HECTIC SERIES.

Winners to Meet Lindsay at Scugog Town in First of Playdowns To-night.

Orphans won the Taylor Trophy, emblematic of the City Softball League championship, at Central last night by turning back Johnston's Tires, 11 to 5, in the final game of the playoffs. They meet Smith's Smokies in Lindsay this evening in the first game of their O.A.S.A. playdown series. Last night's game, played before another huge crowd, was a thriller quite in keeping with every game of this season's hectic playoff series.

Superior pitching in the earlier part of the game, coupled with timely hitting and grand fielding gave the Waifs the verdict. Frank Shine again rose to heights to hurl the Harrison clan to a win despite the fact that he was overworked and his sore knee bothered him throughout. Not as effective as usual—allowing fourteen hits and eight twalks—he yet managed to bear down and, with the aid of his teammates, pull out of innumerable tight spots to leave fourteen Tiremen stranded.

Lead From First

Parsons started for Johnston's but, after a shaky first frame, he was nicked in the third for two walks, two singles and a triple with none out. He was yanked then and Freddie Elliott went in. Fred gave two more hits that inning but settled away and pitched hitless and walkless ball from the third to the ninth. A couple of scratch hits were counted against him then, his teammates not looking too good at this stage.

Weese, Heffernan and Cadd had two hits apiece for the champions, the first-named counting a triple and double. Shine, Willshaw and O'Toole clouted doubles. For the losers, Starr led the parade with a homer and two singles in four. Dorrington hit safely three times in six trips. Montgomery, Ellis and McQuade got two bingles apiece, with Ellis and McCarroll banging out two-baggers.

Splendid Fielding

The whole Orphan team fielded in fine style, Weese starring on third, and Willshaw, Miller, Board and Hope all going good. The fielding feature of the game was a nifty Weese-to-Cadd-to-Miller double-play that pulled Shine out of a bad hole. McQuade, Ellis and Stanger were the best defensively for Johnston's, with left-field being a tough place to fill satisfactorily all through.

The Waifs started off with three runs the first canto, a walk, Weese's double, a single by Heffernan and Shine's two-bagger doing the trick. Johnston's got two back in their half on Dorrington's double and Starr's clean homer up against the school. In the third, Orphans got six—enough to win the game right there—on Weese's triple, two walks, singles by Cadd, Hope and Miller, an error and Willshaw's two-base blow.

Cut Down Lead

The Tiremen kept battling away game and began to whittle down the 9-2 lead. They got two in the fourth on a walk and singles by Dorrington, Starr and Montgomery. McCarroll doubled in the next inning and scored on Elliott's hit. They loaded the sacks in the sixth but could not tally. A hit for them in the seventh was wasted. In the eight inning, Montgomery walked and raced right around on McQuade's hard single to centre but he was nailed on a close play at the plate. Orphans got two more in the ninth on O'Toole's double, a sacrifice, an error, a fielder's choice and hits by Heffernan and Cadd. The losers went out in order in their half.

Don Brennan Touched for Nine Hits in First Appearance on Mound.

BEARS BREAK TWIN.

(By the Associated Press)

If Rochester Red Wings finish second in the International League this year, as it appears they will, it seems that a special prize will have to be devised for them to signal their leadership in "blowing" chances to gain on Newark's Bears.

After a four-game winning streak the Red Wings were only four behind Newark when yesterday's program started. The streak came to a sudden end when the Wings failed to solve Bill Harris for more than three hits and took a 4-1 beating from Albany Senators. Home runs account for all the tallies in the mound duel between Harris and John Berly. Del Bissonette and Floyd Young hit Albany's circuit blows and Tom Winsett got one for Rochester.

The Red Wings didn't know it in the afternoon, of course, but a victory would have meant a half-game gain. Instead it was Newark that gained by dividing a twilight night doubleheader with Montreal Royals. Clydell Castleman's steady pitching and Jimmy Ripple's swatting, which accounted for the opener for the Royals, 6-2.

Jack Larocca then pitched the Bears into a 7-1 triumph as he gave only four blows in a duel with Big Chad Kimsey.

Toronto's third-place Maple Leafs avenged two defeats at the hands of the tail-end Baltimore Orioles by smacking Cliff Melton around in the first three innings to beat the Birds 8-3. Their heavy hitting gave Don Brennan his first Toronto victory although George Puccinelli touched him for four straight hits.

CUBS BREAK EVEN WITH BRAVES WHILE NEW YORK GIANTS IDLE

Braves Win Second Game From Chicago After Losing First in Tenth.

REDS DOWN DODGERS.

The National circuit managed to get through five games with a minimum of alterations in the standing. The second-place Cubs failed to gain on the Giants when they split a doubleheader with Boston, winning the first game 3-2 in ten innings but dropping the second 6-1. The Cardinals, although they twice defeated the Phillies, 4-3 and 7-2, remained two games behind Chicago.

Fred Frankhouse, who gave the Cubs only three hits in 7⅓ innings of the opener, was forced out by a pulled muscle in the eighth and Chicago tied it up against Ed. Brandt in the ninth and won out on Bill Herman's 10th-inning double. The veteran Flint Rhem subdued the Cubs with eight hits in the second clash while the Braves got to Bill Lee and Guy Bush for a four-run burst in the fifth to settle the game.

The Cardinals also were forced to extra innings in the opener, winning 4-3 in the 11th, when Jim Collins walked and Leo Durocher smacked a two-bagger. Jim Collins' 27th home and Jack Rothrock's ninth were the big blows of the second clash.

The last-place Reds took the other decision, beating Brooklyn 8-1 when they blasted Carroll out in two innings to score six runs, while Allyn Stout blanked the Dodgers until the final frame.

SYRACUSE TIGERS AN UNBEATEN TEAM

Colored Club From Below the Line Here for Exhibition Game on Saturday.

Syracuse Tigers meet the Petes at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Riverside Park in an exhibition baseball game. The Tigers are negro players who have not lost a game since they began their tour of Eastern Ontario several weeks ago. This New York squad is considered quite fast, next thing to the semi-pro clubs of the States and should provide the scrappy Petes with a real battle Saturday. A large crowd is expected for this fixture.

The local executive has had to raise the admission price from twenty-five to thirty-five cents to meet the added expenses of bringing the Syracuse squad here. It should be worth the extra dime. Probably Archie Deyell will start for the Petes, with Bill Calladine in reserve. Little is known of the Tigers, except by heresay, but they are rated strong enough to clean up any senior club in Ontario. If the Petes should be at top form and knock them off, it would be exceptionally fine advertising for Peterborough. A lively game can be looked for, regardless of the outcome.

Guilford and Campbell Remain in Contention for Canadian Golf Title.

PALMER, OTHER CANUCK.

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Aug 17.—Two Canadians and two United States players will trudge 36 holes to-day over the rolling fairways of this French-Canadian course in the semi-final round of the Canadian Amateur Golf Tournament.

C. R. "Sandy" Somerville, the London, Ont., veteran, four times winner of the Canadian crown and once of the United States title, will meet Jesse Guilford of Boston, the old siege gun who won the United States title in 1921.

A 21-year-old Winnipeg star, Ernie Palmer, who has played consistent golf throughout the tournament, will oppose the defending champion, Albert ("Scotty") Campbell, Seattle, in the lower half of the bracket.

In the rounds of eighteen holes yesterday the field was cut from sixteen to four, with no startling upsets. Somerville, his eye trained on a fifth crown; eliminated two Canadians, Nicol Thompson Jr., Toronto, and Ken Black, the 22-year-old Vancouver player, who reached the finals last year over his home course. Jesse Guilford, 39 years old, but wise in the ways of golf, knocked out Mel Rogers, Ottawa, and Jack Munger, the Dallas, Texas, stylist, considered once or twice for the United States Walker Cup team. Maintaining his steady play, never reaching brilliance, but seldom letting Old Man Par get far away from him, Palmer sent two other Canadians to the side lines, Gil Walker, Toronto, and Jack Maison, the Pacific Coast veteran from Victoria.

Campbell's Fine Display

Once again Campbell demonstrated it will take sub-par golf to lift his title. In the morning round the 20-year-old Pacific Coast star eliminated Wilfred Crossley, Boston, shooting four under par for the 17 holes. He came back in the afternoon to smother Fred Hobiltzel, the Toronto veteran, 6 and 5, shooting three under par for the distance.

The big match of the day was between Somerville and Ken Black, the first tournament match they ever played against each other. They probably would be ranked one and two in a Canadian national listing, Somerville taking precedence on his play. Black's putting touch deserted him yesterday, and this despite the fact he is the son of Davy Black, known among the pros as the champion putter of the world, to whom a 25-footer seems as easy as a ball resting six inches from the pin.

SEE FIREWORKS APLENTY AT AMATEUR UNION MEET

By W. M. GLADISH

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—Already tongues are wagging regarding prospective developments at the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, scheduled to be held in Toronto this fall. The momentum of the annual "putsch" in amateur circles will shortly get its start with the holding of the yearly gatherings of the various union branches across the Dominion—all of these must be held at least five or six weeks before the national convention because all proferred amendments to the constitution and rules must be in the hands of Secretary John Leslie at Edmonton more than 30 days before the general session.

The talk in branch circles and elsewhere is quite interesting. And the matters under consideration are comprehensive. There is a movement on foot to call for the establishment of distinct governing bodies for track and field athletics and for boxing and wrestling. George H. Beedham, of Toronto, has already drawn up a proposal for a Canadian Track and Field Association and he apparently has the co-operation of officials of at least two other branches, namely Howard Foreman of Hamilton and J. Barclay, of Thorold, representing the new southwestern branch, and R. D. Campbell and McGregor Easson, of Ottawa, representing the eastern Ontario branch. Details of the proposed organization have been sent to the national secretary.

Apply to Government

As for the self-governing boxing association, F. E. Nobert, of Toronto, boxing supervisor of the central Ontario branch, recently made application to the federal government for an association charter but the matter has been tabled by Hon. C. H. Cahan, secretary of state, pending a decision at the A.A.U. annual meeting "satisfactory to the applicant." F. E. Edwards, of Fort William, secretary of the Thunder Bay branch of the A.A.U., has expressed himself as being personally in favor of the establishment of a governing body for boxing in the Dominion. There is no evident intention to break away from the A.A.U. but those identified with these sports desire the privileges enjoyed by team sport associations in the way of self-control.

The Ontario situation will undoubtedly come in for much attention. Intimation has already been made that a request will be present for a further branch of the A.A.U. for the Niagara peninsula, while northern Ontario has also caught the idea of a separate branch for that part of the province. If these are planted, there would then be six branches within the boundaries of Ontario, including the present organizations of Thunder Bay, central Ontario, southerwestern and eastern Ontario.

Many Owe Money

It is an open secret that a number of existing branches owe considerable fee to the national treasury. Some of them have not paid their annual $100 dues for one or more years. The Manitoba branch still owes the union the fee of $250 for the Canadian boxing and wrestling championships which were staged at Winnipeg in the spring of 1933. Thunder Bay branch has $50 to pay on the Candian track and field championships which were held at Fort William in July of last year, it is stated. British Columbia, eastern Ontario and other branches are behind in their annual dues to a substantial amount, it is said. In fact, the annual reports have shown them to be in default for several years. One suggested outcome is the proposal to cut all national fees and dues possibly in half, wipe out all bad debts and then make it obligatory to pay the reduced commitments.

A proposal is being discussed to share amateur card registration fees with the affiliated sport-governing bodies on a per capita basis to give the organizations some of the revenue. In the same breath, it is suggested that the amateur card tax of two cents per card should be revised.

It is probable, judging by present comment, that a demand will be made for the abolishment of the $5 reinstatement fee for former professionals and that only a nominal charge should be made for reinstatement applications to cover office and postage costs.

Pro-Amateur Rules

There will undoubtedly be a move to change the rule which permits an amateur team to play a professional team under certain conditions and yet does not allow amateurs to play against each other on the same program with a professional game. The argument is advanced that it surely is a worse "crime" for amateurs to play professionals than to play with each other as a "curtain-raiser" for a pro. feature for charity or otherwise.

The rule making a competitor a professional because he takes part in a Sunday contest is regarded as obsolete and ultra-drastic. In fact, the rule is winked at in various sections of the Dominion right now. The new rule this year providing for all championship events was broken at the first go-off and will probably be thrown out—there is no need for competitors to be idle in Regina when a Canadian championship event is being staged in Montreal.

The amateur moguls are already finding plenty to talk about and the annual convention promises to be another stormer particularly with a couple of team sport associations showing an inclination to sever relations with the Amateur Union altogether.

WOOD IS DEFEATED BY BERKELEY BELL

Winern Meets Allison—Parker Opposes Grant in Newport Tourney.

NEWPORT, R.I., Aug. 17. — The Newport Casino tennis tournament yesterday narrowed down to the outstanding pair of feudists of the current eastern grass campaign. The classic was reduced to a semi-final round that pitted Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, last year's runner-up, against Berkeley Bell of New York, and Frankie Parker of Spring Lake, N.J., against the new United States clay court champion, Bryan Grant of Atlanta, Ga.

A week ago Allison, playing one of the finest matches of his long career, worsted Bell in a four-set Longwood Bowl final at Brookline. The week before Grant collapsed after being beaten by Parker in another tournament.

A Davis Cup star, Sidney Wood of New York, was unequal to the vastly improved Bell yesterday and the internationalist was eliminated 6—4, 6—1, 6—3.

Allison gained the second last round with his second straight set victory in a week over Johnny Van Ryn of Philadelphia, his doubles partner of long standing, 6—2, 6—3, 6—3.

Parker dropped only four games as he vanquished Gilbert Hall of New York, 6—1, 6—2, 6—1, and Grant became a semi-finalist Wednesday when he outlasted the higher ranked Gregory Mangin of Newark, N.J., in the most punishing 5-set match of the tournament.

FINAL TEST MATCH STARTS ON SATURDAY

World Supremacy in 'Tests' Will Be Decided in Fight to Finish.

VOCE POST UNCERTAIN.

LONDON, Aug. 17 (C.P. Cable).—For sixty years and more they've battled in the "Tests"—England and Australia. World supremacy in what might truly be called the daddy of all games hangs on the outcome of these struggles, for no one but Australia has ever seriously challenged England's lead in cricket. Canada progresses, but Canada will not bid for honors for years yet.

"World supremacy" is a phrase foreign to cricket, but it is at least as apt as "world series" for baseball, or even the unofficial world's championship that goes with the soccer cup final. For cricket nowadays is played all over the world, in great dominions and little colonies and foreign parts, notably South America. And from down under, where they bask in summer sunshine while the tight little isle is wrapped in gentle winter, have come cricketers worthy of the finest opposition that Old England can produce.

Crucial Match.

Saturday the best of both England and Australia go out at the Oval to do battle in the Seamen's fifth and decisive Test match since each has won one and two have been drawn. It culminates the 1934 chapter of the series which is renewed every four years alternately in England and Australia and which started back in 1907. On games the countries are dead even.

Bodyline Argument.

What makes the final match opening to-morrow, which will be fought to a finish, likely to be memorable is a lively quickening of the old bodyline bowling controversy which raised a furore on the last English visit to Australia. Following that tour, the M.C.C., world's ruling body of cricket, put forth an ukase that any bowling obviously directed at the batsman would be an "offence to the spirit of the game." The staid old M.C.C. believed this warning severe enough, refusing to officially ban it. Rulings are not made in a hurry in cricket.

But a week ago the Aussies faced fast-leg-theory bowling at Nottingham, and to the uninitiated there is no difference between this and body-line bowling. The batsman suffers in each case. William Voce, Notts' fast bowler, garnered eight wickets for 66 runs. He was withdrawn from the game, officially, because of injuries, but there were reports he was fully fit, and nothing but Aussie protests caused his withdrawal. The fight was on again.

Voce's Position Uncertain.

Whether Voce will be on the English Test team is still uncertain, for it will not be decided officially who takes the field until a few hours before the match. Leaders in English and Australian cricket join in pleading anyway that the controversy be dropped. Harold Larwood, whose bodyline bowling in the last Australian tour started all the fuss, was thought to have settled it when he declined to play in any more Test matches again.

LARGE ENTRY FOR TROTTING EVENTS

Three-day Harness Racing Will be Staged in Connection With Fair Next Week.

A three-day harness horse racing meet will be staged at the Peterborough Exhibition next week, race-days being Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Six purses of $300 each will be put up for a grand total of twelve hundred dollars. On Thursday afternoon, there will be the 2.27 trot or pace and the 2.15 class race. Friday sees the 2.22 and the 2.18 classes go to the post. The final day, Saturday, is reserved for the 2.24 trot or pace and the free-for-all. A number of entries are in now and more are expected daily from the city, district and various towns throughout Ontario.

Conditions include free entrance with no deductions from the winners; mile heats, three in five finish at the end of the fifth heat. The money is divided 50, 25, 15 and 10 per cent. The Committee reserves the right to reject any entry and to declare off or change the order for any good cause. Trotters are allowed four seconds, and horses are eligible the night before the race. Canadian National Association rules will govern this meet. Entries will be supplied with free hay and straw. Entries should be addressed to S. A. Lowe at 194 Reid St., Peterborough.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C.J.P.

Tomorrow's big attraction is the senior ball game between the Syracuse Tigers and the Petes at three in Riverside. It is an exhibition affair but should be well worth seeing. Added expenses have forced the local club to boost the admission a dime, but that shouldn't stop any ball fans. The N'Tawk team has looked everything they've met so far in their invasion of Eastern Ontario, but the fast-stepping Petes—now tied for the leadership of the C.O.B.L.—may chase the darkies home with the wrong end of the count. At any rate, there should be plenty of color—no pun intended—to this tilt and will show fans how the local team stacks up against a real nifty squad from across the line.

• • • • • •

Tonight, weather permitting, will find a nifty junior O.A.S.A. game played at 5.30 in Riverside Park between the Peterborough Juniors and Trenton. Return game is in Trenton Wednesday. The local lads, led by Doug Mowry, represent the elass of the city in junior softballers, many of them chosen from the Church League. It deserves a good crowd and ought to be good. Here's the local lineup: Ridley, pitcher; Mowry, catcher; McKinley, first; Heal, second; Cacavelli, short; Vitarelli, third; Coughlin, Giardino and Dizon in the outfield; with Reeds, Ward, Todd and Leggitt, spares.

Orphans copped the city championship in men's softball last e'en by putting the greased skids under Johnston's Tires, 11-5. It was the final game of a series that was supposed to be three out of five, but actually went to seven! One was tied at the end, and the other had to be called before the finish because of darkness. It was a grand old series, though none of the scores were really low, with big crowds getting more thrills than kids do at a wild west picture show. Most of the games were plenty close, and all were battles right to the last out.

Congrats to the Waifs. This team was built around the wrecked C.G.E. squad at the end of the first half of the schedule. The league took it over and put Percy Harrison and Fred Scates in to run it. Scates supplied most of the equipment and Harrison did the managing. They picked a bunch of players, some former Electrics, others just fellows who weren't being used by anyone else. And they stepped out and battled away to gain a playoff berth. Then they defeated Brintons in a two-out-of-three semi-final series and went on to beat Johnston's. They've played seven games in a row—excepting Sunday—and ten inside of two weeks. And they're battling Lindsay in the Scugog town tonight! Are they gluttons for punishment, or are they?

• • • • • •

Frank Shine has been the mainstay of the Waifs. Crippled with a knee that required several stitches a week ago, and advised by the doc to stay off his feet, he has kept plugging away, working at his job and pitching ball games almost nightly—and winning most of them, too! He certainly rates a rest tonight. The whole team deserves credit, also. They've been playing heads-up softball throughout, fielding in fine style and hitting in the pinches. They got enough runs off Parsons last night to win out and Freddie Elliott's first-rate flinging after that came too late. The crowd has been strong for this team and for Shine all through this second half. They deserve continued support now in the O.A.S.A. playdowns.

• • • • • •

The first man to congratulate Percy Harrison after the game last night was Bert Deck, manager of Johnston's Tires. He and his scrappy players fought hard and rode the Orphans for all they were worth through the series, but there were no hard feelings. They weren't disgraced by that swift series at all—just a little too much Shine for them. They admitted it afterward. The crowd booed Bert for refusing to allow Shine a runner last night, but we didn't blame him a bit. That's baseball or softball for you. If a man is able to get into the game and play, he should be able to run out his hits—or take the consequences. You'll see smart managers in the C.O.B.L. or the Big League doing the same thing in a crucial game. A pinch-hitter? Sure, give him a runner. A regular player? Nope, not a chance.

Isn't there something in one of the Ten Commandments about "thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's goods? If so, we would respectfully call it to the attention of the Oshawa sportswriter who wrote the following the other day: "Speaking of teachers desiring positions reminds us that Archie Deyell, the long-geared lad from Bellieboro, who is hurling great ball for Peterborough this season, is another Prof who is seeking employment. We tell quite certain that he is just the type of teacher needed in Oshawa schools (nobody goes to school in the baseball season)."

The City Baseball League decided last eve to finance the local bantam team in the O.B.A.A. playdowns, Jack Deannard and Mike O'Brien running them. These boys are asked to be at the Oval at 5.45 tonight to practice and have their birth certificates today or to-morrow: Piatt, Berwick, Thornton, Bradshaw, Kelly, Girard, McCormick, Curtin, Castle, Cutting, Creighton, Pammett, Foster, Jay, Todd, Lawson, Scollard, Leonard, Ridley and Condon.

Benefit Games On Saturday Afternoon

On Saturday afternoon, August 18th, the Caledonians and Canada Packers executives have arranged a splendid program for the benefit of an injured player. Starting at 1.30 races will be set agoing. This will be followed by 100 yard dash for footballers in football attire. A smoked ham has been placed at the top of the greasy pole and whoever gets to the top will receive it. At 2.30, a softball game will be played between two well selected teams of the south end. At 3.15 the Canada Packers and Caledonians will meet in a soccer league engagement. All the proceeds will be given over to the benefit of a player in so much need at present.

Next Tuesday night, August 21st, the Canada Packers and Deloro meet in a league tussle on King Edward Park. Kick-off at 6 o'clock. Duration of the game, 35 minutes. Referee W. Harrington.

On Friday night, Aug. 24th, (instead of Saturday, 25th), the Canadian General and Canada Packers will meet in the Peck Cup final. Referee Alex. McKinley.

Schoolboys Cycle To Kawartha Park

Motoring north to the road camps on the Burleigh Falls-Bancroft project yesterday afternoon, an Examiner reporter passed two heavy-laden schoolboys en route to Kawartha Park for a camping vacation.

The boys, who gave their names as Bob Childs, 18, of Hamilton, and Don Cambridge, 15, of Toronto, had cycled all the way from their respective cities. The former left Hamilton on Tuesday morning to join his friend in the Queen City, and the two set out together on their long jaunt to Kawartha Wednesday morning. That night they camped at Welcome, they stated, and early yesterday morning pedalled away from their overnight camp stop on the final leg of the outward trip.

Each of the lads said he carried about 100 pounds of equipment, including blankets and cooking utensils, etc. They presented pictures of tanned, vigorous boyhood.

Errors Prove Costly To Gamsby's Juniors

BOWMANVILLE, Aug. 17.—Winning by an 8-to-7 score after a hectic nine innings battle, Oshawa juniors forced Orme Gamsby's Orono juniors into a third game in the O.B.A.A. junior playdowns at Bowmanville last night. The Orono team led most of the way, and were the better team on the night's play. Oshawa, however, had some effective breaks in the final minutes of the game, when two Orono errors let Oshawa away to a lead that Orono failed to overcome in the final frame. Dave Osborne pitched a strong game for Orono, while Normyle and Bradd pitched for Oshawa.

VERDUN PARK WINS DOMINION HONORS

Prince Albert City Reds Lose Third Game of Soccer Series 4-1.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 17.—The flashing feet of Verdun Park, Montreal last night won for them the Dominion Football Association championship. The Eastern champions ship. The Eastern champions humbled Prince Albert City Reds, Western Canada finalists, by a score of 4-1 to retain for the East the historic title won last year by the Toronto Scottish.

A crowd of 2,000 saw the Parkers take a lead of 2-1 in the first half, and increase their margin by two goals in the second half in the third of their three-match series for the blue ribbon of Canadian soccer. Reds evened the series 2-1 last Tuesday after Montreal won the first game 4-0.

With The Amateurs

By The Canadian Press)

Of ten Canadian amateurs who entered the fourth round yesterday of the Canadian amateur golf tournament at Laval-sur-le-Lac, Que., two, Ross Somerville, London, and Ernie Palmer, Winnipeg, were still in the running to-day.

Fred Holtzel and Gil Wallace, Toronto; Jack Maison, Victoria; W. A. Bush, Montreal; Mel Rogers, Ottawa; Ken Black, Vancouver; Bob Proctor, Edmonton, and Nicol Thompson, Jr., Toronto, met defeat yesterday.

"It was a nice round, beautiful day," Guilford's response to queries as to how his games were going. He and Sandy Somerville should set up a world's record to-day for the least number of words spoken in a golf match.

Somerville and Ken Black attracted a large gallery to their match yesterday afternoon. The crowd sensed a good battle and were not let down, Sandy finally winning out on the 18th, two up.

RAIN CAUSES HALT IN TENNIS TOURNEY

Rest is Welcomed by Quarter-finalists at Forest Hill.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 17 (A.P.).—Rain, long a hoodoo to the women's United States tennis tournament, caught up with the forty-seventh annual championship yesterday, necessitating postponement of the four quarter-final matches.

The postponement brought with it the announcement that the final would be played on Sunday. All eight players who won their third round matches welcomed the rain.

Helen Jacobs, defending titlist, opposes Elisabeth Ryan of England in the quarter-finals. Katherine Stammers, the blonde, southpaw English girl, and Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles will meet in the featured singles match.

C.G.E. Holds Chance For Playoff Berth

C.G.E. retained a slim chance of getting a play-off berth in the second half of the Ladies' League, when they put the skids under the Maple Leafs for an 8 to 5 victory, last night at the Bowl. The game was one of the fastest played in the loop this year, being completed in 36 minutes.

The losers counted once in the first and twice in the second, but were held until the last of the ninth, when they added two more. The Electrics nabbed four in the first two frames, and tallied twice in the seventh when Marg. English pounded out a homer with one on. Two more crossed in the first of the ninth. Irene Burnham pitched good ball for the Leafs, but the opposition bunched their hits. Helen Newson twirled the nine innings for the C.G.E., and with the exception of a bad first frame, was never in difficulty. The teams:

C.G.E.—English, lf; Todd, 1b; Gates, 2b; Miller, c; Hodson, cf; W. Snowden, ss; Newson, p; Byers, 3b; Martin, rf.

Maple Leafs. — Cockerill, 2b; Rome, lf; E. Sturgeon, 3b; H. Mann, 1b; E. Burnham, p; E. White, c; G. Mann, cf; Trollop, rf; A. Sturgeon, ss.

Umpires—Dick Galbraith at the plate; Ab Frick on the bases. ....

CHAPTER 16

Three people were in that space. Their backs were towards Drew, as they gazed forth to where on the far horizon was the rare sight of a four-masted vessel, with all her canvas set and flashing in the sun. Of the three people one was Joan. Drew recognized her at once. The man on her left was, he judged, the lighthouse keeper. On her right was another man, slender and in white flannels and sweater, with a thatch of bright hair ruffled by the wind.

Not one of the three had heard Drew's step. He wore rubber-soled shoes, which had made no sound on the iron stairs.

It was Joan, who turning suddenly, discovered him. "Drew," she cried in astonishment, "how did you get here?"

He smiled at her. "How did you?"

"Mr. Armiger brought me."

Mr. Armiger?"

"Yes. You've met each other, haven't you? In the bookshop?"

Drew nodded to Giles, who was now facing him. He was aware of a sense of intense irritation. Joan had spoken now and then of her visits to the book shop and of her pleasure in them. But he had not linked this pleasure in the least with this man, Armiger. Yet here he was, under a new aspect. Divorced from the dingy background of the shop he seemed to take on importance, with his look of youth, his grace and slenderness, the air with which he wore his correct, informal clothes. By what right had he constituted himself Joan's escort on this adventure?

He found himself saying with some coldness, "I didn't know you cared to come, Joan, or I would have brought you."

"I know. But I hadn't thought of it until Mr. Armiger's cousin invited us to tea. She is the wife of Mr. Tucker, the lighthouse keeper." Joan interrupted herself to present William, "we had such a delicious tea. And you should see Mrs. Tucker's funny old hens and the adorable baby."

"I have seen them. Rose and I stopped to ask if visitors were admitted to the lighthouse."

"Rose?"

The surprise in her tone, brought from him a rather halting explanation, "I left her . . . on the stairs. The height made her . . . dizzy."

"Really?" Joan's voice was incredulous. "I didn't mind it a bit," she began to laugh. "How funny . . . to think of . . . Rose . . ."

Drew didn't see anything funny about it. He had a raging sense of the indelicacy of Joan's mirth at this moment. The stairs had not been easy for him. He felt furiously that he and Rose must seem like a pair of middle-aged and lumpy individuals out-of-breath and overcome by obstacles which these two look on winged feet.

He began to show his temper. "I don't see why you should laugh."

She was serious at once. "Oh, I shouldn't. I'm sorry."

He turned from her and spoke to William. "It's a great view, isn't it? While I'm up here you might as well let me see all there is to see."

Joan stood where he left her, the color drained from her cheeks. She knew he was angry, and she dreaded his dark moods. She said to Giles who was watching her, "I shouldn't have laughed, should I? But Rose has always been so sure of herself . . ."

He said with a certain roughness, "Why should you apologize? It is he who should ask your pardon for bringing her here."

"But I am here—with you. I am afraid he doesn't like my having come with anyone but him."

"You had as much right as he . . ."

Her eyes were troubled. "I never dreamed that I shouldn't come. We are such good friends, aren't we?"

"Yes. And my friendship is always at your service. Will you remember that?" He did not know why he was saying all this at such a time. But he was led on by that look of trouble in her eyes, by the whiteness of her cheeks.

She said, "I'll remember," and turning from him stood looking out over the sea. She could hear Drew's voice as he asked questions of William. His questions were intelligent. Drew knew a lot about such things . . . about many things . . .

He came over to her at last and said: "It is time we were going. I will take you home, Joan."

She had to tell that to Giles. "Mr. Hallam has his car, and I will ride back with him."

Drew preceded her down the stairs. Giles was back of her, and William was ahead of them all. It was William and Drew who reached Rose first, and steadied her on the stairs. There was much laughter, and Rose's inconsequential chatter. When Joan and Giles joined the others, Rose said: "I've been all kinds of a fool in my life, but never quite like this." She surveyed Giles with some curiosity, "What a joke that Drew should find you up there. I bought a book of you the other day, didn't I, Mr. Armiger?"

"Two books. I told you they weren't worth reading."

"I read them and they suited my type of mind."

He laughed. "Really? I am sure I could have found you something better."

They went out into the sunshine. Dilly joined them, and when she heard of Rose's vertigo offered tea. "Sit down all of you," she insisted, "while the kettle boils."

But Giles wouldn't. He must be getting on, he said. He bade them goodby and went lightly along the path to the landing. They saw him leap into the gray boat and heard the quick start of the engine. Then in a wide circle he swept out to sea. He was standing up, steering, white and slender against the clear blue. The wind ruffled his hair. He waved his hand. But only Dilly waved back at him.

And it was Dilly who said, out of an intuitive knowledge of the attitude of the newcomers towards her cousin: "Giles is the last of his family. There have always been Armigers in Granitehead—rich ones and poor ones. Giles belongs to the rich branch and I to the poor," she laughed and flicked a crumb or two from the table with a small napkin, "but nobody cares for such distinctions in Granitehead, rich or poor we're all one family."

Drew demanded, "If Armiger is rich, why does he work?"

Dilly gave him a sidelong, twinkling glance, "Because he likes it. He adores books, and money really doesn't mean so much to people who have always had it."

Driving home, later, Rose said to Joan, "Your friend is frightfully attractive."

Drew flung out irritably, "If you mean Armiger, I wish you wouldn't call him Joan's friend."

"Why not? He is that, isn't he, Joan?"

Joan said, quietly, "Yes."

Drew drove like mad. Rose flashing a glance at him added to the flame of jealousy which was consuming him. "He is marvellously good-looking. And younger than I thought."

Drew refused to answer. He would, he decided, have it out with Joan when they got back to the hotel. He must seem like a fool to Rose. Not an hour ago he had been telling her, "Joan never sees anyone else, never thinks of anyone else—but me."

And now he had been made to eat his words. And Rose was laughing at him. That was the worst. Rose was laughing!

For Saturday, August 18

The planetary configurations bearing rule on the affairs of this day, on the whole seem to be adverse, with portents of sorrow, disappointment, delays and obstructions to endure or combat. There may be a bereavement or loss of an elderly person interfering with progress and activity, especially menacing employment or causing depression, distress or morbidity. Nevertheless the domestic, social and affectional relations are under comforting and compensatory sidereal influences and good friends may aid and offer solace and encouragement.

Calls for Courage

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which some grief, loss, sorrow or disappointment may call for courage, fortitude, patience or endurance. Depression and melancholy should not be allowed to jeopardize the employment or hold up other necessary activities, as good friends are ready to comfort, support and encourage, and the personal and affectional affiliations will prove compensatory.

A child born on this day may turn toward the artistic, cultural and affectional comforts to negative a depressed or melancholy state of mind.

ROAD WORKER LOST HIS SIGHT

Gooderham Youth Injured in Dynamite Explosion on Road Job.

SWIMMING BANNED

LINDSAY, Aug. 17.—(Examiner Correspondence). — All hope has practically been abandoned that Ivan Hunter, a popular young resident of Gooderham, will recover his sight. The unfortunate youth was injured some time ago when dynamite detonators which he was handling exploded in his face. A teacher from the Toronto Institute of the Blind is at present at the Hunter home in Gooderham teaching him to read by the Braille system.

Swimming Banned.

Owing to the failure of the artesian well to supply sufficient water for domestic purposes, swimming in the upper Scugog has been banned. The local Board of Water Commissioners has found it necessary to again call upon the river to furnish sufficient water to supply local needs.

Six boys and six girls, representing Victoria County, will enter the junior competitions at the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. The girls will compete in the demonstration of good dressing and household science and the boys will enter a judging competition in both classes of livestock.

Lady Hughes, wife of the late Sir Sam. Hughes, K.C.B., observed her eighty-second birthday at her home, Glenelg Street, on Wednesday. Although in feeble health, she received the congratulations of a host of friends.

Rumors of dismissals and appointments have been flying fast during the past few days, but few of them have been verified. Mr. J. Isaac, whose brother, George Isaac, was federal candidate on the Liberal ticket in the election of 1917, has been appointed issuer of motor licenses, succeeding D. J. McLean, who was appointed to that office by the Henry Government. Rumor has it that Magistrate Jordan will shortly be superannuated, but this could not be verified. The name of A. J. Campbell, a well-known local insurance agent, was mentioned today in connection with the office of sheriff, which has been vacant for some time. Local Liberals would not confirm or deny the rumor.

19 JERSEY CATTLE ARRIVE FOR "EX"

Wilfrid Duffy, of Newmarket, Arrives for Show With Fine Herd.

Arriving here early this morning a herd of nineteen Jersey cattle are housed in the dairy cattle barns at Exhibition Grounds, preparatory to the opening of the Fair on Monday next. The cattle are the exhibit of Wilfred Duffy, successful Newmarket breeder, who is showing here for the sixth successive year.

Employees of Peterborough Utilities Commisson were engaged in stringing light at the grounds this morning; while J. J. Turner and Sons, Limited, have the erection of tents well in hand.

It is learned that the T. Eaton Company, departing from their usual custom, have kindly consented to loan the use of their show windows to the Exhibition Board over the week-end. A specially attractive advertising display is to be placed in the windows for showing over Sunday.

KIWANIS HEARS DR. McPHERSON

City Has Splendid Record for Toxoid Inoculation.

SPECIAL TREATMENTS.

"We have one of the best records for toxoid inoculation against diphtheria of any city in Canada," Dr. A. W. McPherson, School Medical Officer of Health, claimed during the course of an interesting address before the Kiwanis Club to-day noon.

Dealing with preventive measures in connection with the health of Public and Separate school children and also children of preschool age, the doctor said that during the past ten years, 6,000 children had been immunized against diphtheria, while 1,723 children had been similarly immunized against smallpox during the past six years.

Dr. McPherson said that in addition to himself the school medical staff consisted of Dr. J. C. Green, dental officer, and Nurses M. J. Jory and J. S. Deyell.

The work, he said, mainly consisted of the physical examination of 3,000 school children and the treatment of minor ailments and injuries of the schools by the nurses.

Any serious physical defects were noted on "defect slips," he said, and the attention of parents was called to the matter by that means in order that the child might receive attention from the family physician. Follow-up visits were undertaken by the nurses.

Among the more common cases dealt with in the schools, he noted diseased or enlarged tonsils and adenoids; dental cases with a large number of abscessed teeth; undernourishment or malnutrition, and eye defects. There were also many cases of barbers' rash, scabies and pink eye, etc.

Where there was the least danger of infection spreading to other children, those in need of special attention were excluded from school until such conditions as had given rise to their exclusion were cleared up. In other instances children were treated at the schools, the doctor remarked. A total of 365 children were excluded for varying periods last year.

Speaking of cases of malnutrition, Dr. McPherson said one of the greatest problems in dealing with such cases was that while advice might be given to parents regarding proper dieting and general care of children, it was almost impossible to effect any substantial changes in unfavorable home conditions.

He paid high tribute to the work of the Kiwanis Club in the operation of Jackson Park Health Camp, remarking that the good food and healthful surroundings provided for underprivileged children was one of the main factors in the correction of malnutrition.

Dr. McPherson also spoke in terms of high appreciation of the service work being performed by the Kinsmen Club in providing spectacles for needy children. While it was easy enough to get the children's eyes examined, he said the "matter of glasses is a big expense which the city does not feel it is able to meet."

During the past year 65 children had their vision corrected either by their parents; by the School Board, and by the Kinsmen Club.

1933 CHAMPION IN GAME FIGHT TO HOLD HONORS

Campbell Gains Equal Footing With Somerville on Fine Putt at 18th Hole.

A TIGHT BATTLE.

Londoner Holds One Hole Advantage Over Defending Champion at End of 9th.

LAVAL - SUR - LE - LAC, Que., Aug. 18. —(C P)— C. R. "Sandy" Somerville of London, Ont., and Albert "Scotty" Campbell of Seattle U.S., were all square at the 18th hole in their 36-hole duel for the Canadian amateur golf championship here today.

Campbell, the defending champion, squared the match on the 18th hole with a fine putt. They play another 18 holes this afternoon.

Over the tricky, rolling, wooded fairways of this French-Canadian club, the two posted 73's, one over the difficult par of 71. Somerville rounded the turn with a one-hole lead, lost it at the 10th, won it back on the short 11th, and went two up at the 12th. With his back to the wall, Campbell took the 14th and the 18th to square the match.

The ranking Canadian player, with his eye on a fifth title, put together two rounds of 36, 37 and two birdies on the outward trip and twice slipped over par. Campbell had one birdie and also slipped twice over perfect figures for a 37.

Campbell had the edge on the incoming nine, shooting a par 35 to Somerville's 36. Campbell posted his birdie at the 10th and lost the stroke to par at the short 11th. There was practically no advantage for either player on the morning's play. Somerville was long and straight off the tees but Campbell pulled out of difficulty time after time with deadly long putts and chip shots. Somerville missed two or three short putts but generally they were of the difficult side hill variety.

Hole Lead At 9th

A spectacular curling chip to the eighth green, which carried 50 feet and overcame a stymie, today gave C. R. Somerville, of London, Ont., a one hole advantage over Albert Campbell, Seattle, at the end

Johnson Is Asked To Reorganize N.R.A.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18, (A.P.).—President Roosevelt to-day asked Hugh S. Johnson to work out an N.R.A. reorganization and to put it into effect.

The President went over tentative plans of Johnson to set up a commission form of administration for the National Recovery Act.

After the White House conference Johnson said he hoped soon to work out detailed arrangements for the new set-up and would take up the whole question then with Mr. Roosevelt.

Meanwhile, Johnson is going to establish a vacation retreat in Delaware Bay, from which he will keep in contact with Washington by plane and wire.

Johnson indicated he would obey orders and carry on at the will of the President.

At the White House it was said Mr. Roosevelt wants Johnson to continue to administer the National Recovery Act which he helped prepare.

The Jitters

RIDGETOWN, Ont., Aug 18 (CP)—Chief Constable Tyes' nerves had been on edge since the Labatt kidnapping and when the phone rang and a man shouted, "Say, I've got Labatt," he became excited.

"You what," the chief repeated. You say you know where John Labatt is?"

"What do you mean?" came the answer. "Labatt! No, not Labatt. I say I have the bat—t-h-e b-a-t—that bat that was stolen down at the ball park last week. Found it over in the grass this morning."

VIENNA, August 18. — Once upon a time there was a dream city.....Soft music floated in the air from every open window.... Gay, but subdued laughter tinkled in its parks, where drumless military bands played romantic reveries all day long....Fashion shows were held in public and young lieutenants of the guard stared at the doll-faced mannequins as a connoisseur stares at the Sistine Madonna.....The pace of that, city, for every city has a pace of its own —was a leisurely shuffle with a rustle of silk. A faint perfume of pine and new-mown hay wafted up its main streets from the meadows on the blue river beyond.....The cafes began to fill at two in the afternoon and not till dawn did the musicians put away their instruments. What interested the Vienna of yesterday was a new operette by Johann Straus, a new discovery by Freud or Adler, a new book by Klabund or Franz Werfel, a new poem by Hugo von Hofmanasthal. True, the army held parades, but those shows made you think of the Count of Luxemburg and the Merry Widow waltz. By five o'clock every officer had changed to gala, and tried his strategy on non-military objectives.

Was Dream City.

At the cafes in their customary corners you could see the pontiffs

Discussed Disposing of Body —Well Posted—Woman Being Hunted.

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 18 —(CP)—To sit for several hours Wednesday night and listen to a cold blooded discussion of what steps should be taken to murder him and dispose of his body, was the harrowing experience of John Labatt while he was held captive by kidnappers, according to a source close to the family.

In recounting his experiences with the kidnappers, Mr. Labatt is said to have informed his family that from the length of time he was driven after being made captive and his eyes taped he suspected he had been held in a frame shack in Northern Ontario or the Muskoka region. He smelled pine woods continually, the kidnappers' victim told his intimate friend upon return.

If this presumption is correct then he was freed by the kidnappers soon after entering Toronto city limits on arriving back from the north, as the victim was given his liberty on St. Clair avenue.

BERLIN QUIET.

(By A. B. Stafferud—A.P. Foreign Staff).

BERLIN, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Jews came forward to-day to support Adolf Hitler in to-morrow's plebiscite, called to approve his assumption of the powers of President.

A statement of the National German Society of Jews said:

"We find ourselves in agreement with the political testament of the honored Paul Von Hindenburg. To the German Fatherland belong also the life and soul of the German Jews who do not know any other fatherland."

The surprising and carefully-worded statement continued "in the spirit of the late President's will we also approve the joining of the Chancellor's and President's offices."

The statement said that after the post-war troubles "we welcome the national awakening since January, 1933, although it had brought us sorrow."

Not All In Accord.

How one section of Berlin's Jewish population feels about the plebiscite, however, was indicated in a statement of several middle-class Jews to the Associated Press. They said they would cast ballots "be-

FIND CAR ON GALT LAWN DEAD DRIVER AT WHEEL

GALT, Ont., Aug. 18 (CP)—Chief Thomas Wilson, of Hespeler, called to investigate the presence of a car on a lawn in the Roos Hill district early to-day found a man slumped at the wheel as if asleep but further investigation revealed that the driver was dead. He was later identified as Arthur J. Brauch of Buffalo, N.Y., who was visiting in Preston. He had driven a young Hespeler woman home about midnight and is believed to have suffered a heart attack.

Brauch was in Preston for the 103 birthday anniversary of his grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Seyfert of Preston. Deceased was 24 years of age. Since the car was undamaged and the lights were still on, it is believed Brauch feeling the attack coming on him, pulled to the side of the road.

MISSING PASTOR IS BROUGHT BACK BY KIDNAPPERS

Tells Nashville Police He Has Been Driven Around Since Tuesday.

HAD ONLY $40.

Aimee McPherson Sent $1,000 Ransom Note for Gospel Preacher's Release.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18 (AP) —R. H. Askew, 28-year-old North Carolina evangelist, walked into the Nashville police station to-day and said he had been in the hands of kidnappers since last Tuesday.

Dressed in overalls, the Four-Square Gospel minister said his three abductors had taken his clothes away in Washington and then driven him around the country until about daylight this morning, when they put him out on the edge of Nashville.

He told of being driven to Richmond, Washington, Knoxville "and I dont' know where else."

On Way to Buy Bricks

Askew said he was en route from Goldsboro to Smithfield with $40 to buy some bricks for his church, when he was stopped by a man at crossroads between Catch-My-Eye and Pine Level.

The man, the evangelist told officers, told him he had a sick child in Raleigh and asked to be driven to a hospital there. Askew said he agreed.

In Raleigh another car drove up with three men, Askew said, and one, poking a pistol against his ribs told him to "step in."

The evangelist related that the three men gave his passengers "some money" and then drove off with him.

A letter demanding $1,000 of Aimee S. McPherson, evangelist, for the release of Askew was turned over to Los Angeles yesterday, but the minister said he did not know why he was abducted and said he had not been asked to sign any notes.

OTHER KIDNAP CASES ON BORDER

ORGANIZED GANG.

DETROIT, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Chief of Detectives Fred W. Frahm said to-day the John S. Labatt kidnapping was not the first recent abduction across the border in Canada. "There have been other kidnappings but they have been kept from the public," Frahm said.

He added he had received information pointing to an organized kidnap gang as the perpetrators of the Labatt plot. At least two other kidnappings, he said, are believed to be the work of the same gang.

"A well-known Canadian," Frahm went on, "told me he received kidnap threats not long ago. He suspected a certain group, went to them and told them to 'lay off.' There was no kidnapping. The recent reports that there have been no previous kidnapping across the river are untrue, however.

The Perry car and the transport both went into the ditch. The car hit a post throwing both occupants out. Perry suffered only facial cuts and bruises.

Freed Brewer's Family Fearing Gang Vengeance

Officials Silent Regarding Ransom But Sources Indicate Sum Paid Was $50,000, Believed Carried To Rendezvous In Windsor Or Sarnia Area By Special Labatt Envoy Thursday About 4 o'Clock.

POLICE WORK ON COLD TRAIL—SAY LABATT FREED 5 HOURS BEFORE THEY WERE NOTIFIED.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 1.—(CP)—In the apartment home of his brother, John S. Labatt rested today, still silent about his experiences while in the clutches of kidnappers. Ransom payment was still cloaked with doubt although some sources indicated $50,000 was the sum paid to the snatchers—probably in the Windsor or Sarnia districts along the border rivers.

Police struggled to gain a lead that would uncover sign of the kidnappers who waylaid the wealthyLondon brewery head at 9.30 o'clock Tuesday morning and released him at 2.30 o'clock Friday morning. Threats of vengeance from the criminals kept the Labatt family from divulging anything.

Review of the events preceding announcement of Labatt's release led to the belief a special envoy of the Labatt family, an employe of the brewery firm, dashed by auto about four o'clock Thursday afternoon from Toronto and headed westward. Reports said the auto stopped in London only six minutes, then swung toward the western end of number two highway.

Denied By Friends

While the special envoy was believed to have aped toward Sarnia or Windsor districts to meet some of the kidnap gang and probably pay the ransom, Labatt was released in Toronto by other individuals who figured in the crime. But this supposition was met with denial by friends of the family.

Rumor persisted, however, that $50,000 was the sum the gangsters obtained for committing the first crime of its type in Canada.

The declaration not one cent of ransom was paid over was met with the belief men who cleverly engineered the kidnapping without leaving one real clue, were not likely to get "cold feet" at the last moment and free their captive without payment.

The Labatt family has not definitely denied ransom was paid. They merely state no information would be given, probably the result of a grim warning from the kidnappers that nothing was to be revealed until they had sufficient time for a getaway.

It was a "cold" trail police were following. Although John Labatt was released at 12.30 a.m. yesterday they claim they were not informed until 5.30 o'clock he had reached the residence of his brother Hugh in London, 60 hours after he had been kidnapped while motoring from his Sarnia Beach home to London.

Roebuck Must Approve

Any information to be made public is to meet the approval of Attorney General Arthur W. Roebuck first. Richard G. Ivey, member of the law firm representing the Labatts, intimated danger lay in the path of John Labatt or members of his family, a wife and three young children, if anything was made public.

"If you were confronted with a matter that involved life and death to yourself and your family, what would you do?" he asked newspapermen.

"Probably keep quiet," was the reply.

"Exactly," said Mr. Ivey.

GREEK PRINCESS MAY MAKE WIFE PRINCE GEORGE

King Alexander Reported to Have Named Nephew as Matchmaker.

Britisher Gets Invitation.

BY JAMES A. MILLS
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BLED, Yugoslavia, Aug. 18.—(AP) —King Alexander's object in inviting Prince George of England to be his guest in the Royal summer palace here was learned on high authority today to be directed toward promoting a marriage between the British king's fourth son and Princess Marina, the third daughter of Prince Nicholas and Princess Olga of Greece.

This authority stated that Prince Paul, Alexander's nephew, who is very close to the king, has been designated as matchmaker because he speaks fluent English.

It was further said that the fact that Prince Paul is an Oxford graduate makes him peculiarly fitted to deal with Prince George who arrived here several days ago.

Princess Marina, who is 27 years old, inherited all the beauty and charm of her Russian mother and the pleasing personal qualities of her father who was a brother of the late King Constantine of Greece.

Prince George himself is 31 years old.

$117,000 GIFT MADE ABITIBI

McRuer Refers to 25,000 Horse Power Bought by Ontario Government.

SOLD ONLY 16,000.

TORONTO, Aug. 18 (C.P.).—Favors were showered on the Abitibi interests with a lavish hand in the negotiation of power contracts under the former Conservative Government of Ontario, it was charged by J. C. McRuer, counsel for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, at the probe into the "Abitibi deal."

Argument will continue on Tuesday until the probe comes to an end. After Mr. McRuer finishes, W. N. Tilley, counsel for the members of the former Government, and Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Hydro commissioner, will have submissions to make. The inquiry has now proceeded for several weeks before Chief Justice Latchford and Hon. Robert Smith sitting as a Royal Commission.

Yesterday Mr. McRuer charged the Government made a "clear gift" of $117,000 to the Abitibi Electrical Development Company by buying 25,000 horsepower when it was able to sell only 16,000. This contract, he claimed, although separate, was only one of a whole series of favors which included the purchase of 100,000 horsepower from the Hudson Bay Power Company. The acquisition of the Abitibi canyon plant of this company, then known as Ontario Power Service Corporation when it defaulted on its bond interest constituted what is known as the "Abitibi deal."

VIENNA, August 18. — Once upon a time there was a dream city.....Soft music floated in the air from every open window.... Gay, but subdued laughter tinkled in its parks, where drumless military bands played romantic reveries all day long....Fashion shows were held in public and young lieutenants of the guard stared at the doll-faced mannequins as a connoisseur stares at the Sistine Madonna.....The pace of that city, for every city has a pace of its own —was a leisurely shuffle with a rustle of silk. A faint perfume of pine and new-mown hay wafted up its main streets from the meadows on the blue river beyond.....The cafes began to fill at two in the afternoon and not till dawn did the musicians put away their instruments. What interested the Vienna of yesterday was a new operetta by Johann Straus, a new discovery by Freud or Adler, a new book by Klabund or Franz Werfel, a new poem by Hugo von Hofmansthal. True, the army held parades, but those shows made you think of the Count of Luxemburg and the Merry Widow waltz. By five o'clock every officer had changed to gala, and tried his strategy on non-military objectives.

Was Dream City.

At the cafes in their customary corners you could see the pontiffs

Still Lonely

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(CP) —Elliott Lee explained that he was lonesome, so he turned in a fire alarm. He thought a police emergency squad would respond, would talk to him. The firemen were not talkative. Nor was the policeman on the beat. Lee was locked up, all, all all alone.

The Weather

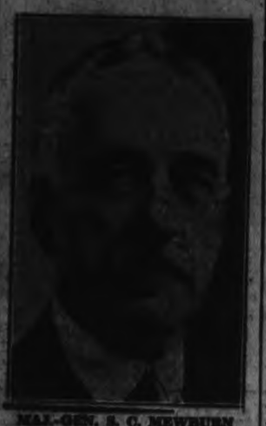
TORONTO, Aug. 18.— (C.P.)— Synopsis: A moderate depression is passing eastward from Manitoba while pressure is high in Alberta and British Columbia, also over the North Atlantic States. Light to moderate showers have occurred in northern districts of Ontario and Quebec and in the western provinces. It has become somewhat warmer in Eastern Canada but considerably cooler throughout the west.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valleys—Southwest winds, fair and warm. Sunday, fresh south-west winds; partly cloudy and warm with local thunder showers.

Lower Lake Region and Georgian Bay—Moderate to fresh winds, mostly south-west; fair and warm. Sunday, fresh south-west winds; partly cloudy and warm with a few local thunder storms, followed by north-west winds, and somewhat cooler at night.

Northern Ontario— Fresh south-west winds; unsettled with showers and thunder storms to-night and part of Sunday, followed by north-west winds and becoming cooler.

Notified Police



MAJ.-GEN. S. C. MEWBURN

Learning that his nephew, John S. Labatt, wealthy London brewer, was held by kidnappers demanding ransom of $150,000 with a death threat should police be called into the case, Major-General S. C. Mewburn, Hamilton, notified police authorities. Later he is reported to have been an intermediary who helped secure release of the kidnap victim. He denied that any ransom money was paid.

JEWS BACKING ADOLF HITLER IN PLEBISCITE

Also Approve Uniting of President, Chancellor's Office in Surprising Statement.

BERLIN QUIET.

(By A. B. Stafford—A.P. Foreign Staff).

BERLIN, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Jews came forward to-day to support Adolf Hitler in to-morrow's plebiscite, called to approve his assumption of the powers of President.

A statement of the National German Society of Jews said:

"We find ourselves in agreement with the political testament of the honored Paul Von Hindenburg. To the German Fatherland belong also the life and soul of the German Jews who do not know any other fatherland."

The surprising and carefully-worded statement continued "In the spirit of the late President's will we also approve the joining of the Chancellor's and President's offices."

The statement said that after the post-war troubles "we welcome the national awakening since January, 1933, although it had brought us sorrow."

Not All In Accord.

How one section of Berlin's Jewish population feels about the plebiscite, however, was indicated in a statement of several middle-class Jews to the Associated Press. They said they would cast ballots "be-

FIND CAR ON GALT LAWN DEAD DRIVER AT WHEEL

GALT, Ont., Aug. 18 (CP)—Chief Thomas Wilson, of Hespeler, called to investigate the presence of a car on a lawn in the Roos Hill district early to-day found a man slumped at the wheel as if asleep but further investigation revealed that the driver was dead. He was later identified as Arthur J. Brauch of Buffalo, N.Y., who was visiting in Preston. He had driven a young Hespeler woman home about midnight and is believed to have suffered a heart attack.

Brauch was in Preston for the 109 birthday anniversary of his grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Seyfert of Preston. Deceased was 34 years of age. Since the car was undamaged and the lights were still on, it is believed Brauch feeling the attack coming on him, pulled to the side of the road.

MISSING PASTOR IS BROUGHT BACK BY KIDNAPPERS

Tells Nashville Police He Has Been Driven Around Since Tuesday.

HAD ONLY $40.

Aimee McPherson Sent $1,000 Ransom Note for Gospel Preacher's Release.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18 (AP) —R. H. Askew, 28-year-old North Carolina evangelist, walked into the Nashville police station to-day and said he had been in the hands of kidnappers since last Tuesday.

Dressed in overalls, the Four-Square Gospel minister said his three abductors had taken his clothes away in Washington and then driven him around the country until about daylight this morning, when they put him out on the edge of Nashville.

He told of being driven to Richmond, Washington, Knoxville "and I dont' know where else."

On Way to Buy Bricks

Askew said he was en route from Goldsboro to Smithfield with $40 to buy some bricks for his church, when he was stopped by a man at crossroads between Catch-My-Eye and Pine Level.

The man, the evangelist told officers, told him he had a sick child in Raleigh and asked to be driven to a hospital there. Askew said he agreed.

In Raleigh another car drove up with three men, Askew said, and one, poking a pistol against his ribs told him to "step in."

The evangelist related that the three men gave his passengers "some money" and then drove off with him.

A letter demanding $1,000 of Aimee S. McPherson, evangelist, for the release of Askew was turned over to Los Angeles yesterday, but the minister said he did not know why he was abducted and said he had not been asked to sign any notes.

OTHER KIDNAP CASES ON BORDER

Detroit Detective Reveals One Man Paid $30,000 for Release Recently.

ORGANIZED GANG.

DETROIT, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Chief of Detectives Fred W. Frahm said to-day the John S. Labatt kidnapping was not the first recent abduction across the border in Canada. "There have been other kidnappings but they have been kept from the public," Frahm said.

He added he had received information pointing to an organized kidnap gang as the perpetrators of the Labatt plot. At least two other kidnappings, he said, are believed to be the work of the same gang.

"A well-known Canadian," Frahm went on, "told me he received kidnap threats not long ago. He suspected a certain group, went to them and told them to 'lay off.' There was no kidnapping. The recent reports that there have been no previous kidnapping across the river are untrue, however.

AGED HAMILTON WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

WOODSTOCK, Ont., August 18 (CP)—Mrs. James Perry, aged 70, Hamilton, died five minutes after she was admitted to Alexandria Hospital, Ingersoll, this morning, following a crash on Number 2 Highway three miles east of Ingersoll. The car, driven by her husband, James Perry, ticked a transport truck westbound, and a London car eastbound.

The Perry car and the transport both went into the ditch. The car hit a post throwing both occupants out. Perry suffered only facial cuts and bruises.

Freed Brewer's Family Fearing Gang Vengeance

Officials Silent Regarding Ransom But Sources Indicate Sum Paid Was $50,000, Believed Carried To Rendezvous In Windsor Or Sarnia Area By Special Labatt Envoy Thursday About 4 o'Clock.

POLICE WORK ON COLD TRAIL—SAY LABATT FREED 5 HOURS BEFORE THEY WERE NOTIFIED.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 1.—(CP)—In the apartment home of his brother, John S. Labatt rested today, still silent about his experiences while in the clutches of kidnappers. Ransom payment was still cloaked with doubt although some sources indicated $50,000 was the sum paid to the snatchers—probably in the Windsor or Sarnia districts along the border rivers.

Police struggled to gain a lead that would uncover sign of the kidnappers who waylaid the wealthyLondon brewery head at 9.30 o'clock Tuesday morning and released him at 2.30 o'clock Friday morning. Threats of vengeance from the criminals kept the Labatt family from divulging anything.

Review of the events preceding announcement of Labatt's release led to the belief a special envoy of the Labatt family, an employe of the brewery firm, dashed by auto about four o'clock Thursday afternoon from Toronto and headed westward. Reports said the auto stopped in London only six minutes, then swung toward the western end of number two highway.

Denied By Friends

While the special envoy was believed to have sped toward Sarnia or Windsor districts to meet some of the kidnap gang and probably pay the ransom, Labatt was released in Toronto by other individuals who figured in the crime. But this supposition was met with denial by friends of the family.

Rumor persisted, however, that $50,000 was the sum the gangsters obtained for committing the first crime of its type in Canada.

The declaration not one cent of ransom was paid over was met with the belief men who cleverly engineered the kidnapping without leaving one real clue, were not likely to get "cold feet" at the last moment and free their captive without payment.

The Labatt family has not definitely denied ransom was paid. They merely state no information would be given, probably the result of a grim warning from the kidnappers that nothing was to be revealed until they had sufficient time for a getaway.

It was a "cold" trail police were following. Although John Labatt was released at 12.30 a.m. yesterday they claim they were not informed until 5.30 o'clock he had reached the residence of his brother Hugh in London, 60 hours after he had been kidnapped while motoring from his Sarnia Beach home to London.

Roebuck Must Approve

Any information to be made public is to meet the approval of Attorney General Arthur W. Roebuck first. Richard G. Ivey, member of the law firm representing the Labatts, intimated danger lay in the path of John Labatt or members of his family, a wife and three young children, if anything was made public.

"If you were confronted with a matter that involved life and death to yourself and your family, what would you do?" he asked newspapermen.

"Probably keep quiet," was the reply.

"Exactly," said Mr. Ivey.

GREEK PRINCESS MAY MAKE WIFE PRINCE GEORGE

King Alexander Reported to Have Named Nephew as Matchmaker.

Britisher Gets Invitation.

BY JAMES A. MILLS
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BLED, Yugoslavia, Aug. 18.—(AP) —King Alexander's object in inviting Prince George of England to be his guest in the Royal summer palace here was learned on high authority today to be directed toward promoting a marriage between the British king's fourth son and Princess Marina, the third daughter of Prince Nicholas and Princess Olga of Greece.

This authority stated that Prince Paul, Alexander's nephew, who is very close to the king, has been designated as matchmaker because he speaks fluent English.

It was further said that the fact that Prince Paul is an Oxford graduate makes him peculiarly fitted to deal with Prince George who arrived here several days ago.

Princess Marina, who is 27 years old, inherited all the beauty and charm of her Russian mother and the pleasing personal qualities of her father who was a brother of the late King Constantine of Greece.

Prince George himself is 31 years old.

$117,000 GIFT MADE ABITIBI

McRuer Refers to 25,000 Horse Power Bought by Ontario Government.

SOLD ONLY 16,000.

TORONTO, Aug. 18 (C.P.).—Favors were showered on the Abitibi interests with a lavish hand in the negotiation of power contracts under the former Conservative Government of Ontario, it was charged by J. C. McRuer, counsel for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, at the probe into the "Abitibi deal."

Argument will continue on Tuesday until the probe comes to an end. After Mr. McRuer finishes, W. N. Tilley, counsel for the members of the former Government, and Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Hydro commissioner, will have submissions to make. The inquiry has now proceeded for several weeks before Chief Justice Latchford and Hon. Robert Smith sitting as a Royal Commission.

Yesterday Mr. McRuer charged the Government made a "clear gift" of $117,000 to the Abitibi Electrical Development Company by buying 25,000 horsepower when it was able to sell only 16,000. This contract, he claimed, although separate, was only one of a whole series of favors which included the purchase of 100,000 horsepower from the Hudson Bay Power Company. The acquisition of the Abitibi canyon plant of this company, then known as Ontario Power Service Corporation when it defaulted on its bond interest constituted what is known as the "Abitibi deal."

World Wheat Parley Collapses Over Argentine Stand

BIG FOUR ADMIT WHEAT PARLEY AGAIN FAILURE

Latest Attempt to Reach Agreement on Quota Schedule for 1934-35 Collapses.

ARGENTINE AGAIN SNAG.

Delegate Lacks Instructions to Guarantee Acreage Reduction Similar to Others.

By ALBERT W. WILSON
A. P. Foreign Staff Writer.

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 18. (AP). The "Big Four" wheat exporting nations admitted failure to-day in attempts to reach an agreement on a schedule for 1934-35 export quotas.

The collapse was made known when representatives of the countries—the United States, Canada, Australia and Argentina—made a report before the full International Commission.

A long session was held yesterday by Big Four representatives with a view of reporting back a completed scheme for export control to the full commission.

The meeting marked the first time the new delegate from Argentina, Rodolfo Garcia Arias, conferred privately with other delegates from the Big Four. American, Canadian and Australian representatives previously had held several meetings from which Garcia Arias was excluded.

The Snag

Argentina demanded a quota of 150,000,000 bushels, but the other big exporters insisted she must guarantee an acreage reduction commensurate to that made by Canada, the United States and Australia before they would grant such an allotment.

Confirmation of the fact that the Argentine, Russian and a few other delegates lack instructions from their government, made it extremely doubtful an agreement can be reached at this conference.

It was recalled a "lack of instructions" was tantamount of a refusal to concur in demands made by the Canadian, American and Australian bloc during two crises faced this past year by the commission. One was when Russian refused to accept an export quota, the other when Argentina exceeded her allotment.

The full conference continued a discussion of the new quarterly export quota plan at to-day's session.

News Reporters And Camera Men Seek Interview

Crowds surround the London home of John S. Labatt following his release by kidnappers who demanded $150,000 ransom money which officials state was not paid. Newspaper reporters and photographers are shown seeking an interview with the abduction victim after he had returned to London. Police are guarding the home preventing entry while Mr. Labatt in a state bordering collapse, is resting from the strain.

STREET FAIR IS GREAT SUCCESS

Annual Rotary Event Draws Large Crowd—Winds Up With Street Dance.

FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 18. (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — With the popularity and success ever accorded this annual affair, the Campbellford Rotary Club carnival and street dance went over big last evening, when a very large crowd of participating townsfolk, country people and vistors gave their support to this worth-while affair, which is staged to raise funds to carry on the work of this service organization among the crippled and underprivileged children of the town and district.

The fair was held on the south end of Front street, the area roped off being gaily decorated with electric lights and flags. All kinds of games were offered for the public amusement—bingo, horse games wheels, and the ever popular fish pond, being among the many. Prizes offered for the lucky winners were of excellent quality and of great variety. One of the many humorous attractions was ringing the duck, a sport that attracted many of the sporting public.

After the carnival was over, a splendid street dance was staged opposite the Davidson Garage, music for this being supplied by Edge Dolman's Aristocrats, an eight-piece band popular in the community. Dancing continued until an early hour on Saturday morning, and was patronized by a very large number of lovers of the light fantastic. C. H. Davidson and S. A. Maguire had charge of the arrangements for this part of the evening.

Vice President Clarence Williams, Vice President Clarence Williams, who acted for President Stanley Neale, who is on vacation. Committee convenors were: Bingo, N. A. MacColl; horse games, Charles Calver, H. N. Carr; wheels, T. E. Hall, E. H. Greig; money game, C. J. Windrim; duck game, A. D. Bennett; fish pond, S. A. Maguire.

Added effort on the part of club members was made this year to make this affair a financial success, funds being urgently needed to proceed with a local clinic for the benefit of the underprivileged children of the district. It is estimated that about forty children needing medical attention have come to the notice of the club, following a survey of the town and district.

Two Unknown Bodies Found In Niagara

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Police of Buffalo and Niagara Falls, N.Y. are attempting to establish identities of two bodies taken from Niagara River.

One body was found floating near the South Grand Island Bridge near here. It was minus coat and shoes, leading authorities to the theory it might be the body of the man who jumped from the Grand Island ferryboat Monday.

The body of another man was found at Queenston, Ont., by five boys. The shirt on the body was marked "Ross." Missing person records were immediately scrutinized by authorities.

You will find many things in the Classified Ads of The Examiner.

ROME, Aug. 18 (A.P.). — George Pond and Cesare Sabelli hopped off at 7.02 a.m. to-day (1.02 a.m. Eastern Standard Time) for Dublin, en route to the United States on a return flight.

The fliers were bade farewell at the field by General Giuseppe Valle, Under-Secretary of Air, and members of Sabelli's family.

The hop-off from Montecello military airdrome had not been announced because of the Air Ministry's desire to avoid a crowd. The fliers have been guests of the Italian aviation corps since their arrival here several weeks ago.

Pond and Sabelli crossed the Atlantic in May, making a forced landing at May, Ireland, May 11. They proceeded by stages to Rome, their original destination.

Aged Farmer Missing In Frontenac County

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.). —Thomas Kennedy, aged seventy years, a farmer living at Murvale, about twelves miles north of here, in Frontenac County, has been missing since Wednesday afternoon, it was learned here to-day, and a posse of 50 men are scouring the swamps surrounding the district. This morning at six o'clock, Kennedy's dog, which was with him when he left home, returned alone.

Owing to the fact that there are swamps all around the district where Kennedy lived, it is feared he has lost his life in them. Provincial Constable G. V. Clubbe is investigating.

Farmers Are Now Shoeing Own Horses Few Smithies Left, Once Thriving Industry

No longer is the shoeing blacksmith shop the thriving place of industry that it was in the horse and buggy era.

True, the odd few "smithies" are still to be found doing business throughout the district, but it is significant of the new era of transportation that in the majority of cases the once familiar sounds and odors connected with the blacksmith's shop are now conspicuously lacking.

No longer does the anvil resound to the hammer. No longer do the sparks fly as they once did, to intrigue the little group of youngsters who used to gather round the "smithy" door.

Visiting at the farm of William Brown in Smith Township recently, The Examiner had occasion to comment on a number of horse shoes and blacksmith's tools that hung up in one of the outbuildings on the farm. The reporter was interested to learn from Jonathan Brown that most farmers in this district now perform their own blacksmith work.

It was three years, he stated, since he had had a horse in the blacksmith shop for shoeing.

"We do most of our own blacksmith work right here, and only have to go into the shop when a horse needs new shoes," he remarked.

STEVENS FINDS MAIN CRITICISM FROM THOSE HIT

Gives Impression There Will be No General Election Till Next Year.

TOUCHES REFUNDING.

Arrangements for Federal Loan in Rhodes' Hands—Relief Still Acute.

VICTORIA, Aug. 18 (C.P.) —The commission inquiring into price spreads and mass buying will definitely resume this fall, according to Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

He had been criticized, he said last night, for his actions in regard to the inquiry, but had found most of the criticisms came from sources believing they were directly hit. He had endeavored to be fair and had tried to refrain from prejudicing the issue in any respect. It was in the best interests of business to put its own house in order, he said.

Relief problems in Canada were still acute. Though a great deal of over-stress had been laid on some features of the situation, Mr. Stevens said. There would have to be more segregation yet of those who did not want to work and of the seasonal worker formerly self-supporting.

Up To Rhodes

Asked as to a program of federal refunding, he said arrangements for a federal loan were being worked out by the finance minister and he thought perhaps an announcement might be made within a month. The exact amount of the issue would be determined by Mr. Rhodes.

Mr. Stevens gave the impression there would be no general election until next year, although he was making no announcement in that regard.

Backed by the confidence of visibly returning trade, Canada has set her foot firmly on the ladder of recovery and will advance by natural and sure-footed steps, the minister said. Steady increases in domestic and external trade, release by private enterprise of construction programs and a gradual quickening of substantial assets on the prairies would aid in the advance.

ONLY ON FRINGE OF ECONOMIES SAYS HEPBURN

Premier Estimates Total Savings of $2,000,000 During 6-Weeks' Reign.

NIAGARA PARK HEAD TO GO.

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 18 (C.P.)—Ontario's new Liberal administration is only on the fringe of what it can do for the province, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn declared before 5,000 South Wellington electors on the eve of the by-election to choose a representative in the Legislature to succeed the late D. Paul Munro, victim in a tragic motor accident.

Speaking here last night in the Winter Fair building at a meeting in support of Dr. J. H. King of Guelph, Liberal standard-bearer in Monday's by-election, the Premier estimated total savings effected by the new Government in its six weeks of life to be in the neighborhood of $2,000,000. "And we are only on the fringe," he added.

Two new pronouncements featured the Premier's address which reviewed the record of his government and stressed the effect of Liberal victories in forthcoming by-elections on the political picture at Ottawa.

Resignation of the manager of the Niagara Parks Commission and his assistant would be called for, the Premier said. Further, he declared the private car in which Hon. Peter Heenan was having his "first and last" ride on an official trip in the north had, according to information reaching him, been used by Conservatives on one occasion to take the children of a former Cabinet Minister to a rugby game.

As Police Constable Charles Seares, driver of a police radio car, left the church in Bromley, England, with his bride, the couple had to walk under an archway of police clubs held by fellow officers.

POLICE LAYING PLAN TO COMBAT KIDNAP MENACE

Roebuck Aims at Unified Control—Calls Parley All Chiefs.

TORONTO MAN HELD.

Believe Labatt Abductors Now in Montreal or Eastern States.

TORONTO, Aug. 18 (C.P.). — Using the knowledge gained in the Labatt case, Ontario police authorities moved toward the setting up of a plan for combating kidnapping.

Police chiefs of the principal cities prepared to attend a conference called by Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck to discuss unified control of police activities and enlarged authority over relatives and negotiators.

The Attorney-General yesterday declared his conviction that the State should be in a position to decide whether ransom should be paid. It was not in the public interest that there should be a contest between police and relatives, he said. Discussion of this question probably will have a prominent place in the deliberations of the police heads. Date for their gathering has not been set.

Meanwhile local officers working on the kidnapping of the wealthy Brewer arrested 36-year-old Edward Chard, who, it is claimed, telephoned Hugh Labatt Thursday morning demanding that $5,000 be turned over to him at the Humber Bridge.

Newspaper reporters who learned of the telephone calls rushed to the Humber Bridge and met a man answering Chard's description standing on the bridge. He told them he was waiting for a friend.

Gang Now In East?

The opinion that the kidnappers, if they are caught, will be tracked down in the Montreal area or the eastern United States was advanced tonight by a prominent police official. He suggested the abductors traded on police concentration along the Ontario-Michigan border and quietly slipped away eastward.

He thought that if ransom was paid it was handed over at some point remote from Toronto, where Labatt was released. He said the Labatt family had feared a kidnapping for two years, and the abductors, in his opinion, used this state of mind on the part of the family to force a speedy payment of ransom.

BUILD DINOSAURS IN BONES OF AGES

Scientists Try to Fit 125,000,000 Year Old Skeleton.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. — (CP) — Breathlessly as a pair of stay-at-home baseball fans getting an inning report of a world series game, two scientists here spend their time trying to put together pieces of age-old dinosaurs dug up in the Big Horn Mountain region.

They are Dr. Walter Granger and Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, both of the American Museum of Natural History. Dr. Barnum Brown discovered the dinosaur bones some time ago and is still digging them out, working as the leader of the American-Museum-Sinclair Expedition, and the two New York scientists consider the find one of the most important in the history of the study of fossils.

The bones, which are believed to have been left in the mountains 125,000,000 years ago, have to be fitted together like pieces of gigantic jig-saw puzzles before their story can be rightly read.

Travelling Auditor Held in Atlantic City Admits Using $1,500.

UNEASY CONSCIENCE.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 18. —(AP)—A man who identified himself as Henry S. Dagg, 40, of Ottawa, surrendered to police last night and said he was wanted in the Canadian capital on charges of cashing government cheques amounting to $1,500 which he converted to his own use.

The man said his conscience troubled him because he had lost the money at race tracks in Canada and New York. He had been in this city one day when he decided to give himself up. Dagg said he had been a government employe at Ottawa for several years and served in a Canadian regiment during the Great War.

Royal Canadian Mounted police headquarters at Ottawa asked local police to hold Dagg.

Hunted Severa' Weeks

OTTAWA, Aug. 18.—(CP)—Canadian police authorities have been searching for H. S. Dagg since the beginning of the month on a warrant charging him with unlawfully cashing government cheques. Dagg was travelling auditor of the treasury board.

Departmental officials declared that following Dagg's disappearance at the beginning of the present month, a search of his records disclosed that five bank cheques had been taken from the departmental cheque book, used to issue the pay of government employes. These cheques had been presented to the bank for payment, with the name of the counter-signing officer forged, officials declared.

EMERGENCY TANK

RAVENNA, O., Aug. 18.—(CP)—They needed an emergency storage tank while connecting a new gas main, so they staked one down on a nearby farm and turned the gas into it.

It was the envelope of the old blimp "Resolute."

French-Canadian Loyalty To The British Crown

(BY DEAN O'SULLIVAN)

Whenever I hear disparaging remarks made about the loyalty of our sister province, I always think of a certain Sunday morning in the early days of the Great War, when my church in Port Hope was crowded with French-Canadian volunteers, who had been brought from Quebec to fill up the ranks of the Durham Regiment. The best test after all of a man's loyalty is not what he boasts that he is going to do, but rather what he did the last time. Let us, therefore, turn over some pages of Canadian history and see how the French-Canadians acted in times of a national crisis.

The first great danger to British supremacy in Canada came shortly after the signing of the Treaty of Paris in 1763. With the victory Wolfe on the Plains of Abraham in 1759, Canada became a British province. For the next four years it was under military rule, till by the treaty above mentioned a permanent government was established. There were then in Canada about seventy thousand French and about five hundred of the dominant class. By the treaty, freedom of worship was granted to the new subjects of the British Crown, but the insertion, at the instigation of some members of the minority, of the clause "as far as the laws of Great Britain permit," gave rise to an attempt to enforce in the colony the Act of Supremacy, which practically took away all liberty, both civil and religious, from Catholics. It must be remembered that the Penal Laws were still on the statute books of England, for Emancipation did not come till more than half a century later. There, however, they were more or less of a dead letter, and they did not apply to the Colonies unless so stated in their enactment. The Act of Supremacy, passed in the reign of Elizabeth, did apply to the Colonies, and there was a very energetic attempt made to enforce it in Canada. The good sense of British statesmen and especially of Sir Guy Carleton, the then Governor, prevailed, and by the Quebec Act of 1774, the most of the disabilities affecting Catholics were removed. The effect of that Act may best be expressed in the words of Stephen Leacock. "The fact," he writes, "that the British Government, in the face of bigoted opposition passed and maintained the Statute which stands as the charter of religious liberties for Roman Catholic Canada, may be said to have laid the foundation of that firm attachment of the Canadian-French to the Crown, which, after the lapse of four generations has become one of the fundamental factors of the political life of Canada."

They certainly gave an immediate proof of their loyalty by the defeat of Montgomery and Arnold, who had hoped that the French-Canadians would rally to their standard, and thus have the whole northern continent showing a united front in the War of American Independence. An incident occurred at this time that does not redound very much to the credit of the Pilgrim Fathers. They were positively displeased with the terms of the Quebec Act. In fact that was one of the main causes of their rebellion. They sent an emissary to Downing Street protesting against the large measure of religious freedom granted to the French-Canadians. At the same time that they were doing this, they sent another emissary to Canada in the person of a Catholic priest, Father Carroll, who afterwards became the first Bishop of Baltimore. The purpose of his visit was to feel out the sentiments of the French-Canadians, and see if they could not be persuaded to throw in their lot with the American insurgents, and thus enjoy a larger measure of religious liberty than they possessed under British rule. His appeal, which was made without any knowledge on his part of the message to Downing Street, fell upon deaf ears. Bishop Briand, who then occupied the See of Quebec, issued a mandement forbidding anyone of his subjects, under pain of excommunication, to have anything to do with the American dissidents. Thus ended the first danger to British supremacy in Canada.

The second crisis came at the beginning of the last century, when the War of 1812 broke out. In the intervening years since the passing of the Quebec Act, there had been a bitter struggle anent the supremacy of the Crown in matters ecclesiastical. While the Act had been generous in some regards, yet the civil authorities were quite determined to make the Church a department of the State. The Catholic bishop was termed the "Superintendent of Religion." The government exercised a veto power in his choice and he could not appoint a parish priest to a parish without its permission. The reason for this intolerant action was a desire to Anglecise the new subjects of the king, and the unwarranted fear that somehow or other the papal court would undermine the civil power, or that France might use the machinery of the Church to regain the lost territory.

In this connection something occurred that reveals that diplomacy for which British statesmen are noted. Bishop Briand, who was the choice of Rome for the See of Quebec, but whose appointment was opposed in Canada, went to England and interviewed the Prime Minister, who was, I think, Sir Robert Peel. The head of the government did not wish to overrule the action of the colonial authorities, nor, on the other hand, to antagonize the French Canadians. So he told Father Briand to go over to Paris and be quietly consecrated and return as Bishop to Quebec.

This was the unsatisfactory condition of things when the war cloud loomed up on the American boundary. Bishop Plessis, who by the way was the last bishop of the original historic See of Quebec, had just refused a pension of two hundred pounds offered him by the government. "I am obliged to declare beforehand," he said, "that no temporal offer can induce me to renounce any part of my spiritual jurisdiction. That jurisdiction is not mine. I merely hold it as a deposit of the Church which I am in no wise permitted to dissipate, and of which I must render a good account."

Notwithstanding past injuries, when the war came, the Bishop threw all his energies into the defence of his country and the firesides of his people. In common with the Scotch Highlanders of Glengarry, the French Canadians gave good evidence of their loyalty to the Crown in that serious crisis. In fact, it was the success of De Salaberry and his voltigeurs that turned the tide of victory at Chateauguay. As a result, the Colonial Secretary wrote to Sir George Prevost, the then governor, as follows: "I have to inform you that His Royal Highness, the Prince Regent, in the name of His Majesty, desires that hereafter the allowance of the Catholic Bishop of Quebec be one thousand pounds per annum as a testimony rendered to the loyalty and good conduct of the gentleman who now occupies the place, as well as of the other members of the Catholic clergy of the province."

Within the course of a year, Bishop Plessis was officially recognized as Roman Catholic Bishop of Quebec, and when Kingston was cut off from that See in 1826, the first incumbent, Bishop Macdonell was appointed by Rome without any let or hindrance on the part of the civil power, the first instance of such an appointment in the British Empire since the days of Elizabeth.

Look Up!

SATAN builds a wall around us,
Thinking we are safely hid;
But while Jesus watches over
Satan can't put on a lid.

When burdens seem so very heavy
And we think we must give up,
'Tis then we hear a gentle whisper:
"When you see these things, look up."

When our hearts with fear are failing
And our way we cannot see,
Then we hear His sweet voice calling:
"Heavy laden, come to Me."

And our hearts are torn with anguish,
We must drain the bitter cup;
What a comfort to remember
There is one way clear—it's up.

Then we'll trust Thee, dear Lord Jesus,
Now to mortal eyes unseen;
We will keep our windows open
And let nothing come between.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Religious and Social Questions Answered
By DR. WYLIE CLARK

What do you think of the Oxford Group movement? I have been watching your column and I have not seen it mentioned.—A.N.

Personally I have had no opportunity of coming into contact with the movement. There is no doubt about many having professed that through it they have experienced a complete change of life.

Dr. Wylie Clark

Their methods are new. That in itself is a good thing. Many religious movements have demanded the attention of the public just because they made a new attack. It was a revolution in religious meetings to hold them in a first-class hotel with the people in evening dress.

Their teachings are not new, but perhaps they are set out in a new way which makes an appeal to the imagination, and has a tendency to captivate and hold the convictions.

The use made of the testimonies of those who have experienced a change of life is one of the strong points in the movement.

Has the church any right to be blamed for the poor houses in our cities?—D.E.B.

By "poor houses" the questioner evidently means the houses in the slum parts of cities—houses that are not fit for human beings to live in. These are often owned by members of churches and rents are charged for them away beyond what they are worth.

It is the business of the church to care for the people and to create an atmosphere where unjust things will not be tolerated.

Christian people should not be content about the house problem as long as children and mothers have to endure terrible sufferings from cold, drafty, leaky, overcrowded and small houses which are always out of repairs.

A decent dwelling place goes a long way to save the bodies, minds and souls of children and women.

Why should there be any attempts at conversion? Why not let everyone follow the way he wants to go and do the things he wants to do?—W.A.T.

The world is full of attempts to convert. Every man who has a strong idea presents it to others so that they may accept it. Through that way of doing things history has been made. So as to bring order out of chaos we must be converted to law and a willingness to arrange things.

Supposing everybody drove their cars just as they wanted to—as fast as they wanted on any side of the road they wanted—how many accidents would there be each day?

If every man built his house where and how he pleased, what kind of a city would we have?

We must keep on at the job and convert men to right thinking, right living and right dying.

Why in an age of great human achievements should men turn away from God?—H.D.L.

The tendency is, when we are doing much ourselves, to forget outside forces and influences. So in times of great human achievements, when we are almost performing miracles, we are apt to think we do not require a God; and in thinking much about ourselves we think little of God.

Wise men when they fear a fight will never lend one weapon to a foe.

Building The Family Cabin

By WALTER H. STARK,
Cleveland, Ohio.

[The following story by Rev. Walter H. Stark was taken from "Church Management." Mr. Stark has erected his summer home on the farm of John McConkey, R. R. No. 2, Lakefield, and is a great booster of the Kawartha district.—Ed.]

TOO many of our city churches require seven day service from the pastor during the winter season that there are many reasons why a city pastor should have some place where he can spend his vacation alone with his family. To be away from the sound of the telephone is indeed refreshing when one has been accustomed to two dozen calls a day. Having a special liking for woods and water we naturally adopted Ontario as our summer playground. Then for many years during childhood it was our native land.

For several years we flivvered up to Canada and enjoyed (?) a rented cottage. There was one where the bedsprings sagged to the floor and one had to sleep alternately back and front in order to walk erect next day. Still another had crockery without handles and with plenty of evil smelling cracks. Nor can we forget that other cottage where the wood stove set the roof on fire and only quick transportation of a major portion of the lake saved the situation. Who wants to burn another fellow's cottage when the rent has been paid. Can we every forget the flivver load of accessories needed to meet the requirement—"tenant must provide?" Boarding hotels have the happy faculty of ringing the dinner bell just when the fish begin to bite.

Was it any wonder that we decided to build a cabin of our own? This was to be a cabin where friend wife could leave those many things she liked to have to make housekeeping easy and successful, and where hubby could leave his tackle and boat, his old clothes and boots, and travel dressed up, knowing the materials for playing with nature were waiting, in moth balls, from last summer.

A cabin may be near or far from one's church. An acre of woodland will do, remembering that water and woodlands will also be beautiful, and thanks to conservation, the fishing is getting better. In making our choice of location we considered going beyond civilization, such places having the advantages of good fishing, but we chose a location ten miles from the city of Peterborough because it offered many advantages. Good supplies are readily obtained. Transportation is easier, and what is more important to a family, medical attention is quickly secured in case of an emergency. We are but thirty minutes from fine churches, stores and theatres. The lake itself offers a ten-mile stretch of water, opening into the Kawartha chain, thus giving unlimited cruising by outboard motor. If we wish to take the road Burleigh Falls is ten miles away and beyond that countless lakes of every variety.

We have spent seven years building the cabin. The first year we completed the first unit, twelve by fifteen feet, an all year cabin with walls fourteen inches thick of northern cedar. Two years later in the spring we completed the second section, also of logs, adding the kitchen of shingles the third year. In other years I have dug sewers, blasted a well from rock, painted and improved the property, planted fifty trees, made furniture, besides doing much fishing. We have travelled the lakes with our lightweight Johnson until we know every tree and rock and can recall a meal cooked on every pineclad island. We have learned to appreciate the Indians at the village a mile away, have captured muskies as near as our dock and as far as fifteen miles, have a knowledge of the places where smallmouths lurk, and where fish can be secured when even the guides prove fishless. We pick blueberries and raspberries, have frogs legs for lunch, muskytall for supper, and live a carefree life.

Building a cabin of logs is heavy work, but well worth while. The house is cool during the heat of the days, and warm during the cool nights. The fireplace has four yards of rocks in it, and I have mixed tons of concrete by hand. Every type of building job has been tackled with some success. I have dug, cut trees, blasted with powder, concreted a well, laid floors, shingled roofs, until to-day we have a solid place with sleeping accommodations for four and every convenience for family comfort. We cook with gasoline under pressure with as much ease as with city gas. This reminds me that we have a date with that cottage late in June, and we are looking forward to wild strawberry shortcake for supper with plenty of thick cream at fifteen cents a pint. Then there is July 1st when the fishing season opens, and that means small-mouth bass for dinner, just out of the water. In the evening we will watch the gold of the sunset over the Indian village, and maybe the Northern Lights will perform for our benefit.

Many ministers' families would benefit with such a cabin. It can be built at an expenditure of a thousand dollars spread over several years, and the rental from the unused portion of the summer pays the taxes, provides repairs, and leaves a return in excess of any interest a bank can pay on so small a sum.

There is still the fourth and final section to be built when the depression is over. It will face the lake and will contain much glass and screen. Beneath it will be the boathouse and the shade from the cedars will keep it cool all day. Loons swim beneath our windows and fill the night with their cries. Blue heron fish on our beach and the kingfisher sits on the old elm which overhangs the water.

No one ever ran a race worth while but ran it at a risk.

Amos Denounces Self-Indulgence

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Amos 6:1-7, 11-14

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell and Alfred J. Buescher

Amos, the shepherd-farmer from the south whom God called to go to Samaria and preach against the wickedness of the northern kingdom of Israel, though only a layman, spoke boldly against the nation for its selfish extravagance.

He said, "Woe to them that are at ease in Zion, and to them that are secure in the mountain of Samaria, the notable men of the chief of the nations; ye that lie upon beds of ivory, and eat the lambs out of the flock."

He especially denounced their intemperance and drunkenness, rebuking those "that sing idle songs to the sound of the viol, that drink wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief oils", and who had no sympathy for the poor.

Amos predicted God's judgment would be that these people would be led away into captivity and be made slaves by the enemy nation whom God would raise up against them to punish them.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 18, 1934

PETERBOROUGH'S EXHIBITION.

With Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition moved forward some three weeks, it is the hope of the management that fine weather will make possible a record attendance.

Everything indicates a complete triumph for this year's Exhibition, inasmuch as the entry list has filled up beyond the fondest expectation of the directors, and the list of special attractions and grandstand features ensures a program rich in entertainment value.

With normal August weather conditions, the Exhibition Grounds should be the centre of activity for the people of the city and district next week, and especially in the night attendance the benefit of the change in dates should be particularly noticeable.

The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, thanks to the progressive policy it has consistently followed and its determination to forge ahead, even in years when less courageous management would have trimmed sail, has firmly established itself in the good graces of the whole district; the public has learned to know that it can expect an Exhibition of all-round excellence, strong in every department and catering to every taste in the matter of exhibits and entertainment features.

This confidence will undoubtedly be reflected in a splendid attendance all next week, and let us hope in revenues that will give the Peterborough Industrial a box office as well as an artistic success.

MORE AUTOMOBILES SOLD.

One of the convincing signs of a return of better conditions in Canada is the fact that the sales of new passenger automobiles through the Dominion during the first six months of 1934, according to the Alexander Hamilton Bureau of Business Conditions, total-led more than 80,000 cars, as compared with approximately 50,000 in the first half of each of the two previous years.

The figures show that sales to the end of June were larger than in the whole twelve months of 1932 and 1933.

Only 40,178 cars were made for sale in Canada in 1932 and only 47,615 in 1933.

The sales figures for the first half of the current year was only slightly less than the 85,000 cars sold in the corresponding period of 1931, and if sales hold up well during the latter part of this year they should be close to the 1931 total.

It is interesting to learn that the improvement in automobile sales has been the most marked in the Prairie Provinces and in British Columbia, where higher prices for agricultural products as well as increased activity in the lumber and mining industries have created a higher level of purchasing power.

Although Eastern Canada accounted for about 70 per cent. of all Canadian automobile sales in 1932 and 1933, the percentage for this area is currently smaller, due to the greater sales increase in the West.

SHOULD DRAW THE LINE.

Attorney-General Roebuck's sympathetic attitude toward those who are suffering from bad working and wage conditions is to be commended, but there is some evidence to support the theory that he is confusing the case of the workers with that of the agitators who are seeking to exploit them.

If the trouble-makers, who for dubious reasons are endeavoring to turn labor unrest into doubtful channels, are given the impression that they have the moral support of the Government in their efforts a situation will be created that will be decidedly menacing.

Labor has a right to strike in an effort to improve its situation, and the law gives it the right also to picket within certain well defined limits, but when strikers are incited by agitators with an axe to grind to go beyond what is legally permitted, to threaten life and property and to attempt to take away from other citizens their privilege of working, then those entrusted with the responsibility of enforcing the law must take immediate and effective steps to see that the law is carried out.

There is no doubt of the fact that the strikes in Stratford and other places were needlessly prolonged and were marked by unnecessary disturbance by reason of the influence of outside leaders, who were more concerned with creating all the trouble possible and in boosting the prestige of their own organization than they were in securing better conditions for the striking workers.

If that kind of thing is to be encouraged by none other than the Attorney-General it is to be imagined that the trouble-making activities of these gentry will be appreciably increased and an unfortunate situation cannot fail to develop.

Like Mr. Roebuck, The Examiner has every consideration for those who are working under bad conditions, but unlike him, we are utterly opposed to giving any support to the element who would use the suffering of the workers to build up a Soviet Canada.

E. C. DRURY MENTIONED.

In its present personnel, the Hydro-Electric Commission, of which Stewart Lyon is chairman, assisted by Hon. Mr. Roebuck and Hon. Mr. McQuesten, may constitute the permanent form contemplated in the economy of Premier Hepburn and his Government. The Attorney-General and Minister of Highways are members of this board without remuneration, and Mr. Lyon's salary is $10,000 a year, as compared with the $18,000 paid to the former chairman.

Some doubt has been expressed as to whether Mr. Roebuck and Mr. McQuesten will find the existing arrangement convenient and practical. Their own important departments, it is believed, will demand their full time without also having to assume the responsible duties of Hydro commissioners.

A "planned economy" in Hydro management may fulfill the expectations of the Government, but if the two Ministers are only temporary members to be replaced by commissioners from outside the Government ranks after the available personal material has been carefully surveyed, one name that has been mentioned for consideration in those circumstances is that of the former Premier, E. C. Drury.

As leader of the Farmer-Labor administration, Mr. Drury was for four years closely associated with the affairs of the Hydro-Electric utilities during an important period of their progress. The Chippewa and Nipigon developments were constructed at that time, when Ontario power sites were still being harnessed according to the policy of Sir Adam Beck. And it was E. C. Drury who vetoed the program of Hydro radials, thereby saving the province and the Hydro municipalities from an undertaking that has since been acknowledged as an unsound project that would have immensely increased Ontario's debt and probably wrecked the entire Hydro structure.

As a practical farmer, Mr. Drury should be a competent adviser in regard to the extension of Hydro's rural services. With a large surplus of power on its hands, Mr. Lyon, the chairman, has stated that the commission must concentrate its efforts on a selling campaign. Ontario farms represent a potential field for increased power consumption, and in that direction Mr. Drury's wide experience should be a valuable aid. His correct appraisal of the Hydro radials scheme was a public service that should deserve consideration in the event of any change being made in the Hydro-Electric Commission.

CANADA'S STATUS.

Premier Hertzog, in a public address, denies the existence of a secret agreement between South Africa and the United Kingdom regarding the former's participation in any future war. Any decision to go to war, he says, rests entirely with the Parliament and people of South Africa.

At the same time, the Prime Minister emphasized that he is strongly for the maintenance of friendship with Britain and the other dominions. "From the moment the British Government declared willingness to grant the dominions the fullest independence," General Hertzog said, "I determined that only one policy should thenceforward be followed by South Africa, namely to extend a maximum of friendship, goodwill and co-operation to Great Britain and the other dominions in a spirit of friendship and fraternity. That is the only policy that can be followed by a wise Government in South Africa. This co-operation will continue as long as the people will it."

Even the most ardent Imperialist cannot complain of this statement. South Africa insists on independence of thought and action, but at the same time cherishes membership in the British Commonwealth of Nations. If there is a war South Africa will decide her own course.

This is precisely the Canadian position. We conduct our own affairs, at home and abroad. We make treaties of our own and we send ministers to foreign capitals as we see fit.

Perhaps the most gratifying feature of the whole situation is that Great Britain has been wise enough to meet the changes that have taken place in recent years, to readily agree to equal status for the dominions. As a result, British prestige in this country and others like it is now higher than ever before. We have passed from the colonial era, but our partnership in the world-wide firm of John Bull & Sons is a much more important and binding thing than the old arrangement.—Border Cities Star.

TOO MANY FREE MEALS.

When Premier Hepburn was speaking at Owen Sound recently he referred to the manner in which the affairs had been conducted by the Niagara Parks Commission. He said this: "Our investigation revealed that of 40,000 meals served there, 30,000 had been provided free to employees and friends of the Government." That would leave 25 per cent. of the meals on a cash basis.

When Premier Hepburn decided to put an end to that form of entertainment he was doing what has been done elsewhere. Some time ago it was found that headquarters of the Canadian National Railways maintained an expensive club and entertainment list. There has been a decided trend on the part of municipalities to curtail or to do away with entirely appropriations for entertainment and we are informed that many private companies and corporations have made reductions in the amount of money they are willing to spend for this purpose.

There are companies which recognize entertainment money as part of their method of securing business. When a customer comes to the city the company sees that he is well looked after. He is fed and watered and entertained, and that is supposed to keep him in a good frame of mind during his buying moments. Perhaps the customer has never stopped to figure it out that all such costs go into the overhead or the expenses of the company and must be recovered from the purchasers of the goods.

In private affairs the practice of entertaining in order to secure business is questionable enough, but in public life where public funds are concerned it should be eliminated. It is not possible to entertain all the taxpayers of the province of Niagara, but all have to pay their share of the cost, and the chances are that those who did receive the 30,000 free meals would be able to pay their own way. It is much better that they should.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

August weather conditions should make Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition next week the most successful on record.

Perhaps the Ontario Government may see fit to order the tanks back to Stratford to protect Mr. Minister.

Traffic officers in Ontario will now have to patrol 30 miles of highway, which should make it handy for the motorist who wants to step on the gas.

With two provincial and five federal by-elections in the offing, Ontario will continue to have more than her share of politics for the next few weeks.

The importance of Canada's tourist trade is shown by the fact that the expenditure of visitors every year since 1926, except last year, exceeded the value of Canada's wheat exports, and in every year, including 1933, were much greater than the value of paper exports or of gold and silver production.

NEWS OF OUR OWN VILLAGE

Rolly Denne's fall fair will be the big event in these parts all next week and all and sundry will be here from near and far for the same.

Doc Fraser, our medical health officer, has put Little Lake out of bounds for the swimmers of the berg, the water in the same having too many bugs or something. They is still the family bath tub and riverlea left, say we, cheerfully.

Our ball team folded up in the 9th inning here Sat. and the lads from Kingston, east of us, come out ahead, 6 to 4. This here losing home games has made this a kinda dismal summer for many, we note, disapprovingly.

Just a little note of cheer for the boys and girls, if any, what read this col., your scribe hastens to mention the schools in these parts will open 2 weeks from Tues.

Regattas is about over for the season in this neck of the woods, which is another sign that summer is on the wing and the coal man is just around the corner waiting to get you. A bright thought for mid-August thrown in without no extra charge.

Geo. Green and Oy. Haskill hooked unto a opogogo and sea serpent or something while fishing up at Clear Lake the beginning of this week and when they landed it the water in the lake dropped six inches. Better not catch too many, lads, warn we.

Folks what have been figgering on jumping over the fence at the Agricultural Society's big show next week better take care where they land, admonish we, the management having hired a lotta special constables for the same.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

By H. W. L. MAHOOD

AUSTRIA — DOLLFUSS.

A NATION divided against itself renders constructive leadership Herculean. The policies of Dollfuss rent the nation into many quarrelsome factions. He did not have the faculty of rubbing out the friction aroused by his procedure. Roosevelt is cordial and amicable. He is not a provoker of friction. Some folks are studded with porcupine quills. A man may be ideal in all his personal relationships, and with all his personal charm meet the stoutest opposition, and utterly fail to harmonize. Such is Roosevelt.

Dollfuss had brains, and a will and a policy, but he failed to harmonize contending factions. Austria is as divided in her counsels as is Germany. Neither Germany nor Austria will come to themselves until amity takes the place of contrariety.

Vienna is the center of Austrian life. Since the Congress of Vienna, that city has had a central place in the thought and in the esteem of the world. At that Congress Great Britain put herself right with the world on the issue of the slave trade. Lord Houghton, in a reply to the address of Joseph H. Choate at the reception given to Lord Houghton by the Union League Club of New York City in 1875, and on November the 23rd, said: "The sine qua non of Great Britain was the abolition of the slave trade." He went on to say, "I felt, I knew that slavery was doomed from the civilized world. My heart, my instincts, my sense of the well-being of every civilized state was against the continuance of that institution." Commercially and educationally Vienna had commanded attention before the convening of the Congress. On that date Vienna was sympathetic to the action taken concerning slavery.

Again, Vienna is in the eye of the world. The home of the Hapaburgs was in this city. Here revolution broke out against their domination. The city passed into the hands of the Socialists. The majority was with them. Other cities joined the Socialist ranks. Industrial centers fell in line.

When Dollfuss came to the front in Austria he had to face a political and economic hopeless situation. It was such that his leadership was the commencement de la fin.

In our day every vocation has its specific temptation. To yearn for what is noblest is to be led where lurks the danger of tolerating for the sake of success, ways and means, which are not in themselves noble. Dollfuss was inspired by some worthy impulses. He believe thoroughly in an independent Austria. But he was not reliable. At first the Socialists hailed him as the man of the hour. Then, there came an hour when the real man stood revealed. On some important matters the Socialists disagreed from his judgment. They stood pat. Dollfuss had them shot down. Homes were shot to pieces. Those who had been his friends and loyal supporters became his deadly enemies. The working class, and the class-conscious workers of other nations felt that their cause had fallen on evil days.

Keenness of sensibility and steadfastness of will are qualities ever present in great leaders. Susceptibility to the presence of God in national affairs, and fidelity to the decision to take God's part are necessary accompanying gifts. When dedicated to the noblest ends the whole nation climbs out of distress and dissention. Dollfuss did not prove himself to be the man of the hour.

The assassination of Dollfuss was the occasion for Germany to invade Austria. Hitler missed his opportunity Another Great War might have been precipitated. It might not. Continuance of the present situation in Central Europe is impossible. It is maintained by force. Discontent and disunion are increasing. The Entente are responsible. In every one of the Danubian nations predatory capital is battling labor will all its might. Nazism and Fascism are its two fighting arms. Fortunate the church is awaking to a new commission.

Dollfuss belonged to the Socialist party. By its own activity, nor by the prestige given the movement by Dollfuss, were the Socialists ever strong enough to control the government. Herein lay the weakness of Dollfuss. Predatory capital was against him. The middle classes were divided. The peasants were not organized. Austria is strongly Catholic. This Church refused to commit itself to the Socialistic policy of Dollfuss. Some of the maxims of Socialism the Catholic Church approved. But it refused to commit itself to the party. The Church, rightly, teaches but refuses to become entangled with partyisms. Wisdom is shown in this attitude.

The main feature in Austrian life is the struggle for the mastery between the Nazis and the Socialists. Predatory capital is responsible for the spread of Socialism. Austrians are of German blood. Nazism is German. Therefore, the spread of Nazism in Austria has been spontaneous. Every Austrian Nazi favors union with Germany. The union will come peaceably, or it will come bringing a European conflagration. Dollfuss stood for an independent Austria. The Catholic Church is unalterably opposed to Nazism. If Austrians had remained just Austrians, instead of becoming Nazis, the difficulty in the way of Austria and Germany uniting would have been simplified. The beginning would have been an economic Germany-Austria. The end would have been a restored German-Austrian republic.

Dollfuss could not have succeeded in establishing an independent Austria. He could not command the finances to run the government. The Allies were furnishing the necessary finances. Such a policy could not continue indefinitely. No government can exist long on borrowed capital. Not Dollfuss, but the Allies were the forces which opposed any reapproachment. If Dollfuss had favored union with Germany both the Socialists and the Nazis would have made common cause.

EDSON, ALBERTA

This Canadian National divisional point, west of Edmonton, is the gateway to the Alberta coal country, and is the centre of a rich farming district which never has known a crop failure. It boasts of including in its environs the farm of J. H. H. Smith, the 1929 world's wheat king.

This thriving town of 1,600 souls was named for Edson J. Chamberlain, late president of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Rod Williams

STATESMAN DIED OF SMALLPOX.

On this date in 1885, Sir Francis Hincks, one of the most notable of our statesman of earlier days, died at Montreal from smallpox, the first prominent victim of the epidemic which ravaged that city in that eventful year.

Born at Cork, Ireland, in 1807, he came to Canada in 1830 and went into business at York, as Toronto was then known, he soon entered politics as an active supporter of Robert Baldwin, doing the Reform cause much benefit through his newspaper, "The Examiner". Bit by bit he drew away from Baldwin, being inclined to take advantage of concessions at once rather than to oppose everything that did not attain his ideal. Half a loaf was better than no political bread was his axiom. Inspector General for many years, he was a strict guardian of the treasury; was burned in effigy by an Orange mob at Toronto because of his support of a bill aimed at secret societies and when his ministerial term was over moved to Montreal, where he edited "The Times", and established "The Pilot", hitting out so fiercely at opponents that he was once challenged to a duel by Ogle R. Gowan, the Orange leader.

In 1849 he visited England and did much to retrieve our financial reputation there. He interested investors in the Grand Trunk railway project, and in 1851 headed a ministry in the Province of Canada, which did much for national development. In 1855, desiring a change of climate he was made governor of Barbados and later of British Guiana; but came back in 1869 and accepted the finance portfolio in the John A. Macdonald cabinet, Sir John being anxious to secure an old-time Reformer to strengthen his ministry.

His selection was remarkable for its effect upon Canadian politics for a whole generation. Richard J. Cartwright had expected to be called by Sir John. When Hincks was chosen Cartwright was so angry that he joined the Liberals and from that day until Sir John's death in 1891, pursued the old chieftain with a malignity unequalled in our political annals, which earned him a leading rank in the Liberal party. He never forgave Macdonald for choosing Hincks instead of Cartwright. Had he restrained himself he might have had the portfolio, for Hincks only held it until 1873, then retiring from public life and returning to Montreal, where the winter of his life was devoted to financial journalism.

THE BROWSER.

The browser is back from those high mountains where he went for his vacation, but not for a rest, and the tips of his fingers are all sore from hard work moving rocks and doing carpenter work and mixing concrete and cutting and threading pipe, and he came back feeling a long, long way from books and publishers and people who read books. . . . It's a strange experience, being so far away from printing presses, and the Browser has decided that books, despite any contradictory examples anyone may produce, are children of the city and that writers are in the main city folks whose lives are busy but incomplete. . . .

He took a number of books with him, but many an evening he sat in his cabin and nursed his wounds and played rummy with Mrs. Browser and yawned off to bed and didn't read a a word that anybody had written and didn't feel any need of the written word, either. . . . However, he did read Sean O'Falleon's "Nest of Gentle Fold" and found it good. It's a story of a mad fellow who did little with his life until he became an Irish rebel and not much more with it afterwards, and the Browser thought as he read it, "Surely the Irish do write books about each other and about themselves that they'd be scalping you and me if we wrote them." . . . A rare, self-contained race, those Irish, and the Browser should know because his own grandmother was all Irish and her blood is in his contradictions and whimsies. . . . And also the Browser has been finishing Knut Hamsun's "The Road Leads On," and there's a book for you that has something in it that's true about people wherever they may be living. . . . Even though the Browser did feel as he read it that there is a great difference between people who are living in different parts of the world and are not speaking the same language. . . . But a genius like Knut Hamsun gives us all the same hungers and passions and draws us together.

The Wine Cook Book, by Cora, Rose and Bob Brown, has been published: "Being a selection of incomparable recipes from France, from the Far East, from the south and elsewhere, all of which owe their final excellence to the skillful use of WINE." And it is indeed a most seductive book, and the Browser wishes he could be invited some day to dine at the Browns, who come from Louisiana but have kept house in France for many years. Cora is Bob's mother and Rose is his wife, and Cora has been collecting recipes for 40 years. . . . George Milburn has received a Guggenheim fellowship and is in England. . . . Mme. Tchernavin's "Escape from the Soviet" is a best seller, and deservedly. . . . Houghton-Miflin are publishing Ike Hoover's "42 Years in the White House" next season and that SHOULD be a best seller. Ike didn't say everything he thought while he was chief usher in the White House but he remembered everything and his diaries are precious contributions to our knowledge of what men in public life are like. . . . James Norman Hall has been staying in Boston but he's going back to Tahiti right away. . . . The Browser isn't reconciled yet to Dorothy Parker's marriage to that actor. He's afraid some tenderness may creep into her writings now. . . . Charles Caldwell Dobie is in Scotland now. . . . And H. G. Wells is at last writing the story of his life, "An Experiment in Biography." His father was, as you know, a professional cricket player and the young Wells was very poor and became the most inquisitive, imaginative and alert writer of his times. . . . People don't give him as much credit now as he deserves but he has been an enormous force upon our thought. Macmillan will publish the autobiography . . . and we hope it is a frank one, omitting little. . . . The The American Library association awarded its John Newbery medal for "the most significant contribution to American Literature for children" to Cornelia Meigs and her "Invincible Louisa: The Story of the Author of 'Little Women,'" and the Browser must have it right away to give to a certain little girl who thinks that Louise May Alcott was "wonderful." . . . T. S. Stribling's idea of the best vacation is to go to New York for two weeks. . . . I. A. R. Wylie is in Russia. If she went to Germany she'd have trouble because her story, "To The Vanquished," isn't allowed in that land. . . . Louis-Ferdinand Celine, who wrote "Journey to the End of the Night," is in this country but his publishers didn't plan any dinners, luncheons or teas because he wouldn't go to them. . . . Rockwell Kent's in Greenland for two years. . . . And Charles S. Brooks is dead in Cleveland, where he lived and wrote delightful essays in the Charles Lamb vein of looking at life, and if you never read any of them you are invited to do so on some cold winter night when the fire's burning brightly and you're in the mood to pop corn and read a pleasant book. . . . Take that tip from

Wins Speed Record

MLLE. BOUCHER

Zipping through the air at 208 miles per hour, Mlle. Helen Boucher, 26-year-old French aviatrix, set a new world's aeroplane speed record for women, far eclipsing the previous mark of 252 miles per hour set by Miss May Haslip of United States.

CREAM PRICES VARY ON MART

Vendors Do Not Know if They Should Charge Code Price.

BUTTER 22 TO 25.

A flurry in cream featured the sales in the basket section of the farmers' market, to-day.

You could buy table cream from some of the ladies, at the usual price of 20 cents a pint, or you could progress a little way and pay out 20 cents a pint for table cream and 40 cents for whipping cream, from those who felt obliged to conform to the recent rulings in regard to milk and cream produce.

"If we don't charge what they tell us, we will lose our licenses," explained the high-priced vendors. One of them, however, regarded the new prices as much to high, and said: "I was getting a fair price at 20 cents a pint. I don't think they should make us raise it."

The others who staunchly stood out and asked only the usual price, either didn't care about these regulations, or didn't know about them. At any rate, the spread of 18 and 20 cents on the pint, was quite remarkable, considering that the quality appeared to be the same.

Last Saturday, a few roasted chickens made their bow to the summer basket market. This morning, there were plenty of them with a general quotation of 30 cents a pound. Roasted ducks were priced at the same value. In the raw, they were 20 cents a pound.

Young broilers were generally priced at 18 and 20 cents a pound, but one woman offered two tender birds, their combined weight totalling just two ounces off three pounds, for 45 cents. Butter was priced at 22 to 25 cents a pound and eggs were 20 to 22 cents a dozen.

On the open-market new potatoes were selling at 20 cents a peck and one dollar a bag. One man with a bushel basket filled with tiny potatoes offered them at 2 pecks for 25 cents.

Hugh Cobblers

Louis Williams, from North Monaghan, had on sale some huge potatoes that brought him many interested questions. They were Irish Cobblers—big, white, mealy-looking spuds.

He had some queer cucumbers that sold for 15 to 20 cents apiece and were of the "South African Runner" variety that looks just like a slender green snake. One, with a head-like formation and a tail-like end, curved in a circle like rubber.

Corn was 15 cents a dozen; tomatoes were plentiful and sold at 15 and 20 cents, in 6-quart and 11-quart baskets, with a few green tomatoes at 25 cents in the smaller baskets.

Black currants were 20 cents a quart box; crabapples were 20 cents in 6-quart baskets, and blueberries sold at 2 quarts for a quarter dollar.

Large eggplants were priced at 20 cents apiece.

A huge bunch of dill, for pickling, was a novelty, priced at a nickel.

Clover honey was 75 cents in five-pound pails, and the combs were 35 cents for clover and 20 cents for the amber honey.

Gladioli sold at 15 cents a dozen.

A little boy had some very beautifully-finished table decorations in brightly colored paper, simulating the lovely artificial water lilies that are such a fad just now. They were priced very inexpensively at 25 cents apiece.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO MINING.

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—(C.P.)—Traders on the mining section of the Toronto exchange to-day concentrated on a few of the secondary golds to the exclusion of all the senior issues except Hollinger and some scattered sales in Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves.

Hollinger merely held the ground gained earlier in the week, casual profit-taking being well absorbed. It closed at 19.90. Teck Hughes was up 5 cents and Wright Hargreaves unchanged.

Siscoe, McKenzie and Ventures showed the best action in the cheaper gold group, with Siscoe and Ventures slightly higher and McKenzie down a point.

TORONTO INDUSTRIALS.

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—(C.P.)—Oils again held the main interest in the closing session of the week on the industrial section of the Toronto exchange. Buying was also fair in International Nickel, Brewing Corporation, Brazilian and Goodyear Tire Preferred.

Of the interlisted leaders Nickel and C.P.R. recorded narrow losses while Brazilian moved up, Ford and Smelters failed to appear in to-day's trading.

Action in the oils succeeded only in holding Friday's prices. Trade was fair in the distilleries, with Distillers-Seagram down ¼ and Intl.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—Extreme apathy tended to drag prices downward to-day, in one of the dullest Saturday sessions in the stock market in more than ten years.

Much of the list was barely changed, but there were numerous losses of fractions to more than a point. The closing tone was easy. Transfers approximated 164,000 shares, the smallest since August, 1933.

blooded manner a plan to murder Mr. Labatt and all the details of disposing of his body and getting rid of all possible traces of evidence were talked over in their victim's hearing. Early in the morning, however, their informant apparently gave them more cheery news, for the gang calmed down and did not seem to be so fearful about the police discovering their hiding place.

"Outside of the terrible suspense of the hours when they were planning to murder me, I was well treated," Mr. Labatt told his friends.

From the manner in which the gang knew the movements of the police and other happenings in Toronto and London, Mr. Labatt formed the opinion they had several aides scattered through the country supplying them with information. The men all spoke like Canadians, although they seemed to have spent much time in the United States, Mr. Labatt said.

Hunting a Woman.

An entirely new angle to the Labatt kidnapping case and the possibility that the intermediary who dealt with the family regarding the ransom might have been a woman, was disclosed to-day when the Canadian Press learned that officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police visited a local hotel on Thursday and made inquiries about a woman believed to have been dropped off in this city by the kidnappers.

Soon after the various police forces in the province got into action, the Mounties started to trace the whereabouts and movements of certain people known to the Federal authorities to have crossed into this province a few days before. In tracing the movements of this gang, the police learned that a woman in the party was left in this city and she registered at the hotel here. After staying for one night, the party for whom the police were searching left the city and the next day officers of the R.C.M.P. visited the hotel to try and locate the woman.

It is believed that the police were of the opinion that the woman was left here by the kidnappers to carry on communications with the family regarding the ransom and that this could be done safely from this city.

Somerville appeared to have lost the hole when Campbell putted 70 feet to within inches of the cup. But his own shot, even more brilliant than that of the American, gave him a birdie three and the lead.

Sandy started the round with a birdie four with on the first which Campbell neutralised by a birdie two on the second. Somerville took the fourth and Campbell the sixth, both in par. The third, fifth, seventh and ninth were halved.

The London star made a par 36 for the round and his rival 37.

SEA'S GREATEST STORIES COME FROM SUNKEN SHIPS

Ghostly Crews Challenge Imaginations to Solve Mysterious Disappearance.

OVER THE CENTURIES.

(By Robert McGill, Central Press Canadian Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—Ghostly crews wander aimlessly over the seven seas, challenging the most vivid imaginations to solve their mysterious disappearance.

They are ships that have sailed from port manned by full crews, sometimes never to be heard from again. Occasionally one will appear like a phantom from out of nowhere, cast off a fragile clue to its disappearance and quickly fade away.

Perhaps the greatest sea mystery of the decade is the fate of the Danish training ship Kobenhavn which sailed from Montevideo in December, 1928, bound for Australia.

On December 21 she reported "all well" 500 miles out on her course through the South Atlantic, said to be the loneliest waters in the world. That was the last word ever heard from her.

Drifts Toward Reef

One month later settlers on Tristan da Cunha, an isolated rock halfway between Brazil and Good Hope, were greatly excited by the approach of a sailing vessel. She seemed to be steering aimlessly, with a light sail set, before a gale which was driving her straight for the island's jagged reefs. Just as disaster seemed inevitable, she veered aside and drifted safely past, not 600 yards offshore.

There was no sign of life on board. She was riding down at the stern, indicating some damage. Otherwise, all seemed to be in good order.

She was the last Kobenhavn. There was no doubt about her identity.

But the next day when it was calm enough for settlers to put out in boats she had vanished.

That was the last seen or heard of the Kobenhavn until several weeks ago when a piece of wreckage from the derelict was washed up on the coast of Australia.

The sea guards her secrets well and all that can be guessed is that whatever happened to the Kobenhavn came so suddenly that the stricken ship was unable to even send out a wireless call for help.

Fur Ship Wanders

Another ghost ship haunts Arctic waters.

She is the Hudson's Bay steamer Bayshimo, according to the National Geographic Society, which disappeared three years ago off Wainwright, Alaska. At intervals she has been reported seen by the captains of whalers and trading vessels. But always she eludes capture, drifting outward with the ice pack into northern mists.

But perhaps the most famous sea mystery of all, a puzzle that has defied solution for over 60 years, is the question of what happened on a December day in 1872 on board the Mary Celeste. The ship had put out of New York Harbor for Genoa, her hold filled with barrels of alcohol. On board was the captain, Benjamin S. Briggs, his wife, their small daughter, and a crew of seven men.

Nothing Misplaced

Five weeks later the British ship Dei Gratia found the Mary Celeste 300 miles west of Gibraltar. Her sails were set on a starboard tack and she was ploughing steadily eastward. Signals from the Dei Gratia met with no reply.

Worried by this, the Dei Gratia sailed alongside, and the crew boarded the vessel. To their astonishment, they found that she was completely deserted. The decks were in order, no sign of struggle, mutiny, robbery or murder. They found Mrs. Briggs's sewing machine with a garment half stitched. In the forecastle were the seamen's chests, their money, and even the remnants of a meal.

It is possible those aboard feared an explosion in her hold, put off hurriedly with no provisions, then waited disaster which failed to occur.

Too late, they may have tried to overtake her, only to find her sailing steadily farther out of reach.

BEARS POPULAR IN ART CLASSES

MANCHESTER, Eng., Aug. 18.—Visitors to the presentation of diplomas at the Royal College of Art were astonished at the sight of so many of the younger students, who might have stepped from the pages of Henri Murger or George du Maurier.

There were beards plain, beards gurled, long beards, short beards—silken and bristling beards, yellow beards, black and brown beards with noble, curling cascades of hair to match on the top of the head.

The older artists as a rule have given up growing beards and letting their hair hang long at the back.

The shouting and tumult of the Nazis' rapid-fire campaign for popular ratification at the polls tomorrow subsided to-day.

The day before Hitlerism's self-invited test of its own power found Berlin quiet and unruffled, compared to the excitement shown on previous similar occasions.

In a speech at Hamburg last night the Chancellor emphasized the need of absolute loyalty among the storm troopers, whose ranks were "purged" by bullets the week-end of June 30.

One of the last to enter the campaign, Colonel Oskar Von Hindenburg, son of the late President, declared his father approved wholeheartedly of Hitler as his successor.

Both the Government and the press are united in a fight to disprove foreign allegations that Von Hindenburg's political legacy may merely have been a Nazi political coin.

SCIENTIFIC WORLD ACCLAIMS PREVENTATIVE FOR PARALYSIS

Modest Professor Dr. Kolmer, and Miss Rule Risk Lives in Test.

CENTURY OLD PUZZLE.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—(C.P.)—Acclaim of the world of medical science rang to-day in the ears of Dr. John A. Kolmer, modest Philadelphia medical professor, who claims discovery of the first preventative for infantile paralysis. Acclaimed with him was his comely technical assistant, Miss Anna M. Rule of Halifax.

The 48 year old professor and Miss Rule risked their lives to test Dr. Kolmer's discovery before publicly claiming success. They took inoculations of the vaccine Dr. Kolmer was sure would solve the century-old puzzle of the paralysis germs.

The final experiments were made, Doctor Kolmer said, "with some fear, but there were no reactions except slight soreness at the sites of injection and the results were completely successful."

The Triumph.

When they were able to take samples of their own blood and mix it with paralysis virus to form a successful vaccine for monkeys, they were sure they had triumphed.

Even in the excitement of announcing development of his anti-paralysis vaccine yesterday, the professor's future research plans and hopes were in the background of his thoughts.

Now that a way has been found to prevent the dread paralysis, he declared, there will be more time for his work on vaccine to forestal pneumonia.

He has already developed a fluid, he disclosed, which has been used effectively in immunizing rabbits from the lung inflammation, and the same vaccine has met with "a large degree of success" in experiments in humans.

Continue For New Cure

While carrying on the pneumonia work, he said, he will attempt to supplement his infantile paralysis vaccine with a serum to "cure" that disease after infection sets in.

He was experimenting along this line, the researcher explained, at the time of development of his preventative vaccine from the spinal cords of monkeys.

The professor, who divides his time between Temple University and the Independent Research Institute where the vaccine was developed, announced that after three years of experiments, they had found a fluid that could be produced cheaply, could be injected into the skin of children without fear of harmful effect and produce life-long immunization.

Frahm said he intended to confer with Canadian authorities who may have information about the kidnap gang. His disclosures came after he and Superintendent John P. Frahm and Smith, who formerly comprised one of the outstanding teams of the detective bureau, centred their investigation at the Michigan State Fair grounds race track, where a watch was set to see if any of the ransom money was brought in.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

Aged Smith Township Farmer Prefers Oxen to Horses

WILLIAM BROWN STILL RETAINS YOKE OF OXEN

Aged Smith Township Farmer Handled Oxen Since 10 Years Old.

DEED 114 YEARS OLD

Log House Erected in 1845 Still Stands Fair State of Preservation.

Experienced in the handling of oxen since he first drove them before the plow at the age of ten years, William Brown, successful Smith Township farmer, still prefers them to horses.

He was recently paid a surprise visit by The Examiner, and despite the fact that he is nearing his 79th birthday, was found working his yoke of oxen on the harrows on a section of his broad acres located adjacent to the Isolation Hospital.

Intimation that Mr. Brown had consented to loan his yoke of oxen to Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board for showing at the fair, put a reporter on the scent of a story. Incidentally Mr. Brown, though at first exhibiting signs of diffidence at thought of appearing in "print," proved to be a most genial and interesting conversationalist.

Original Settlers.

That is not in the least surprising, considering that he is scion of sturdy Belfast-Irish stock who were numbered amongst the vanguard of settlers in this section of the Empire's outposts in the reign of King George IV.

His father, James Brown, came to this country from Belfast as a young man ninety-six years ago, and was one of the original settlers in Smith Township.

The farm on which William Brown was born and raised and where he is still carrying-on, situated on Langton street at the northern boundary between the city and Smith Township, is the land which was homesteaded by his late father.

Built 80 Years Ago.

Seven years after securing his grant of Crown land, James Brown married Hannah Brumwell, a daughter of Jacob and Mary Brumwell, neighboring farmers, who had settled in the district around the year 1830. As a young bachelor he had lived in a shanty, but following his marriage he erected a log house in or around the year 1845.

The log house, which still stands in a fair state of preservation, was the home in which William Brown was born on October 2, 1855. Untenanted since the handsome red brick house, erected by himself, superseded it as the family residence about forty-four years back, it remains as a monument to the industry and sacrifice, not only of his parents, but to the noble and hardy band of pioneers to which they belonged.

Deed 114 Years Old.

Mr. Brown holds the original deed to the Brumwell homestead, which is a document dated February, 1820, now yellowed with time. In effect the deed, granted in the reign of George IV., gives to "Jacob Brumwell of the township of Smith, in the county of Northumberland, in the district of Newcastle," ownership of "the broken lot, number 16, on the second concession of Smith." The usual legal verbiage follows, setting forth the boundaries, etc., of the property. The deed is granted under the seal of Sir John Colborne, K.C.B., Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada—it is a seal of beeswax, about four inches in diameter and having a thickness of possibly half an inch.

Shortly after his own marriage to Elizabeth Lytle, Mr. Brown told The Examiner, he built the red brick house, formerly mentioned, and in it his family of eight sons and two daughters were born. One son, Wilfred, is dead, those surviving being Fred, Victor, Jonathan, Ephraim, Klondyke Gold, Morgan and Sydney, who are all engaged in farming in Smith Township; and Mrs. W. G. P. Benton, of this city, and Miss Flossie, at home. His wife, 10 years his junior, is enjoying fairly good health.

Referring to the fifth-named son, a reporter protested, "but what is his real name?"

"That is his real name," Mr. Brown replied with emphasis. "We called him 'Klondyke Gold' because he was born at the time of the gold rush around '98."

Declines Offer.

A spare, youthful-looking figure, Mr. Brown stood under the hot sun in the fields along side of his oxen during the course of the interview, and declining the offer of his son-in-law to put the oxen in the barn and unyoke them, remarked, "They have some more work to do yet."

Asked what advantage oxen had over horses for use in farming, the old gentleman replied, "They don't need so much care as horses." But that doesn't imply that Mr. Brown is afraid of work. On the contrary, he has spent a life-time of unusual activity, to which he attributes his present good state of health.

"I have driven oxen since I was ten years old, and there is one thing I can do with them that not every man can do."

"And what is that?" The Examiner questioned.

"I can break them and drive them without swearing," he replied.

A breeder of Durham cattle, Mr. Brown related how he had broken his present oxen, "Tom" and "Jerry" to the yoke early last spring. "They were as wild as anything that ever came off the frontier on the first of March," Mr. Brown recalled, "and groaned and bawled something terrible when placed in the yoke."

Oxen Most Docile.

The Examiner can only comment that when the reporter saw them they were the picture of docility, presenting veritable recommendation to the patience which their master must have exhibited in breaking them. Each of the animals scale around 1,600 lbs. each. They are 3-year-olds, and when fully grown will be twice as heavy.

At one time, Mr. Brown stated, he owned a yoke of oxen that went 1 ton each in weight.

Commenting on the yoke worn by the oxen, a reporter was told "that yoke is at least ninety years old. It belonged to the late Samuel Dickson, founder of the Dickson Lumber Company."

Looks on Bright Side.

The old gentleman, who claimed that he is "always looking on the bright side of things," was very optimistic about the immediate future. Speaking of economic depressions, he stated, "I have seen lots of them and know that we will come back again. I hope to see the return of prosperity in my time."

He was equally cheery about the crop situation. "How are the crops? Well, look at them," he invited, making a broad sweep over the expanse of his fields with the whip he was holding. "There is a splendid ten acres of corn and other crops have been equally good. We threshed some grain and the yield is good."

Extensive Holdings.

Mr. Brown's holdings of land include 100 acres on the Brown homestead, 100 acres on the old Brumwell homestead, the old Morrison farm on the Middle line of Smith, and the old Bell farm on the Fourth line of Smith, in addition to ranching land in Burleigh Township.

Bear's Creek, regarded as one of the local beauty spots, runs through the farm on which Mr. Brown resides, while the property also boasts a gravel pit which in the past has yielded many tons of gravel for use in several of Peterborough's public works undertakings.

Last surviving member of a family of five boys and one girl, Mr. Brown spoke with mild disdain of pasteurized milk. "I have been in the habit of drinking a pint of unpasteurized milk every night before retiring," he remarked, "and I do not look any the worse for it, do I?"

Mr. Brown had just finished showing a reporter the old deed to the Brumwell property as he made the last remark, and after folding up the deed, he apologetically removed his spectacles.

Has Keen Eyesight.

"I have wonderful eyesight and don't have to wear glasses except for reading," he claimed, Then with a trace of indifference, excusable to a man who is a stranger to ill-health, he related that the glasses he was wearing had cost him twenty-five cents, and that he had continued wearing them without ill-effect after an eye specialist had told him he would go blind if he did not get properly-suited spectacles.

"Do you smoke?" Mr. Brown was asked.

"Yes," he laughed. "I have smoked since I was a lad."

Recently he confessed he had found the pipe and cigar too strong for him and had been obliged to revert to cigarette smoking. "But one might just as well smoke a straw as cigarettes," he complained. "There is little satisfaction in them."

Having occasion to call Mr. Brown on the telephone the other evening, The Examiner asked, "How are you this evening, Mr. Brown?"

"I am living. I have just risen from the table and have had three square meals for to-day. What more does a man want?"

That remark was, The Examiner believes, characteristic of Mr. Brown. A man of simple, rugged honesty, he gets his full meed of enjoyment from a day's work well done and finds keen pleasure in the relaxation of the family circle.

The locomotive sheds at Templehoff, Germany, have been equipped with suction pipes which are connected with the stacks of railway monsters to carry the smoke outside the building.

A large hydroelectric station is to be constructed in the Angara district of Siberia to help in the development of large iron, manganese and asbestos deposits.

Driven Oxen Since He Was 10 Years Old

William Brown, 78-year-old Smith Township farmer with his yoke of oxen that he has kindly offered to loan to Peterborough Exhibition Board to show at the Fair here next week. The aged man has been driving oxen since he was ten years old, and still prefers their use to horses.

Also shown is the log cabin which still stands on the Brown farm erected over ninety years ago by Mr. Brown's late father who was one of the original pioneer settlers in the township.

CARDSTON, Alta., Aug. 18. — Unique in its design, imposing in its chaste simplicity, yet furnished and fitted with a lavish hand is the great marble temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormons) here, which has now passed its tenth year of service. This Mecca of the Mormons in Canada is the only temple of its kind on British soil, and has gone far in consolidating the faith in this country and stabilizing the settlements which date back to the pioneers who trekked in from Utah in 1887.

Here is a million-dollar church in a Western Canadian town far removed from the main arteries of trans-continental travel. Its architects were inspired by the temples of the Aztecs. There are no spires nor minarets, but its walls rise in arresting beauty and shine like polished alabaster.

It is built of white granite and marble and much of the material is flecked with gold. It stands on a slight rise in the midst of a lovely garden and forms a double cross, which gives the edifice an octagonal appearance.

Faces Rockies.

The whole majestic pile stands in a rectangular courtyard, bounded by a retaining wall of white granite handsomely tiled and made pleasing with flower beds. The surrounding walls are further enclosed by a wall of cut stone. The main entrance faces the west, looking out toward the Rocky Mountains. Here is a fountain and the first of a series of friezes in granite depicting Christ and the Samaritan woman at the well. The frieze is the work of T. A. Knaphus, Norwegian sculptor, who also created the magnificent baptismal font resting on the backs of 12 life-size oxen in the temple proper.

The interior of the temple embodies a series of rooms each for a specific purpose. The Temple is not strictly a church but rather a building wherein the higher rites of the church are administered to worthy members.

Since its dedication the Temple has been closed to the general public, although exceptions to this rule have been made in the case of Lord Willingdon and the Earl of Bessborough. They were shown the Temple by special dispensation from President Heber J. Grant of the Mormon Church in Utah, and were escorted by the president of the Temple, Edward J. Wood, Mormon Church leader in Canada.

Material Best.

The woodwork is one of the outstanding features. Oak, maple, American walnut, mahogany and cherry are all used lavishly. Inlays are of the finest workmanship. The hangings, carpets, drapes, paintings, etc., match them in beauty and taste. Tile and mosaic work in the corridors fit into the general scheme. The walls are striped in bronze tints and stencilled. There are no stained glass windows in the remarkable edifice. The sunlight comes diffused through the long narrow windows of amber glass.

The furnishings of the various ceremonial rooms are each more splendid than the other as one ascends to the "Celestial Room." Here pillars of mahogany greet the eye, pillars reaching to the gilded ceiling. Its four great arches are inlaid with gold. It has no other decorations than the panelling and the inset slabs of Utah onyx around the base. It is richly carpeted and draped in purple.

The baptistry is one of the grand rooms of the Temple. The Mormons baptise by immersion and here is a magnificent font similar to the "molten sea" of Solomon's temple. The font, as mentioned, rests on 12 life-size oxen symbolising the 12 tribes of Israel, while the 12 pillars in the chamber represent the 12 apostles.

The ceremonies are not in any sense secret. They include baptisms both for the living and the dead, celestial marriage or marriage for time and eternity, administrations to the sick and anointings of the sick with oil.

Believe Baptism Necessity.

The Mormons believe that baptism is essential to salvation, and if it is not performed while the individual is living it must be done by proxy after death.

The church believes that marriage is an "everlasting covenant," although civil marriages are recognised as long as the contracting parties are living. These contracts end with death, not so "temple marriages." They are still binding for the family unit continues in the spiritual world, according to Mormon doctrine. Those married in the Temple must have regular marriage certificates, of course, and the elders officiating must be properly licensed. These two ordinances form the main rites performed in the temples.

The site for the Carston Temple was dedicated in 1913 by the late President Joseph F. Smith and the first sod was turned in November of that year. The cornerstone was laid in 1915, the capstone was placed two years later and the Temple dedication festivities lasted a full week and were attended by high officials of the church, who travelled by special train for the historic event.

FAMILY COMPACT IN SCREEN JOBS

Survey Shows Hollywood's Big Executives Very Much Related.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 14 (C.P.). — Talent—or at least the ability to hold down big jobs in the movie world—runs in the family down here. A check-up of the industry reveals that one way to get a good job is to be the cousin, wife, brother, sister or uncle of somebody else in a good Hollywood job.

Mayers, Laemmles and Thalbergs probably head the list.

Louis B. Mayer, head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, has in his studio Jack Cummings, Ruth Cummings, and Mitzi Cummings.

Carl Laemmle and his son Carl, Junior, dominate Universal with the aid of Ernest L. Frank (Laemmle), Edward Laemmle, William Wyler, and Stanley Bergerman, all relatives.

Irving Thalberg is a producer, his wife, Norma, acts, his sister, Sylvia, is a screen writer and novelist, her husband is a supervisor and Douglas Shearer, another of the family's relatives, is chief of sound in their studio.

The three families are outstanding, but far from unique. In all large studios a careful check of the personnel revealed the same condition.

WALLS CRACKING IN ALL HALLOWS

Historic London Church Built by Wren Now Declared Unsafe.

LONDON, Aug. 14. — (C. P.). — Not since St. Paul's Cathedral was regarded as a "dangerous structure" and the building strengthened has there been another edifice built by the great Christopher Wren, coming under that category. Now All Hallows Church, Lombard Street, London, is said to be unsafe. The east wall is said to be cracked all out of upright or otherwise defective.

It is not difficult to trace the cause. Lombard Street has been largely rebuilt in the past seven years. Lloyd's bank and Martin's bank replaced their modest building by huge new and heavy structures, for which deep foundations, but apparently not enough has been done.

It is a Wren church, erected on the site of a mediaeval church destroyed in the Great Fire. Alexander Barclay, author of "The Ship of Fools," was its rector, and John Wesley preached one of his first sermons there.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

BIG EFFORT IS EMBARKED UPON BY KIWANIANS

Prize Drawing and Street Carnival to be Held on August 30.

IN AID OF FUNDS.

Operation of Jackson Park Health Camp Will Probably Cost $1,100.

A WORTHY CAUSE.

"It is difficult to estimate the true worth of the good work you are performing, because it is impossible to tell what the condition of those children might have been had you not cared for them," stated Dr. A. W. McPherson recently in congratulating Peterborough Kiwanis Club on their efforts in behalf of underprivileged children.

His remarks had particular reference to the club's major activity in its operation of Jackson Park Health Camp where an average of seventy children are being cared for each day throughout the season. The camp opened early in July under the able direction of Nurse Florence Vickers, and is to operate until the close of the present month.

It is estimated by officials of the club that operating expenses at the camp this season will approximate $1,100. In former years with higher commodity prices prevailing operating expenses have mounted as high as $1,500, it was stated.

The afford some idea of the cost connected with such an enterprise, and as proof that healthy appetites are fully satisfied, it is interesting to note that in July no less than 714 loaves of bread were consumed, also 160 lbs. of meat; 30 dozen eggs; 106 lbs. of butter; and 650 quarts of milk, to name but a few of the staple items of diet.

Provision orders are spread around among different grocers, bakers and dairymen as much as possible, in order that each might get a fair share of business, the secretary stated.

Seeking generous support for the prize drawing and the street fair and carnival that is to be held on August 30 to raise funds for the service work in which the club is engaged throughout twelve months of every year, President A. B. Gates extends a cordial invitation to members of the general public to visit Jackson Park Camp at any time during the next few weeks that it will be open. He suggests that meal time, is possibly the most interesting period of the day for visitors to drop in.

In connection with the prize drawing for which tickets are now on sale in the city, twenty prizes of a total value of $750 are to be drawn for on the evening of the Street Fair and Carnival.

The event is to be staged at the Brock Street Summer Gardens and on Brock Street between George and Aylmer streets. Committees have been appointed, and each of the respective chairmen are busy working out the details to ensure an evening's enjoyment for everyone who patronizes the Carnival and in so doing assists the club in its praiseworthy efforts on behalf of underprivileged children.

Cavan

The Misses Marion and Elnor Whitfield, Fraserville, are visiting the Misses Mary and Dorothy Armstrong, Eighth Line, Cavan.

The Rev. Mr. Trompour, Mrs. Trompour and family are spending their vacation with relatives at St. Clemens, Michigan, going by motor.

Services have been withdrawn at Cavan United Church, on the two Sundays during the pastor's vacation, August 19 and 26, giving the members and adherents an opportunity to attend neighboring churches.

Mr. and Mrs. James Paul attended the funeral of the late James Wilson in Port Hope on Thursday.

The Misses Nettie and Irene Sutton visited friends at Balsam Lake during the past week.

Miss Hazel Hunter, R.N., Toronto, spent a few days with Cavan friends. Her aunt, Miss Frances Hunter, returned to the city with her.

Miss Wanda Budd, Port Hope, is holidaying with her grandmother, Mrs. N. Lamb.

Centreton

Merle Blodgett was a guest of Audrey and Valda Prettie on Monday.

Mr. E. Honeywell, Genesee, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Honeywell and family of New York were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson McKenzie recently.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Short and family of Oshawa are visiting at the home of Mr. T. Milgate.

The Y.P.S. met on Tuesday night, with Mrs. F. Birney in charge.

Mrs. L. Hie was hostess to the W.M.S. on Wednesday afternoon. Plans were made for the September meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. R. Curtis on Wednesday, September 12.

Mr. and Mrs. C. MacGregor and family and Charles Millar attended the decoration service at Castleton Cemetery on Wednesday.

Byrd Prepared For Lonely Death

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Aug. 17. (A.P.)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd prepared himself for a lonely death in the Antarctic, yet sent no appeal for aid, the outside world learned to-day—five months later.

A message from the advance weather base where Byrd spent nearly five months in isolation told how he resigned himself to death and left a note for a relief party which he feared would "arrive too late."

Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, head of the tractor expedition of three which fought its way to Byrd's side, reported by radio that the commander became so ill in June from fumes from his stove that he thought the end was near.

Bailieboro

Dr. Fred Fisher of Ottawa is visiting with friends in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. McFadden and son of Tonawanda, N.Y., are holidaying at Rice Lake.

Mrs. W. Thompson with Misses P. Thompson, H. and L. Thompson, are spending their vacation at Rice Lake.

Miss Keith Barnard, who has been attending the summer extension courses at Queen's University, Kingston, has returned home.

Among those who attended the ball game in Peterborough on Wednesday evening when the local girls were defeated by the C.O.E. girls by a score of 10-9, were: Mr. and Mrs. M. Perrin, Messrs. L. Jewison, J. Barnard, A. Dawson and F. White.

Fishing has been exceptionally good in the waters of Rice Lake during the past weeks. The number of muskinonge caught has not been great but daily there are goodly numbers of mud cats, sunfish, pickerel and bass being landed by the patient anglers.

The majority of tourists seem well satisfied with their success while fishing and it is thought that there will be more muskinonge caught from now until the close of the season when the weather becomes cooler.

Omemee

Mr. and Mrs. William Dingman and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Dingman and son Orville of Oshawa visited Mr. and Mrs. L. Morcombe recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne and two sons of Kingston were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Brockley.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Butler and family of Peterborough were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Thorne.

Miss Reta Butler remained for a few holidays.

The Rev. Mr. Williamson of Millbrook held Communion in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Stillman visited friends here this week.

The school chums of Miss Florence Rutherford held a shower at the home of Mrs. A. Rutherford on Monday evening in honor of her approaching wedding. Many beautiful gifts were received by Miss Rutherford, and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all those present.

FIRST HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY WAS FORMED IN THE YEAR 1861

Poultry Association Was Organized by Farmers' Institute in 1896.

FIRST OFFICERS

By ROGER ROUNDABOUT.

Though the Peterborough Exhibition, as shown in a recent article in The Examiner, is one of the oldest of our local institutions, there are two other societies, somewhat akin to it, which have quite a long history, and one of them is the Horticultural Society which has just held its annual flower show.

Compared to the ripe age of 88 attained by the Exhibition, the Horticultural Society was not founded until 1861. This took place at a meeting held in the assembly room of Casale's Hotel. The Rev. V. Clementi was president, Sheriff Hall vice-president, W. Ogilvey treasurer, G. H. Hughes secretary, with a committee consisting of Lt.-Col. Strickland, Messrs. W. H. Moore, Fowler and Kempt.

At the first meeting it was stated that there were but two gardens in the town that gave evidence of cultivation, those of Capt. Rubidge and James Stevenson. That certainly is in striking contrast with present-day conditions, for which, in part at any rate, the Horticultural Society has been responsible. Until quite recent times the parks were under the control of the society, who looked after them in a fiduciary capacity. Writing some 20 years ago it was said with prophetic vision: "It is felt as years roll on the society will broaden its activities and undertake some lines of civic improvement which will make for a general betterment of the surroundings of all public buildings and set an example that will encourage the householder to do his share to the end that our city may be noted as one of the best arrayed, "swept and garnished" of any in Canada."

The society have gone on nobly towards the objective set forth by the writer of that paragraph.

Poultry Association.

The other society which still has its modern successor was the Peterborough Poultry and Pet Stock Association. This is a more modern institution, for it was at a meeting of the Peterborough Farmers' Institute for the West Riding, held in the city on Dec. 16, 1896, that it was proposed that such a society be formed, and a meeting of poultry fanciers was held on the Wednesday following. The membership fee was fixed at a $1 per year and the following was the first Board of Directors: Hon. president, J. R. Stratton; president, Fred. Davidson; vice-president, George Pratley; secretary-treasurer, W. Collins; directors, Messrs. R. Cockburn (Lakefield), James Baptie (Springville), Harry Lush, W. C. Rightmeyer, Smith Millburn and J. H. Garbutt. The board met on Jan. 15, 1897, for the purpose of drafting by-laws, a constitution and arranging a public meeting.

If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

Trent River

Messrs. A. R. Neiderheiser, Erick Shafer of Holliday's Cove, West Virginia; and Dr. Z. W. Wyatt of Iverton, West Virginia, guests at the "Sedgwick House," had a lucky day's fishing Wednesday while trolling on the Trent, bringing back two maskinonge weighing about six pounds each and two fair-sized pickerel, while the day previous they were successful with catching four pickerel. They hooked another muskie, but lost it through the line breaking.

Mr. Frank Berry of Toronto caught a six-pound maskinonge early Friday morning while trolling near Dunn's Channel, using Pikey Perch plug for bait.

The Misses Ruth and Doris Waters, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Knowlton Waters of West Seymour are visiting relatives in Trenton.

Miss Goldie Glenn is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Brown and family of West Seymour.

The Misses Evelyn and Jean Brown of West Seymour have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Ward Glenn and family.

Mrs. Bruce Clark and daughter Sharon arrived Wednesday night from Detroit, Mich., to holiday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Longmuir.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin McArthur had as recent guests, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Smith; Mrs. Jim Menzies of Havelock, and Mr. William Emery of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Thompson and family were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gardner, at Norwood.

Mrs. C. L. Wilde of Toronto, who has been a visitor with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Brown and family left Thursday evening to visit her son, Mr. George Wilde and family, at Havelock.

Recent guests with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davidson were Mrs. Willie Logan; Miss Violet Deck, Messrs. Carmen Deck and Mr. Stanley Whitfield of Peterborough; Miss Florence Scott of Norwood, and Miss Josephine Hoffman of Havelock.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Sanderson (formerly Miss Eva Inkster) have arrived at their new home at Oxford Station, and were tendered a reception by a number of friends in the dining hall of the Anglican church of that place.

Miss Frances Dart, Reg.N., of Port Hope, is holidaying at the home of her mother, Mrs. George Dart.

Mr. T. F. Ward has arrived home from Pawtucket, Rhode Island, where he spent the past few weeks.

Recent visitors with Miss E. Cameron were Mr. and Mrs. D. Armstrong and Miss Jean, Miss MacDougal of Keene; Mr. Alex. Patterson and Miss Connal of Peterborough.

Mrs. Jack Christie and family have returned to Toronto from "Osaka."

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Meyers, Lois and Donald, of Campbellford, have taken "Osaka" for a month. Visitors Thursday with them were Dr. and Mrs. E. V. Frederick and son, John, of Campbellford; Mrs. Goldman and daughter, Joan, of Flushing, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Archer and son, Staunton, of Campbellford have taken "Algrada" for two weeks.

Economic Necessity Driving Japan Forward

JAPAN MUST FIND MORE ROOM FOR INCREASING POPULATION AND EVER EXPANDING MARKETS

Population Has a Natural Increase of 500,000 People Annually.

AVERAGE FARM 2.7 ACRES

Country Is Already One of Leading Industrial Nations.

(By H. G. M.)

Within the next few years Japan has got to find room for expansion; and whether we like it or not we have to face the fact that the pressure from inside her borders is becoming so great that she has no choice left, and has to either find more room for her people outside her borders, or ever expanding markets for her manufactured goods in order to employ the surplus population. We are continually hearing about the jingoistic military leaders who are running Japan, but there is something of far greater power than a military machine that is driving Japan forward in her policy of expansion; it is not a belligerence and jingoism, but economic necessity.

In 1853 when Commodore Perry forced Japan to open her doors to Western industry, she had a population of 30,000,000; today her population is 69,000,000 with a natural increase of over 500,000 a year; so that if she is feeling the pinch of overcrowding now some idea of what it will be like in another ten years may be obtained. Much acre of land within the Japanese Empire supports 6 people, and the average area of a farm is 2.7 acres. The land not being highly productive large quantities of fertilizers have to be imported, and a steady and reliable source for this is one of Japan's demands, and not an unreasonable one, either. No country-side in the world is so crowded as Japan's, which has 800 inhabitants to the square kilometre of cultivated land; Belgium, the most densely populated of European countries, has only 304. It is obvious from these figures that the increase of population cannot turn to the land in order to support themselves. They must either emigrate or turn to industry and find a market for their products.

Had No Wish To Change Ways

Japan is already one of the leading industrial countries, and if Japanese goods are now crowding British and American goods out of their markets, it must be remembered that it was primarily those countries which forced Japan's hand in 1853. Japan had no wish to change her ways of life, but when she was forced to do so—by the war-ships of Western nations—she decided that the change might just as well be for her benefit as for the other nations. If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, Western civilization should feel highly flattered, for Japan started right in to copy these same nations that had demanded entrance to her markets. It is rather interesting to note that the two great industrial countries that were looking for new markets to exploit in 1853, should be the ones most affected by Japan's growth along their own lines.

In order to cope with her rapidly increasing population Japan has steadily extended her economic frontier, so that up to the present she has been able to turn her surplus population from the farms into the factories and sell their products abroad. But in order to keep on doing this she must have an ever increasing export market, which Western nations for very good reasons of their own deny her in the West.

Progressive People

The Japanese are a highly progressive people as we have seen during the last fifty years; they are intensely patriotic in the modern sense of the word; about 97 percent of them can read and write, and the feeling to 'get on' is intensely strong, so that at the competitive examinations for government posts the numbers who apply is an average of a 100 for every 3 places vacant. No country with such a record and such a will to progress can call a halt, nor has Japan any desire to do so.

It is useless to say that the problem of disposing of her surplus population is simply Japan's funeral, for it is of vital importance to every country and many of them find themselves listed under the same obituary notice unless they take note in time. Her goods are under-selling the goods of other countries to such an extent that tariff barriers have been thrown up all over the world against them; but Japan must sell them, at no matter how low a cost, in order to feed her people who are denied the right to migrate to many countries.

Recently she did what she had been planning to do for many years; took over the control of Manchuria. The European nations lodged a nominal objection in order to 'save face', but there was nothing they could do about it, and they and Japan knew it. Japan is starting out to put Manchuria on a sound economic and financial footing, which will mean more security for the foreign investments that are already in Manchuria; though it must be remembered that she is doing so for her own benefit and not for the benefit of the other nations. We have done the same thing all over the world: built up a market for our exports in a new country, and made secure a source of supply for our raw materials. One of the minor results of her incursion into Manchuria will be that Japan will grow more of the wool she needs, which will mean that the 30,000,000 pounds that she now buys annually from Australia will have to find another market. Then Canada will find herself in keen competition with a sister dominion who can produce wool at a fraction of the cost that Canada can.

Desires To Be Left Alone

Japan is not showing any desire to dominate the world, but she does desire to be left alone in the East to run things in her own way. After all she is far more capable of handling Eastern affairs than any Western nation, and she has already done more that is of benefit to the people of the East than we can boast of. She left the League of Nations, which was a pity, but I am rather more surprised that she ever remained in it than that she left it. When you consider the fact that the League refused to accede to her demands for racial equality it seems strange that she was content to remain. She is the third greatest naval power in the world and has warred with and beaten one of the 'superior' races; she is one of the greatest industrial nations today, and yet is classed as an inferior race; rather galling to say the least. During the war her help in policing the seas was of tremendous benefit, and she convoyed many colonial troops to the seat of war; but now the countries whose troops she escorted refuse to grant her equality, and in some cases even a footing in their country. Whether a nation is a greater or a lesser power is judged by the weight of her armaments, so that Japan is a Great Power; yet she is still an inferior race.

Japan has nothing to gain by war, and does not want one, but she does not intend to let other countries with far less at stake than she has dictate her policy in the East. And that is what her navy is for; to defend her policy in the East, not force it on the West. She had the Western policy forced upon her once because she had no ships, and she does not intend that such a thing should happend again; and who can blame her?

It would seem that Japan is as far ahead as any country in realising that wars are not fought with guns but with economic forces; and her nationals have emigrated mainly to the islands and lands surrounding the Pacific; entrenching themselves in their new lands, but remaining Japanese. In case of trouble they will be of inestimable value to their mother land, for she can rely upon them for continuity of supplies. Japanese emigration to the Philippine islands has been steadily increasing, while those there produce at a great rate, so that it will not be very long before they oust the indolent Filipinoes from trade. Then, when there are 50,000 or 60,000 Japanese people in the islands (and there are already 14,000) it will be a rather doubtful sort of place for the U.S.A. to choose for a naval base.

Must Understand Her

It is time that we, instead of condemning Japan for doing what we should have been proud to do ourselves, tried to understand her. Her actions have not been at all unreasonable. It appears as if white domination in the East had come to an end; well we've had a good innings and cannot complain for the pickings have been good. There is no reason why we should not remain on the most friendly terms with Japan, and shall probably do so if we realize that we can no longer dictate to her and treat her as inferior.

If we refuse to allow Japan equality and freedom in our markets we must expect the same treatment in hers; and she quite naturally looks upon China and the East as her economic sphere. There is nothing unfair or unreasonable in this, and it will be better for us if we accept it with a good grace, for there is very little we can do about it except hinder Japan for awhile and make things generally unpleasant. 60,000,000 people driven to action through economic necessity and acting in unity are a tremendous power, and it will be much pleasanter for everybody if they are a friendly people and not a people who feel that a stigma has been put on them.

TO SHOOT RAPIDS MARKING HISTORY

Canoe Crews Will Race Over Falls and Portages in Honor of Pioneers.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Aug. 18.—(C.P.)— After the fierce Indians who occupied this country when the French discoverers arrived 300 years ago, missionaries and "coureurs-de-bois" helped enrich the pages of history by their heroic ventures on the tumultuous waters of the St. Maurice river. To commemorate these exploits a canoe race of about 100 miles, bringing to grip a number of crews formed of descendants of the coureurs-de-bois, will form a part of the Three Rivers tercentenary celebration Aug. 18-19.

The contestants will start from La Tuque and will have to negotiate, by running or portaging, the dozen or so rapids which at certain places transform the waters of the St. Maurice into treacherous reaches where more than one unfortunate has met his death.

To lessen the risks attendant on such a race, the contest is open only to companies interested in exploiting the natural resources of the St. Maurice country. Such companies have in their employ experienced men who know the dangers of the route.

The first rapids will be encountered 15 miles from La Tuque. One after another the Croche, La Cuisse and Manigonce rapids will be negotiated. The canoemen will then have comparativetly quiet water as far as Petites-Piles. Grand-Mere will be the first stop. There the contestants will set up their own camps for the night, to continue their journey the following day after hearing Mass.

After portaging at Shawinigan Falls the contestants will take to the roaring waters of des Gres, where two or three dangerous cascades follow one another in quick succession. Then comes Le Gabelle, and finally, after that of la Pointe-a-Baptiste, the vigorous current to the Forges.

Verification points will be established at intervals along the course. From these information will be forwarded to Three Rivers so that the public may be kept in touch with the progress of the race.

CLERKS TAKE SECOND GAME

Register Win Over Mill by 9-8 in Softball Play-off Series.

PITCHERS' BATTLE.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 18 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The second of the five play-off games for the championship of the Campbellford Town Softball League was captured last evening by the Clerks, when they registered a one-run margin over the Mill in a tight game of ball. The score was 9-8.

A pitchers' battle from the start, the Mill had the edge on the play from the first frame, leading for three innings with one run. This was broken in the third innings by the Clerks when they broke away with a three-run count, putting themselves one run ahead. Playing two blank innings with only three bases in all taken, the sixth saw a tie with a 4-4 score. Going to bat, the Clerks made a lucky break and piled up five runs, a lead the Mill were unable to pass, registering only four runs in the seventh and dropping the game by one tally.

Both Holmes and McComb on the mound did excellent work and battled hard for a win, Holmes registering three strike-outs. Reynolds for the Clerks did some spectacular catching in the outfield and won the cheers of the large crowd of fans on several occasions. Three double plays featured the Mill's work; Ingram, Palliquin and Runnions featuring in these. Two home runs were chalked up, Montgomery for the Mill rounding the bases in the first innings, and Holmes for the Clerks in the sixth. The teams:

NEWS ITEMS FOR THE TRENT TOWN DISTRICT

Mrs. S. White of Peterborough visited her brother, E. H. Lewis and Mrs. Lewis on Friday last. Master Raymond Lewis accompanied her to Peterborough on Saturday, where he will remain for a few days.

Mrs. W. E. Miller, of Walcott, N.Y. was a recent visitor to town, the guest of her brother, Mr. W. I. Stillman. Mr. Stillman also had as his guests Mrs. A. J. Stillman and son William, of Rochester, N.Y. and Mrs. Al Stillman, of Belleville.

Miss Catharine White has returned to her home in Peterborough, after spending the week with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lewis.

Obituary

MRS. BERT WARREN

MARMORA, Aug. 18. (Examiner Correspondence).—The death occurred in Belleville General Hospital at 7.20 a.m. Friday, of Annie Jane Taylor, beloved wife of Bert Warren of the Vansickle settlement.

Deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Welmot Taylor of Grafton and was born Oct. 4th, 1884. The greater part of her life was spent in the Vansickle Settlement. She was much respected for her friendly ways and will be much missed in the Settlement. She had not been in robust health for the past two years but it was only last Wednesday that hospital treatment was decided upon.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband and two sons, Percy and Robert, both resident in the same settlement. A daughter, Mildred, predeceased her a little over two years ago. Four brothers and two sisters also survive her—Arthur of Toronto, Stewart, Vernon and Willett of Grafton, Mrs. Fred Vansickle of Colborne and Mrs. Oliver Gendren of Sherbrooke, Que.

The funeral leaves her late residence at 1.30 p.m. on Sunday for service at St. Andrew's United Church, followed by interment in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

FOLLOWING DAD IS STAGE TREND

Children of Famous Players Turn to Theatre for Vocation.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (CP). — With a rich heritage of family theatrical tradition, a new generation of actors has come to Broadway to seek fame on its own behind the footlights where their fathers and mothers won acclaim.

Two generations of actors have stemmed from the debonair John Drew—first the Barrymores, now the Colts—and Pat Rooney 2nd and Pat Rooney 3rd, have followed in the stage footsteps of Pat the 1st.

Fred Stone's three children have turned to the theatre, as have two of George M. Cohan's children, and his son, George, Jr., now in school, has voiced theatrical aspirations also.

There is no ready road to fame on the stage, but the children of famous thespians, for the most part, have been spared the long years of obscurity which, almost without exception, their parents endured.

Treasure Ship Taken From Alaskan Waters Holds Gold

Hitched between two salvage vessels is the skeleton of treasure ship, S.S. Islander, after she was lifted bodily from the ocean's floor in Stephens Passage, Alaska, where she had lain in 365 feet of water since 1901. The Islander was reported to be carrying a vast fortune when she sank after striking an iceberg, carrying 72 men to their deaths. Salvage workers have found gold on the vessel after clearing away tons of mud and sea barnacles, and the bones of victims, but it is uncertain how much of the rich cargo can be recovered as gold dust or nuggets, or how much has rotted away in the form of paper securities. Salvage operations occupied two years and cost $200,000.

Regatta Staged by Abram Rappaport Draws Large Crowd.

MERCHANTS GIVE PRIZES.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 18. — With large crowds lining the bridge and banks of the Trent Canal, the regatta staged at Campbellford yesterday afternoon proved one of the outstanding water features of the season. Run in connection with the Rotary street carnival and street dance, and managed by Abram Rappaport, manager of the Hollywood Theatre, who was responsible for all arrangements.

With every event in water sports being featured, a fine assortment of prizes were offered for the several races, all of which were donated by the merchants of Campbellford. Judges for the events were Dr. S. L. O'Hara, Dr. S. Stuart, S. A. Maguire, with Dr. O. C. Watson announcing the races.

One of the most interesting races staged was that contested by three small children, Vera Black, aged four years, Catharine Fox, aged five years and Paul Brunelle, aged six years. These small children swam a splendid race, the smaller one, Vera Black, winning, and exhibited what Mr. Rappaport is accomplishing in Campbellford by the keen interest he is taking in teaching the children to swim, and offering every facility to them to attract them to the water.

Verne Janeway of Peterborough won the senior half mile race, starting with Cecil Lloyd and Ernest Wilks of Campbellford under a handicap. Second and third places were won by Leslie Wilks and Carl Nichols, both of Campbellford.

The senior girls quarter mile swim also went to a visitor, Etta May Dawnhill of Rochester, N.Y., who was handicapped and given a special prize. Second and third places went to Margaret Ellis and Alice Tripp of Campbellford. Other events were:

Boys' tub race—Jack Runnions.

Girl's tub race—Muriel Montgomery.

Boy's greasy pole—Bob Morrison and Jack Runnions.

Girl's greasy pole—Marge Clark and Phyllis Pickering.

Boy's diving—George Smith and Stuart Donald of Campbellford.

Girl's diving—Marge Clark and Alice Tripp of Campbellford.

Boys' canoe crab race—Bill Taylor and Herb Cardwell, Wallace Point Canoe Club.

Double canoe paddle race —Bill Taylor and Herb Cardwell, Wallace Point Canoe Club.

Junior boys race, quarter mile — Bill McEachern, Herb Southern.

Junior girls race, quarter mile — Margaret Ellis, Alice Snelling.

Sea flea race—Morley Dunk.

The boys goose race had over forty contestants, the fowl being captured by Carl Nichols.

LOCAL ARCHITECTS DRAWING UP PLANS

Number of City Workmen Will be Used in Renovation of Turnbull Building.

William and W. R. L. Blackwell, architects, are drawing up plans for the renovation of the Turnbull building in preparation for the establishment of a Zeller store branch in the city. No estimate of the cost of the work to be done has been made yet.

It is expected that a considerable number of local workmen will benefit when the renovations get under way. Although no official word has been given, it is possible that tenders for a blanket contract will be sought within the next two weeks and that the letting of sub-contracts will follow. Several workmen are now busy clearing the store to make way for the alterations.

The Zeller firm expects to be ready to open by the middle of September.

One Too Many

CHATHAM, Ont, Aug. 18 (CP)—Next time John McCormack of Dover feels the urge to quaff a few beers, he'll confine it to four glasses. When he appeared before Magistrate Arnold on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place he stoutly denied being drunk. "Why," he said, "I only had five glasses of beer."

"$20 and costs," said the Magistrate.

B. C. TOWN LOSES BUSINESS AREA

Blaze Wipes Out All But Railway Building and General Store.

$30,000 LOSS.

CASCADE, B.C., Aug. 18.—(C.P.)—Residents of this little mountain community, 12 miles east of Grand Forks, on the Kettle Vally line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, today surveyed a smouldering mass of ruins in the wake of a fire which almost wiped out the business section of the town.

Six business places were razed by the flames which are believed to have started in the rear of the British Columbia hotel, first structure to fall prey to the fire. Total damage is esimated at about $30,000, majority of which is not covered by the insurance.

Handicapped by lack of water, hauled from a creek four miles for domestic use, local fire fighters aided by crews from Grand Forks, were able to save only the railway buildings and R. G. Ritchie's general store in the business section late Friday.

After sweeping through the town the fire burned itself out.

DEMOCRATS CLAIM WIDE CONFIDENCE

Party Leaders Declare Roosevelt More Popular Than Ever.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (C.P.)—Emil Hurja has been thumbing through a limp leather, loose-leaf book that he calls his "campaign bible," and he has come to the conclusion: "The Republicans haven't a chance."

Hurja is Democratic Chairman James A. Farley's right hand man on political matters. He has been busy lately in preparation for the drive to clinch the New Deal in November.

On the basis of a questionnaire and a nation-wide poll, he knows the problems confronting every Democratic candidate for the 35 Senate and 435 Congress seats to be filled this autumn. He knows what assistance they think they need to defeat Republicans.

And he says his book proves President F. D. Roosevelt is more popular than ever.

SOLVES ENGLISH CHESS PROBLEMS

Alberta Man Makes Hobby of Game and Leads London Times Competition.

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 18 (CP) —H. G. Hearn, who is not a member of a chess club, is leading a world-wide field of competitors in a contest of solution of chess problems.

Since January, 1932, the Edmonton man has solved problems presented each week by The London Times, and has been highest on points compiled each month. For the first three months of this year he scored a "possible" of 104 points. Tied with him for the top position are Prof. Hovanyi of Rumania and Rev. R. T. M. Radcliffe of Adelaide, Australia.

Back in 1893 Mr. Hearn, who came West from Montreal in 1909, won a contest, and was awarded a book on How to Play Chess. That was the beginning of his chess hobby. To-day he carries on chess correspondene with p'ayers in all parts of the world. He studied Esperanto so he could write to chess students who do not understand English. Among his correspondents are persons in Sweden, Russia, Poland and Japan.

So great has become his chess material and correspondence, Mr. Hearn has installed a large filing system at his home. His interest next to chess, he said, is gardening.

GLOOM COVERS TIRED VIENNA ONCE EUROPE'S GAYEST CITY

of literature, music and the theatre, Hugo Hoffmann, Bahr, Arthur Schnitzler, Felix Salteen, Ferenc Molnar, Richard Straus, Max Reinhardt, others yet.....Here they greeted and received the maestros and the actresses of the Burg-Theatre, the theatre of the Joseph City, the opera, the Symphony orchestra, the theatre of the ballet.....

That was Vienna. A city of mature civilization, easy-going cosmopolitan, utterly tolerant, genial. There is a special word, untranslatable into English for Viennese kindness and geniality: gemuetlichkeit! Vienna was gemuetlich. The great Freud was as accessible as the policeman on the Ringstrasse —everybody had a kind word. In those days everybody spoke of Prince Starhemberg as "dear Rudie" and of Dollfuss as "millimeternich." (A millimeter is the thousandth part of a meter. Metternich was a statesman who lived a hundred years ago) Vienna was a city of wit and smiles of art and literature, of pleasant manners and leisure.

Spirit has Changed

Now faces have hardened. The smile of Vienna has faded. Great gaping holes appear in the facades of the Ottakring apartments, in the houses of Floridsdorf, in the Goethe-Hof, in the Karl Marx Hof..... High explosives tore these holes into the walls. I saw the ruins of the school where 35 children were ripped, torn to shreds by shrapnel. No, Vienna does not smile any more, that is if you don't count the mercenary smile of the prostitutes of Astaroth on the Wiedmerstrasse. Vienna has lost both the power and the right to smile. You don't kill little children with impunity, even if they are children of the working class.

Vienna is a weary city. You walk around with your watch in your hand to see how the time is going. The hours crawl. The movies show cowboy gangster films and ridiculous dramas where floor-maids become grand duchesses. Art is a mirror of vice, said Victor Hugo. There has been a cleaning up in the Viennese theatre. Soviet films are barred. French films are barred. Vienna is going to be a model city.

No One will Talk

Whom shall we interview? Chancellor Schusnigg? But he has nothing to say until he has seen Mussolini. Archduke Eugene, then, or Archduke Wilhelm? They shrug their shoulders. "Let's talk of Paris" says the one, "this business here is so uninteresting." The other tells me with a cold stare from behind a crystal monocle that he's going hunting. I intended to ask some Jews how they were getting along, for there is much talk of anti-Semitism. But the Jews are afraid to open their mouths. Suppose I write the truth! Just suppose. "God help us from a repetition of Germany," they say, So back to the cafe is the only thing left to do. Another coffee. That's the twelfth cup to-day. And only 4 p.m. and two full days to go before I can see Starhemberg. I wished I had a dollar for every hour I waited in antechambers and hotel lobbies for princes and grand visiers and movie queens and people's commissars.

"You have just heard a potpourri by Marek Weber and his orchestra," says the radio announcer and he continues in the same breath: "The government publishes a communique stating that Franz Holzweber has been executed by hanging for his part in the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss. Holzweber had lost all courage. He had to be carried to the gallows. And now the orchestra will play you: "Ridin' to heaven on a mule".....

An execution between a waltz and a slow-fox.

Once was a General.

An old gentleman comes into the cafe to sell flowers. He bows to left and right.

"To take home," he says, holding out a small bouquet.

"My home is far away," I reply. "I am afraid the flowers will be all withered by the time I get there."

"Where is your Excellency's home?" he asks.

"In Paris." "Ah, Paree, how lovely. I was there several times. Last time in 1913. I accompanied the Archduke Franz.....I was a general of infantry."

"And you sell flowers now?" I ask in surprise. "Not only flowers," he winked maliciously, "shoe laces, too," and he produces a packet as he sits down beside me.

"Herr Ober," this to the waiter. "What will you have?" to the newcomer. "Just coffee," says the general shoe lace vendor. "Make it two." That's number thirteen for me.

The general tells me his life-story. Balls in Budapest, banquets in Prague, parades in Lemberg, trips to Paris, to Venice, to St. Petersburg, to Berlin. . . . "Ah, that was life." He sighs. He tells me in confidence that he doesn't like Berlin, and if it wasn't for Berlin, Austria wouldn't have lost the war. "Those Germans were like a millstone around our necks." Now in Berlin the old generals will tell you exactly the same thing about Austria.

Then I hear the private history of the archdukes. Very edifying. "O," he says, "if only his majesty could come back." He means the late Francis Joseph. But that's out of the question. His majesty lies in the crypt of the Capuciner Church and his coffin has split open as a result of an inundation. The past is gone. Not even thinking of the past brings comfort.

Before the general retires he insists on presenting me with a pair of shoe laces. He gives them to me with the gestures of an emperor handing away a kingdom.

Guards Search Pedestrians.

Heimwehren patrols move up and down in the streets. Here and there barbed wire entanglements have been set up. The Heimwehren stop pedestrians, tap your hip-pockets and your trouser legs for hidden guns. The police stop the Heimwehren and ask them questions. It makes the passers-by smile. It is not forgotten that Nazis disguised as Heimwehren seized the chancellery and killed Doctor Dollfuss. Children ask for alms. "Father was killed," says a little girl, "mother is sick" . . . . "Bitte," says another street-waif, "please give me something to eat."

The Social-Democrats of Switzerland offered to take 600 Viennese children, feed, clothe and educate them. On the advice of Madame Dollfuss the offer was turned down.

"Better for those children to stay in Vienna than to come under the influence of godless Socialists," she said. So they roam the streets in the rain, begging.

grateful for what The Canadian Press has done, but we already have incurred the displeasure of police authorities and we do not intend to do so again.

"There are other things to consider besides the press. Do not forget Mr. Labatt has a wife and three children."

Hon. J. C. Elliott, another member of the law firm, referred newspapermen to Attorney General Roebuck. "We have our instructions and are duty bound to stand by them," he said.

John Labatt and his brother Hugh who worked day and night to gain the kidnapped victim's freedom today were recovering from nervous strain.

Dr. W. F. Tillman said John's eyes were sore and inflamed from the adhesive tape used by his abductors to blindfold him, but otherwise he was not seriously effected by his ordeal.

"I think he will be all right in a few days," the doctor said.

POLICE LAYING PLAN TO COMBAT

from Chief Inspector John Miller, the only officer to interview John Labatt since he was released by his abductors in Toronto. Miller visited Labatt in London yesterday and it was believed he received all details the wealthy brewer could provide.

Miller refused a public statement.

The arrest of Chard followed two days of investigation by Toronto officers. He is alleged to be the person who phoned Hugh Labatt and claimed to have knowledge of John Labatt's whereabouts. Police convinced the kidnapped man's brother that it was an attempt to "chisel" in on the kidnapping and he did not keep the rendezvous.

Palestine Refuses To Permit Removal Of Gaza Treasures

Sir Flinders Petrie Forced to Leave After Half Year of Effort

(By T. C. Watson, Central Press Canadian Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 17.—After five months' incessant toil unearthing many treasures of ancient Gaza, Sir Flinders Petrie has had to return to London with only photographs of his finds.

The authorities of Palestine have refused to allow the treasures to be removed from the country, and an appeal is to be made to Whitehall.

Formerly the regulations governing the excations in Palestine provided that the Jerusalem Museum should have the first pick and the excavator a "fair half".

On this understanding Sir Flinders, who is the leading Egyptologist and excavator in England, set out with his party of unpaid workers six months ago. They unearthed thousands of gold and precious ornaments. These they submitted to the Jerusalem Museum for their pick, and then came the ukase of the Palestine authorities.

According to Sir Flinders there is still two or three more year's work to be done at Gaza, but unless Whitehall comes to their rescue and the public comes forward with subscriptions it will have to be abandoned. He said:

"As the position is delicate, I do not wish to enter into a discussion of details. I have approached the officials in London who deal with the mandated territories, and meantime all the objects we unearthed are in the museum at Jerusalem. I gave the authorities there a catalogue and drawings of 2,300 objects. There were 140 pieces of gold work."

Sir Flinders also related how they found three hoards of gold which belonged to ancient dealers in metal, and also found lumps of gold and silver ready for melting.

The largest ornament was a gold pendant.

Spain will regulate the use of agricultural machinery.

IRISH INCREASE WHEAT ACREAGES

Sean Lemass Urges Farmers to Turn Cattle Areas Into Grainlands.

DUBLIN, Aug. 18 (C.P.)—Aim of the Free State government to ensure that the full wheat requirements of the 26 counties are grown by Irish farmers was reiterated by Sean Lemass, minister for Industry and Commerce when he performed the opening ceremony of the new national flour mills at Cork.

It was heartening, said the minister, to open the first new flour mills in Ireland for many years and to know that all the derelict and silent mills were getting into their stride. An increasing quantity of native wheat would be used for milling.

At present, Irish farmers were slow to abandon the fattening of cattle for the contracting British market and were raising 80,000 acres of wheat this year, the minister said. While this represented an increase of 300 per cent on the 1932 acreage, the minister declared, progress would have to be made at a much more rapid rate. Even those who disputed the possibility of 100 per cent native flour would concede that a much higher percentage than the 2.5 per cent prescribed in the present year was possible.

"The Free State must have greater wheat production because of the employment given, the better use of land and the danger of our food supplies being interrupted in times of emergency abroad," said Mr. Lemass. It was important also, he added, for the improvement of the national health.

Long before the dawn of history cereals formed an important article of food for the human race.

The Kra is the isthmus connecting the Malay peninsula with the mainland of Asia.

IN MEMORIAM

CORRIGAN—In loving memory of Mrs. Bernard Corrigan who passed away Aug. 17, 1932.

Peaceful be thy rest, dear mother,
It is sweet to breathe they name;
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
—Sadly missed by son Bill and family.

IN MEMORIAM

O'BRIEN—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mary O'Brien, 319 Charlotte street, who passed away two years ago, August 19, 1932.

We are lonesome without you, dear mother,
And sad the weary way;
Our life doesn't seem the same to us
Since you were called away.

Sleep on, dear mother, your pain is ended;
Rest in peace; your work is done;
You have gone where those who love you
Will meet you one by one.

—Always remembered by Susie and Herbert.

IN MEMORIAM

TAYLOR — In loving memory of our dear son Bobby, who passed away 1 year ago today.

Lord Jesus picks his flowers.
He picks them fair and bright,
That's why he called our son Bobby
As we watched him through the night.

When the evening shades are falling,
And we are sitting all alone;
To our hearts there comes a longing,
If we only had him home.

Then we sit and wonder,
If we are doing right,
To wish that little Angel back,
That God called away in the night.

In thoughts we see his loving face,
And kiss his little brow,
But in our aching hearts we know,
He is safe with Jesus now.

—Sadly missed but always remembered by loving father and mother and 2 sisters.

Weddings

BELL—DAY

A pretty wedding took place quietly at seven o'clock last night at St. Luke's Church, when the Rev. G. J. Bousfield performed the ceremony which united in the holy bonds of matrimony Dorothy Nellie Day, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Day, Douro street, and Mr. John Raymond Bell, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bell, Aylmer street.

The wedding music was played by the organist, Miss Margaret Flowers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a frock of pink triple sheer, made on princess lines, with long sleeves. Her hat was of pink maline and she wore pink moire shoes with flesh hose, and short white frilled lace gloves. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses and maidenhair fern.

The bridesmaid, Miss Elsie Day, sister of the bride, was in sky-blue Roshanara crepe, with blue turban and white accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink Briarcliff roses.

Mr. Irwin Oesch acted as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with decorations in pink and white. The table, centered by the bride's cake, was done with roses. About thirty guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell left by train by train for Toronto, on Saturday, the bride travelling in a blue and white ensemble with matching accessories.

On their return, they will live at 286 Aylmer street.

The gift to the bridesmaid was a compact and to the best man a silver cigarette case.

Obituary

MISS JOSEPHINE WHITE.

The death occurred in the city last evening of Josephine White, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert White. She was born in the residence formerly occupied by the family on Aylmer street north, was educated locally and had resided in the city all her life. She was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral congregation.

Surviving are three sisters: Mrs. P. J. Lawrence and Mrs. Jno. Bell, both of Toronto and Miss Margaret White of New York City; also two brothers, Frank White of Peace River, and Gus White of the White House Hotel here.

The funeral is to be held on Monday with celebration of Requiem Mass at St. Peter's Cathedral at nine o'clock a.m. Interment will take place at St. Peter's cemetery.

MISS MARGARET SHEARER.

The death occurred in Toronto, at St. Michael's Hospital, on Saturday, August 19th, of Miss Margaret Shearer of Toronto, daughter of the late Matthew and Mrs. Shearer of Otonabee.

Left to mourn her loss are three sisters, Miss A. C. Shearer of Toronto, Mrs. George Patterson, Millbrook, and Mrs. J. G. Hardill, Peterborough.

The funeral will be held from Bethel church, Otonabee, at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

MRS. WILLIAM NEAL.

Rebecca Sarah Neal, mother of Dr. F. C. Neal, of this city, died at her home in Walton, Ontario, yesterday, after a lingering illness. Widow of the late William Neal, the deceased was in her 87th year.

Dr. Neal is the only surviving member of the family. The funeral is to be held from the residence in Walton at 2.30 p.m. Sunday.

A new company has been formed in the Irish Free State to take over the shipping trade between that country and Germany, Belgium and the Netherlands.

England's only producing oil well, on the Duke of Devonshire's estate near Chesterfield, has supplied 2600 tons of the liquid since it was sunk in 1919.

Kidnappers Missed This, But What a Pile It Makes

Here is one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, the amount of money which the Labatt family was prepared to turn over to the kidnappers of John Labatt as the price of his freedom. Official denial that the money was turned over came from the R.C.M.P., Ontario headquarters. The rolls of tens and twos in this heap are a thousand notes deep, with a very generous sprinkling of fifties in thousand dollar packs scattered throughout.

Australia Scores 311 Runs for One

LONDON, Aug. 18 (CP Cable) Fortune favored the Australians when they won the toss at the outset of the season's final and decisive match with England. They elected to bat on a perfect wicket and by the tea interval had run up a total of 311 for the loss of only one wicket.

W. H. Ponsford and the redoubtable Don Bradman were associated in a brilliant partnership virtually from the opening, delighting a crowd of more than 30,000 with their great defence against a fast English attack that was beginning to look ragged.

At tea-time Bradman had reached his 150, and Ponsford 137.

CENTURY-OLD COIN

J. H. Barringer of Cricket Place, a local coin-collector, has in his possession a century-old gold sovereign minted in the reign of the third George, whose Teutonic profile, resembling nothing so much as the head of the Roman Emperor Nero, appears on the obverse, while the reverse bears a beautiful representation of St. George slaying the dragon, with the old motto "Honi soit qui mal y pense" (Shame to him who evil thinks), on the edge, in tiny letters which are clearly decipherable. These coins are now worth twice their original value, which approximated that of the pound sterling, $4.86.

TWO NURSES MAKE LIGHT WORK OF CARING FOR QUINTUPLETS

Dr. Dafoe Gives Girls Considerable Credit for Bringing Babies Through.

HARD JOB AT FIRST.

By A. E. FULFORD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 18.—(CP)—Caring for five children, all of them under the weight of normal babies, sounds like a task that would test the patience of a saint and keep an ordinary mortal scurrying from morning until night.

But the nurses who watch over the Dionne quintuplets around the clock laugh off any suggestion it is hard work and emphasize they "love" it.

That they do is clearing evident to visitors to the Dionne home who invariably are impressed with the unhurried order of the nursery and the efficient care given the children. Pretty little Yvonne Leroux, the 21-year-old Callander nurse who is in charge, does her work with efficiency and speed that would amaze mothers who find their hands full with one infant.

There is none of the hurry and bustle one would imagine in a nursery housing five children all of whom require unusual care. The work is done surely, speedily and the nurses even find they have time to themselves.

Feeding times are busy because watch must be kept that the bottle nipples stay in the babies' tiny mouths. And so are the periods when they are bathed and their clothing changed.

Spare Hours.

In the hours in between, Miss Leroux and Miss "Pat" Mullins, the night nurse, find themselves unhurried. They stroll outside onto the verandah of the Dionne home for a breath of air and sit under the winodw of the nursery where they can hear the babies' cries.

Often they walk a few feet away to the fence beside the road and chat with Grandfather Dionne and visitors. They are never so far away, however, that they cannot hear the slightest sound from the nursery. When a summons does come it is calmly answered and the child put at ease.

Dr. A. R. Dafoe gives the nurses a great deal of the credit for keeping the babies alive, especially in the first few days when equipment was lacking and the resourcefulness of the young women was taxed. They made what they had to and brought the babies through the most trying period without mishap.

Their devotion to duty was exemplified last week when Madame Louise de Kireline and Miss Leroux smothered a fire that might easily have taken the babies' lives.

The blaze started when Madame de Kireline upset a bottle of alcohol on to a lamp. Without thought of the possible injury to herself she gathered a bundle of inflammable material and, while her clothing blazed, attempted to carry it out of the house. Miss Leroux smothered the fire with a blanket and the courageous nurse received burns from which she now is almost recovered.

Not To Be Caught

JERSEY, Ill., Aug. 18. (C.P.) The most experenced fish 'loggers' of Jersey County are having their troubles with "Old Methuselah."

The giant catfish, estimated to weigh 175 pounds, was trapped in a rope net in Macoupin slough, but tore the net to pieces and shot to safety like a torpedo. Next he was surrounded with a wire net, but the fisherman said "Old Methuselah" jumped over the top after entagling Bingham Rich and dragging him beneath the surface.

Fashion Service

3168

A charming dress for early fall and suitable for many figures.

It is modish and chic for the normally built woman, and will also have a slenderizing effect for the fuller type. For the short girl, it is lovely too, as its long bodice cut, hip seaming and center-front and back paneled effect all have length-giving qualities.

Black satin, novelty rayon crepe in dark evergreen coloring, reddish brown heavy sheer crepe and black crepe marocain are smart fabrics for early fall.

Style No. 3168 is designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39-inch material with ¾ yard of 39-inch contrasting.

Evangelist Taylor Heard Gospel Hall

Will Speak Again on Sunday and in the Park in Evening.

S. Taylor, celebrated evangelist, gave an address in the Gospel Hall last night. Dealing with the Christians' walk in the present evil world, he declared a believer's walk should correspond with his profession. The walk of the Lord Jesus Christ is a pattern, a study of that walk should be made and not be conformed to this world. The incoming of the Holy Spirit at conversion will give the believer the necessary power to walk as required in Holy Scripture. Every true Christian has two spirits—the spirit of the flesh and the Holy Spirit. These two are directly opposed one to the other.

Baptism does not give the Holy Spirit. Baptism is the burial as Christ Jesus was buried; coming up out of the water is like the resurrection of Jesus. He then dealt with the principals of the believer's walk and doctrine. What we are should characterize what we do, also the particulars of the believer's walk. He should walk in love, walk in wisdom, walk in truth. He then decried that the Believer's separation from the things of the evils of the world for the Christians must all appear before the Judgment seat of Christ. Many other things were dealt with by Mr. Taylor which space prevents mentioning. He will speak again on Sunday and in the park.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

The intense heat of this summer has made many householders consider having awnings for windows which have been left unprotected hitherto. From the standpoint of economy, now is a good time to do this work since there are excellent opportunities to buy awnings, ready to put up, at decided reductions, and awning cloth very specially priced. By having the windows done now, the awnings will be ready for next year as soon as the heat of the sun and the glare becomes uncomfortably strong. It is a fortunate replacement time—if you get advance styles.

* * * * * *

Awnings not only reduce the temperature of rooms, and soften the light but they go far toward dressing up the outside of the house. There is a tendency in newest styles to have this ornamental element featured for the inside of the rooms as well as the exterior of the house. To promote this, huge flowers and foliage are painted on the under side of the awning. Birds and butterflies lend themselves admirably to this decoration as they might actually be flying and fluttering about outside the window. They are gay little creatures, both in color and character, and strike a happy note in decoration. It is well to remember this type of awning when taking advantage of late summertime buying.

* * * * * *

Another feature to hold in mind is that fringe is the smartest finish for valances. White fringe is in high favor even though there may be no touch of white in the awning cloth. The decided contrast accents the style. Or it may be that the awning cloth is in one plain color and a geometrical design or just a broad line of white forms a border for the finished awning. The border may or may not be repeated about the valance. The fringe takes up the color harmony when it edges the awning. While white is the favorite color for fringe, other colored fringes are used, sometimes matching some stripe or color in the cloth, and again being in marked contrast, in which case the style of border or band of the fringe-color on a plain color of cloth is usually followed.

* * * * * *

It is a good time now to replace worn awnings instead of waiting for another year. If you follow the advance styles of this season, you will find the awnings in the height of fashion next year. The awning problems will all have been solved and the awnings ready to be put up when next summer comes, and you will have saved money by this out-of-season buying.

Are there any dangers from hypnotism?

They have been greatly exaggerated. The hypnotic trance is such a peculiar—even inexplicable—state, that it is no wonder people are awed by it. And read into it a number of objections which do not exist.

All the competent and ethical practitioners of hypnotism state that the employment of hypnotism by medical men acquainted with the subject is devoid of danger.

The British Medical association, some years ago, appointed a commission to investigate hypnotism. They reported that: (1) The phenomena of hypnotism are genuine. (2) It is of distinct value in treatment. (3) Its use in skilled hands is absolutely devoid of danger.

The question of whether during hypnosis, suggestion could make a person perform criminal acts in the waking state, can be answered by saying that no authentic instances are on record. In general, hypnosis raises the moral standards, and the hypnotic somnambule can and does resist suggestions contrary to his moral sense.

It is possible that if a subject believed that hypnosis induced a state of helpless automatism and that the operator could make him do anything he liked, there might result some harm. But in practice, such instances are unrecorded. When alleged instances of crime, said to be done under the influence of hypnotism, are investigated, it has turned out that some clever crook has used this explanation, but that in point of fact he never was hypnotized.

When such men as Professor William James and Stephen Paget, and other orthodox medical practioners, were willing to send their patients to physicians skilled in hypnotism for treatment by this method, it must be acknowledged that the method is genuine.

The question might arise why hypnotism is not more generally used in treatment. Enthusiasm for it seems to go in waves, and depends upon the support of a physician in whom the professional has confidence. Such men only occasionally appear.

The medical profession always has been extremely conservative and hard to convince about hypnotism. Its practitioners have almost invariably been criticized, even persecuted. Even those who afterwards became its most ardent supporters, have been skeptical at first. The famous hypnotist, Braid, was a general practitioner when he first saw hypnosis induced at a public medical meeting. He was appointed by the chair to report to the audience. At first he said it was humbug, but when he went up on the platform to examine the subject, he noted such things as that the pupils were contracted to two small points. He was honest enough to retract his previous statment, and from that time his interest in the subject was active.

It is to be hoped that hypnotism will be more generally employed by the medical profession than has heretofore been the case.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR GENERAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

DID SOUTH DO HIS BEST?

I am told that after the battle was over that both the bidding of North and South, and South's play of the hand were criticised.

	♠ None ♥ 10 7 6 4 2 ♦ 7 5 4 3 ♣ A K Q 10
♠ A K 10 ♥ 8 4 3 ♦ K J 9 8 ♣ 6 5		♠ 9 7 4 3 ♥ A Q 8 3 ♦ 10 9 8 3 ♣ J
	♠ Q J 6 ♥ None ♦ A K Q J ♣ 9 7 6 4 3 2

Bidding went: West, 1 spade; North doubled on a distributional hand; South, 2 diamonds, when he should have shown his longer suit, which would have been good for a grand slam, with almost any player as declarer; West, 2-spades; North, 3-diamonds; East, 3 spades; South, 4 diamonds, when certainly he should have shown his second suit; West, 4-spades; North, 5 diamonds; East doubled, ending the auction.

The opening lead was the K of spades. Dummy ruffed. South led a trump to gain entry to his own hand. He led the Q of spades. West covered. Dummy ruffed. Thus far no player in South's position could have done better. South pulled the trumps held by East, giving him six tricks. He took his established J of spades, winding up with four club tricks in dummy, just eleven tricks, fulfilling his doubled contract. He had to give opponents two heart tricks.

I have seen half-a-dozen different hands of this type. Nearly every one of them has been played for a loss of two tricks which should have been made. There is an absolutely sure small slam in the hand, and odds of 75 to 21 that a grand slam can be made. Let's look over the play, commencing with the third trick, where dummy ruffed the second lead of spades, there by establishing the J of spades in the South hand, with dummy in the lead.

Either South feared that a club lead would be ruffed, with only three missing from the suit, or else he did not look far enough ahead to see how dummy would block the run of that suit. Perhaps South expected opposing trumps to break, thus allowing him to run off dummy's top clubs, ruff a heart, then run off his own clubs for a grand slam. When three cards only are missing from a suit, the odds against a 3-0 division are 75 to 21.

Play the hand as follows: Lead a club from dummy. Lead a trump. Win in the declaring hand. Run off two added trumps. Discard two high clubs from dummy. Lead the good J of spades. Discard dummy's last blocking club, giving South his first eight tricks. Spread the hand, with five good clubs in declarer's hand, giving him a grand slam or two doubled tricks over contract.

BE BEAUTIFUL

As I told you in my last article a charming smile is one of the greatest of beauty assets. Even the famous beauties of the past realize that. Take the Empress Josephine for instance. Josephine really didn't have a shapely mouth. But she cultivated a lovely smile. And what she didn't do to Napoleon with it!

As I said before, a charming smile doesn't depend so much on the shape of your mouth as it does on what you do with your lips. You can always modify and improve the shape of your mouth, you know, with lipstick. But if you keep your mouth corners continually pulled down, your face is bound to take on an unattractive, discontented expression, no matter how you use your lipstick. And if you continually part your lips in a too broad, vacuous grin, you'll find yourself beginning to bear an uncomfortably close resemblance to that well-known Cheshire cat.

A well known physiognomist claims that often the trouble is that a girl smiles only on one side of her face. This one-sided smiling is done unconsciously, but nevertheless gives an unattractive, sardonic expression to the face. To remedy this, he advises practicing facial expressions before a mirror. And it is a help. For if you practice smiling before a mirror faithfully each day, in time your every smile will just naturally be expressive.

To really cultivate an expressive smile, however, you must also see to it that you keep your lips mobile and flexible. Some gals smile in such a stiff, forced manner that you would think their lips were made of cast iron. Chewing, and the movements involved in whistling and blowing bubbles are excellent exercises for keeping the lips supple. Another effective exercise is pronouncing the vowels A, E, I, O, U, aloud, exaggerating the lip movements at the same time. Such exercises increase the expressiveness of the lips, and develop the warm curves of their outlines.

Remember, however, if you wish to cultivate an attractive smile, that your mental state counts for a lot. For you cannot think ugly, depressing or cynical thoughts and still expect to have the soft, appealing mouth of a happy, loving child.

Household Hints

Menu Hint
Fruit Cocktail
Broiled Fish With Cucumber Sauce
Corn on the Cob
French Fried Potatoes
Sliced Tomatoes Cookies
Coffee

Have you ever eaten swordfish? If you live or visit near the ocean you probably have. Here are two ways of cooking it, and a sauce to serve with it. Other fish may be substituted in the menu.

Today's Recipes

Broiled Swordfish.—Dip fillets in melted butter or salad oil into which paprika has been sprinkled. Or brush swordfish steak with same mixture. Put under broiling flame and broil on one side until brown, turn and broil on other until tender. Serve garnished with lemon and parsley.

Swordfish Baked in Milk.—Arrange slices of swordfish, about three-quarters to one inch thick, in greased baking dish. Pour over just enough milk to cover. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dot with butter. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees Fahrenheit, until fish flakes when tested with the point of a knife.

Cucumber Sauce.—One cup sour cream, salt, paprika, vinegar, two cups sliced cucumbers, one pimento. Whip the cream, season to taste with salt, paprika and vinegar. Add the cucumbers and pimento, cut into thin slices. Sweet cream may be used if Interstate vinegar is used.

Sour Cream Molasses Cookies—Sift three-fourths cup butter, one cup sugar, two eggs, one cup molasses, one-half cup sour cream, five cups flour, two teaspoons soda, one teaspoon ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Cream butter, add sugar, creaming the while. Add beaten eggs. Stir in molasses. Add sour cream alternately with flour which has been sifted, measured and sifted several times with soda and spices. Shape into a roll. Wrap in waxed paper and chill thoroughly. When baking slice, place on a greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees Fahrenheit.

New Ascension Island Stamps

The new pictorial issue of this popular little British colony has finally made its appearance, and is no disappointment to the many collectors, who have eagerly awaited it for some time now.

The central portion is black on all denominations, with the border differently colored. We illustrate only part of the set, but will describe all values briefly.

The half-penny purple, presents a view of Georgetown, which consists of about forty houses, a number of ex-naval barracks and storerooms, a canteen, bakery and church.

It occupies about half a square mile and is situated on a plateau of clinker dust (lava) about 200 feet above sea level. There is one solitary tree—a palm—in the entire place.

The one-penny green, two-penny orange, eight-penny dark brown and two-shilling six-penny violet, are all of the same design.

Two buoys are shown which are used to indicate a dangerous reef at the entrance to Clearance Bay, Georgetown.

The towers at either side of the design represent a wireless station which was erected during the war.

A map of the island is also included, showing a turtle. The green turtles visit the island early each year to lay their eggs.

The one and half-penny red denomination depicts "The Pier", a convenient jutting rock that has been cemented over. It is the only landing place, and very difficult to approach on anything except a very calm day. Communication is at times impossible for days, due to the very rough seas, the huge waves washing completely over the pier.

Three-penny ultramarine is a most attractive view of Long Beach, showing mountains in the background.

Long Beach is a stretch of glistening white sand, about a mile long, situated near Georgetown.

Here the green turtles come at night, make their way above high-water mark, dig a hole with their hind flippers, lay about 100 eggs cover them with sand and leave them for the sun to hatch.

Watchers catch them by turning them on their backs.

Five-penny blue, depicts a mountain scene, entitled "The Three Sisters", three peaks looking somewhat alike and situated close together.

The one-shilling carmine, shows "Wide-awake Fair."

This is a large plateau located about three miles from Georgetown. It is covered in clinker dust and here it is that the sooty tern goes every eight months to lay its eggs and rear its young.

The birds arrive in thousands and the noise of their cries at the "Fair" is terrific. They are known as "wide-awakes from their peculiar shrill cry which sounds like the two words.

The five-shilling, light brown, "Green Mountain."

Green Mountain rises 2,800 feet above the sea. There is a farm at 2,200 feet and this is the only green spot on the entire island.

The portrait of King George appears on all stamps except the 1s. value.

The printing was done by Messrs. Thos. De La Rue and Co., London, Eng.

BEHIND the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 18.—A stir of feminine interest suggests that Anna Sten's colorless lipstick may be the next fad to come out of Hollywood. The Russian star used it in "Nana" and drew dozens of inquiring letters. They've started anew since she started work in "We Live Again."

The colorless lipstick gives an appearance of moisture, almost glistening. The effect is the opposite extreme from the "strawberry jam lips" Joan Crawford tried so disastrously in "Rain". Miss Sten's screen lips are almost waxy in their paleness.

You may also expect to see the Russian star introduce a coiffure that will be copied. Her "Nana bangs" of last year created such a furore that one New York department store beauty shop had 10 operators specializing in reproductions.

EDDIE CANTOR

contributes a laugh. When the comedian was making "Roman Scandals" last year, one of the "Imperial Guards" was a strapping Italian, who cut quite a figure with his burnished shield and plumed head-piece. On completion of the film he drifted into Hollywood's mob of extras.

But he didn't stick, for yesterday Eddie got a letter from a pal in Kennebunkport, Me. The big Italian is working there in a hotel. And he's had a card printed up, reading:

"Joe Lucia: Second cook. Formerly with Eddie Cantor in 'Roman Scandals'."

Her work before the camera was ended, but the studio needed one last bit of sound track. INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

CONNAUGHT PARK closed a very successful meeting today. The crowds were large and swell weather prevailed during the entire week. The horsemen racing at Ottawa signed a petition coaxing Lee Dandurand to run a meeting at Dorval and saying they would be satisfied to compete for two hundred dollar purses. Lee is thinking it it over but intimated that he would decline with thanks to kind offer. He took it on the chin for plenty the last few years at Dorval and last fall he vowed and declared he would never open it again.

Stamford gets under way today and everything points to a bumper meeting. Don't forget Granite Rock and Powder Monkey are both going to turn in winning efforts at this place. Swaggervick, a stable mate of the latter is also taking to this track in approved fashion and you can confidently count on him for a win. Alanah has been sleeping all summer but we have reason to believe that she is going to wake up one of these fine days, and it may be during this coming week. We also look for big things from Pat Gaiety now that he has reached his winning form. He is in smart hands.

DOWN AT the new track at Providence no purse is less than twelve hundred smackers, no wonder they are getting such classy horses and large fields. Boocap is down there and we hear they are all ready to shoot him. He sure can turn on the juice when required. High Sockers is another at the same place that is a lot better than a green hand when it come to putting on a finish in a distance event. Word comes also that Boy Crazy is going to win a heat at a big price and he is quite capable of doing that very thing.

A couple of E. S. McLaughlin's juveniles have become sick and injured at Saratoga which may spoil his winning program. They were in grand shape when they left Canada, but Harry Giddings is a mighty clever conditioner of horses and he will probably bring them back to racing form without delay. At Saratoga we like a nag called Granny's Trade. She will likely be a fair price. While over at Detroit the first day they take the blanket off of Sizzling it will just be like getting money from home. Divert the former Conny Smythe maverick is also there and will be on the front end of a race very shortly. Sun Worship is another at the same place who has a lot of class and is just rearing to go. Getting back to Niagara we have an idea that the Campbell, Foden combination are in for a big week. Canny Age and Carylden are their two aces and we think they will both cop a purse.

YANKS SPLIT MOUND DUELS WITH TIGERS

Schoolboy Rowe Rises to Great Hurling Heights in Winning Second Game.

GOMEZ TOPS FIRST.

Giants Blast Out Double Victory Over Pirates to Retain National Lead.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball fans—even those who sympathized with the Yankees in their plight of being 5½ games away from the American League lead and without much prospect of getting closer soon — today paid tribute again to Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, the player who had more to do with their being down there than any other.

It was Rowe, conqueror of the Yankees in the opening game of their important series with Detroit's pace-setting Tigers, who came back yesterday with an equally fine performance to shut them out 2-0 in the final clash yesterday. The schoolboy gave just three hits in that final performance for his 14th consecutive triumph after Vernon (Goofy) Gomes had pitched the Yanks to a 5-0 triumph in the first game of the doubleheader and squared the series.

Gomes did some fine pitching on his own account to win his 20th decision of the year although he gave eight blows while the Yanks had only six from Vic Sorrell. He was more effective in the clinches as the Yanks managed to bunch four blows and a walk for three runs in the first and finished their scoring when Tony Lazzeri hit a homer in the sixth.

Provides The Thrills

It was Rowe, however, who provided the greatest thrills for the crowd of 46,371. He was wilder than he was in the opener, when he granted four hits, but he made up for that weakness with 11 strikeouts, some of them in the most troublesome spots.

While the Tigers won one game for their 5½ game lead, the Giants attained the same margin in the National League race by blasting out a double victory over Pittsburgh while the Boston Braves took a single contest from the second-place Cubs.

The Giants pounded Pirate pitching for a total of 29 hits to win by 7-3 and 8-2 while Roy Parmelee and Carl Hubbell held the Bucs sufficiently in check. Among the swats were Mel Ott's 31st and 32nd home runs, which accounted for six tallies in the two games, and six blows by Bill Terry.

The Braves continued as Chicago's "jinx" by pounding big Jim Weaver for four runs in the seventh and a 5-2 victory. It made 11 triumphs for Boston in 18 games and even the return of two of the Cubs' injured aces, Bill Jurges and Chuck Klein, failed to alter the result.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, cut Chicago's margin to a half game by blasting Philadelphia pitching for 17 hits and a 22-3 victory as the rebellious Paul Dean returned to the team just in time to do a fine job of relief hurling.

Brooklyn Dodgers regained a little lost prestige by hammering out a 12-4 decision over the Reds in the final game of a series which already had been lost.

The Senators got the best one-day results from the American League program of four doubleheaders when they took both games from Cleveland 4-3 and 1-0. They had to go 10 innings to take the opener, bunching three hits in the extra inning but Bob Burke's three-hit flinging carried them to the second victory.

Even Breaks

The other bargain bills resulted in even breaks. Boston made it three straight over the Browns with a 6-0 triumph when Wes Ferrell hurled two-hit ball for his 11th victory but went down 5-2 in the second clash before George Blaeholder's six-hit pitching.

Athletics took the 10-inning opener from Chicago 9-8 as Ed Coleman belted three home runs for a season's record but even Jimmie Foxx's 38th circuit swat couldn't win the second game as Ted Lyons limited the A's to four blows and won 3-2.

CAMPBELL GAINS CANADIAN FINAL

Defending Champion Scores Easy Victory Over Palmer of Winnipeg.

SOMERVILLE ALSO IN.

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 18—Two of the ranking amateur golfers of Canada and the United States, G. R. ("Sandy") Somerville of London, Ont., and Albert ("Scotty") Campbell of Seattle, will tour the rolling, wooded fairways of the Laval course to-day, with the Canadian title at stake.

Canadian defence of the Earl Grey Gold Cup was placed on the broad shoulders of Somerville, who has won it four time, and the United States amateur once, when he reached the peak of his game to smother Jesse Guilford of Boston, 9 and 8, in a scheduled 36-hole semi-final.

Campbell, defending the cup he won last year in Vancouver, taking it to the United States for the second time in its history, had a comparatively easy victory over 21-year-old Ernie Palmer of Winnipeg, 5 and 4, whose play in the tournament has stamped him as one of the best match players in the country.

Fans Take Exception to Decision—Malleable Tie Port Hope.

FINAL SCORE 5-5.

PORT HOPE, Aug. 18.—In a hectic and thrilling softball fixture here last night, Port Hope Alerts and Oshawa Malleables played a 5 to 5 tie in the second game of the play-offs for the championship of the Lakeshore Ladies' softball loop. The game will be replayed here on Monday night.

The trouble broke out in the seventh inning on a decision at third base, when Umpire J. Blow of Oshawa called an Oshawa player safe. Spectators surged onto the field and peace was restored when Umpire-in-chief Moise reversed the decision. In the ninth, with runners on second and third, diminutive Ruth Thompson slashed a single to centre to score the tying run, and when Miss Rowden attempted to score she was chased back to third. On a throw to the plate, Umpire Blow called her out.

WAIFS SCORE DECISIVE WIN OVER SMOKIES

Winners Pile Up Commanding Lead in Fifth and Sixth Frames.

WILDNESS COSTLY.

Second Game Will be Played at Riverside Park on Tuesday Night.

The Orphans took the first game of their O.A.S.A. playdown series with Smith's Smokies in Lindsay last night by a 21-10 count. Over three hundred saw the one-sided tilt, wildness on the part of the Lindsay flingers handing Percy Harrison's crew a soft victory. The return tilt will be in Riverside Park here Tuesday evening. If Orphans win again, they will advance to the next round against Oshawa.

It started out like a nice scrap with the score 2-1 for the Waifs going into the fourth. They began to reach Birdgenaw, on the Smith hilltop, then and between hits and walks counted six runs. But Lindsay came back to shove four over themselves. However, in the fifth canto, the Orphans drove Birdgenew to the showers in a hurry and then proceeded to take advantage of his successor's—Gamble's—lack of control, six walks with a couple of bingles giving the visitors eight runs. They grabbed four more in the sixth and then coasted home. Lindsay kept trying and got a few back but were never in the hunt.

Jack Hefferman went the distance for the Orphans and hurled steady ball most of the way. Bunched hits in several of the frames put him in bad holes but he worked out again, aided by snappy fielding by his teammates. With a big lead, Jack took things easy and let the homesters hit the ball considerably, banking on the other O.'s to help him along.

Leads Victors At Bat

O'Toole led the victors at bat with four bingles in five trips. Cadd was the heavy clouter, twice slamming clean homers with runners on the paths. Hefferman and Weese also got two safeties each. J. Campbell topped the losers with the willow, hitting three in five, one a homer and another a double. Gamble nailed out a homer and a single, while Smith hit a double and single. Fever and C. Campbell had two hits apiece.

Despite five miscues, the Waifs turned in some smart defensive play to hold the homesters in check. Willshaw, Weese, Fleming and Board all looked good, with the outfield also strong. Shaw, J. Campbell and Cain went best for Lindsay. Two nifty double-plays were pulled off, one by each team.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

I might as well start out by admitting that I didn't catch no fish, thus allowing the customers what like to give me the raspberry over my tough luck a good chance to get in their work. Lucky, Mac, I can take it. At that I done as well as last year, which is more than a lotta birds could say if they was pinned down to the truth. And anyway, nobody up around these parts is trying to borrow any scales to weigh the fish they're bringing in, so why should I worry?

Well, Mac, I see the boys done their usual home diamond stunt Sat., and the lads from Kingston took them by getting a cluster of 4 markers in the final frame. Mister Lee's cohorts surely find it tough going to cop off a win before the home customers, and so far they ain't even broke even on the local cushion, their percentage at Riverside Park being .400. They seem to save up all their bad brakes and bad baseball for the benefit of their neighbors, while away from home they mostly go along like a well-oiled machine and make the enemy like it. Anyway, Sat. they missed a royal chance to pull up level with the Belleville Nats, which crashed before their home fans Fri. and let Oshawa throw them for a total loss. The Ponies trotted out 2 of their old guard, Mister Teddy Gallagher, who was supposed to be all washed up years ago, and the rotund Mister Ads, who still retains his old batting eye and helped himself to 3 of the best in the hitting line Sat. If the Daleyites had a couple more veterans of the same kind to toss into the battle array they might be pretty tough opposition, even at this late date. I ain't got much of a line on Sat.'s game, but that 9th frame musta been a tough session for the home fans, even if they oughta be getting hardened to disaster by this time.

Tues., however, down at Belleville, Mister Lee's lads took the Nats completely to pieces with Mister Russ Kitchen, the eminent clockmaker in full charge of the operation. Mister Kitchen had such complete control of the situation that none of Peeney Mills' pals got around to 3rd base. Meanwhile our athaletes was pasting the offerings of Mister Jack Williams as if they never had heard of the fame of that redskin southpaw. The most damaging blow was struck by our Mister Thomas Foley, who connected with 1 of Mister Williams' choicest offerings and drove the Spalding clean out of bounds, him and 2 play mates scampering across the counting station on that devastating rap. Altogether the Lee lot collected 14 blows, while in the field they turned in a errorless game. It was the kinda exhibition that the Peterborough fans has been looking for but rarely got this season, the boys saving up most of their good ball for the foreign customers. 7 wins outa 9 starts away from home is a good record that will take some beating, and it will about put the Petes in the playoffs.

Well, Mac, they ain't nothing more to get excited about this week. Next week the harness hoss fans will get their inning down at Rolly Benne's fall fair when the hay-burners from near and far will be turned loose to do their stuff for the benefit of the grandstand patrons and any other visitors that has the foresight to provide themselves with periscopes so they can look over the fences.

Enough for now. I'll be seeing ya.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

LEAFS BLANK BALTIMORE 9-0 IN GENE SCHOTT'S 17TH WIN

Hitting by McQuinn and Boone Plays Big Part in Toronto Victory.

WINGS TAKE DOUBLE.

(By The Associated Press)

George Toporcer's Rochester Redwings finally have cut a substantial slice out of Newark's International League lead.

Tripping Albany twice yesterday 4-3, 10-7, the Wings shaved a game and a half off the Bears' advance when Newark dropped a 2-0 decision to Montreal Royals. The Bears' lead to-day stood at three games.

A four-run rally in the eighth gave Rochester its first victory over Albany and another four-run spurt in the sixth provided the winning margin in the second game. Cy Blanton outpitched Pete Appleton by a wide margin through the first seven innings of the opener but the Wings drove the strike-out artist to the showers in the eighth after being shut out up to that point. Albany pounded Jim Winford hard in the first four frames of the night-cap but Ira Smith was a puzzle thereafter and Rochester came on to pound Ed Chapman for the winning tally in the next to last frame of the seven-inning contest.

Great Mound Duel

Harry Smythe and Walter Brown hooked up in a great pitching duel in the Newark-Montreal tussle, each giving only four hits. Franco Thompson's double in the eighth, driving home Walker and Shevlin, broke up the battle. Brown, the league's leading pitcher, was bidding for his 17th victory but was charged with his fifth defeat instead. The game closed the season's series between the two clubs with Newark winning 15 of the 22 contests.

Blanks Orioles

Toronto got first-rate pitching from Gene Schott and blanked the Baltimore Orioles 9-0. Schott allowed only four hits in winning his 17th game of the season, Toronto meantime pounded Lohrman for 12 safeties, including a home run by George McQuinn and a double and two singles by Manager Ike Boone.

Buffalo whipped Syracuse 6-2 in a night game to maintain its grip on fifth place, a half game in front of Montreal, and two games behind Albany. Charley Perkins and Ken Ash combined to limit the seventh place Chiefs to seven hits. The Bisons drove Clarence Pickrel out of the box with five runs in the third to take a 6-0 lead and then added single runs off Ad Liska in the seventh and eighth to make sure of victory.

Babe's Farewell

BABE RUTH doffs his cap in a farewell gesture to Boston fans after announcing this season is his last as a regular player. Babe started his big league career in Boston twenty years ago as pitcher for the Red Sox.

BEN McMASTER'S ANKLE IS BROKEN

C.G.E. Centre Forward Will be Out of Game for Rest of Season.

After careful medical examination Ben McMaster, the popular centre-forward of the Canadian General soccer team, who was injured in the Canadian General versus Canada Packers game last Tuesday night, will be confined to his home for the next six weeks with his leg in a plaster cast through the unfortunate accident that he had in the latter part of the game.

The X-rayed examination disclosed the right ankle fractured in the lower part of the foot. The cast was applied yesterday. He will be out of the game for the rest of the season.

Last year he had eighty-nine goals to his credit for the year, and up to date his record revealed that he had nearly forty goals so far this season, which includes all the games.

Ata Downer will not be an active participant for two or three weeks, owing to an injured shoulder he received in the same game. He also is carrying a broken rib on the right side which has been strapped to keep it in place. James Buchan, centre-half of the Packers, reports that he will be out of the game with an injured chest.

It is many years since the football association had to report such serious accidents as has come during the last two tussles. In the statements submitted to the executives there has ben only two minor accidents until this unfortunate accident to Ben McMaster.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX J. MORRISON

Number 231

Standing about six feet one inch and weighing around 160 pounds I'm supposed to use clubs that tend to be heavy. When I let players heft my wood clubs which weigh 13 to 13½ ounces they seem terribly surprised.

Even with this weight they're balanced like women's clubs. They're the very same club I used 13 years ago when I was so thin I appeared not to have strength enough to swing even a 12-ounce club.

It's the swinging weight of the club that counts, not the feel of it as you waggle it back and forth in practice moves. And if the club is even a fraction of an ounce over weight for you it will force you to work to guide its movements.

The lighter club enables you to concentrate on your swing so that you can develop speed in the club-head.

BREAKS ALL RECORDS FOR CHANNEL SWIMMING

DOVER, England, Aug. 18 (AP) —Emm Faber, Austrian woman swimmer, apparently shattered all records for swimming the English Channel to-day as she set out from Cape Gris Nes on the French shore at 6.30 a.m. and landed at South Foreland, not far from Dover, at 3.15 p.m., an elapsed time of only 8¾ hours.

The record for the crossing generally accepted here is that of Georges Michel, Paris baker, who swam the same stretch of turbulent water in 11 hours, 5 minutes, in 1926. Gertrude Ederle, who gained international fame by the accomplishment, made the fastest previous time ever turned in by a woman, 14 hours, 31 minutes, in 1926.

VISITORS SHOW SPERIORITY BY TAKING 16 TO 7 VICTORY

Kidd on Lakeshore Mound Holds Locals to Eight Safeties.

BETTER IN FIELD.

Peterborough Juniors dropped the first game of their O.A.S.A. series with Trenton in Riverside Park last evening, 16 to 7. The visitors outhit and outfielded the locals throughout and received better twirling. Peterborough failed to hit at opportune times, Kidd, on the visitors' mound holding them to eight hits as he fanned nine. He also issued ten walks, these figuring in most of the homesters' scoring.

Ridley started for the Petes but was hit hard every inning and Reid replaced him in the seventh. He also found trouble holding down the hard-socking Trenton gang the last two frames. Only three were fanned all through. The local hurlers, while clouted hard, did not have the best of support, either, seven errors being counted against the losers and only two against the Trenton team. Heal led the Petes at bat with three safeties while McKinley got two. Ellis topped the visitors with five for six, while Anderson, Heeney and Jeffry had three each. Heeney hitting a homer.

The teams:

Trenton: Ellis, cf; Anderson, ss; Heeney, 1b; Kidd, p; Lamore, c; Roberts, 2b; Mitchell, lf; Fox, 3b; Jeffry, rf.

Peterborough: Heal, 2b; Mowry, c; Vilazelli, 3b; Gardine, cf; Leggitt, cf; Cascavella, ss; Coughlin, lf; Ridley, p; Reid, p; McKinley, 1b; Dixon, rf.

Omemee Girls Win From Sixth Line

Omemee girls pushed over the Sixth Line team 18-13 last night on the Lang diamond, to continue their winning streak which has now reached a total of five wins. The game went seven innings and was featured by much heavy clouting, Reddick and Jeah Hickson, connecting for clean homers for the winners, and the latter came with the bases loaded to win the game.

Hickson pitched smart ball for the winners but the opposition showed plenty of punch and were ahead going into the last frame. Lil Bowie pitched for Sixth Line, and threw a slow ball that was hard to hit.

The teams:

Omemee—E. Bigelow, c; Hickson, p; Mages, cf; McQuade, 2b; Fisher, 2b; Sherin, ss; Reddick, 1b; Pickett, cf, 1b; P. Bigelow, lf; Fee, cf; Hart, rf.

Sixth Line—Tucker, cf; Would, c; Bowie, p; Nelson, rf; Weir, ss; Renwick, 1b; Davis, 3b; Richardson, rf; Clarkson, cf; Payne, 2b.

Umpires—Ab Frick at the plate, Dick Galbraith on the bases.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Chemong Sailing Club Notes

Officials of Peterborough Sailing and Aquatic Club are anxious that all skippers should turn out tomorrow for the sailing contests which start tomorrow at ten o'clock. While one of the important reasons for a good turnout is the fact that a silver trophy is to be competed for, it is also pointed out that the season is drawing to a conclusion, and few further chances for good sailing will present themselves this year.

Freda James Loses To Sarah Palfrey

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 18. (AP).—Little Sarah Palfrey and Carolin Babcock yesterday repelled England's challenge for the forty-seventh United States women's singles tennis championship.

Lifting their games to great heights against dogged British determination, Miss Palfrey conquered frail Freda James, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, and Miss Babcock out-steadied and out-slugged left-handed Katherine Stammers, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4, before a roaring gallery of 2,000 in the quarter-final round.

While their compatriots eliminated the two survivors of the original British contingent of three, Helen Hull Jacobs, the defending champion, swamped Elizabeth Ryan, the veteran Californian, 6-0, 6-1, and Dorothy Andrus, the Stamford, Conn., millionairess, disposed of Baroness Maude Levi of Minden, Nev., 6-1, 6-4.

In the semi-finals to-day Miss Jacobs will engage Miss Babcock.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer Softball, Bowling etc.

By O. J. P.

For those interested, there's a classy article in September's Esquire magazine on sports writing. It's by Westbrook Pegler and called the "Life of Reilly." But don't believe all that stuff about the dough paid to sportswriters—at least, we've never seen it! He says in part: "Some of the best writing in American journalism, and considerably more of the worst, appears on the sport pages of the newspaper. The sport department is a curious principality in the newspaper shop, presided over by an official who is called the sports editor. He has many duties, including in some cases that of editing the material which is used to fill the space allotted to his section. To generalize and concede the inevitable exceptions, the sport department is editorially autonomous and the managing editor seldom intrudes."

* * * * * *

We'll pinch another clipping. It's on baseball by a Detroit Times' writer—and plenty of fans here are following the Tigers closely these days in their pennant race. Rud Shaver says, concerning fighting ball players: "There was nothing gentle about the way Cochrane slid into Trosky the other day, nor the way Hale crunched his spikes into Greenberg's foot. Nor the way Hale dumped Rogell over at second on that double play in the tenth. Ball players don't expect rivals to be polite to them. Some of the things they say to each other on the diamond are triumphs in invective. But the grand thing about it is that nobody beefs about it or yelps for quarter. If you are a ball player, you take care of yourself and ask and expect no favors. If you don't, you don't remain a ball player long."

Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week sees the harness horses come into their own here. This three-day meet at the Exhibition promises to be bigger and better than ever. Twelve hundred smackeys are up in purses and entries have been attracted from various distant spots in the Province. Two races daily with a big and classy field fighting for heavy sugar should attract a large crowd to the grandstand. Since the Ex. is on earlier this year, the weather will be ideal for hoss racing. We're looking forward to seeing some grand driving finishes.

Harold LaPlante, manager of the Summer Gardens on Brock St., has invited the managers and players of the City Softball League winners and runners-up to be his guests at the Brock Tuesday evening. The Orphans and Johnston's Tires will be there in a body, tripping the light fantastic at the company's expense, and Harold will arrange a special program for them. To the victors go the spoils, but in this case both the victors and their late opponents in a swell playoff series get in on the gravy. Well, they rate it—and it's a nice gesture on Mr. LaPlante's part.

* * * * * *

The Orphans just chuckled through to a 21-10 win in Lindsay last night in the first O.A.S.A. playdown game. They didn't let Smith's Smokies get in their eyes, nor in their hair. Steady pitching by Jack Heffernan, good fielding, timely hitting and a flock of Annie Oakleys combined to make it more or less a walkaway for the Waifs. The middle three chapters produced a mere eighteen runs for the Harrison clan and that was enough for a victory in any language. The return game is in Riverside Park Tuesday at 5.30 p.m.

* * * * * *

Along about the fourth frame, the Waifs began to reach one Mister Bigsnaw and they continued to maul him around in the fifth. So the dicugog management decided to gamble on Gamble. It was a poor bet as the visitors proceeded to gambol merrily around the paris on six walks, four of them in a row. Gamble hurls a wicked speed ball but his control just wasn't last night—and the local lads just parked their bats on their shoulders and let nature take its course. Wasn't a bad game for six of the nine tilts, but those other three sort of soured things for the home fans.

* * * * * *

Our junior team got off to the wrong start in their O.A.S.A. playdown grind here last e'en, Trenton doing 'em dirt, 16 to 7. We didn't see this tussle but understand the local lads had trouble bingling a kid named Kidd who twirled for the winners. Then, too, the Peterborough boys kicked the ball around plenty in the field, which didn't help matters a great deal. Trenton hit hard and banked their pitcher up in smart style, easily earning the nod. The teams play the second game of their serial in Trenton next Wednesday. Ultimate winner meets Kingston.

* * * * * *

The guy the Kingston ball club is protesting over that Oshawa win is Petrie, a junior who played first. The Limestone losers figured that Petrie wasn't on the C.O.B.A.L. eligible list by July 15th and therefore 'twas a crying shame that he be allowed to help the Dukes pranee into Kingston and knock over the former champs. However, we understand Petrie played for a junior team in Oshawa that was sponsored by the Dukes, and the '34 O.B.A.A. books says: "Where different teams are operated by the same club, a player may advance to a higher series after July 15th, but only to participate with the club or athletic organization operating the club from which he advances." This would seem to protect Petrie and his pals in Oshawa. Kingston? Well, they'll have to go out and see if they can't win on the ball field.

Rowe Hurts Ankle

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)— The ankle injury Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe suffered in the course of his three-hit shutout of the Yankees yesterday had the Detroit Tigers' camp a trifle worried to-day.

Rowe suffered the injury when his spikes caught on third base in the second inning. He was in severe pain but finished the game. When it was all over, an examination revealed the ankle was swollen to twice its normal size.

On Monday in Toronto, the Dominion Lawn Bowling Association will hold forth its annual tournament. There will be contests for rinks, doubles and singles.

]:[

Up Until The Last few years this tournament was looked upon as the classic bowling event in the Dominion, but for different reasons it has dwindled down from well over two hundred entries until this year sixty seems to be about their limit—in fact, the officials are sending out the S.O.S. signal in order to make the even draw of sixty-four.

]:[

They Advertise a four-day tournament, and that, we think, is one reason for the decline in the entry. The time has arrived when one day tournaments are the most successful.

]:[

Another Reason, we believe, for the falling off, is that when it is advertised Dominion it should be Dominion in every sense of the word and not restricted to clubs belonging to certain organizations.

]:[

Peterborough Will be represented by two well balanced rinks and have had the honor extended to them of playing against the picked teams of Toronto, on Monday evening. The event is something new: There will be eleven Toronto rinks picked to play against eleven outsiders, and Peterborough has been favored.

]:[

The Personnel of the rinks are:

R. Chesler	C. Williamson
J. Fitzpatrick	J. T. Braund
G. Cairns	J. Sedgewick
W. Freeman, Skip	G. Gimblett, Skip

KASHMARY WINNER IN GOSHEN FEATURE

Calumet Eleanor, First in the Hollyrood, Racing Four Heats.

GOSHEN, N.Y., Aug. 18 (AP)— Kashmary, a little mare from Detroit, owned by J. J. Mooney, President of the Hambletonian Society yesterday whipped Vantsandt in the $1,500 Progressive Stake as the Grand Circuit meeting was resumed at Good Time Park, following a day's postponement, due to rain. Vansandt won only one heat, the third, and that because Kashmary was pocketed until near the finish.

With Ben White handling the reins, Kashmary trotted the second mile in 2.01¾, the fastest time of the meeting, and then came back to take the fourth heat in the slow time of 2.03¼, after Vansandt had won the third in 2.03.

SILVER SLIPPERS By Temple Bailey

READ THIS FIRST:

Joan Dudley vacationing with her wealthy aunt, Adelaide Delafield, is engaged to marry Drew Hallam, who is twice her age. At Granitehead where they are stopping, with Drew's sister, Nancy, is a bookshop owned by Giles Armiger, below which is a shoemaker's shop run by Stephen Scripps. They had become fast friends in France. As a result of his war experience, Scripps was obliged to turn from law to a trade and his friend, Giles, remained close by. Taking her slippers to be mended in Scripps' shop, Joan recognizes Giles as a man she saw in a boat near Gloucester and they become interested in each other. Later, Giles sees Drew and determines to spare Joan from him somehow. Meanwhile Drew is paying considerable attention to Rose Carter, a former sweetheart, who is stopping at the same hotel. Dilly, Giles' cousin, and wife of the lighthouse keeper at Granitehead, begins to notice Giles' interest in Joan. Giles brings Joan to show her the lighthouse. During another visit to the lighthouse with Giles Drew and Rose appear. Drew takes Joan back to the hotel with him and is incensed when Rose speaks of Giles' attractiveness.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 17

It was on the day after his adventure with Joan at the lighthouse that Giles found a note from her when he stopped for his mail at the postoffice.

He was staying late at the shop to go over certain accounts, and had dined at one of the restaurants in the town. He waited until he was back at his desk to open Joan's note. It was very short, and when he had read it he sat there, staring.

"Drew doesn't want me to come any more to the shop. So I must not. But I shall always be your friend, even if I may not see you. Will you believe that? You have been so kind and wise. And it isn't easy for me to say 'Good-by'."

That was all. She had done what she had no do. She couldn't know, of course, that the words stabbed him like a knife.

He wrote later in his journal. "He has, undoubtedly, brought pressure to bear, challenged her love, perhaps, her constancy. He would be like that. If I were free I would win her from him. But I am not free. And I love her . . ."

"She must not," he wrote on, after a while, "marry Hallam. I must save her from shipwreck . . . at any cost I must save her . . ."

He dropped his pen and leaned his head on his hand, thinking it out. In a few minutes he would close the shop and go back to the island where Amelie would be waiting. And Scripps and Jose and Margarida would be glad when they heard his step, because of Amelie.

That had been the story of the past eight years—the island his prison, the shop, the prison yard. He had not thought of it that way until he had met Joan Dudley. He had been content to follow the daily round of self-sacrifice, not calling it sacrifice because it was for Scripps . . .

But now?

He stood up. He had no time for self-pity. He had time for two things only—to see old Scripps through, and to keep Joan from becoming the wife of Hallam.

Having locked the shop behind him, he started for his boat. Then changing his mind suddenly, he walked rapidly up the boardwalk towards the hotel. He was drawn irresistibly towards Joan. He must see her. He would not try to speak to her. He would gaze from afar off, hear her voice. Catch, perhaps, the echo of her laughter.

He went to the little pavilion, from which in the dark he could look towards the hotel porch, faintly lighted, and with people coming in and out from the ballroom, where tonight there was dancing.

But Joan was not dancing. She was playing bridge with Adelaide. Her adventure of the day before had brought down on her head not only Drew's wrath, but Mrs. Delafield's.

"Rose says you went to the lighthouse with that book man, what's his name?"

"Giles Armiger."

"What under the shining sun made you go with him? You don't know him, do you?"

"I've met him in the shop, and he's a gentleman."

"How do you know? You have no worldly experience. I won't have you doing such things, Joan. Women of your class aren't supposed to be — clandestine."

Joan had flamed at that. "It wasn't clandestine. And nothing I could do, Aunt Adelaide, could match the things I see about me here, among your friends and Drew's and Nancy's."

"Don't you like my friends?" Adelaide demanded.

"Some of them."

"If you don't like them, you know what you can do. You can go where you find people you like better."

Joan felt as if she had been struck in the face. "Do you want me to go?" she faltered.

The room was very still. Mrs. Delafield walked to the dressing table and sat down with her back to her niece. Her ravaged old face was reflected in the mirror. When she turned, finally, a tear was trickling through the rouge and powder.

"No," she said, "I don't want you to go. But I won't have you acting upstage."

Her hands were shaking as she reached for a powder puff and dabbed it futilely against her thin old nose. "We won't talk about it any more, Joan. But remember, there must be no more making friends with people out of your class . . ."

"Aunt Adelaide," desperately, "he's not out of my class . . ." Joan was yearning to argue. She wanted to justify herself, to tell the truth as she saw it. But the sight of those shaking hands stopped her. She was aware, all at once, that Adelaide had lost the glamour with which Joan's illusions had surrounded her. She sat there now, a pitiful old creature, needing tenderness rather than blame.

She went over and put her hands on her aunt's shoulders. "Let's not fuss about it, darling," she said and laid her cheek against the curled softness of the waved white head.

Reflected thus in the mirror they smiled at each other, and Adelaide content with her conquest, forgot the incident for the moment. But Joan did not forget. There had been in her surrender something which savored of weakness. Both with Adelaide and with Drew she had been beaten. She had given up Giles Armiger because they asked it.

Drew had been utterly unreasonable. In the end she had cried in his arms, and he had soothed her with the gentleness which so often surprised her. But he had stuck to his point that her friendship with Giles Armiger must cease.

And now tonight they were playing cards with Adelaide because Drew had said they must run no further chance of incurring her displeasure. "She likes me for a partner, and we might as well do all we can to please her."

Joan played, of course, an uninspired game. She felt sorry for Nancy who sat opposite, and when after an hour of martyrdom, Mrs. Carter came up to the table, Joan offered her hand. "I'll sit and watch. It will be much nicer for all of you."

So Mrs. Carter played, and Joan looked on, and then as the others became increasingly absorbed, she wandered along the corridor and into a small music room which was used by the orchestra for morning concerts, and which was completely deserted at this hour of the night. It was lighted by a low lamp or two, and there was a piano in one corner. Joan sat down and ran her fingers over the keys, then played softly, this air and that, a bit of jazz, a nocturne, a sonata. She was not conscious of what she played, she was thinking . . . her head thrown a little back, showing the pure curve of her white throat. Her arms were bare, and the slender lines of her rose taffeta frock ended in a petalled skirt which folded about her like the leaves of a flower.

Thinking . . . thinking . . . of herself in a straight brown dress, with stout brown shoes, showing a flock of tiny children how to play—"Oranges and lemons, said the bells of St. Clemens; You owe me five farthings, said the bells of St. Martins; When will you pay me? said the bells of old Bailey; When I grow rich, said the bells of Shoreditch."

Her fingers were following the tune which sang itself in her head: "Here comes a candle to light you to bed, and here comes a chopper to chop off your head."

How gay they had been, the children! And how they had loved her. And after school, they had all gone down the road together, and had stopped in an orchard, and had picked red apples . . .

She was overwhelmed suddenly by a deep sense of depression. Things had gone wrong with her of late. She was not sure just what had happened. But there had been since she left Maine, a gradual loss of enchantment. Her aunt among her Granitehead friends had seemed more worldly-minded, and somewhat vain and selfish. Drew, too, was less—splendid. He was no longer the stainless knight. She loved him, but she was always afraid now of being hurt—by his anger, his affairs with Rose, by the insincere attitude towards Adelaide.

By GENEVIEVE KENDALL

For Sunday, August 19

Sunday's horoscope holds presage of a multiplicity of small anxieties, vexations and disturbances, with probably connivance, intrigue or treachery also to be contended with. There may be sudden change or travel, and the business as well as personal relations seem to be under these adverse omens. Discretion and restraint are advised.

A child born on this day may be bright, clever, energetic, but fond of pleasure and indulgence. It may be restless, nervous and inclined to "the easiest way".

For Monday, August 20

Monday's astrological forecast is an excellent one, according to the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. In many avenues of endeavour stirring events may be looked for, with signs of definite changes with radical effect on the destiny. It is probable that there will be an abrupt turn-about in the affairs, employment as well as business, calling into fresh fields of operation, with new environs and interests, strange associates and contacts.

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a practically new life, with sudden and highly propitious openings for changing the entire trend of affairs, this calling for new environment, associations and interests. Employment brings honors and personal prestige and strange influences and affiliations enhance them. Make new contracts now. Deal with strangers with confidence.

A child born on this day should attain high station through its imposing personality and splendid or unique endowments.

Trent River

Master Forrest and brother Guy Robson of Marmora landed a five pound pickerel in the Trent on Wednesday. Forrest and Guy are holidaying with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Ruttan and are very proud of their first catch.

Mr. James Cook was successful in catching a small mouthed black bass weighing 5 pounds, length 21 inches and 14 inches girth. The bass was caught while Mr. Cook was trolling near Garratt's cottage using frogs for bait.

Rev. and Mrs. Bruce left Tuesday for their home in Newark, N.J. after two week's holidays with the latter's sister-in-law, Mrs. Claud Goodman at their island cottage.

Mrs. S. Rylott, Mrs. Harry Pollock and daughter Noreen Adela and son Robert Bruce of Havelock were visitors Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. John Garnons.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Thompson and son-in-law, Mr. B. Sparks left Wednesday for Toronto after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Donohue at "Ye Olde Mill."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Donohue daughter Katherine, son Frank, Messrs Earl Rogley and Melville Small and Mrs. H. Reaves of Toronto are holidaying at "Ye Olde Mill."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scott, Mr. and Mrs. George Brooks were Sunday visitors with friends in Burnley.

The Misses Mary Crowley, Regina Costello, Frances Costello, Evelyn Brown and Mrs. Edgar Burns of Lindsay are enjoying a week's holidays at "Snug Harbour."

Mrs. T. Adley, Miss Alma Hagerman and Mr. Fred McKenzie of Havelock arrived Thursday to holiday for two weeks at "Bon Air."

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Whilde and family of Toronto are at "Athlone" for a few days.

Mrs. David Durran of Campbellford was a Wednesday visitor with Rev. H. P. L. and Mrs. Seymour at Mrs. George Dickson's cottage.

Kumarasambhava is the name of one of the celebrated poems of the Hindoos.

BELGIANS SOAR ON BALLOON TRIP

Young Fliers Head for Stratosphere to Secure Data on Atoms.

DRIFTING EASTWARD.

(By Edouard Traus, Associated Press Staff Writer.)

HOUR-HAVERINE, Belgium, Aug. 18 (AP) — Two young Belgians soared away at dawn to-day on an adventurous flight into the stratosphere.

Max Cosyns and Neree Vanderlist took off at 6.17 a.m. (12.17 a.m. E.S.T.) in their huge silk and rubber balloon, standing in a sealed aluminum ball.

A mist which had prevailed earlier cleared entirely and the wind, which had alarmed the balloonists shortly after midnight, went down.

The start, however, was far behind the scheduled time. The sun had been up more than half an hour before the balloon was released for the flight in which the scientists hope to make valuable observations. The delay was due in part to a last-minute discovery that more ballast was wanted.

A large crowd, including many relatives and friends of the fliers, saw them get away.

Cosyns kissed his weeping mother good-bye, promising to send her a message that they were safe as soon as they were landed. She finally replied she was confident all would be well.

The balloon rose steadily in the clear, still air under ideal conditions. In 35 minutes it had gained a height of 3,000 feet and was drifting south-southeast. A continuance of this direction would lead to Switzerland, but the ultimate course depends upon how the air is moving in the higher levels. Cosyns and Vanderlist hope to secure new data about the nucleus of the atom.

Artist's Conception Of Incidents In Kidnap ping Of John Labatt

Above is an artist's conception, using purely representative figures which make no attempt to portray the actual features of those concerned, of the kidnapping of John S. Labatt, millionaire London, Ontario, brewer, who was held for three days for ransom of $150,000. Reconstructing the kidnapping, one of the most sensational crimes in the annals of Canadian police, and the first kidnapping for ransom in the history of Canada, from somewhat meagre and sometimes conflicting reports, the story is as follows: (1) John S. Labatt bids his wife and family goodbye from their summer home near Sarnia, Ontario. He is off to London. About eight miles from Sarnia, another car draws up and forces Labatt's car to a stop, (2). The two kidnappers seize Labatt (3) and tape his eyes with adherive tape covering that again with dark glasses. (4) After driving around the country for about 12 hours, it is reported the kidnappers took their victim to an, as yet unknown farmhouse where they held him for the duration of the three day period. Meanwhile, as soon as the note left by the kidnappers was found in John S. Labatt's car demanding $150,000 ransom on penalty of death within 24 hours, Hugh Labatt, brother of the victim, rushed to Toronto in an attempt to contact the kidnappers. He is known to have spoken several times over the telephone from his hotel room in Toronto while police inspectors stood by. (5). A mysterious figure entered the scene at the Toronto hotel when a man, known to have waited in the lobby of the hotel for some time (6) visited Hugh Labatt after several policemen had made their exit from a nearby door. Shortly after midnight of the third day, John S. Labatt, still blindfolded was released in Toronto by the kidnappers (7) who had increased their number to four. Ill for some years, suffering from a weak heart, Mr. Labatt is now reported in bed recovering from the effects of his harrowing experience. He is being carefully guarded (8) by London, provincial and R.C.M.P. police officers. While it has been officially denied, rumors are persistent that at least a part of the $150,000 ransom was paid.

Royal Academy Art Brings Better Prices

(Thos. T. Champion—C.P. Staff Writer).

LONDON, Aug. 18 (C.P.).—Attendants at the Royal Academy, which has just closed, have been 2,000 above the figure of last year. Purchasers of pictures have not increased greatly in number, but the aggregate purchase money is $10,000 above the previous year.

The highest-priced work bought this year was "Jeunesse Doree," by Gerald Brockhurst, for which Lord Leverhulme gave $1,000.

The price list is topped by "The Crypt of St. Martin-in-the-Fields," by George Harcourt, at $1,500, but this, like Mark Symon's problem picture, "The Earthly Paradise," has found no buyer, and "Burlington House," by Ernest Procter, remains unsold. Private buyers rather than galleries account for the increased sales.

Every year there are a few academy pictures which not merely fail to find purchasers but are not even taken away by their painters at the close of the exhibition.

Lancashire Plans Gift For Lord Derby

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 18. (CP). The people of Lancashire are being invited to subscribe to a gift of gold plate to the Earl of Derby, when he celebrates his 70th birthday next April. The gift is intended to indicate the appreciation and gratitude of Lancashire for his services to the county. Subscriptions will be limited to one shilling. There will also be a gift to Lady Derby.

For many generations the House of Stanley has been paramount in the social and political life of Lancashire. The present Earl sat in the House of Commons as member for Preston for many years. In early life he acted as A.D.C. to his father, who, as Lord Stanley of Preston, was Governor-General of Canada.

Lord Derby's association with the turf has always been prominent. Last year he won the derby for the first time with Hyperion.

QUEENSBORO.

Rev. Mr. Doggett and family, who have been spending the past few weeks at their summer cottage near Coe Hill, have returned. Services in the United Church were resumed on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gray, Mr. and Mrs. D. McKinnon and Gerald, and Miss Jean Bothwell, of Peterborough, were week-end visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Leslie.

Misses Fanny and Lois Shaw, of Toronto, are holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. James Moore.

Mrs. J. Wiggens and Mrs. Wyatt are spending a few days with the former's brother, Mr. M. Delyes.

Misses Grace and Doris Fleming are spending part of their holidays with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Tokley.

Quite a few of the farmers around here have been adding to their winter's fodder by cutting marsh and low land hay.

General regret was felt around Queensboro over the tragic death of Hon. J. R. Cooke. Quite a few attended his funeral.

Mrs. Breakell and Mrs. Windover, former residents of the village, accompanied by the former's son, his wife and daughter, paid a visit to some of their old friends.

The village was shocked over the sad death of Kenneth McCaw, son of Mr. Albert McCaw, a young man of 19 years of age, who was hit by a train at Keladar Station.

Sir Flinders Petrie, famous eighty-one-year-old Egyptologist, recently suffered severe injuries in his home in England and had to cancel all lecture engagements.

Koxinga was a noted Chinese patriot and pirate, who drove the Dutch out of Formosa and became king of that island.

BROADWAY REVUE COMING TO "EX"

A Brilliant Show of Singing, Dancing and Comedy Stars.

Without hesitation the directors of the Exhibition want to recommend this year's grandstand performance as one of the best arranged for in many years. Particularly Catharine Beheney's Winter Garden Revue with its company of thirty (most beautiful girls) in a brilliant piece of entertainment. Quite recently, in fact Aug. 13th, they played at Waterville, Maine, and here is what the "Morning Sentinel" from that place has to say in part:

"The crowd of several thousand that paraded from the Skowhegan fair last evening, walked away with the deepest satisfaction in their hearts as they had witnessed the most outstanding stage exhibition that had ever come into Maine. This statement stands no contradiction regardless of the fact that it was an outdoor show. The writer, hardly a critic, can truthfully reveal that he has paid several dollars for a seat to some of the biggest stage attractions in some of the largest theatres in the east, but none offered the clean, snappy and interesting amusement combined with utmost skill that was rendered by Catherne Beheney's Winter Garden Revue.

Brilliant Show

For fully two hours on a stage that had been erected over the race track in front of the grandstand, these hundred or more entertainers presented as versatile a show as Skowhegan officials have ever had the pleasure to present. Last night's show combined the afternoon vaudeville acts with the Winter Garden Revue to draw the undivided comment from the multitude.

This Winter Garden Revue comes direct from New York City. Augmenting it at the Skowhegan fair is the famous Stetson Shoe Band led by George W. Ventre. Special scenery and lighting effects turns the massive stage into a scene that could hardly be duplicated on the largest of New York stages. It is massive. Words would hardly depict the actual scene. To see it is to appreciate it."

In addition to the Winter Garden Revue the Peterborough Fair Board has secured five high class grand stand acts and guarantee the best grandstand attractions ever presented in Central Ontario.

SEEK NEW ROUTE TO ROBSON PEAK

Americans Will Try Fresh Trail on Canada's Rugged Mountain Giant.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (C.P.). — Two adventurous United States climbers plan this month to find a new route up Mount Robson, 13,972-foot giant of the Canadian Rockies.

Dr. William R. Hainesworth of New York, who with Dr. Max M. Sizumis of Philadelphia, will attempt the ascent, explained the side of usual approach involved passage under the edge of the ice cap, which is from 100 to 150 feet thick. Sections of the ice cap, he said, constantly break loose and cause avalanches.

Dr. Hainesworth previously attempted to scale Mount Robson in 1930 with several companions. He is credited with being one of the party which first ascended Mount Oubliette in the Rampart range, 11,999 feet high.

WAINMAN DISPLAY OF PHEASANTS AND OTHER RARE FOWL A FEATURE OF THE EXHIBITION NEXT WEEK

Former Peterborough Jeweller Preparing Attractive Special Exhibit.

MILLBROOK PHEASANTRY

Peacocks, Rare Doves and Pigeons Included in This Feature.

R. A. Wainman's interesting collection of pheasants and other birds of attractive plumage will be an outstanding special feature of the Peterborough Exhibition next week.

Since moving to Millbrook early in May, Mr. Wainman has transformed the spacious garden of his home into one of the show places of the village, with from fifty to one hundred visitors every Sunday, many from a distance, who are allowed the freedom of the grounds.

The Wainman display at the Exhibition will include at least sixty birds of thirty-five varieties, some of them being shown here for the first time.

They include an extensive range of pheasants, fowl that are indigenous to India, China and Japan; rare species of doves, and several specimens of pea fowl.

Mr. Wainman's only regret is that his pair of white peacocks, which he believes are the only ones of their kind in Canada, have lost their tails in moulting; and his blue peacock, which also has a tail spread of six feet in height, has also temporarily lost its chief decorative plumage.

Some of the Pheasants.

Some of the pheasants which will be brought from their Millbrook pens next week are enumerated as follows: the rather rare Swinhoe, originally from India, is a striking male bird, of dark blue, white, purple, green and black feathers.

The Reeve, another beauty, is adorned in golden, white and black colors, and normally boasts a tail of four to five feet in length. This and the Swinhoe particularly appeal to Mr. Wainman.

The Melanistic Mutant is mostly of dark green raiment.

The Golden Pheasant is as brilliant as its name suggests; and the Versicolor is also of many colors.

Others are Silver pheasants, Mongolians, Old English blacknecks, and kindred varieties from the Wainman Pheasantry.

In one pen at his home Mr. Wainman has a brood of young Chinese Ringnecks, mothered by a probably dubious Plymouth Rock hen. This year's young birds are around one hundred in number.

At least three varieties of Canadian wild fowl, Mallards, Black Ducks and Canada Geese, will be shown in the exhibit.

Ring doves, sacred white doves and Australian lace neck and crested doves, comprise an additional feature of this year's display. The public will also like the Love birds which Mr. Wainman is bringing from his Millbrook aviary.

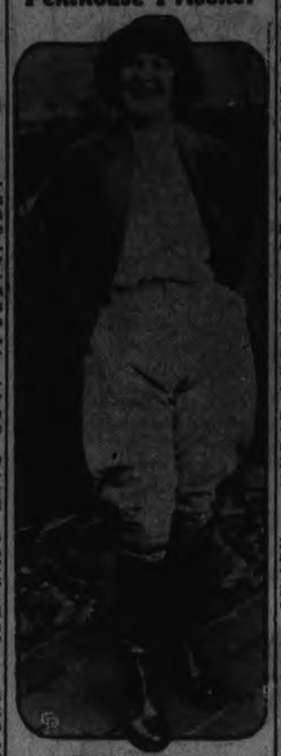
A striking group of pigeons includes: English pouters, Swallows, Jacobins, fan tails, and muff tumblers. Five varieties of fancy bantams give prominence to Japanese Frizzels whose feather are described as being upside down and Japanese Silkies, of which Mr. Wainman has about fifty in his pens.

New Garden and Pool.

The work accomplished by Mr. Wainman and his two sons in converting a neglected vegetable garden into spacious lawn bordered with beds of blooming perennial flowers, with a sunken pool supplied by running water, and laid out with several flagstone walks and other decorative features, has been a surprising accomplishments to their new neighbours and other friends in Millbrook.

The sodding of the lawn, which is now well established, was a gardening feat in itself. Shrubs and trees have been planted, and behind the perennial borders are the rows of pens that comprise the pheasantry. Gold fish swim leisurely about in the pool, and Mr. Wainman intends to add a swan before the summer is over. The work already accomplished is only the beginning of realisation of Mr. Wainman's plans. He said that he would be glad to welcome any of his old friends from Peterborough.

Penthouse Prisoner



BETTY RANDOLPH

Behind $600 in her rent, Betty Randolph of the blooded Virginia Randolphs, has been a voluntary prisoner on the eighteenth floor of a $250-month New York penthouse. The hotel has cut off the elevator service and electric lights and Betty, who went through a fortune of $5,000,000, has locked the doors and refused to budge, fearing the management would confiscate her personal belongings, valued at $1000,000 if she walks down the 276 stairs to the street.

HAVELOCK W.I.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 18. (Examiner Corrspondent). — This month's meeting of the Havelock Women's Institute was featured with a Grandmother's Day and a program appropriate to the occasion was put on by the ladies in the council chambers of the town hall yesterday afternoon. A larger attendance of the membership than usual was on hand. Twelve grandmothers graced the meeting with their presence. Mrs. R. Jones was the youngest grandmother present and Mrs. J. Archer the oldest. The lady with the most grandchildren was Mrs. Thomas Easterbrook.

The decorating scheme was carried out in the Institute colours and a long table beautifully set out was a special tribute to the visiting grandparents. Mrs. C. Hubel and Mrs. C. Roberts were on the decorating committee. Mrs. S. McGill sang sweetly while Mrs. J. Watson and Mrs. J. R. Armstrong gave readings. Mrs. Ed. Fennell played the piano for community singing. There was no business of any importance conducted and almost the entire meeting was of a purely social character. Mesdames R. Jones, C. Roberts, W. Yuill, A. Anderson and C. Hubbel were hostesses for the afternoon.

Bad Dodging

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 17. Kenneth L. White often had laughed at thep light of the driver who saw the lights of two approaching motorcycles and dodged between them, only to discover they were on a truck.

Early this morning he started from the airport with a load of mail.

He saw what he thought were tail lights of two cars parked on opposite sides of the street. The red lights were on the corners of a house, being moved along the highway.

White is recovering from his injuries.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point — Wheat, 90c to 92c; oats, 35c to 38c; barley, 50c to 60c; corn, 85c to 86c; rye, 55c to 57c; buckwheat, 60c to 62c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter and cheese were fractionally lower in price on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday, eggs holding steady at Thursday's lower levels.

Butter declined ¼c a pound, being quoted at 18¼d a pound for fresh No. 1 in car lots or less. Small lots to retailers were 20c a pound for solids and 21c for prints. Arrivals were 609 boxes.

On the cheese market, prices were ½c a pound easier. Ontario colored cheese brought 19c a pound, while Quebec cheese was prices at 18½c a pound. Receipts totalled 5,299 boxes.

Egg prices were unchanged, graded shipments of Ontario eggs in car lots or less being 23c to 24c a dozen for A-large, 21c to 22c for A-medium, 19c for B, and 18c for C. Western eggs brought 21½c to 22c a dozen for A-large, 20½c for A-medium, 19c for B, and 18c for C. Arrivals totalled 2,725 cases.

Potatoes held at 45c to 50c per 80-lb. bag for New Quebec No. 1 while No. 2 brought 35c to 40c per 80-pound bag. Old New Brunswick Mountains remained at 20c to 25c per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Severe setbacks of corn prices yesterday accompanied Eastern selling that revealed the market was without any aggressive support from buyers, and that started heavy liquidation.

An extreme fall of nearly four cents a bushel in corn was witnessed, and many stop-loss orders were forced into execution. Pit observers said that an apparently antagonistic attitude of Washington officials toward speculative operations had a decided tendency to restrain active buying power.

Corn closed nervous, 1⅛ to 2¾ under Thursday's finish. Wheat irregular at 1¼c decline to ½ advance. Oats, ¼ to 1⅛ off, and provisions varying from 10 cents loss to a gain of 5 cents.

Wheat and oat prices gave way with corn.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Scattered selling of only moderate volume was sufficient to depress values 1½c to 1⅝c on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday in a market able to muster only a minimum of support.

Downturns of 2¼ to 2⅜d at Liverpool kept traders off the buying side and there was nothing in the way of export demand to absorb the slack. Selling came chiefly from Chicago interests commission houses and country elevators.

October wheat closed at 84⅝c, December at 85¼c and May at 89¾c.

Good rains in Australia and Argentina lay behind the weakness of the English market. Chicago wheat was off more than one cent.

Cash grain quotations degenerated to a cariot proposition and coarse grains slipped off with wheat.

ACTINOLITE YOUTH IS GIVEN 3 MONTHS ON ENTERING CHARGE

Brother Escapes With Suspended Sentence—Kaladar Man Dies of Injuries.

FARMER BREAKS ARM.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, August 18. — Peter Hughes, 85, of Kaladar, died in the Belleville General Hospital on Wednesday afternoon of injuries received when he was struck by a car driven by Delbert Lewis of Fermoy, Ont., on Saturday night last, near his home. The body was shipped to Kaladar for interment. It has not been decided whether or not an inquest will be held. In their investigations after the accident the police held Mr. Lewis in no way to blame for the accident.

The aged man apparently became confused and jumped directly in the path of the car.

Mr. Hughes, a life-long resident of the Kaladar district, was talking to some friends when the accident occurred.

His skull was fractured, his collar-bone broken, while he suffered a compound fracture of the left leg, and possible internal injuries. Highway Traffic Officers Irwin and Metcalfe, together with Constable J. C. Hayes, were at the scene of the accident and conducted a full investigation.

Steven Wood, Actinolite, was sentenced to serve not less than three months determinate, nor more than two years, less one day, indeterminate, in the Ontario Reformatory, in Magistrate Casement's County Police Court held in Belleville after Wood had pleaded guilty to three charges of breaking, entering and theft.

Clifford Wood, a brother, was given six months suspended sentence after pleading guilty to one charge of theft.

The major charge against the Wood brothers was the theft of a large main drive belt of the Actinolite mine, valued at $500. The boys admitted breaking and entering the mine, later cutting the belt to procure sufficient leather for a pair of half soles. Steven Wood faced another charge of breaking, entering and theft at the Actinolite schoolhouse, and also theft of clothing, necessitating a more severe penalty.

In the same court, David Barry was sentenced to four months in the common jail after being found guilty of selling liquor.

B. C. Donovan, K.C., local Crown Attorney, conducted the prosecution throughout.

The arrest of the Wood boys was made by Chief Constable J. C. Hayes of Tweed, working in conjunction with the Ontario Provincial Police.

The apprehension of the two Wood lads glorifies the mystery rounding a number of thefts in and around Actinolite recently.

Mrs. Alex. Turcott suffered a rather nasty injury on Wednesday evening when she fell down the stairs in her home, striking her head on the bottom steps. Mrs. Turcott received a scalp wound which required several stitches at Dr. Dale's office.

George Robinson, while operating a hay fork on his farm west of Tweed, was hurled to the barn floor, resulting in a fracture to his right arm. He tumbled a distance of four feet, landing on his arm. The injured man was brought to Dr. Mather's office, where the fracture was reduced.

Sheep in England are becoming traffic-minded and evade auto traffic.

CHIEF GIMBLETT IS RE-ELECTED

Chief John Churchill of Halifax is Elected President of Fire Chiefs.

IN BROCKVILLE IN 1935.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 17 (C.P.)—Chief John W. Churchill, head of the Halifax Fire Department, was unanimously elected president of the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs just before the four-day convention of the organisation ended at the Hotel London this morning.

It was decided that the 1935 convention be held in Brockville, Ontario.

Chief Rosaire Beaulieu of Quebec City was named first vice-president and Chief D. J. De Fields of Windsor was elected second vice-president. Chief James Armstrong of Kingston was re-named secretary, his 20th election to that office, and Chief George Gimblett, head of the Peterborough department, was re-elected treasurer.

Hastings

Mr. and Mrs. T. Patterson and Miss Patterson, of Hamilton, were Wednesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Baker of Rochester, former residents of the village, are spending their vacation with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Johnson were called to Barrie on Thursday on account of the death of the former's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Baker have returned home after spending the past two weeks with relatives in Walkerville.

Mr. G. Patterson of the Bank of Toronto staff is on his vacation, which he is spending on a motor trip to Montreal and the States.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Turcotte are on a motor trip to the States.

Over fifty members of three pioneer families of Brooks, Van Volkenbergs and Davidsons held a re-union on Sunday at Delaney Clearance on the shores of the Trent.

The re-union was held in honor of Miss Jennie Van Volkenberg of Calgary, who is spending her vacation in this district. The honor of being the oldest lady at the re-union goes to Mrs. Quackenbush of Havelock, a great aunt of the Van Volkenbergs. The ladies provided a very dainty lunch, after which a family circle was formed and a very enjoyable time spent. Among those present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Redner and family of Prince Edward. Mr. Bruce Brooks and family of Port Hope, and Miss J. Van Volkenberg of Calgary.

Madoc

Mr. Ralph Martin of the Dominion Store staff, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin, of Madoc village, was operated on for appendicitis on Thursday morning. His recovery has been very satisfactory so far.

The following members of B Company, Madoc, were in camp in Picton: Capt. R. N. Broad, Capt. E. T. Naylor, Lieut. N. R. Whytock, 2nd Lieuts. D. Marett, G. White, T. Ward, C. M. Wellbridge, C.S.M. C. Havelock Albions' Street Fair, Success

HAVELOCK, Aug. 18 (Examiner Correspondent).—"The biggest and best yet," is probably the most suitable way to describe the Havelock Albion Club's monster street fair and dance held here on Thursday evening, August 16. George street, from Oak to Quebec, was completely blockaded with the Department of Public Highways snow-fencing and an up-to-date public address system having been installed, the fine music supplied by Hutchinson's augmented band was heard for more than a half a mile away.

Special features of this ever-popular musical galaxy, Regina Costello, A.T.C.M., of Downeyville, and Yodelling "Ike" from Arkansas. Steve O'Neil was the efficient floor manager. The wheel-of-fortune, bingo, and other popular games of chance were well patronised and young and old alike, lovers of the terpsichorean art enjoyed themselves into the wee sma' hours of Friday. The clubmen felt their treasury was being depleted and now glad that, as a result of the successful dance, it will be greatly replenished.

After bowling his last ball at a bowling green at Skewen, Wales, William Roos, 65, fell, struck his head on a board, and died from a broken neck.

Convicted on both charges, Waddel was assessed $10 and costs on the latter and sentence was suspended on the firearms charge, but the weapon was confiscated.

STEADY ARRIVAL OF ALL EXHIBITS OPENS TUESDAY

Midway Completed Setting Up of Its Extensive Equipment.

BIG HORSE ENTRY.

Splendid Program for in Front of Grandstand Has Been Booked.

With a tang of September in the late August air, the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition was rapidly organizing this morning in the familiar atmospheric conditions of the fall, and to the accompaniment of bustling activities of putting the big plant in order nearly a month earlier than in any other year since the Exhibition was founded in 1845.

Wallace Brothers' Midway had completed the setting up of their extensive equipment of ten shows, seven rides and other tents in their layout, and are ready to start the wheels tonight, although the rest of the Exhibition does not open until Tuesday.

Directors in charge of the various classes of livestock reported a steady arrival of exhibits this morning, indicating that this major phase of the Exhibition would be as successful as ever. A big entry of horses has been listed with the secretary, and it was believed that

VON HINDENBURG WILL FALSIFIED

Urged Restoring Kaiser, With Papen Chancellor, Says Paris Paper.

ALTERED BY GOBBELS.

PARIS, Aug. 20.—(A.P.) — The newspaper Paris Soir charged today that the will of the late President Paul Von Hindenburg of Germany had been falsified so as to eliminate a recommendation that former Kaiser Wilhelm should "succeed" him.

The newspaper said the last section of the will had been written by Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi Minister of Propaganda. It based the story, written by its Central European correspondent, on an "authentic source," the paper stated.

The newspaper said the original will was much longer than that published last week and advised Germany to return to monarachy, with Wilhelm on the throne and Franz Von Papen, now special envoy to Austria, as chancellor.

British Officers Quit Colombia In Disgust

LONDON, Aug. 20 (C.P.-Havas).—Nine disgruntled ex-officers of the British Navy, vanguard of a group of some 150 officers and sailors who went to Colombia to join that country's fleet, returned to London today and said the others would come home soon.

Off for the South American land in February, they found on arrival there that all was not as bright as they had believed. Colombia wanted them to sign contracts promising to take part in any war over a two-year period, even against Great Britain, and, furthermore, insisted on paying their salaries in domestic currency, which is worth much less than the pound sterling in exchange.

The Britons decided these terms were unacceptable. Most of them regret now that they resigned from active service in His Majesty's fleet to seek glory under another ensign.

ROCHESTER TAKES FIRST

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Aug. 20.—(A P)—Increasing an advantage gained at the start, the Conewago of the Rochester Yacht club today won the first race of the Canada's Cup series from the Invader II of the Royal Canadian Yacht club of Toronto.

Eternal Youth

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 20. — Worth, it is said approximately $360, 70 pounds of ginseng root was recovered on the Chippewa Indian reserve during the week-end by R.C.M.P. Constable J. M. Bells, who placed Eddie Hall, in whose attic it was found, under arrest on a vagrancy charge. The case has been turned over to provincial police and they are trying to find the owner of the drug.

Ginseng is a root from which a beverage much liked by Chinese is brewed. It is supposed to contain elements like the elixir of eternal youth selling for around $14 a pound.

Hall appeared before John Stuart, J. P. and was remanded until Friday.

CANADA'S TRADE UP 38 PER CENT OVER LAST YEAR

First Class Indication Dominion on Road to Prosperity Says Manion.

OTTAWA FAIR LUNCHEON.

OTTAWA, August 20 (C.P.)—This country was indeed now on its way back to prosperity, Hon. R. J. Manion stated at a luncheon to-day officially setting the Canada Central Exhibition in motion.

In total trade, for example, which was one of the best indices of world conditions, said the Minister of Railways and Canals, the Dominion for the seven months, January to July last, had increased her total volume over the same period last year by $177,000,000 or 38 per cent. This was a huge increase in times like these, he stated.

The volume of the country's exports for 1934 probably would be greater than the volume of the Dominion's exports for 1933, although the values would not agree with this. In addition, he said, never before had so large a proportion of Canadian exports represented finished products or so large a proportion of Dominion imports represented raw materials.

In such agricultural and industrial exhibitions as the present one, which had been going on in this country for about 100 years, Canada was in the van among the nations of the world.

Boost Better Products

Fairs, he stated, not only lead to better products but to better preparation of those products. The aim of the country should be for better products well prepared for the market in order to make the Dominion's world markets wider for

Children On Relief To Get Free Tickets

All Children on Relief Can Get Ticket of Admission and Free Cone.

Hundreds of children of families on relief are singing the praises of A. Wander, Limited, manufacturers of Ovaltine for their thoughtfulness in making it possible for those children to go to the Exhibition and enjoy themselves.

The company is furnishing one free admission ticket for every child as well as a ticket for an ice cream cone. If any child has not as yet secured its ticket they may be had from Miss Beavis tomorrow (Tuesday morning) at the Relief Rooms.

IROQUOIS, Ont.—Kenneth Barkley, 13, who wash thought to have been drowned in the St. Lawrence River, was located at the Indian Reservation, Cornwall Island to-day. Barkley had rowed over to to the island Sunday moring and drawn his boat up on shore. He then went with a number of Indians in another boat up the river. During their absence the strong wind which prevailed carried the boat down the river.

TOKYO. — The foreign office spokesman to-day denied foreign press statements regarding suspension of diplomatic relations between Manchukuo and the Soviet Union. There never had been a formal diplomatic relationship between the two countries, he said.

WATERS CLAIM LIVES OF FOUR, CARS 2 OTHERS

Toronto Man and Girl Step Into Channel at Wasaga Beach.

RESCUER HAS NEAR CALL.

Lad Falls in Cistern—Woman Succumbs After Crash With Transport.

(By the Canadian Press)

Six lives were claimed by accident in Ontario during the week-end, four persons victims of drowning and two dying in highway crashes. The death list included two women, a two-year-old boy.

Hector Goltz, 27, manager of a Toronto shoe store, and Miss Wilhelmina Vardan McGill, 18, of Toronto, were drowned at Wasaga Beach, about 100 miles from Toronto on Georgian Bay, about 100 miles from Toronto on Georgian Bay, when they slipped from shelving sand into the channel. Mrs. Bessie Taylor, sister of Miss McGill, was nearly drowned in attempting a rescue and was pulled ashore unconscious being revived after three-quarters of an hour of resuscitation efforts.

Two-year-old Frederick Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Richards of Galt was drowned in a cistern at his home when he fell through a trap door. The other drowning victim was Clarence Sasseck, 29, of Cleveland who met his death in Lake Nipissing when a motor boat overturned. He started to swim to an island a mile away and was lost. His 56-year-old uncle, Barney Sasseck, J. S. Curtis of Hinckley, Ohio, and Carl Koplin, Cleveland, clung to the boat for 10 hours before rescued.

Joseph Daniels, 62, of Dover township was injured fatally when struck by an auto near Galt and Mrs. James Pearie of Hamilton was injured fatally when her husband's car was struck by a transport truck near Ingersoll. The husband who was starting out with his wife on a vacation trip was injured.

TERRIFIC STORM TAKES 6 LIVES

Thirty Are Injured and Property Damage Reaches Hundreds of Thousands.

IN MINNESOTA, MICHIGAN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 (CP)—A toll of six dead, 30 injured and property damage mounting into hundreds of thousand of dollars, was counted today at two widely separated points in Minnesota and Michigan which were raked by wind and rainstorms over the week-end.

A 60-foot brick chimney toppled and wrecked a wing of the county infirmary at Houghton, Mich., Saturday night, claiming the lives of three inmates and injuring ten. As it fell presumably after being struck by lightning, the great chimney reduced two floors of the wing to tangled wreckage.

A paralytic, Fred Jarvey, 36; Miss Cordelia Trudea and Mrs. Ida Anderson, were caught in the building and killed.

In Minnesota, a number of buildings were unroofed, trees uprooted and electric poles sent crashing to the ground by the force of the gale which accompanied heavy rain squalls. A. B. Steves of St. Paul, and August Peterson, Duluth, were electrocuted by broken high-tension wires. John Hill, farmer of the Cloquet district, was crushed to death when his tiny house was blown down.

A check indicated a score were injured by the storm in Minnesota.

KINGSTON.—No trace of Thomas Kennedy, aged farmer of Murvale, missing for several days, has been found as yet and it is believed that he was lost in swamps near his home. Searching parties have been looking for him since Thursday.

Claiming he was struck by a car in which Lila Lee, screen actress, was riding and was permanently disabled by his injuries, Emilio Staine, voice teacher of Los Angeles, has filed suit for $100,000 damages. He names Miss Lee, Jack R. Peine and George Morrison as defendants.

PRESS GREETED BY BLANK WALL IN KIDNAP CASE

Both Police and Family Refuse to Divulge Information of Any Kind.

IN ROEBUCK'S HANDS.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 20 (C.P.).—Provincial police, after a sleepless week-end, to-day continued their investigations into the kidnapping and subsequent release of John Labatt, wealthy Londoner, who disappeared while en route from his summer home near Sarnia to London a week ago to-morrow morning.

Official response to all inquiries this morning brought the same negative answers that have been issued since the kidnapping victim was released early Friday morning.

At a press conference between Hon. J. C. Elliott, K.C., and newspapermen from Canada and the United States, it was revealed that Attorney-General Roebuck was not in his office in Toronto and was not expected there to-day.

Any Progress?

Another series of questions were given Mr. Elliott by the press to ask the Attorney-General over long distance telephone. They were:

(1) Has Mr. Labatt made a complete statement to the authorities?

(2) Was any ransom paid the kidnappers?

(3) Are any arrests expected shortly?

(4) Is the police trail of th e kidnappers getting any warmer?

(5) Is there any comment on Chief of Detectives Frahm's statement made in Detroit?

After writing the questions on a slip of paper, Mr. Elliott retired to another office and telephoned Mr. Roebuck's office in Toronto. A few minutes later, Mr. Elliott returned

Lad Is Shot In Head Playing With Parents

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. (AP).—Shot in the head as he sat with his baby brother in a little red wagon, two and a half year old Robert Pitts, Jr., died to-day in the South Chicago Hospital. A bullet had interrupted his happy command of "Giddap, horseys" given to his parents.

The shot was fired by one of four men riding in a sedan. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pitts, Sr., were imitating a team of horses for their children. As they drew the wagon down the sidewalk a shot rang out.

"Then Robert gave a little cry," said Pitts, "We looked around and there he was, toppled out of the wagon, a bullet hole in his head."

Pitts said the sedan sped south for a few blocks and disappeared around a corner.

The father, a janitor, asserted that he had no enemies and that he did not think the killer was aiming at him.

ENGLISH ELEVEN SCORES 90 RUNS WITHOUT A LOSS

Home Eleven Making Game Fight to Overcome Staggering Total of Australians.

FINAL "ASHES" MATCH.

Aussies Fall Short 25 Runs of Equalling All-time Record For High Score.

THE OVAL, London, Aug. 20 (C.P. Cable).—Fighting with their backs to the wall, England to-day scored 90 runs for no wickets at the close of the second day's play in the crucial Test cricket match with Australia. Earlier the Aussies were finally dismissed for a near-record first innings total of 701 runs.

The English, undismayed by the staggering Australian harvest of runs that came only 26 short of a new Test record set over valiantly to overtake their opponents. Although there was less than an hour of play left, the veterans, Herbert Sutcliffe and C. F. Walters, got the English away to a bright start with a splurge of fast scoring that had the attackers baffled. After the Australians had all been dismissed, the tall-end going fairly obeaply, W. H. Ponsford carried his score to 266 runs and then hit his wicket. It topped the 244 of Don Bradman on Saturday, when the pair set a new Test cricket partnership record by putting on 451 for the second wicket.

The match will be fought to a finish, regardless of time limit, since each country has won one of the four previous games, with two drawn.

THE OVAL, London, Aug. 20 (C. P. Cable)—The Australians were finally dismissed by England as the season's decisive test cricket match continued to-day, but not before they had rolled up the staggering total of 701 runs—just 25 runs short of the all-time test record.

The Australians resumed with 475 runs for only two wickets.

W. H. Ponsford completed a gallant innings by reaching 266 runs before he hit his own wickets. The Aussies had 574 runs on the board for four wickets with Ponsford's dismissal; after that the English

Motorcycle Races Wednesday At "Ex"

An exciting feature of Wednesday afternoon's program in front of the grandstand at the Exhibition will be two 3-mile motorcycle races over the half-mile track. It is the first that that motorcycle races have ever been included on the Exhibition and should prove a real attraction.

These dare-devil motorcycle riders will speed their machines around the ring at better than 60 miles an hour. All the drivers are amateurs but they have had years of experience in riding and racing.

There are five riders in each of the two races. One race will be from a flying start and the other from a push start, but speed and thrills will pack both speed tests as the riders whirl six times around the fast track.

Waterdown Hunting "Ghost" In Earnest

WATERDOWN, Ont., Aug. 20.—(C.P.)— The Waterdown ghost walked on Saturday night, and residents of this village no longer consider the affair in the light of a joke. All the young men of the village are patrolling the district armed to the teeth at night and it is feared that whether the ghost does any harm or not, innocent persons will be injured when some nervous marksman lets fly at an imaginary apparition.

On Saturday light it is said the ghost pounded heavily on the door of a house on the Dundas highway. The owner walked to the verandah to confront what he described as a huge figure, garbed in white, with the head of a gorilla, and long fangs protruding from its lips, in the style of King Kong. The householder rushed back into his home to summon his son. When he returned with reinforcements, the apparition had vanished.

Moon Ablaze

BOSTON, Aug. 20 (CP)—The moon sent coastguardsmen scurrying about Vineyards Sound on a wild goose chase.

The coastguardsmen received a report from Pollock Rip lightship that a ship was afire somewhere in the vicinity. They searched for several hours but found no signs of distress anywhere and finally agreed that was thought to be a burning ship was the moon, rising brilliant out of the sea.

POLICE TO SEAL KIDNAP VICTIM'S BANK ACCOUNTS

Will Have Legislature Pass Law With Necessary Authority Says Roebuck.

MAKE RACKET PROFITLESS.

OTTAWA, Aug. 20 (C.P.)—"I will ask the Ontario legislature to enact a law giving the police authority to close the bank accounts, seal the deposit vaults and generally take protective control of the affairs of all in position to pay ransom while a uniformed police force trails any person kidnapped in future," Hon. Arthur W. Roebuck, Attorney-General, stated in an interview here to-day.

Questioned closely on the Labatt mystery, Mr. Roebuck politely declined to give any new facts on that case. Nothing would be given out until he returned to Toronto, he said.

"We are anxious to solve the Labatt riddle but for the moment it can't be solved in the newspapers," the Attorney-General said. "The press will get the whole story soon, I hope."

"There are two methods and two methods only by which, as I see it kidnapping can be combatted," At-

INSULL ORDERED TO STAND TRIAL

Charged With Using Mails Fraudulently—Health Improved.

16 CO-DEFENDANTS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Samuel Insull, Sr., was refused a severance today and ordered to stand trial with his 16 co-defendants, Sept. 18 on the charge that they used the mails fraudulently in Marketing Corporation Securities Company stocks.

Insull had asked to be tried separately, assuming responsibility for the conduct of the investment house and its calamitous crash, and pleading that a trial lengthened by the multiplicity of defence might endanger his health.

U. S. District Judge James H. Wilkerson himself raised the question today of the continuation of the trial if the elderly defendant should be too ill to attend. Well enough now to venture out to the world's fair occasionally and listen to symphony orchestra concerts, Insull's physicians nevertheless have pronounced his condition fragile because of a weak heart and diabetes insipidus.

It was intimated the court might seek a precedent or establish one of allowing Insull to absent himself from the trial when his presence is not actually required—when, for example, masses of documentary evidence are being introduced.

Your Evening Smile

DRAWING THE LINE

Outside the house a taxi stopped, and the Jackson family prepared to load it up with their vacation luggage.

"I'm afraid," said the harrassed father, when he saw the look that came over the driver's face, "there's rather a lot of luggage. You see, we're going to a remote part of the country and taking a bungalow."

The driver grimaced.

"Oh, no, sir," he said, with a definite shake of his head. "You ain't taking no bungalow on my cab."

CANOE IS FOUND ON WEST COAST NEWFOUNDLAND

16 Foot Craft is Identified by Its Name, "Pride of Peterborough."

BRING CANOE HOME.

Mother Clung Tenaciously to Hope Her Boy Was Safe.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 20. — (C. P. Cable) — Any lingering hope for the safety of Jack Smith, missing canoeist from Peterborough, Ont., was abandoned today with the discovery of his empty canoe at Point La Fontaine, on the west coast of Newfoundland.

Washed in to shore at the lonely outpost, the 16-foot craft in which Smith hoped to make an ocean crossing to Peterborough, Eng., was identified by its name, "Pride of Peterborough." It was being held today at River of Ponds pending instructions.

The young canoeist was last reported when he left Gaspe in July for the next stage of his trip, a 270-mile paddle across the Gulf of St. Lawrence to Cape Ray, Nfld.

Mrs. Theresa Smith, widow mother of the intrepid sailor, was dazed by the tragic news of the finding of the canoe as it was borne to her by her son Earl, an employee of Kingdon's Barrel Factory, shortly after receipt of a despatch by The Examiner at 11 o'clock this morning. She had clung tenaciously to a hope that he would be found alive and safe ever since he was last sighted battling a heavy sea thirty miles out from Gaspe as the sun was setting on the evening of July 21.

A wireless report that Smith's body had been found, received early in August, prepared the

FAIR DELIGHTS AWAIT CHILDREN

Children's Day at Exhibition To-morrow Will Get Show Off to Big Start.

FULL PROGRAM.

The Exhibition will get off to a flying start tomorrow afternoon when thousands of children will invade the big Fair grounds to investigate its delights and wonders.

Everything will be in full swing for the children. The Midway will be in operation; all exhibits will be in place this afternoon, and the big troupe of acrobats, funny clowns, singers and dancers, trapeze artists and others included in the grandstand performance will put on their full show to entertain the young audience.

The show in front of the grandstand will start at 1.30. Included on the program is a large program of races for school children, girls and boys of all ages, with many valuable prizes. Then the galaxy of acrobats and performers will then entertain the children for many happy hours.

Judging of flowers will take place during the afternoon.

In the evening another full performance will take place before the grandstand. Exhibition Board directors are satisfied that the grandstand show this year is the best ever to be obtained by the Exhibition. It has many new features and is sure to please old and young.

Aldermen Split Up Hon. Croll's Salary

WINDSOR, Aug. 20. (CP)—When Mayor David A. Croll became Hon. David A. Croll, Minister of Welfare and Municipal Affairs, he said that though he continued in office as mayor he would not draw the salary allocated that office. That was effective July 15.

To-day members of the council decided to divide the salary among themselves on the grounds that each in turn is "acting mayor" during the absence of Mr. Croll.

Alderman Curry, at present acting mayor said: "I do not think any citizen expects anybody to work for nothing up here," as he supported the resolution which was opposed only by Alderman John Duck.

Opposition to Hitler is Gaining Ground

SUNDAY BALLOT REVEALS "NO" ON 10 P.C. VOTES

Only 89 Per Cent. Citizens Vote as Against 90 Last November.

NAZI CONFIDENT.

Declare Day Set Aside to Celebrate Leaders New Conquest.

BY ELMER W. PETERSON
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Germany has given Adolf Hitler a thirty-eight million vote "ja".

In Sunday's one-man election, called to let the people say by ballot if they approved Chancellor Hitler's action in naming himself, upon the death of President Von Hindenburg, as president too, the vote was:

"Yes"—38,362,760; "No"—4,294,654; "Invalid"—872,296.

Some see in these preliminary official figures a waning in enthusiasm for Hitler, pointing out that yesterday's "no" votes were more than twice the number cast in last November's plebiscite. Attention is also called to the sharp decline in the volume of Nazi party votes as compared with the November Reichstag election the Nazi vote was 39,668,224.

With but few exceptions, the 35 major voting district produced in yesterday's election fewer "Ja" votes than were cast in November. Some observers see this as a failure of German voters to respond to the appeals of Nazi orators during the past few days that a larger affirmative vote be cast so that world might know the nation is solidly behind "Mein Fuehrer"—President Chancellor Hitler.

"Yes" votes placed 89.9 percent of the total, as against 95 percent in the plebiscite of nine months ago.

The public cast a total of 43,529,710 votes, according to preliminary final figures, or approximately 95 percent of the whole 45,202,697 registered, qualified voters.

Regardless of how the balloting may be interpreted abroad, the results have been accepted by Nazis as full evidence of their strength.

Today has been set aside as a "day of victory" with Nazi flags unfurled throughout the third Reich in celebration of the new conquest. The victory came after a day of quiet, orderly voting, unmarred by disturance. There were scenes of wild enthusiasm when the polls closed.

In Berlin thousands stood for hours in rain in front of the chancellery hoping for a glance of Hitler. Women in summer dresses were drenched but still cheered for "Der Fuehrer" long after midnight.

Marching columns of men added to the formalities of the victory celebration, but the rain stopped a scheduled torchlight procession. Hitler himself did not vote.

Support Slipping

The results of the voting showed a distinct loss of his support in certain provinces and major voting districts. Hamburg voting district, where Hitler, ironically enough, made his personal campaign appeal, showed a sharp drop, compared to the November balloting. Instead of 736,404 "Yes" votes turned out then, there were only 650,873 votes of approval, of 71.5 per cent for the district, a former Communist stronghold.

East Prussia, which is dominated by the large land-holding interests, rolled up a 97.1 per cent affirmative vote, but cast less approval ballots than it did in 1933. The Oppeln voting district, which is strongly Catholic, provided 733,216 affirmative votes, as again 836,459 in the November balloting, the percentage dropping from 95.5 to 90.8.

The Province of Pomerania, a home of small farmers, polled 1,185,359 votes of approval, compared to 1,178,403 for last November.

In the Berlin district 234,556 persons voted against Hitler, while 986,334 voted for him. Ballots of 32,235 persons were declared void.

The failure of Hitlerism to exceed past election results is expected in political circles to influence the Nazi program.

Lindsay Child Is Bitten By Pet Dog

LINDSAY, Aug. 20. (Special to The Examiner).—Joan Fletcher, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher, town, is in the Ross Hospital suffering from serious lacerations in the face.

A pet collie belonging to the family attacked the little girl at her home during the week-end and mauled her so badly that an anesthetic had to be administered before the lacerations could be sewn up. The child will be scarred for life.

The dog had been chained during the day and it was allowed its freedom at night. It is believed that it became ugly while under restraint.

Germany's "Big Three"—Hermann Goering, Adolph Hitler and Gen. Werner von Blomberg, chief of staff of army, pay a joint tribute to late President von Hindenburg at Tannenburg memorial. The medals Goering is sporting give point to sarcasm of his rival for a place in the triumvirate, Paul Goebbels, minister of propaganda. Over Reichwide radio hookup, Goebbels said: "He (Hitler) never goes strutting around in a brilliant uniform covered all over with decorations!"

Well Lined

HAMILTON, O., Aug. 20 (C. P.) — Workmen rasing an old building found an ancient nickel-in-the-slot piano on the second floor and decided it would be easier to drop it to the ground than to carry it down.

They did—and a moment later 20 workmen were scrambling for a bushel basketful of nickels which rolled out.

RIOTING SWEEPS ILLINOIS PRISON

One is Shot, 23 Hurt and $50,000 Property Damage is Done.

NONE ESCAPE.

PONTIAC, Ill., Aug. 20 (AP)—Rioting which left one man dead, 23 hurt and state property worth $50,000 destroyed Saturday at the Illinois State Reformatory, was the results of a general prison delivery plot, Warden O. H. Lewis said today.

Evidence so far gathered, investigators said, indicated that between 20 and 25 of the "tougher" prisoners in the south and west cell houses were the nucleus of the conspiracy.

The riot broke out when two prisoners began a fist fight as the prisoners were watching a baseball game between the prison and a Springfield, Ill., team. Guards attempted to separate the fighters, but prisoners assailed the guards, and within a few minutes were tearing through the grounds, breaking into buildings and destroying stored materials, screaming, shouting and throwing stones.

Guards said afterwards that most of the 2,400 inmates took no part in the riot.

A concerted rush at the southern wall of the prison by a comparatively small band of the convicts led to a warning volley over their heads from rifles of the guards. When this failed to check the rush, a volley was fired directly at the mob. Most of the injuries were gunshot wounds in the legs and bruises.

A small group took refuge in the prison print shop. Seeing their fight was hopeless, the prisoners set fire to the building, and surrendered. The shop, with its stored materials, was destroyed.

The prisoner slain was Leo Pielik, 24, sentenced to one to ten years in 1932 from Chicago for larceny. Two others, Elmer Hawkins, 23; of Lasalle, Ill., and Stanley Gall, 20, of Chicago, were seriously wounded, but physicians expected both to recover. The 21 other men in the hospital, which included several guards beaten by prisoners, were victims of various minor injuries.

U.S. LIFTS DUTY LIVESTOCK FOOD

Canada to Benefit as Result of Drought Across Border.

PRICES MOUNTING.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (A.P.)—United States government officials to-day designed immediate steps to keep the margin of profit between the farm and the retail counter from getting too wide.

The drought, they said, was forcing up rapidly the prices paid to farmers for their products. But their information indicated, too, the prices paid across retail counters were rising even more rapidly.

The agriculture department was ready to use every means at its command to warn consumers against inordinate price increases and to prevent speculation and profiteering. It got a promise of support from the National Food and Grocery Distributors, which represents 6,000 food wholesalers and jobbers and 360,000 retailers.

Meantime, President Roosevelt gave official recognition to the seriousness of the situation by moving to help the farmers get enough feed for their livestock. He signed a proclamation declaring an emergency and directing the lifting of import duties of livestock feed to be shipped into the United States, principally from Canada. Regulations to effectuate the new policy are being drafted by the treasury and agriculture departments.

Principal imports under this action are likely to be hay and some feed grains. Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace declared the principal problem created by the drought was the feeding of livestock, since pastures, hay, feed grains and natural and emergency forage crops have been blighted alike by the drought. Wheat probably will not be included on the duty-free list.

BRANTFORD HAY, POTATOES SHORT

Former Crop Selling for $20, With Little Changing Hands.

2 SHOWERS SINCE JUNE.

BRANFORD, Aug. 20. (C.P.) — While loose hay is quoted at $20 a ton here, the price is a nominal one with little changing hands. Few hay growers have enough to take care of their own needs, and there will have to be importation to meet the demands.

The potato crop is also reported to be so short the supply in Brant will not be sufficient for ordinary needs, and importations will have to be made. One potato grower, with five acres in, said that his field would not be worth digging.

Since June 18, there has been only one good shower. Including June 18 there have been but two showers since Spring planting, the lightest rainfall on record here.

The turnip crop will be small, and the corn for silage is only about a half crop. The only pasturage at present of any value is along the roadside ditches, where what little moisture came down was most effective. Apples will also be very scarce owing to the drought. An hour's rain this afternoon was welcome, but does not begin to meet the need.

RUMOR ARRESTS COMING SHORTLY IN LABATT CASE

Police Remain Silent, Refusing to Deny or Confirm Reports.

WINDSOR HUB OF SEARCH.

Toronto Minister Claims He Was Called by Gang Giving Release Details.

(By Ernest Burritt—C.P. Staff Writer).

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 20 (C.P.)—Unconfirmed rumors of pending arrests that have arisen repeatedly within the last three days to-day marked the only development in the kidnapping case of John S. Labatt.

Police continued to remain silent. No one would give assurance there were any grounds for reports officers had found some trace of the gang that abducted the wealthy London brewer and held him captive until after a reputed payment of $60,000.

Provincial authorities were said to be confining their search along the border area of Windsor and Detroit, but there was nothing official to indicate police activities were being intensified there.

The apartment house where John has lived with his brother Hugh since release by his captors last Friday morning was unguarded by police for the second day, and all remained quiet around the home. Labatt was said by members of the family to have recovered sufficiently from shock and exhaustion from his long ride while blindfolded in the kidnap car to "be up and around the house." His physician, Dr. W. J. Tillman, was out of the city for the week-end, and was due to visit his patient to-day.

Miller in Charge.

Any progress by police is being reported to Chief Inspector John Miller of the Provincial force at Toronto, and all possible sources of information have been sealed by orders of the Attorney-General, Hon. Arthur Roebuck. Only by him will details of the case be disclosed.

No members of the Labatt family have appeared outside the home since the millionaire was released in Toronto early last Thursday morning, and then came here by motor with his brother Hugh, who had remained there two days to contact the kidnappers. Mrs.

Thomasburg

Mrs. Kemp and daughter were guests for a few days of Rev. Mr. Herrington and Mrs. Herrington, and have returned to their home in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. James Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carter have returned home after spending a few days at Charlie Bishop's cottage at Detlor.

Pauline Coulson has returned to the home of her aunt, Mrs. James Arbuckle, in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Badgely and children spent Sunday at Belleville, where they visited Mrs. Badgely.

Mrs. Walter Harrison and granddaughter, Betty Burleigh, spent Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Damon McCannon.

Ruth Coulson is spending her holidays at Sulphide with her aunt, Mrs. Millard Young.

The W.M.S. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Joe Chapell recently, with Mrs. James Bateman in the chair. A letter was read from Mrs. Dafoe of Madoc of the missionary work. Packing a bale was discussed. The rally for Thomasburg is to be held November 2. It was moved by Mrs. Joseph Chapell and seconded by Mrs. George Walker that they take up the study book next year. A very delightful musical program with solos and readings brought the meeting to a close.

Faith

NEW YORK, Aug. 20 (C.P.)—Four-year-old Joan Petersen's faith in her "Daddy" has been rewarded.

She slipped away from her father in Grand Central subway station, boarded an express train and went for a ride until she became tired. She left the train and went to sleep on a station bench.

Meanwhile, the anxious father, Rudolph Petersen, had notified police and a patrolman finally found Joan still asleep in the subway station.

"Daddy will come," she said confidently.

"Daddy" did.

YOUNG MAN HAS CLOSE ESCAPE

Alertness of Helen Coughlan and Dr. J. A. MacDonald Saves Drowning Youth.

VISITOR AT HASTINGS.

HASTINGS, Aug. 20 (Examiner Correspondence)—The Trent River came within a few seconds of claiming the first drowning of the season on Saturday morning. A young man, a visitor at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Tombridge decided to take a dip and in company with Cliff Tombridge went down to the waterfront across from Dr. J. A. MacDonald's office. After a short time the Tombridge youth went home and left the other boy bathing. Miss Helen Coughlan walking on Trent street about eleven thirty saw the man going down and realized he was in difficulty. She ran screaming into Dr. MacDonald's office, the latter ran immediately to the edge of the water but there was no sign of the youth. The Coughlan girl pointed out the spot where she saw him going down. The doctor with all his clothes on dived in and grasped the youth by the hair, by this time a large number of people had been attracted to the scene and Paul Bailey waded in and assisted Dr. MacDonald to bring the youth to shore, where after a few minutes of artificial respiration he was revived.

The young man who has been visiting in Hastings the past week would certainly have met a watery grave in less than another minute if it had not been for the alertness of the Coughlan girl and Dr. MacDonald's quick response to her call for help.

NAZIS PREPARE NEW TERROR LIST

800 "Enemies of Reich" to be Punished for Their Political Offenses.

LEAN TO MONARCHISTS.

LONDON, Aug. 20 (C.P.-Havas).—A new "terror list" containing 800 names of "enemies of the Reich" to be persecuted for their offences against the Third Reich as soon as Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler rides to power has been drawn up, the Laborite Daily Herald says, in a front-page story published Saturday.

The paper claimed that it had its formation from 'private sources.'

Eminent Jews, members of the former Social Democratic and Catholic Centre parties, as well as leaders of secondary political groups now dissolved, make up the list, the Herald said.

These persons, it added, have thus far escaped persecution, but repressive measures are now being planned.

"The Nazi Government believes," wrote the Herald, "that in engaging in a campaign of bloody repression against those who contributed most to the Government before the Hitlerite era will escape the vengeance of a ruined nation"

The Daily Telegraph in an editorial captioned "Coercive Elections," attached little credit to the results of the German prebiscite. It added that Hitler leaned on his own Reichstag while casting glances towards the Monarchists for help. "The orientation of his spirit will cause considerable anguish to all of Germany's neighbors," the Telegraph said.

2 BALLOONISTS FAIL TO BREAK HEIGHT RECORD

Belgians Travel 1,100 Miles in Day But Ascend Only Ten Miles.

LAND IN YUGOSLAVIA.

Make Valuable Cosmic Ray Discoveries—Craft Saved Intact.

MARIBOR, Yugoslavia, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A balloon that raced through the cloudless stratosphere in the arms at times of a 70-mile wind, spanning 1,100 miles between dawn and dusk, has come to a happy landing.

Lost in the unexplored skies after its small wireless messaged a dramatic "S.O.S." and then became silent, the balloon of the Belgian scientists, Max Cosyns and Nerve Vanderlist, dropped out of the sky Saturday night into a corn field near Zinovije, safe and undamaged.

In its journey at express train speed from Hourhavenne, Belgium, to its Yugoslavian landing place, the balloon failed to set a new height mark, doing no better than 10,000 meters (approximately 10 miles), but the flight was productive, according to Professor Cosyns, of "scientific observations of the highest value.

"I made certain discoveries and deductions respecting the movements and effects of cosmic rays which I think will be a great value to science," the Belgian professor told the Associated Press.

Cosyns and Vanderlist spent most of yesterday dismantling the balloon and arranging for the shipment back to Belgium of the records obtained during the flight. The Yugoslav Government provided much assistance in this work, furnishing trucks for the transportation of the equipment to Muraka Sabota.

Peasants Flee In Terror.

As the balloon slowly descended Saturday night, peasants in the vicinity of Zinovije were stricken with terror, some of them, believing the balloon to be of an infernal origin, fled.

The descent was made about 9 o'clock at night, just as dusk had settled over the farm lands. After the first signs of fear among the peasants and villagers had disappeared, willing hands took hold of the ropes and pulled the craft gently to earth.

The scientists were at the point of exhaustion. Cosyns was dazed and bewildered as he stepped from the gondola. Vanderlist was little better off." Both fell flat to the grounds from sheer weakness, and both were running a fever and suffering from acute nervous exhaustion.

Nevertheless, both said that the flight had been without any particular discomfort. They could have continued flying another 20 hours or more, they thought, but saw nothing could be gained by it.

Professor Cosyns expressed surprise when he learned he had landed in Yugoslavia. He had thought they were over Czechoslovakia. Even after the landing it was some time before word of their safety could be sent out. Cosyns explained that he had no Yugoslav money to pay for telegrams to Brussels and was able to send the message only after a farmer had lent him the money.

Cream Vendors Asked To Remain By Code

Confusion in regard to cream prices prevailed at the Farmers' Market here Saturday. A number of farmers offered their product at the old price, 20 cents per pint for table cream and 25c cents for whipping cream, while others adhered to the new code prices, 35 and 40 cents.

Although the Milk Control Board of Ontario, during its visit to the city last week, stated no intention of interfering directly in connection with the prices on the Farmers' Market, J. E. Houck revealed that letters would be sent by the Board to the farmers selling on the market. They will be reminded of the Board's power of withholding distributors' licenses and will be asked to adhere to the code scale adopted for Peterborough. Particular attention will be given by the Board to those farmers who not only sell cream on the market but also deliver milk and cream about the city on market days.

A number of those who distribute cream on the market have not the licenses required by the Ontario law. It is understood that a check-up in this regard is to be made by large local distributors and names forwarded to the Board.

ENSHRINE PACT SEALING PEACE LONG ENDURING

Treaty of 1817 Ensuring Amity Along U.S.-Canadian Border Line.

SEPTEMBER CELEBRATION.

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont., Aug. 20. (C.P.)—Of seven sentences only, but a veritable marathon among the pacts of history, the Rush-Bagot agreement of 1817 between the United States and Great Britain, will be commemorated with due ceremony in the Four-Nation celebrations at Fort Niagara, on the American side of the border river, Sept. 3-6. The treaty is one of the world's lengthiest in scope of operation and effective duration.

Three years of war between Great Britain and the United States, fought largely along the Canadian frontier, ended in 1815 with the Treaty of Ghent. But it was the agreement negotiated at Washington between Richard Rush U.S. secretary of state and Sir Charles Bagot, the British ambassador, which provided the firm foundation for peace. Unusually brief for such far reaching results this document has already secured 117 years of international amity along the world's second longest international frontier, extending 3,986 miles from sea to sea.

Incidentally the Rush-Bagot treaty was the first naval limitation agreement entered into by the United States. In fact the agreement simply committed the contracting parties to the limitation of armaments on the Great Lakes. But the spirit of the international goodwill it created and fostered has by tacit extension prevailed along the entire United States-Canadian frontier as civilization and colonization moved toward the setting sun on both sides of the border.

To recall the consummation of the treaty and the resulting era of peace, now in its second century, representative British, French American and Canadian men and women will attend the celebrations in September. One of the major events of the four-day program will be the unveiling of an imposing sandstone monument to the Rush-Bagot treaty. The memorial will surmount the Lake Ontario parapet of historic old Fort Niagara, whose complete restoration to ancient splendor the celebration will also mark.

Text of Treaty

The proclamation of the treaty by President James Monroe on April 28, 1818, follows:

"Whereas an arrangement was entered into in the city of Washington, in the month of April, in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventeen, between Richard Rush, Esq., at that time acting as secretary for the Department of State of the United States, and the right honorable Charles Bagot, His Britannic Majesty's envoy extra-ordinary and minister plentipotentiary, for and in behalf of His Britannic Majesty; which arrangement is in words following, to-wit:

"The naval force to be maintained upon the American Lakes, by His Majesty and the Government of the United States, shall henceforth be confined to the following vessels on each side, that is:

"On Lake Ontario, to one vessel, not exceeding one hundred tons burden, and armed with one eighteen-pound cannon.

"On the upper lakes, to two vessels, not exceeding like burden each and armed with like force.

"All other armed vessels on these lakes shall forthwith be dismantled, and no other vessels of war shall be there built or armed.

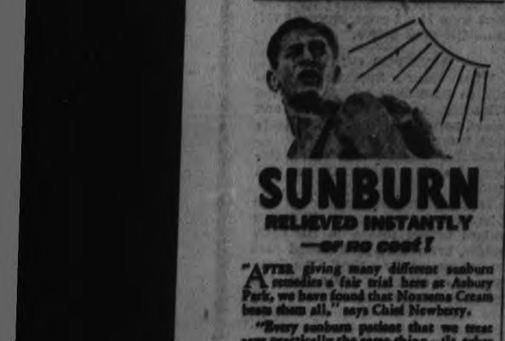
"If either party should be desirous of annuling this stipulation and should give notice to that effect to the other party, it shall cease to be binding after the expiration of six months from date of such notice.

"The naval force so to be limited shall be restricted to such services as will in no respect interfere with the proper duties of the armed vessels of the other party.

"And whereas the Senate of the United States have approved of the said arrangement and recommended that it should be carried into effect; the same having also received the sanction of His Royal Highness, The Prince Regent, acting in the name and on behalf of his Britannic Majesty.

"Now, therefore, I, James Munroe, President of the United States, do, by this my proclamation, make known and declare that the arrangement aforesaid, and every stipulation thereof, has been duly entered into, concluded and confirmed, and is of full force and effect.

"Given under my hand, at the city of Washington, this twenty-eighth of April, in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighteen and of the independence of the United States, the forth-second."



SUNBURN
RELIEVED INSTANTLY
—or no cost!

"AFTER giving many different sunburn remedies a fair trial here at Asbury Park, we have found that Noxzema Cream beats them all," says Chief Newberry.

"Every sunburn patient that we treat says practically the same thing—'It takes the fire and pain out the moment you put it on and heals the burned skin quickly.'"

No need to suffer from painful sunburn this summer. Spread Noxzema on promptly—it soothes—cools—ends pain instantly. And if applied before exposure, it prevents sunburn and allows the skin to take on an even, healthy tan. It's greaseless and cannot stain clothes. Get a jar now as any good drug or department store.

Couple Observes 58th Anniversary

HAVELOCK, Aug. 20 (Examiner Correspondence), — Mr. and Mrs. Friman Haig are receiving the congratulations of their friends on the fifty-eight anniversary of their marriage at Brighton, when Adelaide Van Dell of Cramahe became the bride of Firman Haig of Haldimand, Aug. 18, 1876.

For thirty-eight years Mr. Haig was employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway, retiring about ten years ago with a pension from the company. Until three years ago each summer was spent at their cottage at Round Lake where both spent hours each day boating and fishing. An accident when Mrs. Haig sustained a fractured arm a few years ago when she fell while stepping into their boat and another when she overbalanced in the same manner put a stop to her fishing activities, and now their summers are spent at their home in the village where Mr. Haig has a fine vegetable and flower garden, that is his pride and delight.

Five children, thirteen grandchildren are the outcome of the union of fifty-eight years ago. The sons are Peter of Havelock, Benjamin of Toronto, and Firman, Jr., of Montreal. The daughters are Mrs. William Paige of Chatham and Mrs. John Howley of London. A son and a daughter, Elmore (Doc.) and Mary (Mrs. T. Paige) both died in 1925 just nine months apart.

Eight years ago Mr. and Mrs. Haig celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their summer home, when their entire family was present with children and grandchildren.

Will They Be Reconciled At Last?

At the same time a Hollywood photographer snapped Mary Pickford, screen star, entering her beautiful home, "Pickfair," upon her arrival from a business trip to the east, a New York cameraman caught her estranged husband, Douglas Fairbanks, waving a cheery greeting to New York as he returned to the United States following a long stay abroad. Neither would comment upon the possibility of a reconciliation.

RUMOR ARRESTS COMING SHORTLY

Labatt and her two older children remained home from church yesterday to avoid a battery of cameramen and reporters who visited nearly every church in the district in hopes of obtaining pictures or an interview.

No inward calls were put through by the telephone company and all personal enquiries were referred to R. C. Ivey, personal solicitor to the family, who in turn, referred them to Mr. Roebuck.

Pastor a Go-between

Rev. B. C. Eckardt, pastor of the Church of Christ's Disciples, claimed during the week-end he was a go-between chosen by the kidnappers to inform John S. Labatt's brother Hugh when release of the victim occurred. Mr. Eckardt said three men were in London at midnight Thhrsday when Mr. Labatt was released. These men, he said, wanted to have the family informed of the kidnapped man's release.

The minister said he was called by telephone on the Fairmount exchange and asked to communicate with Hugh Labatt through Hugh's wife in London. Mr. Eckhardt said he was instructed to tell the family John Labatt would be released before morning and about the time he received the message Mr. Labatt appeared at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto to be reunited with his brother Hugh.

When he entered the study of his church a few minutes before the telephone call, the minister said he noticed three men parked in an automobile outside the church door. After the call the men had departed, he declared.

Blame U S Gang

Police apparently are convinced a United States gang was involved and members of the kidnap band are thought to be still in hiding in Western Ontario where police rushed yesterday. Inspector H. Gardner of the provincial forces made a 15-hour trip to an undisclosed point accompanied by Detective Sergeant Frank Crowe of the Toronto force, returning to their hotel here at one o'clock Sunday morning. At 10 o'clock yesterday morning they left the hotel again, returning at three o'clock to disappear again.

Mr. Labatt was said to have smelled pine while a captive, leading to the belief the hideaway was in Muskoka but there are also pine trees close to the place he was kidnapped, on the Edgremont road on the way from his Sarnia beach home to London. Pine trees are so thick in this district, it was said by one authority, "A person could live there a lifetime and not be found."

VOTING TO-DAY IN NORTH GREY AND WELLINGTON

Liberal Candidates Go Into Fray With Optimistic Words From Hepburn.

EXPECT HEAVY BALLOT.

(By The Canadian Press)

Voting to fill two vacancies in the Ontario Legislature will take place to-day in the ridings of North Grey and South Wellington after a week's campaigning. Pol's are due to open at 9 a.m. and close at 5 p.m.

The Liberal candidates were sent into the fray with optimistic words from Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, who concluded the North Grey campaign in behalf of Roland Patterson of Owen Sound, the Liberal candidate. Mr. Patterson is opposed by E. N. Cooper, Independent Conservative, and Maurice Christie, C.C.F. candidate.

Appointment of D. J. Taylor, the Liberal member, as Deputy Minister of Games and Fisheries, caused the vacancy in North Grey, while the death of D. Paul Munro, K.C., in an auto crash July 1 resulted in the South Wellington by-election.

A straight fight between a Liberal and a Conservative is taking place in South Wellington, with Dr. J. H. King carrying the Liberal banner and R. B. Robson, Mayor of Guelph, running as a Conservative. Mr. Munro carried the Liberal standard to victory in the Ontario general elections June 19, with a large majority over Mayor Robson.

C. C. F. Prepared

Mr. Christie wound up his C.C.F. campaign in North Grey with a meeting in Meaford Saturday night following the Liberal gathering. He also held a meeting in Owen Sound. Mr. Cooper, the Independent Conservative, has depended on an advertising campaign and has held no meetings.

Although farmers are in the midst of harvesting operations the vote is expected to be quite heavy in both constituencies. Five Cabinet Ministers joined in appealing for support of the Liberal representative in South Wellington. Premier Hepburn also made an appeal in Dr. King's behalf and in his address in both ridings he launched attacks against the Dominion administration, urging reciprocity with the United States; something, he said, would not be brought about until a Liberal Governmentw as in power.

Mayor Robson, who entered the by-election August 12, was charged by Liberal speakers with entering the fight on the promptings of Conservatives at Ottawa. He has held no public meetings.

TORONTO WOMAN KILLED IN CALGARY CITY CRASH

CALGARY, Aug. 20.—(C.P.)—An automobile collision on a city street intersection which resulted in the death of one person and the injury of three others will have its sequel in police court here to-day.

Mrs. J. C. Clemes of Forest Hill, Toronto, was killed, while Patrick Beach, and W. L. Parrish, of Edmonton, and A. Woodehouse, of Calgary, received painful injuries. D. C. Phillips, of Windsor, an occupant of the car which collided with one driven by Woodhouse, will be given preliminary hearing on the manslaughter charge.

Beach is suffering from a punctured pelvis and other internal injuries. Physicians at the hospital to which he was removed after the accident, stated his condition was grave.

Mrs. Clemes was riding in the car driven by Parrish. Details of the accident could not be obtained from the injured.

TANNERS BLANK OUTLAWS 12-0

Hastings Game Called After Fourth Innings on Account of Darkness.

EXECUTIVE TO DECIDE.

(Examintr Correspondence)

HASTINGS, Aug. 20. — The two bitter rivals in the local softball league clashed on Friday night when the Tanners defeated the Outlaws 12 to 10 before a bumper crowd of rabid supporters of both teams.

The Outlaws are leading the league with the Tanners right on their heels and the game meant a lot to both aggregations. The game only went four innings on account of darkness. The matter will have to be threshed out at an executive meeting to find out if the game will be counted or not. The Tanners were on the diamond ready to play before 6.30, but their opponent did not take the field until almost seven. Players must realize that the evening's are shorter now and with every fixture an important one from now on they should be on time.

Both pitchers were touched up quite freely and their support was of the in and out kind in the bitter four-inning battle.

Weddings

McCAREY—PHILLIPS

MARMORA, Aug. 20 (Examiner Correspondence).—A charming wedding took place in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marmora, at 2 p.m., on Saturday, the contracting parties being Hilda May, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillips of Marmora, and Lindsay Edward, son of Mrs. Samuel McCarey of Madoc.

The church was beautifully decorated with summer blooms, the windows being bedecked with flowers in addition to the altar and chancel. The rector, Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell, officiated, and Miss Annie Bailey, a relative of the bride, presided at the organ for the playing of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus, and other appropriate wedding music.

The popularity of the bride, who has been on the staff of Marmora Public School for a number of years and also has taught the senior girls' class at St. Paul's Sunday School, was evidenced by the large congregation present, many having to stand. She was attired in a long, white lace dress and wore a veil and white silk shoes. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath.

Miss Ina Phillips, sister of the bride, as brideesmaid, wore a long pink organdie dress with hat to match and white shoes. She also carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Charles Phillips of Madoc carried out the duties of best man.

Later in the day the happy couple left on a motor trip to Timmins and Cobalt and upon their return will reside in Madoc.

Bensfort

Mr. Thomas Dawson is spending a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Hadrill Dawson, Baillieboro.

Miss Jean Stinson of Millbrook visited friends in the district on Wednesday. Miss Stinson will be returning on Sept. 4 to resume her duties as teacher at Lakeview school. Her two entrance pupils, Jean Monerief and Trevor Wood, were successful in obtaining their high school entrance examinations.

Miss Beryl Wood of Peterborough is spending her holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wood.

Miss Mourine Fisher is visiting friends at Mount Julian.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Perrin have returned to Peterborough after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Perrin.

Mr. Jim Lewis of Cobourg is visiting friends in the district.

Miss Margaret Fisher and Master Walter Fisher are visiting Mrs. George Berry of Centerville.

Mr. W. C. Dawson, Mrs. Thomas Dawson and Mr. Charles Fisher, motored to Exeter on Saturday to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dawson.

Miss Helen Howson who attended Port Hope high school last term was successful in passing her Middle School examinations for third form. Congrstulations are also extended to Florence Bebee who obtained five of her Lower School subjects.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nurse motored to Peterborough on Friday.

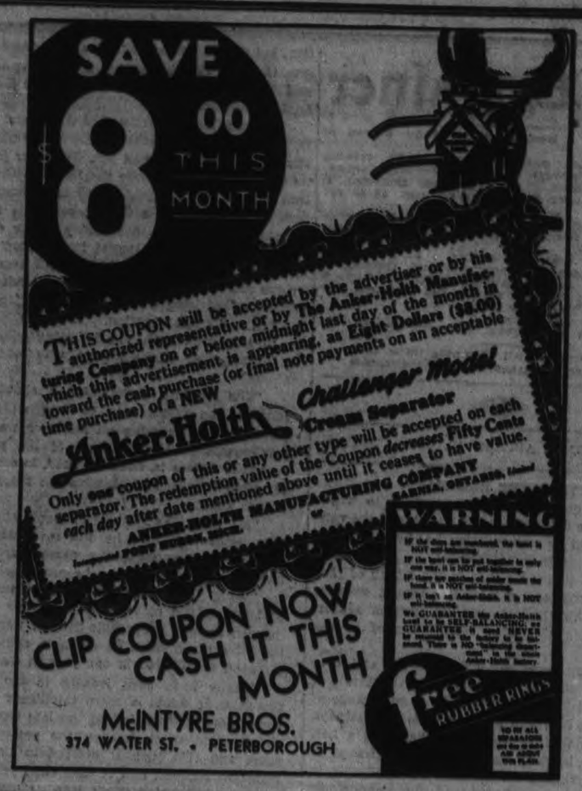
ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER



To Charge Driver Reckless Driving

Gordon Maybee, of Toronto, and two transients riding in his car, escaped unscathed early Saturday evening when the car overturned on the water-trough hill on Highway 28 after hitting a car driven by Joseph Dwyer, this city.

The accident was investigated by Highway Patrol Officer A. E. Hornick, who will charge Maybee with reckless driving. His investigations showed that Maybee, driving toward Peterborough, came over the hill at a high rate of speed. He overtook the Dwyer car, but at the same time a car approached from the opposite direction. Maybee jammed on his brakes, struck the rear of the Dwyer car, ran off the side of the road, climbed a steep bank and then overturned. His car was badly damaged.

HITTING THE RAILWAYS.

Something definite as to the extent to which motor trucks are cutting into the business of the railways is furnished by a survey that has been made by the State Planning Board of Kansas.

It has been discovered that in the month of May of this year 71,000 tons of interstate freight consigned to points within the state came in by truck against about 15,000 tons of similar freight carried by the railways.

The Planning Board will make a second and more detailed survey covering the month of October.

While it was realized that a large percentage of freight business has been diverted from the railways, it is surprising to find that about four and a half times as much is being carried on the highways as by rail, if the figures for Kansas are applicable in other sections of the continent, and they undoubtedly are.

The Kansas authorities by instituting these surveys have supplied concrete information on a matter that has been the subject of much speculation.

A FATAL MISTAKE.

It is not surprising to find that citizens of all shades of politics who are interested in game and fish conservation and who realise its importance to the tourist industry are protesting against the proposed discharge of fish and game inspectors and the saddling of the enforcement of the game laws upon the provincial police.

The Examiner, which for years has been stressing the necessity of greater protection for our reserves of game fish and wild life generally, feels that in a district such as this it would be a fatal mistake to abandon the present machinery and to expect the provincial police, who have many other duties to perform, to give anything like adequate inspection and provide anything approaching proper enforcement.

The present inspector, Fred. Marshall, has impressed everyone who has come into contact with his work as a zealous, intelligent officer, genuinely interested in protecting the wild life of the district and discharging his duties with enthusiasm as well as with good judgment.

It would seem therefore to be a decidedly retrograde step to do away with the services of such a capable official and to leave the game resources of this section of the province dependent upon the inevitably sketchy protection that could be afforded by the provincial police when they were not engaged in other responsibilities.

Our fishing and hunting facilities are resources that should be carefully guarded and maintained; if they are only haphazardly protected the end of this district as a tourist centre cannot be long delayed.

A SWEEPING CHANGE.

One of the most revolutionary changes in law enforcement in Ontario was that announced the other day by Attorney-General Roebuck by which the magisterial system of the province has been almost completely re-organized.

The changes do not affect the six largest cities in Ontario, but the number of magistrates outside of those cities has been reduced from 147 to 46, and the province divided into eighteen districts, each under the jurisdiction of a senior magistrate.

The magistrates who will operate under the new system will not be permitted to engage in any other occupation, but will be required to give their whole time to their duties, and all these officials will be paid a salary, the fee system that applied in some cases being entirely done away with.

The re-organization will save the province, it is estimated, $50,000 a year, but Mr. Roebuck looks upon this saving as a secondary consideration, the main benefit to be derived being a more efficient administration of justice.

The Attorney-General is to be congratulated upon the fact that in his appointments of magistrates that he has paid no attention to the political views of the officials, but has endeavored to make the record of the magistrates the basis upon which they have been chosen.

Peterborough's magistrate, O. A. Langley, has been honored by being appointed senior magistrate for district No. 8, which consists of the counties of Northumberland and Durham, Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton, and by the tribute from the Attorney-General that "Mr. Langley is prominent as a magistrate in this province. He is very careful about his work."

The change in the magisterial machinery is one of the most sweeping that the province has ever known, and the results of the experiment will be followed with a great deal of interest.

TOURISTS—AND THE FISHING.

With the tourist season waning, it must be admitted that in this section of Ontario at least the results have been disappointing, particularly in the case of summer hotels, which for the most part report lean business.

At the same time it is true that large numbers of tourists have passed through Peterborough since June, and the justifiable inference is that the majority of them have gone further north than they used to, passing by the Kawartha resorts to spend their holidays in more remote sections.

We might as well face the situation and realize that it is because the fishing in the local lakes has largely disappeared that the crop of summer visitors at summer hotels is correspondingly small.

Whether we like it or not, the fact remains that as our supply of game fish gradually disappears the revenue that we could once count on from American visitors will dwindle proportionately, for the vast majority of the tourists attracted to Ontario are interested in fishing, and will go to the districts where they can have some assurance of sport with rod and line.

Only a progressive policy, not only of conservation, but of re-stocking our lakes with game fish, can save the day, and the campaign will have to be carried on with greater vigor and enterprise than has so far been displayed.

The new Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries, D. J. Taylor, is an enthusiastic sportsman, keenly alive to the situation, and The Examiner hopes that he will be able to persuade the Hepburn Government that a forward intelligent policy is necessary if Ontario's reputation as a fishing centre is not to be permanently lost. To save money at the expense of the revenue-producing tourist traffic that means so much to this province would be mock economy, and we are convinced that Mr. Taylor will not make the mistake of advising a cheese-paring attitude toward the fish and game situation.

In this connection the following editorial from the Toronto Star merits earnest consideration:

"The Hepburn Government is showing great courage and resource in tackling all kinds of problems and exposing all kinds of wastes and carelessness in the handling of the provincial revenues. There is, however, need, in some cases, for close inquiry and examination before taking drastic action.

"Mr. Nixon, as Minister of Game and Fisheries, announces that he will save $250,000 per annum by disbanding the game wardens and handing the work over to the provincial police.

"What would it profit the province to save $250,000 on the cost of guarding our fish and game if thereby irreparable damage were done to the attractions which do much to cause tourists to spend $100,000,000 in one year in Ontario?

"Many have been looking to see the new Government adopt a more intelligent policy in these matters than that of the late Government, which spent much less on the preservation of game and fish than it derived in license fees from the tourists, and it took each year a large surplus and carried it off into its cave. There was no attempt to keep abreast of the times, along with a dozen states across the border, in saving our streams, keeping fish in them and in suppressing the robbers who would net and ruin the lakes and streams.

"It may be that, as happened in other departments, the late Government handed out appointments to game wardens who did not do much warding for the salaries received. Clearly a shake-up is called for. But the suggestion that the provincial police take over the work of game wardens, which as yet has never been adequately done, seems about as practicable as to ask the game wardens to take over the work of the provincial police.

"There is need for economy in all branches of government, but with less expense one had hoped for more sense from the new Government than was used by its late but unlamented predecessor. Our great parks and game sanctuaries need the supervision of skilled men. It must be the opinion of many that this whole question deserves a consideration it cannot as yet have received. No doubt the definite policy of the new administration will soon be worked out in detail."

DROUGHT IN THE WEST.

We have all read much of the terrible drought which has turned the United States Middle West into a desert. Those who have read Morris Markey's graphic tale of it—one of the most gripping pieces of reporting we have seen in many a day—must have been struck by its terror and its pity. Much less has been heard of the drought on our own prairies, where, although the conditions are not comparable with those across the line, there has been tremendous loss. In Saskatchewan alone, according to Premier Gardiner, the number of farmer-families requiring help is 44,000. With crops a total loss, lands parched into sand, wells dried up, the straits of settlers are desperate.

And the same conditions, though on a smaller scale, exist in Manitoba and Alberta. For four or five successive years, in a number of districts, there has been little or no rain. Through the months of June and July a pitiless sun parched the soil, turned to dust tens of thousands of acres, with crops withering away, vegetation dying out, and flocks and herds dying daily in the fields. In the history of the West, there has been nothing like it.

The existing situation in Alberta was set forth with startling vividness in a Canadian Press despatch from Edmonton. It told of a proposition in Government circles to slaughter and process 75,000 head of cattle, this as the most practicable means of meeting the drought problem. In one area of 100 by 125 miles the harvest will yield little more than seed, with 35,000 cattle in this district alone to be taken care of from outside sources.

What all of this means, from the standpoint of the Dominion, is that there must be assistance. In other words, the Dominion treasury must be dipped into, just as it has been dipped into since 1931, when the first great drought came. For there is little sense, in a situation such as this, in leaving matters to the provinces. In the case of Saskatchewan, there is no possibility of financial help. With a population of about one million that province has a debt of over $100,000,000, is unable to meet its current liabilities. In the circumstances, the only course is for the Dominion to declare this drought a national emergency, to deal with it accordingly. It is a course the majority of Canadians will not be disposed to question.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

And now for the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, one of the outstanding events of the year in this city and district.

Every day, in every way, the governmental machinery in Ontario is becoming more altered and less expensive.

As a contemporary suggests, it might have been about as appropriate to call upon the fish and game inspectors to do provincial police work.

At all events the Labatt case will be remembered by the Toronto newspapermen as an event that made sleep impossible for a couple of nights at least.

The Exhibition Grounds should be the most popular place in the district for the balance of the week.

Air trains, with an airplane locomotive and glider cars, are now being tried out. Obviously the potentialities of air transport are only beginning to be realized.—Detroit Free Press.

Hollywood has announced that it will clean house itself, and according to rumor, one of the first items of business is an order to streamline Mae West.—Toronto Saturday Night.

SEEK CO-OPERATION

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—In reference to the items published in your paper lately in reference to bands, bandstands etc., I would like through the medium of your paper, to thank the "editorial" "Citizen" and B. L. Clive (Bobby Clive) for their remarks concerning the same. This is not to suggest building a new bandstand, even though any improvement would be appreciated, especially as to the chairs which are so broken and dirty as to be out of use and several times some men have had to sit on their cases for lack of same.

Mr. Citizen apparently knows what he is talking about and is also an interested and intelligent listener. He does not expect to hear some numbers or if so performed in style of professional bands such as "St. Hilda's," "Besses O' the Barn" and "Scots Guards" but can listen to a program and appreciate it whether played by Edwin Fraver Goldman or a band from Nassau.

I do not know who this Mr. Citizen might be but I do know "Bobby Clive" to be a versatile musician also the members of his band and the same remarks concerning Citizen apply also to him.

Then there is the subject of interference, during the program which is carried on in various ways. Last Sunday night a performer had his delicate instrument grabbed at by children that climb around the railing. Shortly after this the conductor during a number, had to turn around and chase the youngsters from his heels. A conductor in band, orchestra or choir is the central figure and every move that is made is noticed as the musicians watch him as well as the music. Thus when his attention is drawn elsewhere than from his score it affects the whole group and the audience are liable to get the result of faulty renditions.

It is also quite true about stones, apples, etc., being thrown on the stand as well as shingles and sticks used as clappers outside during the numbers. Any band always has one or two men who know their duties quite well enough to make all the clappity-claps without outside assistance. Numerous persons have told me that in Belle Isle Park, Detroit, silence is perfect and one is not allowed to speak or enter and leave a certain area during numbers. The same rule prevails in many other parks as well. Any musician will take a rassing for poor performance, but it is only due to the lack of a little police supervision and to the ignorance of both children and parents.

Thanking you again for this space and the kind remarks by those interested, we hope for mutual co-operation.

I remain,

A Bandsman.

CASH MORE PREFERABLE

The Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir:

I cannot understand why the Council and some of the merchants can have the audacity to tell the unemployed workers and ratepayers of the city of Peterborough how the recipients of relief should be taken care of, when there is a better system than the voucher. Cash would be more preferable by at least ninety per cent of the families on relief.

These dictators say that the unemployment would spend their money in the beer parlors and in the movies. That may be possible with about ten per cent of the unemployed, but why should approximately ninety per cent of the unemployed by living on the voucher system, when cash would be more preferable, and also there are small business people that do not sell food or clothing. They get no voucher for their line of goods, and they are entitled to some of the business as well as the big business man. Also they insinuate that the unemployed have lost their intellect, that they are incapable of handling money any more. They handled their own money when they were receiving a cheque from a firm they worked for and if work was to start again and every unemployed man got busy they would have to finance their own affairs when they would receive their pay. I am quite sure that about ninety per cent of the unemployed still maintain enough of intelligence to handle the cash. Why condemn all the unemployed for a few that we always had and always will have? Why not the council call the unemployed and ratepayers together and find out their opinion on the cash system? Why should the council and some of the merchants still want to adopt the antique system. Is there not an opportunity for graft?

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for this valuable space in your paper.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

HOW DO YOU THINK?

If you think in Time you're probably making a mistake.

But if you think in Deeds you're getting some place.

Most of us, nearly all the time, think in terms of time. Today's Tuesday. Tomorrow's Wednesday. Saturday will be here soon. And from Saturday afternoon to Sunday we'll be free to "do as we please" . . . All the other days between Monday morning and Saturday afternoon are just so much time to be gotten through . . . We live for certain occasions, definite events; the rest of the year is just padding—we are just "putting in time".

And if that's the way we live, we are not happy. We may pretend we are, but we really aren't. We're just fooling ourselves, and wasting the mass of our lives . . . We have but one life and we use it foolishly.

But if we think in terms of deeds time is just a background for accomplishment and development. And Today becomes important and we use it fully . . . If we think in Time, life has a tendency to drag out and be dull. But if we think in Deeds life may be entirely too short, but it is vastly exciting.

After all, Time isn't anything more than a container, whatever the philosophers may say, but every human being has as much of it as any other man or woman possesses. Some of us are forced to use much of it foolishly; other people deliberately waste it . . . But sometimes you meet a man or a woman who has just as many nose-on-the-grindstone tasks as we have, but succeeds somehow in getting an enormous number of things done. Those people have a different point of view about life; they are eager, they are inquisitive, they are excited, they Get Things Done. You wonder how they find the time, and you discover that they never think about time at all—but only about what they want to do. And they are always happy people!

You think, perhaps, that they were BORN happy, and cannot avoid being happy. But it is just as reasonable to suppose that they are happy because they think of Time as something to be USED instead of something to be ENDURED.

A Thought

INTELLIGENCE

As living beings we are part of a universe of life as intelligent beings we are in connection with a great circle of conscious intelligences; as spiritual beings we have our place in a moral world controlled and governed by the supreme Spirit. In each of these spheres there is a law, a duty, an obligation, a responsibility, for us. And our felicity lies in the discovery and acknowledgment of those ties which fit us and bind us to take our place, to play our part, to do our work, to live our life, where we belong.—Henry Van Dyke.

What's in The NAME of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

SMITHERS, BRITISH COLUMBIA

This town started with the laying of steel on the Grand Trunk Pacific railway from Prince Rupert east through Smithers in 1914. It is a divisional point on the railway and is situated in the centre of a rich but undeveloped mining area.

It was named for Sir Richard Smithers, who was at that time chairman of the board of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, and never has had any other name.

Lakefield Street Dance Is Success

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 20.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— It was certainly appropriate to call Thursday night's street dance a community event, for it seems as one viewed the lively scene that everyone was there, not all dancing, of course, but there were scores of dancers who spent a very jolly evening. The orchestra platform was erected on the west side of Queen street, just in front of Mr. Millar's barber shop, and there Harry McManus and his Haymakers were ensconced and the crowd thronged the pavement and the oiled roadway and made merry till about one-thirty. This is the second annual street dance and was the most successful in many ways, in fact so well did it go that it more than likely that there will be one put on next summer.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Rod Williams

THE BIRTH OF CAPE BRETON ISLAND.

On this date, in 1784, the island of Cape Breton was by proclamation of an order in council passed in London previously separated from Nova Scotia. The explanation of this act by Lord Sydney, has never been given, but it is reasonable to suppose that owing to difficulties of communication, the administration of a large straggling province which embraced all the territory east of Quebec was impracticable. The creation of Cape Breton quickly followed that of New Brunswick. Applications from Loyalists to settle in Cape Breton were flowing in, and apparently it was decided that when the island was opened there should be no long distance administration from Halifax.

Joseph Frederick Wallet Des Barres, who had won fame as a cartographer of the north Atlantic and the gulf of St. Lawrence, at great pecuniary loss to himself, was named governor. Des Barres was invested with command of the troops and garrisons both in Cape Breton and on St. John's (Prince Edward) Island. The new governor, full of enthusiasm and determined to make the new colony of calue, sailed from England in October, touched at Halifax, and landed in Cape Breton in December.

Disappointment met him from the start. None of the promises made had been kept; a few settlers were clustered around the ruins of Louisburg. A terrible winter passed. Des Barres chose a new site on the Spanish River about 24 miles north, which he named Sydney in honor of the colonial secretary. The new town was soon a living thing; a sawmill was built; farms were cut out of the wilderness and full advantage was taken of the wonderful harbor.

But one trouble followed another; there was a scarcity of money and conflict with the navy; and when the settlers poured in there was a shortage of food. Merchants at Halifax did all they could to prevent the new colony prospering. The crown broke faith with the settlers who had expected as good treatment as those in New Brunswick. Delegations sent to London failed to obtain redress and in 1786 Des Barres was re-called, to become a petitioner in vain for the redress of his wrongs.

His successor had a little better luck, but the story of Cape Breton's independence is marked by tragedy and maladministration to such an extent that in 1820 the people asked that the island should be restored to Nova Scotia. It was but seven years later all the coal mines in Nova Scotia were granted to the Duke of York, a brother of the king, and a monopoly granted which was not ended until 1857, and the result of this theft of mines was a burden upon Nova Scotia for two generations. But that is another story.

Obituary

MISS ANNE CROSS

The funeral of the late Anne Cross was held on Friday afternoon from her late residence, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Donohue, to St. Peter's Presbyterian Cemetery; Rev. W. A. Hunter, pastor, officiating. Interment was made in Lakeview Cemetery. Pall-bearers were Messrs. Charles N. Whytock, Walter Whytock, Robert McCoy, T. M. Nicol, W. J. Hill and F. Curry.

Beautiful gladioli and other flowers decorated the church and the casket. Old and familiar hymns were used, "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "The Sands of Time Are Sinking," and Rev. Mr. Hunter spoke words of comfort and consolation from the text, "I shall be satisfied when I awake in Thy likeness."

The late Miss Cross had reached the ripe old age of nearly 94 years, having been born on the Cross farm in Madoc Township in December, 1840. Miss Cross was highly endowed with the gift of leadership and was for many years prominent in the life and work of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, of which she was a staunch member. For some years she served as president of the Ladies' Aid of that church, and was always much interested in the work of the Women's Missionary Society.

Miss Cross was always in her place at public worship until about ten years ago, when she became an invalid and was seldom able to attend.

She leaves to mourn her loss, Mrs. William Cross and her two sons, who are grand nephews; also Mrs. Ed. Cross and her sons and other grand nephews and nieces.

C.G.I.T. BRANCH IS UNDER DISCUSSION

Committee Appointed by Roseneath W.M.S. to Secure Leader.

ROSENEATH, Aug. 20 (Examiner Correspondence). — Mrs. Andrew Brown lent her beautiful home to the Women's Missionary Society on Tuesday afternoon, which was fairly well attended considering the very busy season.

Mrs. Reg. Crego read the devotional leaflet entitled "His Resurrection". Mrs. Nill read the scripture lesson, Psalm 3; Mrs. George Hogg responded with prayer. The secretary, Mrs. M. Davey, read favorable reports which were declared approved by the president.

Unfinished business consisted of a report from Mrs. Crego re the organizing of a C.G.I.T. group, Mrs. Delbert Brisbin and Miss Gladys Blodgett were appointed a committee to secure a leader.

A letter was read from Mrs. Ashton on the summer school at Whitby Ladies' College, asking for funds. It was left over until another meeting.

Preparations for the bale were talked over, several donations were granted by members and any one wishing to donate articles will kindly leave them at Mrs. Crego's, where the bale will be packed by Mrs. Brisbin and Mrs. Crego.

It was decided that the members meet on Wednesday afternoon in the town hall and quilt two quilts for customers that were on order, each one to bring something toward a lunch.

Mrs. Davey kindly offered her home for the September meeting, with Mrs. Halstead, Mrs. Mouncey, Mrs. A. Brown and Mrs. M. Davey as lunch committee.

The following program consisted of leaflets on "Holiday Time With Our Missionaries". Introduction read by Mrs. Nill; No. 1, Miss Gladys Blodgett, "Holidays in Africa"; No. 2, "Holidays in China", by Mrs. A. Braithwaite; No. 3, Miss Clara Neiman, "Holidays in India"; No. 4, Mrs. B. Hogg, "Holidays in Homeland between Ottawa and Montreal".

Musical duet: "Jesus, Lover of My Soul"; Mrs. Clark Jewell read a paper on Korea; Miss Mary Braithwaite read about Trinidad; Mrs. Delbert Brisbin read about Japan and Mrs. Nill concluded the paper and closed with repeating the mispah benediction. Refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

CHICAGO GRAIN

Brisk jumps of prices carried the wheat market up 2¼c a bushel Saturday, largely because of efforts of mills to supply immediate breadstuff needs.

Fears of sudden frost in Canada likely to injure wheat crops of the Prarie Provinces did much also to stimulate buying. It was reported domestic millers Southwest had disposed of 300,000 barrels of flour the last two days, mainly to Eastern bakery interests.

In a general upturn of grain values today, barley excelled the high price record for the year.

Wheat closed firm, 1¼c to 2¼c above Friday's finish; corn, ¼c to 1c advanced; oats, ¼c to ½c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Cheese prices were lower on the Montreal Produce and Dairy market last week. Butter maintained its level of the previous week, while egg prices were irregular, lower grades being easier, and the higher grades firmer.

On the butter market, fresh No. 1 ended the week at 18½c a pound in carlots or less, unchanged. To retailers, solids were 20c a pound and prints 21c a pound. Receipts for the week totalled 18,813 boxes against 18,976 boxes the week before.

Cheese prices were fractionally lower, Ontario Colored ending the week at 10c a pound, off ¼c from a week ago, and Quebec cheese bringing 9½c a pound, ½c less than the previous week. Arrivals for the week were 29,164 boxes, as compared with 30,568 boxes in the preceding week.

Graded shipments of Ontario eggs in carlots or less were 23c to 24c a dozen for A large, up ½c; 21c to 22c for A medium, down ½c; 19c for B, off ½c; and 18c for C, down 1c. Western eggs in carlots brought 21½c to 22c a dozen for A large, up ½c; 20½c to 21c for A medium, up ½c; 19c for B, down ½c; and 18c for C, off ½c. Receipts for the week were 14,114 cases, against 8,777 cases the week before.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Wheat futures fluctuated erratically in Saturday's session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and closed nervous, ⅛ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower.

October wheat ended at 85, December at 88⅛ and May at 89⅝ cents.

Despite encouragement in the Liverpool market action, Winnipeg values tended to sag in the early stages, but rallied in the final part of the session for a short time. Drying up of offerings and a two cent advance at Chicago accounted for the slight Winnipeg upturn. Prices dropped back before the close, however, and hovered round previous final figures.

Export sales of Canadian wheat were estimated at less than 200,000 bushels.

Cash grains trading was dull, but coarse grains all firmed.

Hepburn In Ottawa On Ontario Relief

OTTAWA, Aug. 20 (CP)—The conference between representatives of the Dominion and Ontario Governments on unemployment relief adjourned this afternoon to meet again about five o'clock.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett said the meeting had been very pleasant, but that he could make no announcement as to the matters discussed. Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn also stated that negotiations had gone on amicably, but that he and his associates were merely laying the Ontario situation before the Prime Minister.

Whether or not the conference would conclude to-night was not stated.

NICKEL MEETS LIGHT SETBACK IN LATE TRADE

Distilleries and Brewery Stocks Hold Quiet In To-day's Session.

IMPERIAL UNCHANGED.

TORONTO, Aug. 20 (CP).—Brazilian Traction led the buying on the industrial section of the Toronto Exchange today. Nickel was taken in good quantity in the opening hours, but later interest died down in the base metal and stock retreated a fraction. Total volume on the exchange was jacked up to around the 20,000 share mark.

Brazilian closed at 11 1-8, an advance of 3-8; Nickel was down 1-8, closing at 24 3-8.

Distilleries and brewing stocks were quiet. In the oils, Imperial was unchanged at 14 1-2; B.A. Oil firmed 1-8 to 13 3-4; International Pete remained unchanged at 28; C.P.R. was strong at 13 5-8, an advance of 1-4.

CANADA'S TRADE UP 38 PER CENT

those products. As world competition was increasing there was no room for mediocrity in the world today.

The Dominion had attained a high position in world markets in in such products as wheat, cheese and apples. She should aim at improving her position, said the minister, in such other products as cattle, bacon and butter. In all of these, the packing, appearance and attractiveness were important.

In the past 20 years on 18 occasions, the Dominion had carried away world honors for wheat. She also had won many awards for oats, barley and rye, as well as many awards for sheep, horses and cattle.

The Natural Products Marketing Act passed at the last session of parliament, he stated, would help to solve some of the problems. Already this board was established under Dr. G. H. S. Barton, Deputy Minister of the Department of Agriculture, and fruit growers had submitted a plan.

POLICE TO SEAL

torney-General Roebuck began. "The first factor is a much more efficient police force, so that the likelihood of escape by the kidnappers will be cut off to the human ability.

Eliminate Profits

The second factor in successfully combatting kidnapping lies in making the business unprofitable.

"To achieve the latter, the state must step in to take protective control of the affairs of all those trol of the racketeers, be they relby the racketeers, be they relwhose sympathies can be played on atives or friends. I have been asked if one of my family were kidnapped, would I be willing to have the state step in in the matter I have outlined by closing bank accounts and safety deposit boxes. My answer to that argument is that if would-be kidnappers knew that I would not be in a position to pay any ransom, because the state would be in control, then no member of my family would be kidnapped. The business of kidnapping will thus be made unprofitable and with the state taking these effective measures, the racketeer will seek more profitable pastures for his work."

Advance In Law System.

On general matters of law administration in the province, Mr. Roebuck made brief comment. "The case made last week regarding magistrates is a far-reaching one," he said. "Likewise it constitutes a most important advance in law administration in our province.

"The naming of special Crown prosecutors, as carried out under the late Henry government, was nothing short of a patronage racket," Mr. Roebuck went on. "There will be some cases where it will not be in the public interest for local Crown attorneys to prosecute, and in these cases we will appoint special Crown prosecutors, but the patronage racket of special Crown prosecutors is over."

Asked if he has yet considered the advisability of combining the well-paid jobs of county sheriffs and registrars, Mr. Roebuck remarked: "I have said it will take a year to carefully go over all the 1,000 offices controlled by my department, but I have said that when I finish this careful survey there will be no sinecures left. Why should there be sinecures?"

LONDON, Ont.—William J. Jenkins, Woodstock, is charged in county magistrate's court here because, it is believed, he tried to be kind to a hitch-hiker. Traffic Officer Bill Cole claims that Jenkins allowed Edward Vaney, no address, to drive his automobile on Saturday night and Vanney drove it into the ditch, breaking Jenkins' arm.

JUNIOR GOLDS HOLDS INTEREST

Wave of Buying Sweeps Siscoe, Macassa, Central Patricia and Sylvanite.

OTHERS IN BACKGROUND.

TORONTO, Aug. 20 (CP).—Junior golds held buying interest on the mining section of the Toronto Exchange today. High-priced gold shares, base metals, silver and oils were shoved into the background by a wave of buying which featured Siscoe, Macassa, Central Patricia and Sylvanite. Movement in the secondary golds started early in the day.

Siscoe was bought heavily at 2.77 share. Macassa drew 2.85, Central Patricia found many buyers at 1.04 and Sylvanite was popular at 2.84.

Activity in the senior gold shares was confined to Hollinger which was bought at 19.06. Some interest was shown in Pioneer at 13.00; Teck Hughes at 6.75 and Wright Hargreaves at 9.65. No action took place in Dome to the press conference and stated that Mr. Roebuck was not in his office and was not expected back to-day.

"Is he by any chance in London?" was asked.

"No, not that I know of," replied Mr. Elliott.

"No person at the Attorney-General's office would give out any information in response to my questions this morning," said Mr. Elliott.

Try Again.

"However, I will put through another call to Toronto early this afternoon.

"I can definitely state at this minute that Mr. and Mrs. John Labatt and their family are still at the apartment of Hugh Labatt on Waterloo Street. I do not think that Mr. Labatt is seriously ill, but he must be kept very quiet. All I can say this morning is there has been nothing new reported in the developments of the case and I again state that any information will have to come through the Attorney-General himself."

Inspector Hamar Gardner of the Provincial police headquarters at Toronto is still in London in company with Sergeant of Detectives Crowe. Neither of these officials had any statement to make this morning.

No Single Clue

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 20 (CP) — As far as police working in this area are concerned "not a single clue" has been uncovered that might lead to identity of the abductors of John A. Labatt, London brewer, who was held captive 62 hours until after reputed payment of some $50,000 ransom, it was disclosed today by a reliable police authority.

The police spokesman said that up to late this afternoon there was no lead to follow. He admitted search for the kidnap hideout and movement of the abductors had been concentrated along the Windsor-Detroit border area, but so far nothing constructive had been disclosed.

Police, however, had found out, it was in the second attempt the abductors were successful in capturing their quarry. The car that forced the car of the wealthy London brewer to the roadside as he drove from a summer colony near Sarnia towards London for a business appointment, previously had attempted to block the road.

Outran Gang First Time

Labatt was said by the spokesman to have noticed the suspicious movements of the other car and, believing the occupants hold-up had been able to outdistance them. In some way, however, they trapped him on a lonely stretch a few miles further on and forced him to get into their car. Police were said to have discovered the exact spot where the transfer was made, but no one would confirm the report.

Police authorities here have been unable to gain an interview with Labatt, resting at the home of his brother Hugh. He was described as being afraid to reveal details of the abduction because of reprisals threatened by gang members before they released him in Toronto last Friday morning.

Little credence was placed by this police official in the claim of Rev. Ben. Eckhardt, pastor of the Church of Christ's Disciples, who said he was notified by a mysterious telephone call that Labatt was to be released last Friday morning. The former street corner preacher was busy all morning retelling his story to newspaper men and posing for photographers.

attack slowly got the upper hand.

Fonsford's innings eclipsed that of Don Bradman, who ran up 244 runs on Saturday. W. A. Oldfield made a fine stand at the close and was still unbeaten with 42 runs to his credit. The end of the innings came shortly after the regular tea-interval, and when the Aussies were dismissed tea was taken.

The match, which opened Saturday, is to be fought to a finish without time limit.

DEVELOPMENT FOR ARCADIA PROPERTY

Diamond-drilling Program Will be Used Following Encouraging Reports.

A comprehensive development program on the Arcadia Gold Mines Limited property, 560 acres in the Porcupine mining division, is being financed.

A large sum has already been spent in surface trenching and exploration work, etc. This work has disclosed an unusually large gold-bearing sulphide ore-body which has been exposed in a series of trenches, pits and excavations over a length of more than 1,400 feet with an apparent average width of over 80 feet.

As a result of these most encouraging disclosures, it has been decided to explore this ore-body at depth by a well-planned diamond-drilling program now in progress in conjunction with further underground work, under the supervision of a staff of capable engineers.

This work should conclusively prove the values and widths at depth of the now known surface ore-body, and enable the company to carry out definite plans for bringing Arcadia Gold Mines into profitable production.

Numerous assays have been made of the Arcadia ore, some of them providing very spectacular results. One conservative group of assay results (gold at ($20.67), shows surface values ranging from $2.40 per ton (the lowest among 36 samples) to $39.40 values in the inclined shaft up to $28.00, and in the main shaft from $5.20 to $8.60. These values are exclusive of the spectacular showings in the high-grade "Tommy Burns" vein lying to the north of the main gold-bearing sulphide ore body.

It has been estimated that the proving of the downward extension of the ore to even a comparatively shallow depth will block out a very large tonnage—sufficient to establish the Arcadia as a profitable mining venture.

EXHIBITION SET UP IS CHANGED

Midway Runs East and West Just South of Manufacturers' Building—Many Exhibits Here.

While the Exhibition Board decided to change its dates from September to August it also decided to change the whole set up of the Exhibition. Up to this year the midway was just east and west of the George Street entrance. This has been changed so that to reach the Grand Stand and midway a person goes straight down Carbutt avenue which is a continuance of George street to just south of the Manufacturer's Building where the midway branches east and west. Just at this point there is a number of interesting exhibits in the Manufacturer's Building, the main building. The Canadian General Electric Co., R. A. Wainman's rare bird exhibit, the flowers, vegetables, poultry, etc. All these exhibits should be seen or you miss a great part of the Exhibition.

CHRYSLER PICTURES SHOWN ROTARIANS

Two Reels of Sound Films Feature at Rotary Club's Luncheon.

Two reels of sound films sponsored by Ross L. Dobbin and presented by Charles Leeson, representative of Chrysler Motor Corporation were the features at Rotary Club luncheon at Empress Hotel to-day. Mr. Leeson was present as the guest of Jack Gillespie.

Educational in nature the first of the pictures showed extensive views of the World's Fair and provided some idea of the magnitude of its conception. It featured the Chrysler motors Building and provided some thrilling shots taken at the miniature testing track and proving ground where Plymouth cars were to be seen going through gruelling tests at the hands of daredevil drivers.

Second of the reels graphically outlined the fundamental principles of Air-flow Chrysler design, dealing with the extensive experiments that have been conducted over a period of ten years by Chrysler engineers.

President John F. Reed expressed the thanks of the club to the projectionist, and commented on the pictures as having been "highly instructive and educational."

Guests at the meeting included Rotarian Harry Green of Williamsville, N.Y.; Rev. Mr. Sager of Buffalo, N.Y., and the Rev. J. A. Hilts, pastor of Davenport Presbyterian Church, Toronto, who is supplying at St. Paul's Church here in the absence of Dr. A. T. Barr.

Manion Urges Drive For Fall Tourists

OTTAWA, August 20 (C.P.)—An advertising campaign in the United States would be initiated within the next ten days in an effort to increase further Fall tourist traffic from that country to Canada during the months of September and October, Hon. R. J. Manion announced at the opening luncheon of the Central Canada Exhibition here to-day.

The importance of an increased tourist traffic to the Canadian farmer was emphasized by the Minister of Railways and Canals. The Canadian Travel Bureau, recently established under his supervision with D. L. Dolan as director, was dealing with the tourist trade.

A substantial increase in the tourist traffic to this country,he said, would result in putting more money into the pockets of the farmers of the country. Figures of an eminent economist showed that in 1929, the Dominion's peak tourist year, visitors to this country had consumed more than 4,000,000 pounds of butter; 18,000,000 pounds of meats and 4,000,000 dozen of eggs and commodities in like proportion. These figures indicated to a remarkable degree the national scope of the tourist trade.

STEADY APRIVAL OF ALL EXHIBITS

this section would exceed all its past records.

A new arrangement of the concessions in the eastern area of Exhibition Park places the avenue to the Grand Stand about half way between the secretary's office and the general display building. This is a year of innovations by the directorate who hope that they plans will meet with the fullest co-operation from the public.

The advance in the dates was undertaken as an experiment to avoid the chill September nights, and, with every promise of agreeable weather, the amusements committee has booked a program of attractions, many of which are entirely new and are especially suitable for August nights' production. The evening attractions at the Grand Stand are a distinct feature this year, presenting in the spot position on the program the Winter Garden musical revue by a company including thirty girls in song and dance numbers that are direct from Broadway vaudeville.

The swine classes are apparently as well filled as ever, and as mentioned above the exhibit of horses will bring out the names of breeders who have never shown at Peterborough before this year.

$1,000,000 Hail Loss In Western Storm

WINNIPEG, Aug. 20. — (CP) — Normal conditions returned today to the prairie provinces, hail-battered after one of the maddest storms to rake the grain belt in many a season. Smashed communication lines, marooned communities and wreckage of buildings dotted South Saskatchewan. Crops and gardens were slashed by a driving hail storm that brought the loss from this source to Western Canada this year to more than $4,000,000.

As reports of Friday night's storm continued to trickle in, estimates of damage from wind and hail rose above the $1,000,000 mark. Cutting in at Davidson, north of Regina, the icy pellets, whipped by a 75-mile an hour wind, whirled over more than 250,000 acres of grain land.

Crops and gardens were levelled over an area four to eight miles wide and nearly 100 miles long. Barns, outhouses, garages and telephone poles were blown down, thousands of Chickens killed and cut wheat ready for stocking was churned into the ground.

CANOE IS FOUND ON WEST COAST NEWFOUNDLAND

xious mother for the worst. Investigation of the report subsequently proved it unfounded but little cause for hope remained. Smith had been out of port more than ten days and experienced seamen considered his reappearance alive extremely unlikely. Mrs. Smith's hope was based on the rare chance that he might have negotiated the crossing of the gulf successfully and taken refuge on some deserted spot on the Newfoundland coast.

Gives Up All Hope

To-day she was forced to give up al hope. Even a fond mother can not visualize the outside possibility that he may yet be safe despite that fact that his abandoned canoe has been found. Realization that the daring boy in whose ability to "take care of himself" she had blind faith, will never come home alive, has dawned upon her grief-stricken mind.

The finding of the canoe has written "finis" to one of the most daring ventures on record. Peterborough people heard the astounding news that the 24-year-old youth intended to paddle a 16-foot canoe across the Atlantic for the first time on June 1. The proposed venture immediately gained the attention of not only local people but the entire newspaper-reading public of Canada and the United States. The majority scoffed, confident that the affair was a mere publicity hoax—that Smith would never start. On June 18, strictly according to his schedule, he set out down the Otonabee bound from peterborough, Ontario, to Peterborough, England.

Successfully Shot Rapids

Still ridiculing the possibility of a frail canoe weathering the mountainous waters of the Atlantic, the news-reading public followed the daring sailor down the Trent Waterway system to Lake Ontario. He would realise his folly and turn back before he reached Kingston, it was said. Then came the news that he had negotiated the Long Sault Rapids on the St. Lawrence below Kingston, the first man in history to shoot the north channel in a canoe, and he gained the national spotlight. A few days later he was acclaimed the only paddler on record to have taken all the rapids of the turbulent river in succession.

Following closely the south shore of the St. Lawrence as it broadened out into the Gulf, the paddle from Gaspe, near the easterly tip of the Gaspe Peninsula, was John Smith's first real encounter with the open ocean waters. Arriving at that point on July 18, just one month after he waved his hearty farewell to the large crowd of Peterborough people who witnessed his leave-taking, he was still confident of his ability to carry his venture through. He set out at noon, July 31, heading for Cape Ray, Newfoundland, 270 miles across the Gulf. He was seen by fishermen late that evening "lying to" in rough water 30 miles out. That was the last time he was seen alive.

What actually happened to Smith will likely remain a mystery whose secret is known only by the wind-tossed waters of the Gulf. The point at which the canoe was found this morning is south of Port Saunders on a bleak stretch of the western coast of Newfoundland where flotsam from the St. Lawrence River and Gulf is frequently found. Nothing remains to indicate how far across the gulf Smith had travelled before the end came. Likely he covered a creditable portion of the distance for the craft would otherwise have drifted out to sea in the swift gulf current.

Smith's body has not been found although frequent reports to

English Family Settled in Omemee District 104 Years Ago

GEORGE ENGLISH IS DESCENDANT EARLY SETTLERS

Father Emigrated From the County of Cavan, Ireland, in 1820.

CARRIAGE BUILDER

Learned His Trade With James Hamilton, Brother of Late Peter Hamilton.

While George English of Omemee might have a name strongly suggestive of Anglo-Saxon ancestry, he is nevertheless one of the forbears of the late William English and Margaret Toole of Celtic immigrant stock.

His father's family originally came from County Cavan, while those of his mother were from County Fermanagh, Ireland.

Mr. English was born on the old family homestead, Lot 9, Concession 5, Emily Township on February 3, 1845, but his present physical and mental well-being suggests that he is many years removed from his ninetieth birthday.

Settled in 1830

Relating some of the family history in an interview with The Examiner recently, Mr. English stated that his father, William English, settled in the Omemee district 104 years ago, after immigrating from Ireland with his four brothers, Andrew, James, Isaac and Henry English. They were accompanied by Samuel and William Cottingham.

Between them the five young immigrants took up 450 acres of Crown land, and raised a combined family of forty-two children. William English had a family of four sons and one daughter, and George English is the last surviving member not alone of his father's household, but of the entire group of forty-two children.

Carriage and Wagon Trade

He worked on his father's farm until he was twenty years of age, and then entered the trade of carriage and wagon builder with the late James Hamilton of Lindsay, brother of the late Peter Hamilton, founder of the Peter Hamilton Company in this city.

After completing a 3-year apprenticeship at Lindsay, Mr. English set up in business for himself at Omemee. "It was in May of 1867—the year of Confederation," he recalled.

Six years later his cousin, John English, acquired the business, and Mr. English continued on in his employ, and built up a reputation throughout the district as a skilful carriage and wagon builder. The business has since reverted to ownership of Mr. English and to-day as a smithy it is rented to a Mr. Incley, whom the old gentleman credits as being, "one of the best horseshoe jobbers in Canada."

Former Mayor

William English, the father of George English, was married to Margaret Toole shortly after first coming to this country from Ireland. His wife's brother, William Toole was one time mayor of Peterborough. Later he went to the West and took up land at Stonewall.

George English married Mary Cave who died sixteen years ago. Of the marriage there was a family of four sons and one daughter, all of whom are living with the exception of one son. They are John and William English, both of Toronto; Thomas Wesley English, of Bangor, Maine, and Miss Sarah English, of New York City.

Throughout his lifetime, Mr. English has been a constant member of the Wesleyan Methodist (now United Church), at Omemee. He thinks that John Wesley was one of the greatest men that ever lived outside the Apostles, and stated that he never tired of reading Wesley's Journal.

As his hobbies Mr. English had been an enthusiastic hunter and fisherman, until a fractured thigh sustained three years ago handicapped his movements.

Apart from his inability to get about as he used to in his younger days, Mr. English still enjoys good health, and has good eyesight although he does wear spectacles for reading.

TRUCK CHANGING DIET OF NATION

Highway Official Points to Increasing Use of Vegetables —Millions of Tons.

10 YEAR RISE.

TORONTO, Aug. 20 (C.P.)—"The diet of a nation has been revolutionized by the motor truck," the 26th annual convention of the Vegetable Growers' Association of America was told by J. H. Williams, assistant director of the National Highway Users' Conference, Washington. He declared 64 per cent of all less than carload shipment of vegetables and fruits were made by motor truck in United States.

"What is possibly of more immediate concern to you," he said, "the market for vegetables—especially perishable vegetables — has been increased to a point undreamed of 20 years ago.

"Even in the last 10 years we find that the shipment of 16 vegetables as to which statistics are available have increased from one-half million to two-thirds of a million carloads annually. This increase in shipments of almost 200,000 carloads of 16 varieties of vegetables is 20 times the increase which would have come normally through the gain in population in that period.

"The grower who does his own trucking now often combines the functions formerly performed by the people who packed his produce, the country buyer, the railroad and the city dealer—all at a cost less than the cost of railroad freight alone before the advent of the truck."

In defence of the motor transportation agencies, Mr. Williams said there was "A vast difference between the 'public be damned' attitude of the holder of a monopoly and the 'please give me some of your business' attitude of an agency which has active competition."

He declared special taxes paid by all motorists not counting general taxes, amounted to more than four times the total railway tax bill.

No, Lindsay Is Not Peterboro' Suburb

A lack of sympathy with the idea of a Peterborough magistrate having jurisdiction over lower court justice in Lindsay is indicated by Lindsay press comments on the magisterial shake-up. The following comment appeared in the Friday issue of the Lindsay Post:

"In the firing of 99 magistrates in Ontario, including Lindsay's beloved Magistarte Jordan, there is one feature that gives real cause for worry. That is the announcement that the Peterborough magistrate will be senior magistrate for this district. He is a capable man in every way and there is certainly no cause to complain from the standpoint of his personal qualifications, but does this make Lindsay a suburb of Peterborough?"

The caption over the comment is, "Heaven Forbid!"

CANADA BUSINESS RECOVERY BACK ON FIRM FOUNDATION

Roger Babson Says Canada Points Way to the United States.

NO TURNING BACK.

Babson Says Canada Points Way to United States.

BABSON PARK, Massachusetts.—Business has been rising steadily since last summer. At present levels, activity is 30 per cent. above its depression low and has made a new recovery high this year. The revival in the Dominion has shown more sustained vigor and vitality than that in the United States. As in the States, however, Canadian activity is now slowing up, but any weakness which lies ahead should be only a temporary breathing spell in the fundamental upward trend.

No Turning Back for Canada

The interesting thing about Canada's recovery is the fact that there has been no artificial stimulation. Demands have been made to have the Dominion imitate the experiments tried in the United States, but those in control of Canadian affairs have made few concessions. Much sound judgment and great courage have been shown and consequently the Dominion's recovery is built on a firm foundation. Canada is not trying to borrow her way back to prosperity. She has not set up huge bureaucracies to sap business in the future. Hence, I feel that Canada will not have to tear down and rebuild. She has definitely turned the depression tide.

Now, let us look more closely at the keystones of Canada's revival. Electric power output, in itself a good index of business, is 24 per cent. above a year ago. Automobile production for 1934 to date is 116 per cent. greater than in the same period of 1933. Industrial activity in general is 70 per cent. higher. Car loadings, although off slightly from their peak, have made a 35 per cent. advance in the same period. Newsprint production has recently been declining, but output for the first half of 1934 was 41 per cent greater than in the first six months of 1933.

Canada Benefits from World Crop Disaster.

The agricultural situation is the high spot of Canada's business picture at present. Indications now point to a wheat crop at least as good as last year's harvest. At the same time the United States will have the smallest wheat crop in nearly fifty years. The harvest will be very short in Europe, Russia and China; while very dry weather is reported in both Argentina and Australia. Canadian wheat has already advanced well above 95 cents a bushel and should go higher during coming months. With better prices all around and a comparatively good crop in Canada, Dominion farmers stand to benefit from increased wheat exports.

Canada's mining industry is continuing at the high level of recent months. Mineral output—gold, silver, nickel and copper—is approximately 36 per cent. higher than a year ago. On the other hand, the stagnation in the building industry, as in the United States, is the most depressing factor. Construction, while above the low point of the depression, is lagging far behind other industries. The tourist business, which suffered so badly in 1933, is making a sharp come-back. High cost of travel in France, unsettled conditions in Central Europe, and excessive heat in the United States are bringing to Canada thousands of new vacationists this year.

Trade and Employment Increasing

For the past four or five years the decline in Canada's foreign trade has been a most serious problem. This was reflected in the weakness of the Canadian dollar two years ago. The Ottawa Pact has now been in force since 1932 and most economists agree that it has given Canada a decided advantage in Empire trade. In 1933-34 Canada reported the largest favorable trade balance since 1927 and an actual improvement of about 15 per cent. over 1932-33. The increase included a gain in both exports and imports. An advance in imports is very important because customs duties are a big source of government revenues. Thus, Canada has made excellent progress toward a balanced budget in the last year.

The remarkable increase in employment throughout the Dominion is perhaps the soundest indicator of Canada's recovery. Latest reports show that 20 per cent. more people are now being employed than a year ago at this time. In the United States the problem has been met by placing millions directly and indirectly on government payrolls. In Canada, however the unemployment situation has been met with only a minimum of aid from the government and no NRA, CCC, or CWA programs have been adopted. The Dominion this year is spending about $4.60 for every man, woman, and child for relief, while in the United States the amount will be over $26.00 per capita.

Government Not Financing Recovery.

With laudable courage, Canada has made strenuous efforts to keep her costs in line with her revenues during the depression. She has heavy fixed charges which could not be reduced, but other expenses have been slashed to the bone. Appropriations for emergency relief have been held to the minimum. It is believed government expenses in 1934 will be less than in 1933. The entire monetary system of the Dominion is on a sound basis which, after all, is a bulwark in any nation's economic set-up. With rising revenues and declining expenses, the time is rapidly approaching when Canada's budget will be balanced.

Canadian citizens are to be congratulated that they are not riding along in a recovery automobile bought on borrowed money. The depression has cost the Dominion an increase of only 17 per cent. in the national debt in the last four years. This contrasts with an increase of 40 per cent. in the debt of the United States, 32 per cent. in Germany's and 25 per cent. in Japan's. The initiative and aggressiveness of the Canadian people in relying on themselves, rather than their government, to lift the country out of the depression will be rewarded in the years ahead. The day of reckoning lies before those nations who are trying to lift themselves by their boot-straps.

Arcadia Gold Mines Limited owns and is developing a property in the rich Porcupine area of Ontario. A number of eminent engineers have reported favourably on the property and extracts from some of these reports appear in this announcement. Electric power, water and transportation facilities, essential to a profitable producing mine, are already available. Two shafts have already been sunk to depths of more than 100 feet showing commercial ore at various depths. Contracts for diamond drilling to prove to depth the reserves of ore indicated have been let. The company is under experienced and efficient management. From the comprehensive information available, and taking into consideration the present stage of development, the property of Arcadia Gold Mines Limited is outstanding.

While all mining properties in the early stages of their development naturally represent a degree of speculation to the investor, yet the work that has already been done and the favourable reports of the engineers justify the expectation that the additional development to be made possible through this issue will conclusively prove the merit of the property and its potentialities as a profitable producer.

EXTRACTS FROM ENGINEERS' REPORTS

"I have examined the property and the reports and also all sampling and assay results available on the Arcadia Mine. In my opinion this property merits the expenditure of the funds necessary to prove the downward extension of the ore indicated by the results of the work so far done. Results to date indicate that a large body of commercial ore exists on this property. In addition to this, there is the high-grade Tommy Burns vein system."

(signed) J. Ralph Scott, B.Sc.

"The Arcadia property . . . represents an interesting and promising prospect with widely distributed gold values and in places showing material of high grade over narrow widths. There is regional cross-fracturing of the general formational trend, the junction of which in other areas has proven so highly important in the localisation of ore deposits. Most important ore occurrences are generally located at points of extreme structural complexity such as are evidenced on the Arcadia property. . . .

"I believe the property to have merit beyond even the favourable ore indication disclosed by the work already performed."

(signed) D. G. H. Wright, B.Sc.

"The different rock formations on the Arcadia Gold Mines, Limited property are more or less identical, relatively, to the rock formations of the producing mines in the district. . . . "Gold has been panned practically all along the strike and ore is evidently there in paying values and immense tonnages."

(signed) Colin Thistlethwaite, B.Sc., M.E.

*"I sampled across 30 feet on the north side of this formation and from this sample I secured $6.40 in gold. Should these values average over $5.00 a ton for the length of the ledge, then you have a bonanza."

(signed) H. C. Anchor, M.E.

*From report made by the late Captain H. C. Anchor, M.E.

Purpose of This Issue

The purpose of this issue is generally to place the Treasury of the Company in sufficient funds to aggressively explore and develop the property and particularly to carry out immediately a comprehensive plan laid down by the Company's Consulting Engineers in co-operation with the Resident Engineer, Colin Thistlethwaite, M.E., B.Sc., for diamond drilling in conjunction with the making of an underground survey and in further extending the workings from the vertical shaft (one of the two shafts already on the property). The diamond drilling program is already in progress, under contract.

Property

The main part of the property consists of 11 patented and 3 unpatented claims—totalling 560 acres more or less—located principally in the Township of Shaw, Porcupine Mining Division, Northern Ontario. Counsel certifies that title is absolute and clear subject only to certain claims against the previous owners, assumed by the Company as part of the purchase consideration and now in process of adjustment.

- The Porcupine gold area has today six producing gold mines.
- It has produced over $329,000,000 in gold to date.
- More than $97,000,000 in dividends have been paid to date.
- Market value of producing properties (June 15, 1934) exceeded $175,000,000.

Transportation

The property is ten miles distant by road from South Porcupine which is located on the T. & N.O.R.R.

Power and Water

Two Power Lines from the Northern Canada Power Company cross the property within one-half mile of the Camp. An adequate supply of water for all miping purposes is available from the Redstone River.

Development to Date

Considerable development work has been carried out on the property.

Surface work has disclosed an unusually large gold-bearing sulphide body which has been exposed by trenches, pits and excavations at intervals for over 1400 feet in length, with an apparent average width of over 50 feet. The Surface exposures have been sampled by numerous independent mining engineers and found to contain commercial values, and this quite apart from many spectacular high-grade showings. The concensus of opinion is that the whole sulphide zone can reasonably be expected to prove commercial ore and extend to considerable depth.

Trenching, Shaft sinking and crosscutting have been carried out on a parallel high grade vein approximately 200 feet north of the large sulphide zone. This vein has every indication of continuing in depth as a commercial ore body, augmented with occasional spectacular inclusions of high grade.

Milling and Metallurgical Tests

Milling tests have been made on the ore by Professor G. J. MacKay at Queen's University, who reports "the ore is exceptionally easy to treat and the milling cost should be very low."

Conclusions

The simple milling and extraction with the very low costs possible in mining such a large ore body makes this property exceptionally attractive and augurs well for a very profitable large-tonnage producer and, as in the case of the other well-known Porcupine mines, an indefinitely long life.

The proving to depth of the large surface ore body by diamond drilling, etc., will enable the Company to immediately lay definite plans for bringing the property into production. It has been estimated that the proving to even a comparatively shallow depth will block out a very large quantity of ore, and enable the Company to go into large scale operations.

EXTRACTS FROM ENGINEERS' REPORTS

Quoted from a Report made by C. Price-Green, B.A., F.R.G.S.

"It is my sincere belief that this property can be developed into one of the largest . . . mines of the Porcupine District."

(signed) C. L. Heath, M.E.

"Much coarse gold is seen on the surface of this dyke in places for its whole length. Surface assays taken indicate a gold content averaging $12.00 per ton . . . As I said before this property will make a mine."

(signed) W. W. Worthington, M.E.

"Concluding this report I would say that you have the most promising proposition that I have examined during twenty-five years' experience."

(signed) John McMartin, M.E.

"The ore body comprised in the big dyke can be effectively blocked out by drilling as the average width of eighty feet makes it entirely different from the ordinary gold mining proposition with narrow veins and irregular ore shoots, where diamond drilling is only useful to determine the formation. One of the engineers reporting, estimates that a block fifty feet by 1,300 feet by 100 feet in depth, will give one million tons of commercial ore which he very conservatively values at $9.00 per ton, but the average of the surface values, according to recorded sampling and assays, is nearer $20.00 a ton."

(signed) Louis Whitman, C.E.

"I have taken 275 samples along the dyke, also in the quartz leads penetrating the dyke and have determined anywhere from $2.00 to $40.00 per ton in gold. I spent several months on the property, my opinion is that with good mining and careful management, this mine will be among the large dividend payers of the Porcupine District."

TWIN Dollar Days COLOSSAL

$ $ $ $ AND BARGAIN TREASURE HUNT

Friday and Saturday AUGUST 24th and 25th, 1934

A COMMUNITY WIDE SENSATIONAL SAVINGS EVENT WORTH COMING MILES TO BE PRESENT AT

The majority of Peterborough merchants are, as customary for years past, again co-ordinating in an August community-wide Twin Dollar Days. They are preparing a Bargain Carnival for August 24th and 25th that should excel all previous efforts of this nature—a shopping sensation teeming with mighty big values for mighty little money. All lines of merchandise will be so drastically cut in prices that each purchase may in truth be considered a TREASURE in value and savings. And in each RED PENNANT BEDECKED Store will be found one or more greater Bargains worth while hunting for.

CONDITIONS ARE IMPROVING AND EVERYTHING'S GOING TO BE ALRIGHT

$ There is a greater feeling of confidence to-day than at this time last year; industries have been busier, and a speeding up of Dominion-wide activity in trade and commerce generally experienced. Therefore it can be consistently asserted that, to say the least, the backbone of acute depression has been broken and that Canada is well on the way to "happy days again." The prosperity of a nation hinges upon the production and buying of commodities, so a generous response to the invitation to buy and save on these two Dollar Days will, by quickening the demand for merchandise correspondingly affect the supply markets and hasten the day when depression shall be completely banished. Then, remember that as regular prices are on the upgrade, Dollar Days' Sensational Bargains mean two-fold savings. $

Weddings

LITTLE—McDONALD

Delicate sprays of white heather came all the way across the sea from Scotland to garnish the bride's bouquet at Knox United Church, where the marriage took place at one o'clock this afternoon, of Marjorie F. Minnes McDonald, daughter of the Rev. W. McDonald and Mrs. McDonald, and Mr. W. Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Little of North Bay.

The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, the Rev. W. McDonald, B.A., B.D., and the wedding music was played by W. R. Potter, organist.

The pulpit and choir gallery were decorated with quantities of summer flowers, ferns and palms.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. W. Leslie McDonald of Toronto, wore an exquisite long jacquette frock of honey beige suede lace, made on princess lines, with a slight train, and a narrow belt buckled with seafoam green velvet.

A hat of chip cellophane straw in the same soft shade of green had a brim flange and narrow band of beige grosgrain ribbon and a tiny brightly-colored French ornament at the side.

Beige kid slippers, with matching silk hose, and beige kid gloves, were worn. The bride carried a bouquet of golden Talisman roses, gypsophila and white heather, sent from Scotland for the wedding by relatives of the bridegroom.

The bride's maid was her sister, Miss Jean McDonald, who was gowned in pussy willow silk crepe of a poudre blue shade, patterned in a leaf design of black and white, and worn with a short jaquette of white taffeta. Her white straw hat was trimmed with blue. She wore white kid slippers and white kid gloves and carried a bouquet of delphinium, gladioli and clarkia, with gypsophila.

Mr. James Thomson of Toronto, classmate at Osgoode Hall of the bridegroom, was best man.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served to twenty guests, immediate relatives, at Knox Manse, the home of the bride's parents, with Messrs. Hooper and Sons catering. The bride's cake, banked with white tulle, centered the table, which was done with white heather and pastel-tinted sweet peas and other flowers.

Mrs. W. McDonald, mother of the bride, received in a coat frock of navy crepe with white polka dots and white embroidered crepe collar and cuffs. She wore a white hat and white accessories.

Mrs. Little, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in white crepe, flowered in navy and pale blue and worn with a full-length coat of navy silk crepe. She wore a hat of navy and grey and white shoes and gloves. Both wore corsage bouquets of roses and cornflowers.

Mr. Little and his bride left later by motor for a trip to Quebec and other eastern points. The bride travelled in an ensemble of cinnamon brown boucle crepe, with beige crepe collar and cuffs and hat of beige felt. Her gloves, purse and anakeskin shoes were all in beige tones.

On their return, they will live at North Bay, where Mr. Little is a member of the legal firm of McGaughey and Little. The bride has been a member of the teaching staff at York Memorial Collegiate Institute, Toronto. Both are graduates of Queen's University, Kingston.

Obituary

MRS. MARY GUERIN

Mrs. Mary Guerin, a life-long resident of this city, passed away in St. Josephs Hospital yesterday morning after a brief illness.

The deceased was born in East City, daughter of the late Martin Kylie and Mrs. Theresa Kylie. Her husband died about ten years ago. She was a faithful worker in the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

As well as her mother, seven daughters—Mrs. R. Shelton, Mrs. R. McCullough, Marion, Rita, Marcelle and Lillian, all of Peterborough, and Mrs. William Edwards of Hamilton; and four sons—Martin of Perth, and Emmett, William and Jack of Peterborough, survive. Remaining also are two sisters, Mrs. D. Hayes, Rochester, and Mrs. G. Tobin, Peterborough, and two brothers, Emmett, Peterborough, and Joseph Rochester.

The funeral will proceed from the home, 161 Clifton street to the Church of the Immaculate Conception to-morrow morning at 8.45 o'clock. Interment will be made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

WILLIAM J. BYERS

William J. Byers, well-known merchant and former member of North Monaghan Township Council is dead in his 71st year. He passed away on Saturday evening following an illness of two weeks' duration.

Born near Ballieboro on August 15, 1864, he was a son of the late David Byers and Mary Pacey. Some thirty years ago he opened a general store in North Monaghan and built up a successful business in the district, which subsequently came to be known as Byersville. He was also postmaster of the sub-post office located in his store.

During his long residence here the late Mr. Byers served on North Monaghan Township Council. He was generally well-known and was held in wide respect.

Predeceased by his wife five years ago, and also by a daughter Marion, he leaves three children and five brothers.

The funeral is to be held from the family residence, 103 Monaghan road, Byersville, on Tuesday, August 21, at 2 p.m. The Rev. William McDonald, pastor of Knox United Church, will officiate at the service and interment will be made at Little Lake Cemetery.

Magistrate's Court

Police staged a raid early Sunday morning upon the old stone barn at 262 Brock street and successfully rounded up more than a dozen young men who were gambling there, Chief Newhall said today.

The barn, claimed to be a popular gambling hide-away, had been under police observation for some time. About 2 a.m. Sunday, Sergeant William Wigg and Constable Jack Thompson entered the barn by a rear door which had been left wide open. One of the youths was in the act of throwing the dice and $2.50 was on the table when the police walked in. All present were taken to the police station.

Kenneth Avery, the only one of the group charged before Police Magistrate Langley today, pleaded not guilty to permitting the barn to be used as a disorderly house. He was remanded until Monday. The other will appear next Monday.

A young man, a transient, pleaded guilty to stealing eight dollars, a compact and other articles from two local young women. He was remanded until Wednesday in order that police may obtain his record.

DOCTOR VICTIM OF GUN ATTACK

B. C. Physician Dies 2 Weeks After Despondent Patient Shoots Him.

ATTACKER WOUNDS SELF.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 20 (C.P.). — Dr. A. P. Proctor, chief medical officer in Vancouver for the Canadian Pacific Railway, died to-day as the result of an abdominal bullet wound alleged to have been inflicted in his office August 3 by T. A. Sargood of Revelstoke, B.C. Sargood is suffering from a serious bullet wound which police say was self-inflicted.

The 66-year-old physician was shot through the lower chest.

For some time attending physicians held out hope for his recovery, but late last week they realized he was not making the progress expected.

Sargood, a former Canadian Pacific Railway locomotive fireman, had suffered from a serious condition of the bones. Dr. Proctor had found him physically unfit to continue at work, and this fact, police believe, had preyed on the fireman's mind.

Witnesses of the shooting said Sargood waited in the medical office on August 3 for some time before the doctor appeared. They said the physician entered and, almost immediately, three shots were fired.

Dr. Procter's first thought after the shooting was evidently for Sargood. H. B. Garland, one of the witnesses of the tragedy, stated as the doctor slumped to the floor, heard him murmuring, "Poor fellow, poor fellow."

MIDWAY SHOWS ARRIVE IN CITY FOR EXHIBITION

Wallace Brothers' All-Canadian Midway Here for Big Fair.

SIX UP-TO-DATE RIDES.

As first rays of dawn streaked the eastern sky to-day, a special train arrived here over Canadian Pacific lines, bringing with it Wallace Brothers' All-Canadian Midway which is playing Peterborough Industrial Exhibition this week.

Within a short time of their arrival here an army of 150 showmen was busy transporting equipment to the fair grounds, and this evening an attractive, well-equipped amusement park near the Lansdowne street entrance is the result of their labours.

J. P. Sullivan, manager of the midway, said he hoped to commence operating this evening, but at the time of The Examiners interview, he was not definite on that point. To-morrow however, he said, the midway will be in full swing to take care of the crowds that are expected for Children's Day.

Wallace Brothers' Midway, under management of Mr. Sullivan, is an attractive feature carrying the entire confidence of the Board of Directors. It is a midway complete with six up-to-date rides and a number of interesting sideshows coming here direct from Montreal and Perth.

The rides include Merry-go-round, Ferris wheel; Chair-o-planes; Caterpillar; Pony track; Kiddy rides, etc., with sideshows consisting of Coney Island; King Kongo; Official war pictures; Dion's animal circus featuring an 8-legged freak horse), athletic tent and illusion show.

Deny Princesses Are Being Guarded

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(C. P. Cable.) — Unqualified denial was forthcoming to-day of the report printed in a Sunday paper that Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose were being specially guarded at Glamis Castle in Scotland because of kidnap threats.

The reason the children have not been seen in the nearby village lately, an authority said, was because of an outbreak of scarlet fever from which they are being sheltered. Otherwise the entire household enjoys complete freedom, not a single detective being in attendance.

The Deeside is eagerly awaiting the arrival of the King at Balmoral Castle to-morrow, after a week at Sandringham, to continue his freedom from the cares of State.

The queen will join His Majesty after spending a few days en route. The Princess Royal, Princess Mary, is now at her Yorkshire home.

At Glamis Margaret Rose, the youngest of the two daughters of the Duke and Duchess of York, celebrates her fourth birthday to-morrow. She is the only child of the blood Royal born in Scotland since Charles I.

and employees of the Chinese Eastern Railway last week was assailed by the Soviet Union as an attempt to coerce the Soviet authorities into sale of the railway, after negotiations had broken down on price consideration).

To Celebrate Silver Jubilee

"GENTLEMEN, THE KING." "LONG MAY HE REIGN"

Next year loyal subjects of his majesty the King, will gather in London to celebrate the 25th anniversary of his coronation. From farthest corners of his far flung empire, representatives will come to pay homage to King George the Fifth, a king and a man. ABOVE are shown their majesties as they appeared at the coronation ceremonies in Westminster Abbey, June 22, 1911, while a recent study of his majesty appears in circle.

EMPIRE DELEGATES WILL MEET FOR KING'S SILVER JUBILEE

Gather in London Next Year to Honor Monarch's Jubilee of Coronation.

MAKING PREPARATIONS

By T. C. WATSON,
Central Press Canadian Correspondent.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Already they are making preparations for the celebration of King George's silver jubilee.

The date is May 6, 1935, and then the twenty-fifth anniversary of the King's reign will be made the occasion of great rejoicing, preliminary arrangements are already announced in the fall.

This settles for all the rumors and feelings of uneasiness which have been abroad concerning King George's health.

The King has been seen out and about a good deal of late. He was even induced for the first time for many months to wear a full-dress uniform on the occasion of the trooping of the colors celebrating his 69th birthday. His appearance, too, at the Derby, the Ascot and Wimbledon suggested robust health.

Already a committee of the Cabinet and representatives of the Governments of the dominions are working on the plans and an announcement may be made shortly.

Include All Empire.

The celebrations will be Empire-wide and it is anticipated they will last a fortnight. Nearly all the overseas prime ministers and the heads of government and most of the Indian princes with their picturesque entourages will visit London to take part in the festivities.

Foreign rulers will also visit London personally to convey their own felicitations and those of the people. The plans include addresses of congratulation from the home, Empire and foreign parliaments and a speech by the King—and possibly one by the Queen—over the radio.

A ring of bonfires round Britain and across the Empire will be lit by Boy Scouts.

Naval, military and air reviews and displays will be given.

State banquets will be held at Buckingham Palace, and issue of a special honors list is expected.

The school children, naturally, are not going to be neglected. The next generation of Britons are going to be surfeited with tea and cakes and jubilee "mugs."

The streets of London and all the big provincial centres will be decorated with bunting and fairy lights. Holiday resorts will have special gala weeks, for each city, town and village is organizing its own jubilee celebration committee.

Troops Receive Medals.

All the troops taking part in the special celebrations will be awarded a special jubilee medal; so the latest joined rookie will be able to plaster his manly breast with a piece of "color" just as the old war veterans do.

Throughout the Empire, with the notable exception of the Irish Free State, the jubilee will be celebrated with messages of loyalty and so forth.

India will see all the splendors of the Delhi Durbar repeated, with the ruling princes on state elephants, bejeweled and magnificently robed, taking a prominent part in paying tribute to King George. They will shower gifts upon the King and in turn he will shower fresh honors and privileges upon them.

The Weather

TORONTO, Aug. 20. (CP).—Synopsis: A deep and wide spread area of low pressure centred in Ungava has a trough of low extending southward to the New Jersey coast while pressure is high to the immediate west of the Great Lakes and low in Northern Manitoba. Showers and thunderstorms have occurred in Ontario and western Quebec with strong southwest to northwest winds, though elsewhere the weather has been for the most part fair. It has become much cooler from the Great Lakes eastward to the lower St. Lawrence valley and is becoming cooler again in the far west.

Lower Lake region and Georgian Bay—Fresh to strong northwest winds, decreasing to-night; fair to-day and Tuesday; quite cool to-night.

Northern Ontario—Strong west and Northwest winds, decreasing on Tuesday; fair and quite cool to-night and Tuesday.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence valleys—Fresh to strong west and northwest winds, decreasing by Tuesday; fair to-day and Tuesday; quite cool to-night.

The rainfall of yesterday totalled .31 of an inch locally and was quite general. The shortage of rainfall is still quite pronounced—less than one inch having fallen this month up to the present time. —W.P.

Spirit of Lipton Still Seeks Cup

Count the late Sir Thomas Lipton in as a member of the crew of the British cup challenger Endeavour. For it was the 'never say die' spirit of the gallant Irish sportsman that prompted T. O. M. Sopwith (LOWER) to build the Endeavour and challenge for the America's Cup. Sir Thomas tried for thirty years without success. Sopwith, famed as an aeroplane designer, hopes to take the cup to England after the races off Newport, R.I.

MANCHUKIANS ARREST THREE SOVIET OFFICIALS

MOSCOW, Aug. 20, (C.P.-Havas) Further Manchukuan arrests of Soviet officials of the Chinese Eastern Railway were announced from Harbin, Manchuria, to-day.

They were, Ostarin, chief of the loading service at Imyanpo; Sokolov, cashier of a commercial agency at the So Chang Tse station; and Mikhailov, station chief at Tai Ping Lin.

Kostmarov, White Russian police officer, who insulted Slavutsky, Soviet consul general at Harbin, has been discharged.

TWO U.S. FLIERS CRASH IN WALES

Pond and Sabelli Escape Unhurt but Plane is Wrecked on Hillside.

AIMED TO REFLY OCEAN.

NEWPORT, Pembrokeshire, Wales, Aug. 20. — (AP) — George Pond and Cesare Sabelli sadly surveyed today the wreckage of the airplane they had hoped would carry them on a return flight across the Atlantic.

While they were flying at a fast speed, the plane crashed into a hillside early yesterday when they attempted to make a forced landing on a hop from Dublin to Rome.

The fliers escaped serious injuries but were shaken up and bruished. Their plane was buried near the top of a 1,200-foot mountain. An inspector is to go over it to see if salvage is possible.

Pond and Sabelli, who were forced down at Moy, on the west coast of Ireland, after flying the Atlantic in May, spent all day Sunday in bed recovering from effectsof their crash. Pond, who was piloting at the time, was worse shaken than Sabelli and decided to submit to an X-ray examination to make sure his injuries are not serious.

"We were lucky to escape with our lives," Pond said. After landing they tried to gain entrance to a farmhouse but the farmer was afraid to open the door when they knocked. So after sleeping a while under the plane's wings they walked into town.

Describing their experience, Pond said:

"We went right into a dense heavy fog, pouring rain and a strong wind when we reached the Irish sea. We cruised over the sea for about an hour, flying blind, then decided to return to the Welsh coast. Suddenly we crashed in complete darkness."

England now has 10,178,000 employed, the largest number since December, 1929.

Firing Of Magistrate Snags Goderich Court

GODERICH, Ont., Aug. 20. — There was a unique situation in police court here this morning. When court convened at 10 o'clock there was no one in the magistrate's chair to proceed, due to the change over in Ontario's magisterial system.

Two prisoners who were to have had their trials remained in jail although the time limit of remand had expired. Former County Magistrate C. A. Reid was in his private quarters. He said he had received formal notice of his removal from office on Saturday last, but that it did not include the appointment of juvenile court and domestic relations, which he will retain.

Crown Attorney D. E. Holmes said he had no word from Toronto as to procedure. Two provincial police appeared at court promptly on time for the trials of two men they had arrested, County Constable Block came 25 miles from Zurich to lay an information. He was referred to Magistrate Hawkeshaw at London.

County Judge T. M. Costello is the only man in the county now empowered to take an information. He is ex-officio justice of the peace with powers of a magistrate.

Lawyers present in court this morning said if prisoners slated for trial today were brought to court they would have to be released.

Judge Hardy Is Asked To Continue On Bench

BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 20.—(CP) — Judge A. D. Hardy, county judge of Brant, today was in receipt of a telephone communication from the Minister of Justice, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, asking him to continue in the office of county judge of Brant for some time. Judge Hardy will accordingly carry on the duties of county judge as usual in the opening of the courts in September.

Judge Hardy celebrated his 75th birthday, last July 13. By retiring from the bench he has occupied since 1907.

Radium Treatment Shrinking Small Tumor On Thigh Of Smallest Of Dionne Babies

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 20.—(CP)—Radium treatment is shrinking a small tumor on the thigh of Marie, smallest of the 24-day old Dionne quintuplet girls, Dr. Edmund Kelly, Baltimore radiologist, said today.

Dr. Kelly, associate radiologist at the Howard Kelly hospital in Baltimore, explained radium treatment, applied for exactly two weeks, had resulted in shrinkage of the tumor, first thought to be a birthmark.

"While it has not diminished to any appreciable extent in circumference, it has lost in elevation and seems to be in a receding, quiescent condition." He said, the tumor also has changed in color from a deep red to a dull gray.

Dr. Kelly said he expected the tumor would shrink in a few months until nothing of it was visible except a small white scar.

"If this does not occur," he added, "we will have to apply more radium treatments, but I don't think it will be necessary."

Girl Swallows Fork Operation Finds It

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Aug. 20 (CP)—An ordinary silver fork 7½ inches long and of extra heavy weight was removed from the stomach of Miss Lorraine Hewes, of this city, by Dr. H. G. Murray, in the General and Marine Hospital, on Saturday afternoon.

The fork had been swallowed by Miss Hewes, who is 18 years old, about 11 o'clock in the morning while she was examining her throat. She suffered no inconvenience at the time, but consulted a physician at once, and the operation was performed about 3½ hours later, after an X-ray had been taken to determine the exact location of the fork.

The patient is making excellent progress at the hospital.

This is the first time such an unusual operation has been performed in this city.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

There is a delicious freshness about the blueberry that makes it universally appealing—just as if it had some of the ozone of the northlands tucked under its skin. Blueberries or huckleberries as they are often called, are very popular with men, and housewives have tried ways of keeping them through the winter.

* * * * * * *

Blueberry jam is about the simplest and most satisfactory way of retaining the full flavor of the fresh berries. The cooking period by the modern method is so short that none of the blandness is lost. Canned or preserved blueberries are inclined to be watery, and not very flavorsome.

* * * * * * *

Jam making has become part of the program at summer cottages. The family picks the berries and mother makes the jam in such a short time that there is no interference with the holiday. All the supply boats of the northern lake carry "jam makings" on them—jars, sugar, paraffin, and bottled pectin.

* * * * * * *

Here's a simple way to carry blueberries into winter menus—4½ cups (2¼ pounds) prepared fruit, 7 cups (3 pounds sugar), one cup bottled fruit pectin. Method: To prepared fruit, crush about two quarts fully ripe berries. Add juice of one lemon and grated rind of ½ lemon. Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard for two minutes. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Skim, pour quickly. Paraffin at once. Makes about 12 six-ounce jars.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterborough's Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Mrs. Thelma Brakenbridge, 68 Melbourne Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

Your handwriting indicates various moods, and I might suggest that you endeavour to curb these moods instead of letting them get the better of you, because you are a very generous person, kindly and sympathetic, but moods such as yours are apt to create a propensity to become taciturn. The real you, is jolly, fun-loving and very humorous. Most of us have two sides to our nature, and very seldom do we appreciate having our weak points brought to light, so please bear in mind that the above is done in a spirit of friendly helpfulness.

You should be fond of music, though you may not be quite sufficiently interested in it to make a definite study of it.

Your 't' bars suggest that you commence projects with a great deal of enthusiasm, then something transpires which seems to take the joy out of your endeavours, and you become mentally and physically apathetic.

Your two capitals 'T's' in the words 'Thelma and Toronto' show artistic tendencies and a desire to be allowed to 'run your own business'. The capital 'B' in Brakenbridge portrays generosity. The lower loop attendant to the 'g' indicates a delight in the out of door recreations, but not as in any line of physical culture. You simply like to be out in the open, walking about and seeing people. Don't you?

Your disposition is changeable, because you are not always in the best of health, you seem to have headaches and so become quite impatient.

You have a fair amount of imagination and should enjoy taking part in social events, because your ideas regarding the entertaining side of the affairs would be most admirable.

You have an emotional side to your nature which you try valiantly to hide at times, but being restless you do not always accomplish your desire. Try to avoid being alone too much, and take great care of your throat and lungs.

You did not give me year of birth, so I am unable to delineate a correct number for you. However, your birthsign is Cancer The Crab. You are ruled by the Moon. February and September are excellent months for important undertakings. Monday is your lucky day.

Aileen Stuartt, Lakefield, Ont.

Your handwriting is very interesting for it portrays emotions which are versatile, yet expressive of your kindness of heart. I am very much afraid that you often 'Get into hot water' due to your delightfully sympathetic nature. You see, you would do things for others whom your heart led you to believe were deserving, only to discover later that the persons in question were 'laughing up their sleeves' as it were. The forward leaning slant of your writing designates impulsive qualities, so you may be sure that this is the cause of your exuberant 'doing or giving'.

Your upper loops represent literary ability, and I feel sure that you would have made an excellent newspaper correspondent if you had known about this talent at the correct time.

You should enjoy being out of doors, and I feel certain that you are much happier when the sun shines than you are on a dull day. No doubt you will question, "Who isn't?" But let me assure you that many people love rain and fog, it seems to create an elemental adjustment for them, in which they find mental relaxation, or inspiration.

You are reliable and honest, and should possess strong domestic instincts.

You ask if Friday is your lucky day, but according to the horoscope allotted to you, Monday should be the most fortunate. However, one of your splendid ability and common sense, should have the happy faculty of making any day in the week lucky.

Your number as revealed in numerology is six. This in turn complies with the delineation of your handwriting and shows definitely that a correct analysis has been given, in that the chart tells precisely the same, with the addition of the following words: Sixes are found among managers, superintendents, teachers lecturers, writers, nurses, doctors, welfare workers, humanitarians and altruists.

Your birthsign is Cancer the Crab. You are ruled by the Moon. February and September are your most fortunate months.

FORFEITING PARTNER'S CONFIDENCE.

It is a strange fact that some finished players love to get out on a limb. They apparently love to gouge opponents for the last possible trick. To accomplish this they sometimes take chances which are impossible to justify, just as the declarer of the following hand did.

In the first place, West had a hand calling for an opening bid of 1-Spade. He made an opening bid of 2 no trumps, with a singleton diamond. Probably just because he held 150 aces. Then when he was warned by his partner's overcall of 3-Spades (which was some bid), he went 3 no trumps.

Of course the opening lead was the K of diamonds. That sobered up West for a few moments, at least. He carefully noted that he required 4 entries in dummy to take 1 finesse in spades, 1 in clubs and 2 in hearts. He should not have thought of taking a finesse in a third suit until he had taken in his full 9 tricks. He wasn't my partner, so it was none of my business.

Having scanned the hand carefully, West led the 9 of spades, to avoid a later block if all went well. Dummy's K won the trick. A return lead of a low spade enabled declarer's J to win on a finesse. The Ace dropped the Q, and the 2 of spades was overtaken with dummy's 5, giving West his first 5 tricks.

The 5 of hearts was led. The J won on a finesse, insuring the declarer 10 tricks, without further risk. He had won 6 tricks. He held 2 certain added tricks in clubs, and he could again finesse hearts through South. That was the safe and sane thing to do, with a flock of established diamonds held in the North hand.

All of us expected the declarer to take his 10 tricks, and quit, but he led his 8 of clubs, at which we all wondered. Dummy's K won the trick, and back went the 2 of clubs, to try the J finesse. It won. The declarer led his Ace of clubs, dropped the Q, and then he led his 6 of clubs, which dummy won with the 7.

Again hearts were led. The Q won on a finesse, and the Ace won the twelfth trick. The last trick went to South's good heart. The only remark came in a very English voice from East: "Beautifully conceived, partner, but a bit dangerous, don't you think?" Not another comment was made. West's face plainly enough showed that the quiet thrust had penetrated.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

People frequently ask: "What did they do about such or such a disease in the old days?" For some diseases the answer is, they treated very much as we do now, with about the same results. Sometimes one is inclined to think the patient was better off than with very modern and often dangerous forms of treatment—some of the overenthusiastic forms of surgical operation that have been making the front pages of the newspapers. Mostly, of course, we think that our methods of today are superior to those of former times.

To take a few illustrative instances of what was done in former days, let us start out with such a familiar subject as tonsils: Tonsils and their troubles have been known since the earliest times. Hippocrates, the Father of medicine, writes about them. It was even advised to remove them by Celsus, a Roman writer on medicine; he says when diseased, "they should be disengaged all around by the finger." This method is still used in some clinics. Celsus advised that if the tonsils could not be removed by the finger method, "it is necessary to take hold of them with a small hook and cut them out with a knife: Then wash the ulcer with vinegar and rub the wound with a styptic medicine." That sounds very modern, in spite of the fact that it was written 1,800 years ago.

Adenoids, however, were not seen until 1860, after the invention of the laryngoscopic mirror which illuminates the back of the throat.

For other diseases, modern, and very modern treatment at that, has instituted an entirely new outlook for the patient. Diabetes is a splendid example. Diabetes has been known and described for hundreds of years. Not until 1797, however, was any attempt made to treat it by diet; this was by an English physician, John Rollo, who used a meat diet. The dietary treatment was put on the most scientific basis by Naunyn, the Strassbourg clinician, and later Allen introduced his fasting diet. But the best results obtained by any of these methods was that there were 42 per cent. of deaths in diabetes due to coma.

When Banting introduced insulin treatment this fell to 21 per cent., and then, with improvements in the technique, to less than 5 per cent. Certainly this represents an enormous gain from the old days when the diagnosis of diabetes was considered to mean an inevitably fatal outcome.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this peper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CANADIAN GENERAL EXHIBIT ONE OF THE LARGEST IN YEARS

Royal Romance

Engagement of Juliana, queen-to-be of the Netherlands, and Prince Karl, nephew of Sweden's king, is expected to be announced on Aug. 31, Juliana's birthday.

BE BEAUTIFUL

While strolling along the sands at the Atlantic Beach club the other afternoon, I casually examined the figures of the girls who were lolling around on the beach. Most of the girls, I discovered, really had attractive figures. It's easy to tell if a figure is well-proportioned or not today, you know, bathing suits being what they are. Fat girls were distinctly in the minority. And most of the beach sirens had firm, supple, slender bodies.

However, there seems to be one figure defect that is quite commonly seen at beaches. That defect is underdeveloped thighs. Some girls' figures really are perfectly proportioned, except that their thighs are too thin, and do not meet properly. And this thigh scrawniness does detract quite a bit from the symmetry of the figure.

However, it really isn't very difficult to develop and round out the thighs. The first step in the process, of course, is proper exercise. There are some excellent exercises for this purpose in my "New Figure" booklet. And the following ones are also most helpful.

Stand erect, feet about a foot apart, hands on hips. Then squat down on your haunches, and walk about the room in that position. The position is one frequently assumed in Russian folk dances, and the exercise is excellent for developing the thighs.

Lie on your right side on the floor, hands over head. Then swing your left leg forward and your right leg backward simultaneously, keeping your knees stiff. Do this ten times and then repeat, lying on your left side.

In addition to proper exercise, warmed coco butter may be used to help round out the thigh contours. The coco butter, which may be procured in cake form in any drug store, should first be warmed to an oil, and then gently massaged into the thighs. This should be done nightly before retiring, and a bit of the lubricant should be allowed to remain on over night. The coco butter will help to nourish the tissues and round out the thigh contours.

Spaghetti Ring Green Beans
Fruit Salad Refrigerator Cookies
Coffee—Hot or Iced

Make your meals as original as possible during the hot weather—and as simple. The one dish in this one that entails any amount of work is the main one, spaghetti ring, and it is not elaborate and is very tasty. The cookies may be mixed at any convenient time, and left to stand in the refrigerator until a cool moment to bake.

Today's Recipes

Spaghetti Ring—One package spaghetti broken in pieces, two tablespoons butter, one tablespoon chopped green pepper, one small onion, minced, one cup canned or fresh mushrooms, three eggs, one cup tomato puree, one cup grated cheese. Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water. Drain. Melt butter in a small frying pan, add green pepper and onion and saute three minutes. Add mushrooms and cook a few minutes longer. Beat egg yolks, add milk, onion, green pepper and mushroom mixture. Add tomato puree and remaining ingredients. Season well. Fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Turn into a greased baking dish or ring mold, set in a pan of water and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees Fahrenheit until firm, about one hour. This recipe will serve 12, so unless there are guests, perhaps it would be better to halve the recipe and bake it in a loaf pan.

Refrigerator Cookies—Two cups of bread flour, or two and one-fourth cups pastry flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one-half cup butter, one and one-fourth cups brown sugar, one egg, one-half cup nut meats, chopped; one and one-half teaspoons vanilla. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, add sugar and cream well. Add beaten egg, nut meats and vanilla. Add flour, shape into rolls one and one-half inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper, place in refrigerator to chill. When hard enough to slice, cut very thin with heated knife and bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees F., about 10 minutes. Preparation time, 10 minutes.

Fruit Salad—One-half cup diced peaches, one-half cup diced pineapple, one-half cup diced pears, one-fourth cup red cherries. Mix and chill fruits. Drain off juices and arrange fruits on lettuce. Top with French dressing.

Sherry Cobbler

(Use large bar-glass.)

Take one tablespoon fine white sugar, one sliced orange, cut into quarters; two small slices pineapple. Fill the glass nearly full of shaved ice, then fill it up with sherry wine, shake up, ornament the top with berries in season and serve with a straw.

Home Lovers Must Not Neglect to Visit C.G.E. Tent.

MODEL KITCHEN.

Homelovers must not neglect to visit the Canadian General Electric Company's electrical home appliances exhibit at Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

Housed under the "big top" of a marquee tent, the exhibit is the largest and possibly the most attractive ever presented locally by the C.G.E. Company. That is a big claim to make considering the numerous exhibits which the company has staged during the long course of its operations in this city, but the fact remains that the exhibit is the largest the company has ever placed at the Exhibition Grounds.

The reason for its unusual attractiveness and appeal lies perhaps in the fact that the exhibit embodies all the very latest in electrical home appliances, and it is interesting to note the rapid strides that have been made in this branch of the electrical engineering field.

A feature of the show is a model kitchen completely equipped with electrical labor saving devices.

Housewives who know the drudgery associated with the usual old method of dishwashing, will doubtless be interested in the electric dishwashing machine, and maybe unless friend "hubby" is prepared to buy one of these time savers, he would be well advised not to linger too long. The same is true of all exhibits, from electric refrigerators, washing machines and vacuum cleaners down to handy little toasting machines and waffle irons.

Press Button—Presto!

Apparently one merely has to place the stacks of greasy dishes and cutlery in the racks with which the dishwater is fitted, press an electric button—and presto the job is complete. The reporter's lay mind was not quite convinced as to whether or not the machine dries the dishes besides washing them, but he would not be surprised to learn that was so.

The kitchen with its gleaming and spotless cream and black painted walls and cabinets lined with light blue, demonstrates that in the modern household this section of the establishment can be one of the most attractive of rooms.

Its electrical equipment includes a refrigerator, dishwasher, "Hotpoint" range, table model radio, telephone, clock, fan, and "Mixmaster." In addition the fittings include a handsome Monel metal sink with hot and cold water faucets."

'You Have and You Haven't"

Another item among the numerous lines on display, is an electrically cooled water fountain. The fountain spurts a continuous stream of ice-cold water, the flow of which is only interrupted when a person is in the act of taking a drink.

Imagine the surprise of a thirsty individual seeing a stream of thirst-quenching water, the supply of which is shut off, when he leans over to drink. But then that is only part of the novelty, and the supply can be readily obtained by operation of a conveniently-placed handle at the side of the fountain.

What actually happens is that a person leaning over the machine in the act of drinking intercepts the ray of light from the photo-electric cell by which the machine is controlled. There is no mystery about it, but a decided novelty which is bound to make popular appeal.

Six "Hotpoint" ranges finished in glossy cream and white enamel, and five refrigerators from the big "Monitor" tops to the less expensive models are grouped about the tent along with washing machines, electric ironers, vacuum cleaners, radios and sun lamps.

Show cases and show counters are utilized for the display of coffee percolators, waffle irons, laundry irons, grillers, clocks, fans, heaters and toasters. Other sections of the tent feature a display of fractional and induction motors, and electric furnace blower equipment.

Throughout the week the display will be in charge of Messrs. James Morley, M. Hurrle, "Bud" Weese, and Stanley Richardson.

In the classical mythology, ambrosia was the food and drink of the gods.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

IT BEGINS to look as if a racing commission will be established in Ontario by the Hepburn Government. It is the proper thing to do as there is no hiding the fact that something is wrong in Canadian racing circles. At present the Canadian Racing Association control some tracks and A. M. Orpen has three under his own personal ownership and will have no part or parcel of the C. R. A. Then there is Stamford at Niagara Falls, and Devonshire at Windsor, who are independent of any allegiance. With a good strong Commission appointed by the government such as they have in United States, things would be a lot better.

x x x

They could set dates for the different tracks and lay down claiming rules that would be uniform all over Ontario. Take for instance Stamford closes Saturday and there will be no more racing in Ontario for two full weeks until Thorncliffe opens on Sept. 8th. Horsemen from across the line cannot be expected to keep their horses idle for all this period with Detroit, Saratoga and Providence operating every day. Another thing that would be attended to is the case of the Hatch Stable who are barred from competing on C.R.A. tracks, and have been idle practically all summer.

x x x

THE COMMISSION would also foster high class breeding and this end of the sport certainly needs attention as with so many tracks operating across the line we are faced with a severe shortage of good horses. We told you in Saturday's column that the Campbell, Foden combination would click regularly at Niagara and they made good for us by winning the opening race on opening day with the good sprinter Canny Age. Butch Keeling figures to win purses with Mrs. Foster and Dark War. Both are on razor edge. We still think Don Vern will knock them dizzy one of these days at Detroit. Also old Tarnish from the same stable.

x x x

STAMFORD OPENED on Saturday with a mammoth crowd in attendance, and it looks like a big week at that point. Connaught Park put up the shutters and racing in Eastern Canada is a thing of the past as far as this year is concerned. Did you notice what Khorasan did on Saturday at Providence. Imagine fifteen to one and your own money back on this baby, who usually pays about five dollars and twenty cents at our tracks. This will not be the only race he will win down there either so climb aboard. Jim Badame sent him down there with the idea of getting in on some of those large purses and has made a good start.

Lindsay Net Team Defeated By Petes

In Kawartha Tennis League competition in Lindsay Saturday, the Kawartha "B" team defeated Lindsay, 3 matches to 2. The home netters won only the men's singles and the mixed doubles, the Kawartha players taking both men's doubles and the ladies' doubles. Results were: Men's singles—E. Rigby of Kawartha lost to F. Williams, 4-6, 6-3 and 3-6; first men's doubles—J. H. Bell and E. Gledhill of Kawartha defeated B. Hislop and G. Harpur, 6-3, 2-6 and 6-3; second men's doubles—W. T. Holgate and W. T. Fanjoy of Kawartha beat K. Gregory and Roy Baker, 6-3 and 6-2; mixed doubles—Miss E. Stacey and E. Chambers of Kawartha lost to Miss A. Less and Ross Baker, 1-6 and 2-6; ladies' doubles—Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy and Miss J. Allin of Kawartha were successful over Miss C. Kelcher and Miss I. Gee, 2-6, 6-3 and 6-4.

Petes Win 4-1 Exhibition from Syracuse Tigers

SENIORS SCORE 3 RUNS IN 7TH TO COP VICTORY

Good Pitching and Smart Fielding Predominates in Exhibition Tussle.

TWO DOUBLE PLAYS.

The Petes defeated the Syracuse Tigers, 4-1, Saturday in an exhibition ball game before a large crowd at Riverside Park. It was a snappy affair between well-matched squads, with the locals bunching three hits and a walk in the seventh to tally three times and break the 1-1 deadlock. Good pitching and smart fielding predominated and aided in running the game off in less than an hour and a half.

Lefty Brown was on the negroes' slab and he hurled a neat brand of ball to hold the Lee gang to seven hits while he fanned four. Outside of the seventh, the Petes could do little to his slants. Brown's support was good except for two bobbles. The homesters used three twirlers, each going three frames.

Archie Deyell started it off and gave but two hits and no walks while striking out four in classy flinging. Russ Kitchen took up the task and also gave only two hits with no complimentaries as he struck out two. Bill Calladine finished it up, issuing no walks, sending three back swinging and being touched for three hits, no two an inning. They had almost perfect support, including two nice double-plays.

Graham and Cooper of the Tigers hit safely twice each in four appearances. Murray was the only local cleuter to connect more than once, getting two singles in four trips. Konopka and Houston both banged out doubles. Kitchen and Calladine got a hit each in one appearance at the plate. Good fielding was turned in by the Stokes' brothers and Cooper for the losers, and Konopka and Murray of the Petes. Fine running catches were made by Wormack in left and Graham in centre for the visitors.

The homesters got a run in the first when Konopka doubled to left was sacrificed and scored on an out. The Tigers got it back in the fourth when Graham went to second on Konopka's bad throw, third on Cooper's single and home on an out. Only one man reached second for them the rest of the contest.

In the Petes' half of the fourth, they had runners on second and third and only one out, but could not tally. But they got three in the seventh when Hollingsworth singled, Fetter walked and Calladine beat out a bunt hit to fill the sacks, with Houston then doubling through third to score two and Foley's fly sending home another.

FOURTH PLAY-OFF POSITION GOAL OF THREE KNAPP CLUBS

Bears, Redwings and Toronto Leafs Almost Assured of Posts.

ROYALS LOST GROUND.

(By the Associated Press)

Barring accidents, Newark Bears, Rochester Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs appeared today to be assured of three of the four berths in the International League's play-off series to determine a loop representative in the little world series against the American Association winner. But the fourth berth still was the subject of a wide open argument among Albany Senators, Buffalo Bisons and, to a lesser degree, Montreal Royals.

With three weeks of the regular season yet to go, Albany and Buffalo were locked in a virtual tie for fourth place with the Royals two games behind. After Albany had taken a 10-4 beating from Buffalo yesterday, the Senators still held fourth place although the percentages had to be carried to five figures before Albany's advantage could be discerned.

The relative standings of the two rivals were:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Albany	65	64	.50387
Buffalo	66	65	.50381

Buffalo won yesterday's encounter as early as the second inning. They drove Ed Chapman out of the box with a four run drive in the first frame and added what proved to be the winning run off Dick Barrett in the second. Ray Fitzgerald's triple and home run drove in half of Buffalo's runs.

Royals Lose Ground

Montreal lost ground by splitting two games with Baltimore. A four-run rally which sent Beryl Richmond to the showers in the third inning won the opening game for the Royals 7-5. Cliff Melton gave the Royals only three hits in the nightcap and Baltimore won 2-1.

Newark, meanwhile, further demonstrated its complete mastery of Rochester, winning its second in a row during the current series, 8-1, behind Marvin Duke's effective pitching. It was the Bears' 13th victory in 19 games with Rochester this season and stretched their lead over the Wings to five games.

Toronto, holding, third place 4½ games behind Rochester and six games ahead of Albany and Buffalo, was idle as was seventh place Syracuse.

Rochester's fast coming Birds were tossed back on their haunches by the league's pace-setters Saturday when Newark halted a last-inning three run rally and won 5-4. Baltimore wiped out a five-run Montreal lead, when they crammed six runs into the eighth inning to win 9-7. Toronto won easily 8-2 in the first game of a bargain bill but weakened as Syracuse came on to win the 10-inning nightcap 3-2.

TIGERS - YANKS KEEP PACE IN AMERICAN RACE

Crowder and Auker, Detroit's Winning Hurlers as Red Sox Lose Twin.

MACKS BEAT INDIANS.

(By Canadian Press)

Brooklyn exercised its "jinx" over Pittsburgh in the remaining game as Ray Benge limited the Pirates to four hits to win 2-1. It was the Dodgers' eighth straight triumph over their Smoky City rivals.

The Tigers and the Yankees, 4½ games apart after Saturday's clashes, maintained the two club status of the American League race by winning a double header apiece.

The Tigers smacked the Red Sox ito submission, 8-6 and 4-3 before the largest American League crowd in Boston's baseball history. Nearly 50,000 fans, 46,995 cash customers and a few who came in free, turned out. They saw (Lefty) Grove take it on the chin in the 1st clash when Detroit drove him out with a typical Tiger rally for five runs in the fifth and young Elden Auker get the better of Rube Walberg in second.

Yanks Beat Browns

The Yanks got off to a flying start by scoring five runs off Bump Hadley in the first three innings annd defeated the Browns 9-3 and 2-1. New York's college hurlers, Johnny Murphy of Fordham and Johnny Broaca of Yale, pitched steadily while George Selkirk, recent alumnus of Newark Bears, drove in four runs.

The Athletics turned back Cleveland 9-5 behind Merrit Cain's seven-hit flinging but suffered a severe setback when Jimmie Foxx was put out of action befors the game. He was struck by a batted ball in pre-game practice.

Pace Pelisge No Help

Chicago White Sox celebrated the big league debut of Allen Benson, Washington's pink-bearded pitcher from the House of David, by driving him out in the eighth then got two more runs off Alex McColl in the ninth for a 9-8 triumph over the Senators.

In the America Saturday, Boston surprised by quelling a ninth inning rally by Detroit to down the league leaders 8-7. Bill Dickey singled in the 12th inning with the bases loaded and the Yanks downed St. Louis 2-1.

The National was a succession of shutouts. Fred Fitzsimmons blanked Cincinnati as the Giants won 5-0; Pat Malone struck out 12 as Chicago Cubs won 2-0 over Philadelphia, annd Bill Hallahan held the Braves to five blows as St. Louis won 15-0.

GIANTS EXTENDED TO BEAT REDS IN ELEVEN INNINGS

Cubs Gain Half a Game by Defeating Phillies in Double.

CARDINALS SPLIT.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

The National League's leaders, New York Giants, held a five-game lead in the pennant race to-day, and it looked none too big as it stacked up against some of the recent performances by their two rivals in the pennant chase, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards staged a great spurt during the past week, winning five games in a row, and threatened to go into second place before they were held to a 30-30 share of a double-header by the Braves yesterday, while the Cubs rallied to win two games from the Phillies. Meanwhile the Giants had their hands full, getting a single 11-inning decision from Cincinnati, 6-4, after Hal Schumacher lost his 12th straight decision over the Reds by weakening in the ninth to "blow" a 4-1 lead.

Superb pitching carried the Cubs to their double victory. Big Bill Lee turned in a five-hit game to take the opener, 2-1. Guy Bush continued by limiting the Phils to six blows in a duel with Euel Moore and won, 4-3, with the aid of Don Hurst's homer.

St. Louis almost kept pace with a double victory. Trailing, 7-0, after four innings of the opener, they rallied to tie it up at 9-9 in the eighth before the Braves pushed over the 10th run against Paul Dean. Pepper Martin, ex-outfielder and third baseman, was one of Dean's five predecessors. The second game was somewhat different, as the Cards drove over three runs in the first, helped by Jim Collins' 20th homer and Joe Medwick's 16th, and won 3-1 for Bill Walker.

Helen Jacobs Wins Tennis Crown Again

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 20.—(A.P.)—Helen Hull Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., won the United States women's tennis championship for the third successive year Sunday, conquering little Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass., in straight sets, 6—1, 6—4.

Except for a brief lapse in the second set, the champion had the perfect touch. Her control was unshakable and from her racquet there streamed a procession of beautiful backhand drives and forehand chops that Miss Palfrey was utterly unable to overtake.

CAMPBELL HOLDS CANADIAN HONORS

Phenomenal Putting at 36th Hole Defeats Somerville by One.

LAVEL-SUR-LE-LAC Club, Montreal, Aug. 20. — Albert "Scotty" Campbell, 20-year-old Seattle lad, to-day holds the Canadian amateur golf title for the second year in a row. With a boyish grin breaking across his sun-seared face he saw a ten-foot putt droop into the cup at the 36th hole here Saturday, defeating Canada's first ranking amateur, C. R. "Sandy" Somerville of London, Ont., one up.

Clipping two strokes from par to retain the Earl Grey Cup, he won last year at Vancouver, fairheaded titlist gave a demonstration of golfing ability and fighting heart that lifts him to the front rank of competitive golfers on the continent.

Fighting with his back to the wall, he came from behind in the morning to overcome a two-hole deficit. In the afternoon, Campbell saw the Canadian run up a three-hole lead in the first five holes, with two birdies and an eagle. He whittled down this lead to square the match at the 36th, and win at the 36th, by dropping a long twisting putt.

WILLIAMS PITCHES NATIONALS TO WIN

Dukes Suffer 4-1 Setback, Lose Any Chance for C.O. B.L. Play-off Berth.

OSHAWA, Aug. 20.—Behind the brilliant four-hit pitching performance by Jack ("Chief") Williams, Belleville Nationals virtually eliminated Oshawa Dukes from any chance of getting into the C.O. B.L. play-offs, when they defeated them 4-1 at Motor City Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Jack ("Dose") Ogden, ace of the Oshawa staff, appeared strong on the mound for the locals until the fourth frame, when three hits combined with three errors by his team-mates, gave Belleville three tallies. Belleville added their other run in the fourth inning and although they touched Ogden for 11 safeties, they were unable to again score.

Oshawa's only run came in the last frame when Peacock was hit by a pitched ball, went to third on Kitchen's single, scoring on Hollingsworth's fielders' choice.

Waifs Determined To Win On Tuesday

The return game of the O.A.S.A. playdown series between Lindsay and the Orphans will be staged here at 5.30 o'clock Tuesday evening in Riverside Park. The Orphans won the first game in Lindsay, but Smith's Smokies will be fighting desperately in this tilt to stave off elimination. It should be a good softball game with the Lindsay hurlers not likely to be so wild again—their wildness alone costing them the first game in the Scugog town. A large crowd is expected to take in this tussle, admission being only fifteen cents.

The winners of this series go up against Oshawa next and Percy Harrison's crew hopes to get this chance. The hundreds of loyal supporters of the gallant Orphans, and the hosts of admirers of Frank Shine, will be out rooting hard for the Waifs tomorrow night. Shine is likely to get the hurling assignment provided he feels okay after his strenuous work in the local play-offs. In Gamble, Lindsay has a fast-ball heaver who is mighty hard to beat when his control is right. The others are pretty much the players who were with last year's champions, the team that Sugar Bowl beat out. They are expected to make it a real battle tomorrow.

PRINCETON MILER TURNS TABLES ON LOVELOCK IN PARIS PROGRAM

Strong Finish Wins for Bill Bonthron in 1,500 Metres Event.

TIME SLOW—3.57.

PARIS, Aug. 20.— (A.P.)— Bill Bonthron, Princeton's great miler, finally turned the tables on Jack Lovelock yesterday, defeating the New Zealander over the 1,500-metre route as touring athletes of the United States made a clean sweep in the closing meet of their European tour.

Bonthorn won in the slow time of 3 minutes 57 seconds, to avenge three previous defeats he suffered at Lovelock's hands.

As usual both Bonthron and his British rival jockeyed for positions far behind the pacemaker in the early stages of the race. Finally, with 30 metres to go, Bonthron made his bid, flying along at a speedy pace he paced into the lead with Lovelock close behind.

Winner Holds Lead.

For once the New Zealander could not match Bonthron's finishing spurt and the big Princeton star held his lead to the finish.

Except for the 15 metres, the invaders 'competition was limited to French athletes and the visitors won every one of the eleven events.

Jack Torrance, huge Louisiana State weight man, and Eulace Peacock of Temple, were double winners. Torrance captured both the shot put and discus throw and Peacock won the broad jump and the 100 metres dash.

Again Breaks Record.

In the shot put, Torrance bettered the listed world's record with a heave of 16.85 metres—55 feet 3 13-32 inches—but failed to threaten his own best toss of 57 feet 5-32 inches.

In the broad jump, Peacock cleared 7.31 metres, 23 feet 7 45-64 inches against 7.078 metres, 23 feet 2 59-16 inches for his nearest rival, R. Paul of France. The Temple flash equalled the French record of 10.6 seconds in winning the 100 metres from Dondelinger of France.

Loughran Peeved At Rumors He Is About To Quit Ring

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Not until we see Tommy Loughran with a waistline resembling that of Uncle Wilbert Robinson and a snowy beard worthy of rivalry with Santa Claus' will we announce that Tommy Loughran is through with the ring.

Loughran's retirement has been announced many times before. It has been predicted in this column. As long ago as 1929 your correspondent was bidding Thomas farewell and assuring the aged veteran that he certainly could take it when he had it.

But Tom has continued to earn his coffee and cakes—very excellent brand of coffee and cakes, too—by means of his fists. And now he assures us that retirement will come as soon as he is too old to fight, he being just a youngster in the first flush of youth.

While training for his latest Johnny Risko bout Tommy was asked whether this was his last battle. He almost flew into a rage, being an amiable fellow usually.

"Why Should I Quit?"

"Why quit," he stormed, "when I can lick some of these fellows regarded as heavyweight title contenders?" The obvious answer would be that he can't lick them. But that is extremely dangerous, for Tommy usually licks the ones no one thinks he can.

Late in 1929 Jack Sharkey smacked Loughran so hard Tommy tried to find a sota in the ring so he could lie down and think it over while taking his ease. It was then folks—including us—predicted Tommy was through.

Since then he has been beaten a half dozen times, but he has also won over Ernie Schaaf (twice), Jimmy Braddock, King Levinsky, Tuffy Griffiths, Risko, Steve Hamas, Paulino Uscudun, Vittorio Campolo and Max Baer. That Max Baer victory happened two years after everyone thought Sharkey had finished Loughran.

Tommy Loughran may be through—but you won't get us to say it.

Great Lakes Yacht Races Start To-Day

TORONTO, Aug. 20 (CP)—Determined to recover for Canada and Toronto's Royal Canadian Yacht Club the yachting supremacy of the Great Lakes, Commodore T. K. Wade will sail Invader II across Lake Ontario to Rochester in an effort to end the Rochester Yacht Club's 30-year hold on the Canada's Cup, blue ribbon of fresh water yacht racing.

Marking the Toronto club's fifth bid for the cup since they lost it to Rochester in 1903 Invader II will go to the starting line August 20 for a series of races which may run to five before the winner can be determined.

In the same month the British sportsman, T. O. M. Sopwith, sends Endeavour after the America's Cup that has grown dusty on Tiffany's shelves as it waited at New York for someone to take it back to England. The Canadians will compete for a trophy which in the eyes of lake sailors at least bulks large in the yachting firmament.

Offered by the cutter yacht Canada for the development of lake yachting after the trim craft won it from the American yacht Vencedor at Toledo, Ohio, in 1896, the Canada's Cup has at intervals provided the keenest competition for lake yachtsmen. There was a time when a dozen or so yacht clubs built contenders for the trophy. But since the Rochester sailors captured it in 1903, the only challenge has come from Toronto.

Four times have the Torontonians attempted to regain the trophy. Three years after the Canada's victory the trophy departed to southern waters when in 1909 the Genesee of the Rochester Yacht Club, sailing under Chicago Yacht Club colors crossed to Toronto and lifted the cup from the Royal Canadian Yacht Club's Beaver. At Chicago two years later Invader, predecessor of the present challenger, recaptured the trophy.

PACKERS BEAT CALEYS 3 TO 0

McCracken and Todd Are Scorers in Uninteresting Fixture.

LOSE TO POINTS.

A large crowd witnessed the Caledonians go down to defeat, on Saturday afternoon, when the Canada Packers made the score three goals so none, in a league engagement, that was void of the usual excitement.

Packers Open Scoring

The Packers forced the issue from the kick-off to confine the activities inside the Scots territory where McCracken jumped in between the full-backs and finished with a low grounder to register for C.P. The Scots replied with very aggressive attacks to test Chamberlain, custodian, from all angles. Time and again, Scots' right winger sent over beautiful centres with scrimmages prevailing in front of goal, Chamberlain holding his charge intact. On midfield play Webb, Caleys, then N. Downer were injured in close tackling, but resumed playing after the trainer's attention. A well-placed ball by Buchan left his outside-left in possession, who rattled a hot drive into goal. Tice, Scot's goalie, making a clever clearance. Play ran from end to end with nothing tangible transpiring whenever inside the goal area, as the full backs dominated the situation. Half time: Canada Packers 1, Caledonians 0.

Good Goal-Tending

On resuming, both goals went under a bombardment to find the custodians unbeatable. Beautiful centres by Adkinsonand Mowry went abegging as the ball travelled in front of goal. Foster intercepting dangerous rushes to place Buchan, at centre-half, in possession who placed the ball at the foot of "Curly" Todd, to beat the Scots' goalie all the way. For the remainder of the period both citadels were paid visits in rotation and failing to increase the count. Canada Packers 3, Caledonians 0.

Goal scorers — McCracken, Todd (2).

Canada Packers—J. T. Chamberlain, goal; N. Downer and T. Foster, full backs; M. Gadahan, J. Buchan and E. Rishes, halves; A. Downer, William McCracken, F. Todd, A. Todd and G. Downer, forwards.

Caledonians—Ed Tice, goal; H. Mann and W. Denisen, full backs; D. Whatman, H. Webb and A. Stevens, halves; D. Mowry, G. Lovat, F. Dyer, W. Rankin and E. Adkinson, forwards.

Referee—J. Morgan. Linesmen—Alex. McKinley and W. Harrington.

INDIAN RIVER TAKES HONORS

Centre Douro Elmwoods Beaten 14-6 in Final Game of Season.

LOSERS FAIL TO HIT.

In a classy softball game, played at Indian River, the homsters trounced Centre Douro Elmwoods in the final game of the East Peterborough League play-offs. The losers started off well, tallying three times in their half of the first, but from then on, Walsh on the mound for the winners, kept the batsmen in check. They rallied again in the fifth to score twice, and counted another in the seventh to finish their scoring.

Jack Walsh twirled a good game for the winners, issuing only three passes to first and sending back four on strikes, and was never in trouble after the first. Billy Robinson played a steady game behind the bat for the River, and also had a good time with the willow, poleing out the only home run of the game.

The outfield for the River club played errorless ball, with Mick Doherty covering acres of ground, to pull down a flock of hard-hit flies.

Elmwoods have themselves to blame for the loss, as with runners on bases, they couldn't manufacture a hit which would have brought them in, Jack Walsh keeping them popping to the infield.

Bert Deck of Peterborough called them behind the plate; Hec Thompson of Warsaw watched the bases. The teams:

Indian River—J. Walsh, p; B. Robinson, c; P. Holmes, 1b; J. Clark, 2b; J. Lonergan, 3b; C. O'Brien, ss; P. Spencer, lf; M. Doherty, cf; F. Doherty, rf.

Elmwoods—R. Walsh, p; F. O'Conners, c; B. Towns, 1b; Garvey, 2b; H. Allen, 3b; Moher, ss; C. Towns, lf; J. Walsh, lf; Leahy, cf; E. Allen, rf.

Score by innings:—
Indian River .....601 223 x—14
Elmwoods .....300 020 1— 6

COLBORNE BEATS BRIGHTON

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse Soccer Softball, Bowling, etc.

By G. J. P.

He was a huge negro—the guy in charge of the colored team here Saturday—looking not unlike the later pictures of Jack Johnston. We asked him a few questions about his team and his Ontario tour. "We all is jest gettin' around and havin' fun," he said. "Jest makin' expenses but seein' the nawth. We haid back to Utica to play Monday." Asked if the class of ball up this way compared with the semi-pro teams in New York, he grinned: "Lawd, man, whut's the diffrunce? We all hev been in towns in Ontario wheah they is jest as good. Semi-pros or amateurs—the diffrunce is in the spellin', heh? An' most amateurs look like they eats more reg'lar at that!" Those darkies aren't so dumb.

• • • • • • •

The Syracuse Tigers didn't appear to have anything on the Petes Saturday. In fact, they lost by a 4-1 count. Just about the same class of ball as our own, it seemed. A good-sized crowd saw a snappy fixture run off in fast time, with some classy flinging and good fielding dished up. But there wasn't the interest that marks a loop game. The Tigers used one pitcher—a pretty fair one, too—while the Petes got good hurling from Duyell, Kitchen and Calladine. The negroes expressed surprise at the number of pitchers used in Ontario towns. They use just two all year, and play several games weekly.

• • • • • • •

A flock of ducats have been sold so far for the softball playdown game in Riverside Park tomorrow (Tuesday) eve at 8.30. It's the return engagement between Smith's Smokies of Lindsay and the local Orphans. Should be a lively tilt with the Lindsay speedballer, Gamble, not apt to be as wild as he was at home. With Frank Shine probably doing the pitching, we figure the Waifs ought to clean up the series in this tussle and tangle next with Oshawa. It rates a good crowd.

• • • • • • •

We are looking forward eagerly to seeing the harness horses race again her, next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Exhibition. There is something about hoss racing that gets you. Something that goes down deep. Thrills, yes, but more than that. Admiration, too, for those loyal friends of man in history, story and song for ten thousand years. These high-spirited but also docile animals—with their remarkable intelligence—racing for all they're worth just for the love of it and because their masters ask them to! They give all and ask nothing but a few pats on the neck and their feed.

• • • • • • •

And you can't help but admire those gallant owners who stick to a game that costs them far more than they can hope to make out of it. They love good horseflesh and racing. They work the year round to have their pacers and trotters in the pink for a few short meets in the summer. Apparently, they never become discouraged. And in what game will you see oldtimers like Lou Bennett of Fort Hope, for instance actively engaged? Harness horse racing permits real elderly men, the owners, to sit up behind their horses and drive along with callow punks just nudging twenty. Remember Will Rogers in 'Da'vid Harum"? Yeah, a swell sport and hundreds here seem to think so the way they sit in the grandstand every afternoon when the Ex. is on watching the thoroughbreds pounding around the track.

• • • • • • •

Oshawa's chances of a C.O.B.L. playoff berth is getting pretty slim, Jack Williams pitching the Nats to a 4-1 win in the Motor City Saturday. It puts Belleville half a game in front of us again, and shoves the Dukes into the cellar, three and a half games back of the second-place Petes. Kingston is three games behind us and play three times this week—which will just about tell the story of whether or not they'll dislodge the locals from the money series. The Petes play in Kingston tomorrow and, if they win, will practically ruin the Ponies' hopes. It's still a swell race!

• • • • • • •

From Kingston comes some league averages. We don't know how official they are yet, but they've got Smith topping the circuit clouters with a .365 mark, with Wallace leading Oshawa with an average of .351, Green heading the Nats with .326 and Foley tops for the Petes with .326. They also state Mathews leads the hurlers with two wins in two starts, while Williams has pitched 120 innings—exclusive of Saturday's game—allowing 101 hits and fanning 106. Scriver and Kitchen have a win each in one start, Duyell has won four and lost three, Calladine has split even on eight tilts, and Rose divided two contests. We don't run our averages till the end of the schedule.

• • • • • • •

The City Baseball League has decided that the King Edward School team, winners of the loop here sometime ago, will represent the city in O.B.A.A. playdowns as a team—instead of bolstering the squad with players from other teams and having it operated by the league. Joe Mackness has promised to raise the necessary dough to permit this team to retain its identity. Hence, players from other teams who had been advised they might be used will not be called upon—just the boys who helped the K.E. outfit to cop the circuit title. In the long run, it's the fairer way and the only reason the City League stepped in was because they felt this team needed finances for their trip to Toronto.

• • • • • • •

Picking 'ef off the grapevine: games behind us and play three night in the Bowl, and Keene is at Sixth Line tomorrow . . . . Deloro Club Gains Berth In Playoffs

MARMORA, Aug. 20.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— Deloro earned the right to enter the Trent Valley League play-offs by beating Marmora in a replayed tie on the former's ground on Saturday afternoon by 13-8.

V. Callery, the Smelter's choice of pitcher, pitch well without getting into difficulities. Jack McInroy started on the mound for Marmora, but after being freely hit in the fourth when his team also had to be credited with a couple of errors, he was relieved by Hewitt. M. Callery's triple in the fourth was the feature hit of the game. Deloro now meets Coe Hill in the play-offs and are favored to win out. Teams:

Marmora—G. McInroy, c; Hewitt, 3b, p.; Hughes, cf; Auger, ss; Melville, 2b; Robertson, 1b; Shannon, lf, 3b; J. McInroy, p, lf.; Woodhouse, rf; Phillips, 2b.

WOOLLENS WIN CRICKET MATCH

Whitaker's C.C. Lose Out 100-63 in Exhibition Fixture on Saturday.

C.N.R. MATCH CALLED OFF.

The Peterborough Cricket Club were without a match on Saturday owing to the failure of the C.N.R. Toronto to fulfil their engagement. This is the second time this month that Toronto teams have defaulted. It is rough on the local team who have kept all their out-of-town engagements. As Whitakers were also unable to play their game against Toronto Beaches a match was fixed up between them and a team under the name of Dominion Woolens. This resulted in a win for the Woollens, the final score being Dominion Woollens 100, Whitakers C.C. 63. Dyer 28, Smith 21 and Lorne 14, were high scorers for Woollens who went on first. Hamilton had 4 wickets for 14.

On Whitakers' going to bat, thanks mainly to Hamilton, the score was taken to 56 for 3 wickets, but the next 7 men only added 5 and the inning closed for 63. Hamilton kept up his recent good batting form, scoring 37 out of the 63 total. He was dismissed by a wonderful catch by T. Montgomery and after his departure the innings was a procession. In addition to his useful score Lorne showed very promising form as a wicket-keeper for the Woollens. Grimshaw bowled well, getting 7 wickets at a cost of only 16 runs.

It Is Rather hard to write about something you know nothing about, but yet we feel if we do not put this story across—well, we might consider our job gone.

—o—

The Yarn Came to light on Saturday morning when Jimmy Matthews crashed through the screen door of our down town office and immediately commenced to give the publicity committee everything he had—and that was plenty; told us we never could write anything correct and when anything of importance did happen we either muffed it entirely or messed it up altogether.

—o—

We Didn't Argue with Jimmy because he was right—he is always right. Anyway we have to give Jimmy credit for being a live member of our club and we are greatly indebted to him for the story.

—o—

Now, It Seems on Friday night—and we again quote Jimmy—That Billy Zeihr's rink established a record that we believe—along with Matthews—will be very hard to beat.

—o—

In Three seven-end games Bill's rink gathered a total of forty-three points and had only three scored against him.

—o—

Now, Figure it out for yourself and if anyone can furnish us with a better record, please let us—or Jimmy—have it.

—o—

Now That We have got all this in print, we hope Jimmy will feel better and will be able to get on with his homework.

—o—

Just The Same, if we had a few more "Jimmys" we might be able to have a more interesting column.

—o—

At A Recent meeting of the games committee it was decided that on Wednesday, Aug. 29, instead of holding a men's open doubles tournament, to hold a mixed tournament. There were several reasons advanced for the change and after considerable discussion the committee thought that the change would be for the benefit of the club as a whole.

—o—

The Details will be printed today and we expect to have the advertising matter in the club house in a day or so.

—o—

On Wednesday Night we will hold the usual mid-week mixed tournament commencing at 7.30 p.m.

MONCTON MARKSMAN CAPTURES GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S MEDAL

Sergt. Jack Ward Acclaimed by Riflemen To-day as Canada's Best Shot.

CONNAUGHT SHOOT ENDS.

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont., Aug. 20 (CP)—Sergt. Jack Ward of Moncton, N.B., with the Governor General's Gold Medal tucked away among his treasures, was acclaimed by riflemen to-day as Canada's best shot.

The 40-year-old war veteran, who learned to shoot as a sniper in France, won the coveted prize at the conclusion of the annual meeting of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association.

Beating a blazing sun and a stiff west wind the Maritimer posted a score of 168 of a possible 175. Following the announcement of his victory, marksmen placed him in the traditional chair reserved for the occasion and lifted him high into the air on their shoulders and carried him to the winners' enclosure where Premier R. B. Bennett made the presentation.

A youngster from Highgate School, London, Eng., Corpl. George Chapman, 17, caused a sensation in camp when he finished second with 165. He was not eligible for the first four major prizes, reserved for Canadians, but took fifth position and $30.

Three tied with 164, but Sergt. C. Iddiols of Calgary, on the basis of his showing at the final stage, took second place; Sergt. E. K. Bird, Regina, third; and C.P.O. William Taylor, of the Royal Canadian Navy, Halifax, fourth.

Included with those scoring 163 were Lieut. R. A. Sweet and Lieut. Col. C. W. G. Gibson, both of Hamilton.

S.M. R. Kiddie of Toronto, Bisley shot, was named the most consistent marksman, when he placed first in the Bisley aggregate. He aggregated 667 points, one more than Lieut. Desmond T. Burke, former King's Prize winner of Ottawa. Lieut. James Boa of Montreal, had 665, three more than Lieut. J. Neal Dow, Cadet coach of Saint John.

HIGH SCORES IN PETERBORO CRICKET

(By C. H. Treson)

In The Examiner's report (Aug. 7) of a cricket match played on Aug. 4 at the Oval, between Married and Single, the query was made as to whether A. Hamilton's score of 97 had been beaten in Peterborough cricket.

It certainly has not during the ten years the present Peterborough Cricket Club has been in existence, but it is of course known that this club is a revival of a very old and flourishing organization.

Matches From Records

Delving into old records I find that there are at least three higher scores recorded by Peterborough cricketers; on September 19, 1864, S. Ray scored 101 against Trinity College School Rovers; on Augst 30, 1867, T. Rutherford made 101 against Lakefield, and on June 19, 188, S. Ray again made 122 against Belleville.

Peterborough enjoys an invidious distinction in the matter of records. On August 24, 1868, G. S. Lyon, playing for Rosedale, against Peterborough, scored 206 not out, which to this day remains the Canadian record; but this was in Toronto.

While looking up this information I came across various items which may be of interest to present-day cricketers and others.

Played First Game in 1861

The first match in which Peterborough was interested, to which I find reference, was played in 1861, between Toronto and a combined team of Peterborough and Cobourg. This was played in Toronto and was a great social event as it was attended by the Duke of Edinburgh, Queen Victoria's second son; the local combined team consisted of Messrs. Beatty, Loucks, Wrighton, Davidson, Higginson, Bradbier, Burnham, Clementi, Bieseburg, Weller and A. N. Other; the absence of initials is regretable.

District Matches

Then, on July 9, 1875, we find Peterborough playing Whitby, and Rutherford and R. B. Rogers top scorers. On July 11, 1876 Port Hope beat the locals and, passing on, there was a "grand match" played between Peterborough and the Duke of York's Rangers on Sept. 19, 1884, for the benefit of Norley, the local "pro." This was won by the local team and as a matter of record, I give the names of the team: Messrs. Rutherford, Grundy, Norley, Stration, Sabine, Tait, Herman, Rogers, Macdonald, Hartley and Cooper.

On September 3, 1886, Peterborough played "The Sawbones," and the team consisted of Messrs. S. Ray, B. T. A. Bell, Rogers, Hamilton, H. Ray, Rutherford, Stirling, Salisbury, Montgomery, Morris and Hammond.

During those years there were matches against Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa, and many other clubs in which the local team were frequent winners; those indeed were the halcyon days of Ontario, and incidentally Peterborough cricket.

Children's Program At "Ex" On Tuesday

Boys' and girls' races will be a feature of the Children's Day tomorrow at the local Exhibition. They will start at 1.30 o'clock in front of the grandstand, with Doug Loomis in charge, aided by other officials. Good prizes have been put up by the Board, consisting of merchandise in various forms. First prizes will be given for the two bicycle events, first and second prizes for the team races, and first, second and third prizes for all the other events.

Following are the different events to be run off, open to all children under age: Boys' and girls' races in these classes—eight years and under, 9 to 10 years, 11 to 12 years, 13 to 14 years, 15 to 16 years, school relay races (four boys to a team, each running 220 yards), girls' shuttle race (6 to a team, each running 50 yards), a bicycle race for boys under 15, and a bicycle race for boys under 18. The children are requested to be ready in the stand when called upon to take part in the races they intend entering.

Net Team Cinches Place In Playoffs

As a result of their 9-2 win from Cobourg on Saturday, the Peterborough "A" team forged ahead in the south group of the Kawartha district tennis association, and practically cinched a playoff position. Peterborough "C" team also of the Peterborough Tennis Club retained their hold on first place in the north group by a 3-2 win over Lakefield, and are also reasonably sure of a playoff berth. They are idle next Saturday when the rest of the teams finish up their schedule. Result of the Cobourg matches:

Men's singles—J. A. Devins lost to Max Cotton, 3-6, 6-3 and 6-4; first men's doubles—Dr. Drewry and Don Booth lost to O. C. Scott and H. A. Wilson, 6-4 and 6-3; second—W. Gould and N. Clavour defeated R. White and A. Rutter, 6-4 and 6-3; mixed doubles—Miss O. Howard and R. Lucas lost to Miss P. McClellan and A. Lord, 6-8, 6-2 and 7-5; ladies' doubles — Miss L. Thompson and M. Roberts defeated Mrs. J. A. Dewart and Miss G. Caddy, 4-6, 6-2 and 6-3.

SILVER SLIPPERS By Temple Bailey

CHAPTER 18

Joan rose restlessly and went out on the porch. It was very dark, and the air was heavy with the threat of an impending storm. Now and then the black waters and the black skies were illumined by a broad blaze of lightning.

Joan descended the steps, and took the path up towards the pavilion.

Giles saw her coming—a swift lighting of the sky showed her, standing out like a painted girl against the golden background, her petalled skirts of pink taffeta, her floating scarf, her dark little head, her white neck and arms . . .

He had not hoped for this! He stood up, but as he was in the somber clothes he had worn at the shop, she did not know he was there until he spoke:

"Joan . . ."

She saw nothing strange in his calling her that. The only strangeness was in his presence. "How did it happen," she asked, breathlessly, "that you are here?"

He told her the truth. "I wanted to be near you, even if you did not know. I had your note. It seemed incredible that it was the—end."

She said, unexpectedly, "I am glad you came."

"You are?" eagerly.

"Yes . . . I," she stopped, then spoke with a note of pathetic appeal, "I . . . need . . . help . . ."

They sat down in the dark pavilion. White flashes of light showed them opposite each other on two rustic seats, intent, earnest. Two young souls trying to reach conclusions that fate had already settled for them.

She told him rapidly and frankly of the things which confronted her. Loss of self-respect. "I am conceding things I knew I shouldn't. That I wouldn't concede if I were not dependent on Aunt Adelaide."

She hesitated. "Drew doesn't see it as I do. He thinks I am foolish . . . perhaps I am."

"No, you're not."

"His life has been so different. He says that I split hairs, and that it isn't worth while. That I should take the goods the gods provide, and let it go at that. But I can't. I have a stifled feeling sometimes . . . Tonight I got to thinking about my children, the little ones I taught in school, and how gay we were . . . and how I belonged to myself . . ." her voice died away.

Giles held himself quiet. She was revealing more than she knew . . . her disillusionment with her lover, her loneliness of soul . . . a heart restless because it had no real abiding place . . .

And she had come to him for help! His pulses throbbed with the thought. Yet he set himself steadily to advise her. Oh, poor little ship, headed for disaster.

He said: "Why not go away for a bit? Let them miss you? Let them follow?"

"But if they shouldn't follow?"

"Would it break your heart?"

"If Drew didn't—yes." Her quick breath told her emotion.

He permitted himself to touch her hand: "You love him then so much?"

"Oh, yes. I shouldn't have talked about him even to you."

"Please don't say that."

"I am so alone . . . if I had mother . . . or daddy." He thought she was crying.

"I know, my dear . . ." He wanted to crush her in his arms. To say: "Here is your haven, your harbor, against my heart." But he kept himself steady.

She stood up presently. "I must be going. They will be looking for me."

She gave him her hand, and he lifted it to his lips. It was like a white rose against them, fragrant. "You have said I must go out of your life. But if ever you call me, I shall come . . ."

As they turned to leave the pavilion, they found the storm upon them. The thunder crashed, the lightning was incessant, the wind shrieked as it tore in from the sea. There was the flap of canvas as sails came down on the yachts which were scudding in, and then, shutting off their way of escape, came the rain—pounding on the roof, streaming from the eaves, blowing banners of wet in upon them. Giles stripped off his coat, and wrapped Joan in it. "You must," he said, when she protested, "you'll be soaked through if you don't."

They could see the guests on the hotel porch, scurrying to the shelter of the rooms inside. Porters and bellboys came rushing out and tipped up the chairs and carried in the tables. The rain washing across the porch made a little river which ran down the steps and shone in the light of the big lantern which hung above the entrance. Through the windows people could be seen moving about in the crowded exchange, but no one came outside.

The noise of the wind and rain was deafening. The branch of a great tree crashed on the roof. "We must get out of this," Giles said. "you'll be drenched, but we'd better take the chance."

"Aren't we safer here?"

"No." The pavilion was in an exposed situation. At any moment a tree might fall. Giles felt he must get Joan back to the hotel. He must get her back not only because she might be hurt in this frail summer house, but because she must not be found here in the dark with him. He knew how people talked. And if Drew heard, there might be trouble.

"Come," he said, "let's run for it. You'll ruin your dress. But it's the best we can do."

He took her hand and they started down the path. Joan had on high-heeled slippers, and at the foot of the path she stumbled. Giles caught her up in his arms and sped on with her.

As he reached the hotel steps, the door opened and Drew Hallam came out, "Joan," he called, "Joan, where are you?"

Then he saw them. Giles with bare head and his coat off showing his soaked shirt. And Joan in his arms, the coat wrapped about her protecting her head and shoulders, and beneath it, the rosiness of her taffeta frock dulled by the floods of water which had swept over her, and stained by the marks of her fall.

Drew and Joan, facing each other after Giles had left them, struck sparks.

"Where did you pick him up, Joan?"

"I didn't pick him up, he picked me."

"Don't joke about it."

"I'm not joking, Drew. And please don't keep me here—my ankle is hurt ing me frightfully. I sprained it."

"Aren't you going to give me any explanation?"

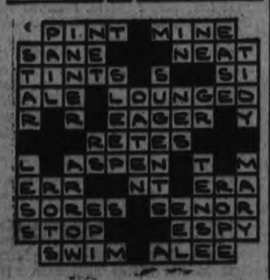
"Of what?"

"Of how you happened to be with Armiger?"

"I walked to the pavilion as I have a thousand times, and Mr. Armiger was there. He didn't know I was coming. And I didn't know I should find him. It rained and we had to run for it. I turned my ankle and he carried me. That's all there is to it. And you are making a mountain of a molehill."

He stood looking down at her. She was a forlorn little figure with her wet hair plastered about her face, and the taffeta frock limp and dark with damp. He had an impulse towards her of deep tenderness. Yet his jealousy was aflame. He had not felt this way about the men in the hotel. He had known, instinctively, that they would never be his rivals. But this was different—her defense of her friendship with this slender boy, picturesque in his white and with his ruffled hair. Hallam always saw him, as he had in the dazzling brightness of the lighthouse tower—or as he had steered his boat that day against the blue.

(To be continued.)



THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, August 21

This day's lunar operations point to the need of great discretion and wariness against a menace of treachery, intrigue or connivance—reacting either on the employment or on business deals. While there may be benefits of great importance in negotiations with trusts, combines, mergers or secret bodies, yet in all there is need for precaution against subtlety, especially in signing papers.

Those whose birthday it is may find the year of greatest advantage in confining their business dealings with large corporations, mergers, rings or secret bodies, or through means of diplomacy, tact, or strategem. In other affairs, particularly in employment and in the signing of papers or any writings, there is need of vigilance, lest trickery or deceit figure.

A child born on this day may be disposed to gain its ends through diplomacy, tact, strategy or other indirect methods. It may have leanings to the unusual, utopian or mystical.

PROGRESS SHOWN IN SALT MINING

Production in 1933 Nearly Record But Value Slightly Lower.

OTTAWA, Aug. 18.—(CP)—Production of salt in Canada during 1933 totalled 280,115 tons valued at $1,939,874 as compared with 263,543 worth $1,947,561 in 1932 and 269,047 at $1,904,149 in 1931, according to a Dominion Bureau of Statistics compilation.

The 1933 output is the third largest in the history of Canadian salt mining, it being surpassed only by the productions of 1928 and 1929. Although there was a relatively small producting during the first two months of 1934, the pronounced increase in March and April would suggest the resumption of the almost steady upward trend in production as experienced since 1931.

The salt industry of Canada is one of the oldest non-metallic industries of the country, dating back to the early years of the last century when the Hudson's Bay Company obtained their local supplies from the brine springs of the MacKenzie basin. Discovery of salt in the southwest peninsula of Ontario about 1866 was, however, the real beginning of the industry on a substantial basis, and production from the Ontario field has been continuous since that time. The opening of the Malagash deposits in Nova Scotia in 1916 inaugurated the first rock salt mine in the country, and has materially assisted in supplying the demands for salt in the Maritimes.

Roosevelt Lauds Rainey In Death

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP).—President Roosevelt expressed his regrets to-day over the death of Speaker Henry T. Rainey, calling him "a humanitarian whose fine patriotism thought first of all of what he conceived to be the well being and the interests of the common man."

The President's statement, sent to the White House from the yacht Sequoia on which he was cruising over the week-end, follows:

"It must always be an occasion of national regret when a public servant who has given the greater part of his life to unselfish service passed away. This is especially true in the loss of Speaker Rainey at a time when the experience of many years has culminated in his unselfish leadership of the nation's House of Representatives.

"I had the privilege of knowing him first more than a score of years. I shall always think of him as a humanitarian whose fine patriotism thought first of all of what he conceid to be the well being and the interests of the common man.

Through all the years he kept the spirit of youth, and he will be missed profoundly by old and young alike."

FRENCHMAN SUGGESTS WHEAT QUOTA SOLUTION

LONDON, Aug. 20 (C.P. Cable).—Paul Devinat of France to-day submitted proposals to the World Wheat Commission designed to break the existing deadlock over export quotas for the current year which began this month.

The French proposals submitted with the support of Switzerland were understood to provide for the creation of an international wheat export "reserve," over and above the export allowances fixed for each exporting country.

This reserve would be under the control of the wheat advisory committee, and if conditions warranted it would be empowered to recommend exports from the reserves supplemental to the allotted quota. Thus, it is argued, the quota system would be made more flexible. In other words, the figure would be additional to the export figures for each country, and reserve exports could be allotted out of it to any particular nation in need.

STARHEMBERG FAVORS RULE WITH HIMSELF AS MONARCH

Might Join Germany, But Would Insist on Austrian Independence.

HAS ARMED SUPPORT.

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.
Central Press Canadian Writer

VIENNA, Aug. 20.—A good-looking young fellow in a handsome green-gray uniform of his own designing. Tall, debonair, just a little boyish, but with a high forehead, fine aristocratic hands, pleasant speech and genial manners. That was my first impression of Prince Ernst Rudiger von Starhemberg. Two years ago, Vienna used to laugh at "Rudie." Now he is vice-chancellor. His party is still the smallest in the republic, but it has the most guns. That is how "Rudie" sits in the Ball Platz today, the chancellery from where the Austrian emperors ruled the twenty-seven nations and tribes which owed allegiance to Vienna.

I found Prince Starhemberg anything but talkative. True, he was on pins and needles the day I was summoned for an audience. Chancellor Schnuschnigg was away in Rome to consult Mussolini about the further evolution of Austrian affairs. Chancellor and vice chancellor belong to different parties in Austria. They don't see eye to eye. Schnuschnigg is the leader of the Christian-Social or Catholic party; Starhemberg is chief of the Heimwehren. Both have an army at their disposal. But jointly they control the regular state army, the so-called Bundesheer. In addition, there are in Austria, an army of Nazis, now badly shattered, but still in existence and furthermore a vast force, the biggest of all, 80,000 men of Socialist Schutzbundlers, driven "underground" in February, 1934.

Might Join Nazis.

The action of February, in which artillery was used, was designed to break up the Socialist army. The action of July 25, which cost Dr. Dollfuss his life, virtually put an end to the Nazi force. The Nazis have no chance now in Austria, unless Prince Starhemberg and his Heimwehren go over to the Nazis. This is not so improbable as it looks. The aims of the Heimwehren and the Nazis are identical. They are in reality two rival fascist organizations.

Since the prince was anxiously awaiting the return of Chancellor Schnuschnigg from Rome, he confined himself to telling me that future policy of the Austrian government would be "to make the truth conquer the lie," and that Austria would "remain a bulwark against Bolshevism and against Oriental barbarism." Objectively that statement does not amount to a great deal. Bolshevism is not menacing Austria, and as far as the Turks are concerned, they have never come back since they were hurled from the gates of Vienna in 1683.

Prince Starhemberg was kind enough to tell me how one of his ancestors had taken a prominent part in that battle against the Turks by the side of King Sobiesky. "That was once Vienna saved Europe from Oriental domination," he said. And he added: "We are ready to do it again."

Prefer Germany to Italy.

But about Hitler-Germany and its desire to annex Austria, which, it has been fully established, prepared the unsuccessful coup d'etat of July 25, the prince would not say a word, not a word. I gained the definite impression that Prince Starhemberg wants to leave a loophole open to come to an understanding with Germany. In fact this is the view of many observers. In spite of all that has happened, the Heimwehren and their chief Prince Starhemberg are Pan-Germans and in the end they would prefer a union with Germany rather than to be gobbled up by Italy or Jugoslavia. It is Berlin which has hitherto made a peaceful understanding impossible by its violent radio propaganda against Austria and by the Berlin-inspired system of terrorism employed by the Austrian Nazis.

I asked Prince Starhemberg what he thought of the possibility of a monarchical restoration in Austria. "Of course," he replied, "the final form of government of Austria has not been settled. We are at present in a transition era." But more he would not say on this subject either. The truth is Prince Starhemberg looks with considerable favor upon a monarchical restoration—with himself as monarch. He detests the Hapsburg dynasty and considers them mere upstarts in comparison with his own family.

Scion of Old Family.

Before the crusades, long before the Hapsburgs were heard of, the Starhembergs played a prominent role in the affairs of the old empire. They were powerful liege-lords, loyal to the emperor, but considering themselves fully independent. Another such family, but of less power and wealth initially were the Hohenzollern counts of Brandenburg. They got on in the world, whereas the Starhembergs. Well, they weren't always so fortunate as to have so energetic a representative in the field as Ernst Rudiger.

In short, the differences between Prince Starhemberg and Chancellor Schnuschnigg may be briefly summed up as follows: Starhemberg is not opposed to a union with Germany, the so-called Anschluss, but he wants Hitler to guarantee Austria a status of autonomy in the Reich. He does not like to see Austria follow the way of Bavaria, for that would also mean the eclipse of his own influence.

Chancellor Schnuschnigg follows the policy of Doctor Dollfuss, an independent Austria. The form of state to be a corporation on the model of Italy, but with a strong Catholic color. Doctor Dollfuss' aim was to make Austria a model Catholic state. But Chancellor Schnuschnigg's own group, the Christian-Social party, is scarcely strong enough to put through this program. He must have collaborators. Where will he find them?

Chancellor Woos Socialists.

It appears that Doctor Dollfuss in the last days of his life, realized the error of crushing the social-democratic party in February, 1934. This party, which had the support of 60 per cent. of the Austrian people behind it, was essentially democratic and not Marxist. Chancellor Schnuschnigg is now seeking to win back the sympathy of the Socialists. He praises them for not making a common front with the Nazis in the putsch of July 25. He has liberated some of their chiefs from the concentration camps. He promises them a square deal.

But whether he can win the masses is doubtful. The Socialists are not as democratic as they have been in the past. Thousands have become Bolsheviks in the meantime. And so the situation in Vienna is far from stabilized. More surprises seem inevitable. The great fatal mistake was to have destroyed the strongest democratic party by force of arms in February of this year.

AN INVITATION - To American Tourists To Visit Our Exhibition

A splendid opportunity for visiting Americans and others to come in contact with the best features of Canadian citizenship is presented at the exhibition—Central Ontario's show place. The progressiveness of Canadian agriculture and industry is exemplified on every side—showing how far this district has moved forward from the old pioneer days.

Famous breeds of Canadian cattle, horses, hogs and other livestock, which have frequently been imported by American breeders to enrich their stock, will be on exhibition. Besides the educational advantages, there are the thrills of the midway, the great grandstand performance, a revue and skilled acrobats, horse races and other features of a distinctly Canadian show.

Peterborough is proud of its exhibition and invites your attendance.

NOTED SPEAKER OF U.S. HOUSE H. T. RAINEY DIES

Unexpected Passing Brings Expressions of Sorrow From Whole Nation.

WIDOW MAY GET SEAT.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20 (A.P.). — Henry T. Rainey, picturesque Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, is dead.

Apparently on the road to recovery from an attack of bronchial pneumonia, he suddenly developed angina pectoris last night and died at 7.50 p.m., as three physicians, hastily summoned, stood by, unable to aid him. To-day would have been his 74th birthday.

The Speaker's unexpected passing brought expressions of deep sorrow from political leaders in all parts of the United States—from President Roosevelt on down.

The President called him "a humanitarian whose fine patriotism thought first of all of what he conceived to be the well-being and interests of the common man."

His predecessor as Speaker, Vice-President John N. Garner, was "shocked speechless."

Leadership of the next House is in doubt as a result of the death of Mr. Rainey, but Representative Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, who helped him put through the "must" legislation of President Roosevelt's program in the last Congress, is prominently mentioned as his successor.

Widow May Succeed.

From Senator William H. Dietrich, (D-Ill.), a close friend of the Speaker, came the suggestion that the widow, for years her husband's secretary, might become the Democratic party's choice for the house seat held by Mr. Rainey since 1903 except for the term following the Harding landslide of 1920.

While physicians at De Paul Hospital, where the speaker died, believed he was on the way to recovery, Mrs. Rainey had a premonition of her husband's death.

Mrs. Rainey spent the day with her husband, leaving late in the day for their home in Carrolton, Ill.

"I knew my husband could not live when I saw him," she said. "We chatted together, had breakfast and dinner together.

He appeared to be in good spirits at all times, and was so happy that I brought him some jam, which he liked so well. But something told me that he would not last much longer."

The body will be cremated, in accordance with a wish Mrs. Rainey said her husband had often expressed.

Funeral arrangements probably will be completed to-day, when Senator Dietrich goes to Carrolton to confer with Mrs. Rainey.

$10,000 Fire Strikes Town Of Thessalon

THESSALON, Ont., Aug. 20.—(C.P.)—A house and skating rink were in ruins to-day as a result of a fire here last night that did $10,000 damage and was only prevented from spreading by good work on the part of the volunteer fire force.

The house of Fred Wicket was destroyed by the flames. The rink, a frame building, was burned to the ground in 20 minutes as the flames were fanned by a strong wind. It is believed the fire originated in a hay shed at the rear of the rink and may have been caused by boys smoking there.

GRANTS MADE SCHOOL FAIRS BY TRENT RIVER INSTITUTE

Ladies Report Park Benches Ready—Plan Afternoon Card Party.

ORCHESTRA IS FEATURE.

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 20 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mary Crowley and her band of musicians of Lindsay, who are holidaying at "Snug Harbour", featured the program for the Women's Institute meeting held Wednesday afternoon at the lovely home of Mrs. Thos. J. Brown, Browning Avenue, and attracted a large gathering of cottagers and friends totalling an attendance of over 60.

Mrs. Earl Greenly, vice-president, acted in place of the President, Mrs. George Brooks, who was unavoidably absent. After the singing of the Institute Ode, the secretary, Mrs. H. Mann, read the roll call, the answer to which was a labor-saving device.

Miss Doris Scott read the motto: "The world is full of beauty, and its days are filled with music."

New Tables Ready

The secretary reported that the new tables for the Athletic Park were ready for use, made possible by funds from the Institute, also a number of salad bowls had been purchased by the Institute to be donated to the Ladies' Aid of the United Church. The Institute donated a blanket for the Baby Show at the regatta recently held. All bills were ordered to be paid.

A donation of $2 was voted for the School Fair for Conolly's school and Trent River School. Mrs. Murphy of Belleville, guest with Rev. and Mrs. H. P. L. Seymour at a cottage here, was present and gave some new and novel ideas of raising funds in the Belleville Institute, among the number was a "Connundrum Tea" which sounded interesting and Trent River Institute plan to arrange one at a later date.

The members decided to hold an afternoon card party on Thursday, August 23rd, providing "Whitehall Gardens Pavilion" can be secured for the occasion. A committee of three were appointed to arrange for tally cards and prizes for the card party, viz., Mrs. T. F. Ward, Mrs. George Dart and Miss Doris Scott. The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Armstrong, "Hillview Farm", when the roll call will be "A Wise Saying".

The Program

The following program given by Mary Crowley and her band of musicians of Lindsay, was efficiently rendered to the delight of all present: Violin solo—Miss Jean Costello, who responded to a hearty encore; vocal solo—"Some Day I'll Find You", by Mrs. Lillian Burns; vocal trio—Mrs. Lillian Burns and the Misses Jean and Frances Costello, with ukelele accompaniment by Miss Jean Costello; piano solo—Miss Mary Crowley, who also played the piano accompaniment for all the numbers. A prize was given for the best bouquet. Several were entered for the competition, the judges being Mrs. (Rev) H. P. L. Seymour, Mrs. Charles Davidson and Mrs. George Dickson, all Campbellford ladies, who are summering at their cottages.

Mrs. J. McNeely won the prize for the bouquet, after which the gathering assembled on the lawn where tables were arranged for a dainty lunch, consisting of tea, sandwiches, sliced tomatoes, cake and fruit whip. The national anthem brought the meeting to a close.

CAVAN

Mr. and Mrs. Lough of Toronto visited Mr. and Mrs. David White for a few days of last week.

The program committee of the Cavan Women's Institute met at Mrs. R. S Staples' home on Tuesday evening.

On Wednesday, Russel Madill had the misfortune to break his arm while stooking grain.

Mr. Sidney Boyle has finished harvesting.

Saul Teaple Wanders Two Days Near Khartum Before Rescued.

SUFFERS EXPOSURE.

TWEED, Aug. 20. (Examiner Correspondence). — Following an intensive search of two days, Saul Teaple an aged resident of Khartum, seventy-five miles north of Tweed, was found late Friday afternoon by a posse of settlers from Northern Development Camp 4-B-2 in charge of Provincial Constable Johnston, of Renfrew.

The aged man, who had spent two nights in the bush, was suffering from exposure when found. Apparently he strayed away from his home on Wednesday morning, and due to the fact that he suffers from partial deafness and blindness, fears were felt for his safety when he did not return within a few hours.

He was finally located only three or four miles from home wandering aimlessly about the woods, and was later removed to Renfrew.

Despite his advanced years, it is not expected that he will suffer any ill effects.

Cordova Mines

Mrs. Delilah Barron, Murray and Olive, spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Mumby.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Van Allen and two children, of Bon Echo, visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George E'lis.

Mrs. Robt. McMullen and son, George, of Manitoba, are visiting in this vicinity with friends and relatives

Mr. and Mrs N. Mackelreths, of Oakmount, Penn., are holidaying at Belmont Lake and are occupying Mr. Will Young's cottage.

Miss Beatrice Van Volkenburg returned home from Oshawa where she has been visiting relatives for the past month.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. James Barron, on August 16th, 1934, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Purdy of New York, are guests at the home of the latter's brother Mr. and Mrs. Wm Purdy.

Miss Theda Barron is visiting relatives at Rockdale and Victoria.

Mrs. W. J. Nobes and Miss L. Plunkett, of Havelock, were recent guests of Mrs. Demin Barron

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Young and Mrs. F. Suanders, of Victoria, are attending the conference which is being held in Kingston.

Mr and Mrs. Melville McComb, of Campbellford, were guests on Wednesday of Mrs. Delilah Barron.

CAVAN W. I. LAYS RELIEF PLANS

Committees Are Appointed—Mrs. Matchett Conducts Interesting Program.

FINE HEALTH TALK.

CAVAN, Aug. 20. (Examiner Correspondence).—Cavan Women's Institute held a well attended meeting at Mrs. James Paul's home on Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, was in the chair.

During the business session, Mrs. J. W. Perrin was appointed Temperance secretary.

A report of the books in the Library was given and the members were requested to bring in all books.

The treasurer reported forty three dollars in the treasury.

A committee comprising the president, Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, the secretary, Mrs. R. S. Staples and the treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Snider, were appointed to prepare a song sheet for use in the Institute.

There was discussion concerning the school fair prize money and also relief work.

Group one was requested to each contribute something in the line of food for a family where there is illness; other groups to continue the work as long as necessary.

The roll call was answered by a pickle recipe or a suggestion for a handy contrivance in the kitchen.

The Program

The following interesting program was run off: A reading on X-ray pictures of the human body was given by Mrs. L. Fallis, Reg.N. It was both interesting and informative. The title of the article was "Medicine Marches Forward"; a reading, "Myself and Me" by Mrs. Rowen was much enjoyed; Mrs. F. M. Staples contributed two poems on "The Kitchen"; three small girls—Bee and Nan Fallis and Wanda Budd—sweetly sang "God Bless the Little Sparrow Fall" with Mrs. Matchett playing the accompaniment; Mrs. Matchett gave "Current Events"; God Save the King" closed the meeting, after which lunch was served and a social time enjoyed.

An invitation was given and accepted for the Institute to meet at Mrs. Eber Eyer's home for the September meeting.

Lending libraries of England report that the demand for serious reading is supplanting that for fiction.

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 21. (AP).— The Jewish Telegraph Agency says a speech by Michael Cardinal Faulhaber, Archbishop of Munich, in which he denounced the Nazi policy of opposition to Jews, has been disclosed. "No Catholic ever agreed to the persecution of the Jews in Germany," the agency reported Cardinal Faulhaber as saying, and "God always punishes the persecutors of the Jews." The speech, the Jewish Telegraph Agency said, was suppressed by Nazis and the propaganda ministry forbade German papers to quote it.

JUNIOR FARMERS TO HOLD FORTH ON WEDNESDAY

Motorcycle Races in the Afternoon for Half Holiday Crowds.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Every Department of the Exhibition is in Full Swing.

Wednesday is Junior Farmer Day at the Exhibition bringing together the most progressive young farmers from the seven counties of Ontario, Durham, Victoria, Peterborough, Northumberland, Hastings and Prince Edward. Accompanied by many of their friends they will be a numerous and active group in tomorrow's attendance which should also be increased by the fact that Peterborough's stores will be closed for the Wednesday half-holiday, the first time in many years that the city's business houses have turned their locks during one of the afternoons of the Exhibition.

Every department of the Exhibition was ready this morning for Children's Day, and before one o'clock this afternoon hundreds of the young folk from both the city and country were already on the ground since morning, with hosts of others expected after dinner. Many of them had watched the Wallace Brothers midway taking form yesterday, putting their juvenile approval on this feature of the Exhibition which compares with the best of the carnival shows that have held this concession in other years.

A Cool Interlude

Several thousand people visited the grounds last night, and found the early touch of frost in the air reminiscent of the former September nights. The display buildings were closed for the reason that some of the exhibits were not quite completed at that time. However, the midway provided amusement enough with the admission free to the grounds.

SUSPECT WOMAN PRIEST'S DEATH

Woman in White Seen Bending Over Victim in School Grounds.

FLED IN CAR.

DEDHAM, Mass., Aug. 21.—(A.P.)—A "woman in white," reported bending over the body of Rev. William P. Drennan, of Our Lady of Grace Church, Chelsea, as it lay beneath a tree on a local school grounds to-day was sought in the investigation of his death.

Police said they were not satisfied the priest was not the victim of foul play after a medical examiner announced he had found a sharp indentation on the left side of the head and bruises on the left side of the face.

The "woman in white" was observed by Mrs. Walter Keene, who lives opposite the Junior High School. She told police that some time before the body was discovered she heard groans and saw a man under a tree. Later, she said, she again looked out the window of her home, and saw a woman bending over the body. She obsered her leave, she said, and get into a car parked some distance up the road.

The body of Father Drennan, a man of great physical strength, was found lying in the school yard shortly after six o'clock and remained unidentified an hour until his brother-in-law, Richard Keelan, identified it. He told police that the priest, who had been stopping at his home for two days, left last night to take his customary walk.

The priest's pocket book and a dollar bill was found in the street, a short distance from the body. Heel marks, police said, were traced from the street to the spot where the body was found, indicating, they said, that the body had been dragged to the school lawn where it was found by Daniel Harrison, who lives nearby.

Punished

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (CP)—Court was becoming a bedlam as Mrs. Anna Katz, 21, disputed the charge that she left the lid off her garbage can.

"You talk so much," interposed Magistrate William O'Dwyer, "that I think it would be a good idea for you to sit here in absolute silence while I make my mind just what to do about this case."

Two and one-half hours later the judge broke the silence with a suspended sentence.

"He's the nicest man," gushed Mrs. Katz.

MEIGHEN, HENRY BASIS OF ATTACK TILLEY CHARGES

--:--

W. V. Tilley and Russell Locke Come to Defense of Former Premier.

BITTERLY ASSAILED.

TORONTO, Aug. 21. (CP).—The first words in defence of former Premier George S. Henry and Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen before the Royal Commission inquiring into the "Abitibi Deal" were uttered to-day when Russell Locke, counsel for Mr. Henry, and W. N. Tilley, counsel for members of the Ontario Government, addressed the commission.

For weeks the commission, composed of Chief Justice F. R. Latchford and Hon. Robert Smith, has been listening to witnesses called by Arthur Slaght, commission counsel, and to arguments presented by Mr. Slaght and J. C. McRuer, counsel for the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, seeking to show Mr. Henry and Mr. Meighen had sought to serve their own rather than the public interest in the transactions leading up to the acquisition of the Abitibi Canyon power plant from the bankrupt Ontario Power Service Corporation.

The inquiry had been conducted in a spirit of animus and bias by the two chief traducers of Mr. Henry in the election campaign.

Could Have Called Many

Mr. Tilley said out of a whole host of persons who had to do with transactions dating back to 1926 Mr. Meighen and Mr. Henry alone had been singled out for attack.

They were assailed first because they allegedly departed from public ownership policies in 1926 and granted the Abitibi Canyon power site to private interests. Then they were more bitterly assailed

An angry woman brandished a bunch of newly-cleaned collars in the laundry proprietor's face.

"My husband says if you send his collars back again in this condition he'll come and make a row about it," she stored.

"He will, will he?" he said. "Let's see what size collar he takes. Thirteen, eh? All right—tell him to come. I don't mind—I can deal with him."

BARN BURNS.

OSHAWA, Ont., Aug. 21 (C.P.).—Damage estimated at $5,000 was caused by fire which destroyed a barn on the farm of W. J. Stonehouse, outside the city, it was learned to-day. A considerable quantity of valuable machinery was destroyed. The fire was believed to have been caused by explosion of gasoline drums stored in the building.

10 GUNMEN LOOT ARMORED TRUCK OVER $400,000

Unlimber Machine Gun on Push Cart as Guards Stop on Collection Call.

3 MINUTE JOB.

Escape Driving 2 Cars in Furious Chase Through Brooklyn, N.Y., Streets.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(AP)—A mob of from 10 to 16 machine-gun bandits today surrounded an armored truck of the U. S. Trucking Company at Bath Beach and robbed it of a sum estimated at between $400,000 and $500,000.

The bandits cleaned out the truck in less than three minutes and made their getaway in two automobiles.

The armored truck had been collecting money from branch banking establishments all over Brooklyn for deposit in various Central Brooklyn banks.

The three men in charge of the armored truck immediately started in pursuit.

One of the escape cars was described as a 16-cylinder sedan. It was followed by the armored car for over a mile before shaking off the pursuers.

The holdup occurred in front of the Rubel Ice Company plant on Bay 19th street between Cropsey and Bath avenues. Scores of employees of the ice company and tennis players on nearby courts witnessed the daring holdup.

Witnesses estimated that the bandits' car speeded away at 70 miles an hour.

City's Largest Haul

The holdup was the largest in Brooklyn's history.

The bags containing the money were unloaded by the robbers from the armored car and thrown into one of their two machines.

These bags, which contained coin and currency, were so heavy that the robbers in their haste left one containing $39,000 in the truck.

The truck was manned by a driver and two armed guards. The driver was Joseph Allen, and the guards were John Wilson and William Lillienthal.

The armored car called at the ice company for a consignment of cash. As the truck pulled up in front of the plant, a three-wheeled ice pushcart was parked there with two men dressed as laborers standing by.

As Lillienthal hopped off to get the money consignment the two men by the ice cart suddenly removed an old automobile seat from on top of the cart and unlimbered a machine gun.

Death!

"Say a word and this spits," one of the bandits warned Joseph Allen, driver, and John Wilson, the other guard.

At this point two automobiles, which apparently had been follow-

HUSBAND SLAIN WIFE IS HELD

Prisoner Found at Neighbor's 7 Miles Away After Lad Gives Alarm.

BLAMES UNKNOWN MAN.

ST. PAUL, Alta., Aug. 24. —(CP) —Twenty-four hours after the axe-marked body of her husband was found in bed at their Flat Lake farm home, 21 miles northeast of here, Mrs. Michael Branchu was still held here pending the outcome of a coroner's inquest.

Mrs. Branchu was arrested at the home of a Wm. Dowanhuk shortly after her 14-year-old son, Billy, informed a neighbor that an unidentified man had entered his home and shot his father.

Informed by telephone, police rushed to the farm home where Branchu was found lying on the bed in a pool of blood. Two deep gashes marked the right side of his head. Neighbors advised Constable Patterson Mrs. Branchu had disappeared into the bush. She had walked seven miles to the home of a neighbor before police found her.

No charge has been laid against the woman who, police stated, said her husband had refused to give her $30 until after he had made the sale of some farm produce.

Children's Day

The children of the city and county, the Peterborough Exhibition's most eager and loyal supporters, packed the grandstand this afternoon with all their perennial enthusiasm for a day of real adventure.

There will be other crowds this week, but none so unpretentiously and appreciative as the boys and girls who know nothing of disillusion and sophistication.

Adults envy their capacity for enjoying the thrills and fun of the grandstand performance, the carnival show, and all the exhibits by manufacturers and merchants.

Many of the visitors this week are fortunate enough to retain some of the unspoiled spirit of youth to whom the novelty and entertainment of the Exhibition is always a new and pleasant experience.

Probably there will be thousands of them.

2 BADLY INJURED IN WORKERS' RIOT AT GUELPH FIRM

Strike Trouble is First in Western City's Industrial History.

BREWING MONTHS.

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 21.—(CP)—Two men were seriously hurt today in vigorous fighting between striking garment workers and employees of the Popular and Superior Cloak Companies. It was the first violence of the city's industrial history.

Bricks and stones were hurled as 200 strikers clashed with loyal workers seeking to enter the companies' plant. Two employes of the firms, Sam Zeidenberg and Max Frommovits, were rushed to hospital with severe scalp wounds. A physician said their condition was serious.

They were conscious, however, and claimed they had been attacked on their way to work.

Most of the fighting took place on Wyndam street, Broad Central avenue of the city. Police were unable to control the combattants and were forced to call for aid from the fire department.

Violence broke out in front of the plant, operated jointly by the companies, after women employes had been allowed to enter. Strikers hurled bricks from a nearby pile left by a construction gang and the workers fought back vigorously.

Firemen Save the Day

Police finally succeeded in herding the strikers down the street, but fighting was renewed on Baker street, nearby. The appearance of the fire department caused the mob to disperse and only a few girls and one or two men remained to picket the plant with placards.

S. Kreisman, Toronto Garment Workers Union organizer, claimed the trouble arose over his personal

Playing At "Ghost" Costs Wife Sore Head

WATERDOWN, Ont., Aug. 21.—(C.P.) — The Waterdown "ghost" was credited to-day with its first victim and a woman who sought to scare her husband nursed a very sore head.

Chief of Police Lovejoy said late last night a scream of terror broke the silence of the village, setting jittery citizens atwitter. Investigation by officers showed a farmer had gone to the pump to get water and that his wife, seeking to amuse herself at his expense had garbed herself in a sheet and yelled "Boo" at him as he passed in the dark. The farmer promptly felled his spouse with a milk bottle he was carrying. She was not seriously hurt.

The Chief said he expected a solution of the "ghost" scare would come within the next 24 hours and that the "ghost" is not a practical joker. He added, however, that many of its "appearances" were believed work of jokers. He warned that practical joking of the sort might end in some person being seriously hurt.

PROVINCE ASKS MILLION A MONTH GETS $750,000

Dominion Contribution to Ontario Relief is Cut About 11 Per Cent.

CONFERENCE IN OTTAWA.

Action on Public Works Henry Started Despite Bennett's Disapproval is Undecided.

OTTAWA, Aug. 21. (CP) — The Dominion contribution to Ontario's relief expenditures has been cut by about 11 percent following the conference yesterday between Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Hon. Mitchell Hepburn, Premier of Ontario. Mr. Hepburn was accompanied by Hon. David Croll, Minister of Municipal Affairs, Hon. A. W. Roebuck, Attorney General, and Hon. Paul Paul Leduc, Minister of Mines.

Hereafter the Dominion will contribute to Ontario a lump sum of $750,000 a month. The Provincial legislators asked for $1,000,000.

What attitude will be taken by the Dominion on the public works expenditures embarked on by the former Henry administration before the general election—expenditures which were not authorized by the Dominion Government—is still a matter for consideration. According to Mr. Hepburn, the requisitions submitted to the Dominion Government by Mr. Henry had been specifically disapproved, the Dominion disclaiming all responsibility therefor. In spite of that, said Mr. Hepburn, the former Provincial premier had gone ahead with the works of which had now, however, been stopped.

Coincident with Mr. Hepburn's visit to Ottawa was the balloting in North Grey and South Wellington. Both ridings returned Liberals to the Provincial house. This evoked from the Premier expressions of gratification. The results, he said, constituted an endorsement of his policies. He saw in them a demand from the people of Ontario for a general election and predicted that the Federal Liberal party would emerge victorious from the five by-elections to take place on September 24.

AUSSIES HOLD IMPOSING LEAD

Disastrous First Innings Nets England Total Score of 321.

PLAYERS INJURED.

Australians finish Third Day With Count of 701 and 188 for Two Wickets.

LONDON, Aug. 21 (CP Cable).— The Australians maintained almost an insuperable lead over England as the fifth and deciding test cricket match concluded its third day's play this evening. Scores in the match, which will be fought to a finish, were: Australia, 701 and 188 for two wickets; England, 321.

England, facing the near-record-breaking total of the Aussies, saw five wickets fall in quick succession as the game resumed to-day, but that was not the worst of their misfortunes. William Bowes was forced out of the game altogether by illness, and Leslie Ames was put out of the match with injuries. Consequently only nine men batter, and there was a deficit of 380 runs on the first innings.

When the Australians got in to bat again things looked brighter, but it was not for long. W. H. Ponsford, who scored 266 in the first innings, was good for only 22 runs to-day, but Don Bradman and Stanley McCabe partnered to bring the score up from 42 to 186 at the close, when both were unbeaten, with 76 and 60 runs respectively.

There is no time limit in the match, but Australia apparently will go into an unconquerable lead. The first was won by Australia, the second by England, and the third and fourth drawn. This match decides the rubber. Twenty-five thousand persons saw the third day's play.

Not for Sale

TORONTO, Aug. 21 (C.P.)— Capt. Angus Walters, skipper of the schooner Bluenose of Lunenburg, N.S., to-day denied with vigor he had sold the vessel to E. L. Ruddy, Toronto advertising and investment man.

Capt. Walters said he had not sold his queen of the North Atlantic to Ruddy or anyone else. "To my knowledge," he added, "I have never even met Ruddy."

A report received circulation last night that Ruddy had bought the Bluenose and would sail her to Newport, R.I., to view this year's international yacht races for the America's Cup.

Ruddy's office said he was out of town "on a cruise."

CHICAGO READY FOR WIDE OPEN DRIVERS' STRIKE

Many Lines Back Bus Men—General Order Would Affect 20,000.

RIOT IN MILWAUKEE.

(By the Associated Press)

Union labor if United States is considering to-day a proposal for a general transportation strike in Chicago, where a police executive has described the bus drivers' walkout as "about ripe to blow wide open."

Chicago surface line employes are to ask the executive board of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, meeting in Detroit, for permission to declare a sympatny strike. Elevated line unions made a similar request yesterday.

Should the executive board approve, 20,000 transportation workers will take a walkout poll.

Tear gas bombs and riot sticks were used to quell a riot in Milwaukee, where 250 strikers sought to rescue a comrade from police yesterday. A woman in a gay dress goaded the workers into action.

Police at Portland, Ore., were told to arrest 23 men for questioning as a result of a clash between working longshoremen and strikers in which one man was shot to death.

Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the United Textile Workers' strike committee, put the next move "up to the industry or the administration" as he pressed plans for a tieup of the cotton textile industry by September 1, with walkouts in other textile lines to follow.

The Minneapolis market district remained a "no man's land" as national guardsmen sought to forestall violence in the truck drivers' strike.

Government plans for the return to work of 8,500 employes were taken under consideration by the Aluminum Company of America, but with little prospect of acceptance.

700 CHINESE DIE WILD TORNADO

60,000 Left Homeless, 600 Junks Swept Off Manchurian Coast.

MARTIAL LAW IN FORCE.

DAIREN, Aug. 21.—(C.P.-Havas) —Seven hundred persons are dead, 60,000 are without homes, 1300 houses have been destroyed and 600 junks carried out to sea by a terrific tornado that burst over Antung, one of the chief ports of Manchukuo, it was reported here today.

Martial law has been proclaimed the reports said. Government troops are converging on the devastated area. Frantic relief workers are unable to reach Chinese in the inundated quarters, however, and more deaths are expected. Those left homeless by the inundations which carried away both houses and junks are reported to be without food.

HEALTH BOARD SUGGESTS WARD CONSUMPTIVES

Indigent Patients Would Be Cared for by City at Queen Mary Hospital.

EXPOSING OF FRUIT.

Attempt to Prevent Peddling of Bread Made Under Unsanitary Conditions.

Indigent tubercular patients of the city may be housed in the Queen Mary Hospital here if the plan meets with the approval of the Provincial Department of Health.

The Board of Health decided at a meeting to-day that it was desirable that some further use for the hospital of 30 beds should be found, and ordered that a full investigation be conducted at once to discover whether it would be practicable to use a part of it for tubercular cases.

It was evident at the meeting that Dr. G. Murray Fraser, M.O.H., and Alderman Walter Stocker, chairman of the Board of Health, have been considering plans for making greater use of the city's hospital for some weeks.

It was pointed out that the city is paying to maintain eight indigent patients in Provincial sanitariums at an naverage cost of $10.50 per week for each patient. It is probable that more indigent tubercular patients will have to be maintained by the city very soon. Dr. Fraser informing the board that he had discovered a family of four tubercular, whom he had advised should be sent to an institution at once.

Saving to Ratepayers

"The suggestion of using our hospital for tubercular patients is certainly worth going into," declared Mayor Denne. "It would mean an important saving to the ratepayers."

Alderman Malcolm McIntyre took the same vew. "A full investigation

Liberals Sweep Two Ontario Ridings

VICTORIES GIVE HEPBURN TOTAL 66 OF 90 SEATS

Big Majority in S. Wellington for Dr. J. H. King—Patterson in Grey by 3,206.

LEADER REJOICES.

Sees Results as Endorsation of His Party's Administration Policy.

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—(C. P.)—Liberals today pointed to the results of two Ontario provincial by-elections as warning for Conservatives as to what will happen when the Dominion by-elections roll around. Liberal supporters of Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn sent him two followers, both South Wellington and North Grey electors leaving no doubt of their approval of the Hepburn administration.

Dr. J. H. King of Guelph will represent South Wellington in the Legislature and North Grey's member will be Roland Patterson. Dr. King ran in the by-election yesterday as a straight Liberal while Mr. Patterson ran as a Liberal-Progressive. Their victories maintained the standing of the Liberal ranks at the same figure produced by the provincial elections June 19—the Legislature standing reading: Liberals 66; Conservatives 17; Liberal Progs. 4; C.C.F. 1; Independent 1; U.F.O. 1; Total 90.

Premier Hepburn described the results of the voting as an endorsement of his administration and warned the Dominion government it was an indication of what awaited Prime Minister R. B. Bennett in the five Dominion by-elections, Sept. 24. If the Dominion by-elections go to the Liberal fold, he said, it would "undoubtedly force a general election."

Mr. Hepburn said the results would drive the Liberal government

Clark Cup Is Won By Cobourg World

COBOURG, August 21. — The Cobourg World, Frank W. Lapp, editor and proprietor, has brought the Clark Cup to the Province of Ontario for the first time since it was offered several years ago in better weekly newspaper competition, by the donor, Charles Clark of High River, Alta.

The cup was presented to Mr. Lapp during the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' convention at Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal, and now graces the Cobourg World's display window. This cup was previously awarded in British Columbia and the Maritimes, but never before in Ontario.

The Cobourg World is being congratulated upon bringing the honor to this Province. The different values considered were: Editorial, special features, local, classified and general advertising local news, typography, correspondence, make-up, pressework and general appearance.

STREET FAIR NETS $500.00

Campbellford Rotary Club Function Most Successful Event in Years.

Crippled Children's Work.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 21 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Approximately five hundred dollars was taken in by the Campbellford Rotary Club at their annual street fair and dance, held on Friday evening last, according to the report given by Rotarian Edge Dolman, secretary-treasurer of the club, at the weekly noon luncheon held yesterday at the St. Lawrence Hotel. Some small bills are outstanding but it is expected that the net proceeds will be around this figure, which indicates a far more successful fair this year than in the past few seasons.

This money, following the aim of the club, will be used for the work among crippled children, and the medical attention the club proposes to give to underprivileged children of the district, following a medical clinic which is expected to be held in Campbellford early in September.

The meeting was presided over by Past President Clarence Williams, in the absence of President Stanley Neale. Rotarian Williams was to have been the speaker on this occasion, addressing the club on the Rotary International convention, held at Detroit this summer, but it was thought wise by club members to clean up work connected with the street fair; the luncheon adjourning for this purpose.

Result of Sunday's Vote When Over 4,000,000 Voted in Opposition.

ATTACKED BY PRESS.

By ELMER W. PETERSON
[Associated Press Foreign Staff]

BERLIN, Aug. 21. (AP).—New Nazi vigilance against Communists was anticipated to-day because of their suspected heavy participation in the rolling up of more than 4,- votes against Chancellor Hitler in Sunday's plebiscite. Although there has been a conciliatory trend toward Communism as a result of a recent amnesty law for political prisoners, the German press resumed sharp attacks on the party.

How Hitler, his assumption of the powers of the late president Paul von Hindenburg approved by an overwhelming majority of Germans, plans to bring the more than 4,000,000 "black sheep" into the Nazi fold became a topic of lively discussion.

The 4,000,000 are men and women in all parts of the Reich. Newspapers assailed them bitterly. The Abit Und Staat, Nazi organ of representatives in business plants, said, "We realise in a population of 65,000,000 there must necessarily by rascals, dumbells, mouldy sausages and malcontents."

That Hitler already has a plan of action was indicated in a post-plebiscite declaration in which he said "My task and the task of all of us will be to consolidate this unity and to win over all the rest of our people to our ideals and doctrines by inspired incessant and determined efforts."

A Bit of Fun

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21 (CP)—"The Shadow" has been captured and his three parts lectured and sent home to mother.

Twelve prominent East St. Louisans received letters with the grim message, "Death is your pal," and signed "The Shadow." Each note bore a crude drawing of a hooded figure leading a skeleton.

Police finally arrested two small boys and a girl who were "having fun."

WHEAT QUOTAS ARE ABANDONED

World Conference Action Means "Open Season" in Shipping.

STUDY NEW PLAN.

LONDON, Aug. 21 (A.P.). — Attempts to reach an agreement on export quotas were definitely abandoned to-day by the world wheat conference, which has been in session for a week.

Unrestrained shipping of wheat by all countries is assured, at least until November.

This means the first "open season" in wheat shipping since the 1934 wheat agreement was signed last August, although during the year Russia refused to accept her quota and Argentina exceeded her allotment when negotiations for an increase fell through.

No meeting of the full conference was held to-day, although one had been announced yesterday in an official communique. A subcommittee, made up of representatives of seven nations, held a further meeting to-day to work out details of a new agreement which will be submitted to the governments.

A plan for a quarterly adjustment of quotas, instead of the fixed annual figure, is the chief feature of the proposal on which the subcommittee is working, but a scheme to adjust these quotas strictly on a basis of prices prevailing in each quarter was abandoned for the time being.

The refusal of Argentina to accept less than 150,000,000 bushels, coupled with a favorable world wheat situation because of the drought, led the conference to abandon a plan for establishment of annual quotas during this session. A discussion of the allotment was postponed until November.

If all governments favor the quarterly scheme for quotas the question will be taken up this fall. The second quarter of the present crop year begins December 1.

Another meeting of the full conference probably will be held tomorrow to pass on new proposals before they are submitted to the 21 governments represented in the negotiations.

OPPOSITION IS VOICED TO PHEASANT SHOOTING

COBOURG, Aug. 21.—The pheasants throughout this county have greatly increased in numbers, but the farmers are not in favor of slaughtering these birds in the fall. It is said the farmers will send a strong petition to the Game and Fisheries Department, protesting against the sportsmen tramping over their farms in search of these game birds.

LABATT SILENCE PROVES CATCH IN KIDNAP HUNT

Police Admit Having Only One Interview With Freed Brewer.

GAVE NO CLUES.

Rumors Spread of Mystery Plane, and Spotter at Brewery Before Abduction.

By ERNEST BURRITT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 21 (C.P.)—A high police authority to-day blamed terror that harm might come to his family for reluctance of Hugh Labatt, wealthy brewery official, to disclose important details of his kidnapping last week and subsequent release after 63 hours. The official declared Labatt's kidnappers who reportedly received $50,000 ransom money had threatened vengeance on their victim's family should he give police information.

Police said that apart from one long interview last Friday, the day Labatt was released, they had obtained no information from him. This, they declared, contriuted to lack of progress in the search for the kidnappers.

Rumors detectives were trailing suspects and that at least one arrest was pending were met with a "phoof" by the official who said Labatt, as far as he knew, had not revealed information sufficient to begin unwinding of the mystery that has shrouded all details of the first kidnapping officially recorded in Canada.

No Information

Officially, there was not a word of police comment. Nor was there any annoucement from the apartment house of the brewer's brother.

Labatt's legal representatives, spokesmen for the family since the kidnapping, obviously tired from the relentless hounding of newspapermen, became more emphatic to day in their constant retteration they knew nothing of the case. All announcements, they said, must come from the Toronto office of Hon. Arthur W. Roebuck, as ruled in the Attorney-General's pronouncement.

Many reports drifting through from the area along the border rivers, indicating farmers had seen the kidnapped victim being driven blind-folded along the highway in a motor car with four other men; that strange flares, accompanied by a code signalled by flashes from motor car headlights, had been detected and that Labatt was seen transferring from one car to another, "probably will be looked into" by police authorities in the district.

Headquarters in London

Detectives assigned to the case and making their quarters in London placed little importance in the rumors and claims of residents. It was admitted the search was being conducted down that way but that was because the crime occurred there.

"It's natural they should start at the beginning of the trail" police said, "but that doesn't indicate police are expecting to find the kidnappers in that particular district."

Labatt was reported by his family physician, Dr. W. J. Tillman as being "bright and cheerful" and showing rapid improvement in his physical condition. It was hoped he soon will have recovered entirely from shock and nervous exhaustion that followed his nerve-wracking tour with men who reputedly openly discussed killing and burying their victim to elude police.

When fully recovered it is expected he will be taken over the route he followed from the summer resort near Sarnia enroute to London the morning he was forced to the roadside by the kidnapping gang's car, and will en-

Duce, Schuschnigg Meet In Florence

BY A. E. STUNTZ
Associated Press Foreign Staff

FLORENCE, Italy, Aug. 21.—(AP)—In a city charged with military atmosphere, Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg of Austria met today to discuss, among other things, the subject of Austrian independence.

Because Florence is the center of military manoeuvres, the city is under strict war time measures and the heads of the neighboring governments entered it under cover of darkness early today.

Austria's continued independence against Nazism, recently crushed in a revolution which cost the life of the late Chancellor Dollfuss, is the prime topic before Mussolini and Schuschnigg.

Il Duce, who recently withdrew troops he rushed to the border during fighting in Austria, conferred last week with Prince Ernest Von Starhemberg, Austria's vice chancellor. Mussolini has bluntly let Germany know Italy would not tolerate a union of German and Austria.

The leaders will spend the entire day together, for the conference is to be one-day affair. It was understood Mussolini, who was a close friend of Dollfuss, would offer Schuschnigg a similar friendship

TERRORISM OF HITLER CAUSING MOST BITTER COMMENT IN ITALY

Press Assails German Leaders for Home and Foreign Policies.

MUSSOLINI ANGRY

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

PARIS, Aug. 21—The changed relationship between Italy and Germany, the two great Fascists states who seemed on the point of concluding the closest possible alliance a few weeks ago when Fuehrer Hitler visited Duce Mussolini at Venice, becomes clear from Italian newspaper comment on the events in Austria. The Italian papers are charged with violent criticism of Hitler and his aides. The German newspapers, feeling the sting of the Roman verbal darts reply in equally strong language. The duel between the press of both countries at times descends to the depths of a mud-slinging contest. But the whole of Europe is watching, for something of the greatest political significance is taking place: Italy is veering toward France.

In reply to the Volkischer Beobachter's description of Italian Fascists as "badly raised children," the newspaper Il Popolo di Roma writes: "Yes, we are children. But what are the Nazis? Just a gang of murderers and homosexuals, that's all."

Italian Press Attacks Hitler

The Angriff, having hinted that Prince Starhemberg must either reconcile himself to Nazism or else expect further trouble, evoked from the Messaggero this reply: "In other words, either Austria must accept Von Papen or else see renewed criminal activity, fruit of degraded morals. At any rate, Europe—civilised Europe—is watching closely."

The Italian papers now reveal also something of the secret conversations between Hitler and Mussolini at Venice a month ago. The Duce found the Nazi chief "deeply disappointing." "Not a statesman," Mussolini is reported to have said after the meeting Hitler. "Not a statesman, just an adventurer. He will not last. He cannot tie two thoughts together. He just rambles and shouts!"

The Rome correspondent for the semi-official Tempo, explaining Mussolini's overwhelming chagrin over the assassination of Dollfuss and Italy's indignation over this tragic denouement in the Austrian situation, said that the Duce and Italy had believed that Hitler had some sense of honor and that they had been terribly deceived.

Hitler should not have asked to see Il Duce and declared himself enchanted with his visit to Venice, said the Tempo; if he intended to continue with his acts of terrorism in Austria, he should have avoided seeing Mussolini altogether. Besides, says the Tempo, he could have put a stop to the criminal propaganda against Dollfuss; he knew how it would all end.

Attacks Leaders—Not Germany

"We may well understand," writes the Tempo' Rome correspondent, "the Duce's state of mind. His personal friend Dollfuss is killed on the eve of his departure for Italy for a visit. The Duce's policies are checked. He is obliged to break the terrific news to Frau Dollfuss. Let us understand that Mussolini is not attacking Germany herself, nor is he fighting her institution of National Socialism. It is against Hitler, the man who did not keep his word, that he rants. It is against Goering, the delirious dope fiend; against Goebbels, the creator of propaganda based on lies; against Rosenberg the anti-Christian. Italy has lost faith in the leaders of present-day Germany. She is looking forward to other Fuehrers in Germany."

Il Popolo di Roma scoffs at the idea that Hitler knew nothing about the planned assassination of Dollfuss when all German newspapers were printing and German wireless stations were broadcasting daily diatribes against the little chancellor.

"Everyone knows in Europe who set fire to the reichstag,' says Il Popolo. "Hitler knew what Captain Roehm's morals were. Hitler alone did not know....On day Hitler will discover that Goering was in a hospital for four or five years as a drug fiend. We shudder to think what will happen then...."

Maintains Actions Needed

Regarding the massing of Italian troops on the Austrian frontier and the insistence of the French and the English that Austria must remain independent, Der Tag writes: "We are seeing a real interference in Austria's affairs. What would the world say if took such measures, if we pressed a gun against Austria's chest....?"

The Messaggero publishes a long editorial, supposedly inspired by Mussolini, in which Il Duce is praised for the prompt measures he took to mobilise his forces.

The bogey raised by some observers of a coming Fascist internationale seems definitely vanished when you read in the Messaggero in the same Mussolini-inspired editorial: "Italy no longer counts on diplomatic negotiations to get results. Too many times Germany has broken her promises. It is useless to parley with a country like that. The prompt military intervention by Italy had the desired result."

The Montag Post insisted that Germany was doing everything to aid in the establishment of calm in Austria. To this Mussolini's own paper retorts icily that Hitler knew every detail beforehand of the putsch that cost Dollfuss his life.

Professor Georg Bernard, former editor of the suppressed liberal Vossiche Zeitung in Berlin, asks whether a man like Von Papen, who hired thugs and gangsters in America, when the United States was not yet at war with Germany, is a person to inspire confidence. "Or," asks Dr. Bernard, "is Von Papen trying to be out of town when the next blood-letting takes place in Berlin?"

No Hospital Likely For Smith Falls

OTTAWA, Aug. 21.—(CP).—The Ontario Government is not likely to build a mental hospital at Smith Falls. The Henry Government had planned such an undertaking.

Premier M. F. Hepburn in an interview to-day said that a building large enough to accommodate the 1,000 persons waiting for such an institution would cost $4,000,000. Architects informed him that sufficient accommodation could be provided for $1,000,000 by an addition to one of the existing hospitals.

"Commencement of construction of a new mental hospital at Smith Falls was just another election dodge of the late Henry Government," he said. "They rushed brick and other materials in there and just dumped them on the ground in an effort to win votes in this part of the province. But we are going to treat this matter as a business proposition and deal with it the same as any other business Government would in securing the best value for the taxpayers' money."

Asked if the addition will be made at the Orillia provincial mental hospital, Mr. Hepburn said no final decision had been reached.

New Era In Lighting Introduced For C.N.E.

Visitors to the Canadian National Exhibition this year will see the most brilliantly lighted street on the continent. This installation of high pressure mercury lamps will be made in the street-lighting standards inside the Prince's Gate, and is the first of its kind here.

The new lamps give an intense bluish light two and a half times as powerful as previous types of the same power consumption. They represent as great an advance in the science of lighting as was the introduction of tungsten filament lamps almost thirty years ago.

The principal application at present of this new light source will be for street-lighting, flood-lighting of buildings, bowling greens, tennis courts and other outdoor activities. It will also aid industry by its use in giving brilliant light to factory interiors.

Through extensive research and development work involving unusual manufacturing problems, the Canadian Westinghouse Company Limited, Hamilton, Ontario, has introduced this lamp in Canada.

to greater endeavors to improve the social and economic well-being of the people. "The results show the people are even more strongly behind our policies now that at the general elections,' the premier added.

Riding's Largest Majority

Largest majority ever recorded in Wellington South went to Dr. King who takes the seat made vacant by the death in an auto crash July 1 of D. Paul Munro, K.C. In a straight fight with Mayor Beverley Robson of Guelph, Conservative, he obtained a 6,253 majority; the vote being: King 10,157, and Robson 3,904.

Mayor Robson was the defeated Conservative candidate in the general elections June 19, when Mr. Munro was returned. The Mayor's vote yesterday was only slightly more than half his June returns, while Dr. King came near to equalling Mr. Munro's vote despite the fact the number of votes cast was not as large as on June 19.

"It is a clear indication people of this riding are desirous of giving Premier Hepburn and his ministers an opportunity of working out their policies of re-organization and reconstruction," was Dr. King's comment after the result was made known. The defeated Conservative candidate, who held no meetings during the campaign, had no statement to make.

Premier Hepburn and four of his Cabinet Ministers took part in the South Wellington campaign; the Premier also speaking in North Grey.

Guelph Goes Liberal

Guelph, regarded as a Conservative stronghold, went to Dr. King's side along with every other polling subdivision in the constituency. Dr. King has been a practising physician in Guelph for 33 years.

The three-cornered contest in North Grey resulted in 7,606 voting for Mr. Patterson, Liberal-Progressive; 2,000 less than D. J. Taylor polled June 19 under the same banner. Mr. Taylor's appointment as Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries caused the by-election.

E. N. Cooper, Mayor of Meaford, and the Independent-Conservative candidate, received 4,408 votes, also 2,000 less than he received during the general elections when he ran as a straight Conservative against Mr. Taylor.

Third candidate in the running, Maurice Christie, son of the late W. J. Christie, one-time Mayor of Owen Sound, surprised the prophets when he polled 1,031 votes. He declared his forces would start preparing immediately for the Dominion general elections.

"Fine Showing"

"Considering the fact that movement was just a week old here, we believe 1,031 votes in a by-election following such a wide Liberal sweep was an exceptionally fine showing," Mr. Christie declared. "Analysis of the vote shows we polled a good vote in every sub-division where we had a man working."

Satisfaction was expressed by Mr. Patterson, who said the results showed complete endorsation of the Hepburn Government. He is a native of North Gray and was born in North Keppel, Jan. 21, 1883; educated in Keppel, Wiarton High School and Meaford Model School. He taught school in St. Vincent Township, coming to Owen Sound in 1903 to teach in the Northern Business College, later entering the insurance business. He served on the Owen Sound Town Council as alderman, deputy reeve and mayor in 1920-21, and is a past president of the Board of Trade.

LABATT SILENCE PROVES CATCH

deavor to reconstruct the crime from then on.

Return of Inspector John Miller, Chief of the Provincial Criminal Investigation Department, who alone has officially interviewed Labatt, is expected when the brewer leads police to the scene.

Trail Folds Up

The trail meanwhile appears to have come to an end, temporarily at least. Whether police can take it up after Labatt's physical recovery, is a matter of conjecture.

The many reports surrounding the case mention a mystery aeroplane and a man in a brown suit. The plane was reported to have landed in the district where Labatt was taken from his car and police have checked in an effort to find the machine's home airport. The ship was said to be yellow and might have been used to transport the kidnap gang to the road where Labatt was made captive. Unverified reports also said aeroplane activity appeared over the Western Ontario district the week preceding Labatt's kidnapping.

Rumors injected the man in the brown suit into the case as one of the gang's "spotters." He was said to have worn the brown suit and a panama hat and to have watched the Labatt brewery here for two weeks, disappearing two days before the kidnapping.

Mrs. H. C. Garbutt of Lakefield is a guest of her sister, Miss Alice and Miss Agnes Lumsden.

Mrs. R. H. Cunningham and baby were guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McNevan, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mathers of Woodstock are visiting relatives in the vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Pennell and daughter, Eleanor, of Toronto were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Miniflie over the week end.

Miss Jean Armstrong, Miss Lyla Drummond and Miss Lottie Leggott are on a camping tour through Bancroft district.

Miss Verna Dickson of Toronto is a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Dickson.

Miss Helen Quinn of Rochester, N.Y., is spending the holiday season at her cottage at Rice Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bolin have returned to their home at New York after holidaying at their cottage, Rice Lake.

Mr. Fred Cooper of Toronto is holidaying in the village.

Mrs. H. Wright and family, Lois, Jackie and Kathrine and Miss Myrtle Patterson have returned home after a three-week vacation at Muskoka Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Wardle of Peterborough are guests of Miss Laura McFarlane and Mrs. Ella McFarlane here.

A very enjoyable evening was spent on Friday at "The Island" when all joined for a weiner roast.

Among those present were: Mr. Clarence Stevenson and mother, Mrs. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stevenson of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Stevenson, Woodstock; Mrs. Luke, Oshawa; Miss Thomson, Mr. Nesbitt, Miss A. Harrison, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson and family, Mrs. Jean Cameron and Miss Jean and Agnes Cameron, Keene.

Miss Marion Nelson, R.N., of New York, is a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson. While here Miss Nelson is having a cottage erected at "The Island", Rice Lake.

Elgin Club Cinches Place In Play-Offs

HASTINGS, Aug. 21 (Examiner Correspondence)—By virtue of their 14 to 9 win over the Clerks on Monday night Elgin made sure of third place and a chance in the play-offs in the local softball league. The Dramatics can nose the Clerks out of the last play-off berth if they win the balance of their games.

Richardson on the mound for the winners was not as effective as usual but his teammates played heads up ball. Whitred was touched for thirteen safeties and his support was bad on a number of chances.

Hastings Bowlers Bedten In 4 Games

HASTINGS, Aug. 21.— Hastings bowlers dropped four games to Havelock in the scheduled Trent Valley fixtures played on the Havelick greens. Campbell was one up on Moore on the ninth end, only to have the Havelock skip get a three on the last end and the game 9 to 7. In the other half of the first two, Findlay and Mathieson were all square in the eighth, when the latter got a three, while the best Findlay could do was one in the last end.

30 Passengers Injured As Gale Lashes Liner

GLASGOW, Scotland, Aug. 21. — (A.P.). — More than 30 passengers were injured and one seaman was washed overboard and drowned when a terrific gale struck the liner Cameronia in the mid-Atlantic, it was learned on the ship's arrival at the Clyde early to-day.

Passengers said some waves 60 feet high broke against the Anchor Line ship, which sailed from Boston August 12 and from New York the previous day.

The ship hove to for eight hours to wait for the gale to moderate, and heeled over at an angle of 35 degrees, passengers reported.

GET IT OFF TO A GOOD START.

With the first night performance of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition scheduled for this evening, The Examiner hopes that the fair directors will be encouraged by a huge attendance that will be indicative of record patronage throughout the week.

The change in dates, bringing Peterborough's Exhibition into the range of summer weather, changes its status materially, inasmuch as it should make attendance at the evening performances a pleasure, rather than a duty as it sometimes used to be in others years when there was frost in the air and grandstand patrons shivered as they tried to enjoy the program.

In short, this should be a gala week for the people of the city and district, who will be enabled to have all the fun and color and entertainment of a fall fair under weather conditions that make just being out-of-doors a delight.

This year's Exhibition is in every department well worth seeing; the grandstand performance is elaborate and novel, the midway large and amusing, the exhibits well up to record both as to quantity and quality, and there are some special displays of unusual interest; this should indeed prove a record-breaking Exhibition, and it is up to Peterborough citizens to start it on its way to complete success by providing a large opening night attendance.

Make this the biggest week in the history of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

LITTLE CHANCE OF AN ELECTION.

The argument that a Liberal sweep in the five federal by-elections to be held next month will ensure a Dominion election almost immediately seems to be a case of the wish being father to the thought.

Mr. Bennett's Government does not have to go to the country until next year, and is not likely to be hurried into making the plunge now even if, as is not improbable, the coming by-elections show the tide running strongly against the present administration at Ottawa.

Indeed a complete reverse in the September tests is almost certain to cause the Government strategians to defer their appeal to the electorate for another year, on the theory that time may be working on their side and that better economic conditions in 1935 will improve the chances of a Government victory.

Then, too, the Bennett Government introduced an unusual amount of important legislation during the past session, and as such vital measures as the marketing bill and the legislation to assist debt-burdened farmers are only about to function, it is natural that the Government should prefer to wait another twelve months before dissolving Parliament in order that the new legislation should get a fair test and the administration should receive the benefit that would follow a successful working out of the marketing bill and other measures now coming into force.

The surest proof that no 1934 federal election is contemplated is, of course, the fact that these by-elections are being held; if it was proposed to dissolve the House before another session there would have been no object in filling these vacancies at the present time.

RETIRING THE J.P.'s.

The public is having some difficulty in understanding just why the Ontario Government has seen fit to retire all the justices of the peace in the province.

The citizens in the various communities who had been honored by these appointments received no remuneration from the Government for what services they rendered, so that their retirement does not mean any saving, and at the same time the public is deprived of the convenience and lack of expense that the presence of these justices of the peace represented.

The men who have been dismissed are representative members of their districts, some of them Conservatives, some of them Liberals, and almost invariably they have assisted their fellow-citizens by drawing up affidavits without charge, a service that has been generally appreciated.

Here in Peterborough some of our justices of the peace have proven decidedly helpful by presiding over police court proceedings in the absence of the magistrate, and they, of course, will no longer be available for this purpose.

While there is a certain bigness to the announcement that thousands of justices of the peace have been retired, it disappears completely when it is realized that these officials were not paid out of the public treasury, and that their position was a purely honorary one that enabled them to be of some service to their fellow-citizens.

The cost of the administration of justice is a heavy item in governmental overhead in this province, but it is not relieved in the least by the retirement of purely honorary officials.

THOSE OUTBOARD MOTORS.

Peterborough is proud of her outboard motor plant and of the advertising the famous Sea Horses give their home city in all parts of the Dominion.

She is proud to have her name associated with an industry that has furnished cheap water transportation to thousands, that has brought the thrill and pleasure of motor-boating to countless families.

The outboard motor means cheap travelling by water, and its simplicity of operation makes it an agency of transportation that can be operated by practically every member of the family.

There is only one fly in the ointment, however: and attention has been called to it recently by more than one contributor to the "letters from readers" columns of the newspapers, voicing complaints about the manner in which the quiet of our lake resorts is shattered by the noise of these pinned-on motors.

There is such a tendency on the part of their ... to operate with the mufflers off, and the result is such a strident, piercing, burning shriek that even the gossip on summer hotel verandahs is silenced, and at night weary cottagers toss fretfully in their beds and murmur bitter things about the drivers of the flitting saw-mills that, like Macbeth, murder sleep for everybody within miles of where they are being operated.

We suggest, we hope helpfully, that the research department of the outboard motor companies concentrate on the problem of making the things absolutely silent, or failing that, that a code of ethics for outboard motor operators be prepared calling for consideration for those who believe that a summer holiday should include adequate periods of rest.

A PUPPET REPLACES A MAN.

There could be no clearer evidence or symbol of Germany's degradation than the succession of Adolf Hitler to the presidency of Paul von Beneckendorff and Hindenburg.

History will deal none too gently with the old field marshal. He betrayed the republic. He let himself be drawn into an ugly scandal for the sake of an estate in East Prussia. He dismissed first Bruening and then Von Schleicher when they threatened to expose the thieveries and curtail the subsidies of his Junker neighbors. He let himself become the tool of a plotting little cabal led by his son.

Yet even in his last feeble years, with the mind growing ever more clouded, Von Hindenburg was a man, a symbol, the last link between the old Germany and the new. His successor is an hysteric, a neurotic, who is at home only on the soapbox; a strange creature given to womanish fits of weeping. At first Von Hindenburg could not stand to be in the same room with him. Mussolini met him only to dislike him. For though Mussolini may be a demagogue, he is not a fool.

Von Hindenburg's career covers the period of Germany's rise to imperial power under the leadership of Prussia, and her fall under that same sinister rule of blood and iron. He was born a year before the abortive attempt to set up a republic in 1848. He fought against Austria in the war by which Bismarck seised for Prussia the leadership of the German states. He fought in the war against France that made the Hohenzollerns emperors of the Reich. And he fought in the war that made deserters of those same Hohenzollerns in their country's darkest hour.

For a time it seemed as though, under Von Hindenburg, Germany would reach new greatness as a republic. But it was he himself who let down the bars and brought the gutter hordes of the Nazis into power. Three times he had the opportunity to save the republic from them and three times he let the petty interests of his Junker class take precedence over the interests of the Reich. And now Hitler is President in his stead.

As President and Chancellor, with the Storm Troops humiliated and reduced in size, Hitler is more than ever dependent on the Reichswehr. But the Reichswehr may prove to be more and more dependent on Hitler, chained to him in his inevitable fall. It has failed to halt his rise in the past and seems to have failed again.

The puppet masters will go down with their puppet.—New York Post.

INQUEST WITHOUT A BODY.

An inquest was held at Chalfont St. Giles, Buckinghamshire, England, the other day by the local coroner and jury. There was, however, no body. The court was not inquiring into an accident or killing, but into the ownership of a quantity of silver and copper coins which a local citizen had dug up in his garden. After the witness was called to testify that he had found them, the only other witness was the Keeper of Coins in the British Museum, who gave his opinion on their age and value. Their actual value in the period to which they belonged, which was from 54 to 161 A.D., was thirty shillings, or about $7.50. The jury returned a verdict that the money was "Treasure Trove," and thereby forfeit to the King. The copper coins, however, were handed to the finder's son for a keepsake.

The British coroner, or "crowner" in ancient language, has a history of over 800 years, and in the long ago he had very extensive powers and duties. He had to collect the King's revenues, take possession as he still does, of buried treasure, take possession of wrecks, stranded whales and sturgeons, hear criminal appeals and assess deodand. In other words, he had to assess the value of any object that had caused a death. Thus, if a man was gored by an ox that did not belong to him, the coroner would appraise the value of the ox and cause the payment of a similar sum of money to the next of kin. He also held inquests into fires the cause of which was unknown, whether any life was lost or not.

Nearly all these powers have been shorn from the office in course of time, but British coroners have to hold inquests on every death by accident, on every person who dies without a doctor attending the last illness, and on every person who dies in prison. If a man falls dead in his office, workshop, or even dies in his sleep without having had a doctor attending him recently, there is an inquest, but it is not necessary to call a jury unless there is some suspicious circumstance.

Only one coroner in the country retains the power to hold an inquest on fires. That is the coroner for the city of London, and he quite frequently does that.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Looking at the American League standing, Detroit people will probably agree that the depression is permanently over.

Possibly the Hepburn Government has retired the justices of the peace just to show its contempt for titles.

To-night and every night this week Peterborough's citizens should throng the Exhibition Grounds where a wealth of entertainment awaits them.

A clean sweep for the Liberals in the federal by-elections, it is claimed, will precipitate a Dominion election this fall, a statement that might cause some of the electors to resolve that there will be no clean sweep.

AUSTRIA

THE danger spot of Europe nobody knows just where. The Polish Corridor has been stressed. So has the Versailles Treaty. Reparations are a Gordion knot. Adamant France is not a peace factor. Hitler German uncertainty unsettles European tranquillity. The killing of Dollfuss has put Austria on the danger spot. Granted that the uppermost aim of Dollfuss was to maintain the independence of Austria. Doubtless he was motivated by the patriotic ambition to secure for his people cultural and linguistic autonomy. Racial aspiration is characteristic of Christian civilization. Pagan environment does but little to arouse racial cultural yearning. Independent Austria dreamed a higher destiny. Of her power to withstand German encroachment she was not confident. She was not left alone. The nations responsible for her statehood—France, Great Britain and Italy— gave assurance that Germany would not be permitted to cross her boundary unopposed.

Contrary to expectations, Germany shows a disposition not to give the least provocation for friction with Austria, nor with the other concerned nations. Has the danger of European war been removed? For the present the world sentiment is that it has. The thought expressed gathers about the outbreak of war. For that, the probability is that it will not for some years. There are, however, some deep-seated antagonisms which must soon come to a head. If not settled to the satisfaction of the races involved, will again break the peace.

The Allies forced upon Austria and the other Central Powers the present existing status. They did so to weaken Germany and to make her recovery impossible. Have they succeeded? What is the outlook?

Austria is so unlike her former self. Austria-Hungary was two hundred and sixty-one thousand, two hundred and fifty-nine miles (square) in extent. The population was fifty-one millions. The Versailles Austria is only thirty-two thousand, three hundred and ninety-six square miles in size. And the population is only seven million. But we have not reached the end of our reckoning. The pre-war dual monarchy included Polish Galatia, and the Trentino, and most of Jugo-Slavia Hungary, Transylvania, also Czecho-Slovakia. The way was open to the Adriatic. A long coastline with plenty of ports gave access to the Adriatic and the Mediterranean. That advantage for commerce is now a closed door. Without the sea a nation is not likely to grow strong or very prosperous. And Austria has not an inch of sea. Her only path to the sea is through Italy, or through Jugo-Slovakia. Italy is not friendly to Austria. Jugo-Slovakia has tasted freedom. Her people are cold towards the Austrians and Hungarians. Austria is a shut-in. If the boundaries in the Danube valley remain as at present a navy will never be an Austrian luxury. If her products find their way to the world markets foreign bottoms will carry them. The Versailles Treaty destroyed her maritime commerce. International justice assumes that every nation has the right to the seas. A slice of Germany was given to the Poles by the Versailles Treaty. It is known as the Polish Corridor. For this one nation the Versailles Treaty tore a passage to the sea, and that right through German territory. The same treaty robbed another nation of what was hers. Injustice never settles international interests. Shutting Austria in is an element in the present unrest in Europe.

The power of Austria-Hungary in the Danube valley was controlling. Every race hungers for freedom. Liberty was lighted at the altar of the Eternal and the torch will never be allowed to go out. In the pre-war Hungary-Austria, there were several subject peoples. Their voice for freedom was lifted on fitting occasions. But the dual nation did not desire independence from them. Austria is industrial. Former Austria was the center of a large Danubian economic unit.

The Versailles Treaty broke up the economic unit. The signatory nations decided that the knifing of Austria should be permanent. The plea was a lie. France asserted that the action was prompted by the subject races demand for self determination. That nationality was an inherent right.

Recent events emphasize the motive to have been political. France did not give a second thought to the interests of the subject races. Her one determination was to break for ever the power of Germany in Central Europe. The issue France sought to settle for all time was the possibility of another Austria-Hungary. France fears another alliance between Germany and Austria. These statements lead on to the conclusion that the independence of Austria is more for the security of France than for the growth and freedom of Austria. The settlement made at Versailles will never foster peace. France overlooks a fundamental essential. European peace is as intrinsic for her welfare as security.

The independence of Austria will be maintained for some time. It must not be forgotten in forecasting the future that Austria is largely German in blood. This kinship will have its natural manifestation. No armed force can keep them apart, economically and socially.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

OKOTOKS, ALBERTA.

This is the oldest town between Calgary and MacLeod and is situated in the centre of the famous Turner Valley oil fields. Local history is hazy as to the date of the first settlement, but appears united on the fact that the first settlers were Alexander McRae, Kenneth Cameron and John MacMillan.

The word Okotoks is of Indian origin and means "Stoney Crossing," evidently referring to the good crossing used by the Indians in trekking from Calgary to MacLeod.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

WHAT SHOULD A MAN TELL HIS WIFE?

A woman brought an action for divorce the other day. Complained that her husband never told her anything. Came home, washed, shaved, sat down, read the paper, ate his supper, listened to the radio, talked about this and that, went to bed. And never told her anything. . . . Only time she ever learned anything was when they were out in company and then he loosened up and said lots of things, interesting gossip he should have told her weeks and weeks before.

The man told the judge that he never told his wife anything because telling her things was like printing them in the paper. . . . She'd gotten him into trouble more than once, she had no judgment, no reticence, so it was true he never told her anything. . . . The wife got the divorce, but the man got the judge's sympathy.

A very important question: How much should a husband tell his wife? . . . A more important fact is: Most husbands tell their wives nearly everything. . . . That word "nearly" belongs in that sentence because a man and his wife are two separate individuals, no matter how long they have been married to each other, and naturally they can't tell each other everything that is in their minds. That would be an awful nuisance for each of them, and they couldn't stand it, either.

But if a man likes his wife, as well as loves her, he tells her nearly everything. He may not admit to other people that he does. But he knows she will keep his confidence; she is his friend, his other self; and unless it is something he is sworn to keep to himself, he tells about it at home. . . . Perhaps doctors don't, but I'm not sure about them, despite that oath they take. . . . What's the use of being married, anyway, if your wife isn't the one person you can tell anything to?

When Alice Roosevelt Longworth told Grace Coolidge she was going to have a baby, Mrs. Coolidge was all excited and told about it at a White House dinner. Somebody asked her when it was to be, and she said she'd forgotten to ask. . . . The president, between bites, remarked that he understood it would be about the second of March or some other date—he'd known about it for weeks. Nick Longworth had told him. . . . Mrs. Coolidge said: "How would you like to be married to a man like THAT." . . . And every wife present sympathized with her, and every husband remembered some occasion when HE had forgotten to tell his wife something she should have been told.

One-Minute Pulpit

Plead my cause and deliver me; quicken me according to thy word. —Psalm 119:154

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Rod Williams

THE BIRTH OF A BIG COMPANY

On this date in 1847 the Canada Life Insurance Company began business at Hamilton. It was founded by Hugh C. Baker, afterwards manager of the first telephone exchange in Canada. He had shown his own faith in the principle of life insurance by travelling to New York to be examined for a British company, doing the journey by horse and stage coach.

The first policy was issued October 29 following. Total receipts for the first year were 2,153 pound, with expense of only 380 pound so that, as stated in the first annual report, the company was "placed in a position at its first annual meeting which is unexampled in the history of life insurance, that of having realized profits without having included the value of the risks already earned."

Baker had a difficult time preaching life insurance; people were hard to convince; "the company encountered coldness where it might have expected cordiality, lukewarmness where there should have been zeal, and misgivings where there should have been confidence."

The opposition, perhaps, the ignorance, was so deep that when the company sought incorporation from the legislature in 1849 the bill was thrown out by the legislative council, one punster telling his fellow councillors that the only capital the company possessed was "assurance." Eventually, after several applications, the incorporation was procured, but only by a bare majority. One clause in the policy which made temperance a condition was perhaps a contributing factor in the opposition, for those were days of heavy drinking.

Year by year the company progressed, spreading by degrees all over Canada; to Montreal in 1853; Saint John, 1856; Winnipeg in 1879 and eventually to Victoria and Vancouver. The guiding spirit in the early days was A. G. Ramsay, who had been secretary of the Scottish Amicable Assurance Company, and was eventually president of the Canada Life. Control was secured by G. A. Cox, afterwards senator, who replaced Ramsay and from 1899 to 1928 a Cox sat in the presidential chair. Even yet the Cox family are predominating partners in this, the pioneer life company of Canada.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 90c to 92c; oats, 35c to 36c; barley, 56c to 60c; corn, 85c to 86c; rye, 55c to 57c; buckwheat, 60c to 62c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter and cheese prices were fractionally higher in price, while egg prices tended easier on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market yesterday.

Butter sold for 18½c to 18¾c a pound for fresh No. 1 in car lots or less, up ¼c. Small lots to retailers were 20c a pound for solids and 21c a pound for prints. Receipts were 361 boxes.

On the cheese market, Ontario colored was quoted at 10c to 10½c a pound, up ¾c, and Quebec cheese was 9¾c to 9¾c a pound, up ¼c. Arrivals were 870 boxes.

Graded shipments of Ontario eggs in less than car lots were 23c a dozen for A large, down 1c; 21c for A medium, off 1c; 18½c to 19c for B and 18c for C. Western eggs in car lots sold for 21½c to 22c a dozen for A large, 20½c to 21c for A medium, 18½c to 19c for B, and 17½c to 18c for C. Receipts totalled 986 cases.

Potato prices were unchanged from their former levels, New Quebecs No. 1 being 45c to 90c per 80-pound bag and No. 2 bringing 35c to 40c per 80-pound bag. Old New Brunswick Mountains were 30c to 25c per 80-pound bag.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

A steady stream of buying orders resulted in fractional advances in grain prices yesterday, although the upturn was held in check by profit-taking sales.

Trading sentiment here was strengthened materially by firmness of foreign markets and new increases in cash grain prices. Buying was strong enough to establish gains of around 2c in wheat and almost 1c in corn at times, but these bulges were whittled down in the closing rush of selling to realize profits.

Wheat closed with a net gain of ½c to ¾c above Saturday's finish, December new deliveries at $1.04¼ (a $1.05 showing a reaction of almost a cent from the top figures of the day. Corn ended irregularly at a range of ¼c loss to ¼c gain. Oats and rye were virtually unchanged, although some deliveries showed fractional advances. Barley was swept up more than 2c into new high ground for the season, continuing the advance of last week.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Taking advantage of an early advance, profit-takers raided the wheat pit in yesterday's session of the Winnipeg grain exchange and left futures prices only ¾ cent higher to ¼ cent lower. October finished at 85⅝c, December 86¼c, and May, 89¾-⅞c.

The profit-takers, assisted by operators hedging against country deliveries of new wheat, swooped in on the market in the closing minutes of trading. Gains of as much as 1½ cents, built up in a session that had been one of the most bullish in more than a week, were swiftly erased.

Renewed foreign demand for Canadian wheat, plus strong advances marked up at Liverpool, and fears of frosts in Saskatchewan, earlier had resulted in buoyantly advancing prices. Export sales approximated 1,000,000 bushels of wheat while Liverpool futures had closed 1¼ to 1⅝d higher.

Market news generally continued constructive. Temperatures in Western Canada had dipped to as low as 38 degrees at several points and fears were held crops in Saskatchewan might be damaged by frosts. Export statistics for last week also were encouraging, showing 4,500,000 bushels of wheat shipped from North America out of a world total of 10,750,000 bushels.

With good demand for better varieties of wheat in evidence, cash grains were active and spreads closed fractionally higher. Coarse grains futures, actuated by reports from Washington that duty on feed grains imported into the United States may be lifted, turned sharply higher.

WANT MAGISTRATE RETAINED.

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 20 (C.P.). —Mayor W. P. Peters to-day sent protest to Attorney-General Arthur Roebuck, against the retiring of Police Magistrate J. M. Farrell. Mayor Peters pointed out that Magistrate Farrell was appointed under the special Act some years ago, whereby the city paid $1,400 of his salary. Appointment of a new magistrate would mean considerable more expense to the Government.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

TORONTO, August 21 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on fruits and vegetables as supplied by White and Co., were reported unchanged here to-day with the exception of Canadian canteloupes which were quoted at 35 to 40 cents for No. 1, 16-quart basket, and at 25c to 30c for No. 2 16-qt. basket.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Aug. 21 (CP).—Trading continued very dull on most grades of cattle on the Toronto Livestock Market this afternoon, but no changes were reported on prices. The market was badly clogged by 2,100 head of holdovers. Most sales on the hog division were unchanged, but an occasional 10-cent gain was made. Calves and sheep held steady but lambs dropped 25 cents on off truck supplies.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 1,040; calves, 650; hogs, 590; sheep and lambs, 1,720.

A few choice fed calves sold at $6.50 to $7.25, while mediums were slightly easier at $4.50 to $6.00. Good butcher cows held steady at $2.50 to $2.75, while canners brought $1.00. Butcher steers were weak at $2.50 to $4.50. Best butcher heifers made $4.00 to $4.25 and a few weighty steers sold from $3.50 to $5.50. Light stockers made $2.00 to $2.50.

The calf division continued unchanged at $5.50 to $6.00 for choice vealers and at $3.00 for common. A few grassers made $2.35 to $2.50. Sheep held at $1.00 to $3.00 cwt., according to quality.

Odd gains of 10 cents were made on the hog division but for the most part the levels were unchanged at $8.00 f.o.b. for bacons, $8.35 off truck and $8.75 off car. Off truck lambs were down 25 cents at $6.25 after morning sales showed unchanged prices of $6.50. Culls and bucks brought $5.00 to $5.50.

LIVESTOCK QUOTATIONS.

Hog quotations remained unchanged. Lamb quotes remained unchanged with the exception of good lambs, which were quoted from $6.25 to $6.50.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

MONTREAL EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 21 (CP).—Gains and losses were evenly divided on the Montreal Stock Exchange at the close of the session today in which leading issues pursued in irregular course from the opening bell.

Brazilian Traction was softer and of less interest to traders, declining 1-2 at 10 3-4; Hollinger opened 10 cents lower but rose to 19.90 where it closed up five cents. International Nickel was up 3-8 to 25, while Canadian Pacific was 1-4 higher at 17 3-8. Fractional advances were made by General Steel Wares, Gypsum Lime, National Breweries and Bruck Silk. Bell Telephone made a two-point gain at 118. Canada Cement Preferred was one point higher at 38.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP).—Stocks advanced in light buying today. Prices moved up substantially during the forenoon on more active dealings, but gains were largely maintained in the late lull. United States Steel, Allied Chemical, American Telephone, United States Smelting, Sears Roebuck, Chrysler and Santa Fe were up 1 to around 3 points. Transfers approximated 550,000 shares.

SATISFACTORY DEVELOPMENTS

BARKERVILLE, B.C., Aug. 21.—(Special)—Mr. A. Peeling, superintendent of the Keithley-Brechin Mines, reports that satisfactory results are being obtained from the plan of development that is being pursued on the subsidiary of the Keithley Consolidated Gold Mines Ltd. property.

Their Number 1 tunnel has shown up a strongly mineralized vein showing a width of approximately fifty feet. This vein has been stripped on the surface for a distance of more than three thousand feet. Some of the samples taken from this vein show free gold visible to the naked eye. This property is located on the Hixon-Keithley mineralized zone of the Cariboo District of British Columbia near Cariboo Lake.

HEART VICTIM.

WALKERTON, Aug. 21.—(C.P.)—Charles W. Stubbert, proprietor of the Queen's Hotel, Walkerton, died suddenly to-day as a result of a heart attack. His death came before medical attention could be procured.

Mr. Stubbert, who was about 50 years of age, came to Walkerton from Brussels, about a year and a half ago, when he purchased the local hotel.

CENTRAL PAT. LEADS GOLDS

Hollinger, Teck Hughes and Lake Shore Feature Trade in Metals.

OIL ISSUES QUIET.

TORONTO, Aug. 21 (CP).—Central Patricia, a secondary gold stock, dominated the mining section of the Toronto Exchange today and with it several other secondary golds featured. Except for some activity in Hollinger, Teck Hughes and Lake Shore, other metals and oils were quiet.

Central Pat started in the morning at 102, down 2 from yesterday. At one time during trading it shot to 1.08. It closed at 1.06. Siscoe at 2.81, up 3; Macassa at 2.85, up 4; God's Lake at 2.55, down 5 and Kirkland Lake, at 62, up 4, were other features of the secondary golds. B.R.X. at 90 was active and up 8 1-2 from yesterday.

Hollinger was bought at 19.85, unchanged from yesterday. Teck Hughes advanced 1.50 to 6.90 and Lake Shore was 32.90, a jump of 65.

At the Theatres

AT THE REGENT

"THE MAN WITH TWO FACES"

This is a "different" picture. It has an unusual theme, an unusual treatment, and an unusual cast.

Edward G. Robinson is the hero, and, as far as the action of the piece goes, he is the outstanding figure. But Louis Calhern, in the unlikeable role of Stanley Vance, steals the show. There is no doubt about that. Just why the name of Mae Clarke, for instance, in a minor role, should be mentioned on the four-sheets, and Calhern's name omitted, is a puzzle. It is a superb performance, one of the sort that hits the spectator in the eye, as it were, so real and so polished is the presentation of the villain of the piece, the hypnotist who holds his wife under a spell and so compels her admirers to do as he wills, because of their pity for the benighted creature.

Calhern had the part of Finn, in "20,000 Years in Sing Sing," another bit that brought him into prominence. Perhaps his forte lies only in roles that are unusual, but certainly, he is a finished actor.

Mary Astor, as Jessica Wells, is the lovely and pliant heroine, and Ricardo Cortez, he of the slumbrous eyes and pleasant voice, is her devoted lover. Vance is the husband who was supposed to be dead, but who comes back to haunt her more fortunate years. Robinson is her brother, cast, as usual, as the egotist who fails to claim the last vestige of allegiance from his watchers. You may admire this little man's art, but you don't admire him. He went better in pictures of the "Cobra" type, as the real, honest-to-goodness bad man. And Mae Clarke, as his sweetie, continues that queer career of hers that seems to lead down, instead of up, regardless of its high-pitched beginning.

It is an unusual and most interesting picture, with an ending that looks a little like the censor's. Emily Fitzroy (who will ever forget her who saw "Away Down East" and heard the tic-a-tac music that went everywhere with that trio of black-tongued gossipers with her as the head?) and David Landau have their accustomed fine character bits.

The story is based on the play, "The Dark Tower," and that title, by the way, sends its rootsprings back beyond the memory of the written word. Byron's "Childe Haroide" deals momentarily with the adventure of Childe Roland who came to the "dark tower" and blew his dauntless horn, but the basis of that story lay beyond that, in Shakespeare's time, when he reached back into antiquity to speak, in one of his plays, of a forgotten old fantasy of the "dark tower" which was death. If Stanley Vance was supposed to imitate that dauntless man who faced death and the dark tower with a fearless heart, he made a sorry counterpart of the original, but he played it well. Louis Calhern, in the part, is a real actor.—Jeanette.

ceeded last night's chill, and conditions for the children's afternoon could not have been improved.

Judging Begun

The judging of the Flower Show was completed this afternoon by the local judges, Frank Wise and Harry Carter. Increased accommodation in the big tent will be appreciated by the public who will find the flower display one of the most brilliant the Exhibition has ever assembled.

Junior Farmers' Program

Wednesday's program for the junior farmers is divided into two sections, one for the girls in household science judging and a dress parade demonstration of good dressing; and the other for the young men in livestock judging and showmanship.

Both these sections will be convened at 9.30 a.m., the morning events being the judging of beef and dairy cattle and poultry; and heavy horses, sheep and swine in the afternoon.

The Shorthorn Calf Club program is posted for Thursday for 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. These branches of the Exhibition, especially devoted to the young farmers of Central Ontario, is one of the innovations of recent years that alone justifies all the enterprise and efforts of the Exhibition Board.

Horse Shoe Pitching

Art Moffat told The Examiner today that entries for the horse shoe pitching contest would be received up to noon Friday. The draw will be made immediately, and the competition starts at one o'clock.

Eight pitches have been laid out behind the old Manufacturer's Building, flood lights have been installed, and the games may continue until long after dark if necessary.

"We have received a cash contribution of $50," Mr. Moffat said, "and the merchants have helped us generously by providing some fine prizes. We also have a silver cup, and we expect the biggest entry list that has ever been seen in Peterborough.

These games are being conducted with the approval of the Dominion Horse Shoe Association, and I will be surprised if we do not get a large number of out-of-town tossers. The games start a 1 p.m. Standard time Friday, and they should be a big success. We have already a lot of entries, but we expect nearly as many more before the list closes."

Chrysler and Dodge Pictures

Motion pictures of the Chicago World's Fair are included in the interesting program that will be shown continuously until Thursday night in the Chrysler-Dodge tent which is located just east of the main entrance.

C. W. Lesson of Windsor is in charge of this promotional feature which is being sponsored by the Gillespie Garage and Lillico Motors of Peterborough.

The Chicago Fair movies are especially timely, and include among the personages who are prominent in this picture such see drivers as Barney Oldfield, Billy Arnold and Harry Hartz.

"Power to Win,' is a Dodge picture featuring Babe Didrikson, the Olympic star athlete. "Fashioned to Function" demonstrates the fundamental principles of airflow design in the new models of the corporation's automobiles.

"Built to Take It," illustrates all the details of truck manufacture. "Hell Drivers" shows the gruelling tests to which Plymouth cars are submitted before they are offered to the public. Barney Oldfield and Billy Arnold are the star drivers in this film. "Four of a Kind" is another outstanding picture in which the prerequisite qualities of the modern car are discussed by Oldfield, Arnold, Hartz and Red Schaeffer.

Those who have never seen the chain method of production in automobile factories will find educational aspects to the movie, "Three a Minute," showing the output of Plymouths at the scheduled rate of three a minute.

Other films are included in this variety program. Visitors to the Chrysler-Dodge tent are accommodated with chairs, and the public is generally invited to see these interesting pictures.

In connection with the girls' section in the Junior Farmer Contests at Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, Miss E. Hopkins of the Ontario Department of Agriculture announces that a "good dressing" judging contest is to be held Wednesday afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock. Four teams representative of Peterborough, Hastings, Northumberland, and Victoria Counties are to compete. It is a contest that will hold special appeal for all women folk, with the displays of dress modelling, and Miss Hopkins extends an open invitation to the general public to attend.

For the sixth successive year Peterborough "Y's" Men are conducting a Bingo game down at the "Ex" grounds all week, and are this year experimenting with an amplifier for the "caller-off" of numbers. The "Y's" men have a particularly fine assortment of prizes, including blankets, provisions, aluminumware, etc.

JUDITH POSKA

An $18,000 vilion was Efrem Zimbalist's gift to Judith Poska, shown here, 22-year-old concert leader at a radio station in Los Angeles. A former student of the world famous virtuoso, she was termed by him a geninus and "the only deserving girl violinist I know."

HEALTH BOARD SUGGESTS WARD

into its possibilities should be made at once," he stated. "It would certainly make more use of the hospital, which has been more or less idle ever since it was built."

Dr. Fraser said it would be necessary to get the approval of the Provincial Department of Health. It was his opinion that the hospital could easily be made suitable for the care of tubercular, and this would not in any way detract from its service for cases of contagious disease.

Alderman Stocker stated that he and Dr. Fraser had recently conducted a thorough investigation into the facilities of the hospital, "I felt it was too bad that space up there should be going to waste more or less" he commented. "It has 20 beds and is fully equipped. It was my idea that it might be used as a convalescent hospital."

Mayor Denne asked, "Would the Department of Health assist with a grant."

Alderman McIntyre commented, "That is all something that should be gone into very carefully."

Mayor Denne said, "We will have it fully investigated and put the plan to the Department and see what they say about it."

Dr. Fraser stated that in his opinion it would be a great saving to the ratepayers. "All this money is now going to Western and other santariums to maintain our indient tuberculars" he said. "I fully believe we could look after them here. There are some cases we might not be able to treat, but the majority we could."

Exposing Fruit for Sale

Dealing with the exposing of fruit for sale on the street by local merchants, the Board ruled that in accordance with the city by-law such exposure of fruit on the street must stop. Dr. Fraser was instructed to make a checkup and if necessary secure the assistance of police.

In bringing up the matter of the exposing of fruit for sale, Dr. Fraser pointed out it was strictly against the city bylaw. He also drew attention to the fact that in some cases the merchant takes up half the sidewalk in displaying the fruit in front of his shop.

Mayor Denne remarked, "It is bad. On Saturday night a person has difficulty in getting by some of the stores."

Alderman McIntyre pointed out that another city by-law made it unlawful for merchants to take up more than 12 inches of the sidewalk to display their goods.

Dr. Fraser reported that in a Louis Street home there was a mother and two small children who had tuberculosis and should be sent to an institution. The father is at present being maintained by the city in a sanitarium. Another child was born to the mother recently, and Dr. Fraser said that the family should be removed at once "so the baby can be saved from catching the disease." The Board will recommend the removal of the family to a sanitarium to the City Council.

The Board will endeavor to prevent the peddling of bread baked under unsanitary conditions in the city. Dr. Fraser said he had inspected a bake shop in North Monaghan Township and found conditions "the worst I have ever seen."

"The man who runs the place refused to do anything about it under my orders, because he maintained his shop was outside the city and I had no jurisdiction over it," he reported.

The Board was unanimous in deciding that something must be done in this case. It was suggested that the bread by-law be amended to prevent the distribution of such bread in the city. If the by-law can not be amended to bring this bake shop under the jurisdiction of the city's by-law, the matter will be taken up at once with the Provincial Health Department.

Dr. Fraser reported that he ordered several houses in the city condemned as unfit for human habitation. "I ordered these houses closed up," he said, "but if the families refuse to move, what are we going to do? I don't mind doing my part of the work, but I don't feel like acting as an eviction officer."

The co-operation of the police will be sought by the Board to assure that Dr. Murray Fraser's orders are carried out.

The Board moved that necessary medical equipment for the Medical Officer's office in the city building be purchased at once.

RICH BUTTERFLY ONLY HEADACHE

Trucker Decides to Annull Marriage to Millionairess After Elopement.

"CAN'T BOIL WATER."

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 21.—(A.P.)—Love's vagaries are just a headache to Truck drivers Thomas Green, who says he is through with "rich butterflies," in general, and his 18 year old bride of four days, the erstwhile Colletta Mulvihill, in particular.

Green confirmed auspicions yesterday that he's wishing his Gretna Green elopment to Wellsburg, W. Va., with blonde Colletta, was just a midsummer night's dream.

"I'm through with love and butterflies and elopements," he said.

Then he added: "She can't make a fool out of me. Anybody can see she's just a rich butterfly. I was never in love with the girl. I got married in a daze. It was her (his own words), who suggested getting married, and she can't even boil water!"

Meanwhile, Colletta was en route from a friend's nome in nearby Grove City to the mountains for a holiday.

She said she planned annulment of her marriage, in order to carry out her wedding plans with Isidore Parades, son of a Manila legislator, but the 22 year old trucker said yesterday he's going to beat her to the gun if he can. As he puts it: "I'm the one that's going to do the annulling—not her."

The girl's father, Thomas Mulvihill, Pittsburgh oil firm official, says he has "washed his hands of the whole affair."

10 GUNMEN LOOT ARMORED TRUCK

ing the armored car, screeched to a stop. Five to a dozen men, witnesses were uncertain of the exact number, jumped from the twocars carrying half a dozen sub-machine guns.

One of the robbers walked to the door to the Rubel office, reaching it jus as Lillienthal opened the door. He jammed the muzzle into Lillienthal's back.

An employee in the Ice Company office reached for a telephone on the counter. The robber grasped it and yanked it off the wire.

He turned to Lillienthal, reached into his arm holster and disarmed the guard. The robber then ordered Lillienthal to "march out."

Meanwhile, the rest of the robber band had surrounded the armored truck, training machine guns on it. Four men pushed into the truck, shoving Allen ahead of them.

Then the robbers began the transfer of the money bags to their own cars.

The transfer took about three minutes, the robbers working precisely and speedily. They found the money bags, which contained coin and currency, so heavy, however, that in their hurry they left one containing $20,000.

The robbers leaped into their cars and roared away. The truck started pursuit immediately.

Rylstone

Miss Evelyn Barnum returned home Sunday after spending the past week with friends in Picton.

Miss M. Irwin of Belleville is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Will Moore this week.

Miss Isabell Sills of Tweed is visiting Miss Vivian Meiklejohn.

Miss Pauline Rutherford returned Tuesday from Havelock from visiting friends there the past couple of weeks.

On Wednesday evening, August 15, the Rylstone Community League held a social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Reid.

The scripture reading was read by Lawrence Meiklejohn. It was decided to hold a corn roast the first of September at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKeown. Grant Meiklejohn, the devotional convener, took charge of the program. Prayer by Rev. W. H. Foley; current events by Leslie McKeown; quartet, "Jesus Pilot Me," by Evelyn and Helen Barnum, Grant Meiklejohn, Don Barnum; contest was then given by Grant Meiklejohn.

ACT OF THE ROYAL BUCCANEERS ONE OF THRILLS OF EXHIBITION

Consists of Single, Double and Triple Acrobatic Somersaults.

SIX IN THE ACT

What small boy who has ever watched the circus unload on its visit to town has not wished to share something of the romance and glamour that popular imagination associates with the big white top?

A. H. Knight, manager of the Royal Buccaneers acrobatic act, which is being featured in front of the grandstand this evening, confessed in an interview with The Examiner that he experienced just such an overwhelming urge when at the age of twelve years he ran away from home, leaving town with a travelling circus. He has been in the show game ever since, for a period of over thirty years.

At that impressionable age, Mr. Knight laughingly recalled, he soon realized that travelling with a big circus was not so romantic, nor as glamourous as his fanciful imagination had led him to believe. His first job was as cookhouse waiter with the old James Shelby Circus, which he joined at Bladen Springs, Alabama, and his initial salary was $3.50 per week with board.

Starts as Acrobat.

Although Mr. Knight did not say as much, it can be conjectured that he possessed lots of grit and staying power. So much so that J. W. Bonnehomme, one of the acrobatic performers with the circus, took young Knight into apprenticeship and taught him all the tricks of tumbling, acrobatic somersaulting and tight rope walking, which his own act is featuring to-day.

The Royal Buccaneers troupe consists of Mr. Knight and his wife, their two sons, Adrian and Paul, Vernon Page and Charles Russell. The act is described on the bills as "one of the world's most thrilling features in the field of athletic endeavour." It consists in the main of single, double and triple acrobatic somersaults.

Mr. Knight said he was prepared to leave his local audiences as judges of what they considered to be "thrilling." He got thrills aplenty out of the act back in the fall of 1918, he said, when at Rutherfordston, North Carolina, he slipped while p erforming on a tight rope thirty feet above the stage.

Costly Mistake.

Such mistakes are costly in the show game, besides being dangerous to life and limb. In this particular instance the mistake cost Mr. Knight 91 days in a hospital bed with a broken shoulder and fractured ribs.

He also recalled that his son, Adrian, now 23 years of age, was performing with the troupe at Modesto, California, with Robbin Brothers' Circus in 1930 when he "casted" or "lost himself in the air," to use the showman's language. In other words, Adrian made a one-and-a-half turn somersault instead of two double turns, landed on his head instead of his feet, and lay in a plaster cast for nine weeks with a broken back.

As a young man of eighteen years, Mr. Knight told his interviewer, he was travelling with the circus and was playing at Miami, Florida, when he met the girl who shortly afterwards became his wife. She had not formerly been with the show game, but her married life has been continuously spent under the big white top. The two boys of the marriage were born into the show business, and at the ages of 7 to 9 years, according to Mr. Knight, were both placed under tuition of an acrobatic trainer. Mrs. Knight learned her tight rope walking and other acrobatic tricks from her husband and proved to be an apt pupil.

Mr. Knight provided an interesting sidelight on the age old tradition of the "trouper," that "the show must go on." The Buccaneers, he said, were on their way by motor to Quebec City in September, 1931, when the car in which they were travelling hurtled into a ditch. All the occupants were badly shaken up and sustained severe cuts and bruises. In spite of that they made their scheduled appearance that same night, with sticking plaster and bandages being much in evidence.

The troupe has just come here direct from Valleyfield, Quebec, and following their engagement here they proceed to another booking in New York State.

HOPES TO TREK MILLION MILES

Elderly Globe Trotter Expects to Make Real Record Before Long.

MONTREAL, Aug. 2 (C.P.). — An interesting old lady who can probably lay good claim to the title of world's champion traveller is Mrs. Ella G. Munson of East Rookaway, Long Island, who sailed from here on the S.S. Quebec to add the Saguenay district to her list of places visited. Mrs. Munson has travelled close to 700,000 miles and, at 72, hopes to bring her total to 1,000,000.

In all her travels, which include 53 trips across the Atlantic and 12 across the Pacific, Mrs. Munson has never encountered a severe storm nor an accident. She has tried almost every known method of transportation, including camels, elephants and rickshaws, but has never yet been in a plane. Only one thing could induce her to fly, she said, and that was an invitation from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to go up with him.

Mrs. Munson's trips are seldom planned in advance. She stays at home until the urge to travel comes, then packs her trunks and is off. "I can get ready to go around the world in 24 hours," she said.

Mrs. Munson was somewhat at a loss to explain her wanderlust, as her 10 brothers and sisters are all "stay-at-home bodies," but thought she might have inherited it from Captain John Munson, an ancestor who, in 1642, led a pilgrimage of Munsons to Massachusetts.

LONDON'S GROWTH HITS GOLF LINKS

Suburban Courses Broken up as Fairways go for Building Lots.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—(C.P.)—The latest doomed golf course in London whose fairways will soon be streets is the North Surrey golf course at Norbury, S.W., which is to be handed over to the builders at Christmas. This is at present one of the nearest courses to the city and for 40 years it has been the boast that any one of its 600 members could leave his town office and be on the first tee within an hour.

Golfers are being rapidly driven out of London suburbs. Increased land values are making it almost impossible for clubs whose leases are "falling in" to renew them and the streets of houses are springing up on many a fairway. Seven or eight other suburban golf courses have passed into the hands of builders within a few years.

North London is likely to be better off for golf courses than South London in the future, for the Middlesex County Council is urging local authorities to come to arrangements with local clubs whereby a club can buy part of the course and the local council the remainder.

Then, if the club cannot carry on, the council takes control of the whole course.

Obituary

COLIN DUNKLEY

Colin Dunkley, brother of Maurice Dunkley, 525 Romaine street, died suddenly of a heart attack July 3 at his home in Bundaberg, Queensland, Australia, in his 45th year.

He was organist and director of the choir of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Bundaberg, and a member of Lodge Athole A.F. and A.M., the Rotary Club and the city's Musical Festival committee. A newspaper account of the funeral of Colin Dunkley extolled his many services to the community as a citizen and to St. Andrew's Church of which he was a prominent member.

Rev. W. C. Moore, pastor of the church, said of the deceased in a eulogy at the funeral, that every good cause, every institution which aimed at the uplifting of his fellows gained his support.

"Masonry and Rotary acknowledge him as a worthy brother. The musical and commercial circles of the city will be the poorer for his passing hence, and this church in particular will feel his death. He loved this building, and was for many years our choir conductor and organist. He watched over our organ as a father watches over his child. Only yesterday he was tuning its pipes and today they sound for him a sad farewell. Such is the march of life."

Rev. W. C. Moore recited the burial service and the Athole Lodge ritual was read by W. W. Didgens. The grave was hidden beneath a wealth of floral tributes, an indication of the popularity and esteem that was enjoyed by the deceased in his earthly pilgrimage.

Mr. Dunkley is survived by his widow and two children in Bundaberg and by his mother and brother in Peterborough.

MRS. ALEXANDER McARTHUR

HAVELOCK, Aug. 21 (Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Dorothy McArthur, widow of the late Alexander McArthur, took place from the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Leonard Keene, on Friday afternoon of last week, when services were conducted by the Rev. S. A. Kemp, pastor of Havelock United Church.

The late Mrs. McArthur was eighty-three years of age. Born in Otonabee township, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Murray. She moved to a farm in Belmont at the age of twenty-three when she married. She can easily be called one of the township's pioneers since in those days there was very little cleared land about what is now Havelock. She has been a lifelong resident of the township and after the death of her husband she lived with her different children.

The late Mrs. McArthur was of a splendid Christian character and dearly beloved by all who knew her. She was always the good friend and kind neighbor whenever a helping hand was needed. Left to mourn her loss are Mrs. John A. Cochrane, Mrs. Bert Wannamaker, Mrs. Bernard Smith of town, Mrs. Bernard Smith, Mrs. John Menzies and Mrs. Thomas Menzies of Belmont, daughters; Alexander and Martin of Belmont are also sons. A large number of grandchildren and one great grandchild also survives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McColl have returned home after spending a month at Barcoven Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Terrill spent Sunday afternoon at Castleton and Warkworth.

Temperance Sunday in the Sunday School was recognised by singing of temperance hymns and a paper was given by Mrs. Fred Crews. The speaker said, first of all let us settle with ourselves what a pledge is. A pledge is necessary for our economic life, our social life, our moral life and our religious life. We have a great many examples of great lives such as Paul and Luther Knox, Wesley and many others, who rise up and bear testimony to the necessity of each pledging himself to high moral purposes.

SPIED LABATT IN GANG'S CAR

So Egremont Road Man Tells Press—Victim's Eyes Bandaged.

LAID IT TO ACCIDENT

SARNIA, Ont., Aug. 21.—(CP).—Charles Stevens, who lives on the Egremont road, about 18 miles east of Sarnia, told reporters to-day he saw a man he believed to be John Labatt driven eastward with his eyes bandaged on the morning of the kidnapping, last Tuesday.

Stevens lives about two miles east of Mrs. Martin Burnley, who was one of several resident of the Camlachie Village district questioned by police after they described the waylaying of a car by two others the day Labatt was kidnapped.

Police left Sarnia to question Stevens this afternoon.

Stevens said he was fixing the fence along the road adjoining his land when he noticed a car travelling eastward which he recognized as belonging to Labatt. It was driven by a man he did not know. Immediately behind came another automobile, with the driver only in the front seat and three men in the rear. The man in the centre of the rear seat he believed to be John Labatt, though part of his face was obscured by the bandages.

He thought Labatt had been injured in an accident and was being taken away for treatment, Stevens said, though he made no explanation of why he did not report the matter when he learned of the kidnapping.

Another development was the finding of an empty case of beer bottles about 150 yards from the narrow place in the road where the London brewer, Camlachie district residents are convinced, was abducted. No one could hazard a guess about the significance of that, unless the gang lay in wait and whiled away their time drinking beer produced by the man they kidnapped.

HAVELOCK W.I.

Roll Call "Your Grandmothers' Maiden Name" Makes Interesting Hour.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 21. (Examiner Correspondence). — The regular meeting of the Belmont Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. William Smith yesterday afternoon with the president, Mrs. Robert Anderson in the chair. The roll call was "Your grandmothers' maiden name and where born." It was well responded to by visitors and all. Mrs. Fred Harris offered to donate some quilt patches and the current events supplied by each member proved interesting. "Home, Sweet Home" and other songs were highlights of the community singing.

Miss Mary Anderson gave a splendid contest on "Things Our Grandmother Missed." This was won by Mrs. Richard Kearney, a visitor from Toronto. Mrs. Fred Harris was the oldest grandmother present and Mrs. James Clarke was the one with the most children.

The charming hostesses were Miss Mary Anderson, Miss Iva Smith, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Theron McMullen and Mrs. J. Seabrook. A hearty vote of thanks was extended them for the delightful lunch and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

HASTINGS

FIELD SPORTS DAY A SUCCESS

Large Crowd Witnesses Events of Interest—List of Winners.

CALEDONIAN AUSPICES.

A well organized benefit Sports Day was held on Saturday afternoon by the Caledonian Football Club on behalf of a sick player which proved a great success, both financially and with sportsmanship throughout.

The Peterborough Juniors had to admit defeat to the South-End League by score of 14 to 8.

In every event there was plenty of contestants and the greasy pole occupied the lime-light as the individuals endeavoured to climb the pole to get the ham. Also the footballer's race all in full football attire, being run off at 11 seconds. The skipping rope contest will be held tomorrow night at half time of the football game.

Juvenile Races.

Boys, 2 to 4 years, George Foster, George Benson; girls, 2 to 4 years: (1) Betty Harris (2) Jean Downer.

Boys, 4 to 6 years: (1) Clarence Dyer (2) Pat Roody; girls, 4 to 6 years: (1) Helen Foster (2) Sylvia Ball.

Boys, 6 to 8 years: (1) Wesley Ellis (2) John Jerome; girls, 6 to 8 years: (1) Nellie Smith (2) Joyce Spenceley.

Boys, 8 to 10 years: (1) F. Foster (2) Joe Craig; girls, 8 to 10 years: (1) Doris Walker (2) Thelma Harris.

Boys, 10 to 14 years: (1) Stan. Merrith (2) Ernest Hotrun; girls, 10 to 14 years: (1) Hazel Woodcock (2) Gwen Woodcock.

Adult Races

Board Members' race: Stroyan Leith; St. John's Ambulance race: F. Smart; Married Ladies' race: (1) Mrs. Foster (2) Mrs. Morgan; Dribblers race: (1) G. Downer (2) A. O'Halleron (time, 50 seconds); Footballers' race: (1) Doug. Mowry (2) Newt. Downer (time 11 seconds).

Kicking the ball: J. Chamberlain (114 yds); softballers' race: (1) J. Board (2) Mr. Kitchen; Tug-of-war: Lindsey, F.C.; greasy pole: J. Flynn (1 min., 50 secs.).

Softball Game

The Peterborough Juniors had to accept defeat on Saturday afternoon, when the Nationals trounced them by 14 runs to 8, as part of the Soccer Field Day, on King Edward Park.

By Innings:—

Nationals—Parsons, ss; Reynolds, 1b; Pearson 2b; E. Reynolds 3b; B. Kitchen cf; C. Cowling c; B. Higgins rf; J. Conlin lf; A. Ward p.

Juniors—A. Heal 2b; D. Mowry c; N. Vitarelli 3b; J. Coughlin ss; J. Ridley p; S. McKinley 1b; R. Pearson lf; T. Todd cf; E. Spencely cf.

Football Game: C.P.C., 3; Caleys, 0.

100 Yards in 11 Seconds

The 120 yards Footballers' race was run in two heats, every runner running in football outfit.

First heat: (1) D. Mowry (2) G. Downer; second heat: (1) N. Downer (2) A. Downer. Final: (1) D. Mowry (2) N. Downer (time 11 seconds).

This race provided a great surprise in the final by the smart running of Doug. Mowry, who came from behind to take the lead and complete the course in 11 seconds, with N. Downer a close second, followed by G. Downer, close behind.

The Tug-of-war was won by Lindsay F. C., captained by Art O'Halleran, in two straight pulls.

J. Colbran won first prize on the draw; Johnny Stanty second, J. Bolton third.

Owing to the late hour, the skipping contest was held over until Tuesday night and will take place at half-time.

Credit is due David Anderson, secretary; J. Isle, General Convenor and R. Carmichael for the successful function.

The Caly F.C. would like to express its thanks to all who helped to make this program such a success. The donors of the various prizes were:

Quaker Oats Co.; United Cigar Stores; Stroyan Leith; Mrs. O. Anderson; R. Carmichael; Selkirk Clothing Store; Capitol Theatre, Steinkraus Wholesale Tobbacconists; Model Fish and Chips, Charlotte St., and especially the Packers F. C. and officials who gave so much time and attention to help, and which, to the members of the Caleys F. C. again shows the good spirit of comradeship and sportmanship between the various clubs; also all members of the P.D.F.A., for their aid and all who in any way helped to assist in the sports.

Autoists in England paid nearly $1,400,000 in fines last year.

No Argument

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(CP)—Irvin Greenberg, 46, was up on a charge of jostling.

"You're a bum pickpocket," said Police Inspector Daniel Castayne. "You're getting worse."

"Why should I argue with you?" said Greenberg, spreading his hands. "Look at the record."

It showed 35 arrests since 1912.

NEW VACCINE FOR PNEUMONIA

Final Tests About to be Made on Human Volunteers—20 Children.

SUCCESS WITH ANIMALS.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21 (A.P.).—A vaccine to prevent pneumonia will undergo its final test—human inoculation—during the next three months.

It will take that long for the series of experiments, Dr. John A. Kolmer Temple, university professor, who claims its discovery along with a vaccine preventative for infantile paralysis, is planning to demonstrate its effectiveness.

Just who his human "test tubes" will be, Dr. Kolmer did not say, except that they will be "volunteers," and that the experiments will be "extensive."

The vaccine has already been tried to a limited degree on humans "with a great degree of success," the professor bares, and has been completely successful in inoculation of monkeys, dogs and rabbits.

Development of the vaccine he credits to four years of intensive study and research in the Institute of Cutaneous Medicine of Philadelphia, which he directs in addition to holding his university professorship.

Even before the final pneumonia experiments are begun, the professor plans further demonstrations of the safety of the infantile paralysis vaccine whose development he announced Friday.

A group of 20 children, including his two sons, will be inoculated with the fluid previously tested by Dr. Kolmer himself and his technical assistant, Miss Anna M. Rule, of Halifax, N.S.

After that, says the physician-professor, the vaccine formula will be made public for use by the hundreds of physicians whose requests for it have come in from all parts of the country since Friday's announcement.

GERMAN CHURCH BODIES ALARMED

Tension Grows as Nazis Concentrate Attacks Upon Established Religion.

LED BY GOEBBLES.

By WALTER E. BROCKMANN
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BERLIN, Aug. 21 (A.P.)—Roman Catholic and some Protestant circles feared for the future of Christianity in Germany to-day as Nazis concentrated attacks on established religion.

Gravely apprehensive leaders said developments in the troubled church situation indicated tension, despite Chancellor Hitler's acknowledgement of "positive Christianity" in a recent declaration at Hamburg.

Heading the developments was an appeal for abolition of Christianity, apparently inspired by Hitler youth leaders.

Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganada, added to the fears with a veiled threat against a church drive which Reichs-Bishop Ludwig Mueller announced would "cover every city and county from autumn to spring."

Another indication of strife was the hesitancy of the German-Roman Catholic hierarchy to establish the status of a concordat between Vatican City and the nation.

The death of the late President Paul Von Hindenburg, who had admonished Dr. Mueller "to see to it that Christ is preached," apparently has removed a curb on the Nazi church experiments.

British Prisoners Edit Own Newspaper

LONDON, Aug. 21 (CP).—Prisoners in British jails now have their own prison-edited and prison-printed newspaper. The first number has just been produced at Maidstone Jail under the authority of the prison commissioners, and has been circulated in about 10 prisons.

The editor is an official at Maidstone jail, where there is a small printing establishment. The paper, consisting of four pages, was set and printed by prisoners.

An authorized news-sheet in type-written form has been issued in a few prisons for some time. The prison commissioners were so impressed by the prisoners' appreciation of this enterprise that it has now decided to provide a printed newspaper.

In due course, the paper will be circulated in all prisons, and it will supersede the old practice of the chaplain reading selections of the week's news on Sunday morning.

POULTRY ENTRY IS NOT HEAVY

400 Fewer Birds in Coops of the Poultry Building.

WILL COME BACK.

By ten o'clock this morning all the entries in the poultry show at Peterborough Industrial Exhibition had been cooped and judging was commenced at noon by William Cadman of London.

While the entries in this section are not as heavy as in former recent years, the general high standard of quality has been fully maintained, and keen competition is promised in all classes.

As compared with the thousand and more entries received during the past couple of years, the number this year shows a decrease of about 400 birds, it was stated by show officials.

George Paxman, past president of Peterborough Poultry Association and chairman of the Poultry Committee, did not express any great surprise nor disappointment at the decrease of entries. It was largely what the Poulerty Committee had expected he said, in view of the change of dates. "When Ottawa Fair dates were changed," he stated, "they experienced the same thing. The poultry show here will come back in other years as soon as the poultrymen of the city and district are fully aware that they have to prepare for earlier showing."

All in all, Mr. Paxman said he was well pleased with the number of poultry exhibits that had been received, but he would have liked better to see all the coops well filled.

Another factor that militated slightly against the local poultry show, was that the dates clash with those of Ottawa Fair, and some of the local exhibitors are showing this week in the Capitol. One prominent poultry fancier for instance sent 176 birds to Ottawa, only entering 100 birds in the Peterborough show. Other well-known exhibitors of former years neglected to get their entries in the hands of the secretary in time, and were regretfully barred from exhibiting.

The poultry building presents a particularly clean appearance this year, having been recently whitewashed throughout. At the rear of the building a large tent has been erected for the special display of water fowl. An interesting feature of the water fowl section is a non-competitive exhibit of wild ducks and wild geese by Finlay Meeks of Ashburnham.

For the ducks and geese, Mr. Paxman constructed a miniature pool within the tent, enclosed with a picket fence.

One of the noticeable things in the poultry section is that 75 per cent of this year's exhibits consists of utility poultry. Fancy varieties are light.

Heaviest entries in any one class are in the Rhode Island Red section, chief exhibitors being Edgar Simmons and Ernest Wall both of Peterborough. Other heavy exhibitors in the show include Morgan Brown, Smith township; Frank Andrews, Norwood; Lorne Hutchinson, Warkworth; H. H. VanAllen and Samuel Long both of Peterborough.

SEEDED PAIR WINS OPENING ROUND IN THE U. S. DOUBLES

Default of Grant and McCauliffe Only Upset—Sixteen Couples Remain.

FAVORITES LEADING.

GERMANTOWN, Pa., Aug. 21.—With the exception of one seeded team—which defaulted—all favorites swept through the first round of the national doubles tennis championships yesterday, led by the defending titleholders, George Lott of Chicago and Lester Stoefen of Los Angeles.

This pair, holders of the American and world's doubles titles, advanced at the expense of a pair of stage-frightened Trenton, N. J., youths, Frederick Kuser and E. Harlan Whitehead, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Following on their heels came the second and third ranking American pairs, Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., and John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, veteran Davis Cup tandem, and the all-New York team, Sidney Wood and Frank Shields.

Allison and Van Ryn, who preceded Lott and Stoefen as American, Wimbledon and Davis Cup champions, beat Alphonse Smith and John Wheatley, Virginians, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, while Wood and Shields romped through Sam Gilpin and Neil Sullivan of Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-4, 10-8.

The seventh seeded team, Bryan Grant, Atlanta, and Dr. Eugene McCauliffe of New York, defaulted to Dr. Carl Fischer and William Lingelbach, Philadelphia.

Both top-listed foreign teams advanced, Fred Perry and F. H. D. Wilde of England, defeating Ellsworth Davenport of Harvard and Robert Kelleher of Williams, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3, while Vernon Kirby, third ranking South African player teamed with Roderick Menzel of Czechoslovakia to beat Dr. Herbert Fischer and Ralph Demott of Cynwyd, 7-5, 6-1, 6-0.

TWIN Dollar Days COLOSSAL

$ $ $ $ AND BARGAIN TREASURE HUNT

Friday and Saturday AUGUST 24th and 25th, 1934

A COMMUNITY WIDE SENSATIONAL SAVINGS EVENT WORTH COMING MILES TO BE PRESENT AT

The majority of Peterborough merchants are, as customary for years past, again co-ordinating in an August community-wide Twin Dollar Days. They are preparing a Bargain Carnival for August 24th and 25th that should excel all previous efforts of this nature—a shopping sensation teeming with mighty big values for mighty little money. All lines of merchandise will be so drastically cut in prices that each purchase may in truth be considered a TREASURE in value and savings. And in each RED PENNANT BEDECKED Store will be found one or more greater Bargains worth while hunting for.

CONDITIONS ARE IMPROVING AND EVERYTHING'S GOING TO BE ALRIGHT

$ There is a greater feeling of confidence to-day than at this time last year; industries have been busier, and a speeding up of Dominion-wide activity in trade and commerce generally experienced. Therefore it can be consistently asserted that, to say the least, the backbone of acute depression has been broken and that Canada is well on the way to "happy days again." The prosperity of a nation hinges upon the production and buying of commodities, so a generous response to the invitation to buy and save on these two Dollar Days will, by quickening the demand for merchandise correspondingly affect the supply markets and hasten the day when depression shall be completely banished. Then, remember that as regular prices are on the upgrade, Dollar Days' Sensational Bargains mean two-fold savings. $

$100 IN CASH PRIZES

TO BE AWARDED BY A PUBLIC DRAW

This year, to freshen up interest in Dollar Days, a new feature has been introduced. The olde tyme estimating blank has been discarded in favor of a public draw for the prize-winners. At all stores displaying Dollar Day Pennants shoppers will receive one DRAW TICKET for every dollar of their purchase. All that is required to be in the running for a prize is to write your name and address plainly on each of your tickets and drop them in the labeled box outside the Examiner Office during these Twin Dollar Days. This box will remain open till ten o'clock Saturday night, August 25th. Winners of the following cash prizes will be drawn for by a prominent citizen (to be named later) and at a time and place to be announced in The Examiner.

First Prize $30, Second $20, Third $15, Fourth $10, Fifth $5, Sixth $3, Six prizes of $2 each, and Five of $1 each.

Above prize amounts are subject to amendment, but it is hoped the grand total will be increased.

Beats Up Merchant, Gets Term In Jail

Everett Jones, of Otonabee township, was found guilty by Police Magistrate Langley to-day of committing an assault occasioning actual bodily harm upon Nathan Fine, local merchant. He was sentenced to 15 days in the county gaol.

Evidence taken in the case disclosed that Jones had purchased a mattress from Fine some weeks ago, and became enraged when the merchant would not exchange it for another one.

Jones admitted striking Fine twice in the right eye with his fist. Two witnesses, J. Thompson and Frank Gishman, aged 13, said they saw Jones strike Fine.

The Weather

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—Synopsis:

Pressure continues low over Ungava with relatively high pressure south of the lower lakes and over Ungava and Northern British Columbia. Light showers have occurred in all provinces though the weather has been fair in southern districts of Ontario. It has been quite cool in Eastern Canada with moderate temperature.

Georgian Bay: Moderate to fresh southwest winds; fair and a little warmer. Wednesday, fresh southwest to northwest winds; partly cloudy with scattered thundershowers.

Northern Ontario: Fresh southwest winds, shifting to northwest on Wednesday; mostly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; scattered showers or thunderstorms.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valleys Westerly winds; fair and a little warmer. Wednesday, fresh southwest to west winds; partly cloudy with a few scattered thundershowers.

Last night the temperature got down to 43 degrees. It is possible that white frost appeared in low lying locations.—W.P.

Obituary

WILLIAM M. POTTER.

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—William M. Potter, son of the lates James S. Potter, who for many years was Sailors' Missionary in Toronto, died in St. Michael's Hospital. He served overseas as a captain in the C.E.F. and was a great worker among underprivileged boys. He was a Presbyterian and is survived by five brothers, Rev. J. G. Potter, D.D., Montreal; Alexander, New York; John S., St. Paul; Robert, Vancouver, and Donald, Peterborough, and two sisters, Mrs. H. J. Newman, Toronto, and Mrs. William Jackson, Kingston.

MISS JOSEPHINE WHITE

The funeral was held from White House Hotel on Monday morning to St. Peter's Cathedral and Cemetery of Josephine White daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert White, who passed away on Friday evening last.

Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Dr. V. J. Masterson, who also preached an eloquent funeral oration. Committal service at the graveside were conducted by Rev J. T. Finn.

Pall-bearers were: Messrs Fred Morrow, Charles Stapleton, James Lynch, Dan Simons, J. J. McCabe and William S. Merrill.

Surviving are three sisters: Mrs P. J. Lawrence and Mrs. John Bell, both of Toronto and Miss Margaret White of New York City; also two brothers, Frank White of Peace River, and Gus White of the White House Hotel here.

ALEXANDER CAMPBELL

Succumbing to a short illness, Alexander Campbell, 336 Park Hill Road, passed away at his home yesterday evening. He was in his 92nd year.

Mr. Campbell had resided five years in this city. He was born in Ierland and made his home in Fraserville before coming to Peterborough. Left to mourn are one daughter, Mrs. Bert Cunningham of Fraserville; two brothers, Robert of Bewdley, and Samuel of Carberry, Manitoba, and a sister, Mrs. McCall residing on Water street in this city. His wife, Margaret Ann Goodfellow, died twelve years ago.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the home on Park Hill Road to the Fraserville Cemetery, Rev. Williams of the Centreville Presbyterian Church officiating.

BORN

PILOT DEBUNKS SUICIDE FLIGHT

Says Dorbandt, Northern Ace Feared Lost, Spent Night at Susitna.

IN LAW SCRAPES.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 21.—(A.P.). — The supposed "suicide flight" of Frank Dorbandt, daring Arctic aviator, began to look to-day more like an airman's expression of rage.

Fears for his life were felt Sunday night when he lifted his big trimotored plane, carrying only a scant supply of gasoline, from the anchorage airport, with the words, "You'll not see me again."

Some of his friends thought he might have set out on a dramatic quest for death to escape the pursuit of lawsuits. They believed he intended to fly over the ocean or over Alaska's snow-capped mountains until his gasoline was exhausted, and then crash.

But their fears were largely dissipated when they learned the husky pilot had landed at another airport 50 miles away, spent the night and taken off the next day for an unannounced destination.

The hero of many Alaskan flying exploits took off on his strange flight shortly after he flew here from Point Barrow, northernmost settlement of the territory, to learn he had been ordered grounded by the aeroplane inspector.

He already faced government fur smuggling charges and a filiation complaint filed by a 19-year-old Seattle girl.

Last night Pilot Murrell Sassen flew in from Susitna Station, 50 miles northeast of Anchorage, and laughed at fears for the wandering aviator. Dorbandt landed at Susitna Sunday night, spent the night there and took off again at noon yesterday, Sassen said.

NO PURPLE ROOFS OF SHAM TIMBERS

Lord Leverhume Lays Down Strict Conditions for Builders.

LONDON, Aug. 14 (CP).—Plans for preserving the amenities of the countryside were revealed by Lord Leverhulme at a meeting in London where he spoke of a ban on sham timber and the prohibition of purple roofs in his Cheshire estate.

"On my estate in Cheshire," he said, "I have a rule that no building may be erected on any land I sell or lease without the plans and elevations being approved by my advisory architect."

Some conditions Lord Leverhulme imposes are yellow or hard patent red bricks are not to be used in face work; purple slates are not permitted on roofs; all half-timber work must be properly constructed and framed together and must not be sham; and no colored glass shall be permitted in the windows.

Within reasonable limits, His Lordship added, a great deal oculd be done to prevent some of the bad development at present taking place.

Tough

BRADFORD, England, Aug. 21.—(C. P. Cable)—Four-year-old James Kelly of Pollard street went with a holiday party of children today along with their unemployed parents for a brief spell at the seaside at Morecambe.

The train was going 20 miles an hour when Master Kelly fell through a window. To the amazement of the rest, the infant picked himself up instantly and without delay ran after the train as fast as his sturdy little legs would carry him.

He was found to be suffering nothing worse than a few bruises, but to his intense dismay he was ordered into the Lancaster infirmary for a day or so, after which he will get his holiday.

STAMFORD PARK STABLE BURNS

Prompt Action By Trainers Rescues All But Two of Quartered Horses.

FLETCHER'S CLARRY LOST.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 21. (CP). Fire to-day killed two horses and destroyed a back-stretch stable at the Stamford Park race track. One of the animals was owned in Toronto and the other in Ottawa.

The fire broke out in one of the west stables and destroyed the structure in one hour and 15 minutes, killing Clarry, owned by J. C. Fletcher of Toronto and American B. which had just been shipped from Ottawa. An east wind saved the rest of the stables.

When the fire broke out the stable contained more than 40 horses. All except the two burned were rescued by prompt action of trainers and stable hands. The two dead animals were released from their stalls but ran back into the burning building.

For half an hour after the fire horses ran loose and terrified over the track and stable enclosure, but all were rounded up finally. Fire equipment was rushed to the scene from Niagara Falls, Stamford and Welland, but the fire had gained such headway there was little firemen could do.

Horses will be stabled in barns of neighboring farmers until more suitable accommodation can be obtained. The blaze was believed to have started from a cigarette butt dropped in a pile of straw.

WOOLER W.I.

Mrs. J. J. Way Reviews Work, Stressing That of Tonsil Clinic.

WOOLER, Aug. 21 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Wooler branch of the Women's Institute met on Friday at the home of Mrs. Fred Crews, with a large attendance.

The president, Mrs. George Anderson, presiding, and Mrs. J. J. Way, secretary-treasurer, gave an excellent report of the work being carried on. One special mention was the tonsil clinic, when thirty children have been operated on by Dr. E. A. McQuade of Trenton and Dr. Sebant of Belleville. It was moved by Mrs. L. H. Rowe and seconded by Mrs. George Adams, that a resolution be framed regarding the modification of the use of beer and wine, and to be sent to those in authority.

The convenor, Mrs. Arthur Scott, took charge of the program. Opening with the Institute rally song. Mrs. Gooding gave an excellent paper on "Parent's responsibility to the coming generation." Vocal number, "Memories," sung by Mrs. Harry Crews, accompanied by Mrs. C. Maguire. Reading, "Friendship" by Edgar Guest, read by Mrs. Fred Crews. Piano solo, Mrs. L. H. Rowe. Roll Call, Canning and Preserving. Recipes: Many responded.

Refreshments were served by the lunch committee, having a birthday in August.

The meeting adjourned, to meet in September.

Weddings

DOBSON—DUNFORD

A quiet wedding was solemnized at All Saints' Anglican Church on Tuesday, August 21, 1934, when Myrtle, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Dunford and the late John Dunford became the bride of Fred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dobson.

The Rev. H. Ashmore officiated.

BUGGY HIT, TWO HURT

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 21 (CP)—Mrs. J. B. Ward and small son, James, of Soperton, are in the General Hospital here as a result of injuries received by them last night when the buggy in which they were driving was struck by a car driven by H. W. Imerson, Delta, on No. 29 Highway near Tincap.

Mrs. B. S. Johnston and daughter, Rena, of Tincap, other occupants of the carriage, suffered only superficial injuries and left the hospital last night. It is believed that Mrs. Ward is suffering from a fractured hip, her son being bruised badly.

MANY OPINIONS VARY ON SEALING BANK ACCOUNTS

Simpson Head Suggests Making it Criminal for Anyone to Pay Kidnappers.

BANKERS GO IN HUDDLE.

TORONTO, Aug. 21. (CP).—Toronto business men to-day generally welcomed the suggestion of Attorney-General Arthur Roebuck, of Ontario, that bank accounts of kidnap victims be tied up by police to prevent payment of ransoms and take the profit off kidnapping. Several, however, expressed doubt that the scheme could be applied to tie up resources of business in which victims were interested or the fortunes of their friends.

C. L. Burton, president of the Robert Simpson Co.—"They could tie up a man's personal finances but I do not see how they could tie up the money of his company or his friends." He suggested "The only way would be to make it a criminal offence for any one to pay money to kidnappers."

J. A. Rolph, president of the Imperial Bank of Canada said directors of that financial house would discuss the proposal among themselves.

Mr. Rolph suggested, however, "Such a move might be abused."

J. R. Lamb, vice president of the Bank of Toronto, said he was opposed to the proposal on the ground it appeared to indicate reliable arrests of friends and connections of the victim would be tied up. He thought such a course would lead to disruption of business.

Meanwhile two agencies which handle through an English company insurance against kidnapping said snatching of John Labatt, wealthy London Ontario brewer, who was released last Friday after being held sixty-three hours had not brought any rush for their insurance. They explained that kidnapping insurance offers chances for collusion plots to collect and that the rates, therefore, were high.

MEIGHEN, HENRY BASIS OF ATTACK

because in 1932 they had got the site back for the public at cost and with no rakeoffs or commissions paid to any intermediaries.

Far from seeking personal profit on his holding of $25,000 in Ontario Power Service Corporation bonds, said Mr. Locke, Mr. Henry passed up an opportunity to make $8,000 or $9,000 by getting the power plant for the province. He might have allowed the large bondholders to complete the development in which case he would have obtained a larger return from his holdings.

More than 27 years of unselfish public service was Mr. Henry's contribution to Ontario, he said. His public and private character was above reproach. Both commissioners agreed with Mr. Locke there was nothing wrong with Mr. Henry's purchase of bonds and he offered no argument on that point.

Asks Stated Case

The question the commission had to decide, said Mr. Tilley, was whether, under the circumstances, the government and the Hydro Commission exercsed simple business judgment in the transactions. If there were questions of law arising he served notice he would ask for a stated case to the courts and would not accept the ruling of the Commission exercised simple buisright under the Inquiries Act by which the Commission operated.

Attacks Meighen

Continuing his argument J. C. McRuer, K.C., counsel for the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, made a renewed attack on Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Hydro Commissioner.

He said Mr. Meighen should have exerted himself to free Hydro from the contract to buy 100,000 horsepower of electricity from the Ontario Power Service Corporation which it did not need; a contract which had been entered solely to enable the corporation to sell its bonds to the public.

"Mr. Meighen went to the government to discuss the shaky condition of his own companies," he said. "But he said not one word about Hydro's position under this contract or about his responsibility under his trust for the people."

This was when the Ontario Power Service Corporation was facing default on its bonds and Mr. Meighen was concerned about the holdings of Ontario Power Service bonds by his investment companies.

Mr. McRuer claimed Hydro had bought power at $13 a horsepower from the O.P.S.C. in order to enable that company to sell cheap power for steam production to its parent company, the Abitibi Power and Paper Co., at $4.50 a horsepower.

"What is the surplus or deficit each year on the operation of this plant?" asked Commissioner Smith.

Only an eight months' period is available for comparison, said Mr. McRuer. In that period the revenue from power sold amounted to $336,058 and the total charges including depreciation amounted to $725,410, making a deficit of $389,351.

This, he added, took no account of some $6,000,000 outstanding claims which had not been paid, and to meet which bonds would probably be issued in the future with added interest charges.

Challenged by Tilley

Challenged by Mr. Tilley, Mr. McRuer admitted more than $1,000,000 of this amount had been disputed by the O.P.S.C. and that none of the claims would be legally binding on Hydro.

"It would be most unfair if they were not paid," said Chief Justice Latchford, "either by the Government or the Hydro. Ontario Power Service Corporation can't pay a cent, I suppose Hydro is holding the bag now."

As his final charge Mr. McRuer alleged the former Conservative Government sought to cover up the losses on Abitibi by putting this property in with the other Northern Hydro properties, the Wahnipitae, Nipissing and Bar Falls plants.

Russell Locke, K.C., counsel for former Premier George S. Henry, spoke next.

He explained he was acting for Mr. Henry in the latter's personal capacity as distinct from his association with the Government.

"I must first entirely dissociate myself from the whole spirit of this inquiry as it has been conducted by the two counsel responsible," said Mr. Locke. He referred to Arthur Slaght, K.C., Commission counsel, and Mr. McRuer.

"In 30 years of practice and a good deal of experience," he continued, "I have never witnessed the conduct of public matters with such bias and such evident animus as has been shown by these two counsel.

"Evidence has been withheld and has had to be dragged out. Documents have been kept out of sight. We have even witnessed the spectacle of a learned counsel reaching under a bench for a document he wished to hide."

Mr. Slaght had misquoted the evidence, said Mr. Locke, and had grudgingly apologized only after his remarks had got into newspaper headlines.

"An engineer of the Hydro Commission, Mr. Jeffrey, was brought here with a sword over his head. His job was in jeopardy and he had assurance of only temporary employment. He was asked to try to explain away his signature to an important public document."

There had never been a greater travesty of justice or fairness, he contended. Two chief political producers of Mr. Henry, Mr. Slaght and Mr. McRuer, came straight from the political hustings to try to justify their charges. The whole setting offended one's innate sense of justice."

Character Above Reproach.

Mr. Locke submitted the public and private character of Mr. Henry as Prime Minister and as Minister in the Cabinet was above reproach. He had given 27 years of unselfish service to the public life of Canada.

When Mr. Locke set out to argue Mr. Henry's purchase of Ontario Power Service Corporation bonds was proper, he was stopped by the commissioners. Chief Justice Latchford said there was nothing wrong in that and there was no point in arguing on it.

The "abitibi deal," by which the government acquired the Abitibi Canyon power plant, Mr. Locke said would be of great benefit to the province and would eventually rebound to the credit of Mr. Henry. It was still too near at hand to appraise its full value.

Mr. Henry's personal holdings of bonds did not influence his decision, he went on. One reason was the pressure of public business at the time occupied all his attention.

Further, Mr. Locke said, had Mr. Henry permitted the large bondholders to take over Abitibi he would have profited personally to the extent of $8,000 or $9,000.

Mr. Henry's sole interest was the welfare of the province and not personal profit, he concluded.

Mr. Tilley then began his argument and spoke about the attitude of the commission towards paying counsel for former officials who were accused. He had never before heard of a similar commission where some lawyer was not appointed to bring out all the facts as a sort of commission counsel. His clients had been told they were entitled to no consideration except as witnesses before the commission. They had no right to call experts to their advice or assistance.

For this reason, said Mr. Tilley, he had not taken the responsibility of calling any witnesses. He accepted the case as made out by Mr. Slaght although it was a one-sided cases from the chief lieutenant of the Prime Minister during the election campaign.

Mr. Tilley referred to the wide scope of the commission's powers. It was empowered to inquire into the acts of all persons connected with transactions extending over a long period of years. This included a great number of persons, all of whom had knowledge of the matters. Yet, said Mr. Tilley, only two men were singled out for attack before the commission, Mr. Meighen, who was a dealer in bonds before he became a Hydro commissioner, and could be expected to continue as such, and Mr. Henry, who bought his bonds because he believed in the future of Ontario as soon as they were issued.

WAUKESHA, Wis., Aug. 21 (CP)—Henry Staab, Jr., cast his line into Lake Nagawicka and a six-pound bass hit the plub. A moment later a 5½-pound bass hit the same lure. With the two fish tugging against each other and him as well, Staab spent a half-hour hauling in his catch.

Fashion Service

Just a glance at this model and most matrons and women whose figures need a few slimming lines, will recognize its possibilities.

It has a crossover closure with softly falling revers that minimize bodice breadth. The waistline can easily be adjusted with its partial belt treatment. It has snugness about the hips, but not carried too low, to cause strain of the fabric at seams. The insets at the front shape the skirt for ease of movement. In harmony with the rever collar, the sleeves have shaped cuffs.

A heavy dull sheer novelty crepe in black and white, combined with plain white canton crepe of other color combinations pleasing to you, may be used.

Style No. 3028 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch material with ¾ yard of 39-inch contrasting.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

The cucumber is the fruit of a creeping plant but is cultivated as a vegetable. It belongs to the gourd family. Since it is in reality a fruit it can be served as such. Since it is commonly considered a vegetable, it fills a place among the fresh garden products or green vegetables. The tomato is another such fruit cultivated as a vegetable, but really belonging to the berry genus. It is seldom served as a fruit, although there are persons who enjoy eating them fresh-picked as you would an apple, plum or a pear. The way given today of serving, preparing and cooking these fruit-vegetables have the desired elements of the unusual.

CUCUMBER-TOMATO FRUIT CUP

Equal quantities of fresh tomatoes and cucumbers measured after cucumbers are diced and tomatoes cut into approximate pieces. Let the tomatoes drain in the refrigerator so that the pulpy part is separate and in firm pieces. Strain the juice and to it add one-quarter its measurement of pineapple juice. Pile the diced tomato and cucumber gently tossed together, into sherbet cups and over each pour its proportion of the juices. Dot each top with a maraschino cherry. Serve ice cold as an appetizer. Sugar can be added to the juices if wanted, and a sprig of mint may be stuck into the top before the cherry is added, if a delicate flavor of mint is sought.

SURPRISE FRUIT PUDDING

Into a buttered baking dish, one quart size, put a layer of sliced bananas. Dust well with brown sugar. Cover with a layer of plain cake cut one-half inch thick. Sponge cake is excellent. Cover with another layer of banana slices and brown sugar dusted on, then a layer of sliced cucumbers and a thin layer of sliced tomato. Cover with banana slices and brown sugar dusted on, then a layer of sliced cucumbers and a thin layer of sliced tomato. Cover with banana slices and cake. Over all pour 1¼ cups milk mixed with 3 beaten eggs, a small pinch of salt and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Overturn after baking for half hour, and serve hot with cream or cold with whipped cream.

TOMATO IN CUCUMBER BOATS

Cut tomatoes into pieces approximating cubes. Cut cucumber in halves lengthwise. Remove seeds to form canoe shaped pieces. Fill with a cargo of tomatoes well marinated with French dressing. Each boat with its gay colored cargo is served on a bed of green lettuce leaves to simulate the sea. More dressing can be passed to go with the dish since the undressed cucumber may need its quota of piquant sauce.

Weddings

McKEEVER—SILLS

Brilliant summer sunshine on Saturday afternoon shone softly through the stained glass windows of Morgan Memorial Chapel, Queen's University, Kingston, when an extremely pretty wedding was solemnized, the Rev. Canon A. L. McTear uniting in marriage, Carolyn Beatrice, only daughter of Mrs. W. R. Sills, and the late Mr. Sills of Kingston, and Mr. James Lawrence McKeever, of Peterborough, son of Mrs. F. L. McKeever and the late Mr. McKeever, of Edinburgh, Scotland.

To the strains of wedding music from "Lohengrin," played by Mr. Ralph Cowell of Toronto, the pretty bride entered the chapel wearing a lovely form fitting frock of deep ruby chiffon velvet made very simply, and hat and shoes to match, and carried an arm bouquet of Sweetheart roses and baby's breath. She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. H. R. Sills of Peterborough, and Mr. E. Burns of Toronto acted as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mack street, which was most artistically arranged with quantities of gladioli and other flowers and here the many friends of the bride had an opportunity of viewing the lovely gifts, among which was a sterling silver dresser set from the groom. The bride is a graduate of this year from Queen's University, while the bridegroom is a graduate of University of British Columbia. Mrs. W. R. Sills, mother of the bride who received with the wedding party, wore a lovely gown of flowered chiffon, a corsage bouquet of red roses and small black hat. Later Mr. and Mrs. McKeever left on an extended motor trip, and on their return will reside in Peterborough.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

DIRECTED OR SUBSTITUTE LEADS

The fate of a no trump call frequently depends upon the relative efficiency of a directed lead of the suit partner has bid and that of a substitute lead of your own best suit. You cannot hope to establish both suits. Senior must decide which he shall lead, and make his decision before his opening lead.

Bidding went: South, 1-Club; West, 1-heart; North, 2-No Trumps, showing several stops; South, 3-Clubs; North, 3-No Trumps.

The first consideration was for East to decide which of the two red suits to lead. Partner has bid hearts, but the declarer had announced several stops to hearts. East's diamonds were biddable, otherwise he would have had no problem to consider. Probably clubs were solid. East held the ace of spades, and it was probable that West held at least one trick in spades or diamonds. Unfortunately for the defenders East decided to lead his partner's suit, then to shft to his own suit in case hearts seemed hopeless. East led the 4 of hearts. West's 10 was captured with the declarer's Q. North needed a single spade trick to give him game. He led the Q of spades. East captured the trick with his ace, then he led his 5 of diamonds. West's K took the trick, and he returned his 9 of diamonds. North's J covered. Whether East won the trick, or waited for his partner to gain entry and lead another diamond was all the same. North could not fail to go game. Two heart tricks, 1 diamond trick, 1 spade trick and 5 club tricks must yield game. East decided to take his ace of diamonds, to prevent 5-odd from being made. North made 4-odd.

Suppose East had made an opening lead of his 5 of diamonds. West's K would have won the first trick. He would have led back a diamond. East's ace would have won the second trick, and another lead would have cleared diamonds, giving North a single trick in the suit. North could win only 8 tricks before he must lead a spade. Then East's ace of spades and 4 diamond tricks must defeat the contract a single trick.

Shifting suits, from hearts to diamonds, cost East his sole card of re-entry before he had established his suit. East's strategy was bad. As a rule, the more suits you open for the declarer the better for him it is. Unless hopeless to continue a suit, do not shift to another suit. That is playing the declarer's game.

FARMER DIES IN BARN FIRE

PARIS, Ont., Aug. 21. (CP) — Trapped in his burning barn, searing flames of which prevented neighbors from coming to his rescue, Archie McDonald, 55-year-old farmer, was burned to death here last night. The fire, cause of which was unknown, destroyed the barn. Mr. McDonald, a former conductor on the Canadian National Railways, is survived by his widow and three children.

Behind the Scenes in Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, August 21.— Pleas of studio officials and the appeal of a swank new dressing-room finally have won out over Anna May Wong's superstitions. Here to do "Limehouse Nights," the Chinese actress first insisted on being assigned to the third-floor dressing-room that she used several years ago working with Marlene Dietrich in "Shanghai Express."

Paramount bosses, having run afoul of similar superstitions with other stars, trained all their arguments on Anna May. But what finally made her succumb was the studio's offer to do the new dressing-room over in yellow. Anna May's Chinese name, Wong Liu Tsong, means "frosted deep yellow willow," so she regards this as a good omen.

MAYBE I shouldn't spoil a good thing, but it's an amusing story about Stepin Fetchit's car. The colored actor with the lazy drawl arrived out here six months ago in an old 1926 Lincoln that a real estate man had given him down south. Stepin hasn't bothered to change things. The car still carries a Florida license-plate on the rear and, in front, no plate at all but a sticker on the wind-shield reading "Visitor."

He is gathering them into an exhibit and, if picture engagements become scarce, he plans to go on a combination lecture and personal appearance tour with his paintings.

"ONE IS GUILTY" comes to the Regent theatre on Wednesday with Ralph Bellamy in the leading rôle as Inspector Trent. His fine characterization of the detective will add "Inspector Trent" to the famous Philo Vance, Charlie Chan, Sherlock Holmes list.

It is action-packed drama, thrilling to the last scene and the romance that weaves consistently through the plot adds to the story, rather than detracts as is the case with most mystery pictures.

Shirley Grey plays opposite Bellamy. She has been well cast, and her performance is good. Willard Robertson, Rita La Roy, Vincent Sherman, Ralph Remley, Jack Long, J. Carrol Naish, Ruth Abbott and Harry Todd comprise the strong supporting cast.

"KEEP 'EM ROLLING," the new RKO-Radio Picture at the Regent Theatre, has down-to-earth pathos, comedy and drama: sterling performances by Walter Huston and Frances Dee; an authentic filmization of a soldier's life at an army post; and a stirring biography of a horse which spent more than twenty years in the army.

Huston, Miss Dee and the supporting cast succeed in making "Keep 'Em Rolling" thorough entertainment. Huston's performance more than supports the popular contention that he is the ranking character actor on the American screen. Miss Dee is charming in appearance, and upholds the high standards she established as Meg in "Little Women." Minna Gombell, Frank Conroy, Ralph Remley, Robert Shayne and G. Pat Collins are also seen in splendid characterizations.

A SOUTHERN ROUTE transcontinental train took Henry B. Walthall, his wife and their daughter, Patricia, back to Birmingham, Ala., for the actor's first visit to his home town in many years. And he goes back with a long-term contract and renewed glory. For, over at Fox, they'll tell you that Walthall's performance with Will Rogers in "Judge Priest" is the best thing he has done since "The Birth of a Nation." And that on top of his fine portrayal of the idealistic Madero in "Viva Villa."

KNICK-KNACKS— Johnny Maschio, the agent, has received his wedding ring back from Jeanne Havens Monteagle, but his friends say that the society lass still calls him long distance. . . . It looks like romance between Dixie Martin and Harry Foster, soloist with the Jimmie Grier orchestra. . . . Helen Hayes just can't wait to see daughter Mary, so the youngster probably will come west in September. . . . Carl Brisson's police dog, Prince, is among the missing. . . . The first independent picture to receive the Hayes purity emblem is "The Scarlet Letter." Colleen Moore played in it, you recall. . . . When Leroy Prinz goes to Russia this winter, he'll film the Russian ballets in color. . . . Jack Holt, who played baseball on the Virginia Military Institute team, can still hit a hot liner. So hot in fact that one broke a rib for comedian Edward Brophy in a lunch-time scrub game. . . . And Fred Keating is taking boxing lessons from Vic McLaglen's Arabian stooge, Abdullah.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

In the middle of the seventeenth century a bishop developed a sore throat. He asked one of his friends to smell his breath to find if it was foul. The friend did so and "perished miserably four days later of suffocation." The suffocation was due to inflammation and swelling of the throat similar to the bishop's. It was in this way that men learned that diphtheria was contagious.

Even after it was known to be contagious, little could be done to prevent the contagion or to help it after the victim took sick. It is difficult for those who have lived only since 1890 to realize how dreaded the disease used to be. And with reason. I remember when I was a boy, a young playmate of mine died of the disease, and two of the six pall-bearers at the funeral came down with it.

Even in 1900, seven years after antitoxin was introduced the death rate was 43 per 100,000 population. Today it is 6.

The dreaded feature of the disease was the suffocation. Diphtheria was called "garotillo" in Spanish, because the suffocation was similar to the agrotting, or strangling method of execution.

Improvement in our control of the disease came in 1826, when Brettonneau, a French physician, described it. Brettonneau lived in the ancient city of Tours, where Balzac was born. In one of the parks of Tours there is a marble shaft erected to its three great physicians—Brettonneau, Trousseau, and Velpeau. Brettonneau gave the disease its name, and furnished a full description of its various forms. But he had no treatment.

Fifty years ago, in 1884, the cause of the disease, the diphtheria bacillus, was identified and described. In 1890, Behring discovered that the blood serum of horses which had been immunized by repeated injections of the germ would, if injected into guinea pigs, protect them from what would be otherwise a fatal dose of the bacilli. Not until 1894, when Roux and Martin in Paris demonstrated on 300 children, that the antitoxin could be used successfully in the treatment of human diphtheria, did our modern results in treatment begin to show up.

Even greater advance came when, in 1913, Schick of Vienna described a skin reaction test with the toxin or poison germinated by the diphtheria bacillus. When a tiny amount of this toxin is introduced under the skin of a person susceptible to the disease, a red area appears in 24 hours. Those in whom such a red area does not develop, will not catch diphtheria even if exposed; the others will. These tests are called negative or positive Schick tests, and it is possible, by applying them, say to a roomful of school children, to tell which ones are likely to have diphtheria and which are safe.

Then, by the use of toxoid, we can immunize the susceptibles so they are safe.

Today, diphtheria is one of the least dreaded of diseases.

THE THREATENED strike at Stamford has not materialized so far or in fact has shown no sign of life. The horsemen are entering their charges freely and each race draws a large field. The calibre of live stock on the grounds is real good, and compares favorably with any of our tracks in Canada. It was not so many years ago that the only horses that came to this place were old broken down plugs or horses that could not win at any other track. It shows what perserverance will do and the men behind this venture deserve the good breaks they are getting as they did not make a squawk during all the lean years when they used plenty of red ink.

Lucky Racket is up there and is in the pink. His last few races have all been sprint affairs and he has been holding his own, but remember sprinting is not this one's racket, he being strictly a distance horse. If Hogarty comes up from Connaught it will mean he is going after the heavy sugar, and not just on a sight seeing tour. Fife, a recent long shot winner down east may also come up and will compare favorably with any of the platers.

THE BOYS around Providence are still wondering how Khorasan trimmed some of the outstanding American breds last Saturday. The large price he paid again clearly shows that the American public still think horses that run in Canada are away inferior to their own. It looks as if Horometer the outstanding three year old Canuck bred is out of racing for this year if not for good. He is at present at the Woodbine and does not even appear on the track. His leg is very sore and it is doubtful if he will ever face the starter again.

Over at Detroit they are grooming Polyp for a winning effort. This one always pays a huge price, so tag along with him. Did you notice where White Thorn, Connie Smythe's recent acquisition nearly spilled the beans at Detroit last Saturday. He finished second and paid a huge price for place and show. He should be a winner on his next appearance. There are a number of horses quartered at the Woodbine these days just freshening up for the Toronto fall meetings. When Niagara closes this Saturday there is just the four Toronto tracks to operate seven days each making twenty-eight days of racing in Canada for this year.

Oshawa Girls Take Lake Shore Honors

PORT HOPE, Aug. 21.—Oshawa Malleables won the championship of the Lake Shore Ladies' Softball League when they defeated the Port Hope Alerts, 12-9 here last night. The Malleables eliminated the Oshawa Tavernettes for second place and then defeated Port Hope in the finals without losing a game. Feeling ran high between the teams, as a result of last Friday night's fracas, and 1,500 persons saw the game.

The engagement provided plenty of hits and runs and both teams committed numerous errors due to the cold weather. The winners outhit the locals and broke into the scoring column in the third innings, never to be headed.

McIntyre and Murray headed the batters for Oshawa ,getting three apiece, and Wilson hit a homer. Hitting honors for the Alerts were fairly well divided. Rowden, Thompson, Perrin and M. Bulkowski getting two apiece. Grice in left field for Port Hope starred with two phenomenal catches.

REDWINGS WIN 5-4.

(By the Associated Press) NN Albany Senators had regained the driver's seat in the race for the fourth berth in the International League's play-off series to-day but both Buffalo Bisons and Montreal Royals still were in a threatening position.

After taking it on the chin twice at Buffalo, Albany turned on the Bisons last night and earned a 7-3 triumph behind Bill Harris' steady pitching. The former Pittsburgh Pirate relief hurler limited Buffalo to seven hits, fanned 10 men and walked none. Albany jumped on Johnny Wilson for four runs in the first inning and Buffalo never could catch up.

Herd Drops Full Game

Buffalo thus dropped a full game back of the fourth place Senators and found Montreal only a game behind. The Royals got the benefit of superfine pitching by big Chad Kimsey and blanked Baltimore 6-0. Kimsey allowed only four hits while Montreal pounded Bill Lohrman for 11, bunching blows for five runs in the fifth.

Newark's lead, meanwhile, dwindled to four games as the second place Rochester Red Wings whipped the pace-setters 5-4. Johnny Michaels outpitched Charley Devens and Spurgeon Chandler and drove in the winning run with a ninth-inning single. Newark had tied the score at four-all with three runs in the seventh.

Leafs Double Chiefs

Toronto, holding third place four games behind Rochester, tripped Syracuse twice, 4-3, in 10 innings and 5-2. The first game, scheduled for seven frames, went three extra innings before Sheriff Blake won his own game with a timely single that drove home A. Moore with two out. Up to that point, Blake and Clarence Pickrel had waged an even mound duel. The Leafs were outhit in the second game but Don Brennan, sent down from Cincinnati, was effective in the pinches. A three-run attack in the first inning really decided the game as it later turned out.

Miss Marjorie Clark (left), of South Africa, won this heat.

C. G. E. TUMBLES LOOP LEADERS

10-6 Victory Gives Electrics Fighting Chance for Play-off Victory.

A TIGHT STRUGGLE.

Playing a heads-up brand of ball behind the brilliant pitching of Margaret Snowden, the C.G.E. girls last night tumbled the league-leading Westclox team, 10 to 6, in a fast seven innings battle that produced clever competition from start to finish. This win gives the Electrics a fighting chance at a play-off berth, provided they can cop their two remaining games.

The winners turned in a great fielding performance, turning back the opposition repeatedly with neat infielding. Snowden fanned seven, walked three and allowed eight hits, which included a homer by Webb, triple by Hall and a double by Hawkes. Webb hit another circuit clout in the eighth, but the innings was not completed. Mary Hall started for the "Big Bens", and turned in a steady game. Her team-mates failed to support her, and this combined with past balls and the speed of the winners on the runways sent her to the showers in the sixth. She fanned seven, walked four, and was touched for seven safeties. Barb. Blade went to the rubber at the start of the sixth and finished the game in top style. She whiffed four in the two frames in which she worked, passed one and allowed one single, and no runs. Winnie Snowden led the C.G.E. batters with two singles in four trips. Margaret Snowden hammered out a double. Selena Martin in centre for the winners made a great catch in the eighth when she nabbed a hot line drive from Marie Ferguson.

HURLER CHECKS REDS COMEBACK IN 8TH INNING

New Yorkers Increase Lead Over Idle Cubs to Five and a Half Games.

DODGERS FALL 6-2.

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League ball is the batsman's delight under ordinary circumstances but not when Carl Hubbell is on the throwing end of it.

Although Hubbell perhaps has been hit slightly harder this year than last when he led New York Giants to a league pennant and the world championship, the great left-hander still is the big ace on Bill Terry's staff and possibly the most valuable piece of pitching bric-a-brac in baseball.

A large slice of the credit for the Giants' present eminent position in the 1934 race—they lead the second place Chicago Cubs by 5½ games with six weeks to go—belongs to tall Carl. The Giants have played 117 games and Hubbell has been in 36 of them, starting 27 contests in 20 of which he still was there at the finish, and serving in relief roles in nine other games. He has won 18 games and lost nine so far and may yet better his 1933 record of 22 and 12.

He was called in for rescue duty for the second time in as many days yesterday and stopped a threatening Cincinnati rally as the Giants won 7-4 and extended their winning streak to five games in a row. Leroy "Tarsan" Parmelee, the Giants' starting moundsman, was in hot water through wildness all the way and finally was replaced by Hubbell in the eighth with men on third and second and one out. Both runners scored, one on an infield out and the other on Mark Koenig's single, but Hubbell stopped the Reds cold thereafter. Joe Moore's double and three singles led the Giant attack which sent Tony Freitas to the showers after seven frames.

Brooklyn Falls 6-2

The only other game on the day's major league schedule was extraordinary in that Pittsburgh finally won a game from Brooklyn. Pie Traynor's Pirates had taken eight beatings in succession from the Dodgers until Bill Swift came up with an eight-hit game and led Pittsburgh to a 6-2 triumph. Swift, who had beaten the Dodgers on June 13 just before the Dodger jinx developed, fanned seven men and never was in serious trouble. Paul Waner's four singles were a distinct help to the Pirates who thus cut Boston's lead, in fourth place, too 2½ games.

Shine Will Pitch In To-Night's Game

Frank Shine will twirl for the Orphans in tonight's O.A.S.A. play-down game with Lindsay at 5.30 in Riverside Park. Manager Percy Harrison stated last night that Shine was feeling fit again and anxious to get a chance in this series, so he would be used this evening. The whole team is rested up after the tough local playoff grind and ready to give Smith's Smokies a real battle. A large crowd is looked for this evening.

Seldom has a local softball player had the following that Shine—a newcomer here this summer—built up for himself by his classy pitching, his gameness and his unassuming manner. He has hundreds of admirers in the ranks of softball fandom, both men and girls. The big wavy-haired speedballer should continue to be a big help to the Waffs in their hunt for the O.A.S.A. title. All the Orphan players are going in fine style now and, unless Gamble and his Lindsay teammates are in top form, the visitors are liable to be eliminated from further competition in tonight's tilt. Admission is fifteen cents and the game should easily be worth that. The winner meets Oshawa next.

NATIONALS GAIN PLAY-OFF BERTH

Albions Drop 14 to 6 Decision in Sudden Death Game Last Night.

IN SOUTH-END LEAGUE.

Nationals won themselves a Southend Softball League play-off berth last night by licking the Albions in a sudden-death game, 14 ot 6, with second place in the second half being at stake. The Nats played better ball behind E. Reynolds' sterling pitching and bunched hits in the third and fifth frames, besides capitalizing on several boots by the Vitarelli crew. Cavanagh, on the losers' mound, was touched for fourteen hits and three walks, while fanning five. Reynolds gave but ten scattered hits, two walks and struck out three. Parsons, Kitchen and Clark for the winners and Caccavelli, Burke and Ashmore for Albions did some nice fielding. The breaks were against Albions all through. The Box score:

EAST PETERBOROUGH SOFTBALL LEAGUE HAS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Douro Elmwoods Capture Championship After Hard Fought Schedule.

3 TEAMS IN LOOP

The East Peterborough Softball League formed in the early part of June proved quite a success. Large crowds of fans attended the games, and the collections taken up proved quite satisfactory. North Douro, Centre Douro, Elmwoods, and Indian River comprised the league this year, with prospects of more entries next year. The leadership of the league was won by Douro Elmwoods, who had to beat Indian River in their last league game to decide it. They were in danger of losing the game, when with the score 16-15 for Elmwoods, and the bases loaded for Indian River, with only one out, the umpire called the game on account of darkness, the score reverting back to the fifth. This game was only typical of the majority of the games played, so evenly were the teams matched. There was only two games dividing the bottom team from the top when the schedule was finished. Lack of practice was in evidence when Indian River commenced their league engagements, but each game saw an improvement, and right now they are a hard bunch to knock off on their own diamond, as was clearly shown when they knocked off Douro Elmwoods in the playoffs, and took possession of the P. G. Towns Trophy, emblematic of the championship of the E.P.L.

They have a bunch of live-wire men on the club committee. They are: Russel Green, Howard Holmes, Emmet Fitzgerald and Mick Walsh, whose sole interest is the club, and whose one ambition is to see the Indian River Club on the top of the league or near it. In Jack Walsh the club has a pitcher who can hit with the rest of them, besides being a nifty fielder. Mick Doherty, the utility man of the team, is reckoned to be the heaviest slugger in the E.P.L. circuit. He can take his turn behind the bat and can play anywhere in the infield or outfield. In fact he started the season playing second base, until Jim Clark was fit to play, then he switched over to short, and finished the season playing centre field, where he thrilled the crowd with his spectacular catches.

The club is thinking of holding a banquet in the near future to celebrate the winning of the cup.

Whenever the average player has to pitch over a bunker to the green he invariably gives himself the worst of it by under-estimating the distance he should pitch. The green may be backed by deeper traps or more dangerous hazards calling for precision in the length of carry in the shot. But these hazards, both in front and behind the green, need not be so frightening if considered in the right light. Fear of the first bunker causes tension enough to spoil the swing. Worry about the traps back of the putting surface will also cause a jerky swing. Keep your swing smooth and easy by blotting out of your mind thoughts about going over the green. Simply aim to carry well beyond the first bunker and you'll stay on the green with most tries.

FINE COMPETITION TROTTING EVENTS

Eight or Ten Horses Will Start in Every Race During Three-Day Meet.

Eight or ten horses are expected to start in every race during the three-day meet at the local Exhibition, commencing Thursday. "There will be no small fields," a member of the racing committee stated yesterday, "we have a large entry list that ensures the followers of racing of some fine competition." The races start daily the last three days of the week at two o'clock, and purses totalling twelve hundred dollars will be offered. Only a few cities in Ontario do better than this, and the local Board does not take any entry fee. The Race Horse Committee consists of: Stan Lowe, chairman, Gus White, Thomas Brown, V. S. Milburn, Thomas Cruickshank, Art Blade and A. D. Runion. Classes are: Thursday—2.27 and 2.15 trots or paces; Friday—2.22 and 2.18 trots or paces; and Saturday—2.24 trot or pace, and the free-for-all.

Horses have been entered here from distant parts of the Province. Gid Litt of Goderich will have General Brewer entered in the free-for-all, besides bringing Bedford Grattan and Grattan Patch; J. Wellwood of Berlin is bringing five horses, including Star Pointer and Joe Patch; Lou Bennett of Port Hope has Walter Stone set for the free-for-all and has a stable of four others entered, including Philco; E. Harrington of Picton will trot Cigarette here, this being the horse that came here last year and beat Billy Hugo of Ridgetown, now the Canadian champion; Aggie Grattan is another Harrington entry; Mr. Williamson of Toronto will show Peter Maryland and others in this meet; the Elmhirst racers will be on hand; and a number of other good horses from the city, the district and probably other towns not mentioned. It should be the finest harness horse race meet held here in years.

GIBBARDS VICTORS OVER ENTERPRISE

Bishop's Pitching Features Fourteen-inning Play-off Game—Score is 3-2.

NAPANEE, Aug. 21.—The 400 or more fans who motored to Yarker on Saturday afternoon for the third game in the County League play-offs between Enterprise and the Gibbard B's of Napanee, witnessed the baseball classic of the season. Each team had won a game, and there was keen interest in this final encounter. Napanee and Enterprise sent large delegations with a splendid attendance from several other points in the district.

The game went fourteen innings, and the break came when with a man on third and a man on second, Fraser for Gibbards laid down a neat bunt, scoring Johnson. The score was 3 to 2, and the Enterprise team made a splendid rally in the ninth when the score was two-all. Three men were on bases with none out and the side was retired on a fine triple play. Bishop for Gibbards pitched sensationally allowing only four hits and striking out eleven. Throughout the fourteen innings he only walked two. Spratt, who let Gibbards down with one hit in the second game was also very effective, striking out eleven and walking two. Seven hits were secured off his delivery.

DEAN AND FRISCH REACH AGREEMENT

Suspension Lifted, But Rebellious Pitcher Pays Heavily in Fines.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—(AP)—"Dizzy" Dean and the Cardinals, after loud and prolonged wrangling, were at peace again last night. The dizzy one was reinstated by Manager Frankie Frisch following a hearing before baseball's "Czar," Kenesaw Mountain Landis. Much dirty linen came in for noisy discussion at the hearing.

In theory, the hearing, by degree of Landis, was closed. In fact, however, the discussion became so noisy it sounded through hotel corridors.

This was the seventh day of Dizzy's suspension, which he brought on himself by failing to attend an exhibition game at Detroit last Monday and by balking at a $100 fine. Landis found the suspension of ten days imposed Thursday by Frisch on the star righthanded pitcher was not unreasonable.

CLASSIFIED ADS are as useful as the day is long.

What will no doubt be good news to a lot of local lasses—not to mention numerous fellows—is the news that Frankie Shine is slated to pitch for the Orphans tonight. The Waifs meet Smith's Smokies from up Lindsay way at 5.30 or so in Riverside Park, this being the second game of their O.A.S.A. series, and considered pretty important by and large. But Mister Shine, the tall Orphan twirler with the wavy black hair and the Carioca delivery, will be the main attraction. He is ready to fling again and will get the assignment tonight, according to Manager Percy Harrison. Shine has as many admirers in sports here as Gary Cooper has in the movies. And deservedly, as he helped his team considerably in coming this far. It should be a good game and if Lindsay wins, a third one will be necessary.

Let's see what have in the way of sports at the Ex. this week. The kids' races were held today, and we suppose there will be boxing and rasslin' on nightly at the Midway. Tomorrow, there will be two 3-mile motorcycle races around the track in the afternoon, five local speed demons burning up the dirt, one race from a standing start and the other from a flying getaway. Should be plenty of thrills, and maybe spills. Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons will see the harness hoss races attracting hundreds. And the Eastern Ontario hoss-shoe pitching championships will start Friday at one p.m. Entries taken by Art Moffatt, 169 Princess street up to Wednesday night. Yeah, we should see plenty of the Exhibition this year.

Cogs here are patiently waiting for the Lakeshore Baseball League to declare a champion. Looks like Cobourg will cop the duke and meet the Clubmen around the end of the week. The latest bulletin from the O.B.A.A. classifies the intermediate sections somewhat differently than before. The Bay of Quinte loop is now rated as intermediate "A", while the Kingston and Peterborough district circuits are classed as intermediate "B-1", the same as the Lakeshore Loop. Then there is the "B-2" division including the Trent Valley, the Lennox County and the Prince Edward leagues. So what? Don't ask us, we wouldn't know.

The C.O.B.L. playoff series this year will again be best three out of five games between the first and second teams. The recent vote regarding playoffs found this system favored by three to two, the other two favoring a three-team playoff. The two top teams at the end of the schedule therefore tangle for the loop title and the Johnston Cup, with the winner being called upon to meet the T.A.B.A. champion in the Ontario semi-finals, starting Saturday, September 15th. The team leading on the night of September 3rd—when our schedule ends—will have the choice of grounds for the first game. If tie-games in the schedule need to be played, they must be run off before September 3rd. These instructions have been sent out by the C.O.B.L. secretary.

The Petes are in Kingston this evening. Saturday sees the Ponies in Oshawa for a double-header, with the Nats playing here. Then next Tuesday, Kingston plays in Belleville. The Petes go to Oshawa September 1st and entertain the Dukes back here the 3rd to wind it up. If Peterborough were to lose three of their remaining games counting that tie which wont be played unless necessary—and Kingston won their remaining contests, the Ponies would be tied with us in second place. A pretty slim chance, though.

With the playoff berths finally settled in the Southend Softball League, first and second teams in each half will playoff, two out of three games, as follows: Tues., Aug. 21st—Nationals vs. Orioles; Thursday—Albions vs. Cogs; and in the second games, Friday — Orioles vs. Nationals; and Monday—Cogs vs. Albions; third games, if necessary; Tuesday, Aug. 28—Nationals vs. Orioles; and Wednesday, 29th—Albions vs. Cogs. Winners of these two series meet in a three-out-of-five final series for the loop title. All these games are slated for the Brinton Field at six bells sharp. This circuit has quite a following in the southend.

Cobourg lacrossers want to play their last scheduled game with Kiwanis here this Thursday. The local club is deciding the matter now. As it stands, Kiwanis is assured of a playoff berth on top of the league, with Belleville in second place and Cobourg third. The only chance the Lakeshore crew has is for Cobourg to beat our team here—in which case Cobourg and Belleville would be tied for second place. But Kiwanis ought to cop it and then tangle with the Aajmaa Club from the Quinte Town in the group playoffs. Belleville is much stronger now, having calmly borrowed several Campbellford stars—a little stunt which still has us wondering why officials bother making rules at all.

• • • • • •

We see by the a.m. papers that Oshawa gals copped the Lakeshore League softball honors, knocking over Port Hope Alerts last eve by a 12-9 count. Our own lasses' playoffs will be commencing around the end of this month, a week and a half away. There was some talk of an executive meeting Thursday to deal with that Omemee-Westclox tussle but we've heard nothing definite since on this soap-box session. Meantime, the ball players in this league are asked for goodness' sake—and all that—to cough up with the dough they've collected on selling ducats for the recent injured players' benefit hop, and to return said shekels or ducats pretty pronto.

Up and down Sports' Rialto: Canada Packers meet Deloro at six this e'en here in a league soccer match . . . . Ev. Thomas, manager of the C.G.E. gals' team, is in Toronto this week where he is taking unto himself a bride . . . . A triple-play in the ninth aided Gibbard's "B" baseballers of Napanee to take a 3-2 nod over Enterprise last eve to cop the Lennox Loop belt . . . . A flock of pro golfers held a competition in Cobourg the other day and W. Fairweather of Peterborough did one round in 76 and another in 84 . . . . The Petes are second to Oshawa now in C.O.B.L. team hitting and second to Belleville in team fielding . . . . A guy from Perth yesterday tells us that ball club is "way in the hole, in case anyone here gives a hoot.

Principals Absent In Qulifyng Play

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (C.P.). — A dress rehearsal for the United States amateur golf championship will be held to-day with some of the leading actors absent.

On 23 courses in the country, and on one in Honolulu, 741 hopefuls, including five Canadians, will shoot 36 holes of medal play in an attempt to qualify for the all match-play championship proper starting at the country club at Brookline, Mass., Sept. 10. All told, 187 places are open.

Thirteen other places have been assigned to the defending champion, George Dunlap of New York; 10 former wearers of the crown, Ross "Sandy" Somerville of London, Ont., among them; Lawson Little, the American, who is British amateur champion and Rex Hartley, former British Walker Cup star. These men, of course, will be missing from to-day's play.

While Somerville, who failed in the final bid for his fifth Canadian title at Montreal last week, is taking it easy, two other Londoners, Jack Nash and Colin Brown; Vic Ripley, the New York Ranger hockey player from Calgary; Gordon Taylor, young Montrealer, who was Canadian amateur king in 1932, and Slim Farley of Toronto, will be out on the fairways seeking places among the qualifiers. Farley plays at Buffalo, Taylor at Boston and the other trio at Detroit.

Waner Going Up

Paul Waner, Pittsburg's slugging outfielder, closed in on Manager Bill Terry of the Giants yesterday in their battle for the National League batting crown. While Memphis Bill had to be content with one hit, Paul cracked out four to gain five points and advance into second place with an average of .364. Terry dropped a point and his average fell to .373.

Mel Ott, the only other member of the sextet to get into action, also lost ground, his percentage falling to .360.

Up In Toronto yesterday our boys were treated rather rough. In the first round of the Dominion Gold Cup both Freeman and Gimblett were defeated by Toronto rinks.

—O—

In The First round of the Ontario Cup Freeman lost. The only salvation of the first day's play was Freeman's win over N. Richardson in the 'All Comers" event.

—O—

Our Own Club doubles got under way last night and despite the cool weather a large crowd turned out.

—O—

And Then, to-morow night we have the mixed tournament commencing at 7.30 p.m.

Inverness-shire is the largest county of Scotland, having an area of 4,211 square miles.

Toronto District Rinks In Running

TORONTO, Aug. 21 (C.P.). — Fifteen rinks from Toronto and district and one from London entered the third round here to-day for honors in the Dominion lawn bowling tournament.

The London rink, skipped by G. Haskett, remained in the running when they defeated K. B. McKellar's bowlers from Parkdale Canoe Club, 17-16, after an extra end.

Withrow Club sent the largest aggregate into action, four teams being unbeaten. Canada Club had two teams, and others left included Balmy Beach, Kew Beach, Runnymede, Weston, Rusholme and Memorial Church.

Skipped by S. McCartney, Ottawa's representatives were eliminated by W. Hogarth's St. Mathew's, 26-20.

KINGSTON YACHTSMEN WIN.

KINGSTON, Aug. 21 (C.P.). — Kingston Yacht Club defeated Rochester Yacht Club yesterday in the interclub dinghy races at Rochester by the score of 24 to 15, to take the dinghy sailing championship for this end of the lake.

The tilt at Rochester was the last of the regular interclub races for the season, and leaves Kingston without a loss in the series this year.

Kingston Y.C. will meet the winners of the western group for the championship of the lake in September.

SILVER SLIPPERS

By Temple Bailey

READ THIS FIRST:

Joan Dudley, vacationing with her wealthy aunt, Adelaide Delafield, is engaged to marry Drew Hallam who is twice her age. At Granitehead where they are stopping with Drew's sister, Nancy, is a bookshop owned by Giles Armiger, below which is a shoemaker's shop run by Stephen Scripps. They had become fast friends in France. As a result of his war experience, Scripps was obliged to turn from law to a trade and Giles remained close by. Drew grows jealous after Joan meets Giles and they become interested in each other. Meantime Drew is paying considerable attention to Rose Carter, an old sweetheart. Going for a walk, Joan and Giles are caught in a rainstorm. She turns her ankle and as Giles carries her into the hotel, Drew appears and becomes incensed.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 19

"I am not making a mountain of a molehill," Drew began. Then as he saw Joan sway and reach for the back of a chair, he demanded, quickly, "Are you in pain?"

"I told you. I hurt my ankle . . ." her voice was shaking.

"Can you walk on it?"

"I'll try."

She took a step and stopped—"It's rather—dreadful."

"I'll get you upstairs and let Farley look at it. Or perhaps you'd better have a doctor."

He carried her to her room and when he had laid her on the couch he kissed her. But she knew there was a barrier between them, that he did not believe what she had told him, and that sooner or later she would have it out with him about Giles.

Farley having examined the ankle and exclaimed over it, said: "You'll have to be in bed for a day or two, and it will be lucky if you don't take your death after such a wetting. I'll put a hot water bag in your bed, and when you've had a hot bath, I'll bandage your ankle. If it doesn't get any worse you won't need a doctor."

When Joan, limp and exhausted with pain, crawled at last between warm sheets, the maid was waiting with a tall steaming glass of lemonade. "You drink that, and then I'll tuck you in."

Joan, propped up on two pillows, said, "This is heavenly, Farley."

And Farley said, with a touch of motherliness in her tone: "You're such a child, Miss Joan. You need somebody to look after you."

Adelaide coming up later, stood in the door.

"What's this I hear about your being brought to the hotel by that Armiger man?"

"Did Drew tell you?"

"No. Rose was looking out of the window, and the lightning showed you. She told Drew, and he went out . . . and when he came back he said you had sprained your ankle."

"Well, I have . . ."

"How did Mr. Armiger find you?"

"I had been talking with him in the pavilion."

"You were talking with him after what I said?"

"How could I help it? We met by chance in the pavilion . . . the rain caught us and we ran, and I sprained my ankle." Joan felt as if she had repeated this formula a thousand times. She was tired of it. She was tired of everything. She wanted to be alone. Surely this was all a bad dream, and presently Adelaide, in her gold gown with her old hands hooked like claws on the footboard would vanish like some evil apparition of the night.

But Adelaide did not vanish. She stood there looking over the footboard and saying sharply: "I won't have it, Joan. Do you hear?"

"Yes."

"When I say a thing I want you to understand that I mean it."

"But Aunt Adelaide ——"

"We won't talk about it any more. But you must mend your ways, if you expect me to put up with you."

She turned and went out of the room. Joan made no effort to stop her. Her aunt was offended, but she really didn't care . . . she didn't care for anything except to curl among her pillows and sleep . . . and sleep . . .

In the morning she was feverish and Farley sent for the doctor. He ordered complete rest for a few days. "It will help your cold and give your ankle a chance."

While Joan stayed upstairs, unpleasant matters were for a time suspended. Drew sent flowers regularly with pleasant little notes of sympathy, from which she missed something, as she missed it in his manner when now and then he came to see her. Adelaide's manner had in it also a stiffness which showed she was unappeased. Only Nancy, sailing in with new books and much chatter was the same. On one occasion she informed Joan that Rose and Mrs. Carter were visiting Marion Stickley for the week-end. "Drew and I are going down for Sunday supper. She wants you to come . . ."

"She knows of course that I can't."

"Of course," said the wise Nancy.

A little later, Nancy proffered a bit of advice. "If I were you I'd make it up with the old lady."

"Aunt Adelaide?"

"Yes. She has an idea you're ungrateful. She said as much to Drew."

Joan with a touch of excitement, flung out, "Perhaps I am."

Nancy having smoked a cigaret during the long silence, asked: What about this Giles Armiger?"

Joan looked up at her and said: "Nothing, except that he is very wise and fine."

"Such friendships are dangerous, my dear."

"Drew has them."

Nancy shook her head. "No, Rose isn't wise or fine. She is just a plaything and Drew knows it."

Joan said with some spirit, "They all treat me like a child."

"You are a child," Nancy smiled at her, "a rather darling child . . . and now what did you mean when you said that perhaps you were ungrateful"

"I meant that I won't sell my soul to Aunt Adelaide for her money."

"You don't need to sell your soul. And you're really not facing things, Joan. You came to your aunt because she had money."

"Oh, no . . ."

Nancy was inexorable. "Do you think if she had been poor you would have linked your life to that of a crabbed, vain old woman? You know you wouldn't. You are really not as high-minded as you think."

Joan's cheeks were blanched. "If I am like that . . . I shall hate myself. I wanted more than money, I wanted love . . ."

"But it was love plus luxury. And nobody blames you for it. Only you must get the right slant on it."

"What is the right slant?"

"Oh, now that you have it, don't lose it. You and Drew will need money to be happy. He's really dead in love with you. More in love, I might as well say frankly than I ever believed he would be with any woman. But he will never stand poverty."

Joan didn't believe her. If two people loved each other, they could face anything. The test of Drew's love would be to leave and let him follow. In finding her, he would find himself—that truer self to which she still believed. Oh, underneath the worldliness which she had found of late, there must be the man to whom that day in the fog she had promised herself.

After Nancy had gone, she lay thinking about it. She knew Drew was waiting for her explanation of that meeting in the pavilion with Giles Armiger. She would never again be wholly his until she had said, "I'm sorry."

And she could not say it, although she cried into her pillow at night thinking of it, prayed her girlish, sincere prayers that a way might be opened.

It was on Sunday night, when the Hallams were dining at Marion Stickley's that things reached a climax.

Nobody played bridge in the hotel on Sundays, and Adelaide with her occupation gone had dragged through the empty day with an increasing sense of irritation.

After dinner she went into Joan's room and found her on the couch, wide-eyed and wistful. Adelaide did not like wistful people. She wanted them gay and sporting. "She owes me everything," the old woman told herself, "in exchange she should at least try to be amusing."

As she sat down in the chair which Farley had placed beside the couch, she observed almost with a sense of injury the richness of the setting which her wealth had supplied—the silken cushions and coverlet, the hangings, all amethyst and blue which had come packed in a great trunk with Adelaide's rose and green. There was the carved ivory on Joan's dresser, set with the silver, the pale flagons of perfume, the painted porcelain boxes, and Joan herself in a blue and silver gown, with a silver rose in her satin cap.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, August 22

A day of rather adverse influences from the intervening planets is presaged, with nothing but patience, perseverance, self-restraint and undivided application to affairs in hand to turn things into prosperous and progressive channels. There are uncertainties, perplexities and perils from all angles, with real property and other accumulations to be safeguarded, with chance and speculation to be shunned. Rushing impetuously into disturbed and unstable conditions and dealing with unknown elements and strangers would prove hazardous. Personal affairs also have treacherous angles.

Hard Work Ahead.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year which will tax all their wisdom and ingenuity to safeguard their accumulated possessions. This by hard work, undivided application, patience and perseverance, and not reckless and impetuous, hasty and quarrelsome moves. Be particularly on guard against strange persons and propositions, refraining from speculation and taking lone chances. Also the private affiliations should be protected from intrigue and subterfuge. A child born on this day should be energetic and resourceful, but disposed to rush into speculation and losses thereby, possibly defying the law.

A survey just started of the Union of South Africa and various native and mandated territories will take 100 years to complete.

Many new factories are being started in the Irish Free State.

ATHLETES FOOT

This is an ailment not only common to golfers, swimmers, tennis and ball players but also among all who do much walking. It is really a sort of ringworm which attacks the skin on the sides of the toes. Inflammation is set up and there is itching and burning which causes much discomfort. By bathing the feet thoroughly in hot water and applying Dr. Chase's Ointment freely, you can soon entirely overcome this trouble.

PERCY SEEKING TAX COLLECTOR

Six Names to be Shifted From Ward 1 to Ward 2 in Township.

WARKWORTH, Aug. 20 (Examiner Correspondence). — The municipal council of the township of Percy held its regular meeting in the town hall here Tuesday. C. H. Curtis, reeve; Roy Mallory, deputy-reeve; U. E. Wartman, W. Partridge and W. H. Nelson, councillors, present.

Communications were as follows: H. J. B. Leadlay, re Board of Health; Canadian Performing Right Society, Ltd.; E. L. MacNachton re Wilby and Taylor; E. L. Mac Nachton re county rate, $9,776.63; public and separate schools, $140.20; debenture, $3,648.66 and county road, $881.13. Total, $14,446.62.

It was decided to request the Judge at next court of revision to change the names of Mr. and Mrs. George Shaw, Highman, Mrs. Susan Goldring and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gordon from Ward No. 1 to Ward No. 2.

Instructions were given Clerk P. S. Ewing to advertise for tenders for tax collector for 1934.

Accounts amounting to $125.50 for police village and $1,735.40 were ordered paid after which the council adjourned to meet Tuesday Sept 4th, at 1:30 o'clock.

STEVENS DEFENDS CAPITALISM, BALKS AT DEFENDING GREEDY

Abolition Would Hit 2,000,000 Insurance Holders, Bank Accounts in Canada.

NO SYSTEM EQUAL.

NELSON, B.C., Aug. 21. (CP).—"I'm not protecting selfish, avaricious and greedy men who are operating under the capitalistic system, but I am not going to denounce that system because some under it do things they should not do and that are not fundamental to the system" Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, told a gathering of business men here Monday night.

Who are the capitalists? he asked. And replied to his own question: "Every farmer who has a fence around a piece of land and owns some implements and stock. So is the garage-keeper who has some tools. Or the grocer, or the dry-goods merchant, or anyone who possess anything with which to perform service."

One of the largest outgrowths of capitalism was the insurance companies. But of their total earnings, only two and one-half percent went to stockholders. There were more than 2,000,000 life insurance policies in force in Canada which would be wiped out if capitalism were arbitrarily abolished.

Of much the same nature were the banks. The money they loaned was made up of an infinite number of individual deposits by Canadian citizens, the bank capital being only a very small proportion. Every depositor was a capitalist.

No System Equal

Under any democratic form of government, accumulation of capital was bound to occur, because ownership of property was inherent to democracy. Neither a State Socialism as in Russia, nor a Mussolini dictatorship as in Italy, could give the results from capitalism that a free democracy could.

While defending individual ownership and liberty of action under which, he said, the average Canadian qualified as a capitalist, Mr. Stevens condemned such business as had used their opportunities to become wealthy through unfair competition and by abuse of the producers or the workers.

Mr. Stevens urged the way to change the present system into what it should be was by the Biblical ideal of "Here a little and there a little," making changes that would do away with abuses while retaining the vast uses.

He referred to business practices uncovered by the Price Spreads and Mass Buying Inquiry. "I suppose I shall be pilloried for this," he remarked when referring to various things disclosed.

Each individual, working in the orbit of his own influence, could do a little to better conditions, and the sum would be much. On the other hand, to sit back and merely ask, "What are they going to do about it?" did not illustrate a very high type of Canadian citizenship.

The average of Canadian citizenship was high, but it did not follow that all Canadians were pulling their weight to solve the country's problems soundly.

Charged With Extortion Attempt

Edward Chard, Toronto, 23-year-old unemployed clerk, was arrested by Toronto police on charges of attempting to extort $6,000 from Hugh Labat, brother of kidnapped London brewer, by representing himself as one of the kidnappers. Two mysterious phone calls to the Labatt suite in a Toronto hotel were allegedly traced to Chard. A voice asked that part of the ransom money be dropped over a bridge near Toronto, but when police rushed to the scene no one was located. Chardd is shown in custody of a police officer.

County Cricket

LONDON, Aug. 21 (CP Cable).—Warwickshire, Derbyshire, Essex and Gloucestershire scored outright victories in first-class county cricket matches concluding to-day; the remainder of the county fixtures being decided on the first innings only.

HARLEM'S FAMOUS WISHING TREE FALLS BEFORE WORKMAN'S AXE

Held by Negro Troupers as Capable of Providing Jobs For All Unfortunates.

CHIPS BRING $200.

(By Dale Harrison)

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—Harlem's famous "Wishing Tree," in whose benign shade have sat many negro actors—Bert Williams, Bill Robinson, Florence Mills, Ethel Waters, and the rest—has fallen to the axe.

Men came yesterday and cut it down. Each stroke of their steel left a scar in many a superstitious and sentimental heart. The tree meant much to negro troupers.

For years it had stood there at 131st Street and Seventh Avenue in front of the Lafayette Theatre, a sturdy oak rooting in Harlem's soul. Lately it had begun to die. Besides, it was in the way of the proposed widening of Seventh Avenue in front of the Lafayette Theatre, a sturdy oak rooting in Harlem's soul. Lately it had begun to die. Besides, it was in the way of the proposed widening of Seventh Avenue. That is why they cut it down.

Once there was a negro actor who stood beneath its branches, rubbed its rough bark, and made a wish for work. Immediately he got a job. What that actor was or how long ago, none can say. It is enough that it was so. Thereafter the oak became the actors' "Wishing Tree."

Paul Robeson stood there, wishing perhaps to become one of the greatest baritones of his race.

Smiled Upon

Bill Robinson, who has been called the greatest tap dancer of them all, has known its charm.

The late Florence Mills, Harlem's songbird, made her wish there, and found it granted.

When the tree had fallen a negro ran forward with saw and hatchet and began hacking the tree into bits. He sold these pieces of wood at 25 cents each, and could hardly cut them fast enough. At the end he was getting as much as $2 for each souvenir.

While the workmen's axes rang, there were negroes watching who remembered Bert Williams, and who recalled his singing-talking:

"Woodman, woodman, spare dat tree!
Touch not a single bough.
For years it has protected me,
And I'll protect it now.
Cut down dat spruce, dat oak, or pine,
But spare that slippy'ry elm of mine—
It's the only tree my wife can't climb.
(Boom, boom), Oh, spare dat tree."

REAR END CRASH

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 21 (CP)—Charles E. Killer, of Kingston, was removed to hospital in that city late last night after having figured in a rear-end collision on No. 2 Highway three-quarters of a mile west of the Lansdowne turn where he crashed into the rear of a car driven by a man named Doak, belonging to Lansdowne, who had stopped after his lighting system had failed.

ARKELL PUPILS GIVE RECITAL

Delightful Program Given by Hawaiian Guitar Pupils.

PLEASING PROGRAM

MADOC, Aug. 21. — (Examiner Correspondence).—On Friday evening, at the Empire Theatre, the public were invited to a recital given by the pupils of Mr. Arkell of Hawaiian music.

The platform was completely transformed by the profusion of flowers and tasteful decorations of evergreens, curtains and streamers.

The first number was given by the whole company, "The Old Spinning Wheel," after which Miss Doris Golan gave a very interesting history of stringed instruments, particularly of the Hawaiian guitar, tracing the history from 4,000 B.C. and indicating the date of many of the changes and improvements made. Then followed a quartette, "River of Golden Dreams," given by E. Cassidy, C. Kilpatrick, Allan McCoy and Keith McCoy. The Arkell quartette followed with "Hawaiian Melodies," Mr. and Mrs. Arkell, Miss Lillian Arkell and Earl Armstrong. A solo by Earl Armstrong, guitar and vocal, "Toss Up Your Babies," following with an encore, "Sunny South by the Sea." Six girls gave "Nearer My God to Thee." These were Doreen Bassett, Aileen Donohue, Betty Phillips, Florence Holland, Eileen Wilson and Eileen Taylor. An ensemble was well given, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," and five ladies gave the next number, Mrs. Taylor, Doris Golan, Winnifred Keene, Mrs. Phillips and Nancy Holland. Miss Lillian Arkell and Mr. E. Armstrong were well received in a duet, vocal and guitar, "My Old Guitar and You," and were given a hearty encore, to which they responded by "You Make Me Glad." Miss Eva Chambers was called on for a solo with guitar and mouthorgan. Seven men gave, "Lamp Lighting Time in the Valley, Warren Hill, Robert Caskey, Earl Armstrong, Cecil Taylor and Mr. Arkell. Earl Armstrong gave a song with yodelling chorus, "Moonlight and Skies," and responded to the encore with "Mermaid of Southern Seas." A solo by Lillian Arkell delighted all, and the ensemble following was "Home in Wyomin'." The Arkell quartette gave "Indiana March," after which Miss Eva Chambers again appeared with mouthorgan and guitar. "Woodland Echoes" was given by the full ensemble, Lillian Arkell appeared in the duet, "I Won't Marry You." The "Hawaiian March" by the Arkell quartette and "Farewell to Thee" ended a pleasing program, which was closed by the National Anthem.

A NEW RACKET

WINDSOR, Aug. 20 (CP)—Police believe they have discovered a new racket in passing counterfeit coin.

A man received a fifty-cent piece in change. Shortly afterward he returned claiming the coin spurious. The cashier who issued the change is certain the coin returned is not the one issued.

LAKEFIELD CELEBRATES IN 1935 DIAMOND JUBILEE AS CORPORATION

Major Boulton Was the Firs Major Boulton Was the First Reeve of the Municipality.

POEM WRITTEN

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 21.—(Examiner Correspondence).—On January 1, 1935, Lakefield will celebrate the diamond jubilee of its incorporation, and it is hoped and expected that the date will be marked in a manner suitable and probably some fitting memorial to the service of those early settlers who built up the hamlet to the status of a village. Lakefield owes its existence, like many another Ontario village, to lumbering, and in its earlier days several saw-mills cut many thousands of feet of lumber in the season, and many of the old-timers have stirring stories of "running the river."

The selection of fit persons to serve in the official positions of the village was one of great moment and made with great care. Lakefield's first reeve was Major Boulton, who built "Ashelworth," the home of the Misses Atwood. Major Boulton removed to Manitoba and was through the Reil rebellion and had a narrow escape from sharing the tragic fate of Thomas Scott.

At that time Lakefield was a sort of gathering place for adventurous young Englishmen, who had been lured to Canada by the claims of the writings of Mrs. Moodie and Mrs. Traill, and one of these, whose identity is lost in the nom de plume, "Jeremiah Orddler," wrote a few verses (?) which were published at the time and caused much amusement, for the little rivalries and local jokes were well known and gave rise to lots of speculation. As many of the descendants of the first officials are still residents, the poem (?) has a bit of local interest, even after 58 years. The first councillors were John C. Sherin, John Hull, R. A. Strickland and George Shields. Mr. Saunders was the first clerk, and Messrs. Garrett J. Galvin and Thomas Gordon the assessors at a salary of $15 each. Samuel Sherin was treasurer and division court clerk and George McIlmoyl was the bailiff.

The following is the poem:

Lakefield Incorporated.

In 1875 the village of Lakefield was all alive,
Whereby the voice of the people and acclamation
They were bound to have an incorporation.

The first thing to do was a Council to form,
The citizens who the board to adorn;
So they set to work and elected five men,
And a short description I'll give you of them:

Major Boulton, the head, or otherwise reeve,
A good man for office, I really believe,
For he's willing to work and has no lack of brains
And will no doubt do his duty as long as he reigns.

Then comes Mr. John Sherin, who has gained great renown
For improvements in sidewalks in parts of the town,
A merchant of we alth with a handsome brick store,
And good to make bargains, what would you want more?

Mr. Hull, a good miller as any you'll find,
For plenty of money he makes his mill grind,
He believes in the Globe and adores Geordie Brown,
A Reformer he's been since the time he was born.

R. A. Strickland, the son of an old pioneer,
Whose memory all of us hold very dear;
He's long-headed and shrewd and in every way fit
To make a good councillor and at their board sit.

Last, gut not least, there's Councillor Shields,
A living he gets with his hammer he wields;
A blacksmith he is and that's his vocation,
But at all times he's ready to give an oration.

What offices now were booked up by many,
But numbers of applicants did not get any;
For their worships picked out from a goodly selection
The men who did most for them at their election.

First comes Mr. Saunders, a bee from the hive,
Who sells tea, sugar, cotton and catch them alive;
And now he's promoted to the office of clerk
For canvassing hard from daylight till dark.

G. Galvin and Gordon assessors are made,
Fifteen dollars apiece I hear they were paid;
For the last one's appointed to keep a sharp eye
On the first mentioned gentleman, who is known to be sly.

E. Beatty, so modest, never asked for a place,
And surely thought he was left out in the race;
But their honors so good his heart they did cheer
By appointing him auditor at $2 per year.

George McIlmoyl, bailiff and auctioneer, too,
Who will always be happy to wait upon you;
As collector of taxes he was very fit,
And if you don't pay will serve you a writ.

Samuel Sherin, the treasurer, I nearly forgot,
The man most important of all the said lot;
For he keeps all the money in a small vault of brick,
And cash are his terms, for he never gives tick.

Clerk of division court on his office you read,
And a license to marry he'll grant when you need;
Deeds he draws out in correct and neat style,
Then pockets his fees and bows you out with a smile.

Now, gentlemen, all my song's at an end,
And if any of you have a quarter to spend
Just hand it out to our satisfaction
And we'll drink to the health of our new corporation.

PICOBAC AND A PIPE OF PEACE!

"I've smoked all kinds of pipes and all kinds of tobacco, in my time. But now I'm settled down. I know what I want. I stick to Picobac.

"You see, Picobac is a Burley tobacco, and once you get the taste for Burley, nothing else gives you the same peace and satisfaction.

"But mind you, Picobac is no ordinary Burley. Picobac is an improved Burley, grown from improved seed, on special soil, and cultivated according to up-to-date ideas. Picobac's the pick of Canada's Burley crop, grown in sunny southern Ontario.

"If you want to feel peaceful and good-natured after supper tonight just buy Picobac and settle down for a mild . . . cool . . . sweet smoke.

"And don't forget, you get more tobacco for your money. Good for making cigarettes, too."

MANDIS TROUPE FOR 18 YEARS TOURED WORLD

Show Business Has Ups and Downs—Now on Terrific Toboggan Slide.

STARRED WITH RINGLING.

Show business has its ups and downs, and just now it's on a terrific toboggan slide, according to Joe Mandis, head man of the Joe Mandis' troupe, world famous gymnasts and acrobats, one of the headline acts on the big grandstand show at the Exhibition.

For 18 years Mr. Mandis has had his troupe of acrobats, and during that time he has performed in all the chief cities of Europe, America, Australia and South Africa. He and his troupe five years ago were stars with the great Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, and since then the group have performed their hilarious act of gymnastics and side-splitting comedy on R.K.O., Loew's and Pantages' circuits in every large theatre throughout the States and Canada.

From the Peterborough Exhibition this skilled troupe go to the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto. The troupe is known and respected throughout the show world, and their act is termed a "natural."

One Female Member.

After talking about this and that with members of the troupe yesterday at the Exhibition Grounds, The Examiner asked questions about financial conditions in show business. It was Mrs. Mandis, only female member of the troupe, who revealed something of the problems facing those whose make their living by entertaining the public. Mrs. Mandis is a dainty, little blonde. Born in Stockholm, Sweden, she speaks with an entrancing accent.

Talkies, radio and the depression are wholly to blame for the difficulties that are making it so hard for entertainers, Mrs. Mandis believes. "We felt the difference first when we returned from England four years ago," she said. "Since then it has been gradually getting worse. Everyone has been affected.

"Previously acts could get straight bookings for 35 or 40 weeks, but now such a thing is unheard of. Why, recently we went clear across the continent, 3,000 miles, to San Francisco for one week's engagement. Then we travelled up to Seattle for another single week. Some consider themselves lucky when they get single day engagements.

Engagements Far Apart.

"Nothing is more interesting than show business when one is working, but it's the weeks between engagements that makes it all such a problem. The troupe must stay together and keep working to maintain their skill in doing the act."

Still with all its present difficulties, Mrs. Mandis confessed that she and her husband had never considered leaving the show world and entering some other occupation. "It's the only thing we know and we like it," she said.

The Mandis troupe, besides Mr. and Mrs. Joe, includes Otto Drerler, an original member, and Jimmy Theistle, aged 23, of Boston, who joined the group three years ago.

"I like Canada very much," Mrs. Mandis said. "The people are so nice and kind. And it reminds me of Sweden, the air is so fresh and invigorating."

BERLIN, — Adolf Hitler to-day took cognizance of the one-out-of-ten votes opposition in yesterday's plebiscite with the declaration: "We must and shall succeed in winning over the last 10 percent of the nation for national socialism."

JUNIOR FARMERS SET NEW RECORD

Cricket "Ashes" Return to Australia

To-day

Short News Items Received By Examiner Over Direct C. P. Wire.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—(A P)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor today endorsed the proposed general strike in the textile industry and pledged the full co-operation of his organization.

--:--

FORT ERIE—Barbara Ortenzi has another 60 days in which to find a job which United States immigration authorities think is "steady" before Canada deports his wife and two sons to Italy, U. S. officials announced today.

If he gets the job he gets his wife and Dillo and Dario back. If he doesn't, the mother and twins may be sent to Italy, although they do not even speak Italian.

--:--

MONTREAL—Kidnapping of John Labatt, London, Ont., brewer, had repercussions in Montreal today with reports that police had arrested several men on suspicion that they were connected with the kidnapping. Police here said they knew nothing of the reported arrests.

--:--

VICTORIA—The recent claim that Victoria constitutes a free port area under a pre-confederation order-in-council of the Imperial government is not upheld in a report made to the city council today by the city solicitor, H. S. Pringle.

--:--

HAMILTON — The Waterdown ghost has been seen by the police. He is no apparition, and his apprehension is expected within the next few days, providing residents of the village co-operate with the officers in bringing about his capture.

--:--

GENEVA. — Reports from the old and new worlds of the success of a trade boycott against Germany cheered delegates to the Third World Jewish Conference to-day. Members from Great Britain, France, United States, Belgium, and Poland, among others, said the fight against Nazi anti-Semitism was successful in their countries. Many Gentile were reported to have joined the boycott.

--:--

BROCKVILLE.—The village of Mallorytown lays claim to a record for the largest family in the shortest period of time by single births. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hodge, of that place, have a family of seven girls and one boy, all living, and the eldest of the family has yet to celebrate her eighth birthday.

--:--

PHOENIX, Ariz.—The United States Government took steps to-day to prevent possible violence against nearly 1,000 Japanese ordered by white farmers "to get out and stay out" of the fertile Salt River Valley.

Governor B. B. Moeur was asked by the State Department to prevent happenings "which would create difficulties in the relations between the United States and Japan."

--:--

SAULT STE. MARIE.—Two 13-year-old boys are ready to claim the fishing championship of Algoma. They are Bill Curran and Edwin Elliott of this city who caught a 23-inch pike after a long struggle.

The boys landed the fish in a boat on the St. Mary's River while trolling with a casting rod. The fish knocked both of them to the bottom of the boat, dumping Elliott into the bow and Curran into the sterm.

--:--

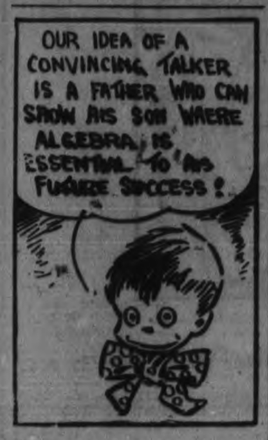
KITCHENER.—Mayor Sturms' campaign against starlings got off to a start last night when a gang of riflemen under Police Chief Hodgson opened fire on thousands of them as they were roosting on Weber street. For an hour traffic had to be diverted to other streets and crowds stood watching the riflemen as they routed the birds from vantage points on neighboring roofs.

The night's battled netted about 200 dead birds out of thousands, and Mayor Sturms said to-day the experiment was not a success. Some other method will have to be used, he said.

--:--

TORONTO.—Three hundred members of the Furniture and Woodworkers' Industrial Union, affiliated with the Workers' Unity League, to-day walked out on strike.

The strike, affecting 15 Toronto shops, was called to enforce the renewal of the agreement between the manufacturers and union which expires to-day. Two firms have signed the new agreement, which calls for a 40-hour week, 25 per cent increase in wages, and two per cent contribution by employers to an unemployment fund.



YOUNG FARMERS OF SIX COUNTIES ENTER CONTESTS

189 Entrants, the Largest Entry in History of Exhibition, Compete.

ORGANIZED 5 YEARS.

Winners Will be Announced at Banquet Given by Canada Packers.

The young men and women comprising the Junior Farmer group, held the spotlight in the whirl of Exhibition activities throughout today. There were a total of 189 entrants representative of Peterborough, Victoria, Durham, Hastings, Northumberland and Ontario counties, setting an all time record for size and efficiency.

Organized Five Year

Organized about five years ago with a combined entry list of some sixty young men and women, the Junior Farmer Section widely recognized as one of the most educational features of the big annual Fair, has steadily progressed in size, so that today it is being regarded as being a firmly established institution.

The various judging and showmanship competitions, virtually constitute the culmination of an instructive and interesing program of junior farmer activities conducted the year round by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. The general high pitch of enthusiasm displayed by the young contestants in this section, augers well for the welfare of the agricultural industry, and carries with it the assurance that the same spark of enthusiasm that fired the ambitions of those who laid the foundations on which Peterborough Industrial Exhibition is so well established, will not be permitted to sputter out and die. Rather is the Junior Farmer Division an activity, which is designed to fan the spark into brilliant flame.

HUNTING FLIER AMONG FJORDS

Grierson on Way to Greenland and Canada Wirelesses Plane Forced Down.

FOOD FOR 10 DAYS.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 22 (C.P. Cable).—John Grierson, British fliers lost on a flight from England to Canada by stages over the northern route, was found by searchers to-day after an absence of less than 24 hours, and a few hours later arrived at Angmagsalik.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 22 (C.P. Cable via Reuter's).—Vessels to-day were searching the coast of Iceland and Greenland for John Grierson, British aviator, forced down in a fjord three miles from the ocean while attempting a flight from England to Canada by stages.

Grierson set out from Reykjavik yesterday for Greenland, and it was uncertain from his message asking help, received on a trawler's wireless, whether he was down in Iceland or Greenland, but the latter was believed most likely. He said he had enough food for 10 days.

Four Danish vessels, including two warships, and land parties in Greenland are carrying out the search for the hard-luck aviator, who so far has crashed twice and has now been lost on his ambitious venture to fly from England to Ottawa in a light plane over the northern route.

His present flight ended in a crack-up at Reykjavik, where he left his plane for some weeks while he returned to England for parts necessary to enable him to get away again yesterday for Greenland. A previous attempt last year also ended in a smash here.

Combing Coast.

The sloops Ingolf and Hvidbjoernen and the vessels Gertrude Rask and Gustavholm are making the coastal search, the ships belonging to the largest Danish expedition in Greenland this year. They will concentrate on the eastern Greenland coast.

The Greenland administration has instructed the inspector of the Angmagsalik district, where Grier-

Attendance at "Ex"

The Exhibition got off to a great start yesterday, a new all-time record for first day's attendance being set. The turnstiles were clicking busily throughout the afternoon and evening, 6,799 being the official attendance figures for the day. The total attending the two grandstand performances was 3,965.

With such a great start Exhibition Board directors are hopeful of good weather. "With good weather we feel confident that new attendance figures for the fair will be set" a director said.

The great grandstand performance "sold" itself solidly to the public yesterday. "The greatest show we have ever had," was the unanimous opinion expressed by those who witnessed the two-hour program.

POWER BARGAINS ALL CAREFULLY INVESTIGATED

Straight Business Transactions Says Tilley as Probe Continues.

LOW RATE TO AID COUNTRY.

TORONTO, Aug. 22.— (C.P.) — Straight business transactions, entered after careful investigation, full negotiations and hard bargaining was the way W. N. Tilley, K.C., counsel for members of the former Conservative government, described the series of power contracts between the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission and the Hudson Bay Power Company.

Mr. Tilley was continuing his argument before the Royal Commission probing the "Abitibi deal" by which Hydro and the government acquired the Abitibi canyon power plant for the Ontario Power Service Commission, successor to the Hudson Bay Power Company.

While it might be said the Hydro Commission over-estimated the future demands for power in Northern Ontario, Mr. Tilley contended their judgment was based on facts at the time and that the contract for the purchase of 100,000 horse power from the Abitibi at $13 per horse power was surrounded with every possible safeguard.

It was true the contract assisted the company in its financing and was advertised as an inducement to investors to buy Ontario Power Service Corporation bonds, he said. But the obtaining of cheap financing was a necessary preliminary to obtaining cheap power and Hydro would have been recreant in its duty if it had not co-operated with the

MacDonald Cruises On Labrador Coast

CARTWRIGHT, Labrador, Aug. 22.—(C. P. Cable)—H. M. S. Scarborough was ready to steer a course northward through Labrador coastal waters today and carry Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain to the far outposts of Hopedale.

Cooling Arctic breezes wafted over the British cruiser's deck as the leader of the National government strolled about, read, talked with officers and rested. Already bronzed by his summer vacation in Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, he was finding the Northern climate invigorating and bracing.

Yesterday he and his daughter Ishbel landed at this port and were greeted by a brilliant display of colored bunting and fluttering Union Jacks. The citizens turned out almost to a man to catch a first glimpse of the world dignatory. The Prime Minister was delighted with the reception.

Your Evening Smile

THAT'S TOO STRONG

These are times when a body has to think big. Like our favorite political philosopher, the late Uncle Joe Cannon. Uncle Joe was telling Chauncey M. Depew about a fish he had almost caught.

"I was sittin' with whales," answered Uncle Joe.

MARGIN OF 563 GIVES AUSSIES EASY TRIUMPH

20,000 Cricket Fans Stunned as English Team Collapses in Final Innings.

53RD WIN OF SERIES.

England's Fastest Bowlers Not on Team Due to Criticism of Selections.

THE OVAL, London, Aug. 22. — (C. P. Cable) — The Australians won the fifth and decisive test cricket match against England today by the staggering margin of 563 runs.

The massive total the Australians were enabled to run up in their first innings on a perfect wicket coupled with injuries that handicapped the Englishmen, left the issue rarely in doubt at any time, despite occasional rallies.

The scores

Australia 701 and 327; England 321 and 145.

England's bowlers raised some hopes for the home supporters today when they made short shrift of the remaining Australian batsmen, but England took the wickets for their second innings needing 381 runs to avoid defeat.

Spectators Stunned

Impossible as this task seemed, the collapse of the English team was nevertheless stunning to the crowd of 20,000. Two wickets fell for only three runs; the remaining eight went for 142 runs. After the teatime interval, when 65 runs showed for three wickets, batsmen left the field in one continuous procession, the Australians mopping up the remainder in approximately one hour.

What should have proved the greatest cricket match between the two countries in more than 60 years left a dissatisfied feeling among English cricketers altogether regardless of the fact the Australians won.

Team Criticized

Fielding a team strongly criticized as not representative inasmuch as some of England's fastest bowlers were not on it, England was further cut down by injuries. The Aussies had to retire only

11 P.M. CLOSING PLAN OF HOTELS

By Mutual Agreement Hotels Will Close Beverage Rooms at 11 p.m.

10 ON SATURDAY.

By mutual agreement, and on their own initiative, the proprietors of Peterborough's eight hotels have decided to adopt earlier closing hours for their beverage rooms.

Beginning on Saturday, Aug. 25, the beverage rooms will lock their doors at 10 p.m. instead of midnight, as allowed by the provincial law, and the earlier closing will be continued at that hour on all subsequent Saturdays.

On the other days of the week the beverage rooms will shut the doors at 11 p.m., an hour earlier than is permitted by the Act.

The signatories of the agreement are: Empress Hotel, Grand Hotel, King's Hotel, Montgomery House, American Hotel, Montreal House, Windsor Hotel and White House.

As previously announced by the management the White House has not put in a beverage room, but is in accord with the agreement.

One of the hotelmen informed The Examiner to-day that they had notified E. G. O'Dette, Liquor Control Commissioner, and had received his approval of their action, and that similar notice had been sent to the Hotelmen's Association.

It is understood, that the local hotelmen wished to co-operate with pronounced public sentiment that the late closing of the beverage rooms at midnight should be revised. Their action has been entirely voluntary, and the agreement that was approved by the proprietors on Monday takes effect on Saturday night. Posters have been prepared announcing the change.

African Craving Wisdom, Power Riches Writes Milwaukee Firm For Full Course

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 22.—(A. P.)—Simeon Uzebu Omorodion wants to know how to win sweepstakes "very quickly."

He would also appreciate if the Milwaukee Company, which deals in investments, would advise him at his Benian city, Nigaria, Africa, home, how to be cleverer than his friends, how to be lucky, have happiness with children and live to a ripe old age.

But above all he does not want to be envied or hated. He must be "beloved by all."

His letter, received by the company yesterday, reads as follows:

"Sir: I heard to-day something very interesting that will be able to fulfill my wishes. I wish you to train me up in education, for I want to be one of the well educated creatures in the 20th century.

"If you wish to assist me send your catalogue and forms to me and trustworthy friends.

"The below headings are just what I want:

"1. I want to be cleverer than all my friends and to top any class I am.

"3. I wish to be very lucky and to be well beloved by all souls.

"3. I wish to arrive at a great old age, happiness and prosperity with children."

"4. To be able to pay very quick. I want to succeed in all undertakings as sweepstake, raffle and competition of any kind.

"I will be very thankful to pay for the cost.

"I have the honor to be, sir, your most obedient servant.

"Simeon Uzebru Omorodion."

GUELPH STRIKE RIOT RENEWED SIX ARRESTED

Many Employes Remain in Cloak Company Factory All Night.

PICKETS FROM TORONTO.

Workers Braving Line-up Are Stoned on Way to Morning Jobs.

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 22 (C.P.).—Six men were arrested to-day as violence broke out again in the city's garment workers' strike. The arrests followed stoning of automobiles in which employees were being taken to the factory operated jointly by the Popular and Superior Cloak Companies.

The atmosphere, which reached considerable heat yesterday, remained tense throughout the night. Some employees remained within the factory all night. Those who went home had to return to work to-day through a picket line. None was hurt by the shower of stones thrown at the cars.

Reports were current eight truckloads of strike sympathizers had arrived from Toronto and that others were en route here. Strikers claimed the men they sought to stop entering the plant were strike-breakers.

Special police were placed on duty around the plant. Some of them were engaged by the city, the others by the cloak firms.

Arrest of the six men brought to nine the total seized by police since rioting yesterday in which two men were injured seriously. A summons is out for the appearance of a third man alleged to have fired a pistol.

Roof On Hospital For Quintuplets

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 22 (CP).—Workmen to-day finished the foundation, walls and roof of the Dafoe hospital which will house the world famous Dionne quintuplet girls this fall and winter. Thirteen men rushed work on the remainder of the structure, seeking to complete it before chill weather affects the temperature of the babies' present abode.

Log cabin siding has been applied to the south side of the otherwise modern building and pipe lines are being laid.

Scraps of wood and stone were speedily carried away as souvenirs by many daily visitors to the birthplace of the famous children who have made medical history by living for 86 days. Many of them prefer pieces of the material used in construction of the hospital to the picture post-cards sold by Oliver Dionne, aged grandfather and one of the guardians of the children.

Tourists from many remote parts of Canada and the United States arrive daily to take photographs of the home of Olivia Dionne, father of the five amazing girls, who is never himself in evidence.

The father, despite his 87 years, is the business man of the establishment. Oliva is insurably camera shy.

THAMESVILLE, Ont.—Two coaches of a Canadian Pacific Railway train were derailed near here today. First reports said no one was injured. Details of the derailment were lacking.

Thursday at "Ex"

Tuesday's crowds at the Exhibition unanimously voted the Grandstand program the smoothest and most entertaining every presented by the management.

Wednesday's program includes the heats of the first card of horse races in the 2.27 and 2.15 classes. Some of the best harness horses in the province are stabled at the Exhibition Park. The cards will be well filled, and the track enthusiasts should have an interesting afternoon.

The vaudeville program, which interpolates specialties by members of the Winter Garden Revue, was announced to-day as follows:

The Five Knights.
The Bebney Girls.
Palmer's Animal Circus.
Joe Mandi's Troupe in hilarious gymnastics.
Tiny Sutton.
The Six Buccaneers, thrilling acrobats.
Art Petley and Company.
Henry Cogert will again be Master of Ceremonies.

Evening.

The evening program moves fast through two hours of variety entertainment, with the Winter Garden Revue in the headline spot.

Arthur Petley and Company.
Palmer's Animal Circus.
Winter Garden Revue, featuring Russ Freil and Ginger Dunn.
Cogert and Mott, radio and recording artists.
Five Knights.
Winter Garden Revue—"Jungle Rythm" featuring Tiny Sutton.
Cogert and Motto in original impressions of Mahatma Gandhi.
Mandi Troupe.
Winter Garden Revue—"Honeymoon Hotel."

Root Crops Burned Out At Fort Erie

FORT ERIE, Aug. 22 (C.P.). — Farmers in adjacent rural districts of Fort Erie now engaged in threshing operations say the area will face an unprecedented shortage of root crops, such as beans, mangles, turnips and potatoes. Corn has been burned out in the long drought and on most farms did not form ears.

There will be insufficient potatoes for farmers' consumption this winter, and it is predicted hay will reach $20 per ton, due to short crop.

Many farmers are engaged in public works, due to short harvesting period, to meet tax bills. There are two rays of sunshine, hopever. oats and wheat, which are threshing twenty bushels to the acre. Farmers say these are the only two crops to survive the aridity.

OTTAWA.—Members of the "Maple Leaf Trans-Canada Tour," including some 62 British foodstuffs importers were welcomed officially in the Capital to-day. At the entrance to the Parliament Buildings, they were greeted by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals. With each of the trade touring party, he shook hands and expressed pleasure at their interest in Canada.

Novelty and Change Are the Keynote of Two-hour Program.

WINTER GARDEN REVUE.

There is Not a Dull Moment From Beginning to End of Show.

Pep, vim, variety, speed, skill—and all the zippy words come into mind when describing the grandstand performance at the Exhibition this year.

Novelty and change are the keywords for amusement of modern type. You get them both in the parade of skilful performers, graceful dancers, high-powered gymnasts that come and go for two hours of solid enjoyment, and entertainment plus.

Well over two thousand people enjoyed the performance last night, and their applause was insistent and lengthy, for every number. They encored alike the indefatigable little Shetland pony, the super-skillful acrobats and tumblers, and the graceful, pretty chorines in George A. Hamid's Mammoth Outdoor Extravaganza that featured Catherine Behney's Winter Garden Revue.

Miss Behney was present in person last night, to look after all details and beat time with a musical foot to the playing by the band of the Peterborough Rangers, doing plenty of work in accompanying the various acts and also playing a fine overture before the commencement of the performance. She got a hand from the audience, when the Master of Ceremonies, Henry Cogert, introduced her as the power behind the throne.

Very different is the program of this year. There are no flaming personages diving into tanks, there is no Musical Ride, and no trick elephant or rope-throwing cowboys. But variety is always the spice of life. You get a cosmopolitan flavor to your entertainment this season, and you get some fast-moving musical effects that have been utterly foreign to the grandstand performance in years past. There isn't a dull moment from the beginning to the end. And

HAY SHORTAGE BECOMES ACUTE IN 5 PROVINCES

Farmers Look on Depleted Feed and Gradually Thinning Cattle.

N.S. NEEDS SUPPLY.

(By The Canadian Press)

Farmers in five Canadian provinces looked with alarm to-day upon parched and stunted hay fields, depleted feed stores and gradually thinning cattle.

The hay shortage in the Prairie Provinces has reached a critical stage according to semi-official estimates; in the farmlands bordering the Northumberland Strait in Nova Scotia a serious shortage loomed imminent, and Ontario foresaw similar difficulties.

A shortage in the United States, which indicated that cattle feed might be allowed into that country from the Dominion duty-free, furthem complicated matters. It appeared doubtful whether Canada would have enough to take care of its own cattle.

Government officials in Ottawa were reported to be preparing to deal with the crisis, perhaps to stabilize the price of hay and other feed grasses. It was considered improbable that emaciated cattle would be slaughtered for relief distribution in order to give healthier animals a better chance.

The Outlook

Semi-official estimates placed the situation in the five provinces as follows:

Saskatchewan—The province will require 27,000 tons of hay from other provinces in excess of its own distribution to drought areas. There is an estimated surplus of 100,000 cattle needing feed.

Alberta—Number of head of cattle in drought areas was placed at 60,000. Nothing has been done by the government to definitely estimate the cattle surplus but negotiations are going forward with the federal government to arrange relief for them.

Manitoba—Twenty thousand head

N.Y. Relief Lotteries To Net $12,000,000

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (A.P.). — Four lotteries a year—a corporation picking officers by lot for fabulous three-month salaries—are planned by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia and city lawmakers to provide unemployment relief.

Allowing 40 per cent. of the receipts for salaries, or prizes, backers of the plan estimate that it will net $12,000,000 a year to meet the relief emergency.

Thirty-five million dollars more is expected from a business gross receipts tax of one-half of one per cent., 10 times the tax now in effect.

James J. Lyons, Bronx Borough president, drafted the lottery plan to skirt the state law against lotteries. Shares in the relief corporation would be sold for $2 to $2.50 each, and officers would be chosen from among the shareholders at public drawings.

Democratic and Fusion (Laguardia) leaders have given it their support.

QUEBEC FARMER IS FOUND SLAIN MONEY MISSING

Was Carrying Large Sum to Pay Insurance Premium in St. Camille.

HORSE IS TURNED LOOSE

SOUTH HAM, Que., Aug. 22.—(C.P.)—A blood-stained blanket for a shroud, Saul Gregoire, 55 year old eastern township farmer, was today found beaten to death in a field skirting the highway between South Ham and St. Camille. Gregoire had been missing since he left here Sunday night with a large sum of money to pay an insurance premium in St. Camille. His money was missing when searchers came upon his battered body to-day.

Provincial Detectives A. W. Morrow and Auguste Guyon, who rushed here to make an investigation, believe the crime was committed by someone who knew the middle-aged farmer and was aware of the nature of his journey to St. Camille. Gregoire's horse and buggy were found along the highway, the horse unhitched and calmly cropping grass at the roadside. The buggy was on a slight slope at the side of the road, stones wedged under the wheels to keep it from rolling away.

Gregoire lived on his farm with a partner, who raised the alarm and started a search last evening when Gregoire failed to return from St. Camille. Searchers found the horse and buggy as darkness fell. Nearby was the farmer's blood-stained jacket. Darkness forced the abandonment of the search till to-day when Gregoire's body, hidden under a blanket, was found among the tall grass in the field. His head had been battered in with a club.

Smuggler Is Slain On Montreal Street

CROWN WITNESS PUT OUT OF WAY BY 2 GANGSTERS

Victim on Parole, One Underworld Leader, is Shot in Front of Son.

STRUCK 6 TIMES.

Was to be Main Witness in Coming Trial of Millionaire N. York Drug Suspect.

MONTREAL, Aug. 22.—(CP)—Detectives of the homicide squad seized six men in a raid on a small hotel early today and rushed them to headquarters for questioning in connection with the shooting of Charles Feigenbaum yesterday.

MONTREAL, Aug. 22.—(CP) — Fears United States gangsters were seeking a haven in Montreal today caused police to intensify their efforts to bring to justice the two killers of Charles Feigenbaum, convicted smuggler out on parole.

The second man to be blasted to his death here by gang methods within two weeks, Feigenbaum was riddled with bullets as he stepped from his car to enter his brother's apartment in the north end of the city late yesterday. Two men parked in a car nearby stepped out as Feigenbaum turned to take some parcels from his 16-year-old son, Jack, seated in the car, and poured a fusilade of bullets into his body.

Before the horrified eyes of his son and several bystanders, Feigenbaum slumped to the sidewalk, blood pouring from six wounds, and rolled into the gutter dead while the killers sped away in their car. One bullet had pierced his heart.

Eight days ago Alexander Souligkoff, Russian Court interpreter, was murdered in similar fashion when three men jumped on the running board of his car and killed him.

No sign of the killers has been found by police and while detectives declined to connect the two slayings, similarity of the methods used by the killers was noted. Feigenbaum was a prominent figure in several smuggling trials in Montreal during the past two years. It was he who turned King's evidence in a recent drug-smuggling

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (C.P.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Beeve, blonde and pretty, found in her husband's pocket a notation to "see Ruth."

That, husband John casually explained, was merely a reminder to see Babe Ruth play baseball. A little later the telephone rang and Mrs. Beeve answered.

"This is Ruth," said a sweet, feminine voice—and asked for Beeve.

Mrs. Beeve asked for a divorce.

PAGANISM GAINS FRESH IMPETUS

Nazi Form New Group Titled "Nordic Faith Movement."

CIRCULATE PAMPHLETS.

(By Walter B. Brockmann, Associated Press Foreign Staff)

BERLIN, Aug. 22 (AP)—Fresh evidence of the advance of Paganism against established religion under the Nazi regime was provided to-day by the founding of the second pagan body this year.

The new group, called "The Nordic Faith Movement," is without "hopes for the beyond" and holds there is no "need for redemption."

The growth of the movement against the established church was strikingly illustrated in The Neue Oksblaetter of Westphalia, which enumerates those periodicals, mostly weeklies, which can be described as anti-Christian in the sense that they show "no understanding of the doctrines of Christianity as hitherto interpreted, or take up an attitude of hostility to the church ranging from cold disdain to frank enmity."

Papers of this description, it was said, are continually increasing in numbers and their circulation runs into many tens of thousands.

Notable among them is a weekly published by Frau Matilde Ludendorff, the wife of General Eric Ludendorff, with a circulation of 36,740.

The periodical last year attacked the Old Testament as "full of peril to the German state."

Freak Animal Show Back On Midway

Dion Animal Collection One of Major Attractions of Midway.

The Dion Freak Animal Show, which makes a return visit to the Midway this year, is meeting with just as much popularity from the Exhibition visitors as ever. Attraction of the novel and unusual, whether it be in the animal world or any other sphere, seldom palls.

Mr. and Mrs. Dion, who are the co-proprietors of this popular sideshow, learned that big truth when they first started into the show business many years ago. The former now a showman of thirty years' standing, has travelled the whole of Canada and the States, besides Mexico and other South American countries, with his collection of freak animals.

Both he and his wife hail from St. John, Quebec, where Mr. Dion originally started with a freak calf. Since then he has been gradually adding to the collection until it now boasts one of the largest exhibits of freak animals in the show game today.

A feature of the show is an "eight legged horse." The term "eight-legged" is something of a misnomer. In reality the animal, now 4 years old, has eight hoofs.

Other freaks include "Tom Thumb", a pony reputed to be the smallest in the show world. Born in Russia the animal weighs a mere 160 pounds. Then there is "Buster" the five-legged sheep; and a there-legged rooster.

Besides freak animals the Dion collection includes a number of normal animals, not the least interesting of which is a family of green monkeys from South America, and another group of Rhesus monkeys from South Africa; also a Husky dog, native of Canada's northlands.

Chained to a stake in the show tent was a 30-year-old monkey, described as the "bad actor" of the animal group. The monkey is hostile to anyone but Mr. and Mrs. Dion. In contrast there is a chummy little black spider monkey, who is so friendly, that were it not for the fact that he also is chained up, would be running from one to the other of the quarters occupied by the midway folk, to beg scraps of food, with dire results to his digestive tract.

The Dion animal collection can be recommended as one of the major attractions on a very well equipped and interesting midway.

Peanut growers in Argentina have asked the Government to establish a minimum price level for the present crop.

HELD FOR MURDER

TORONTO, Aug. 22 (CP)—William Hanichuck was in custody here to-day, charged with murdering Mike Salesky, janitor, whose body was found in the basement of a Toronto building. The charge was laid last night.

Hanichuck, who was already under arrest on a charge of vagrancy, was remanded until Aug. 29 by Magistrate Browne. No official explanation was given for the new charge.

Hot Enough

MACON, Ga., Aug. 22 (C.P.)—Two baby chicks chirped brightly to-day in Macon's temporary city hall—hatched in the office of tax assessor Ike Dunwody without the aid of mother hen or artificial heat.

Employes of the city some time ago moved to a temporary city hall when a new building was started. Dunwody told his friends the place was hot enough to hatch an egg.

They raised their eye-brows and laughed politely.

Dunwody put two eggs in a box in his office three weeks ago—and now is displaying the chicks hatched there. The average mean temperature here since July 19, was 83.1 degrees.

Even After Death

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 22 (C.P.)—Although its head had been cut off by Thomas Swillie, a four-foot snake bit him on the arm anyway in a queer accident here.

Swillie struck the snake with a sharp-edged rod as it coiled, severing its head. The head bounded toward him and the fangs sunk into his arm. Swillie was given anti-venom serum and is recovering from the poison.

NO SHORTAGE OF TROTTERS

Outstanding Harness Horses in Province Here for Exhibition Races.

$1,200 IN PURSES.

A number of the outstanding harness horses in Ontario are in Peterborough at present for the three-day Exhibition meet, starting Thursday, while others will arrive within the next two days. The Ottawa Fair Board has complained that many good horses were entered here and will not take part at the Ottawa meet this week. Some of these that do—and at the Oshawa one, also—will come here later.

The twelve hundred dollars in purses have proven a big attraction to these racers, and this is the reason why so many will arrive in fine condition, instead of at the tail-end of a season's racing as in other years. It should mean big fields in fine races, with the best trotters and pacers in the Province fighting it out for the money prizes. Art Blade, popular and colorful starter—now living in Ottawa—has returned for this meet and will do the starting. He passed up his job at the Ottawa Fair to do his stuff in the old home town.

Tomorrow (Thursday) sees the 2.27 and the 2.16 classes run off. They will start at two o'clock, and a huge crowd is expected. Purses of two hundred dollars for each race will be put up. Friday, the 2.22 and the 2.18 races are listed; and Saturday, the 2.18 and the free-for-all. The horses and owners in town now include:

A. S. Turner's Lee Note of Hamilton; Peter Merriman, owned by James Williamson of Toronto; Bedford Grattan is one of the Goderich owner, Sidd Litt's, string, which also includes Grattan Patch, Texas Grattan Boy, and General Brewer; Lou Bennett of Port Hope has Ginger Grattan, Philco, Guy Etawah and Walter Stone; and Catharine Grattan has been brought here by W. Orr of Belleville; the Hodgson brothers of Lindsay will enter Grattan Mack and Annie Patch; Kennie Grattan and Molly L will carry the colors of Felix Turcotte of Mattawa.

James McTavish is all the way from New Liskeard with Peter Shuff; and Charles Pogue of Port Colborne is entering Limber Jim; J. Tindal of Leamington entered Donald Grattan; and from the stables of James Wellwood in Merlin are Star Peter, Guy Painter, Joe Patch, Ruth Grattan and The Heins. Vernon McKinnie, Jr., owned by W. Hillcock of Belleville; Beth Peters, by Dr. Hopkins of Cooksville; and Tillie the Great by P. Dunsford of Peterborough are others; another local man in there is W. Sharen with Peter W and Mary Direct; George Caldwell of Port Hope has Richard Hall here; and C. Franklin of Roseneath has entered Riodale.

Stevens Urges Roads Into Scenic Spots

CRESTON, B.C., Aug. 22.—(CP)—A get together of federal and provincial highway authorities to see what can be done to provide suitable highways so that visitors may enjoy the scenic beauties of Canadian parks and the great outdoors was suggested in an address here by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce. He emphasized the large investment Canada has in her parks and the variety of scenic beauties abounding in the various provinces.

Mr. Stevens touched briefly on the work of the parliamentary committee on price spreads and mass buying. He referred especially to forcing down of prices on dressed turkey prior to the 1933 Christmas season and similar practices in connection with tomato production.

The minister went to Cranbrook today. Later he will visit Fernie.

Obituary

MICHAEL FRANCIS COSTELLO

Michael Francis Costello, brother of Rev. Father Costello, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, died last night. The late Mr. Costello was ill for some months. He at one time taught school in Ennismore. He was appointed by the late Hon. J. R. Stratton to the civil service in the year 1900, in which position he labored until a few months ago.

The funeral will leave from the residence of Joseph Costello, Ennismore, at 9.30 Thursday, to St. Martin's Church and cemetery.

ARRESTS NEAR IN LABATT CASE

Expected Before End of Week —Police Believed to Have Found Hideout.

VICTIM IS PHOTOGRAPHED.

LONDON, Ont., Aug 22 (C.P.)—Search of police for John S. Labatt's kidnappers continued to-day with rumors persisting arrests will be made before the end of this week. With arrest rumors came reports police had actually been in the hideout where the wealthy London, Ont., brewer was held prisoner only a few hours after he was released in Toronto for ransom estimated at $50,000.

Labatt was released early Friday and police were said to have entered the hideout shortly after to find the abductors had disappeared but official circles refused to divulge any information whatever on this latest rumor.

One of the gang police are seeking is described as a native of London and acted as one of the spotters who announced to his companions when to kidnap the brewer who disappeared while driving from his Sarnia beach home to London last Tuesday morning.

For the first time since he was released John Labatt made a public appearance yesterday with his brother Hugh, both apparently recovered from nervous exhaustion. Labatt suffered from his ordeal while in kidnappers hands while his brother Hugh spent sleepless days and nights seeking to gain release of the victim.

A battery of cameras took pictures of the Labatt brothers as they stood in a room on the ground floor of Hugh's apartment home. Newspapermen had promised to ask no questions and John Labatt explained he was unable to divulge any information except to the Attorney-General.

Police continued their mysterious movements, refusing to answer newspapermen's questions. Three officers led newspapermen a wild chase when they sped away from their hotel in an auto and outdistanced cars that followed while they headed north. Apparently the officers journeyed for only a few blocks as they were back in the hotel in a few minutes.

Leading police officers of the province continued to make London their headquarters and after a busy afternoon seemed to be in cheerful moods.

Stranded Supplies Tie Up Mine Camps

EDMONTON, Aug. 22. (CP).—Mining camps in the Great Bear Lake area have practically ceased operations due to lack of fuel oil gasoline, dynamite and other mining supplies stranded on the west shore of Great Bear Lake, declared J. D. Nicholson, who returned to Edmonton to-day after 14 months in the Northern mining field.

"When we took off from Cameron Bay Monday no supply boats had come across the lake this year," the ex-R.C.M.P. officer and mining man said.

"The word reaching Cameron Bay is that the Hudson's Bay Company's steam tug, Hearn Lake, has grounded on the Bear Rapids and broken up, preventing other craft from coming up the river," he continued.

The greatest shortage is in gasoline but the men are longing for a change of food which is coming in on the boats, Mr. Nicholson added. They are living on the plainest diet now and while they have plenty of caribou are becoming tired of the same food.

J. J. BRETHOUR STEALS THE SHOW IN CHEESE MAKERS' COMPETITION

Warsaw Factory Takes First Prize for June and July Cheese.

LARGE ENTRY LIST.

J. J. Brethour, cheesemaker at Warsaw factory, virtually monopolized the limelight and the prizes in the cheese section of the enlarged Dairy Products department of the Peterborough Exhibition this week.

The directors desired to encourage both the honey and dairy products branches this year, and in the cheese section their plans accomplished the objective of arousing the interest and co-operation of more of the cheese-makers of the district than usual. But, as it turned out the special prizes were designated for certain qualities of the cheese which coincided with the merits which decided the two main prizes for June and July cheese. As a result the judges, J. A. Murray of Campbellford and C. F. Linn of Stirling, had no alternative but to make their awards in the special classes according to the conditions in the prize list, and Mr. Brethou "stole the show."

His entries of June and July cheese won first prizes, and then clicked all down the line in the specials section.

On the Wane

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (C.P.)—Sex appeal, the public at large may be glad to know, is on the wane.

At the annual convention of some 300 musical instrument manufacturers and jobbers here to-day delegates agreed that the harmonica and the accordian were the latest rages in musical circles.

Business, they added, had picked up about 100 per cent since last year.

Missing Dorbandt Back—Under Arrest

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 22 (A.P.).—The missing Frank Dorbandt, famous flyer, sought far and wide for two days after a mysterious disappearance following a threat, "You will not see me again," was back here to-day in his big tri-motored plane—under arrest.

He was taken into custody Tuesday night by Deputy Marshal Frank Hoffman, on instructions from Fairbanks that bondsmen there had withdrawn their backing under which he had been free on fur smuggling charges preferred against him by the Government.

Averse to talking about his disappearance, which had led friends to fear he planned suicide because of his various troubles with authorities, Dorbandt merely said that he had spent the two days along the Susitna River, 50 to 75 miles north of here.

NAZIS TO OFFER SUICIDE TO CONDEMNED PRISONERS

BERLIN, Aug. 22 (A.P.). — A committee on reform of German penal law, headed by Minister of Justice Franz Guertner, recommended to-day that opportunity to commit suicide be offered to persons condemned to death, as an alternative to execution.

The old Greek custom of giving the victim a cup of hemlock, or in exceptional cases a loaded pistol, to end his own life, are mentioned in the report as possibilities.

"This kind of execution naturally could be granted to all," said the committee's recommendations.

The committee agreed there were no "decent criminals," but decided against whipping posts and pillories as a means of punishment. Instead, a modern "pillory" of public display was suggested, with the offender's name and crime published upon newspaper kiosks, in film and radio notices.

QUILT DISPLAY NOTABLE FEATURE HANDIWORK SECTION AT THE 'EX'

Woodwork Exhibit by Boys of Public Schools Exceptionally Good.

CUTWORK OUTSTANDING.

Exquisite cutwork embroidery, exceptionally good woodwork from the Manual Training classes in the Public Schools of the city, and some outstanding bits of interest in the Simpson Company's Special, are features this year of the exhibits in the Women's Section of the Main Building at the Exhibition.

The entries do not seem to be as plentiful as usual, in this section, but quality is paramount.

The display of quilts constitutes a notable feature of the handiwork section. There is a fine example of the Dresden plate design, in which a large plate is formed of little sections of gaily printed cotton. The Yo-Ho is another fine specimen, with an evident extraordinary amount of work in its make-up. Little whorls of bright material in circular sections alternate with similar bits of sage green. A Flower Pot quilt has the design worked in two tones of blue on a pure white ground, in chaste effect, and the Double Wedding Ring, with scalloped edges, is another outstanding example of quilting.

One very beautiful lightweight quilt is well worth a paragraph all its own. Against a ground of subdued green, which is quilted in plain and foliated pattern, are applied flowers and trailing festoons in apricot, pink, white and pale mauve, all soft colors, and green leaves are outlined in solid silk stitchery. The scalloped edges are bound with apricot.

Gay, rainbow-tinted round and square cushions, knitted and crocheted, several in solar-ray patterning, made a brave showing. There is a round bolster pillow in the brown tones which predominate in these specimens of careful handiwork, and one round cushion resembles a casserole, complete with rounded top and a flat rim at the base. A square cushion has a top constructed entirely of little golden, tufted balls of wool.

Cutwork Outstanding

There are some very dainty spreads on view; one, developed in unbleached factory cotton, having a lovely large design in basket effect, with gaily-tinted daisies and festoons.

And the sheets are beautiful examples of fine stitching, with their exquisitely-wrought initialling in solid white and their inserts and adornments of filet lace and cutwork embroidery.

Cutwork is notable this year and some of the pieces are handsome in the extreme. Pillow cases show its influence, as well as runners and centerpieces and vanity sets and table napery.

One beautiful set in natural-colored linen with stitching in the same effective shade, shows careful doing. The pieces are circular, with heavily tatted edgings and conventionalized cutwork flowers as the central design.

There are yellow and black butterflies in silk embroidery on another centerpiece, and a delightful little tea set in the purest of white, white linen, has a gay red gingham teapot in the corner, festooned with conventionalized red silk flowers and edged with red silk tatting.

There are dainty things for the baby; lovely luxuries for the invalid, like the shell-pink crocheted bed jacket formed entirely of circular whorls of softest wool, edged with white; there is a haughty peacock in silver and gilt on an oblong cushion of black satin; there are afghans and throws of crocheted wool that go in for notable color combinations. One example has no less than four shades of soft brown, with orange, white and yellow, incorporated in its makeup.

There are crocheted and hooked rugs, one bearing a lordly ship as design, and another, of the scatter type, going in for a softly-blended combination of color, with rose pink and green on a night-sky blue base.

There is a set of cloth and d'oylies with a Hungarian embroidery influence in the border (resembling old-fashioned, floral dress braids) that out lines delicate little dresden flower pots in petit-point.

Dotted muslin in soft amethyst and apple green tones make two dainty vanity sets. They are edged with lace and have silk embroidered floral corners.

The Prime Minister

Mr. Hepburn himself, in all the radiance of a bright smile, is the timely subject of one of the oil paintings in the Art Section, where exhibits are scarcer than heretofore.

The pale colors of a blue moonlit sky are interesting in a marine scene and there is a tiny, yellow-smocked laddie busy with an orange bitter bowl, in another striking picture. A golden-haired lassie in a heavenly blue frock looks serenely forth from another portrait.

In black and white are portrait sketches and landscape bits. A bust of Abraham Lincoln forms the subject of one of these, and a lady (after Epstein), lowers veiled lids in another.

Here, too, are several specimens of careful reed work, in trays and table lamps.

The cookery, as usual, is excellent, and makes a mouth-watering display. Those in charge do well to guard these culinary masterpieces behind wire screens.

Biscuits make a notable item in the showing, grouped around the baking powder can which furnished one of their prime ingredients. There are cookies and muffins also, and tissue-paper covered noble loaves of bread, and tarts.

Fruit cakes wrapped in cellophane paper make a tasty display, and there are some grand specimens of the cake-maker's art.

One cake constitutes what might be termed a little boy's dream. Surely the most finicky mortal could wish for nothing better than this grand cake, iced to the limit with pure white, spangled with tiny silver beads and large red cherries and centered by a silver and gilt rose.

A chocolate cake covered with long feathery strands of cocoanut is another fine piece of cookery.

School Work

As always, the patrons of this section pause to speak appreciatively of the excellent work turned out by the school pupils of the city, who annually display their handiwork in this building.

The Manual Training pieces this year seem to be especially good. Careful finishing, true alignment in the little woodwork furnishings, and smoothly applied paint, make them fine bits of junior endeavor.

There are the usual things and some new ones: bird cages, jardinere stands, little tables, book and magazine racks, book ends, spitting black cats furnishing unwilling supports for green ash trays balanced delicately on the upturned ends of indignant tails, ferneries, crests, miniature trucks and wheelbarrows, and a careful little whatnot that sounds an old-time note in furnishings, returned to popular favor.

There is a little ocean liner, complete with port holes, smokestacks and life-boats. "Gee, I wish I could have that," remarked a small boy who stood gazing at it, yesterday.

There is a full-rigged sailing sloop that reminds one of the sentence, "All aboard the lugger," as she waits with all sails unfuried for a favoring breeze and a calm sea.

There are wall boards holding examples of the children's art work, in chalks, pencils and water colors, in the many natural effects and conventionalized designs and patterns that form the basis of this section of their training.

And there is an interesting display of soap sculpture; tiny elephants and chickens, a feline carefully labelled "cat," a troll with a long white beard, and "Grampa and Granny," two little figures in all the glory of a substance that won't stand for any washing, if you want the pattern to persist.

In the showing of fancy work, there are three notable displays of a combination of effects, in competition for the Simpson Company's Special award. They are quite remarkable, as far as the variety and scope of the work is concerned, as well as the fineness of the execution in various media.

Simpson Special

In these combinations of everything that women make with their hands, as far as fancy work goes, there is a range that combines hand-knitted woollen mittens with the airiest type of fragile painting. These three displays are well worth a special visit.

Here you may find again that dainty cutwork embroidery that is at its height just now; applique cushins, crucifixes ornamented with colored sealing-wax flowers, hand-painted pieces of china and painted pictures and cushions, wooden boxes carved in relief. There are little, gay knitted tea-cosies, one simulating a small green-clad maiden with matching beret and shoulder flower in white.

There are pieces of gesso work done in rose and blue and gold papers applied to glass vases and ornaments, there are beautiful examples of crochet, hand-knitted men's mitts in black and scarlet and tiny silk boudoir cushions, like the fascinating example developed entirely in little silk circlets of rose pink and green.

There are filet lace runners and dresser sets a sage green silk comforter is quited elaborately in self-colored silk, there are hooked rugs and crocheted and knitted afghans; there is a filmy lemon-yellow and white crocheted bed jacket and a white spread with fan patterning. And there are cellophane belts in rose and silver, little waxed flower table decorations, and a tapestry picture.

These exhibits contain many notable bits.

And, this year, for the first time in many seasons, there is nothing on view from Anson House, whence for many years, came so many finely-wrought pieces of careful knitting and lovely embroideries. Those who search for examples of the art of ladies from the Home will look in vain.

CLERKS FALL TO MILL 11-4

Winning Streak Stopped by Mechanics in Airtight Game of Ball.

PLAY-OFF SERIES.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 22.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent.) — The Clerks were brought to a sudden stop in the Campbellford Town Softball League play-offs last evening, when they met their first defeat in the series to decide the group championship, by dropping the third game to the Mill by a 11-4 count. Wining the first two from the Mill, and losing last night's battle, the full five games will now be played to decide the champs for 1934.

The game was a battle royal with Bill McComb for the Mill playing airtight ball on the mound and fanning with such success that nine were registered for him. This splendid pitching combined with several errors on the part of the Clerks, lost them the game.

Opening the play with one run apiece, the Mill soon took the lead when they counted another two runs in the second, the Clerks having four blank innings. They started a getaway in the sixth, however when they pegged up three runs, but the Mill chalked up another two and four runs in the fourth and fifth, finishing well ahead of the Redbacks. CROWN WITNESS PUT OUT OF WAY gling case that convicted Harry Davis, popular Montreal night-club owner. Davis was sentenced to 14 years in penitentiary, 10 lashes and $10,000 in fines.

Feigenbaum's name had cropped up often in the case of Pincus Brecher, reputed New York millionaire who is booked for trial in September on charges of being head of the international drug ring of which Davis was allegedly the Montreal agent. According to Superintendent F. J. Mead, of the Montreal division of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the dead man was to have been the star witness in the Brecher case.

The victim served four years of a five-year sentence for silk smuggling before being paroled last spring after testifying against Davis. He was known to have at one time been one of the higher-ups in Montreal's underworld and was reported to have been trying to regain control of a section of Montreal's gambling racket.

COLORFUL, ATTRACTIVE ARRAY OF MERCHANDISE TO BE FOUND IN MANUFACTURERS' BUILDING

17 Different Exhibits Are on Display in the Building.

VARIETY IS WIDE.

Canadian Department Stores Exhibit is Most Extensive.

Peterborough's merchandise in a colourfully attractive array greets the Exhibition visitor to the Manufacturers' Building this week. Although exhibits of products made in local factories are fewer than in other years, the building affords a highly fascinating display and it is once again an important gathering point for men, women and children alike.

Seven different exhibits are on view in the spacious enclosure. Thev variety of products is wide, covering the entire range of domestic needs. In almost every case they are presented to the public view with a tasteful artistry which has been unsurpassed. Regrettable is the absence of a number of the old stand-bys among the firms represented yet several newcomers to the building have adequately filled the breeches.

Very Large Exhibit

The Canadian Department Stores exhibit is the most extensive. In three sparate booths, each well laid out, a series of products representative of several important fields in the company's merchandising business is on view. The Hoover sweeper is featured in a booth which includes also a display of stoves and pertinent equipment. The latest models of Victor "Globe Trotter" and DeForst Crosley "World Wide" radios, models of the "Hostess" line of automatic refrigerators, a Marshall mattress exhibit and other important products are to be seen in the other sections of the display.

Along with the Canada Packers' exhibit of their Peterborough-made products this year is a highly-educational display sponsored by the Health of Animals Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Of particular benefit to the farmer and others who have to do with the meat industry, the booth offers a comprehensive object exhibit on the diseases of sheep, cattle and hogs. Organic specimens illustrating many diseases are preserved conveniently under glass. R. T. B. Wheatley and other Government meat inspectors of the C.P.C. are in attendance to explain the display.

The Heintzman and Company exhibit is very attractively arranged. Along with models in the famous Heintzman line of pianos, radios are featured in this booth, the new Victor 1935 Electrola, a combination phonograph and all-wave radio, winning particular attention.

Luxurious Fur Coats

For the feminine eye is the booth of the firm of Wm. J. Hamilton. The many luxurious fur coats and neck pieces on view seemed quite appropriate to the scene with a September chill in the August air yesterday. Hudson seals, caraculs and squirrel are featured in the exhibit with fox furs of the several types making a prominent bid for sustained popularity.

"Foot Health Shoes" are outstanding in the line of footwear for men, women and children presented in the R. Neill, Limited, exhibit. The exhibit is handsomely arranged with many types of shoes in both the corrective and the style fields in the array. Sixty-two years in business is celebrated in the adjoining cubicle by the Stocks Bread Company—1872 to 1934. Specimens of the company's high class breads and cakes make up the display.

The F. H. Patterson firm, the Premier Vacuum Cleaner Company, Miller, Powell Company and Johnston's Tire battery and Radio Service all offer alluring varieties of domestic equipment. "Premier Sweeps the Country," is the slogan in prominence over the Premier Company's space. Rogers radios, Norge refrigerators and Gilson washing machines are outstanding among the products in the Patterson exhibit and the showing of the Johnston Tire firm includes Stewart-Warner radios, Frigidaire models, McClary electric ranges and Connor Washers. Westinghouse, Moffat and Canadian Thor equipment catches the eye in the Miller, Powell Company layout.

Well-Known Names

Trade names which are household words for every housewife are encountered in the Quaker Oats section—Quick Quaker, Muffets, Quaker Puffed Rice, Quaker Rolled Oats and so on. Fifteen of the company's many cereal and flour products are set forth for consideration of the public eye. The Peterborough Lumber Company booth is a reminder to local builders of the range of products that company offers. Silverwood's Peterborough Dairy sets forth the merits of its offerings by operating a well-attended fountain for ice cream and milk creations.

A trend toward modernism in design and color in the realm of rugs is indicated in the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company display. A tier of eight rugs, in sold colours of eight different shades, holds the central place in the booth. The entire display is laid out with remarkable effect.

The new fertilizer ingredients put up by the United Farmers' Co-operative Company of Toronto comprise the feature of the exhibit of E. A. Scott, feed and seed merchant. A saving of $10 per ton on his fertilizer to be effected by mixing his own is advertised in this section of the building.

New Type Lighting Used In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, August 21. — For the past few months the city of Vancouver has been experimenting with an entirely new light source, one never before used in this country but a lamp which has met with considerable success in England. This is the General Electric high efficiency or high pressure mercury vapour lamp. The city of Vancouver has been trying out a number of these new lamps to ascertain their suitability for street lighting.

The mercury vapor lamp, supplied by the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., consume 400 watts which is equal in efficiency to about a 750-watt mazda lamps. The light emitted is bluish in color, giving an acuity of vision said to be unequalled by incandescent filament lamps.

The increased efficiency of these new lamps has made it possible to illuminate the city streets with a brilliancy and economy of current consumption unapproached by the older system. Glare has been reduced to a minimum and an additional feature is that these new lamps are less susceptible to vibration than the ordinary gas-filled lamps owing to the fact that they carry no filament.

MAKE IT A RECORD.

With the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition off to a happy start with a huge attendance on Children's Day, it is up to the public generally to continue this splendid support for the balance of the week and give the big annual event an all time box office record.

This gala week of the summer season offers a wealth of entertainment to its patrons and many people are planning to spend as much time as possible at the Exhibition grounds, realising the impossibility of endeavoring to see all that is offered in the way of amusement and education in one or even two visits.

We venture to predict that you will like this year's Exhibition, like the midway, the exhibits, the special displays and above all, perhaps, you will like the grandstand performances with its smart atmosphere, abundance of color and the variety of its features. It is one of the most ambitious programs ever offered Exhibition patrons.

THE BY-ELECTION RESULTS.

Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn has every right to look upon the sweeping victories scored by his candidates in the South Wellington and North Grey provincial by-elections as an emphatic endorsation of his course of action since taking over the reins of power in Ontario, and as a fresh mandate to continue the policies he promised and has already inaugurated.

The result of the two by-elections was, of course, generally expected; the only surprise was that the Opposition saw fit to run candidates against the Government nominees, so closely after a record sweep by the Liberal party, and that so many electors took the trouble to exercise their franchise in elections, the termination of which was a foregone conclusion.

The vote was not as large as in the June election, but nevertheless the falling off in the two ridings was not nearly as much as might have been expected, and the Conservative candidates were the ones to lose through the smaller vote, Mayor Robson in South Wellington polling only half the number of votes he secured in the general election and being defeated by the largest majority in the history of the riding.

It was poor strategy to oppose the Government candidates at this time, for it has given Mr. Hepburn ample reason to claim the result not only as indicative of complete approval of his records in office but as a condemnation of the Bennett Government and a demand for a general election in the federal arena, for the provincial Premier with success certain for his candidates was shrewd enough to stress federal issues and to urge the election of the Liberal nominees as a mandate to the Bennett administration to go to the country.

AUTUMN TOURISTS.

The Examiner is in full accord with the policy announced the other day by Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, Federal Minister of Railways, in regard to an immediate advertising campaign to increase tourist traffic into Canada during the months of September and October.

This is in line with the opinion frequently expressed in this column that there was an opportunity for great expansion in tourist business if the charms of Canada during the fall months were advertised properly in the right quarter.

Our tourist season has hitherto been confined almost exclusively to June, July and August, more particularly to the last two named months; that is a short season indeed, and any movement to extend the period of tourist traffic should be enthusiastically commended and supported.

This country has much to offer the visitor who comes in early autumn; often some of the finest weather of the year with warm sunshiny days and cool nights is experienced in September and October, and our lake districts, with mosquitoes and other insect pests entirely absent and fishing at its best, have a charm and glamor that are not always found in the summer months.

There are millions of citizens of the United States with the time and money to enable them to visit Canada in the autumn, but they have not been coming over the border at that season of the year because no effort has been made to tell them what they may expect to find.

Let us hope the campaign that is to be launched will bring results; its success will mean much to this country.

MAKING IT EASIER FOR FARMERS.

From Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, The Examiner is in receipt of a detailed explanation of that very important piece of legislation passed at the last session of Parliament, the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act.

As Mr. Rhodes points out, this act was drafted for the specific purpose of dealing with the financial difficulties of farmers, and Parliament sought to provide as simple and inexpensive mechanism as possible for making arrangements as between farmers and their creditors.

To this end the legislation has been drafted to make available in the simplest possible manner machinery whereby (a) compromises or rearrangements may be effected of the debts of those farmers who are unable to pay, but whose statement of affairs and general desire indicate hope of success.; (b) where the indebtedness is out of all proportion to the assets, in order to make a fresh start the only reasonable course is to seek a bankruptcy discharge, and the act makes provision for an assignment at little expense to the farmer.

The procedure to be followed by a farmer seeking relief is simple. The Governor in Council will appoint in the judicial centre of every farming community an official receiver. To this man the farmer may go. The official receiver will assist him in preparing his statement of affairs and in making a proposal to his creditors. This proposal and a statement of his affairs will go to each creditor with a notice of date and place of meeting. At this meeting the farmer's affairs and the proposal will be frankly and informally discussed.

It is the hope that with the debtor and creditor brought together and the actual facts and circumstances revealed that there should be an understanding arrived at. If, however, the parties cannot agree, there is provision for appeal to a tribunal which can formulate a binding proposal, basing it upon the present and prospective capability of the debtor to perform the obligations prescribed and the productive value of the farm.

The legislation has been passed for the purpose of arranging settlements on the basis of compromise, and for the purpose of removing, in difficult economic times, to the greatest possible extent, the irritation and vexation of court process, as it affects not only the debtor but the creditor.

The success desired can be obtained only, as the Minister says, if all parties concerned get together with a real spirit of compromise. In those cases where rearrangements are entered into there will be indicated a measure of progress, but the real success of the legislation can be determined by the manner in which the parties respect the obligations thus newly created.

VON HINDENBURG AND HITLER.

The publication of President Paul von Hindenburg's "political will" and the expressions continued therein do not exactly reveal the secret of Von Hindenburg's real attitude toward Chancellor Adolf Hitler and National Socialism, but it does show that the aged field marshal maintained to the last his passionate love of country.

Von Hindenburg made no secret, up to the time Hitler seized power in Germany, that he disliked and distrusted Hitler, told him as much right to his face. Then these two men, both holding the confidence of the people, though in a different way, buried the hatchet and worked together, Von Hindenburg as President, Hitler as Chancellor for what Von Hindenburg called in his will ,"the hour of Germany's recovery." In that document, transmitted yesterday to Hitler by Franz von Papen at the request of Von Hindenburg's son, the field marshal showed no resentment toward Hitler when he wrote in the codicil shortly before his death:

"I thank Providence for permitting me to see in the evening of my life the hour of recovery.

"My Chancellor, Adolf Hitler, and his movement have taken a decisive stride of historical importance toward the great goal of leading the German people to inner unity.

"I know much remains to be done, and from the bottom of my heart wish the act of national regeneration and unification may be followed by an act of reconciliation to embrace the whole German Fatherland."

Those paragraphs show anything but resentment towards Hitler and his policies, but in the paragraph describing how the former field marshal felt when the German military machine collapsed with the people behind the front revolting, he shows the real Von Hindenburg with the assertion that "from the everlasting moving wave of the life of our people, the rock shall emerge to which the hope of our fathers once clung and on which the future of the Fatherland was confidently founded." That "rock," he asserted, was the German Empire.

It has been hinted that Von Hindenburg may have shown friendliness towards Hitler in his dying hours under the compulsion of inevitability and weariness induced by extreme old age and physical disability. Perhaps so. But Von Hindenburg has discarded other beliefs in the past for the sake of the German Empire. His belief in monarchy and his fidelity to the dynasty he set aside in favor of democracy, because he thought democracy was for the time the thing that Germany wanted and needed, and stood for it against everything. And in the present case, argues the Detroit Free Press, if in his feebleness he came to the conclusion that Nazi ascendency was inevitable and that it was the smallest of the evils threatening his land, he was no more than being consistent in accepting it. His real feeling towards Hitler he no doubt has carried to his grave.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

THE LOTUS BLOOMS.

The lotus has flowered again near Monroe and visitors to the marshes may see a rare sight. Only five lotus beds exist in this country, two are in Illinois, one in New York and one in California. The flowers are a variety of the plant sacred to the Hindus, honored by the Chinese and anciently famed in Egypt.

The Greeks gave the name lotus to a bush which bore fruits something like olives. The natives of Libya, in Africa, made bread of them and an intoxicating drink. When Ulysses reached the country of the lotus-eaters many of his sailors drank this wine and lost all wish to return home. The Romans cultivated a nettle-tree which they called lotus, while the name also was given to an early variety of date and a kind of clover.

But the lotus of the early Egyptians was a water lily, varieties of which still grow along the Nile. This was the plant that bloomed mythologically upon the surface of the primeval ocean Nun and from which the sun-god Ra first sprang.—Detroit Free Press.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It looks as if South Wellington and North Grey are anxious to have Premier Hepburn finish his work.

Mass production methods seem to have entered even into the realm of sport, judging by the score piled up by Australia in the fifth Test match.

Premier Hepburn was presented with some trout at a political meeting in North Grey last week. This is a practice that may not last long if adequate protection of Ontario's fishing resources is withdrawn.

Peterborough's big fair is off to a fine start. Worth-while patronage for the rest of the week will ensure its complete success.

Practically ten out of every thirteen electors who voted in the South Wellington by-election supported the Government. Few political verdicts in the history of the province have been so decisive.

Woman in Kansas City left a will bequeathing 20 per cent. here and there and 10 per cent. allotments elsewhere, and in all these per cent. gifts added together call for a distribution of 310 per cent. A thrifty housewife might be able to tell how to make 100 per cent. extend to do the duty of 310 per cent., but no court could successfully do it.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Registered U.S. Patent Office — By STANLEY

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterborough's Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Mrs. Kate Harry, Norwood, Ont.

Your handwriting as portrayed on the sample for analysis, reveals interesting qualities. You are humorous and very generous. You do not like to have to pay attention to routine or detail, but if it happens to be for your own sense of well being, or in order to bring credit to your name, you can be as meticulous as any one else.

Your 't' bar crossings indicate a normal amount of will power and determination, so I can readily understand that you can make yourself do the things that you really want to do.

Kindness means more to you than monetary recompense, and so you delight in mingling with others who have a mental attraction for you through their own kindliness.

You do not seem to bother very much about the latest style of dress, but yet manage to create an individual personality, by dressing to suit your own taste. It is really an expert who can dress in such a manner that after an interview or social contact, the other person or persons cannot remember what one was wearing, for it reveals the fact that the person's personality was far more attractive and much more worth remembering than the dress or hat that she wore.

Your birthsign is Cancer the Crab, and you are ruled by the Moon. February and September are your most fortunate months for important undertakings. Monday seems to be your lucky day.

Your number according to numerology is nine. This is a symbol of wisdom and indicates that you are a person who promotes good will, that you are broad-minded and effect people unconsciously, often assisting them to succeed where otherwise they would have failed. You express love, health, happiness. Most people who possess your number are excellent in politics, business and professional fields.

Alfred W. Sargent, Omemee, Ontario.

Thank you for your interesting letter. I will endeavor to answer your question to the best of my ability in the order in which you presented them.

The line of business which I would suggest would be something in mechanics, such as in garage work, or learning to assemble parts of machines, cars, airplanes or tractors. This of course would necessitate constant study on your part, for one cannot become an expert in any line without definite knowledge. You may find it difficult to concentrate at first, but, as you understand the rudiments of the subject which you are learning, you will no doubt experience an uplifting influence course through your being, and from then on study will be as second nature. Your writing indicates lack of the above qualities; that is why I expressed them first to you, for I want you to know that you CAN IF YOU WILL be master of your destiny, and now it is entirely 'up to you' to live up to your expectations. Classes will soon commence this fall, and almost every opportunity is open to you in this city, so please do try to make the very best of your good fortune in residing near Peterborough.

The answer to the second question concerning success is, Yes, if you follow the above suggestions.

Your third question is a repetition of the second with the exception of a question concerning your health. This I would advise you to care for to a far greater extent than you are doing at present. It seems to me that you do not conserve your strength, and that your nerves require attention and building. Perhaps you have grown too fast for your age; if so, you will no doubt gain more flesh and strength with the years that are to follow. Learn to walk erect, breathe deeply, be moderate in all your activities and I think that you will gain confidence in yourself. Confidence brings peace of mind, and peace of mind brings health. That is a psychological fact which is worth remembering.

Helen Brown, Toronto, Ontario.

It is with much pleasure that we welcome you as a tourist to Peterborough, and hope you will enjoy reading our worthy and interesting paper, while you are among us.

Strong Points: Your strongest point as depicted in the sample of writing is a lovable characteristic with a keen determination to succeed. You are persistent, not too dominant, but have sufficient will-power with which to carry out your wishes.

Weak Points: Impulsiveness seems to overcome you rather too often for your own good. You sympathize with a sufferer, and this is a detriment to your own health. Your imagination is quite likely to lead you to cross many bridges before you reach them.

Emotions: Your emotions are easily controlled, once you have the command of the situation. Do not try to force yourself to be either merry or sad if you do not feel truthfully in the mood, for you are in no way superficial.

Health: Your health should be quite normal, but you are somewhat nervous, and worry a great deal.

Disposition: Your disposition is humorous, kindly and rather too generous. You do not care to be hurried, yet you constantly 'hurry' yourself. You seem to feel that you MUST get certain things done in less than the required time, then you wonder what to do next in order to occupy your time.

Temperament: Your temperament is gracious, interesting, rather versatile, according to how you feel in health. You can 'fly' off the handle if the occasion demands, but do not do so very often.

How to Succeed: Try not to allow yourself to get into arguments. Save your physical strength. Dress with care in regards to weather conditions.

Miss M. Adelia Sargent, Indian River, Ont.

Your handwriting indicates a thoughtful and intelligent mind. It shows a keen perception of things as they are, and is not at all of an imaginative type. You have the courage with which to face facts, and you desire at all times to learn intricate details. One might term this an analytical ingenious type of mind. However, it lends interest to your charming personality, in that it has an alluring effect, creating an inquisitiveness in others, as to what it is that sets you apart as individual.

Your capital letters all illustrate artistic ability. You will no doubt carry out this tendency in your admirable taste in clothing.

The small letter formations designate you as just sufficiently reserved to enable you to keep your poise and well bearing, and also to keep all necessary secrets. There are times no doubt when you feel like throwing discretion to the winds and telling things which your nature demands that you confide in someone, but you do not seem to allow yourself the comfort of even this outburst. There is a certain something which always seems to hold you back.

Anything of a scientific nature should interest you, and so I would suggest for you a thorough training in any line which would suit your scientific mind. You would then pay much attention to detail, and be very thorough in your work.

There is an interest in music shown in the formation of your letter 'B' but I do not believe that you care a great deal for loud, noisy jazz.

Your 't' at the termination of the word Sargent illustrates excellent persistence. The other 't' bar crossings depict normal will-power and determination.

Yours is altogether a very credible character and I am sure that you should experience no difficulty whatever in making the correct type of friends.

What's in The NAME

of Canadian Cities and Towns?

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

ENDERBY, BRITISH COLUMBIA

Enderby, one of the first interior settlements in British Columbia, was known by several names prior to 1887. The Indians called it Spallumcheen, the government called it Belvidere, but the majority of people in the valley called it Lambly's Landing.

One afternoon in 1887, Mrs. George Lawes, one of the business pioneers, was entertaining several women, among them a Mrs. Harry Oliver. As the visitors sat looking at the flooded Shuswap river, Mrs. Oliver recited Jean Ingelow's well-known poem, "The High Tide on the Coast of Lincolnshire, 1571." This recounts how the ancient sea-wall gave way and the torrential waters rushed up the River Lindis and flooded the meadows of Enderby.

When Mrs. Oliver finished reciting the poem, Mrs. Lawes exclaimed: "Why not call our town Enderby?" The suggestion was favorably received and confirmed by the federal postal office.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

SPEECH TO A MAN WHO ASKS ME TO MAKE A PROMISE.

No, my good sir, I will NOT make a promise.

No, I tell you I will not!

You ask me to make you a promise. I tell YOU you do not trust me. . . . If you trusted me, you would not try to bind me with words. You would leave me free. You would ask me only to be myself, to do as I feel in my heart that I should do. You would not degrade and stultify this bond between us with any feeble promise.

So again I say I will NOT promise.

If I promised I would break that promise. . . . I might wear it gladly for a little while, as a vow, as a dear obligation. . . . But soon it would irk me, make me restless. I would begin to ask myself what right you or any other man might have to lay this galling burden upon my shoulders, upon my mind, upon my heart, my spirit. Soon I would find myself brushing it away as frantically as a savage in the jungle escapes the foils of the constrictor. . . . And even if I did try to keep it, soon I would find myself hating you for your foolishness, and hating myself for allowing you to lay this restriction upon me.

No, I shall not promise!

Even though this thing you wish from me were the thing I wished most to do, I would find it hateful. Virtue would become a poison, decency a tyrannical duty. And I would deny my own better impulses in order to achieve my own independence. Poor fool, me! And worse fool, you, because you think any other human being can be tethered and saved by the words that shape a promise.

No, no! Again I shout, no promises!

You say I am mad? Very well, then, I AM mad. But, sir, I wish to be free as the birds which fly where they list, free as the giant trees which stand rooted for a life-time, free as the sweet stream that makes and follows its own channel to the sea. . . . None of these makes any promise, none is asked to make any; but each does what it must, lives as it should. . . . And I, too, being a man, and you, too, being human, should do the same . . . making no promises, demanding none, being ourselves.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Red Williams

AN EARLY NAVAL DISASTER.

On this date, in 1711, the gulf of St. Lawrence was the scene of one of the worst disasters in the history of the British navy. Sir Hovenden Walker, who had had a spectacularly successful career and won the rank of rear admiral in 1710 and a knighthood in 1711, had left Boston with a fine fleet on July 30, with the intention of attacking and, if possible, capturing Quebec.

The ships made the gulf without any difficulty and got well up the river, but when near Egg Island met disaster. There are conflicting stories as to the cause. Some historians put the blame on faulty pilotage; others state that the fleet was wrecked by storm and separated in fog; but the net result was that ten ships were wrecked and 884 men lost their lives. Others swam ashore, were aided by the habitants and married French Canadian girls, thus beginning that confusion of nomenclature in lower Quebec, which was continued later when the Highlanders were disbanded, and which has resulted in families with English and Scottish names, whose mother tongue is, and has for generations, been French.

Walker returned to England with the remnant of his fleet and was in 1715 dismissed from the navy. He published a lengthy pamphlet in self defence, stressing that the disaster was not his fault, but the result of an act of God.

Standard Brands Featured At C.N.E.

This year visitors to the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, will find a new high spot of interest in the Standard Brands exhibits, a magnificent baronial castle featuring Standard Brands products and the well known stars of the air linked up with them.

The popular radio star, Rudy Vallee, will be there in the form of a life-sized cut-out display with his entire orchestra in the background.

Joe Penner will be there, too, with his famous duck. The artist has made these figures so life-like, that one can easily imagine he is in a broadcasting studio viewing the famous artists at work.

Large pyramid displays of the principal grocery and bakery products of Standard Brands Limited have been arranged and a feature of the exhibit will be the serving of Chase & Sanborn's Coffee and Tender Leaf Tea. All visitors to the fair are cordially invited to view this most interesting and unusual exhibit of favorite Canadian-made products.

Haliburton Barn Destroyed By Fire

LINDSAY, Aug. 22.—(Special to The Examiner).—A disastrous fire, due to spontaneous combustion, totally destroyed the barn on the farm of Albert Curry, Haliburton, on Monday together with the contents, which included twenty ton of new hay. The fire occurred shortly after the noon hour. Mr. Curry was working in the fields at the time. An automobile, tools and farm implements were also destroyed. There was no insurance.

Two valuable cars were destroyed at Dalrymple Monday night, in a mysterious fire in Brady Chrysler's garage. Roy Chrysler, who was sleeping on the verandah of the cottage close to the garage, was awakened by the flames and aroused the occupants. Neighbors saved the house from destruction.

Robert Bate, a former resident of Lindsay, and who for the past nineteen years has been turnkey at the St. Thomas jail, died in that city on Sunday. The deceased, who was in his seventieth year, was for years well known in local baeball circles. He is survived by his wife, three sons and three daughters; also two brothers.

Hon. Dr. Faulkner, Minister of Health, has announced that he will send an official to Lindsay at an early date to investigate the complaint sent to his department by about two hundred citizens relative to the dumping of sewage into the Scugog river.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 90c to 92c; oats, 35c to 38c; barley, 56c to 60c; corn, 85c to 86c; rye, 55c to 57c; buckwheat, 60c to 62c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

New strength in foreign grain markets yesterday prompted another price rise here, wheat advancing ½ to 1¼ cents a bushel, and corn showing a gain of about 1½ cents.

The buoyant undertone of the market remained firm throughout the session. Price upturns in European markets and at Buenos Aires were leading constructive factors, although buying was stimulated to some extent by continued strong position of cash grains and by a revival of inflation gossip at the pits.

Wheat shot up early to an overnight gain of almost 2 cents, but profit-taking sales induced reactions at times. At the top May deliveries reached $1.08¼, about 9 cents below the season's high established early this month.

At the close all wheat deliveries were fractionally below the day's best figures, September new at $1.04⅝ to $1.04¾, December new at

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Prices on the Montreal Produce and Dairy Market were practically unchanged yesterday only butter and eggs showing a firming tendency.

At the weekly auction held at the Board of Trade, offerings totalled 761 boxes of Quebec butter and 767 boxes of Quebec cheese, the former bringing 18¾c a pound and the latter being quoted at 9¾c a pound.

On the regular butter market, fresh No. 1 in carlots or less were priced at 18¾c to 18¾c a pound, as compared with 18½c to 18¾c yesterday. Solids sold for 20c a pound and prints brought 21c a pound in small lots to the retail trade. Arrivals were 72 boxes.

Ontario colored cheese continued to sell at 10c to 10¼c a pound, while Quebec cheese was also unchanged, being quoted at 9¼c to 9¾c a pound. Receipts totalled 2,605 boxes.

Graded shipments of Ontario eggs in less than carlots were priced at 23c a dozen for A-large, 21c for A-medium, 18½c to 19c for B and 18c for C. Carlots from the West brought 22c a dozen for A-large, against 21½c to 22c, 21c for A-medium, as compared with 20½c to 21c; 19c for B, in comparison with 18½c to 19c; and 17½c to 18c for C. Arrivals totalled 2,717 cases.

The potato market held steady at 41c to 50c per 80-lb. bag of New Quebecs No. 1 and 35c to 40c per 80-lb. bag for No. 2. Old N.B. Mountains were 20c to 25c per 80-lb. bag.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Wheat futures prices started briskly on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange again yesterday, but, faltering in the late dealings, slipped from earlier advance to close unchanged to ⅝c higher, October at 86⅝c, December 86½c to 86⅝c and May 90¼c.

Pressure of hedging sales as operators sought to protect their country purchases of new-crop wheat sent values into a slow decline. Advances of more than one cent soon were pared, and the closing prices were at the session's lowest levels.

The selling more than offset the good support offered from various sources and nullified the effects of advances scored in outside markets. Prices at Liverpool closed 1d to 1⅛d higher, and gains were marked up at Chicago. Buenos Aires was also strong, showing upturns of more than two cents.

It was estimated that 750,000 bushels of Canadian wheat had been sold for overseas shipment. But this buying was insufficient to do more than slow the decline, and the selling, based on Monday's country receipts of more than 1,000,000 bushels of wheat, easily swept values down from the high points.

Cash grains, however, were in good demand, and spreads on better varieties of wheats closed fractionally higher. Rye led the upturn in coarse grains futures, backed by buying from Eastern and Southern interests, which appeared to be chiefly of a speculative nature.

Richard Stubbs Dies Suddenly At Cottage

One of the best known residents of the Stoney Lake summer colony, Richard Stubbs, of Toronto, died at 10 o'clock this morning at his summer home, Chateau Du-Lac, on the Burleigh Channel, of a heart attack. Mr. Stubbs had been in ill health for several months.

He was well known among the cottagers, having been active in water sports and at regattas. He is survived by his mother and two sisters.

PASTOR DENYS KIDNAPPING

GOLDSBORO, N.C., Aug. 22, (AP).— The Rev. R. H. Askew, Four-Square Gospel evangelist, confessed to-ay, Sheriff Paul Garrison said, that his story of being kidnapped was untrue and that he wrote the ransom message received by his wife, "I needed a rest and had to get away" the sheriff quoted Askew as saying in explanation of his action.

TORONTO, August 22 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on live "A" grade poultry, as supplied by the United Farmers Co-operative Co., were reported unchanged to-day.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Aug. 22 (CP).—Hogs brightened a somewhat dull afternoon on the Toronto Livestock Market by making their first gain of the week, a 10-cent jump. Lambs, however, offset the price by selling 25 cents lower with some late sales another 25 down. Cattle trading remained dull and prices continued weak with indications of another large holdover. Calves and sheep held firm.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 380; calves, 460; hogs, 580; sheep and lambs, 1,580.

Good and choice cattle were very scarce. Common to medium butchers ranged from $2.50 to $4.00, with boners at $1.75 to $2.00. Good butcher dows sold at $2.50 to $2.75 and canners made $1.00. Butcher culls sold from $2.25 to $2.75, while bolognas went at $1.75 to $2.00. A few light stockers moved from $2.10 and $2.75.

After an unsettled opening, the hog division settled 10 cents higher at $8.10 f.o.b. for bacons, $8.45 off truck and $8.85 off car. Lambs weakened and sales were from 25 to 50 cents lower though the larger drop was made in only a few sales. Good ewes and wethers sold at $6.00 to $6.25 and bucks and culls at $5.00 to $5.25.

Calves held at $5.50 to $6.00 per cwt., for good and choice vealers, with the bulk going from $3.50 to $5.00. Grassers brought $2.50. Sheep remained unchanged at $2.50 to $3.00 for best ewes.

LIVESTOCK QUOTATIONS.

Hogs, off car basis: Selects, $1.00 premium; bacons, $8.85; butchers, $1.00 discount; heavies, $1.50 discount; lights and feeders, $1.00 discount; sows, $5.85.

WHEAT DECREASE.

WINNIPEG — Decrease in Canada's visible wheat supply, reported from Ottawa by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, today was laid to excess of exports over deliveries by farmers.

Grandstand Notes

Do you Know?—

That the Winter Garden Revue playing currently in front of the grandstand has broken sixteen boxoffice records since the first of the year.

That the featured comedians of the Winter Garden Revue—Henry Cogert and Dick Motto—are the originators of "Human Jam Band"—the art of musical ventriloquism imitating all instruments with the hands.

That Catherine Behney, the lady producer of the Winter Garden Revue, is the wife of the musical director, "Smiling" Eddy Heffner, and that a blessed event is anticipated.

That there are several romances in Winter Garden Revue—

(1) Dick Motto who does that hilarious take-off of "Mahatma Gandhi."

(2) Roy Sanders, one of the "Six Rockets," featured in "Indian Fantasy" number.

(3) Russ O'Freil, Dapper Tapster, featured in "Stein" number.

(1) Cleo Young, a beauty contest winner and one of the famous Young sisters.

(2) Fern Adams, another lovely lady of the ensemble.

(3) Marge Hammond, "Little Miss Personality,' and former big feature of "The Parisian Rockets."

Connect the similar number. (1) with (1) and so forth and you will see who "goes for" who.

That Winter Garden Revue is highly and efficiently chaperoned by Mrs. Bertha Behney, a very sweet person.

That Bill Behney, one of the "Rockets" is an expert fisherman and "hunter"—proof—he is married to Nadine Saunders, one of the loveliest young ladies ever seen in these parts.

That Roy Saunders, one of the "Rockets," was former light-heavyweight boxer and a knockout artist at that. He still packs a mean wallop—so don't "cross" him.

That Marge Hammond got two ribs broken in Buffalo this year but is still as spritely as ever, which proves she is a real trouper and that old adage,

"On with the show," that I have "dished enough dirt," until to-morrow, signing off.—Henry Cogert, master of ceremonies, "Winter Garden Revue."

LAKE SHORE DIVIDEND.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP).—Directors of the Lake Shore Mines have declared an extra dividend of 50 cents a share on the capital stock, payable Sept. 15 to stock of record Sept. 1. On June 15 a similar extra was ordered.

BROKERS' OPINIONS.

C. B. Barney: "We do not feel at all confident that there is enough speculative interest in the market at this time to produce more than a one to two rally."

Redmond: "We think that existing uncertainties in the general situation as currently reflected by security prices, could be changed into bullish material on relatively short notice."

Jackson Bros.: "The action of equities appears to reflect the view that the public is more concerned with the near term outlook for business."

New York, N.Y., Aug. 22:

Yesterday's rally, which apparently was based on renewal of inflation enthusiasm, came at a significant time from a technical point of view. The narrow fluctuations and record-breaking low volumes of the two preceding trading sessions signalled a sharp move, and if last week's resistance points can be penetrated on well maintained volume a further 5-point gain is indicated.

Absence of profit-taking during the next day or two will give a clue to the market's technical strength and the passing of such a point would justify such purchases in anticipation of the extension of such an upward move.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP).—Stocks pushed higher with renewed vigor today, extending yesterday's advances by 1 to 3 or more points. The initial buying flurry came in the second hour. Following a lull prices again moved up to their top prices in the final dealings. Union Pacific rose 4 points, while Santa Fe, U.S. Rubber 1st Preferred and Johns-Manville gained around 3 each. Transfers approximated 1,350,000 shares.

ONTARIO HOG PRICES.

TORONTO, Aug. 22 (CP).—Bacon hog prices were steady today at $8.00 to $8.10 a hundredweight, f.o.b. shipping point. Today's prices: Kitchener, $8.00, unchanged; Brantford, $8.10, unchanged; Hull, Que., $8.50 off truck, unchanged. Peterborough, $8.00, unchanged.

EXCELLENCE OF V-8 MOTORS SHOWN AT THE PETERBORO "EX"

A graphic resume of the development of the automobile industry, and highly interesting explanations of the problems that confront motor manufacturers of the present day are being offered the public every evening at the Ford exhibit during the exhibition. The educational program of talking pictures is being presented under the auspices of Hood & Cumming Motors Ltd., and the Ford Motor Co. of Canada.

The part that steel plays in the automobile industry is shown, the process from the foundry to the finished product in the Ford plants being traced. The pictures the "Rhapsody in Steel," and "Safety" and "Why the V-8."

Pictures of the first motor car are thrown on the screen, then a series showing the gradual evolution of the motor car of the present day. The dominant role played by Henry Ford in the development of this great industry is emphasized.

With changing conditions, the problems faced by the industry have correspondingly altered. Highways, for instance, present an altogether different aspect to-day, and automobile manufacturers have adjusted framework, springs and motors to meet the need demanded. Scenes of varied conditions, in sand and snow for instance are also revealed.

Efficiency and economy in speed are however, the primary requisites, and the films demonstrate the qualities of the V-8 type motor, supporting the claim that its qualities outrival all others in these respects.

Its value as a source of speed, coupled with efficient endurance, are revealed in the fact that racing engines, on land, sea and in the air are using it. Outstanding record breaking performances, it is stated, have been made with V-8 engines.

Pictures of Sir Malcolm Campbell's racing car, the Schneider cup airplane race, Gar Wood's and Scott Payne's boats, and the Elgin road races, play a prominent part in the program at this point, corroborating the claims made for the V-8 engine. Winners of motor car races have regularly used this motor.

That this motor is highly economical, in comparison with other types, is demonstrated in various illustrative methods. The gasoline used, it is shown, is distributed in such a way as to give an even and economical supply of power fuel.

POWER BARGAINS

company to make cheap power available. He argued the reduction in the original price from $15 to $13 per horse power with more advantageous conditions of delivery showed hard bargaining and a complete survey of the possibilities.

Not a Gift

Believing the Hudson Bay Power Company of the Government's $100,000 annual rental on the part of their power sold to Hydro was not a gift as J. C. McRuer, Hydro counsel, had contended but a part of the bargain which resulted in the cheapest power Hydro had ever obtained.

Mr. Tilley asked the commissioners, Chief Justice F. R. Latchford and Hon. Robert Smith, to look at the conditions in the north at the time and the objects the Government and Hydro were seeking to obtain. They were not supplying power to industries already developed but were seeking to anticipate the needs and make power available at low cost as an encouragement to the development of the country.

They bought 100,000 horsepower but made an arrangement whereby the Abitibi Electrical Company, a sister company of the Hudson Bay power, would take 35,000. That left the commission with only 65,000 horsepower which was only 10,000 more than the amount for which Hydro engineers reported an actual apparent demand.

Before launching the probe, Mr. Tilley said, the Hydro commissioners and the chief engineer had been turned out an the engineering staff had been 'intimidated' by being told they were remaining only on sufferance from day to day. In addition the position of chief engineer was left open. The commission counsel, Arthur Slaght, and Mr. McRurer with this condition and with complete control of Hydro and Government records had been unable to make out a case.

DOG COMPLAINT MADE TO COUNCIL

Canines Running at Large Becoming Nuisance to Millbrook Villagers.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 23 (Examiner Correspondence).—Millbrook council met in regular session on Monday at 8 p.m., members all present except councillor Eakins, Reeve P. Stinson in the chair.

YOUNG FARMERS OF SIX COUNTIES

being "the largest on record", A. D. Runions, county agricultural representative for the Ontario Department of Agriculture, said, "they are particularly heavy from Peterborough County and if other counties had been represented accordingly we would have gone well over the two hundred mark".

Simultaneous with the start of livestock judging by the boys at nine-thirty, the girls commenced an extensive all-day program of household science judging. The program consisted of instruction and scoring of family menus and identification and method of cooking meats.

As a new departure in the girls' section this year, there was a clothing and house furnishing division, with a novel dress parade and kitchen plans. Models for the dress judging parade this morning were Mrs. Clarence Mann, and the Misses Evelyn Scott, Ola Gillespie, and Marion Fife.

Team Contests

In the afternoon the girls staged an inter-county team demonstration on good dressing; the various counties being represented as follows: Peterborough—Irene Franklin, Ethel Blakely, both of Lakefield; Victoria—Jeanne Wilson, Amy Graham, and Olive Graham, all of Lindsay; Northumberland—Margaret McCulloch, Irene Curle, and Beatrice Rutherford, all of Campbellford. Hastings — Nellie Webb, Kathleen McComb, and R. Mumby, all of Bonarlaw.

Under the general direction of Miss Edith Hopkins of the Women's Institute Branch, there were a total of 66 girl contestants from Peterborough, Victoria, Durham, Hastings and Northumberland. This county had the highest representation with 33 girls. Durham was second with 16 entrants.

In the big task which the placing of awards presented, Miss Hopkins was assisted by th fcollowing judges: Miss Gertrude Gray of the W.I. Branch, Toronto, family menus; Miss Edith Zavitz, Ilderton, kitchen plans; Miss Lulu Rowe, Curry's Crossing, dress parade; Miss Helen Baycroft, Aurora, meats; and Mrs. Clarence Mann, Bridgenorth, assisting with records.

Day in Cattle Ring

Boys spent the whole day in the cattle ring, starting off at an early hour with the judging of beef classes, including Shorthorn heifers and Market Cattle. Judges in this section were George Patterson and M. C. McPhail, both of the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

Dairy classes brought out a splendid group of Holstein and Jersey cows, with F. A. Lashley, agricultural representative at Alliston, judging the former, and R. E. agricultural representative at Newmarket, judging the latter class.

Poultry classes were being exhibited and judged under the joint direction of Clarence Mann of R.R. 4 Peterborough, and R. R. Dixon of R.R. 8, Peterborough. The former being in charge of the Leghorn section and the latter looking after the Barred Rocks.

In the afternoon the boys entered upon an equally strenuous round of activity as that which engaged the forenoon. Heavy horses were first in the show ring, with R. J. Rogers of Newmarket and Clarence Graham of Richmond Hill officiating as judges.

Sheep classes followed; the judges in this section being R. H. Graham and W. P. Watson, both of the Livestock Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Swine were judged by H. J. Maybee and H. L. Ford, both of the Federal Livestock Branch.

Prize winners in all the above contests will be announced this evening at a banquet which is being tendered to the Junior Farmers at Empress Hotel, as in former years, by Canada Packers Limited.

Directors in charge of the Junior Farmer activities: Gordon Hancock, chairman; V. S. Milburn, Carman Seymour, A. D. Runions, and H. Webber.

BURY DOGS WITH FULL RITES AT UNIQUE PARIS CEMETERY

Broken - Hearted Owners Spend Lavishly on Monuments for Dead Canines.

ABSURD EPITAPHS

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN,
Central Press Canadian Writer

PARIS, Aug. 22.—The dog cemetery! Sarcophagi of precious porphyrry for dogs. Dogs buried in silk-lined mahogany coffins with golden handles. Dog funerals with cream-lacquered motor-hearses. Dogs' graves surmounted by tombstones of genuine Sevres porcelain. Dog statues in white, green and red marble, executed by well-known sculptors. Gorgeous mausoleums for dead dogs that cost a fortune alone in the finely-wrought metal fences that surround them. Private gardeners piously arranging roses and other costly flowers on the graves. Weeping willows and stately cypress trees along tranquil pathways lined with benches of marble fitted with gold plates in memory of this or that pup. All this on an idyllic, breeze-fanned island in the Seine, from where you can see the heat-waves of a summer afternoon shimmering on the endless rows of concrete, airless slum tenements of Asnieres and Clichy, suburbs of Paris where infant mortality hovers between 65 and 75 per cent. ever since vital statistics came to be compiled.

Tuberculosis in Paris

There are twenty-five cemeteries in Paris, some famous ones such as Fere Lachaise, Montparnasse and Montmartre. The tombstones in these immense graveyards present a complete course in the history and the spiritual life of France of the last five or six centuries. But this city of dead dogs on the island has a note all its own. The place is called the "Isle des Ravageurs." Until half a century ago it was inhabited by ravageurs, that is people who fished up corpses that floated down the Seine and stripped them of their clothes and valuables which they sold on Sunday morning at the Marche des Puces (the Flea-Market). The Flea market still exists, but the ravageurs have vanished, along with the spaches and the garrotters.

I always knew this dog cemetery existed. But I had never gone there. I don't like cemeteries. Morbid Dostoievsky went to cemeteries to overhear the conversations of the dead and subsequently write it down in lugubrious dialogue. My ears are not so sensitively attuned. I hear nothing in such places but the silence of the tombs. And then, in order to get to this canine necropolis you must traverse either Asnieres or Clichy. If ever you do go that way you'll wonder with me why Paris is called "gay". Asnieres and Clichy have the highest percentage of any town in the world for tuberculosis. That frightful disease meets you in the streets at every step, stops you to ask for a penny or stares at you with deep burning eyes from behind a lone flower-pot in some open window.

Money for Dog Funerals.

The benches in the dog cemetery are put up "for meditation". It says so on the gold plates, which you may inspect under the watchful eye of private policemen. What is one to meditate on after coming through Clichy on a sweltering hot day? I know what I was thinking: Some day all this godless business, this cramming together of human beings in these steaming ovens will have to stop. There is always money, and at a moment's notice, for armaments and battleships and for luxurious dog-cemeteries, but it takes centuries to clean up one slum district. Why?

To be treated like a dog is a popular saying. I saw some dog funerals this afternoon that make this saying ridiculous. Six uniformed attendants carried a tiny coffin with a deference as if it contained the imperial crown of Muscovy. Slowly, on an automatic lowering machine, it disappeared into the earth. Heaps of flowers were thrown in the open grave. The mourners wept. They were two old ladies. But it's not only elderly spinsters who want to assure their darlings a human fate after death, so to speak. I saw the tombs where dogs were buried that had belonged to Henri Bataille, to Courteline, to Abel Faivre, to Marshal Foch. I saw the grave of Henri de Rochefort's cat. The grave of Rejane's canary bird and the grave of a race-horse named Krumir which died, so the epitaph informed me, of worry over losing a race.

Killed by Man He Saved

No, not only old ladies have a greater regard for beasts than men. Frederick II., who was a great soldier, but also a great despiser of men, loved his dogs so well that he had them embalmed and entombed in the Park of Sans-Souci. Robespierre had planned a funeral for his bull-dog Brount, when the axe of the guillotine intervened. Brount died two days before his master. The present ruler of the German people pompously committed one of his shepherds to earth on his Bavarian estate the other day. But the body of Dr. Klausner was cremated. Dead men tell no tales and an urnful of ashes gives no indication of where the bullets struck.

The first grave I saw was that of the famous St. Bernard "Barry", who saved forty lost travellers from a snowy death in the Swiss mountains. the forty-first man he saved shot him by mistake after the dog had brought him back to life. Barry's statue is there. Fine. On one grave I saw a sculptor busy installing a likeness in marble of a pug-dog.

"True to life, isn't he?" the artist asked me with obvious self-satisfaction.

"Yes," I said, "except that he doesn't bark!"

A Business Venture

The dog-cemetery of Paris, the only one in the world, I think, certainly the biggest, was not started by any dog-lovers. It was started as a business venture by two Polish immigrants who settled in Paris two hundred years ago. A speculation on human sentimentality, to be exact. The heirs of those two Poles are among the richest people in this town today. In other words the business flourished.

Every grave has an epitaph. Many have a photo in a glass case showing the buried canine in better days. Among the names I noticed were Athos, Zezette, Bouboulo, Cho-Cho, Diane, Didi, Farcette, Folette, Medor, Tic, Tac, Zizi, Toby, Whisky, Pioupiou and Petit Voyou. There were inscriptions in English, in Spanish, in Dutch, in German and several in languages unknown to me even by sight.

Some inscriptions are exaggerated to the point of ridicule. One reads: "Dors, mon cher petit Mexik. Mon ame est avec toi." ("Sleep, dear little Mexik. My soul is with you.") Or this one: "What epitaph could express my broken heart." "Petite chou, si aimante et tant aimee, fais dodo, tu ne seras jamais oubliee ni remplacee." (Little darling cabbage so lovely and so deeply loved, go sleepy-sleep, you will never be forgotten nor replaced.)

A Heaven For Dogs

Heinrich Heine tells how Danish missionaries who tried to convert the Greenlanders were asked whether there were any seals in the Christian heaven. When the Greenlanders were given a negative reply, they refused to embrace Christianity, saying that life without seals wasn't worth while. In this dog cemetery I found one epitaph which holds out hope, however. It reads: "Moi, je crois, que dans le Peut-Etre, Dans l'Ailleurs que nous esperons, Les bons chiens attendent leur maitre, Et que nous nous retrouverons." (I believe that in the great Maybe, in that hereafter for which we hope, good dogs wait for their masters and that we will see each other again.)

If that's true, I hope for the dogs' sake that they won't have to be kept on the leash, as in French parks, or wear a muzzle on the hottest days of the year.

Some epitaphs say more about the master than about the dog. This one for instance: "You were a better friend than humans." Or this bitter cry: "Nobody understood me but you." Or this yet: "You were the companion of my solitude and misery!" Still, that misery could not have been of a material kind. For a grave costs 10,000 francs, or $665 and the tombstone on that particular grave was easily worth double that amount. The upkeep is 500 francs a year, $35.

I caught the seven o'clock pont back to Clichy just after the factories had closed. Masses of men an women were streaming along the quays. There were tired and pale faces at every window in the tenement houses. The night announced itself sultry. Under the Seine bridges fires were burning. The homeless clochards were getting ready for the evening meal. Others were asleep already stretched out on the cobblestones.

ROAD CONVENTION WELL SUPPORTED

Presence of Six Highways Ministers Assured—Tentative Program Out.

QUEBEC, Aug. 22.—Hon. E. L. Patenaude, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec, has promised to be present at the twenty-first annual convention of the Canadian Good Road Association, to be held at the Manoir Richelieu, Murray Bay, P.Q., on September 11, 12 and 13, it was stated today by Hon. J. E. Perrault, K.C., Minister of Highways for Quebec and president of the association. He added that he had received assurance that eight of the nine provinces of Canada would have governmental representatives at the convention, with at least six Ministers of Highways present in person, and others sending their deputies or chief engineers in their stead.

The practically unanimous co-operation of all the provincial governments in the Dominion, with the participation of international and national, provincial and municipal organizations vitally interested in highway development, presaged one of the most successful conventions in the history of the association, Hon. Mr. Perrault believed. Advance reservations were already in excess of those for the previous three conventions at the same period, and the correspondence received indicated a keen interest in the forthcoming proceedings. The tentative programme, distributed last week, schedules twelve lectures by recognized authorities on various subjects connected with the financing, construction and maintenance of highway systems; uniformity of regulations and taxation governing highway transportation; standardization of road rules and signals, and the promotion of touring.

One of the most important topics which will be given consideration will be the Trans-Canada Highway, now well advanced to completion. Among the various heads under which it will be discussed will be its interprovincial aspects, the contributions made by each province in construction, the amounts invested, the mileage completed, and the plans in hand or contemplated for the filling of the remaining gaps and the improvement of existing stretches.

Abandoned Home Labatt Clue?

When London police received a mysterious letter from New York signed "R", advising them that John S. Labatt, kidnapped London brewer, could be found in an old abandoned home near Muncey, Ontario, Indian reserve, about 12 miles from London, they set out to find the house. Following directions given in the letter, an abandoned house was located. It has been vacant for the past 12 years and the owner, who lives not far from the frame structure, states that there has been some activity in the vicinity recently. The theory is now expressed that Labatt could have been held in this house for many hours without detection. The house is shown (TOP), the one room, below.

DROUGHT CONDITIONS IN IOWA DESCRIBED BY VISITOR TO CITY

One-third of State Badly Stripped of Crops—Water Supply Failed.

BEGAN IN SPRING.

Farmers in fertile, rain-blessed Ontario who are grumbling over farm conditions have no idea what hardship really is, John R. Rubidge, a visitor to the city from Des Moines, Iowa, said in an interview today. Combined forces of state and national relief agencies have been rallied to combat the worst drought damage in Iowa's history.

One-third of the state has been badly stripped of crops. Six cities are spending half a million dollars on water supplies, their own reservoirs exhausted. In twenty-four counties rendering plants are crowded with thousands of head of livestock that succumbed to drought and heat. Although sporadic rains have fallen during the past few weeks, the situation has been little relieved, Mr. Rubidge said.

The Iowa government crop forecaster, after a recent survey of the southern third of the state, said: "Such complete destruction of crops has probably never before been seen in Iowa."

Corn Dried Up

The corn has so completely shriveled that there is not even fodder salvage, Mr. Rubidge states. Small grain harvests yielded two to ten bushels per acre. The oats crop was not even cut. Pastures are so burned out that new seeding will be required next year.

"We will be completely wiped out here," an Appanoose county farmer wrote in answer to a government questionnaire, "unless we get help soon. The corn is so dry it rubs to powder in your hands. Yields of small grains don't pay harvest costs. We have turned the cattle loose in the grains to preserve pastures.

"There's nothing left to do for livestock except to put them out of their misery by shooting them or sending them unfinished to market."

Half Bushel To Acre

A Cass county farmer reported his oats yielded a half bushel per acre and that corn will be a failure. In more than a dozen counties farmers said they were hauling water long distances.

The Iowa drouth began when spring rains were delayed and by mid-June half the state's small grain crops had been burned up. Good rains early in July caused the north half of the state to revive to about normal but subsequent heat dried up the southern half to the extent that virtually all valuable growing plants were destroyed, Mr. Rubidge states.

Mr. Rubidge is a great-grandson of the Rubidge who settled in Peterborough along with the founder, Peter Robinson, during the last century. It was in honor of his family that Rubidge street was named. Born in Peterborough, Mr. Rubidge left here for the United States in 1880. He returns here quite regularly during the summers.

PONY CAN BLOW BUGLE, DANCES

One of Best Trained Ponies in World Appearing at Exhibition.

PEFORMING DOGS.

"Boy" the pony featuring in Mary Palmer's Circus as one of the major grandstand attractions, is a clever little animal standing only 3-feet high, and tipping the scales at 265 pounds.

"It not only dances the "Black Bottom" but can blow a bugle. Milo Palmer and his wife Mary Palmer claim that it is one of the best trained ponies in the world.

When The Examiner called to see Mr. and Mrs. Palmer this morning, they were out on the greensward, front of the grandstand putting the troupe of clever performing dogs, who are also a part of the act, through their daily setting-up exercises.

"Hey Mutt. Come here Mutt."

At the command of his master Mutt a perky little fox terrier came bounding across the turf, and promptly executed a number of evolutions in the air, for the benefit of the scribe. The little fellow appeared to be cognisant of the value of publicity, which is part and parcel of the show game.

"Who does the training of the animals? Your wife?" The Examiner asked.

"I do. My wife she trains me," Mr. Palmer replied in halting English.

The son of a French circus proprietor, Mr. Palmer stated that he was born in Sweden in a circus tent. Since that time he has travelled throughout Europe and all over the American continent, not only with circuses but also on vaudeville circuits.

At the outset of his professional career, he was a bareback circus rider. Later he owned an elephant act, which he had to abandon with the outbreak of the Great War. He was touring through Belgium with his elephant act, he said, at the time war was declared and he at once disposed of the pachyderm preparatory to leaving the country. He was there however at the time of the German invasion and recalled, "a Uhlan officer pressed a gun to my temple for nothing at all."

He fled to Italy, and after that country entered into hostilities he returned to his native Sweden.

During the seven years that Mr. and Mrs. Palmer have had their present act, they have been on Keith's vaudeville circuit, and with it have played most of the principal cities in Canada and the United States.

Discussing training of the animals, Mr. Palmer said the only secret lay in patience and kindness. Pointing to a part-Scotch terrier dog, he said, "I bought Teddy from a veterinary, for two dollars. He had been sent to the vet by his owner to be destroyed."

Now Mr. Palmer said, "Teddy is one of he best dogs in the circus, and acts the part of a drunk so cleverly that if he doesn't raise a laugh with his audience, I'll eat my shirt."

CITY DISPLAYS FLOWERS AT 'EX' FOR FIRST TIME

"Statice Latifolia" From One of City Parks an Exhibit.

FLOWER SHOW BIGGER.

Al Spencely Prominent in Gladiolus Section—List of Winners.

For the first time on record the Parks Department of the city council is represented in the Flower Show of the Exhibition.

A display of the gossamer Statice Latifolia grown in one of the city parks from seed planted three years ago is prominently placed in the big tent. Resembling the better known "Baby's Breath", this perennial of which Alderman Stocker, chairman of the Parks Committee, is quite proud, is a delicate, lacy pompon of small flowers that could probably be used effectively both in bed and design work.

Another added display of rockery shrubs surrounding a small pool in which a few goldfish swim around, cultivated water lilies is an attractive arrangement installed by the Brookdale and Kingsway Nurseries of Bowmanville. Incidentally, this exhibit which could be duplicated at small cost suggests further possibilities in community beautification which might inspire local emulation.

Directors of the Flower Show informed the "Examiner" that this year's entries are more numerous than ever, and their arrangement of the exhibits provides a better opportunity for the public to see them. Cool weather so far has tended to preserve the freshness of the flowers as they came from their gardens Monday morning, but if the week turns hot there is likely to be a decidedly noticeable wilting before Saturday night.

Some of the Exhibitors

Among the most successful exhibitors are: Mr. and Mrs. Al. Spencely, W. C. Wilks, Harold Darling, G. W. Downer, Mrs. H. Turner, Miss Helen F. Brown, N. W. Crowe, Mrs. Ira Lowe, of Cavan; E. J. Hotston, J. Howland, Mrs. G. S. Shearer, of Indian River; and John Pilling.

Al Spencely's Pastime Gardens were awarded ten first and eleven second prizes, mostly in the gladioli classes.

In the section for the best basket of "Glads" Mr. Spencely was the only exhibitor with a striking display of the Albatross variety, a chalk white, large flower, shown against a green background. Mr. Spencely also dominated the gladioli section by winning first for the best six, twelve and forty varieties.

In spite of the earlier dates of the Exhibition and the long, dry season, the aster section presented many entries. There is also an arresting shelf of vividly colored Dahlias, the Zinnias are numerous and the petunias are worthy of special mention.

One of the directors stated that the children who have been exhibiting in the junior department formerly conducted by the Peterborough Horticultural Society were not aware that this section was withdrawn by the Society this year. Some of them brought entries of flowers, only to learn that their little show had been transferred to the recent competition in the Legion Hall.

The directors this year are: W. H. Young, chairman; D. Jordan, W. J. Kennedy, N. E. Crowe, H. Darling, R. M. Glover, Smith Milburn and R. H. Turner.

HOWSON MOTORS SELLING HUDSONS

Sole Distributors of the New Line in Peterborough.

Announcement that the firm of Howson Motors on Water street has been appointed agent for Terraplane Hudson cars in this city was made to-day. With this important step forward, the firm will continue more than fifteen years' service to the local automotive public.

Howson Motors will be sole distributors of their new line in Peterborough and will carry a comprehensive line of parts and equipment in connection with the agency. As formerly, the staff under the direction of W. S. Howson with full equipment at their disposal, will be prepared to offer the public a completely adequate service.

The Terraplane Hudson line this year includes a fine selection of machines designed to meet every requirement and at the same time selling at a price appealing strongly to the average purse.

BROOKLYN GANG LOOT LARGEST IN U.S. HISTORY

Police Suspect New Arch Criminal Engineered Daring Theft.

TRAIL DISAPPEARS.

BY DALE HARRISON

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Aug. 22—(AP)—A new arch criminal, craftier than Capone and deadlier than Dillinger, hid today from the law, with the largest loot of cash ever taken in a United States holdup jingling in his jeans.

Timing his $427,000 robbery of an armored truck yesterday as a sardonic coincidence of Police Commissioner O'Ryan's 60th birthday anniversary, this new strategist of crime executed the theft so smoothly and fled so swiftly that his trail ran everywhere today into dead ends.

The police, failing in their quickly set trap yesterday to snare the desperado and his men, turned their full strength today into the hunt. Throughout the night the air bristled with commands to cruising squad cars and speedy police patrols:

"Stop all cars occupied by two or more men—"

"Search all garages and inquire if sedan already found has been stored in garage since June 6 to date—."

"Be on lookout for 12 men in three cars, one carrying Thompson machine gun. Apprehend with caution—."

No arrests have been made, but scores of men, women and children—witnesses to all or part of the holdup—have been questioned. Hours were spent last night by witnesses in going through the Rogues' Gallery at Manhattan police headquarters.

Some credence was given to a theory that the crime was conceived in the brain of some former bootlegger made desperately poor by repeal. This theory was given substance by the finding last night of empty money bags—possibly the very bags in which the $427,000 was being transported—in the rear of a bar and grill at Sheepshead Bay, Brooklyn.

Notorious Territory

The Sheepshead Bay territory is close to that once controlled by the notorious Frankie Yale. It was here, too, that Vannie Higgins—like Yale an eventual victim of gang guns—operated flourishing rum running traffic, using speed boats that laughed at spasmodic pursuit.

The empty money bags were found crammed beneath cigarette vending machines.

Phil Claro, a bartender, said ten men whom he never had seen before entered the barroom at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon — three hours and a half after the robbery—and had a round of beer. The number of men involved in the holdup has been variously fixed at between 10 and 14.

The money taken from the armored truck consisted of sums collected at several Brooklyn branches of the Bank of Manhattan, as well as from private firms. It was destined for the Federal Reserve Bank in Manhattan.

The robbery is without precedent either in the size of the cash lost or in the nature of the theft itself. Never before has an armored truck of the United States Trucking Corporation been robbed. The trucks themselves have always been spoken of as "holdup proof."

Huge Collections.

An average of $19,000,000 is transported in these trucks through the streets of New York each week day. Tuesdays are the "big days," more money being handled then than on others.

The police have apparently no inclination toward any theory that the holdup may have been an "inside job." They call attention to the fact that not only were the two guards and the truck driver men of vouched for integrity, but also that no advance information as to a truck's route is ever made known.

A detective, returning early today to headquarters after hours on the case, said he was convinced that (1) the robbers were former hijackers of the dry era, and that (2) they probably are men without city or New York State police records.

The hijacker technique marked yesterday's truck robbery, this officer said. In prohibition days, he recalled, gangs numbering a dozen or more men would swarm over the side of a rum-running vessel, take over the cargo at the point of pistols and machine guns, and escape in speed boats to pre-arranged destinations, where fast motor cars and trucks awaited.

Fast cars and speedboats were essentials of yesterday's crime. The thieves drove away in cars of such power as to enable them to outdistance pursuit, and went directly to a dock, where speed boats waited to race them out of the police circle that had been quickly swung around downtown Brooklyn.

Little Girl Faints As Man Eats Fire

Eating fire may be all in a day's work for the midway performers at the Exhibition, but it was too much for one of the children who swarmed about the grounds yesterday afternoon.

With wide eyes, the 12 year old little girl edged close to the barkers' platform as the ringing of the triangle revealed that a new ballyhoo for the magic show was getting under way. She gasped with excitement as a couple of preliminary feats of mystery were performed. Then the magician raised aloft a burning torch and plunged it into his mouth. The little girl fainted.

The little girl's case was one of three handled by the members of the St. John's Ambulance Corp in their Exhibition Grounds station yesterday. One of the midway workmen who sustained injuries to his head while working about the Ferris wheel, was treated and first aid was rendered one of the concessionaries who gashed his hand with a butcher knife. One lost child was given care.

Eight men and four nurses, all neatly uniformed, are serving in shifts at the station this week. Included in the station facilities is a ladies' rest room and a parcel check room. A five-cent charge is being levied in the check room in order that expenses may be met.

GRANDSTAND PERFORMANCE IS ACCLAIMED BEST IN HISTORY

there are some mighty fine acts that bring skilful muscular movements and quick thinking right up to the extreme limit of exacting modern demands in amusement.

Black and Silver

A dark sky and a big silver moon were the last notes needed to complete the attractive setting for the Revue which was the high light of the evening. Sable draperies and silver ornamental motifs made a huge curtaining and side drops for the Revue, in the approved, up-to-date manner. And, by the way, the side drops which interfered with perfect vision from some angles, last night, will be removed at future performances, for the assisting acts'

The girls who form the dancing chorus for the Revue are youthful, pretty and brilliant performers. And they dance with a co-ordination of brisk movement and a sincerity in presenting the best foot foremost that makes their work complete and satisfying. There is nothing skimped or overlooked in this year's program. And the costumes are quite extraordinary in their scope, freshness, beauty and novelty.

The Revue, of course, is the big moment of the evening. Band music, bright and snappy, forms the background for the brilliant precision and tap number by dancers in lovely routine. The sprightly bevy of skilful steppers come out for the opening, in suits of blue and silver, with high silver hats and little silver slippers, tripping it to the theme music of the "Stein Song" and featuring a couple of tap and eccentric dancers who start the applause that runs without intermission through the entire Revue. The two clever steppers are Ginger Dunn and Russ Freil.

Later comes "Jungle Rhythm" with the girls in grass skirts and headdresses doing a hula dance. These are gorgeous outfits that hold the attention with their vivid novelty and startling colors.

Featured in this episode is Fanny Sutton, late of Earl Carol's 'Vanities', who must be double-jointed. Her slender, dainty little figure goes into all manner of contortions that seem almost impossible for the human frame. She does complete back and side bends with the greatest of ease; makes a perfect back bow of her body to get a handkerchief in the hardest way to secure it; does a 'split' while standing on her head and then walks down steps in the same position, balances her weight on the heels sufficiently to lie flat without using her hands and then recovers a standing position in the same weird style, and finally does a complete back bend to recover three poker chips with her teeth.

The noted "Honeymoon Hotel" number from "42nd Street" comes later, with the gay chorines 'shuffling off to Buffalo' in a tap number done in black and white satin outfits. This is a smart and well-dressed episode.

And, finally, a grand closing is worked into with the Revue and its girls appearing in an Indian Fantasy that strikes another brilliant note in a sparkling Extravaganza. Beautiful in the extreme are their little white doeskin tights leather fringing and large war bonnets of white and crimson feathers. They give the program a closing that makes for finish and polish to a smoothly-working outdoor performance of an indoor Revue. And they work in four strong men and a couple of girls who present some striking dances.

Circus Thrillers

Skill and novelty of another type animate the balance of the presentation, with a vaudeville flavor to the acrobatic feats and stunts of performers whose physical prowess is of the highest order.

You may often have seen a dream walking, but supported by still another male, after being shot upward from the extreme end of a springboard. Perfect timing, co-ordination of effort and great physical endurance are necessary for the feats of skill with which the Royal Buccaneers entertain their watchers. They look like gladiators—so powerful are these men with their rippling muscles and sure eyesight.

Dressed as pirates, in black, white and red, they do little stunts like the one mentioned, they do backflips and douze somersaults that land them (apparently without trying very hard) on one another's shoulders, and they turn and twist in mid-air with the greatest of ease and swiftness. They are indeed 'royal' performers.

Then there is Arthur Pelley and his company, whose ease in lightning horizontal bar stunts is something to write home about. They also use a spring attachment that sends them upward with the curious effect that one gets in a movie when the camera records dives, etcetera, backwards, and the performers appear to spring up into the air without any propulsion. They are extremely light-footed and the leader clowns his act in a manner that brings him renewed appreciation from a convulsed audience.

The 5 Knights are another skilful quintette in tight-wire walking that entails some hazardous and exceedingly interesting feats.

Joe Mandis and his troupe go in for 'Table Etiquette' that is a hilarious mixture of skilful endeavor, gymnastic ability and side-splitting comedy' Termed a "natural', by the profession, the act, with three men and a lady (Mrs. Mandis), goes in for burlesquing its skill in such a way that the most difficult feats appear to be haphazard affairs not planned at all by the performers. They tumble around, high in the air, on a makeshift platform contrived of a bunch of chairs and a table and a huge floor lamp, piled on top of each other. Up and down this they go, head first and feet first, walking on their heads and come down in singles and pairs and trios on their heads an with chairs on their backs. The whole thing is a clever jumble of equilibristic science.

Clever Pony

Marie Palmer's Trained Animals features a very clever Shetland pony that is one of the most active and interested performers in the whole show. He is a host in himself this bundle of live wires with his mouse-colored little body and his long flowing tail and mane. What he can't do isn't much.

He blows the bugle in a recognizable tune; he dances to the music of the ogle-eyed 'Barney Google' he waltzes and trots and paws the air with his dainty little feet and he does a 'bucking bronco' stunt. He is a remarkably intelligent little animal and he got a big hand last night as did the half dozen cleverly trained little dogs that do cute tricks with such ease. They ascend and descend ladders, draw little carts, catch rings with their noses, simulate intoxicated canine booze-hounds, all of their own accord, apparently, and with the greatest amount of enjoyment in their own tricks.

And last, though certainly not least, judging by the amount of enthusiastic applause they earned from the crowd that recalled them time and again, are the fun-makers, Cogert and Motto, heard in wise-cracks, smart sayings and impersonations. They do a radio and recording stunt, impersonate the Duncan sisters in falsetto voices that bring down the house, sing "O Katherina" with abandon and a 'laughing' chorus, and otherwise entertain the audience in a manner original and all their own. They do a crystal-gazing bit, also, with Motto in Mahatma Gandhi outfit, that adds to the general hilarity of the evening.

To-night and to-morrow night will see a repetition of this program, with Friday night recording a change and several new numbers and additions to the performance.

The clever dancers in the Indian Fantasy episode of the Revue, who do some spectacular group numbers are Miss Betty Lee, Miss Dorothy (Ginger) Dunn, Jack Carroll, Bill Bahney, Bill Hedrick and Roy Saunders.

Chile expects a building boom.

AND HERE'S WHY . . .

Nearly twenty years' experience in selling automobiles in Peterborough have taught Howson Motors why people buy motor cars. They know what makes a car saleable—they recognize motor car values.

They subjected the 1934 Terraplane and Hudson to every test their long experience taught them. They tested performance — durability — riding comfort — economy. They compared size—roominess—streamlined style.

They discovered for themselves what people are finding out every day—that the 1934 Terraplanes and Hudsons are ideal cars to drive and to own. They decided that Terraplanes and Hudsons were the easiest cars to sell—the hardest to sell against.

We welcome them to the Hudson Terraplane dealer organization.

TWIN Dollar Days COLOSSAL

$ $ $ $ AND BARGAIN TREASURE HUNT

Friday and Saturday AUGUST 24th and 25th, 1934

A COMMUNITY WIDE SENSATIONAL SAVINGS EVENT WORTH COMING MILES TO BE PRESENT AT

The majority of Peterborough merchants are, as customary for years past, again co-ordinating in an August community-wide Twin Dollar Days. They are preparing a Bargain Carnival for August 24th and 25th that should excel all previous efforts of this nature—a shopping sensation teeming with mighty big values for mighty little money. All lines of merchandise will be so drastically cut in prices that each purchase may in truth be considered a TREASURE in value and savings. And in each RED PENNANT BEDECKED Store will be found one or more greater Bargains worth while hunting for.

CONDITIONS ARE IMPROVING AND EVERYTHING'S GOING TO BE ALRIGHT

$ There is a greater feeling of confidence to-day than at this time last year; industries have been busier, and a speeding up of Dominion-wide activity in trade and commerce generally experienced. Therefore it can be consistently asserted that, to say the least, the backbone of acute depression has been broken and that Canada is well on the way to "happy days again." The prosperity of a nation hinges upon the production and buying of commodities, so a generous response to the invitation to buy and save on these two Dollar Days will, by quickening the demand for merchandise correspondingly affect the supply markets and hasten the day when depression shall be completely banished. Then, remember that as regular prices are on the upgrade, Dollar Days' Sensational Bargains mean two-fold savings. $

$100 IN CASH PRIZES

TO BE AWARDED BY A PUBLIC DRAW

This year, to freshen up interest in Dollar Days, a new feature has been introduced. The olde tyme estimating blank has been discarded in favor of a public draw for the prize-winners. At all stores displaying Dollar Day Pennants shoppers will receive one DRAW TICKET for every dollar of their purchase. All that is required to be in the running for a prize is to write your name and address plainly on each of your tickets and drop them in the labeled box outside the Examiner Office during these Twin Dollar Days. This box will remain open till ten o'clock Saturday night, August 25th. Winners of the following cash prizes will be drawn for by a prominent citizen (to be named later) and at a time and place to be announced in The Examiner.

First Prize $30, Second $20, Third $15, Fourth $10, Fifth $5, Sixth $3, Six prizes of $2 each, and Five of $1 each.

Above prize amounts are subject to amendment, but it is hoped the grand total will be increased.

DETROIT VISITOR HOOKED 22 FISH

Harold F. Wolfe Had a Big Day at Rice Lake.

The Hiawatha section of Rice Lake sent Harold F. Wolfe of the Murray Corporation of America, Detroit, home this morning still talking to himself about a big day's fishing yesterday.

Engaging one of the Muskrat men as a guide, Mr. Wolfe started out about 7.30 o'clock Tuesday morning, and was so well rewarded with a fine catch of fish that he went back in the afternoon and remained until evening. He had an assortment of twenty-two bass, pickerel and "muskes" on his string when he finally called it a day, and turned his car toward Detroit this morning reluctant to leave the Hiawatha waters, but that should put on weight and with plans to come back next summer for some of the "muskies" fenghth by next August.

PROBE FOR COLLINGWOOD.

TORONTO, Aug. 22 (C.P.). — Attorney-General Arthur Roebuck of Ontario said to-day he could consider a resolution sent to him from Collingwood following a citizens' meeting there asking for an inquiry into acts of the public Utilities Commission.

One of the complaints contained in the resolution said the Commission had awarded a contract for a pump to a firm outside the town although a firm inside had tendered for the job at a lower figure.

It Pays

to look after your health. Keeping your nervous system functioning properly is a great aid to the health of your whole body. The vital organs are supplied by nerves which make their exit from the spine.

Here impingement may exist, and when it does a portion of the nerve energy is shut off from the tissues supplied by the impinged nerves.

This means weakness, disordered function and disease.

Periodical spinal treatments pay good dividends in health, strength and productive energy.

BROADCASTS AGAIN

Word has just been received from Cyril S. Hughes, local representative of The Wawanesa Mutual Ins. Co., to the effect that this company will once again sponsor a radio broacast over C.K.C.L., TORONTO, twice each week-day from August 24th to Sept. 8th—the duration of the Canadian National Exhibition. During two of four "Exhibition Tours" periods first at noon, 12.00 to 12.30 Daylight Saving time (except on Saturdays, when it will be 1.00 to 1.30) and again in the evening at 5.00 to 5.30 on Fridays and 5.15 to 5.45 on other days—and in both cases toward the end of the periods. Many will recall the April broadcast sponsored by this, Canada's largest fire mutual insurance company. As in April, the primary purpose will be to educate the insuring public. Mr. Hughes urges every one to either tune in on their own radio or arrange to hear it over the loud speakers placed at scattered points all over the C.N.E. grounds.

LANDS FINE GREEN BASS

Ritchie McArthur, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McArthur, 185 London street, admits that he is rather inexperienced as a fisherman. But inexperienced or not, he landed a 5¼-pound green bass, one of the biggest bass caught in the district this year, at the floating bridge, Chemong Lake, yesterday.

The boy was fishing with worms and hooked a small perch. He used the perch as bait and then hooked the big bass.

CAR IS OVERTURNED

Miss Ruby Dunham of Campbellford, one of the Northumberland representatives in the girl's section of the Junior Farmer Division was prevented from competing to-day at the Exhibition, it was learned, owing to an accident in which she became involved when about to leave home this morning.

According to word received by Miss E. Hopkins, supervisor of the girl's section, Miss Dunham had occasion to apply the brakes on her car as she was coming out of the driveway. The car overturned and Miss Dunham and a passenger who accompanied her were so badly shaken up that they considered it inadvisable to proceed with their journey here.

THREE FIRE ALARMS

The inactivity that had prevailed at the City Fire Department over a comparatively long period, was interrupted yesterday by three alarms following in close succession.

First of the calls sent apparatus to a chimney fire at a Water street residence; the second to the Lock Works where a small blaze had occurred on the roof of the moulding shop, and the third call to 107 Aylmer street, to property owned by Fred C. Hartley.

In the latter instance extensive damage was caused in the bathroom, by an outbreak having its origin under the flooring at the head of the bath. The flames swept under the floor boards, up the wall back of the plaster and got seated in the roof.

The fact that the outbreak was discovered in its early stages by Miss S. Brown, a tenant in the house, minimized the damage that might have been caused. Loss is covered by insurance.

CHILDREN LOOKED AFTER

Officials at the city relief office to-day reported that many of 800 tickets for the admission of children of families on relief to the exhibition have been given out already and most of them were probably used yesterday. These children's tickets were donated by Charles Shaw, manager of the Ovaltine, and Mr. Shaw also generously arranged that each child should receive tickets for ice cream cones.

Many of the 2,000 tickets for adults on relief, donated by the Exhibition Board, have also been distributed, it was learned.

GARDENIAS DRAPE ONE FAN DANCER

Fan Dance of Sally Rand Fame Started Many Ideas to Same End.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (C.P.) — An epidemic of dancers has broken out here. Since Sally Rand introduced the fan dance, every terpsichorean with an atom of ambition has thought up a novelty of her own.

Some of the more strikingly billed are the bubble, the violet, the balloon, the shawl, the sleeve, the radium and half a dozen more dances. There is the presentation of "The Maid, the Masque and the Muff," the dance of the golden apples and "The Leopard Lady."

The central idea around which most of the new dances are built is well portrayed in the dance of Gardenias—still another variety. The artiste appears before the audience discreetly draped in flora of that specie. She pivots gyrates and whirls for a bit and, one by one, hurls blooms at the spectators. Presently, of course, there aren't any more gardenias — just the dancer.

Bonarlaw

Miss Hilda Mumby returned to Toronto on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. Chas. E. Dingman spent the week-end at Bonarlaw.

Messrs. Glynn and Jack Eastwood spent the week-end at Crowe Lake, visiting Chester and Kennard Baker.

Mr. John A. Bell, mining engineer of the Consolidated Smelting and Mining Co., left on Monday of this week for Elk Lake, Ont., where he will be prospecting for his company for some time. He was accompanied by Messrs C. O. Reid and C. L. McKeown.

Mr. John R. Brown spent Saturday evening last in Toronto.

Mr. Ralph Mumby returned to Toronot on Monday afternoon of this week.

In a letter from D. S. Green, of the McCormick and Co., Inc., located in New York city, addressed to Mr. Baker, agent of C.P.R., he makes mention of the late Hon. J. R. Cooke in these words: "Sorry to hear of the accident and death of the Hon. J. R. Cooke. While I did not know him personally, I have seen him many times when he was Reeve of Rawdon. Ontario has lost a man well thought of by both political parties and a booster for the Province."

Mr. Green, in his younger days resided in Rawdon Township and since taking up his residence in the United States has followed with interest the successful career of Mr. Cooke.

The question, "How Many Toes Has a Cat?" is also being asked at Bonarlaw as well as Campbellford. Jack Baker has a cat with twenty-six toes—seven on each front foot and six on each of the hind feet. The cat is entirely black and the oversized paws make a considerable noise when the cat walks across a hard floor.

Here are typical models of powerful streamlined, Canadian-built 1934 Terraplane Sixes and Hudson Eights, the cars which had so much to do with the spectacular spurt in retail car-buying and drew the attention of every Canadian motorist. All models have the advantages of unit-engineering of high ratios to power to weight and dynamic streamlining. They are more massive, more spacious, and axleflex is optional without extra cost in each case. Photos show: UPPER LEFT, a Terraplane Six equipped with the Hudson system of independent springing, axleflex, which retains the axle and permits the use of full non-skid tires: LOWER LEFT, the smart rear lines which not only have natural streamlines but include the new rear compartments for spare tire or luggage: UPPER RIGHT, the new Hudson Eight Coupe: LOWER RIGHT, the bigger new Terraplane Six Sedan on 112-inch wheelbase.

Davis-Carruthers Wedding

George Street United Church, bright with sunshine and gay with a profusion of lovely flowers, formed the setting at half past two o'clock this afternoon for a very interesting wedding, when Pearl, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Carruthers of Aylmer street, was united in marriage to Mr. Frederic Gordon Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. H. Davis of Oshawa.

Gladioli in rainbow and flame tints, with ferns and palms, banked the pulpit and the choir loft, and the guest pews were tied off with wide white satin ribbons and clusters of pink gladioli and blue cornflowers.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. J. E. J. Millyard, was the officiating clergyman.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was all in white. Her long, graceful gown of pussy willow crepe satin, made on princess lines, had a slight train. The sleeves, puffed to the elbow, were tight-fitting to the wrist. The narrow belt had a brilliant buckle and the pointed neckline was finished with a cluster of white organdie gardenias which were caught by a family heirloom, an exquisite little pin of hand-carved ivory simulating a hand holding a rose.

The long veil of tulle, embroidered faintly at the edges, was caught in a smooth cap to the head, with shirring at the back. It was worn back from the forehead, showing the bride's golden hair, and had a double slender fillet of orange blossoms that ended in clusters at either side.

Slippers of silk crepe, banded with satin, the straps fastened by brilliant buckles, were worn, with white silk hose. Gloves of white, in suede finish with frilled gauntlet cuffs of organdie, completed the bride's outfit, and a handkerchief of linen and lace d'Alencon, worn in turn by the mother and grandmother of the bridegroom.

The bride's bouquet was of creamy pink Butterfly roses and gypsophila, tied with white.

Attendants were Miss Gwen Anderson of Midland, cousin of the bride, and Miss Ruth Millyard.

Mr. Ralph Davis, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bridesmaids were frocked in taffeta of similar type, long and close-fitting, with sleeves slashed to the elbow and shirred to the wristlime and necklines slashed at the back, finished with velvet revers in contrasting colors. The same lovely contrast in soft velvet bound the edges of the slashed sleeves and formed the wide belts which were buckled at the back with brilliants.

Miss Millyard was in Madonna blue taffeta, trimmed with pale rose pink velvet, and Miss Anderson wore pink, trimmed with blue, in the same tints.

Their little halo hats showed similar lovely color combinations to match their frocks. The off-the-face bands of velvet, matching the frocks, had crowns of stitched taffeta in the contrasting shade, and both were trimmed with side clusters of French forget-me-nots in pink and blue.

They wore moire slippers to match their gowns and gloves of matching taffeta with double velvet cuffs in pink and blue.

Their old-fashioned nosegays with white lace paper frills, centered by medium pink Briarcliffe roses, were bordered with fine green fern and tied with pink.

The wedding music was played by a friend of the family, Mr. John H. Renwick of Toronto and Stoney Lake, formerly of Peterborough.

During the signing of the register, a beautiful solo, "Beloved, It Is Morn," was sung by Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, who wore a ruffled dress of white mousseline de soie and a large white hat. Her corsage bouquet was of dark pink Premier roses and gypsophila, tied with pink.

Ushers were Mr. Clifford Carruthers and Mr. Kenneth Heddon of Oshawa.

A reception, held at the home of the bride's parents, was attended by over sixty guests, who were received by the bridal party and the parents of the bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Carruthers, mother of the bride, wore black taffeta trimmed with ecru, matching accessories and a hat of black taffeta and velvet with small white feather trimming. Her corsage bouquet was of dark pink Premier roses and gypsophila.

Mrs. Davis, mother of the bridegroom, was in an ensemble of white silk crepe, with white hat and white accessories and corsage bouquet of crimson Premier roses and gypsophila.

The house was decorated with quantities of lovely flowers. Pastel tints made the color scheme for the table, done with the bride's cake and cloth of Scotch Cluny lace. Tall ivory tapers in silver holders were banded with delicate green fern and tiny pink roses, which also festooned the lace cloth. In a large silver rose bowl were mixed summer flowers; gladioli, cosmos, stocks, phlox, asters and cornflowers, all in delicate shades.

Later, Mr. Davis and his bride left for a motor honeymoon trip to Montreal and Ottawa, to reside at 126 Warren avenue, Oshawa, on their return.

The bride's travelling outfit was a smart ensemble of lightweight wool in military blue, with a blouse of white Swiss wool lace, little hat of navy blue felt and blue shoes, gloves and purse.

Weddings

HOLGATE—HEAD.

A pretty wedding took place quietly at three o'clock this afternoon at the parsonage of Trinity United Church, when Rita E. Head, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Head of Olive avenue, became the bride of Mr. William T. Holgate, B.Sc., of Peterborough, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Holgate of Edmonton, Alberta.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. N. Wootton and attendants were the sister of the bride, Miss Dora Head, and Mr. Leslie Mason.

The bride was attired in a dainty dress of white coin spot taffeta, a small white tricorne hat with a little eye veil, white slippers, hose and gloves. Her bouquet was of Butterfly roses and lily of the valley.

The bridesmaid was in amethyst lace with matching hat and accessories and bouquet of Briarcliff roses.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, attended by the immediate relatives. Mrs. Head, mother of the bride, assisted in receiving, wearing black, with corsage bouquet of Templar roses.

Decorations were carried out with gladioli and the table was done with a lace cloth and pink tapers and centered by the bride's cake.

Mr. Holgate and his bride left later by motor, the latter travelling in a suit of Madonna blue marionette (silk knit), with navy crepe coat, hat of navy blue felt an matching accessories.

After a trip to Montreal and Quebec, they will live at 114 Stewart street.

Magistrate's Court

Magistrate Langley in police court to-day urged those in the city planning the erection of any building to first get in touch with City Engineer Parsons and so become informed of the city's building rules and restrictions.

These remarks followed hearing of the case in which a local contractor of this city, pleaded guilty to two charges: failing to obtain a building permit and not laying asbestos paper under shingles as required by the city building by-law. He pleaded guilty to both charges, but explained that he was ignorant that a permit was required or that the city demaned the placing of asbestos paper under shingles. He was fined $5 and costs in each case. City Solicitor J. R. Corkery acted for the city.

Another local builder also faces a charge of failing to put asbestos paper under shingles. The case was adjourned until next Thursday.

Births in Japan decreased 61,618 in the last year.

He Won't Go Back On His Dogs

Welfare officials gave Ernest Booth, 72, of Saugus, Mass., the choice of giving up his four dogs or losing his weekly state relief allowance. "They wouldn't go back on me; I won't go back on them," he said, choosing to save them from being chloroformed.

GIRL CONCEALED BIRTH OF CHILD

Inquest is Held Into the Death of New-born Baby

KEPT DEAD CHILD 6 DAYS.

Loretta Herr, 21, this city, testifying before a coroner's inquest into the death of her baby on July 21, told of how she had successfully concealed the birth of the child for six days.

Alone in her room at a local home where she was employed as a domestic, she said the child was born early in the morning unknown to others in the house. A few minutes after its birth, she said she discovered the child was dead. She wrapped it up and placed it in a club bag, taking it home with her in a taxi cab. She concealed the body at her home beneath some quilts in the upstairs hallway.

When questioned on Thursday by her sister and mother, she said she confessed what had occurred. A doctor was called immediately.

Dr. J. A. O'Brien and Dr. Herbert Young testified that they had performed a postmortem on the infant's body, and found that the left lung had never been inflated.

The jury found that the infant had died of hemorrhage of the naval cord and that the young mother had done all she could to save the child.

Obituary

ELMER LEVASSEUR

Elmer Levasseur, aged one year and three months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Levasseur of North Monaghan Township, died this morning in St. Joseph's Hospital after an illness of two weeks. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the home of the deceased's grandparents on Cameron street. Interment in St. Peter's cemetery.

WILLIAM HENTHORN.

The death occurred at Nicholls Hospital this morning, following a brief illness, of William Henthorn, life-long resident of this city and district. He was 73 years of age. A native of Otonabee Township, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James A. Henthorn. For many years he had attended St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are two nephews, William Henthorn of Mark Street and Alec Henthorn of Buffalo, also two nieces, Mrs. Allan McBain of Chicago, and Miss Elizabeth Henthorn of this city.

The funeral is to be held on Friday at 2 p.m. from Belleghem's Funeral Home, with the Rev. A. E. Moorhouse officiating. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

BAILIEBORO.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Byers and daughter, Miss Betty, of Toronto, and Mr. Taylor, also of Toronto, were visitors to the village on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thompson and family and Mr. and Mrs. H. Thompson of Peterborough, were visitors to the district on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Rutherford and family visited Mr. J. Green on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Harper and amily, of Brighton, were visitors to the village on Sunday.

PARIS.—Her foot bandaged to simulate injury, Mme. Arlette Stavisky, pretty widow of the late Serve Stavisky, was released from jail last night long enough for her two children to visit her in a private hospital.

They are ignorant of the fact she is in jail, thinking she is in a hospital and their father visiting in the United States.

Mary and Doug. Meet Future in Lap of Gods

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 22. — (A.P.).—The future of the royal family of the films, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, rested "in the lap of the gods" to-day.

That is the way "America's sweetheart" described the status of their once idyllic marriage which has found its way into the divorce courts.

With a wistful smile she spoke of her meeting yesterday with Fairbanks upon his return to Hollywood after 14 months in Europe. What transpired between the two, for whom Hollywood hopes a reconciliation lies ahead, nothing was known.

After the meeting, Mary said:

"Yes, I saw Douglas. Whether I shall see him again is in the lap of the gods. Further than that I can say nothing."

Fairbanks, true to the silence with which he has met all inquiries about his "private life," had nothing to say.

EXPECT TO TRY KIDNAP GANG IN LONDON, IF CAUGHT

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 22.—(C.P.) —Place of trial, if and when the Labatt kidnappers are captured, could not be ascertained here today. With the scene of the actual kidnapping now established as having been in Lambton county, it would appear that Sarnia would be the location, but it was intimated to-day that London courts may witness the trial if it is discovered that the actual planning and scheming of the crime was committed in Middlesex county.

It was also intimated in police circles th is morning that the police will not care to move the prisoners around the country from one city to another and if the arrests are made in the vicinity of London it is altogether probable that the trial will be held in the county court room here.

Smartness begins with the undergarments. If they are poorly fitting, they will cause conflicting lines to your outer garments.

Notice the slip has a brassiere top and how beautifully it moulds the rest of the figure.

Crepe de chine or flat crepe is a very practical choice. Crepe satin is exquisitely lovely and wears exceedingly well too.

At the remnant counter you'll find excellent quality silks suitable for this ensemble at considerable reduction in cost.

Style No. 3105 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Sizes 36 requires 2¼ yards of 39-inch material with 1 yard of binding for the slip; and 1¼ yards of 39-inch material with 2 yards of binding for the pantees.

Household Hints

Menu Hints
Frankfurt Dainties
Cabbage and Apple Salad
Buttered Beans
Chocolate Ice Box Pudding
Coffee

Frankfurt dainties take the place of meat and potatoes in this menu. It is an unusual dish and appetizing for the warmer days.

Today's Recipes

Frankfurt Dainties.—Four cups of flour, one teaspoon salt, five teaspoons baking powder, one pound small smoked sausages, four tablespoons lard, two cups milk, or milk and water; brush each sausage with mustard. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Work in lard and gently mix in milk enough to make a smooth dough, soft enough to be handled easily without being stiff. Cut in small squares. Lay one smoked sausage in each square, roll up and fasten securely, by pinching dough together. Place in a pan a little distance apart and bake in a quick oven until brown. Sufficient for 14 dainties.

Chocolate Ice Box Pudding.—One and one-half dozen lady fingers, three-fourths cup almonds cut in shreds, fifteen marshmallows, one cake sweet chocolate, two tablespoons powdered sugar, one-third cup boiling water, four eggs, beaten separately; dash salt, one-half teaspoon vanilla. Line a greased mold with lady fingers, each cut in three pieces. Over this sprinkle nut meats and marshmallows pulled apart. Melt chocolate over hot water, blend in sugar and boiling water. Heat, but do not boil. Beat this mixture into well-beaten egg yolks, then fold in egg whites beaten stiff with salt. Flavor with a few drops of vanilla. Pour over lady fingers and marshmallows. Chill until firm.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Never attract attention to what you hope may pass unnoticed. This is one of the fundamental rules of entertaining successfully, which must be comfortably done also. The whole element of enjoyment is marred if either hostess or guest is uncomfortable. But it is not actually spoiled so long as the visitors have a good time. By this it is evident that sometimes a hostess is uneasy lest a room not in its usual good order is found when callers come, or something not quite to her liking is apparent to her, and she trusts with a bit of anxiety, that no one else will find out what it is.

* * * * * *

By a strange perversity of the human mind there is a natural tendency to call attention to the very thing which it is hoped will not be noticed. Instead of doing this the hostess should try to divert the caller's attention to some things which will be so absorbing that the flaws, apparent to her will either not be seen at all, or be so overshadowed by engrossing subjects introduced that, even though seen, they make no lasting impression.

* * * * * *

Here is a little incident that comes to mind which is a good example of what I mean: It was discovered by the hostess when entertaining guests on her piazza, that whoever had swept the floor had left a little pile of sweepings conspicuously in one corner, evidently just ready to be brushed into a dustpan—but forgotten. Quick as a flash the hostess thought she must keep her friend's attention riveted on things high up. The sun was setting so here was her opportunity. The discussion of this particular sunset, and sunsets in different places where she had been, brought forth comparisons from her callers, and interesting anecdotes about travels and sky effects under varying circumstances. During it all the sky was the centre of attraction, or the trees, the birds, their songs, their nests, etc. The guests when leaving expressed their delight in the call and the enjoyment of the unusual discussions. No one noticed the sweepings, or, if they did they saw with unseeing eyes.

* * * * * *

Focusing attention on something beautiful, discussing affairs dear to the heart of guests, introducing some topic which will be amusing—these are some of the methods of diverting attention away from what ever it is that the hostess hopes will pass unnoticed.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Glass Shelves Pretty

There is nothing prettier than some of the new plate glass shelves which may be placed in a window or pair of windows. Small, colorful, house plants lend a touch of beauty to any room. These shelves may be cut to fit, and mounted on brackets so that they are sturdy, dependable little assets.

Making Rugs Stand Still

Three or four fruit jar rings sewn to the underside of the ends of throw rugs will prevent them slipping on a polished floor. Falls and often serious injury may be prevented in this way.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Latest of foods to be recommended for reducing diet, the banana, is the center of the dietetic stage. Thanks to the studies of Dr. Walter H. Eddy, we know a great deal about its nutritional qualities.

How do you know when a banana is edible? In the course of ripening, the green firm skin turns to yellow—still firm. Then to a softer consistency. Only when brown flecks appear on the skin is the banana thoroughly ripe.

These external appearances correspond to internal changes. When the banana is green the water content is 74 per cent. The starch in the green banana turns gradually to sugar; so that in the green banana there is 20 per cent. starch, in the ripe fruit 1.5 per cent. But there is 18 per cent. sugar in the ripe banana, whereas in the green fruit there is less than 1 per cent.

This carbohydrate in the form of sugar is easily digestible, an excellent source of energy. Except for grapes the banana is the richest in caloric value of any of the common fruits.

The change from green to yellow color is due to the formation of carotin—the pro-vitamin A. Besides this anti-infective vitamin the fruit contains vitamins B, G, E, and C. So much of C is there that the banana can be used as the sole scurvy preventive for infants.

Minerals are present galore in banana pulp. Notably it has high amounts of iron, manganese and copper which make it useful for blood building. Not only is calcium present in good amounts, but some substance in the banana seems to help the body store calcium from other foods.

The taste and feel of banana in the mouth makes one think there is a good deal of fat in it, but in actual fact the fat content is very low. It is this feature of its composition which makes it so useful as part of a reducing diet.

"Combined with milk," wrote Dr. Eddy, and this was before the reducing contests on milk and bananas became popular, "bananas produce an almost completely balanced ration."

"In its full ripe form it will digest with little mastication, and is tolerated by the old and debilitated."

Such a scientific study is a long step in advance of the old idea which clung to the banana, as to most exotic fruits, that it was poisonous. Or to the later idea that it was a sort of luxury to be indulged only in moderation.

The banana and milk reducing diet was discussed in this column some weeks ago, but we have had so many requests for a re-statement that it will be given here tomorrow.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Be Beautiful

The lovely Marian Nixon, whose slender, symmetrical figure is one of the most perfectly proportioned in the whole of Hollywood, always drinks huge quantities of milk each day. Marian, you see, loses weight easily. And so she drinks milk copiously, in order to keep her weight normal and the curves of her figure softly rounded.

There's another reason why Marian tipples milk so generously, however. She firmly believes that it is an excellent complexion beautifier. And her own lovely skin should be sufficient proof of the truth of her belief. For milk really does help to clear the skin, and to keep it alluringly soft and velvety.

The best way to utilize milk as a complexion beautifier is to go on an exclusive milk diet. This diet is one that a good many showgirls and chorines employ. And it really is most effective in clearing the skin of blotches and sallowness. In this milk diet nothing should be consumed for three days but milk. It is possible to prolong the diet for a greater length of time, of course. But I personally think that three days constitute a sufficiently lengthy period of time for the average individual. Most of the gals behind the footlights do the dieting over the week-end, starting on Friday and culminating the diet on Monday.

During this dieting period no solid food should be consumed. And as much milk as possible should be taken. The average amount is from four to six quarts every twenty-four hours. That may seem like an awful amount to you, but it's not at all difficult to drink that much, since you abstain from all other foods. Some folks may find that the milk tends to have a constipating effect. But to alleviate this, in addition to the milk, the juice of four oranges should be taken daily.

After the three days of dieting a normal diet should be resumed. That doesn't mean that improper food habits should be adopted, however. For if the skin is to retain its improved condition, the daily diet must be a sane and healthy one. This milk diet, however, helps to clear the skin and to give it that soft, transparent appearance that is so feminely alluring.

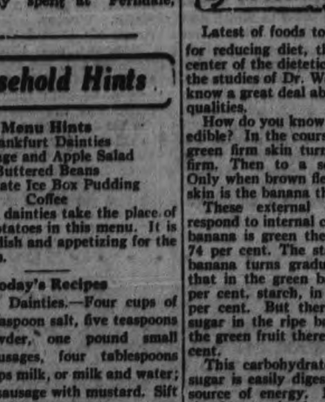
CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

THE NAVY PLAYS GOOD BRIDGE

I never have seen the time when the navy did not have its full quota of able bridge players. During the recent visit of the fleet to New York the officers gave good accounts of themselves in many a club game. Here is a hand played for 7-no trumps, by one officer who sat south in a duplicate game. Who could have handled the situation better?



Bidding went: South, 1-heart; North 2-diamonds; East, 2-spades; South, 4-diamonds, calling for feature showing; North, 5-clubs, showing his lowest ace; South, 5-diamonds; North, 5-hearts; South, 7-no trumps, which at the moment seemed rather ambitious. West doubled, ending bidding.

The opening lead was the queen of clubs. Declarer's king won. Five diamonds were run off. On the last one South let go his lowest club. West had to make three discards. He let go his two lowest clubs, leaving him the jack-ten. Also West let go his lowest heart. Dummy's ace of hearts was led. It does not matter what East did. He never had a chance to win a trick.

The declarer led dummy's lowest spade at the eighth trick. West showed out, by discarding a heart. For the ninth trick South led off his last spade, and West was in a fix. Below are shown the holdings of declarer, dummy and West.

Dummy—
Spades J 7 Clubs A 7 6
West—
Spades J 10 7 Clubs Q J
Declarer—
Hearts K Q 8 Clubs 8

West must discard one of his five cards to the ninth lead. Dummy will follow suit to the lead of declarer's ace of spades. What will you have West let go? West has seen East play the eight of hearts, under dummy's ace. On the opening club lead East followed suit with the three. Beyond that East has discarded a steady stream of spades.

If West lets go one of his three hearts, the three hearts held by South will all win tricks, and dummy's ace of clubs will win the thirteenth trick. If West lets go one of his honors in clubs, the declarer will win two heart tricks. West is hopelessly squeezed. Nothing can prevent South from fulfilling his grand slam contract. As a matter of fact, West held both his clubs and let go a heart, giving the declarer three heart tricks, and dummy the last trick with the ace of clubs.

AN INVITATION is Extended to You to Attend THE SMARTEST
GRAND STAND SHOW
that has been presented by any Exhibition in Central Ontario at any time. Continuous rounds of applause greeted every act yesterday afternoon and evening from beginning to end of the performances, and those who attended are giving hearty approval of the program.

Sound System Installed To-day
in order to more effectively present the Winter Garden Revue the Board has gone to the extra expense to-day of installing a Modern Sound System that will take care of the Grandstand from end to end. This is a decided acquistion and will be in operation to-night.

After last night's presentation of Grandstand Acts and Winter Garden Revue some changes have been made, so that the wonderful Acts of the Five Knights and the Buccaneers, the first two on the bill, can be seen by everyone on the stand.

The Grandstand performance starts promptly to-night at 8 o'clock and there is not a minute of the program that is not chuck full of fun and entertainment.

The Amusement Committee of the Board feel they have given you the best value for your money you ever had and confidently look forward to big crowds again during the balance of the week.

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

NIAGARA FALLS reports say, have over four hundred horses on the grounds. Every stall is filled and they are utilizing farmer's stables in the vicinity of the track to take care of the overflow. The crowds for the first three days of the meeting have been very large and the weather is excellent. Wacket finished a fast going third on Monday and his next start should see him a handy winner. Pewter Crest is also headed for a winning performance and no mistakes will be made. He paid over eighteen dollars the other day when he finished second to Sleaford in very fast time.

Carhan Queen is a maverick we want to pass on to you. This trick can turn it on in fine style and like all the western horses is a great finisher. At Hawthorne they have one called Anita Orment who is also peaches and cream for the longshot players, and always wins a race or two at every meeting she attends. Foxiana is in winning form again having won last Saturday so remember this one usually wins six or seven in a row once he gets started. He can go over a distance or sprint with any of them; it makes no difference.

TOMMY GORMAN reports the recent meeting at Connaught Park was a howling success and now he is spending his time trying to induce the New York State Racing Commission to reinstate his Syracuse track which they suspended about a month ago. If he can put the convincer on them he will run a meeting there starting on Labor Day. If not he will get his Montreal Maroon Hockey team ready for a long winter campaign. The genial Irishman is a busy man all the year around.

PACKERS BEAT DELORO 3 TO 0 IN LOOP TILT

Visitors Lose Opportunity to Take District Soccer League Lead.

ERRATIC SHOOTING.

Several Regulars Absent From the Smelters' Line-up—Game on Local Grounds.

The Canada Packers stopped the Deloro soccer team from becoming a real contender for the league championship, last night, when they defeated them by three goals to none, before a fair attendance of spectators in a game that was lacking the usual activity which no doubt was caused through the visitors having four of their regular eleven players off duty. George O'Neill, brother of the regular custodian occupying his position between the sticks.

Packers Dominate Play

There was no benefit in the choice of goals. After five minutes of play, the Packer's right winger travelled down the wing to evade the defense and lifted the ball over into the goal where A. Todd connected with a first timer that the visiting goalkeeper had no chance to save. Deloro transferred the attack to the other end where two openinks went abegging through the lack of proper finish in front of goal. Fred Todd picked the opening to secure the second counter. Time and again, Deloro would bombard the Packers goal but they couldn't get the proper angle to beat Chamberlain, although the shot ranged by Brooks was a lucky clearance.

Half time—Canada Packers 2; Deloro 0.

Had a Night Off

It was evident on resuming, that the Deloro aggregation were off their regular form and no matter what they tried to accomplish, it went contrary to their expectation. While the Packers combination along with their timely back-kicking and smartly constructed moves run to perfection. Exchanges continued even for a long time with neither making any inroad to their objective. Eventually the Packers moved within shooting range and from a break away by their left winger, he baffled the defense when on the run, his left foot delivering a low grounder that bulged the lower corner of the net. Canada Packers 3, Deloro 0.

Goal scorers—A. Todd, F. Todd and G. Downer.

LEE CLAN OVERCOMES PONIES' EARLY LEAD TO CINCH C.O.B.L. WIN

Petes Snatch Almost Certain Victory From Hands Of Limestoners Behind Six-Hit Hurling Of Kitchen—Ponies Make Clouts Count In Early Stages.

KONOPKA TOPS LOCAL SLUGGERS WITH THREE HITS—MURRAY, CALLADINE, WHATLEY NEXT.

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 22.—Knotty Lee's battling Peterborough team, faced with the necessity of winning last night's ball game to make sure of their playoff position in the C.O.B.L., fell on the offerings of "Yammy" Jamieson and "Speedy" St. Louis here in one big inning, scored seven runs to overcome a three-run margin of the Ponies and coasted in to a seven-inning game victory by the score of 9-4. It was a wonderful demonstration of the fighting qualities of the visiting players, who came from behind and never let up until they had established a safe margin. After that big inning, they landed another run in the seventh which might just as well not have been played, so dark was it.

To all intents and purposes the game was a Kingston victory, judging from the way the Ponies performed in the early stages. They didn't have much success hitting Russ Kitchen, but the lanky right-hander was uncertain of his control and constantly was getting into trouble. Up to the sixth the hits were evenly divided, but the Ponies made better use of theirs, and then along came that big sixth.

Superb In Early Stages

Jamieson went great for three innings, and after that things started to happen. He walked Foley with two out in the first, but nothing happened. In their share the Ponies took a two-run lift, when, with two out and Foxton on first, Ada punched a single to centre, Smith walked to load up the sacks, and Joyce scored two runners with a hard double to left. Stone ended with a strikeout.

In the fourth, the Petes got their first counter. Murray started with a single to right and advanced as Burton was thrown out by Jamieson on a rather doubtful decision. Ash popped to Joyce, but Calladine came through with a single to send Murray home. Whatley also singled, but the pair were left when Kitchen flied to Ada.

Again the Ponies grabbed a couple of runs in the fifth. Scrutton led off with a single to right and was sacrificed to second by Foxton. Ada walked and Smith tapped one to Kitchen, but when Murray let the throw get away from him all hands were safe and the sacks were loaded. Joyce came through again with a bingle to count Scrutton. Stone popped to Konopka, but with the bases still full Quinn was walked, forcing in Ada. Jamieson forced Quinn at second to end the inning and also the Ponies' scoring. Peterborough got a man as far as second in the fifth.

It was in the sixth that the balloon went up. Burton started the fireworks when he smashed the ball on the line to deep left field for a three-bagger. Ash ekied to Smith and Calladine walked. The latter stole second on the first pitch. Whatley drove through Smith for a single scoring Burton. Kitchen singled and Calladine came home. This was enough for Jamieson, and St. Louis was rushed to the mound, but the first ball he tossed was a wild pitch on which Whatley came home with the tying run. Konopka rammed a hit to centre to send Kitchen home and when Scrutton threw poorly home, the runner went to third. Batten was tossed out by Quinn, but Foley resumed the slaughter when he smashed a line drive over first for three sacks, Konopka scoring. Murray's single sent Foley across the plate. Murray stole second and when Foxton threw poorly to third he scored. Burton, up for the second time in the inning, walked but the exciting sixth closed with Ash's feeble tap to Joyce.

Kingston went out in order in their share of the inning and in the first of the seventh, Calladine opened with a single. Whatley walked and after Kitchen struck out, Konopka singled, scoring Whatley. The next two were easy outs.

Try Hard in Seventh

Ponies tried desperately for runs in the seventh, but a smart double-play ruined their chances. Ada started with his third hit and Smith walked. Joyce then lined into Kitchen's hands, and the hurler heaved the ball to Ash to double Smith. Webber, batting for Stone, struck out to end the game.

Konopka, with three hits in five times to bat, led the Peterborough attack, while Ada, with three hits and a walk in four trips to the plate, was the leading hitter for the Ponies. Joyce landed two hits to drive in three runs and Scrutton was the only other Kingston player to hit safely. With the exception of Batten, all the Peterborough players got one or more hits.

ORPHANS ADVANCE IN O. A. S. A. PLAYDOWNS WITH 11-8 VICTORY WILL MEET OSHAWA NEXT SERIES

Shine Fans Final Two Batters With Tying Runs on Sacks.

HOLD EDGE ON PLAY.

Waif Hurlers Gives Good Display on Mound, Holds Smith's to 9 Hits.

Beating Smith's Smokies of Lindsay, 11-8, here last night, the Orphans advanced in the O.A.S.A. playdowns to meet Oshawa next. A crowd of some six hundred saw a smart softball game in Riverside last evening with the Waifs staving off a desperate Lindsay ninth-inning rally to cop the nod. The tying runs were on the sacks when Shine fanned the final two batters. Orphans had previously won in Lindsay.

The winners were a little too good for the visitors throughout, taking a 5-2 lead in the fourth frame and adding to it in all but the seventh stanza. Despite more miscues, the Harrison crew had an edge in play, outpitching, and outhitting the Lindsay team, which only threatened in the ninth canto.

Frank Shine, on the home hill-top, held the visitors to nine hits, mostly scattered, fanned ten and walked six. Not as effective as usual, he yet had little trouble holding the Smith hitters. Gamble pitched a fair game for the losers, being nicked for thirteen hits, fanning two and issuing half a dozen complimentaries. The fielding of both sides was good most of the way.

J. Campbell led Lindsay at bat with a double and two singles in five trips. Gamble hit a two-bagger and single in four, while Fever got two singles in five appearances. For the Orphans, Miller was top clouter with a triple and two singles for four. Willshaw got a homer and single in five, Heffernan a double and single in five, Cadd a two-baser and single in five times up and O'Toole a tripie. Nice catches were made by Hope and J. Campbell.

Lindsay shoved across two in the first and the locals got one back in the second, and then ran in four in the fourth on walks and hits—including Willshaw's homer with the bases full. They added two more in the fifth and three in the sixth, walks and hits with several wild pitches doing the trick. In Lindsay's sixth, they got two on two hits and an error, and one more in the seventh. The Waifs got their last run in the eighth, and Lindsay balled three times in the ninth on three walks and two hits, after Shine fanned the first one. With the bases full, he steadied down and struck out the next two to win the game.

CLOSE FINISHES FEATURE CHILDREN'S SPORTS PROGRAM

School Relays and Bicycle Races Not Staged Through Scarcity of Entries.

RECEIVE PRIZES.

Ten races were run off by schoolchildren yesterday afternoon in connection with the Children's Day program at the Exhibition. Most of the events found large entries and were marked by good finishes—though, in a few cases, the winners won by good margins. They ran on the track in front of the grandstand with a crowd of some twenty-five hundred cheering them on. Ideal weather marked the afternoon.

The school relays for girls and boys, and the bicycle races were not staged because of a scarcity of entrants. Good prizes, put up by the Board, were given the first, second and third winners in the first eight events; with first and second awards going to the older runners in the final two heats. They were presented at the "Y" tent later in the day.

G. H. Roper was the starter and got all the fields off to good starts, with little loss of time. Judges were Messrs. Stacey, Dearborn, Frost, Pearse and Locmis; and the scorers were Don Welch and Don Munro. Each event was announced over the loudspeakers beforehand, and the prizewinners named afterward. The Exhibition Sports' Committee includes: D. Loomis, chairman, V. Milburn, C. Cook, H. Webber and J. H. Jamieson.

Following are the winners: Boys 8 and under—1, D. Batley; 2, G. O'Toole; 3, T. Cooney. Girls 8 and under—1, I. Kendry; 2, A. Johnston; 3, J. Irwin;. Boys 9 and 10—1, H. Ferguson; 2, J. Craig; 3, S. Smith. Girls 9 and 10—1, G. Primeau; 2, J. Spencely; 3, E. Grady. Boys 11 and 12—1, W. Packenham; 2, R. Rogow; 3, J. Goselin. Girls 11 and 12—1, G. Woodcock; 2, E. Craig; 3, G. Barnes. Boys 13 and 14—1, H. Campbell; 2, F. Jones; 3, H. Hatton. Girls 13 and 14—1, M. McMillan; 2, H. Woodcock; 3, M. Elliott. Boys 15 and 16—1, L. Gross; 2, B. King; girls 15 and 16—1, O. Westbye; 2, A. TIGERS BOOST CIRCUIT LEAD WITH 8-4 WIN

St. Louis Browns Close Final Visit to Yankee Stadium With 8-6 Victory.

GEHRIG TOPS HOMERS.

Cardinals Register Only Important National Gain With 6-2 Win Over Braves.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Seven trailing clubs in the American League apparently can look upon Detroit Tigers not only as the prospective representatives of their circuit in the world series but as bringers of financial prosperity as well.

The dashing progress of the Tigers to the top of the standing and the coincident rise of 22-year-old Lynwood Rowe to pitching fame has made Detroit the best of attractions in its final swing around the east.

First they drew over 1500,000 fans in their five-game series at New York; then a record throng of nearly 50,000 at Boston last Sunday and finally they attracted the largest mid-week crowd of the Red Sox season, 15,836, to see them win the series final 8-4 and Rowe recorded his 15th consecutive mound triumph yesterday.

The lanky "schoolboy" was less impressive than he was against the Yanks as he won his 19th triumph of the year and approached the American League consecutive victory record of 16, held jointly by Walter Johnson, Joe Wood and Lefty Grove. He allowed nine hits, including a double and a triple by his pitching rival, Fritz Ostermueller, and the Sox had the score tied at 4-4 in the sixth when Detroit manufactured a three run rally that won the game.

Tigers Increased Lead

The triumph increased the Tigers' lead to 5½ games as St. Louis Browns closed their final visit to the Yankee stadium with an 8-6 victory, their first of the year on the New York field. Lou Gehrig provided most of the opposition for the Browns, clouting 38th and 39th home runs to take the lead from Jimmie Foxx, and knocking in five runs with them, but a heavy attack on Russ Van Atta and Danny MacFayden in the early innings was too much for him.

The third-place Cleveland Indians improved their position by putting on a nine run rally in the ninth at the expense of the Athletics and winning the third American League game 19-11. Three Philadelphia pitchers handed out six walks in that frame and the Indians bunched four hits with these and an error for their tallies. Chicago and Washington enjoyed an open date.

Cards Register Gain

Third-place Cardinals registered the only important National League gain when they started out with three tallies in the third and defeated the Braves 6-2 behind Tex Carlstons' seven hit hurling. While they won both the Giants and the Cubs suffered unexpected setbacks. The league leaders called upon Fred Fitzsimmons, who had only two days' rest after Saturday's two-hit shutout of the Reds and Cincinnati belted him out in the fifth, bunching four of its six blows behind an error for enough runs to win 4-3.

The Phillies ended a seven game losing streak with a 6-1 triumph over the Cubs when Fidgety Phil Collins turned in a six-hit hurling job. He lost a shutout through a pinch homer by Augie Galan in the eight. Four Chicago errors figured in the Phils' scoring off Lon Warneke.

The Dodgers continued their domination over the pirates by slamming Harry French and Hal Smith for nine runs in six innings and winning the series final 9-6. It was their 12th victory in 16 games against Pittsburgh.

FIVE CANADIANS IN THE RUNNING

Cameron, Taylor, Farley, Nash and Somerville to Play in U.S. Amateur.

RIPLEY FAILS IN TEST.

By SAM ROBERTSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug 22. (CP). — When the United States amateur golf championshp gets underway at Brookline, Mass. next month with its heart-aches and its fairway drama, five of Canada's greatest shotmakers will be in there seeking glory for themselves and for the maple leaf.

Yesterday was qualifyng day, and when the smoke of battle cleared from the score of testing-courses scattered throughout the country, four of the half dozen Canadians who tried for berths in the championship proper had not tried in vain.

Some 740 hopefuls went to the wire in search of the 171 qualifying berths to be filled. Jack Cameron and Gordon Taylor of Montreal, Phil Farley of Toronto, and Jack Nash of London, Ont., emerged successfully. Farley's glory was the greatest for the 73-87 he carded for a 36-hole total of 160 was the second lowest score turned in by any competitor.

The two Canadians who failed were Vic Ripley, the Calgary youth who shoots an expert puck for New York Rangers, and Colin Brown, Londoner who has yet to make his name in national competition.

That silent Canadian-Scot, Ross "Sandy" Somerville, didn't have to go out and sweat yesterday for the privilege of sweating some more at Brookline. Along with nine other former holders of the U.S. title, the Dominion's most feared par-assaulter was given a bye.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Baseball, Lacrosse, Soccer, Softball, Bowling, etc.

By C. J. P.

So the Petes are practically in the playoffs again—well, well, well! Maybe, we shouldn't brag till we get there, but we're so close now it'll take a major calamity to dynamite us out of the playoff neighborhood. And we haven't seen a majority calamity since Aunt Julie found out our favorite uncle had lost his pay shooting crap. Right now, the Petes, as a result of their 9-4 win in Kingston last eve, are tied for the C.O.B.L. leadership with the Nats, while the Ponies and Dukes are 'way down a full four games back of us. Their only chance is for one of them to win all its remaining games and for us to lose all oure—then they'd be tied with us.

• • • • • •

The mighty Ponies, who used to be bad news in biggish chunks for the Petes in their own corral, have been docile as workhorses for the Lee troupe this summer. They battled hard but they just haven't got what it takes this season. And the Petes so far have. They were trailing, 4-1, last night going into the sixth, but set to work then and shoved a 'natural'—seven to you folks who don't roll 'em—across, and that was most decidely that. It only went seven innings due to darkness.

• • • • • •

Well, to make a swell story longer, Russ Kitchen—despite streaks of wildness—proved tough onions for the Ponies. He and his fighting teammates just weren't easing up when all seemed lost. They knew they could lick Kingston, and we honestly think they're proud of their record for road wins this year. Anyway, they seem madder when they lose a game away than if they drop one here. Konopka, Murray, Calladine and Whatley did some mighty handy clouting, while Foley and Burton smashed out three-baggers that figured in the scoring. Kitchen had a lot of chances in the field and started a last-inning double-play. Yeah, a very nice ball game all around, though you wont get anyone in Kingston to say so!

• • • • • •

Just to make the evening complete for Peterborrowers—yeah, we know quite a few!—the Orphans snatched a nifty 11-8 win in softball over a squad named Smith's Smokies of Lindsay. Quite a sizeable crowd took in the tilt at Riverside and saw a fair struggle, with the visitors kind of getting onto Mister Shine in the last inning to run in three markers and thereby make things rather warm on a chilly e'en. But Frankie sort of burned up then and fanned two guys with three of their buddies stranded on the sacks, no doubt looking rather disgustedly at the two lads waving feebly at the Shine slants. It ended okay.

• • • • • •

The Waifs looked pretty good, though not quite in the pink. They shaded Lindsay but, we imagine, they'll have to perk up a bit more to take this tough Oshawa crew. Of course their extra-base hitting—including Willshaw's timely homer, triples by O'Toole and Miller, and doubles by Cadd, Hope and Heffernan—were the nerts and will help muchly against any team. But rumor hath it that Da Freem Whitely of Oshawa—a senior pitcher with a senior team travelling incognito as intermediates—has a speedball that singes the whiskers of opposing batsmen. This is not likely to scare the locals any, but nevertheless we'd advise them to shave before facing Da Freem.

• • • • • •

And so we have some rugby football talk already yet. From Secretary Joseph Delaney of the Belleville Aajmaa Club comes this letter: "Dear Sir—As you know the Aajmaa Club is sponsoring local sports and we were wondering as to whether you can give us a line regarding rugby in Peterborough, or pass this letter to one who would be interested. We have held an initial meeting and it was decided to form, if possible, a Central Ontario League of Belleville, Peterborough, Kingston and Cobourg. We feel that if taken up by the right interests, Peterborough should be able to field a real rugby team (intermediate) with or without affiliation with the O.R.F.U. We have interested the medical men in Belleville and feel this should aid you in enlisting your local medical men toward the same end. Hoping to hear from you at your earliest convenience, yours truly, etc."

• • • • • •

From time to time, some guy has asked us why we didn't try to arouse a lot of interest and bring rugby—aside from the schools—back to this town. We always stated that some reliable man or men had to show interest first and then we'd string along. Now, this prospective loop might be put across in A-1 style, so it's up to those interested here to dig around and call a meeting of all interested, including players. It would have to be done shortly, and we'll aid any way we can. But if we hear no more in about a week's time, we'll send word back to the Aajmaa Club saying: "Ix-nay, no can do up this way."

• • • • • •

Elsewhere in today's paper appears a list of the harness hosses here at present for the three-day meet the last part of the Ex. It will be seen that many of the best trotters and pacers in Ontario are stabled in the barns here now, while others will arrive in a day or two from Ottawa and from Oshawa. In fact, many have passed up the big Ottawa Fair to get a crack at the dough put up here. The races should all be humdingers and when Art Blade—who is back for a brief visit and to do the starting—flattens the bronco out with his window-shattering roar: "Go!" everything will be peaches and cream down there at the track once more.

• • • • • •

Grab-bag: Keene lasses were well out in front at Lang last e'en when the tilt was called in the sixth . . . . Maple Leafs and Westclox play at 6.15 tonight in the Bowl . . . . And don't forget the gals' game at 5.30 tomorrow in the Bowl between Keene and the classy Belleville squad . . . . . They played to an 8-8 tie in the Quinte town a week ago, and this return should be a pip . . . . Oshawa plays Orphans here next Monday, return game being in the Motor City Aug. 30th . . . . Local bantam baseballers are practising faithfully, and so are the juvenile Terriers and Cog intermediates.

Two Toronto Rinks In Dominion Final

TORONTO, August 22 (C.P.) — Two Toronto District rinks will meet this afternoon for the lawn bowling crown of the Dominion and the Gold Trophy. W. J. Inch and his Weston bowlers will face W. Hogarth' St. Matthew's rink for the title.

Play in the Ellis doubles will get underway this morning, with the Willison doubles to start play Thursday. Singles matches will be staged Thursday afternoon with conclusion of the tournament coming on Friday.

In the semi-finals of the Gold Cup Hogarth's men eliminated A. E. Barbour's local rink, 20-19, while in another close struggle Inch's Weston aggregation entered the finals by defeating H. G. Salisbury's Toronto rink, 14-13.

Play in the Ontario Trophy event reached the quarter-finals yesterday while the Toronto Cup competitions go as far as the second round.

BEARS HOLD 14 TO 8 EDGE OVER WINGS ON THE SEASON

Rochester Finishes Series With 3-1 Victory Over Newark Behind Pete Appleton's Pitching — Toronto and Syracuse Split Two, Leafs Take Opener 2-0.

(By the Associated Press)

If Newark Bears and Rochester Red Wings could have effected some sort of an agreement last spring whereby they could carry on the International League race without meeting each other, there might be an entirely different story to the pennant chase now.

The rival clubs wound up their season's series yesterday with Rochester turning in a 3-1 victory behind Pete Appleton's five-hit pitching. That left Rochester only three games behind the leaders but didn't help much so far as the season's encounters were concerned. The Bears finished with a 14-8 edge there. And just to make it a little tougher for the Wings, their record against the other six clubs in the circuit so far is just three games better than Newark's instead of three games worse.

Timely Hits Count

In addition to Appleton's pitching the Birds got a couple of timely hits from Tom Carey and Ival Goodman which drove in runs in the fifth after Newark scored its lone tally. The Bears tossed in five errors.

Cy Blanton's air-tight pitching enabled Albany to strengthen its hold on fourth place in the hot race for the last play-off berth. The Pittsburgh Pirate farmhand limited Buffalo Bisons to two hits and fanned 13, the third time this season he has reached that total. The victory evened the season's series between the two clubs at 11 games each and gave Albany a two-game lead over Buffalo and Montreal Royals, now tied for fifth position.

Montreal pulled up to a tie with Buffalo by pounding Baltimore into decisive defeat, 12-7. The Royals shelled three Oriole pitchers for 14 hits, three going to Fresco Thompson. A four-run Royal rally in the sixth decided the battle. Baltimore took the season's series, despite the defeat, 12 games to 10.

Split Double Bill

Toronto and Syracuse split two games. The Leafs won thte opener, 2-0, behind Al Hollingsworth's four-hit pitching but dropped the second 9-5, as the Chiefs pounded Gene Schott, "Steamer" Lucas and Jimmy Pattison for 15 hits, E. Taylor getting a triple, double and a single. Toronto took the seasonal series, 16 games to six.

Lawn Bowling By Herb Martin

Bowling News is somewhat scarce down on "Grimsby" avenue (Charlotte street north side) this morning but we will try and drum up a little.

Now That All four groups of the club's doubles have been played the bowlers are asked to remember that those who play on Monday will play again on Thursday and those who play on Tuesday will play next Monday an keep on alternating till each couple has played four games.

In The Ladies' section their club doubles commenced yesterday and will continue on the alloted dates until each pair has played six games.

There Are all kinds of tournaments on to-day—men's rinks at Whitby, Hastings and Belleville, while down at Cobourg they are holding their annual mixed event.

And Once More we draw attention to our own local mixed for to-night—but be on time; 7.30 sharp. A big crowd is expected.

CHAPTER 20

Adelaide began at once: "Why haven't you made it up with Drew?"

"There isn't anything to make up."

"You aren't telling me the truth, Joan."

Joan flushed, "Well . . . but it's hard to talk about."

"You are a very silly child. He wants to marry you. I want you to marry him. Yet you lie here and sulk . . ."

"Aunt Adelaide!"

"Don't you suppose I have seen it? You are trying to impress upon us that you have a grievance. When you ought to be telling Drew and me what a little idiot you've made of yourself . . ."

Joan sat up, her cheeks flaming, "How can you say such things? I've been unhappy, Aunt Adelaide . . . I love you and I love Drew . . . but both of you are waiting for me to apologize. And I can't apologize when I have done nothing . . ."

"Except meet a man at night of whom you know we disapprove."

"I didn't meet him."

And there it was all over again, the discussion growing hot and hotter, until Adelaide said: "After all I've done for you. I've treated you like a princess. Those pearls you've got around your neck this minute are worth a small fortune."

With a swift movement, Joan set her feet on the floor and stood up. She unwound the pearls from her neck and dropped them in her aunt's lap. "Do you think I'd wear them after this?"

She limped over to the dresser, and opened one of the porcelain boxes—there was a diamond clasp, a ring or two—various jewels that her aunt had bestowed upon her. She came back and added them to the pearls. "I don't want any of them, Aunt Adelaide. I'm going away. I've been thinking about it for a long time. If Drew cares enough he'll come after me. If you care enough, you'll try to understand . . . that I've loved you a lot," she began to sob with her hands up to her face.

Mrs. Delafield surveyed the shaking figure. "If you think crying will soften my heart, you're mistaken. I'm glad to have you go . . ." She rose and the pearls like a white snake slid down the length of her black satin gown — the jewels sparkled like fireflies in the rug. "I'm glad," she said, again, as she reached the door. She opened it and went out. On the other side she stood . . . still saying under her breath, "I'm glad." But she knew she was not glad. She wanted Joan to come running after her and say, "I love you, Aunt Adelaide. I'm sorry, I'm sorry."

On the night of the storm, Giles Armiger had been glad of the buffeting of the wind, the beating of the waves, as he had driven his motor boat back to the island. He was not afraid, and he exulted in the battle with the elements. His soul was in a tumult. When he had set Joan on her feet and had seen the look on Hallam's face, he had wanted to lift her again in his arms and fly with her to his waiting boat, to his old house on the island, to the fire on his hearth; to kneel at her feet and take off her wet little shoes; to call old Margarida and have warm things brought, and bandages for her ankle; and while doing all this to tell her . . . that with him she could be at peace. Here was love, not with that man with the stern countenance, but by this hearthstone . . .

But life was not like that! And in these modern days one could not use the methods of the age of chivalry. So he had left her, his heart brooding over her, seeing her assailed by the selfishness of those others among whom she lived; seeing her defenseless because of her youth and gentleness.

It was very late when at last he reached home. Jose, seeing the lights on the boat came down to the landing. "The madame has been upset by the storm. She has been scared for you . . . Margarida got her to work, making supper for you. They are in the kitchen."

Giles going at once to find Amelie, stood on the threshold of the shadowy room, with its bright fire in the range, its hanging kerosene lamp overhead, and took in the picture it presented. Amelie, slim and graceful in a pomegranate frock, was piling purple plums in a blue bowl. It was like her, he felt, to select with unerring instinct an occupation which would show her at her best. It was Margarida who cut the bread and buttered it and put between it pink slices of cold roast. It was Margarida who made the coffee, and the mayonnaise for the salad. Amelie, busy with her plums, was content to feed Giles' eyes with color. Beef and bread and mayonnaise and coffee? Such things were not important . . . most people made too much of them.

Giles spoke: "I am here, Amelie."

She turned and with a little cry ran towards him. "You are safe?"

She reached out welcoming hands, and he took them and kissed her on the forehead. "You must never be frightened, my dear. I shall always come back."

"There was once when you—didn't."

"That was along ago. We must forget it."

They went together into the living room where a table had been laid in front of the fire. Amelie put the dish of plums in the center, brought a silver candlestick and lighted a tall candle.

"Where is Scripps?" Giles asked.

"I told him to go to bed. But he took a walk. I wanted to be alone with you."

"That wasn't kind, was it?"

"Why not?"

"Scripps is lonely, unhappy, and he loves us."

"But why must he always be with us?"

"Because he is my friend, and has no other home." There was a touch of sternness in his voice.

She sighed, and talked of something else, of how long the day had been without him, of her fear of the storm: "What made you stay so late?"

"I had to work on my accounts."

"I wish you didn't have to work."

"I like it." He had finished his coffee, and was leaning back in his chair, basking in the comfort of the fire. Amelie brought a low stool and sat at his feet. There was silence for a while, which was broken by the sudden clamor of rain washing against the windows.

Giles jumped to his feet, "Scripps is out in it."

"He'll be coming in."

"He should have come before this. You run along to bed, Amelie, and I'll look for him."

She went with reluctance, and he watched her as she ascended the stairs, glowing among the shadows in her pomegranate gown. The first time he had seen her she had worn the horizon blue of her overseas uniform. And she had hung on Scripps' arm—such a different Scripps from the one who worked now in the shop—young, dashing, a flyer of the Escadrille—they had been a beautiful pair, radiant, rapturous, newly-wedded.

The three of them had had a great time together, and there had been something touching and tragic in the happiness of the young couple. And one day there had been four of them, when Amelie's twin brother, Raymond, had come from the front, and they had all motored to the country and had dined together at a charming inn, and had drunk to the health of the bride and groom.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, August 23

The Lunar transits bearing rule on the events of this day seem to fortify all personal or private activities rather than business, unless it be those pursuits, vocations and avocations having to do with domestic, artistic, affectional, social or feminine engagements and appointments. These should thrive, particularly in the domain of courtship, love and marriage. But some degree of discretion in these is enjoined lest a bit of folly prove regrettable.

Years of Pleasure

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year in which the things making for pleasure and romance may be uppermost. Domestic, social, artistic and affectional activities may be stimulated to the exclusion of sordid and commonplace affairs, unless in business pertaining to these. In all discretion is enjoined, as an element of folly and regret is foreseen.

A child born on this day should be gay, gracious, light of heart and devoted to the pursuit of pleasure, unless their love of show, play and beauty be turned into expressions of music, art and culture.

Turkey is seeking large tracts for the cultivation of coffee.

Mr. R. Grant Seeney, of the Bank of Toronto staff, spent Sunday with friends in Belleville and Corbyville.

Mrs. E. W. Seeney has returned home after a holiday with friends at Grafton.

Mrs. Walter Poste and little Valerie Joan visited Trenton friends recently, while Lois Poste holidayed with friends in Marmora.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Gould and family are spending their holidays in Eastern Ontario on a motor tour. Correspondence last week reported a delightful trip about historical Quebec city and the famous shrine at St. Anne de Beaupre nearby. It is possible Gaspe Peninsula will be also visited.

Miss Ina Morrison has returned home after spending a short vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coatsworth of Toronto.

Miss Florence Taylor of Toronto has returned home after spending a holiday with her parents at the summer colony at Belmont Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hoy of Pittsburg are among those camping at Belmont Lake this year.

Mr. John R. Brown and family of Walkerville are holidaying at Belmont.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

NUMBER 280

Lecturing to a gathering of golf fans recently I had a number of questions put to me about overcoming topping and hitting the ground back of the ball.

As these questions were being asked I was demonstrating the correct body action and balance to my audience telling them that these items were largely responsible for hitting the ball cleanly.

Not until I hit with my eyes closed the corner of a card held in the hand of one of my listeners, did I convince the audience.

More than the eyes, hands or arms does the movements of the body affect the path of the club-head.

Learn to at least approximate the correct body positions and movements and you'll have no trouble hitting the ball clean.

Nazis Are Warned Regarding Mutiny

BERLIN, Aug. 22 (A.P.) — The word "mutiny," a grim one when Nazi ranks were purged by bullets June 30, reappeared to-day in a warning to party members.

Rudolph Hess, minister of portfolio, threatened expulsion to Nazis who address grievances about "petty" matters and take them to public authorities instead of to various party headquarters.

Hess issued the warning to Munich, scene of most of the recent revolutionary plotting and headquarters of the Nazi storm troops.

"I expect every party comrade to assume full responsibility for every letter of protest by him and not to lend his name to lists that are to be considered mutiny," Hess said.

To lodge a protest about party affairs with public authorities, he said, showed a "lack of confidence and a lack of discipline toward leaders named by Der Fuehrer (Chancellor Hitler)."

Scores, possibly hundreds throughout the Reich, it was understood, including many intellectuals and former communist socialist workers, were placed in custody on the day of the recent plebiscite as a preventive measure.

INVADER TRAILS TROPHY DEFENDER

Conewago Demonstrates Superiority in Fair Sailing Weather.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Aug. 22.—(AP). Cleanly demonstrating an ability to win in fair weather as well as foul, the Canada's Cup defender, Conewago, yesterday earned a second successive decisive victory over the Invader II. of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto, and tightened the United States hold on the prized fresh-water yacht-racing trophy.

a Finer and Better Tailoring Service at a Moderate Price...

MADE TO MEASURE SUITS

TO-MORROW, in EATON stores throughout Canada—from the Atlantic to the Rockies—a Finer and Better Tailoring Service is available to Canadian Men.

Now, this new service brings men clothes of latest style, good woollens and good tailoring at the remarkably low price of $21.50!

For months back, preparations have been under way, EATON Buyers have gone to the British Isles to secure the newest woollens—skilled designers have created new styles—expert tailors have worked faithfully to make better quality clothes to sell at $21.50.

NOW THE STAGE IS SET! Months of effort have reached a climax. To-morrow, in 43 EATON stores, men may order their new Fall clothes at a price that is remarkably low.

The woollens are now in stock! Drop into the store and see for yourself the fine materials that were in England but a few weeks ago! Also better domestic woollens! All-wool serges! All-wool tweeds from Scotland! All-wool worsteds!

Then be measured! These Suits will be cut individually to your own order — under our own supervision in our own tailoring workshops in Toronto.

EATON TAILORED CLOTHES are also obtainable at $27.50, $35.00 and Higher. No matter what sort of suit you wish—no matter how finely you wish it tailored—you will find an EATON TAILORED SUIT to meet your approval.
